$30 3 Man Cart.. 9.50 | A Good Harness.... 1.10

You now have a chance to buy a $90 Leather 4 Top Buggy with Leather Trimming, Hickory Wheels, Steel Axles and Tire for $43.50. All goods warranted and tested before it leaves the Factory. We sell for Cash only and have no losses, therefore undersell all our competitors. We will ship to your station with privilege to examine before paying. Buy at Factory, and save middleman's profit.

Write at once for No. 6 FREE Catalogue.

C. K. MILLER, Sedalia, Mo., writes: "The $43.50 Buggy received is worth there $100. The $4.75 Harness are nicer than some sold there at $14.50." Such letters received every day.

U. S. BUGGY & CART CO.
NO. 6 LAWRENCE ST., CINCINNATI, O.

Price | "Worth a Guinea a Box." | 25c.

BEECHAM'S PILLS
(QUICKLY SOLUBLE PLEASANTLY COATED;)
cure
Sick-Headache, and all
Bilious and Nervous Diseases.

Renowned all over the World.
Ask for Beecham's and take no others. Made at St. Helens, England. Sold by druggists and dealers. New York Depot, 365 Canal St. 107.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.
W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by
W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR A POLICY
—IN THE—
N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out $600,000
to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

Tickle The Earth
With a Hoe, SOW FERRY'S SEEDS and nature will do the rest.
Seeds largely determine the harvest—always plant the best—FERRY'S.
A book full of information about Gardens—how and what to raise, etc., sent free to all who ask for it. Ask to-day.
D. M. FERRY & CO., P. O. Box 1156 DETROIT, MICH.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
CINCINNATI, O., Sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts. for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE,
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 30 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 06 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 30 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 13 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 37 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 m, and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 23, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennettsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.37 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7.55 a m
Ar Greensboro			10.05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10.35 a m
Ar Madison			1.05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:32 p m
Ar Bennettsville		4:29 p m
Lv Madison			3:40 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			8:20 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, MRS. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for March: Brazil.

Northern Brazil.

It is New Year's day in Pernambuco. Instead of fields and house-tops covered with snow, and the jingle of sleigh-bells in the frosty air, I look out on a luxuriant tangle of tropical plants and flowering vines, and listen to the varied notes of many birds, and the continual chirping of myriads of insects in the garden about the house. The waving plumes of the cocoanut palms rearing their tall trunks against the tropical sky; the quaint, broken lines of the tile-roofed houses; the picturesque grouping and costumes of the men and women in the streets; the curious carts drawn by oxen, and the queer little pack horses almost hidden by their loads of sugar-cane, or some other burden; the market places with their collections of pine apples, parrots, and beautiful laces for sale;—all this is a constant delight to one's artistic perceptions.

But there is another and sadder side to the picture. With so many God-given blessings contributing to earthly enjoyment, this people have not the love of Christ to constrain them. They have not the gospel. They have not the Bible, even. Many and many of them never even heard of such a book. Many of our home christians do not understand this fact, and so bend all their sympathies in other directions, while, close by home, is this people for the righteousness that their priests cannot give them, for they know nothing of it.

DYING OF HUNGER AND THIRST

"Why!" some one may say, "I thought Roman Catholics were christians, and that they taught and studied the Bible! Are they not taught to know and love Jesus Christ as their Saviour from sin?"

No.

"Don't the priests teach the people from the Bible at all?"

No.

"Don't they even read it themselves?"

No. Many of the priests, even, never saw a Bible.

"Why! what do they teach the people?"

Traditions, handed down from one priest to another, mostly made up of things out of their own brains, and entirely contrary to their Scriptures.

"But, if they do not know Jesus Christ as their Saviour and only Intercessor, to whom do they go in time of trouble?"

To some priest, who, for a sum of money paid by the supplicant, calls upon the saint who is supposed to have charge of the particular class of pain in hand. Among these, "Santa Barbara" is the only one who can protect those in danger from lightning, and, in a severe thunder storm, the poor, frightened things will hide in some dark corner and wail out to the count of their beads,

"SANTA BARBARA, ORA PRO NOBIS!"

"St. Goncalo," the patron saint of matrimony, has a church dedicated to his worship only a few blocks away from us, and here gather all those disappointed in love, or those who are not able to find mates, and yet who are anxious to enter the married state, and, entering their petitions before the image representing his saintship, with the fee demanded in exchange for the favor, go away in perfect faith that he will arrange it all right for them.

"St. Antonio" is the obliging deity who looks up all the lost objects that the owner would like to find again, and goes after the stray mules, and sheep, etc., that have wandered from the fold. If any one is suffering from sore eyes, he has only to dig out a little clay from under the skirts of the image of "Santa Veronica," make a wash of the powder, or pieces, so obtained from this earthy lady, and bathe the inflamed members with the mixture. Of course in all these cases. Without this the act of faith would be of none effect. And so on ad infinitum.

THE FEE IS UNDERSTOOD

"But, is it possible that these errors are not the exception rather than the rule?"

It is possible, and it is true.

Superstitions like this, and worse than this, form the bulk of the religion of Brazil. Horrible practices, too vile to write about, prevail throughout the land, the would-be spiritual guides of the people openly taking the lead in them all.

"But, do they not know the difference between right and wrong? Have they no consciences?"

They know that they sin, but they think they expiate their guilt by penances and pilgrimages, and, as they are taught that the remedy lies in their own hands, their consciences allow the habitual repetition of these dreadful deeds. What have these souls to look forward to, whose religion teaches them to

"BELIEVE A LIE!"

Do they need some one to show them the truth as it is in Jesus, or not?

They are waking up to the knowledge that something is wrong, and are loosing faith in their priests, and are leaving Romanism for Atheism. The Republic, having severed church and state, and made all religions free, has virtually opened wide the doors to our missionaries who, until now, have labored under many restrictions. The people are ready for the gospel. The few who can be reached by our little band of workers receive the Good News gladly and become eager to tell it to all they meet; but oh, what a pity it is, how cruel it seems that so little of the ripening harvest can be gathered, because the laborers are so few.—Mrs. W. C. Porter, Pernambuco, Brazil, Jan. 1.

Second Annual Meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention of North Carolina.

TO BE HELD IN WINSTON, APRIL 14—17, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Organization.

Welcome words by pastor. Responses.

Address by George W. Sanderlin. Subject: The Bible in the Sunday-school.

7:30 p. m.—Address by C. A. Jenkens. Subject: The Holy Spirit's Work in the Preparation, Exposition and Application of Scripture Lessons in the Sunday-school.

Address by T. P. Bell. Subject: Sunday-school Literature as a Means of Developing Interest in Missionary Work.

Friday, 10 a. m.—Address by J. C. Scarborough. Subject: The Influence of Sunday-school Training on our Denominational Life.

Address by J. K. Fant. Subject: The Obligational of Churches to their Sunday-schools and the Schools to their churches.

Miscellaneous business.

3 p. m.—Address by A. W. Price. Subject: The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school.

Questions and answers on general work.

General discussion on mission schools, how to organize and successfully run them.

7 p. m.—Address by F. M. Ellis. Subject: The Centennial of Missions.

Saturday, 10 a. m.—Address by W. L. Poteat. Subject: Sunday school Equipment, Rooms, Bibles, Song-books, Maps, Literature, and our Supply Store.

General discussion on Methods and Helps.

Address by J. M. Frost. Subject: The Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention.

3 p. m.—Address by D. M. Austin. Subject: How can the Schools Aid our Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in Sunday-school Mission and Colportage Work?

Address by O. L. Stringfield. Subject: Country Sunday-schools, their Importance, and How to Sustain Them.

Conference: Summer Bible School. Shall it be? Where?

7:30 p. m.—Address by T. J. Taylor. Subject: The Baptist Orphanage, what should the Sunday-schools Do for It?

Miscellaneous business.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution gives the only basis of representation as follows:

ART 3. This Convention shall be composed of one male lay delegate and one associate from each Sunday-school, regardless of contributions, and of Baptist ministers and superintendents of Baptist Sunday schools in North Carolina who shall pay annually one dollar each to the Treasurer, and of male delegates chosen by the Sunday-schools and Sunday Associations. Each school and each Sunday-school Association shall be entitled to one delegate on the payment annually of five dollars to the Treasurer, and to two additional delegates on the payment to the Treasurer of ten dollars for the objects of the Convention. Each school shall be entitled to two delegates chosen by the school on the payment of five dollars to the Treasurer. The associates shall be women. This Convention shall co-operate with the Baptist State Convention and its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools and with the Southern Baptist Convention.

ART. 4. Only members of white Baptist churches shall be eligible to membership in the Convention as delegates or as associate delegates. The associate delegates shall not be entitled to the "floor of the house."

ENTERTAINMENT.

Delegates will be entertained by the people of Winston. The committee on hospitality, however, will be responsible for the entertainment of those delegates only who notify the pastor, Rev. H. A. Brown, by Thursday, April 7th, 1892, of their expectation to be present.

ROUND-TRIP RAILROAD FARE TO CONVENTION.

From Rutherfordton, $9.35; Shelby, 7.80; Lincolnton, 6.60; Charlotte, 5.95; Fayetteville, 6.65; Henderson, 6.10; Maxton, 7.95; Sanford, 5.05; Marion, 7.55; Wilmington, 9.20; Weldon, 9.05; Goldsboro, 7.05; Selma, 6.45; Raleigh, 5.40; Durham, 4.80; Greensboro, 1.65. Intermediate points in same proportion.

N. B. BROUGHTON,
T. H. BRIGGS,
T. M. PITTMAN,
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
JNO. T. PULLEN,
Executive Committee.

Volumes have been written of the hand. Wondrous instrument! With it we give friendly recognition, and grasp the sword, and climb the rocks, and write and carve and build. It constructed the pyramids and hoisted the Parthenon. It made the harp, and then struck out of it all the world's minstrelsy. In it the white marble of Pentelican mines dreamed itself away into immortal sculpture. It reins in the swift engine; it holds the steamer to its path in the sea; it snatches the fire from heaven; it feels the pulse of the sick child with its delicate touch, and makes the nations quake with its stupendous achievements.—Talmage.

Baptist Cause Prospering.

Dear Recorder:—It must be truely gratifying to the great Baptist family to see how their cause is prospering in North Carolina for our master. I have had occasion recently to travel over several branches of the railroads of the State, and all along the lines, in our new towns springing up like magic, the Baptists are keeping pace with these great enterprises, and planting churches, erecting neat houses of worship and spreading out like the "green bay tree." What a host of christian workers our people are becoming!

But I wish especially to speak of our work in the beautiful town of Mt. Airy. Bro. Pruett holds the fort there.

He is constantly recruiting his forces, has large congregations, and is greatly beloved by the citizens of the town, as well as by his own flock. He has the best church building in town, most beautifully located, and commanding a veiw of the grandest mountain scenery. There is no spot in North Carolina more lovely. Bro. Pruetts accessions to his church recently of wealth as well as piety causes the brethren to talk of building a larger house, and invite the State Convention to meet with them at no distant day, the place now being accessible by the Cape Fear and Y. V. railroad. The attendance at the prayer-meeting on Wednesday night showed the deep hold Bro. Pruett has upon the affections of his people. The Bible readings by several of the members, the devout prayers offered, and the large number who signified their penitence and wish for the prayers of the saints, made the meeting one of unusual interest. There was no cold formality here, as we sometimes witness in our weekly prayer meeting. We spent the night with Bro. Pruitt's interesting young family, and will not soon forget the hospitality and kindness we enjoyed while there.

J. H. F.

Worth Its Weight in Gold.

The Baptist Teacher, published by the American Baptist Publication Society, has long been a favorite with our most judicious teachers. Dr. Henson's name on the cover as editor, is a guarantee that it is solid and sound in its reading matter, whilst the imprint of the publishers, American Baptist Publication Society, gives assurance that the arrangement and mechanical execution will be worthy of its contents. For teachers there are no better aids furnished than those in The Baptist Teacher. It costs only fifty cents in clubs of five or more, and is worth its weight in gold.

Inconsistent.

Recently a Pedobaptist said, "I would be a Baptist but for your close communion. I cannot stand that." He was asked, "Do you believe in three modes of baptism—sprinkling, pouring and immersion?" He answered, "I do not. I believe that immersion alone is Bible baptism. So fully do I believe this, that I had a Methodist preacher to immerse me." He was asked, "Do you believe in baptizing unconscious babies?" "I do not. I understand the Bible to teach that believers only should be baptized."

Now look for a moment how inconsistent this brother is. He does not believe that sprinkling is Bible baptism, or that infants are Scriptural subjects of baptism, and yet he belongs to a church that practices both; and he gives his time, talents, money and influence to support two things he does not believe, rather than be a Baptist and support one thing (close communion) which he does not like. Is not he not nearer right who only holds one error than he is who holds two?

All admit that persons must be baptized before they are Scripturally prepared to commune. If, then, our friend is right in holding that nothing but immersion is baptism, then none but the immersed are baptized and qualified to commune. But our friend sits down in his Pedobaptist church and communes with those who have been sprinkled and poured upon for baptism, and with those who were sprinkled in infancy, and thereby acknowledges their sprinkling to be as good as his immersion. This is glaringly inconsistent.

A person who believes that immersion alone is Bible baptism cannot consistently be anything else than what is called a close communionist, and cannot consistently belong to any church except a Baptist church.

J. A. STRADLEY.

For the weariest day, may Christ be thy stay!
For the darkest night, may Christ be thy light!
For the weariest hour, may Christ be thy power!
For each moment's fall, may Christ be thy all! —F. R. Havergal.

A holy life has a voice; it speaks when the tongue is silent, and is either a constant attraction or a perpetual reproof.—Hinton.

Truth needs no color; beauty no pencil.—Shakespeare.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

What the Books Say.

A comparison of the receipts of the Foreign Mission Board for the years 1891 and 1893, up to March 2d, reveals the unpleasant fact that the contributions of the churches have fallen off this year nearly $3,000. Last year they were $70,378.18; this year, $67,522.23.

In ordinary years, and under ordinary circumstances, there might be no special cause for anxiety in this fact, but in this year it calls for serious thought, earnest prayer and zealous work on the part of God's people. The expenditures of the Board will be much larger this year than last for two reasons:

1. Quite a number of new missionaries have been sent out—sixteen in all. For these, including outfit, travelling expenses and salary, nearly, if not quite, $20,000 has been and will be required over and above the expenses of last year.

2. The "campaign of education" on missions, preparatory to the centennial effort of next year, has required heavy expenditures in the printing and distributing of tracts and leaflets, and in meeting the extra travelling expenses of officers of the Board and those of the Centennial Committee. These expenses both at home and abroad have been met, in large measure, by borrowed money. To day the Board owes over $30,000, while the expenses of one sixth of the year yet lie before it between now and May first.

These facts, simple, bare, must constitute the appeal of the Board to the churches for prompt and large contributions.

North Carolina is somewhat behind her last year's gifts, and for three months past we have received only a few hundred dollars from her. Will she not come up now, and do her full part in meeting the increased expenditures of the Board?

"Times are hard." Yes, but shall the brunt fall on the Lord's work? Now is the time to taste the sweets of sacrifice for the Lord. If all will help, the work will be done, and he glorified. T. P. BELL.

Richmond, Va., March 3, 1892.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a number of years, and it has always given me satisfaction. It is an excellent dressing, prevents the hair from turning gray, insures its vigorous growth, and keeps the scalp white and clean."—Mary A. Jackson, Salem, Mass.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5-7.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27-29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27-29.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28-30.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

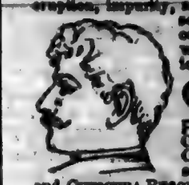
BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address Hon. JOHN MANNING, LL. D.,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

MANLY PURITY

To cleanse the blood, skin, and scalp of every eruption, impurity, and disease, whether simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or ulcerative, no agency in the world is so speedy, economical, and unfailing as the

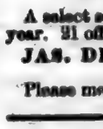


CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier and greatest of humor remedies. In a word, they are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, and may be used in the treatment of every humor and disease, from eczema to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORP., Boston.
"How to Cure Blood Humors" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough hands and falling hair cured by CUTICURA SOAP.



RHEUMATIC PAINS

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. Price, 25c.

CONSUMPTION

T POSITIVELY CURED. T

H E B E S T — H E B E S T

Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

Edwards & Broughton,

Printers : Binders,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day-books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,
RALEIGH, N. C.

FLOUR!

1,000 Bbls Flour all grades.
500 Bbls Molasses, all grades.
50 Cheese.
1,000 Bags Peanuts.
1,000 Bags Kainit.
1,000 Bags Acid.
2,000 Bags High Grade Fertilizers.

WRITE FOR PRICES.

D. L. Gore,
130, 132 and 134 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

Churches for the Destitute.

The re arrangement of the public highways of the South, and the creation of many new centres of business and population, affect for the present most seriously the life-long church-going habits and spiritual privileges of our people. Many sections in which the people of former generations erected good houses of worship, where they regularly assembled in large numbers for prayer, for preaching and Sunday-school work, find their congregations melting away, their churches like "banquet halls deserted," and the voice of their ministry hushed in dread and ominous silence. I sometimes traverse districts of country where a joyous and beautiful civilization once flourished in all its glory and covered the land, where all classes of the population—the rich, the poor, the cultured and the rude, the master and his domestics—all lived in peace and harmony, and all worshipped at the same altars, receiving the precious gospel from the same pulpits, and the elements of communion from the same consecrated hands. But Oh, how changed! Every object reminds one of decay and death—the fields, the woods, the roads, the dwellings, the home life, the church life, the social circle, the great assembly, the stately but silent house of God, all speak of a departed glory. Sad, sad indeed is the scene to one who knows the former days in all their strength, their brightness and their beauty, and still survives to witness the early buddings and fruitage of a still more glorious future. The race is here, the men and the women are here, the blood of our ancestry still courses our veins, and though the weapons of our warfare are changed, with our new armor on, we shall press forward to a front place, in all the fields of literature, philanthropy and religion. The social life, so beautiful and powerful, which spread in a halo of glory over this southern land, will never return again, but a more vigorous and enduring, though less pleasant and beautiful civilization will bless the land.

These sudden and, to so many, adverse changes are all overruled of God for good results. The christian heart is chastened by disappointment, sadness and gloom, and we come out of the furnace a regenerated and purified people. Let us never despair but nerve ourselves to unwonted spiritual energy and press forward. Those depopulated and apparently decaying sections are again to bloom, to blossom and ripen into rich harvests. The voice of joy and the song of industry and thrift will soon again resound in the land.

Now, in all sections where houses of worship, erected in the past but still standing, though not crowded as of yore with worshipping assemblies composed largely of cultured people, the case is not so bad as at first sight it may appear. It is true that large numbers of the cultured classes who constitute the main support of public worship have, for various causes, been removed. But still in those very sections a new population is growing up and soon they will be more numerously peopled than ever before. These new people may not be trained to regular church-going habits and to liberality in support of an able ministry—hence the future looks dark, especially to those who knew former days. But instead of despondency, we should look upon these uncultured people as opening fields for christian labor and as affording prospective resources of strength and numbers. It required generations to reach our former elevated and commanding status, but in a much shorter period we may build up again and make our Zion the glory of the land. And further, we may find it difficult to procure and sustain a highly cultured ministry, but we can find and support a ministry adapted to present conditions who will do a progressive work—who will multiply membership, systematize christian activity and gradually bring their churches up to a high prosperity and commanding influence.

But in the case of new settlements, especially those composed of uncultured people, most of whom have never taken part in church work and christian activities, serious difficulties present themselves. The few who would commence Sunday-school work and regular public worship find little sympathy from the multitude who have come together to secure good wages and better their fortunes. Under such conditions, the few who take interest in the spiritual life of the communities in which their lots are cast and feel for their immortal souls, have burdens and toils and sacrifices pressed upon them unknown to those with more favored localities and surroundings. They deserve the christian sympathies of older settlements—they should be liberally helped—they need houses of worship, Sunday-school literature—they need preachers and good church-workers—they need everything, indeed, to place the religious interests of the people on a sure footing for future progress and success.

Denominational interests in these new settlements often suffer and the cause is kept back for years—often forever lost—simply from the needed assistance at the proper time.

I live in a section, long settled, it is true, by an agricultural population, but since other industries have multiplied, it has cost one Association over $100,000 to prepare suitable houses of worship for the people, mainly in new settlements. We have had to struggle hard and give much, and yet we are not abreast of the times in church building. Surely if any cause deserves sympathy from older and more favored sections, it is that of the new populations which have suddenly gathered in new places in this Southern land—they need above all things houses of worship and an earnest ministry.

CHARLES L. COOKE.

Hollins Institute, Hollins, Va.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES, kidneys are all worn out, really good for nothing, it is general debility. Try HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. It will make you, cleanse your liver, and give a good appetite.

A Grateful Convict.

He had just been pardoned out of the Penitentiary. As he was leaving prison he remarked, "I am going out now to cast myself upon the providence of God to help me reach my home."

He came out penniless and without a friend. His home was over a hundred miles away. What could he do? He came over to the city in search of a few teachers that he had seen at the Penitentiary Sunday-school, in hope that they would help him in his efforts to reach his home. The money was kindly given him, and he seemed to be as grateful as a man could be. A small sum was extended to him to procure supper; but he refused, saying he could do without anything to eat—"just loan me money enough to get home, that is all I want; and in a short time I will return it again."

In a few minutes he was gone. Would his friends ever hear from him again? Would the man from prison remember his promise, and return the money? Yes, for in the course of two weeks a letter full of gratitude was received from him, and in the letter was a post office order for all that he had borrowed. He had gone home and gone to work, and when he had made the money he returned it with a most grateful heart to those who had helped him in his trouble.—Prisoners of Hope.

Some merchants get the best they can; some get the meanest they can.

Your dealer in lamp-chimneys--what does he get for you?

There are common glass and tough glass, tough against heat. There are foggy and clear. There are rough and fine. There are carefully made and hap-hazard.

You can't be an expert in chimneys; but this you can do. Insist on Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass" whichever shape you require. They are right in all those ways; and they do not break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Be willing to pay a nickel more for them.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

The case of Roessler against the Mecklenburg county commissioners to show cause why they should not grant him license to sell liquor, was tried before Judge Bynum in Charlotte, and resulted in a mistrial, the jury failing to agree. It is said that the case will be tried again at the August term before Judge Graves.

The Richmond and Danville railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to the State Sunday-school Convention at New Berne N. C. and return at following rates from points named below. Intermediate points in same proportion. Tickets on sale March 27, 28, and 29, limited returning until and including April 2nd 1892. From Charlotte, 13.15; Durham, 7.00; Henderson, 8.35; Marion, 14.35; Rural Hill, 10.60 Winston Salem, 10.20; Asheville, 16.15; Greensboro, 9.25; Lincolnton, 13.75; Raleigh, 5.90; Rutherfordton, 15.70.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measurment, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $2.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC CO., 339 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Wanted.

A copy of the Raleigh Minerva, of Aug. 10th, 1809.

I will be very much obliged to all who have files of old newspapers if they will make search and send me this number if it can be found, or let me know if it cannot be sent where I can examine it. This old paper may be of great importance in reference to a great event in North Carolina history. S. M. FINGER, Raleigh, N. C.

(Newspapers will confer a favor by copying, and may do the State a valuable service).

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos. W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

New York State was visited by big snow storm and blizzard last week. Trains were completely blocked in some districts.

Robeson Association.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF COMMITTEE.

A meeting of the "Executive Committee of Robeson Association," the Committee on the "Centennial of Foreign Missions," the Committee from each church to aid the Trustees of "Robeson Institute," and the Trustees of "Robeson Institute," has been called to meet the Baptist church at Lumberton, March 31st, 1892, at 11 o'clock, for the purpose of devising plans to enlarge our contributions to Foreign Missions and to take immediate action in regard to raising $5.000 for erecting buildings for "Robeson Institute."

Please notify the committee appointed in your church to aid the Trustees of "Robeson Institute" of the time and place of meeting.

The members of the Baptist church at Lumberton, and other citizens of the town, will take pleasure in entertaining the members of these committees during their attendence at the meeting.

Pastors of the churches and all interested laymen are specially invited to attend the meeting. Very respectfully,

A. R. PITMAN,
Moderator of Robeson Association.
JAMES A. SMITH,
Chm. of Com. on Centennial of Foreign Missions.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
Pres. Bd. Trust. of Robeson Institute.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Noah Biggs, Tar River, $140.00; Kernersville ch, Liberty, 2.75; Randleman ch, ditto, 1.64; Worthville ch, ditto, 2.00; Berry's Grove ch, Flat River, 5.05; Cool Spring ch, Chowan, 5.00; Salem ch, ditto, 50c; W M S, Yanceyville ch, Beulah, 3.00; Pleasant Home ch, Brushy Mtn, 57c; New Hope ch, 45c. Total, 160.96. Previously reported, 1,144.11. Total this year, 1,304.07.

Foreign Missions—Cub Creek ch, Brushy Mtn, $3.15; Bark Spring ch, Tar River, 2.25; Zion Hill ch, Brushy Mtn, 5.70; Dr W H Edwards, 3.24; W M S, Mt Holly ch, Eastern, 1.00; W M S, Flat River Union, Flat River, N China, 6 67; High Point ch, Liberty, 20 00; Society ch, South Yadkin, 10.00; Pleasant Hope ch, Robeson, 1.00; W M S, Henderson ch, Flat River, 12.15; Lumberton ch, Sunbeams, Robeson, 3.10; Bladen Union ch, Cedar Creek, 1.60; Corinth ch, Chowan, 2.45; Pleasant Grove ch, W Chowan, 25.00; Palmerville ch, Stanly, 4.00; Robert's Chapel ch, ditto, 39.50; Amis Chapel ch, Flat River, 21.70; Corinth ch, Flat River, N China, 6 80; W M S, Yanceyville ch, Beulah, 3.00; S S Mis Soc, Cashie ch, W Chowan, 2.02; Green Level ch, Raleigh, 2.55; W M S, ditto, ditto, 2.00; Sharon ch, Tar River, per Rev N B Cobb, pastor, 3 37; Salem ch, Chowan, 11.25. Total, 196.70. Previously reported, 1,356.76. Total this year, 1,553.46.

Home Missions—Bark Spring ch, Tar River, $2.51; Dr W H Edwards, 3.00; Jackson ch, W Chowan, 5.00; Cool Spring ch, Chowan, 5.00; Pleasant Grove ch, W Chowan, 2.80; Robert's Chapel ch, ditto, 7.00; Green Level ch, Raleigh, 2.70; W M S, ditto, ditto, 1.00; W M S, Yanceyville ch, Beulah, 3.00; Chapel Hill ch, Mt Zion, 25.00; Meherrin ch, W Chowan, 4.50; Edenton ch, Chowan, 15.00; Mrs J Turner, Morehead, for Cuban girl at Diaz school, 12.00. Total, 88.51. Previously reported, 424.90. Total this year, 513.41.

Havana House—Society ch, South Yadkin, $7.00; Mt Carmel ch, Montgomery, 1.01; Sharon ch, Tar River, per Rev N B Cobb, pastor, 1.00; A member of Wake Union ch, Central, who is a friend of missions, 25.00; Wake Forest ch, Central, 2.50; Yates ch, Mt Zion, 4.06. Total, 40.57. Previously reported, 3,315.33. Total to date, 3,355.90.

Education—Sawyer's Creek ch, Chowan, $15.00; Sandy Level ch, Mt Zion, 2.00; Thos J Mitchell, Henderson, 5.00; Reidsville ch, 31.50; Cool Spring ch, Chowan, 1.71; W M S, Green Level ch, Raleigh, 1.00; Summerfield ch, Beulah, 2.55; Scotland Neck ch, Tar River, 6.50; Whitestone ch, Raleigh, 3.75; W M S, Pollocksville ch, Eastern, 4.00; Zion Hill ch, Brushy Mtn, 1.50; W M S, Greensboro ch, Beulah, 5.00. Total, 79.51. Previously reported, 485.13. Total this year, 564.64.

Orphanage—Pleasant Grove ch, W Chowan, $4.35; S S, Cashie ch, ditto, 1.13; S S, Wake Forest ch, Central, 3.00; Cross Roads ch, Robeson, 2.50; S S, Baltimore ch, ditto, 1.20; Johnson's ch, Eastern, 3.15; S S, First ch, Raleigh, 15.00. Total, 30.33. Previously reported, 383.89. Total this year, 414.22.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, March 12, 1892.

The Standard Oil Company is to be dissolved, so it is stated.

Medicated Throat Bandage

Positively cures Quinsy, Croup, Goitre, Enlarged Tonsils, Catarrh of the Throat, Loss of Voice, Hoarseness and all Diseases of the Throat. A pleasant, soothing application, worn at night, performing its work while the patient sleeps. Sent by mail for One Dollar. Testimonials and a treatise on "The Throat and Its Ailments," free to all sending 2c. stamp for postage.

Mention this paper. The Physicians' Remedy Co., Cincinnati, O round and shape note, by the 100, board bound, only 50c. each; cloth-bound, 60c; words, 14c. A Baptist song book. W. E. PENN, St. Louis, Mo

HARVEST BELLS,

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B.M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 1045½ Whitehall St.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
Bells for Churches, Chimes, Schools, Fire Alarms of Pure Copper and Tin. Fully Warranted. Catalogue sent free. VANDUZEN & TIFT, Cincinnati, O

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee $2.00, send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, Miss CARTER, Proprietor, Olde Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF, Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no ce; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3260, New York City, N. Y.

CONSTIPATION and other bowel complaints cured and prevented by the prompt use of

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

They regulate the liver, cleanse the stomach, and greatly assist digestion.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.
Lowell, Mass.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season,

'92.

DRY GOODS

—AND—

Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W.H.& R.S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

YOU WILL FIND

upon examination that the

GRADED SERIES

OF

Lesson Helps and Illustrated Papers

issued by the

American Baptist Publication Society,

are not only the BEST but the CHEAPEST.

Compare our Prices with those of Similar Publications.

WHY ORDER FROM OTHER PUBLISHERS?

Second Quarter Now Ready.

ORDER EARLY.

CLUB PRICES.

Primary Grade.

Picture Lessons, 3 cents per quarter; 12 cents per year.
Primary Quarterly, 2¼ cents per quarter; 9 cents per year.
Our Little Ones, 25 cents per year.

Intermediate Grade.

Intermediate Quarterly, 2½ cents per quarter; 9 cents per year.
Sunlight, 8 and 16 cents per year.

Advanced Grade.

Advanced Quarterly, 2½ cents per quarter; 10 cents per year,
Bible Lessons, 6 cents per year.
Young Reaper, 10 and 20 cents per year.

Senior Grade.

Senior Quarterly, 6 cents per quarter; 24 cents per year.
Our Young People, 40 cents per year. Single copy, 50 cents per year.
Worker, 6 cents per year.

Teacher.

Baptist Teacher, 50 cents per year. Single copy, 60 cents per year.

Superintendent.

Baptist Superintendent, 35 cents per year.

SAMPLES FREE.

American Baptist Publication Society,

PHILADELPHIA: 1420 Chestnut Street;
NEW YORK: Times Building;
BOSTON: 256 Washington Street;
CHICAGO: 122 Wabash Avenue;
ST. LOUIS: 1109 Olive Street;
ATLANTA: 66½ Whitehall Street.

WASHINGTON

Life Insurance

COMPANY

OF NEW YORK.

W. A. BREWER, JR., Pres.

ASSETS, - - $11,500,000.

The assets of the Washington contain the largest proportion of the Bond and Mortgage Investments of any Life Insurance Company in this country, and the smallest proportion in cash invested.

Send your address, with age, on a postal card and receive full particulars.

Agents wanted where we are not now represented. Address

SAMUEL L. ADAMS, Dist. Agt.,
DURHAM, N. C.

Teachers Wanted.

for good positions at good salaries, by the Southern Educational Bureau, Oxford, Mississippi. Send stamp for registration form and terms.

THE BAPTIST

BOOK AND

Sunday-school Supply Store.

All profits go to Sunday-school Missions. Make Orders now for Second Quarter.

SONG BOOKS—"The Choice," by Basil Manly, is the best. Try it. Music, boards, by mail, 40 cts; words only, by mail, 12 cts.

MISSIONS—A new book. "William Carey—beginnings in Modern Missions." Is the best. Try it. In cloth, by mail, 25 cents. Address,

REV. C. DURHAM, 113 Fayetteville St., Raleigh, N. C.

BALTO. 1864 SADLERS BRYANT AND STRATTON COLLEGE

FOUNDED 1864 by the present executive—Occupies four buildings—Unrivalled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. The outlook for is most favorable for business opportunities. The demand for our graduates is unprecedented. No vacation; pupils can enter at any time with equal advantage. Never attend a school because the tuition is cheap, for CHEAP is very dear: it means cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and offers NO opportunities for securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This school, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in business more young men and women from Md., Va., N. C., S. C. and Ga. than all similar institutions combined. Catalogue and particulars mailed. W. H. SADLER, Pres.—P. A. SADLER, Sec'y, BALTIMORE, Md.

The New Year

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

Dr. Charles W. Dabney, President of the University of Tennessee, will deliver the annual address at the commencement of the State Agricultural and Mechanical College in June.

The Seaboard Air Line announces that it will sell reduced round-trip rates to Norfolk and return for the occasion of the launching of the United States cruiser Raleigh for $3.85 for the round trip.

Governor Holt has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Weightman Thompson, the white man who was convicted of the murder of the Pearsall family near Goldsboro.

The lady members of the North Carolina Board of World's Fair managers have undertaken to raise $10,000, necessary for the erection of a State building at Chicago. A meeting was held in this city last Friday, and an organization was perfected. This was the first of similar meetings to be held all over the State.

Col. L. D. Stephenson's place, eight miles south of Raleigh, was the scene of a terrible disaster last Thursday. The boiler of the engine at his grist-mill exploded, instantly killing his fifteen-year old son, John Stephenson, and painfully injuring Furman Jones, both of whom were near the engine. Young Stephenson was blown a considerable distance, his body striking against a pine tree. All of his clothing was torn from him except a wristband.

State News.

A dummy line between High Point and Winston is talked of.

Three negroes were drowned in Tar river near Washington recently.

Evangelist Fife will begin a meeting in Wilson on Sunday, March 20th.

The law preventing the killing of birds went into effect on yesterday, the 15th.

The Salisbury Granite Co., with a capital stock of $250,000 has been organized at Salisbury.

The Asheville Street Railway Co., have decided to issue $300,000 in 7 per cent. gold redemption bonds.—Democrat.

Hon. W. M. Robbins will deliver the address at the unveiling of the Confederate monument at Concord, May 7th next.

Mattie Harris, a negro girl, was run over and killed by a train on the Swearing Creek bridge, near Lexington, last Saturday.

An unknown negro, drunk and asleep on the Carolina Central railroad at Iron Station, was run over and killed on the 11th inst.

The Gastonia Gazette says it is estimated that between $15,000 and $20,000 worth of cotton in Union county is being held for higher prices.

The name of the Charlotte Daily Chronicle has been changed to the Charlotte Daily Observer. The paper was known as the Observer years ago.

It is stated that the people of Aulander, Bertie county, have decided to build a female school, and have also entered upon plans to erect a hotel.

Three dry kilns, a store house and three dwellings were burned it is stated, at Bay Side, Beaufort county, Saturday night the 5th inst. Loss $10,000.

St. Marks Episcopal church, in Long Creek township, Mecklenburg county, was recently broken into, and the communion service valued at $50.00 was stolen.

Mr. R. H. Habbard, who for nearly fourteen years had been mayor of Clinton resigned on the 5th inst. Mr. John C. Slocumb has been elected his successor by the commissioners.

Mr. Robert Harrill a prominent Cleveland county farmer, fell from his wagon near Shelby on the 10th inst. His head struck a rock causing injuries from which he died in a few minutes.

The Durham Globe learns that the right to use the Keeley cure, has been secured by the Dukes and other men of Durham who will pay $30,000 for the business and will establish houses here and there.

Windsor, Bertie county, is moving in the matter of holding an election to subscribe $15,000 towards building the Norfolk, Wilmington & Charleston railroad as an inducement for it to pass through that place.

Captain Paul, of the tug Rescue, at Baltimore from Bath, N. C., reports having saved the schooner Bessie, of Washington, N. C., in Pamlico sound. A colored woman and child were found drowned in the cabin.

The North Carolina Gold Mining and Bullion Co., it is reported, will put in an extensive plant on their Uwharrie river property in April. Their capital stock is $2,000,000, and they propose to work on a large scale.—Salisbury Watchman.

Charlotte is preparing for a big celebration on May 20th. Senator David B. Hill has promised to be present. Speaker Crisp, Hon. Benton McMillin, Senators Vance and Ransom, and the North Carolina delegation in Congress, are also expected to be present.

On last Saturday afternoon J. M. McClure, living near McCray, this county, went to Miles' liquor shop just over in Caswell. He rode on a cart drawn by a mule. On his return home he lost his life. He was found Sunday morning. His mule had run away with him.—Graham Gleaner.

A correspondent of the Statesville Landmark states the fact that about two weeks ago a little child of Mr. J. Davis of Gwaltney township, Alexander county, was attacked by an old rooster, which stuck its spur in the back of the child's head. The spur penetrated far enough to affect the brain, and the child died in a week.

A special to the Charlotte Observer says Mr. A. L. Sink, of Lexington, who was so badly injured in the wreck at Bostian's bridge, has brought suit against the Richmond & Danville Railroad in Davidson Superior Court for $50.000 damages and that his wife, who was also injured at the same time, has brought suit for $25,000.

The first wreck of the Yadkin railroad occurred last Friday morning at Hampton Creek, eight miles from Salisbury. Two loaded cars were demolished, and the front end of the baggage car slightly damaged. Fourteen passengers were on board but fortunately no one was hurt. The wreck was caused by the breaking of a coupler.

The people of Concord and Cabarrus county are moving in the matter of building a railroad known as the Concord Southern from Concord to Charlotte, Monroe or some other point on the Carolina Central. The Commissioners of Cabarrus county have ordered an election to be held April 19th to give the people an opportunity of voting to issue $75,000 worth of bonds towards the building of the road.

On Thursday morning March 3rd, Chas. M. Swicegood, of Salisbury, N. C., was found lying in a comatose condition with blood on his face at the foot of a flight of stairs in Richmond, Va. It was presumed that he had been drinking heavily so with assistance a police officer carried him to the station house. He remained there in the condition in which he was carried for several hours. As he showed no signs of awakening a physician was sent for who examined Swicegood and found him dying. His death occurred at half past five. A post mortem examination revealed the fact that his skull was fractured, although there was no external sign of such a condition.

General News.

The Behring Sea matter still remains unsettled.

Pope Leo XIII recently celebrated his eighty-second birth-day.

Forty sealers frozen to death, were found in Halifax, N. S., a short time since.

Jay Gould has donated $35,000 to the University of the City of New York.

A number of deaths from typhus fever have occurred in New York City during the past two weeks.

An explosion in a coal mine at Alden, Pa., on the 9th killed three miners and badly injured four others.

The extensive oil works of John Blackburn in London were burned on the 12th. The loss amounted to several thousand pounds.

The Grand Hotel, at Broadway and Thirty-first street, New York, has been leased for a term of ten years at $52,000 per year.

The works of the Collwell and Collins Norway Bolt Company in Cleveland, Ohio, were destroyed by fire on the 12th inst. Loss, $100.000.

The Cotton Seed Oil Mill and Fertilizer works at Rock Hill, S. C., were destroyed by fire on the night of the 6th inst. Loss $60,000; insurance $52,000.

The Coldwater Bank at Coldwater, Mich., was robbed of about $60,000 in cash and bonds one night recently. The vaults were blown open and completely wrecked.

The second trial of Dr. J. A. P. Baker, of Abingdon, Va., for the murder of his wife by poisoning, was ended on the 7th inst., the jury bringing in a verdict of "not guilty."

A cablegram from La Paz, Bolivia on the 8th stated that during a battle between Indians and government troops recently, 1,000 Indians were killed. Thirty of the government troops were said to have been badly wounded.

The crew of the United States steamship, Baltimore, have entered suits for over two million dollars against the Chilian Government for injuries received and false imprisonment undergone at the time of the riot in October 1891.

A bill appropriating $30,000 for surveying, locating and preserving the lines of attack and defense of the Union and Confederate land and naval forces in the operations against Mobile, Ala., in 1864 and 1865 has been passed.

Wm. A. Losey an elderly and trusted clerk of Molleson, Bros., wholesale paper dealers of Brooklyn, N. Y., has confessed to having stolen over $31,000 from his employers since May 1890. He had gambled the money away at a game called policy.

Several large New York City banks have been troubled recently with many light weight twenty dollar gold pieces shipped from California. It is stated that the coins are subjected to a sweating process by electricity which will extract as much as seventy-five cents or a dollar from each twenty-dollar gold piece without materially affecting the face of the coin.

Do You Suffer with Piles? You can cure yourself in a few days with our new and simple method of treatment. Medicine used locally and gives immediate relief. Sent by mail for $1. Special treatment and extra large package of Cure $5. Send stamp for booklet, entitled "How to cure Piles," free to all, containing valuable information never before published. [illegible] Co. Box 720 Greensboro, N. C.

MARRIED.

PEED—CLOPTON—On Jan. 24th, 1892, by Rev. J. W. Atkinson, Mr. Willis D. Peed and Miss Fannie Clopton, all of Wake county.

DIED.

DRY—Ada, infant daughter of John T. and Cora Dry, aged eleven months and twenty-four days, on Feb. 20th, 1892, fell asleep in Jesus, a sweet sleep "from which none ever wakes to weep." Weep not, fond parents; while the sweet babe cannot come back to you, you by faithfulness until death may go to it, never to part again. A FRIEND.

HARTSELL—Bascom Newton, son of Rev. P. G. and Mrs. Maggie Hartsell, died at Big Lick, N. C., on Feb. 10th, 1892, of pneumonia, aged one year and eight months. He was a sweet, tender little lamb. The Lord saw cause to call him up to heaven whither he has gone to praise the name of Jesus who said, "Suffer little children to come unto me, and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of heaven." Weep not, fond parents, sisters and brother; be faithful, press on, and you will meet your darling Bascom in the sweet by-and-by.

"Take these little lambs," said he,
And lay them in my breast,
Protection they shall find in me,
In me be ever blest."

A FRIEND.

Shelby Aurora and Stanley News copy.

BROWN—Bro. Jno. W. Brown has run his race and gone to be with the redeemed in heaven. He passed away at his home near Roxobel, N. C., on February 2d, 1892. He was born April 14th, 1807, and was therefore in his eighty-fifth year. Bro. Brown professed faith in Christ in 1853 under the ministry of Rev. Reynoldson, and connected himself with Cashie Baptist church, Bertie county, N. C., of which he was a member for a number of years, after which his membership was, by his request, moved to the Baptist church in Roxobel (Sandy Run.) Bro. Brown had been in failing health for several years, and was very feeble many months before his death. He had reached a ripe old age. One of the few in our midst who had passed the limit of manly life has gone to his reward. Sustained as he was by a reasonable, religious and holy hope, he met death without fear or trembling. As a church member he was thoughtful and liberal, and as a christian, benevolent. His funeral was preached by his pastor, Rev. A. Cree. He leaves a large circle of friends to mourn his loss, and especially a devoted wife who expects to meet him again "in the sweet by-and-by." JNO. E. PEELE.

McPHAIL—Departed this mortal life, Feb. 15th, 1892, at the home of her father, near Rowland, N. C., Miss Bettie McPhail, beloved daughter of Mr. Archibald McPhail. Miss Bettie was a young lady of admirable qualities of mind and heart, and possessed the love and esteem of all who knew her, and her death has produced great sorrow in the section where she lived and died. It was hard for one so young to die, she being in her twenty-second year, but God knew best, and called her away from this vale of tears to the sweet rest of heaven. At the time of her death Miss Bettie was an exemplary and useful member of Pleasant Grove church, and she will be sadly missed by the brethren and sisters of that church. In the autumn of 1886, with many others, she made a public profession of faith in Christ, and was baptized by Rev. Jas. A. Smith, who also conducted her funeral services in the presence of a large number of her friends and loved ones. We have every reason to believe that she belonged to the number of the righteous elect who will be held in everlasting remembrance. Her friends sorrow not as those who have no hope, for they believe that she has fallen asleep in Jesus, and she will be seen with him in the clouds of heaven when he comes to raise the blessed dead and change the righteous living.—The Robesonian.

GILLIAM—The death of Mrs. Wiley J. Gilliam at her home near Windsor occurred Tuesday, March 1st,. Mrs. Gilliam was born Dec. 21st, 1809. At the age of sixteen she married Wiley Jones Gilliam. Mr. Gilliam was for many years a leading Democratic politician of the first district, a man of commanding presence, fine understanding, hospitable and generous nature. "He was the universal friend of the poor."

Mrs. Gilliam was Miss Elizabeth Roscoe Bond, daughter of John W. Bond. She was a sister of Dr. John Bond of Tennessee, Mrs. John Peter Roscoe, the late Mrs. Margaret Spivey, Thomas S. Bond and Lewis T. Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilliam reared a large family of sons, who were prominent in business and politics and social life, and of daughters, foremost in social and religious duties. Among them were Moses Gilliam, editor of Albemarle Times and a successful merchant. B. B. Gilliam, a merchant and farmer; Benjamin and William Gilliam, planters; one son, John B. Gilliam, a lawyer and farmer; and three daughters, Mrs. Winifred Bernard, widow of Dr. S. Bernard, Mrs. Rebecca Craig, widow of the late Rev. A. M. Craig, and Mrs. Pattie Craig, wife of Andrew Craig, a prominent citizen of our county, survive her. Mrs. Gilliam leaves a number of grandchildren, who follow the footsteps of the former generation. Among them, I may mention Locke Craig, a prominent lawyer and literateur in Asheville; Rev. Braxton Craig, a prominent Baptist minister of Union, Hertford county; Thomas Gilliam, Jr., head of the firm of T. Gilliam, Jr., & Lyn, bankers and brokers, Windsor, N. C., and W. H. Bernard, a successful merchant in the place.

Mrs. Gilliam has occupied an enviable position in the community during her long life. At the age of fifteen years when life was full of bright hopes and surrounded by all the allurements that wealth could buy, she gave up the world and put on Christ. Her conversion occurred at old Cashie church about a mile from Windsor. It was an event of sufficient importance to call forth mention in Elder Lemuel Burkitt's book. Mrs. Gilliam was baptized by Elder Reuben Lawrence, and for 67 years she walked in the fear and admonition of the Lord. She was a Baptist by birth and by choice. Her kindred and connections have for three-quarters of a century been at the head of that denomination in this part of the State.

As a christian, she was tolerant of the opinions of others; as a neighbor, she was given to hospitality and charitable to lavishness; as a mother, she was devoted; and as a friend, she was sincere. These were the attributes which, harmoniously blended in a strong body, rendered my deceased friend an ornament to womanhood.

A very large concourse followed her body to its resting place beneath the sighing pines by her husband and children. In the scene of sadness and sorrow, there was no more touching sight than the presence of a large number of former slaves, who testified their love and devotion for the mistress who was gentle and kind, by many a silent tear.

The funeral of Mrs. Gilliam was conducted by Rev. T. T. Speight, her pastor. He preached from 2 Tim. 4: 7. His discourse was a tender and beautiful tribute to the virtue of his friend and filled with touching consolation. The entire sermon was in fine accord with the life of the good christian who has entered upon the blissful joys of paradise. F. D. W.

Tributes of Respect.

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to take from us our late superintendent, Brother Thos. J. Sutton, and while we bow with christian resignation to this decree of an Alwise Providence, yet feeling that regret which only such a loss can incite, we hereby Resolved 1. That the christian graces which adorned the life of our deceased brother, and his readiness to respond to appeals of the needy and suffering, leaves us no room to doubt that he has gone to his reward, and in crossing the dark river was safely guided to that heaven of eternal rest which awaits the arrival of the people of God.

2. In the death of our beloved brother this Sunday-school has lost one of its most useful and devoted members.

3. That while bowing in submission to God who doeth all things well, we at the same are in sorrow that we shall meet no more in this life one for whom we entertained so much affection.

4. That in our sorrow we still find comfort in our recollection of his upright walk while yet in our midst. Thus cherishing the memory of his gifts and graces, we are persuaded that our loss has redounded to his gain, for while we walk thus in shadow and sorrow he has gained the joys for which he strove.

5. That the BIBLICAL RECORDER and Perquimans Record be requested to publish these resolutions, and that copy thereof be spread on the minutes of the Sunday-school, and also sent to our widowed sister, Mrs. Sutton, with the assurances of our sympathy in her loss.

R. Q. SKINNER,
FANNIE L. WESTON,
SYDNEY L. LONG,
Committee.

Bethel Sabbath-school, Perquimans county, N. C., February 28th, 1892.

The following resolutions were adopted by St. John's Baptist church, Hertford county, N. C., Feb. 20th, 1892, concerning the late J. W. Early:—

He was born June 14th, 1852. He connected himself with the church at Connaritsa when about nineteen years old. He afterwards moved his membership to Ahoskie, where he remained until 1881. He then joined at Pleasant Grove, with his wife. In 1883 he took a letter and helped to constitute the church at St. John's. He was chosen church clerk, and remained a faithful member and servant of the church to the time of his death, Jan. 19th, 1892. His age was thirty-seven years, seven months and five days.

WHEREAS, It hath pleased our Heavenly Father to take from our midst J. W. Early, our beloved brother and clerk, and one of our most loved and active members, therefore Resolved, That we bow with submission to his will, believing that he does all things well.

Resolved, That in the death of our brother the church has lost one of her best members, whose example of faithful and loving service we will endeavor so to imitate that we too may die the death of the righteous and our last end may be like his.

Resolved, That we extend to the bereaved family our sincere condolence, praying that the protecting arms of the loving Saviour may ever be around them, and that the hope of a happy reunion with the loved ones gone before may serve to mitigate the sorrows of bereavement.

W. E. JENKINS,
W. P. HOWARD,
MRS. L. K. LASITER,
Committee.

Many a life has been lost because of the taste of cod-liver oil.

If Scott's Emulsion did nothing more than take that taste away, it would save the lives of some at least of those that put off too long the means of recovery.

It does more. It is half-digested already. It slips through the stomach as if by stealth. It goes to make strength when cod-liver oil would be a burden.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

$50.00 A WEEK A bright, energetic man or woman wanted to take the sole agency for an article that is needed in every home and indispensable in every office. SELLS AT SIGHT, in town or country. $7.00 in 90 days and a steady income afterward. A "Bonanza" for the right person. Good jobs are scarce and soon taken. Write at once. J. W. JONES, Manager, Springfield, Ohio.

Removal Sale.

Goods will be sold at very low prices to reduce stock for removal to the Andrews Building.
W. H. HUGHES, Raleigh, N. C.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS!

A. B. FORREST,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS. ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Designs, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information.
170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & Co., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

The Home Circle.

A Word About Words.

Ah me! these terrible tongues of ours!
Are we half aware of their mighty powers?
Do we ever trouble our heads at all
Where the jest may strike or the hint may fall?
The latest chirp of that "little bird,"
That spicy story, "you must have heard"—
We jerk away in our gossip rash
And somebody's glass, of course, goes smash.
What fames ha e been blasted and broken,
What pestilent sinks have been stirred
By a word in lightness spoken,
By only an idle word.

A sneer—a shrug—a whisper low,
They are poisoned shafts from an ambushed bow,
Shot by the coward, the fool, the knave;
They pierce the mail of the great or brave.
Vain is buckler of wisdom and pride
To turn the pitiless point aside;
The lips may curl with a careless smile,
But the heart drips blood—drips blood the while.
Ah me! what hearts have been broken,
What rivers of blood been stirred
By a word in malice spoken,
By only a bitter word.

A kindly word and a tender tone—
To only God is their virtue known!
They can lift from the dust the abject head,
They can turn a foe to a friend instead,
The heart close-barred with passion and pride,
Will fling at their knock its portals wide,
And the hate that blights and the scorn that sears
Will melt in the fountain of child-like tears.
What ice-bound griefs have been broken,
What rivers of love been stirred
By a word in kindness spoken,
By only a gentle word!

Sunday Magazine

"Hayseed."

There can be little doubt that a distaste for the farmers life is cultivated among country boys by the caricatures of the farmer which are published in comic papers and "humorous" books, and by the fear of being classed among the people whom these caricaturists are pleased to call "hayseeds."

Boys are accustomed to see these "funny pictures," in which a sort of farmer who is extremely unusual, and may be said not to exist at all, is set fourth as the type or example of farmers in general. As boys are sometimes unreasoning, they are apt to say to themselves, "I will not be ridiculed in that way when I grow up; I will get out of the "hayseed business."

In this way not only is an injustice done by these caricatures, but a positive injury.

The American people have a broad sense of humor, and no doubt delight in caricature, but they do not delight in injustice of mischiefmaking, when they are able to recognize it as such.

For this reason, it may be hoped that the caricaturing of the farmer, which has certainly been greatly overdone, may soon cease from the distaste for it which is pretty sure to arise.

The farmer himself can afford to take the "hayseed" ridicule good-naturedly. At a recent farmers' demonstration in the West, men rode in a procession dressed in cowhide boots, patched trousers, ragged straw hats, carrying pitchforks on their shoulders. They had adopted the guise which the caricatures give them, a way of showing that they are independent of that sort of ridicule.

But in the case of the young this spirit of independence is not often so strong. With a little thought, they must see that an unjust caricature does not really affect the credit and honor of their occupation; but they are often ambitious of what is called consideration or respectability, and are likely to be unconsciously affected by misrepresenting pictures and stories.

It is the duty of the young to bear it in mind that nothing is more respectable or dignified than the life of the independent farmer, and the duty of those who have it in their power to "raise a laugh" in the public prints to remember that they no less than serious writers, have a responsibility to truth and justice.—Youth's Companion.

Encouragement.

Why is a word of encouragement so charily spoken, when it, as nothing else, will lighten the cares of the day and urge the discouraged heart on with renewed purpose? Especially does the child hunger for the word of approval spoken by the parents. The daughter, striving as best she can to perform her duties and lighten the cares of the mother, must needs have a strong will and a high sense of duty to enable her to stand firm if, instead of occasionally a word of praise, nothing is vouchsafed her but a stony silence, or, what is even worse, constant fault-finding at the little mistakes made. What a disappointment to the little child who has brought and warmed papa's slippers and dressing gown to see him don them with no word of thanks. The mother who complains that her daughter is not so willing to help as she should be should pause and think if any encouragement was ever given or if the willingness to help that once was a pleasure had not been crushed in its infancy. A young lady, whose school life had just closed, and was happy in the quiet of home life and in the consciousness of being of some help to her mother, had her ambition crushed by hearing her mother remark to a caller, who was congratulating mother on having her labors lightened by the daughter's help, that she didn't notice any difference in the work, and though she got along quite as well when the daughter was at school. Be not afraid of making the child vain by praising her, for oftener she is made morose by the withholding of it that harmed by the speaking.

The surprise of Rip Van Winkle when awaking from his long slumber could not have been greater than the consumptive's, upon finding himself entirely relieved by Dr. Bell's Cough Syrup. 25 cts.

A sunny haired child is a picture. Use Buckingham's Dye for the hair.

Use Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey for Coughs and Colds

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1892. Number 38.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

113 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

Sketches of Pioneer Baptist Preachers in North Carolina.

BY JOHN W. MOORE, STATE HISTORIAN.

MEMOIR VII—REV. JEREMIAH WALKER.

CHAPTER TWO.

As the Rev. Jeremiah Walker and other Baptist evangelists of that period traversed Virginia, they found an Episcopal rector and chapel for worship in every parish. The laws and individual inclination had conjoined in bringing over an entirely different class of people to the old Dominion from those who settled the other colonies. No persecuted dissenter was so ignorant as to venture from England or Scotland for exile on James river. It was but "jumping out of the frying pan into the fire." The colony planted at Jamestown in 1607 was the pet of King James I. and all his unlucky dynasty. The settlers who were induced to go there were all of the high church type. They hated Catholics and dissenters with a hatred that seems strangely unaccountable in our generation; but this was counted as God's service in that wicked and adulterous period that preceded the English revolution of 1688. Many families of wealth and consideration transferred themselves and their fortunes to the beautiful land where the doctrines of Laud and Filmer were so much more highly respected than even in merry England. As was natural, the heads of such families became the leaders and lawmakers of the new land. They carried all their prejudices and want of charity into the General Assembly at Williamsburg and enacted such codes of laws as required the restraining powers in London to temper their harshness and cruelty. When King William III. and his gentle partner of the throne had procured from the Convention Parliament the enactment of the famous statute, known and reverenced ever since as the Toleration Act, this law, the noblest monument of one of the greatest kings of modern times, was intended for the protection of people against religious persecution in all parts of the British dominions; but it found slow and meager respect in Virginia. Men like Mr. Walker thought themselves comparatively safe from the priestly tyranny of old until they ventured into the battle-field where the Baptists, backed by Patrick Henry, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison were struggling for liberty and gospel privileges. That the eloquent young divine had the heart and faith to take his part in such a conflict, adds another to his many claims upon our regard and admiration.

North Carolina Baptist evangelists had been for several years unceasingly active in their incursions into Virginia. As Rev. Dr. Whitsitt remarked in his Wake Forest sermon of 1889, the Old Dominion was chiefly won over to Baptist principles by these missionaries from the Old North State. Thus another element of offense entered into the quarrel which the Churchmen got up with the young preacher from Bute county. He was not only one of the despised Baptists, but an emissary of the same school that had been making such fearful inroads upon Episcopal pastures under the preaching of David Marshall, Samuel Harriss and others. It was a matter of especial offense that these men as a rule were like Mr. Walker from North Carolina. While the British toleration act promised and did secure immunity from the imprisonments and scourgings of older times simply on an allegation of a want of conformity to the State forms of religion, still in the recesses of the enraged Churchmen's hearts there was yet a hope left of vengeance on their religious disturbers. Some soulless and unprincipled lawyer suggested a trick and perversion of the laws by which the most harmless and holy men should be subjected to the pains and penalties intended only for the restraint of the lawless and violent disturbers of the public peace. It was so arranged that Episcopal roughs should be on hand to disturb and break up by open violence any Baptist meeting they could hear of; and then these same men of Belial should go before some compliant magistrate and swear out a peace warrant against the Baptist preachers as disturbers of public tranquility. These villians, who had beaten or half drowned the unoffending man of God, would be used as witnesses to prove that his persistence in preaching the gospel was the whole cause of all the trouble.

It was thus that Mr. Walker, after one of his most powerful discourses, found himself hustled and insulted by the minions of the Establishment, and, amid the tears of his people, was led off as a prisoner to answer for his offense against the peace and dignity of his Majesty's Colony of Virginia. To the warrant alleging his guilt as a disturber of the public tranquility, he pleaded "not guilty." When the wretched Dogberry of a magistrate had heard the testimony of his accomplices in this mockery of justice, but slight attention was paid to the best citizens of the country as they swore that Mr. Walker's conduct had been entirely peaceful and blameless. Of course, his conviction and punishment were foregone conclusions from the beginning; but when he was called upon to pay a fine and costs, and further to give security for his future good behavior, he told the court plainly that he had committed no offense against the laws of God or man, and should therefore give countenance to no such iniquitous proceedings by paying a single cent; that as for preaching the gospel, he owed allegiance to a higher tribunal than the greatest of earthly courts, and therefore would endure imprisonment, the spoiling of his goods and the loss of life itself sooner than obey any man's orders for his silence on that subject. With such scorn of his jurisdiction, the court was swift to sentence its prisoner to the county jail until a more submissive spirit should mark his course to so exalted a tribunal.

Thus like many of his clerical brethren did this great Baptist preacher suffer the pains and penalties which his ecclesiastical opponents thought were due to heretical obstinacy and presumption in thus daring to give voice to his belief in matters of religion. Mr. Walker's patince and meekness as a prisoner of the Lord, and his glowing sermons preached through the jail windows, made him more than ever an idol of the people. That generous sympathy for the wronged and love of fair play, which marks the Anglo Saxon race in every part of the globe, made him friends in the most unexpected quarters. So far from this persecution staying or stopping the young enthusiast in his work, it but fired his soul into fresh ardor. When the jail doors were opened and he was for shame begged to depart, the people thought him more like one inspired than ever before, as he revelled in the flood tide of resistless argument or melted all hearts with his pathos and tears.

With that noble band of Baptist coadjutors, who through so much labor and tribulation worked out their deliverance from the least dread of future persecution, Mr. Walker hasted on until the glorious end at last came. The fight was long and sore, but with liberty achieved, all the sufferings of the past were counted as dust in the balance. A great people, long misled and mistaken as to human rights, woke up from their dream of oppression and wrong to become the light and hope of the human race. Had they no other title to renown than the production of Thomas Jefferson, that single fact would be glory enough for unfading immortality. It was through him and his no less illustrious coadjutor, James Madison, that religious liberty was made the law of all the republic. The light kindled first by Roger Williams in Rhode Island having, after so many years, flamed up in the great Virginia beacon, was thus spread over the American nation and is yet on its way round the world. It was to take many years before its final triumph in such places as Massachusetts, but even there the mild and gentle teachings of our Saviour were at length accepted in all their mighty scope of mercy and forbearance, and the difference of men in religious opinion happily ceased to be treated as a crime against worldly and often ungodly magistrates. Even in free and liberal North Carolina, the last vestige of this old, unchristian habit of visiting pains and penalties on people considered unorthodox, was not purged from our constitution until the year of our Lord 1835, and even then such wise, just and capable men as Nathaniel Macon were heard advocating a continuance of a policy which, if enforced, would have unseated William Gaston from the Convention of which he was the greatest pride and ornament.

With the full establishment of American independence and the coming on of the peaceful days after so many years of blood and confusion, the times were still illustrated by the eloquence and activity of the Rev. Jeremiah Walker. The sun of his fame and usefulness was yet undimmed. The olden zeal and fervor in his work of salvation knew no abatement to all human appearances; but like David and many others who have truly served God in this lower world, Mr. Walker was yet to prove the frailty of the flesh even in our best estate. The wisdom and justice of the Saviour's declaration, "Let him that thinketh he standeth take heed to his ways lest he fall," were never more clearly demonstrated than in Mr. Walker's sad and unfortunate ending of his stay in Virginia. Like many another popular preacher, he was the object of almost adoration to many young and lovely women who had professed religion under his ministrations. These, under the cloak of religious attachment, too often burned with less holy sentiments toward the great preacher they so much idolized. In an evil hour for his fame and usefulness, he so far yielded to improper feelings and desires as to seriously compromise his christian character. His punishment was swift and humiliating. Deposed from the ministry and stript of all the olden respect and preference so long enjoyed, the fallen leader had nothing left but the memory of how much he had forfeited by his sin.

After months of sorrowful repentance, his brethren were induced to give him another trial, and trusting that God had forgiven a soul thus apparently so full of remorse, he was restored to his former privileges as a preacher of the gospel. But nothing could hide the stain on his escutcheon. He found that his usefulness in the old haunts was a thing not to be recovered. On this account he sought strange faces and cover from the knowledge of men by removing to Georgia. There his fall had its legitimate fruit in the lowering of his former high standard as to creed by surrendering all that was good in Calvinistic teachings and the adoption of extreme Arminianism. The old belief that had been so dear in his days of innocence, that told him of his election and adoption through grace, with the further assurance of his his and every other redeemed soul's final perseverance had passed into doubt and dismay. With the great Dutch teacher, he had come to believe that salvation was not only in reach of all the race, but was dependent solely upon their own wills and works. His great debate with Rev. Silas Mercer before the General Association of Virginia, showed that all the astuteness and oratory of the past were yet his; but the soul and cream of his Baptist strength had been lost in the sense of his double departure from purity and the truth. The case of Mr. Walker, along with others of a similar nature, might well show the people of all creeds calling on the name of Christ, how useless it is to continue men, convicted of disgraceful sins, in their former pastoral relations. Such offences against God and man are sure to have their legitimate effects on the soul of the offender. Peter sinned grievously and was restored to God's favor; but we must remember that was an age of miracles. The forgiveness and absolution of our Lord could call even the dead back to life, but we have no such resurrections now. The minister who, in his sacred functions deliberately tramples on God's mercy and the trust of his people, is forever unworthy of return to his forfeited place as the under-shepherd of the Lord. If he is truly repentant, let the church restore him as a layman, but as a pastor and guide, never.

The Sabbath and the World's Fair.

Dear Recorder:—As so much is being said of late about the Sabbath, the opening of the World's Fair on that day, and the running of railroad trains, &c., will you give me space to say a few things about the day?

We have a custom of keeping a day popularly known as the Sabbath, or Lord's Day, for purposes of religious worship and spiritual improvement. And according to our computation of time this day is the first day of the week. It is a fact known to most people that the Jewish Sabbath was the seventh day of the week. Now, why the change? As to the intriescies involved in the fact that they (the Jews) had Jewish time, and we have Roman time, I shall not stop now to discuss. Nor shall I discuss the difficulties in proving that any given Saturday, or seventh day, is the seventh day from creation, and is therefore a seventh day from the day God rested from his labors. Nor will I discuss the impossibility of all people keeping the same time. Nor the fact that if two men start from a given point, and one travels east and the other west around the earth, when they meet at the point where they started they will be two days apart, one having gained a day, the other having lost one. I shall leave all this to the more curious, and those who have more time to spare than I.

I believe it is right and acceptable to God for us to keep one day in every seven, and hallow that day to the service of the Almighty—spend it in his worship, and for our own spiritual improvement. And I believe the first day of the week is the day which we ought to keep, and is the day which is now acceptable to the Lord.

Now we do not keep the Jewish Sabbath; nor do we keep a day because it is commanded in Moses' law. For "Christ is the end of the law to every one that believeth."

But one will say, this is in the "moral law," and is therefore binding through all time. Yes. The command to keep the Sabbath is in the ten commandments. But what day is meant? Why, evidently the day which the Lord shall designate. He clearly designated the seventh day to the Jews as their Sabbath. This is the command, however, "Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy," or hallowed. Then the rest of the language there in the twentieth chapter of Exodus in regard to this command is only directory to the Jews under the law, showing the day they were to keep, and to be in force until the law should be fulfilled by the death of Christ, to those who believe in him, and not necessarily the day to be observed through all time.

And now since Christ has died, has taken away the handwriting of ordinances nailing them to the Cross, and the law has been all fully and perfectly kept by him, and he has given to us the gospel of grace, it becomes us to inquire what day he has designated for us.

So let us make the inquiry.

I shall draw my arguments principally from the New Testament. I do this, for the most part, for the purpose of satisfying and confirming and strengthening the minds and faith of those who desire to learn and do their Lord's will, and hallow the day which he has designated for us and approved by his smiles and blessings.

Jesus' own words were, "The Son of Man is Lord even of the Sabbath day." Matt. 12: 8. And they seem to my mind to foreshadow, or indicate, that not merely as the Great Prophet does he here explain Sabbath duties and privileges, and the grounds for them, but that he will, sometime, for his glory and the good of his people, in some way exercise his lordly and kingly authority over the Sabbath institution.

And I think it may be clearly shown that he did this; and not only that he changed the day, but that it was actually prophesied in words as plain as possible that the Sabbath should be changed, and changed too to the first day of the week.

That the Jews were accustomed to meet on the Sabbath, or seventh day of the week, for public worship in their synagogues, is easily proven. Jesus "entered, as his custom was, into the synagogue on the Sabbath day," and after reading the Scriptures, "the people wondered at the gracious words that proceeded out of his mouth." Luke 4: 16 22.

Paul at various times and places went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and preached Christ to the people, assembled no doubt to worship. James said in the council at Jerusalem, "Moses of old time hath in every city them that preach him, being read in the synagogues every Sabbath." Acts 15: 21.

But we christians observe the first day of the week, or the Lord's day, as the day of public religious worship, after the example of Christ himself, and of his inspired apostles after his resurrection. And, further, for the reason it was prophesied that the seventh day should be taken away and the first day indicated as the day of public worship after the abrogation or fulfilment of the law given by Moses.

It is evident that we should reverently follow the example of our blessed Saviour, for he himself has said, "If any many serve me let him follow me." John 12: 26.

Paul said to the believers in Corinth, "Be ye followers of me even as I am of Christ." 1 Cor. 11: 1. And John said, "He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also to walk even as he walked." 1 John 2: 6.

Now we may not be able to show "thus saith the Lord" for a change of the day, but I think we may easily show a "thus doeth the Lord." And I submit that whatever is uniformly sanctioned by the example of Christ and his inspired apostles from his resurrection onward has, or should have, in the hearts of his people the authority of example at least.

It is necessary for us to remember here that as a man Jesus was a Jew. He was born a Jew—"born under the law." Gal. 4: 4; and that as a Jew he perfectly kept and obeyed all the commands and requirements of the Mosaic law, including the observance of the seventh-day Sabbath up to the very moment when on the cross he said, "It is finished: and he bowed his head, and gave up the ghost." John 19: 30. As the predicted prophet, he had faithfully taught his people; as a consecrated high priest, by his active obedience and voluntary sacrificial suffering unto death, he had "fulfilled the law" in all its exactions, every jot and tittle, (Matt. 5: 17, 19), and now he could say, "It is finished."

And from his resurrection he has the authority of King in Zion. He never said before this time, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." He is now as the "nobleman who made a journey into a far country to receive a kingdom and return." He has made the journey into the far away country of the grave—the entering door to the farthest place from heaven in the universe—and there in the grave, on the threshhold of hell, single handed and alone, crossed swords with Satan, vanquished him, won his kingdom, assumes the life and glory he had with the Father before the world was, and is returned with his kingdom. "Therefore being by the right hand of God exalted," or exalted to the right hand of God, "and having received of the Father the promise of the Holy Ghost, he hath shed forth this, which ye now see and hear." Acts 2: 33.

Being King in Zion, and having all power in heaven and in earth, he introduces now the fuller peculiarities of the gospel. Heretofore he had only intimated his invitations to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Now he says, "Go and preach the gospel to every creature." The atonement is made, and as he mounts to his throne of universal dominion his Saviour-heart yearns for the far-away gentile-heathen sinner. Now, in introducing the peculiarities of the gospel he does it in his own way. And I submit that his example after his resurrection, especially when repeated three and four times, must clearly indicate his will, and should have the same authority as positive command with all who love and want to obey him.

The enjoined rest on the Sabbath having been taken, and the midnight hour being past, "upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning," (Luke 24: 1,) Jesus rose from the dead to a new and immortal life. And during the many hours of that forever-to-be-remembered first day of the week, he showed himself alive as much as four times to one or more of his disciples, and in the evening of that day to a still larger number.

Three times on his resurrection day he sanctioned the assembling together of his disciples on the first day of the week for christian exercise and worship. And then on the next first day of the week when his disciples were met for worship, he met with them again, and further intimated his will and sanctioned their meeting for worship on the first day of the week. It is evident this was the next first, or Lord's day, for "after eight days," John says, (Jno. 20: 26,) that is one week from the resurrection day, it being counted as the first.

The Holy Spirit also, by his wonderful operations on the day of Pentecost, sanctioned the meeting of the disciples on the first day of the week for christian worship. For that the "day of Pentecost" occurred on the first can be proven to reasonable certainty. The Holy Spirit had been promised to guide the disciples, and especially the chosen apostles, "into all truth." (John 16: 13.) And now he comes to undertake and begin this work on the first day of the week, while the disciples were met for worship, in his enlightening and controlling influences, so that their views of Scripture truth and obedience would be correct and clear.

On the resurrection day Jesus met with his assembled followers. On the first day of the week next succeeding the resurrection day, they met again and enjoyed the manifest approval of Jesus in his meeting with them And on the seventh first day of the week after the resurrection, the day of Pentecost being fully come, he again most decidedly manifested his approval by the presence and power of the Holy Spirit in their meeting on that day. (Acts 2: 33.)

Beginning, then, with the day of the resurrection, the disciples seem universally to have met among themselves for christian worship on the first day of the week by the sanction and authority of Christ himself and of the inspired apostles.

When Paul and others labored among the unconverted Jews, they of course went into the synagogue on the seventh day, because the Jews were assembled on that day. But when the disciples of Jesus met among themselves for christian service and worship, they met on the forever to be remembered day of Christ's resurrection—the first day of the week, as is shown and confirmed by such allusions as the following: After the resurrection of Jesus, his disciples met for christian worship on every first day of the week, so far as we have any inspired account. And nowhere in the New Testament do we read of them meeting as christians for christian worship after the resurrection of Jesus, and him meeting with them, on the Jewish Sabbath, the seventh day of the week.

About twenty eight or thirty years after the resurrection of Jesus, Paul and his traveling companions sailed from Philippi to Troas in Asia Minor. And they stopped with the christians in Troas seven days (Acts 20: 6.) Now why did they stay seven days? Well, I do not know exactly, but I have an idea. They had been five days on the voyage; it was in the spring, soon after the feast of unleavened bread, and the winds were contrary, and they did not reach Troas as early as they expected. They got there on the second day of the week, or Monday; and in order that Paul might see the brethren, and they might get to hear him preach, they persuaded Paul—and he consented—to stop over till the next first day of the week, when they would all meet together to observe the day and worship Christ and to break bread. So Paul preached, and left early on the morrow. It is very clear that the christians had, prior to this, abandoned the Jewish custom of counting the day from sun set to sun set, and adopted the custom we now have of counting from midnight to midnight.

Look too at Paul's advice to the church at Corinth "concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. Upon the first day," rather every first day, that is to say, "upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God has prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Cor. 16: 1, 2.

Every first day is spoken of as if the christians at Corinth understood it as their day of rest from secular business, which no doubt they did. And then the brethren of Galatia had received the same charge, which indicates clearly that it was also their day of worship.

Then about sixty years after the resurrection of Jesus he appeared to John and spoke personally to him on the Lord's day. "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet saying, * * What thou seest, write in a book." Rev. 1: 10, 11. John speaks of being in the Spirit on the Lord's day as if he was accustomed to worshipping on that day.

I have already said that I thought I could prove that the change of the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day of the week was in fulfillment of prophecy. So I will now make the attempt. I shall notice but two prophecies. Several might be noticed, but let these suffice.

The prophet Hosea, in speaking of the breaking up of the Jewish nation, and their dispersion, and of course therewith the end of the law in Christ "to every one that believeth," says, "I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast days, her new moons, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemn feasts." Hosea 2: 11.

It is admitted by all that the [illegible] feast days and solemn assemblies of the Jewish nation are gone, and that it is [illegible]

[CONTINUED TO THE FOURTH PAGE.]

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 23, 1892.

Rev. C. T. BAILEY, Editor and Proprietor.
J. C. CADDELL, Agent and Correspondent.

THE UNSETTLED CONDITION OF AFFAIRS.

That there is disturbance in the commercial world and in all the business relations, goes without challenge. This state of things is not confined to any one section nor country, but is found to exist everywhere.

We do not propose here to account for it; but it is evidently not to be attributed to any one cause; many things enter in and combine to produce the widespread result. Already it has brought untold sorrow and suffering to the poor and dependent, upon whom the suffering from such crises always first falls. What the end of it will be no mortal man can foresee.

That some great revolution in the entire economic system will follow there can hardly be a doubt. It is impossible for many things which are being displaced ever to settle down and be as they were.

This upheaval is bringing out prominently to view some interesting characters, some of which deserve a passing notice.

1. The character who expects that these eruptions will lift him into a position of favor, deserves our attention. The poor fellow has spent gloomy days and sleepless nights ruminating over his calamities, and has decided that it was all for the want of a chance. And now he is eagerly watching each incoming wave, expecting the next one to boom him into the long-coveted place; yea, fancy can see him not only watching, but fairly tip-toeing himself so as to be easily lifted when the wave strikes him. The name of this character is "legion."

2. Another interesting character is the shrewd, sharp eyed calculator, who sees that in these crises fortunes will be wrecked, and his little snaky eyes are flashing around for the spoils; they fairly sparkle and twinkle like the stars on a dark night to spy the opportunities to increase his fortune. When he sees some poor, struggling fellow unhorsed and prostrate in the dust, he flies to his relief, and relieves him of the encumbrance of all his earthly goods, so when he rises he can pass on as lightly as possible for the balance of his journey. This character belongs to a large and largely multiplying class.

3. On the other hand the philanthropist is greatly moved as he sees that the direct shafts of all these calamitous times have fallen upon the already helpless poor. His heart is stirred within him, and he is anxious to find ways and means of relief for these poor victims.

4. Again we notice the wise and sagacious statesman, who sees the danger signals and comprehends something of the scope of the dreadful portent; he addresses himself to the task of finding remedies for the evils. Early and late he racks his brain to find a solution of this great problem of human woes.

In all of this unrest, amid all of the whirl and buzz, it is the happy privilege of the children of God to turn away from these scenes to an unchangeable God, "with whom there is no variableness, neither shadow of turning." (James 1: 17.) He tells us in his word, "I am the Lord, I change not." (Mal. 3: 6.) These changeful, shifting scenes ought to carry us with joyfulness to him who rules the world, and with the Psalmist we can say, "The Lord reigneth: let the earth rejoice." (Ps. 97: 1.)

It is restful to the christian, in the midst of wreck and ruin, to turn to the Master who walks upon the storm and says to the sea, "Peace, be still." And it will be better for these things to thus affect us, than to drive us into recklessness, or despair. We need not allow ourselves to feel friendless while we have Jesus as our friend, for "all things were created by him and for him: * and by him all things consist." (Col. 1: 16, 17. We ought not to be disconcerted when we remember that "all things work together for good to them that love God, to them, who are the called according to his purpose." (Rom. 8: 28.) But let us rather realize the sentiment of the hymn,

> "He leadeth me, oh blessed thought,
> Oh, words with heavenly comfort fraught;
> Whate'er I do, whate'er I be,
> Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me.
>
> Sometimes 'mid scenes of deepest gloom,
> Sometimes where Eden's bowers bloom,
> By waters still, o'er troubled sea—
> Still 'tis his hand that leadeth me."

A former student at Wake Forest College [illegible] his ordination last week, and was [illegible]. The College was never in better [illegible] by doing better work. These two [illegible] will be heard from in the future.

THE FIRST WEEK IN APRIL.

The first week in April—3d to 10th—it is hoped will be generally observed throughout the Southern Baptist Convention as a week of real self-denial and special earnest prayer to God in the regular meetings of the churches and in the homes and places of business of our people for an enlarged spirit of missions in all of our churches.

The Boards and the missionaries need money, need much money, and need it at once; but we need self-denial and the real spirit of missions vastly more. If throughout our churches this spirit prevailed, the Boards would soon have the money needed. It is a very serious question. Do not our donations to missions vary in value according to the consecration involved in their bestowment? What else can our Lord mean to teach us in Mark 12: 41–44? The poor widow cast in more than all who cast into the treasury that day. There was more of consecration in her gift than in all of the other gifts. And, too, is not the efficiency of such a gift greater in the Lord's work? Have not that widow's two mites accomplished more, stirred more hearts, stimulated more gifts, brought more interest in the Lord's work than the gifts of all the others, large as they were, made on that occasion? Was it because the widow was poor, and gave all she had, and others were rich and cast in only of their abundance, or because of the real spirit of consecration in the widow's gift?

This seems to be the day for farmers to consult together. Two of them were, a few days ago, talking over the hard times, financial depression, and the many calls through their pastor for money for missions, their methods of giving, and the results of the work. One of them said, "I believe in systematic giving, and I get my money ready before the time for the collection comes. Then if I can't go to church that day it is taken and handed in by some member of my family." The other farmer very solemnly said, "Yes, I do the same; but I do more. When the money is in hand, and ready to be laid aside, I kneel down and give God thanks for enabling me to make the money, and for giving me grace to make a free-will offering unto him. Then I beseech him to accept and use it to his glory. I never like to put it into the collection till I have, on my knees, given it to the Lord in thanksgiving and prayer." Is not this the right way to make our contributions to all objects?

Dr. S. J. Wheeler in 1839 said of the Baptists about Murfreesboro: "Baptists have advanced in this vicinity at least fifty years in the past seven." He referred to the enlarged spirit of consecration and the results therefrom in the old Meherrin church.

If the campaign of missionary education, now being arranged for in many of the Associations, shall be planned for in all of them, and wisely carried out, and our people shall catch the real spirit of consecration in missions, it can in truth be said five years hence "the Baptists of North Carolina have advanced at least fifty years in the past five."

Cannot all of the pastors impress their people with the importance of the first week in April as a time of self-denial and earnest prayer to God for an enlarged spirit of missions among all of our churches?

ACCURACY OF SCRIPTURE QUOTATIONS.

The habit of aptly quoting the Scriptures ought to be studiously cultivated by preachers and writers of religious articles.

But it is better not to quote it than to do it inaptly. And in most cases it is better not to quote it than to do it inaccurately. It gives great force to preaching to be able to present a Scripture quotation directly bearing on the subject. If the preacher cannot sufficiently trust his memory, it is better for him to turn to the passage and read it. Let us not fail to put honor upon the word of God whatever else we may fail to honor. Too often the preacher only gives the sense; but the best way to give the sense is to give the words as they were dictated by the Holy Spirit.

In a speaker there may be some semblance of an excuse for inaccuracy of quotation; but a man sitting down at his desk, where he can turn to the book and copy it verbatim et literatim, and even get the punctuation, has no reasonable excuse; and yet we are told by practical printers that it is exceedingly prevalent among writers to make wrong quotations.

Indeed, we have very recently heard a printer complain that in a long article, in which there were a number of proof-texts quoted, giving chapter and verse, he found the most of them wrong. We ought to get the text from the book just as it is, and we believe it to be wise to copy all the punctuation marks. There are not many writers who can punctuate as correctly as the King James' version is punctuated. And some of our revised editions is as good as the best authority on that subject. How very much sometimes depends upon the proper punctuation of a sentence! A proper appreciation of the value of Scripture quotation will lead us to carefulness of accuracy. It is a thing of value not only to readers, but the benefit of it to speakers and writers will be incalculable.

The Editor, we are happy to say, continues to improve. His physician has given his consent for him to walk down town on the next pleasant day that comes.

We take occasion here to acknowledge a great many very complimentary expressions from his brethren of the press, both secular and religious; also very many expressions of grief and sympathy; and many, very many, earnest prayers for his recovery.

The Baptist Tabernacle of Raleigh is nearing completion, and the brethren are looking forward hopefully for "a season of refreshing." Dr. Hatcher of Richmond preaches the opening sermon on the 27th inst., and the day will be followed with a week of church and denominational meetings. The pastors of former days are expected, and addresses will be delivered every night on subjects of vital interest to our people. A hearty invitation is extended to all our people to attend these meetings.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

OXFORD, N. C.

It is always a real pleasure to me when my work calls me among the citizens of Oxford and the surrounding community. The influences which for so many years have gone out from the excellent schools, with which the town has been so signally blessed, has permeated every department of the population of the town and community. A number of the most progressive and successful business men here were drilled in Prof. Horner's school, which for the excellence and thoroughness of its work has no superior among all the preparatory schools in the country. The hope for the highest and best success of our colleges rests in the establishing and supporting of good academies for the training and preparation of our boys for college work. It has been to me a source of sadness and regret to note, as I have travelled all over the State, the disposition in many sections to allow the old-fashioned academies either to languish for support, or, as is often the case, die outright. This has come largely because of the tendency of people to move from the country to the towns and villages in order that their children may enjoy society and attend the graded schools, and learn to cipher without slates and read without first knowing how to spell. I firmly believe that the establishing and fostering of schools in the country, and the making comfortable and inviting our country churches, comfortable and cheering to the grown people, and also providing Sunday-school conveniencies for the little ones, would do much to allay the dissatisfaction which has been so much talked of by would-be leaders of public opinion, and would restore in a great measure the dignity and independence, which once surrounded the homes of the best people who ever lived in this country.

Returning, however, from this little digression, I had time to take tea with brother and sister Hobgood, who are happy in the enjoyment of their old home, the Oxford Female Seminary. They seem to realize they have gotten back to their life work, and the many evidences which they have received from friends in different portions of the State for the prosperity and success of the school have done much to make the work one of great pleasure. Bro. Hobgood informed me he had enrolled up to date one hundred pupils. This, considering the short notice of the beginning, is most encouraging. Brother Hobgood's health was never better, and he will during the summer make a most thorough canvass in the interest of the college.

Sunday and Monday I spent in DURHAM.

The brethren generally were regretting their failure to secure Bro. H. W. Battle for their pastor. The church is, however, closely united in the determination to have a first-class man, and members, so far as I could see, seem to appreciate the fact that Durham is in many respects one of the most important points for the Baptists in the State. The progress which the Baptist cause has made in the town in the past twelve years ought to be most gratifying as well as encouraging to go forward; and notwithstanding the greater portion of all the wealth in the town is in the hands of other denominations, yet money is not religion, and our brethren here have only to secure the service of some one who will faithfully and earnestly present the truth.

Durham is a fine business town. It seems to me that I see more signs of business there than in any other town I visit in the State. The great number of employees who are paid off every week would of itself make considerable business for any town.

The schools of Bro. Buchanan for boys, and Bro. Middelton for girls, are well patronized, and are succeeding well. These are both Wake Forest men, and while they are doing such excellent work for their town and community in educating the boys and girls of their schools, they are likewise bearing the best testimony to the excellency of the work done at their alma mater.

I take my leave of Durham in the best of humor, having renewed most of the subscribers to the Recorder in the town. After all, our opinions of places are, more or less, influenced by the amount of business we can do, and by the encouragement we have to return again. From here I go to and my time being limited to a single day, the most I did was to open the way for some work I hope to do at the approaching Sunday-school Convention to be held here April 14th.

WINSTON,

I never saw Bro. Brown when he looked better, or seemed to be more cheerful and hopeful of his work. He has just entered upon the fourteenth year of his pastorate, and yet he finds plenty of work still to be done. His church is now too small for the congregations, and plans for a new building are being discussed, and a part of the money has already been raised.

I was sorry not to have seen Bro. Broughton, who goes to the Second church. This is a most important field, and the brethren feel that they have the right man. Bro. B. has the unbounded confidence of his brethren, and will receive the hearty and enthusiastic support of all his members, which, added to the magnetic zeal and energy of the pastor, give promise of abundant success for this most important church.

We were sorry to find Bro. D. S. Reid sick and confined to his room. He was, however, much improved, and we hope ere this he has entirely recovered. Sickness is specially distressing to one as active and full of business as Bro. Reid. It was a real pleasure to spend some time in this pleasant home, carrying us back to the days when we were younger, to the splendid home of Bro. Traynham, the father of Sister Reid, who was one of the truest men whom we have ever known. His genial disposition and liberal spirit made him the foremost man in his section, and these have been beautifully perpetuated by the children who survive him.

J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. Dr. H. M. Wharton of Baltimore has consented to hold a series of meetings at Charlotte beginning May 30th.

....Rev. G. C. Needham and Rev. W. P. Fife will hold a Bible Conference at Oxford, N. C., beginning April 10th.

....Rev. J. M. White has accepted the care of the church in Carthage, N. C., and preached for them the 3d Sunday.

....Last Sunday, the Baptist church extended a unanimous call to Rev. Mr. Smith, of Martinville, Va.—Leaksville Herald.

....Rev. Baylus Cade has accepted the call to the Venable Street church in Richmond, Va., and will take charge the 1st of April.

....Rev. Haynes Lennon says: "Your editorial on 'Inter-Church Comity' is to the point. My sentiments for the last forty years."

....Rev. George J. Dowell baptized four very promising young people into the fellowship of the Williamston Baptist church last week.

....The Corresponding Secretary received by Monday's mail letters from Rev. G. W. Greene and Rev. G. P. Bostick of China. All are well up to Feb. 3d.

....The Central Sunday-school Association meets with Mt. Vernon church, May 28th to 30th; and the Anson Association will meet at Polkton May 28th to 30th.

....At the First church, Raleigh, after the sermon by the pastor, Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter, on Sunday morning last, a collection for Ministerial Education was taken.

....The missionary educational campaign in the Richmond Association will begin under the leadership of Rev. L. Johnson and others on Thursday, April 7th next.

....In 1780 the Legislature of North Carolina appointed five commissioners to "designate and build the town of Murfreesboro." This section was then called "the wilderness."

....Now is the time to send in your orders for Sunday-school supplies for the second quarter of 1892. If you delay in making your orders, your school may be put to great inconvenience.

....Rev. J. P. Boyd says: "I am making every effort to collect the amounts for Home and Foreign Missions in my churches, and I think our full amounts will be in hand before the first of May."

....Mr. R. E. Royal and Prof. Carlyle of Wake Forest paid their respects to the Recorder office last week, to inquire after the welfare of the editor and express their wishes for his speedy recovery.

....Let all of the Sunday-school superintendents remember that the second Sunday in April is the time to take a special collection in every Sunday-school in the Baptist State Convention for "Sunday-school missions."

....Dr. Durham has a copy of the Minutes of the organization of "The North Carolina Baptist Benevolent Society." This organization was in 1830, at Greenville, N. C., merged into the North Carolina Baptist State Convention.

....Rev. L. M. Berry of Missouri writes to the editor: "I think some time, if I ever have time, I will visit my old friends in North Carolina, and you may be certain you will not be forgotten. God bless you and the Biblical Recorder."

....Rev. J. B. Pendergrass writes from Franklin, N. C.: The cause of Christ is advancing steadily in this town at present. The pastor Rev. G. A. Bartlett has recently held a meeting, in which twenty-nine members were added to the church.

....A very interesting revival of religion closed at Germanton, Monday night. There were a number of professions and additions to the church. Rev. C. C. and R. D. Haymore, of the Baptist faith, conducted the services.—Winston Republican March 27.

....A series of protracted meetings will be inaugurated the first Sunday in April at the Missionary Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Edwards, who will be ably assisted by Rev. W. B. Oliver, of Fayetteville.—Goldsboro Headlight.

....Mr. Jno. T. Edmonson left the city Tuesday for the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., to enter upon a course of study preparatory for the ministry. We wish him every success in his new field of labor.—Goldsboro Headlight.

....Dr. W. A. Nelson has been called to the pastoral care of the church in Aikin, S. C. Dr. Nelson has been sojourning in that city a few weeks for his health, during which time he conducted a meeting in which there were a goodly number added to the church.

....Bro. M. H. Irvine of Statesville in renewing his subscription says: "I have been reading the Recorder for forty years, and I hope to read it as long as I live, for it gets better every year. I always long for the day for it to come. I welcome it as an old friend."

....Rev. J. M. Hilliard, Treasurer of the Orphanage, called to see us last week. He renewed his subscription to the paper, and says he has become profoundly impressed with the idea that everybody ought to call on the editor once a year and renew their subscriptions.

....Rev. J. A. Beam in writing to Dr. Durham says: "My heart is with you in your great struggle to increase the contributions to missions this year. God being my helper every one of my churches shall go beyond their contributions of last year notwithstanding the cry of hard times."

....At the regular meeting of the Scientific Society at Wake Forest College interesting talks were made by brethren Mills, Taylor and S. M. Stone upon the causes which have lead to the low price of cotton. A number of farmers were present and manifested a lively interest in the discussion.

....Rev. A. T. Bledsoe, LL. D., Methodist, says: "With all of our searching we have been unable to find in the New Testament a single express declaration, or word, in favor of infant baptism." Southern Review, April, 1874, page 334, published under the auspices of the M. E. Church, South.

....The Asheville Citizen of Monday, 14th inst., says: "Rev. J. L. White preached a powerful sermon on 'Judgment Day' at the First Baptist church last night to a congregation that filled every inch of available space in the church, aisles and vestibule. There were several professions of conversion.

....Rev. C. S. Farris, former pastor of the Baptist church here, and now pastor of the church at Orlando, Florida, has been elected professor of Greek in the Stetson University at DeLand, Florida. He studied Greek four years at Wake Forest and two years at the Seminary, Louisville, Ky.—High Point Enterprise.

....The Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College held a meeting in the Mission Rooms at 11 o'clock a. m. last Friday. J. U. Scarborough, R. E. Royall, P. A. Dunn, T. E. Skinner, J. M. Heck, W. H. Pace and C. Durham were present, and business of importance to the College was transacted.

....If your Sunday school expects to send delegates to the Baptist State Sunday-school Convention in Winston, April 14—17, they should be appointed next Sunday, or, at furtherest, by the first Sunday in April. The committee on hospitality will not be responsible for the entertainment of delegates whose names do not reach Rev. H. A. Brown by Thursday, April 7th, 1892.

....The Meherrin Baptist church, in the West Chowan Association, held religious services in their own house of worship every Lord's day for sixty-four years, from its organization, 1730 to 1794. During this time the church had only two pastors, Rev. Jos. Parker from 1730 to 1778, and Wm. Parker from 1778 to 1794. This is a country church. What other country church has done so well?

....In 1804 the Kehukee Association was held with the Meherrin church, now in the West Chowan Association. It was at this session that Rev. Martin Ross called up his famous resolution on missions, which had been presented at the session in 1803, and referred to the session of 1804. After a most interesting and solemn discussion, "it was declared to be the duty of Kehukee Association to engage in the work of sending the gospel to the heathen."

....Some of the brethren believe that it would be a good thing to keep Dr. Nelson at work in the State, helping pastors in protracted meetings. No man of our acquaintance is better qualified for such work, and there is great room for the right kind of evangelists to help pastors. Bro. Nelson has been greatly blessed in this work. He is not an "evangelist" by trade and after the modern fashion. He has been a pastor nearly all his life and magnifies the pastor's work, his trials, his difficulties and his joys.—Baptist Courier.

....I met the Recorder in Charlotte, and heard during my trip, many pleasant things said of it and the the work it is doing among the great Baptist brotherhood of North Carolina, who exceed by several thousands all the other sects put together. The Baptists in the Old North State have not only the strongest paper, the ablest ministry, but Wake Forest, their college, is given up to be ahead of everything. It easily takes the palm from the State University, and its prospects were never brighter.—Editorial Correspondence in Baptist Record, Miss.

Notes on Books.

THE TEN BEST NOVELS.

The story is told of a young man who went to the college librarian and inquired at which end of the library it was customary for students to begin. The poor fellow afterward became insane. It is not stated whether he suffered collapse under the never ending task which he had set himself; but that explanation of the catastophe is certainly an adequate one. Charles Lamb would seem to have been almost as daring in the presence of all the books of all ages. He says of himself: "I can read anything which I call a book. There are things in that shape which I cannot allow for such. In this catalogue of books which are no books, I reckon Court-Calendars, Directories, Pocket Books (the literary excepted), Draught Boards bound and lettered at the back, Scientific Treatises, Almanacks, Statutes at Large; the works of Hume, Gibbon, Robertson, Beattie, Soame Jenyns, and, generally, all those volumes which 'no gentleman's library should be without'; the Histories of Flavius Josephus (that learned Jew), and Paley's Moral Philosophy. With these exceptions I can read almost anything."

But even if one had "a taste so catholic, so unexcluding," it has to be remembered that life is short and books are many. A selection must be made. This is no less true when we narrow our consideration to a single department of literature. Take fiction. What a flood of it the steam presses of the day pour forth upon us. It requires no little effort to keep one's head above water. Think of it. Of the 4,665 new books of last year printed in this country, 1,105 belong to the class of fiction,—more than twice as many as in the next largest class. Matthew Arnold must have been thinking in part of this excessive proportion when he said, "Of the contemporary rubbish which is shot so plentifully around us, we can, indeed, hardly read too little." Of the eight or ten thousand published in a decade two novels or possibly three may live over into the succeeding decade. Of course, we must read some novels. Mr. Gradgrind objects to all fiction. But, with all the respect due to the severity of his aspect, Mr. Gradgrind is not a competent guide for real human beings, who reckon imagination among the finest of their native gifts. What imagination was born with him suffered an early demise. Its resuscitation in the pages of Dickens and George Eliot is all that he requires to relieve his abnormal dryness and make him a man again.

But which novels shall we read? Shall we follow Dr. Austin Phelps—"wear the old coat and buy the new book?" I think the first of Emerson's three rules of reading safer here: "Never read any book that is not a year old." [The others are, "Never read any but famed books," and, "Never read any books but what you like."] There are more than enough to supply our demand that have survived that test. We can afford to wait.

It is, perhaps, true that no one can tell another what to read; and yet hints may be valuable. With this idea Mr. J. Lloyd Jones of Chicago in 1884 addressed a letter to a large number of persons, asking each one to name "ten great novels, the noblest available to English readers." Seventy answers were received, and the whole correspondence was published in Unity of July 16th. Of those contributing lists the following may be mentioned: Prof. Wm. F. Allen, Univ. of Wisconsin; Dr. C. A. Bartol, Boston; James Freeman Clark, Boston; Robert Collyer, New York; Prof. C. C. Everett, Cambridge Divinity School; Edward Everett Hale, Boston; Dr. W. T. Harris, Concord; Dr. F. H. Hedge, Cambridge, Mass., and Prof. J. K. Hosmer, St. Louis. One hundred and forty-seven different novels were voted for. The ten which received the highest number of votes are here given with the number of votes for each:

The Scarlet Letter. Hawthorne	39
Les Miserables. Hugo	30
Romola. George Eliot	27
Adam Bede. George Eliot	26
Ivanhoe. Scott	25
David Copperfield. Dickens	23
Henry Esmond. Thackeray	24
Wilhelm Meister. Goethe	24
Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mrs. Stowe	24
On the Heights. Auerbach	23

The second ten in this canvass are the following, in the order of popularity:

Jane Eyre. Bronte	20
Tale of Two Cities. Dickens	20
The Newcomes. Thackeray	19
Heart of Mid-Lothian. Scott	18
Vanity Fair. Thackeray	15
Robert Falconer. MacDonald	13
Hypatia. Kingsley	11
Don Quixote. Cervantes	10
The Marble Faun. Hawthorne	10
Mill on the Floss. George Eliot	10

With these lists it will be interesting to compare two others made in a similar way and published in the Literary News of New York. In this case the ten best novels were these, in the order of popularity:

David Copperfield. Dickens.
Ivanhoe. Scott.
Adam Bede. George Eliot.
The Scarlet Letter. Hawthorne.
Vanity Fair. Thackeray.
Jane Eyre. Bronte.
Uncle Tom's Cabin. Mrs. Stowe.
The Newcomes. Thackeray.
Les Miserables. Hugo.
John Halifax, Gentleman. Miss Mulock.

The ten next best:

Kenilworth. Scott.
Henry Esmond. Thackeray.
Romola. George Eliot.
Last Days of Pompeii. Lord Lytton.
Middlemarch. George Eliot.
Marble Faun. Hawthorne.
Pendennis. Thackeray.
Hypatia. Kingsley.
House of Seven Gables. Hawthorne.
Mill on the Floss. George Eliot.

W. L. POTEAT.

Wake Forest College.

A Statement from Henderson.

Dear Recorder:—Let me give you the facts in this most vexing question.

I do not wish to make any excuse for the members of the Baptist church in Henderson who signed that petition, or did anything in any way relative to the whiskey question. They know I believe injury to the Lord's cause has come out of it.

When the men engaged in the liquor business applied for license about Jan. 1st, 1892, the Commissioners, without any notice or warning, refused to grant license. The dealers thought they were not fairly treated, and circulated a petition asking time (one man, who signed the petition, told me sixty days) to dispose of their stock. It was this petition that was signed by four members of the Baptist church so far as I know. You see the petition they signed was not to keep whiskey in Henderson, but to give the dealers a chance to get it out of Henderson. From indications, it seems, however, that the dealers did not intend to take it away.

The Henderson church withdraws fellowship from members who get drunk, after making efforts to restore such.

The Henderson church has not a barkeeper in its fellowship.

With one exception, the brethren who signed that petition, so far as I know, have signed another paper stating that it would have been more in keeping with their christian profession, and better for the cause of the Lord, if they had not signed the petition, and express their regret and ask forgiveness, if they have injured any one thereby.

It gives me great pleasure to know that, while my church is composed of good men and women who are human and therefore liable to err, they are willing and ready, when they make a mistake, to correct it. I think it will make them more careful in the future, and in all things strive to approve themselves to be clear in such matters.

R. VANDEVENTER.

Henderson, March 7, 1892.

Letter from Rev. J. M. White.

Dear Recorder:—As noted in your columns heretofore, I was called to serve Carthage church; and, having accepted, I met with and preached to the church on last Sabbath (second), and a right royal greeting I had. I need not say I enjoyed this my first visit. Besides, I feel assured of the hearty co operation of the church and friends. I was there at school and prepared for college thirty-seven years ago. Some I knew there are still there. Many have "crossed the river."

The year's work, I think, will come out all right, though late to begin. The brethren and sisters are large-hearted and liberal-minded. Bro. Watson evidently did a good work there, and he is held in affectionate remembrance. Yet, I am sure they did not secure a pastor any too soon. Other denominations (Methodist and Presbyterian) are in the lead.

You know that formerly the Baptists neglected the towns. This brings me to speak of Cameron, where I have been doing some voluntary mission work for the past year. My going to Carthage leaves Cameron without preaching. This I much regret. Can't some good preacher put in some work there now on the second or fourth Sunday? The few there will give a liberal support, considering their circumstances. They are struggling to build a church house, and have done what they can for the present in that line. I am opposed to calling for help or helping until this is the case. Now, they are entitled to help. The State Mission Board or the Sandy Creek Executive Committee ought to help Cameron about fifty dollars. Crain's Creek church has moved there, it is true, but they are still financially very weak. Let us not delay at this point, a village of 300 inhabitants. The foothold is secured. Let whoever has a mind to, give the good people there a little lift now, and I doubt not that they will find it "good seed in good ground."

J. M. WHITE.

Apex, March 17, 1892.

Murfreesboro Items.

The Wesleyan Female College at this place has just changed hands, the stockholders having made over their stock to the North Carolina Conference. Before it was burned in 1877, this was the largest college in the Virginia Conference and enrolled some two hundred students. It was rebuilt in 1881, and has been in charge of Prof. E. E. Parham since that time. Prof. Parham has resigned the presidency of the college and will retire at the end of this session. Rev. R. P. Troy of Littleton has been elected to succeed him. This is the only college wholly owned by the North Carolina Conference, and it is their intention to make this the Conference College for girls in their bounds. In this our Methodist brethren are wise, for the building is an excellent one, and its location is unsurpassed for healthfulness. Prof. Parham is a high-toned christian gentleman, and he will be greatly missed by his many friends of all denominations.

President Brewer has been making some changes in the building formerly used as the steward's house. In this he has arranged six music rooms. These are well lighted and are heated by the Baker & Smith hot-water system of heating, which is used in all Pullman cars. By this arrangement the pianos are moved out of the main building and more room given for the large number of girls now present.

Dr. C. Durham smiled upon us one day this week while on his way to Winton. This was his first visit to our town.

Rev. R. VanDeventer will preach the commencement sermon at the C. B. F. Institute next June. H.

Murfreesboro, March 18, 1892.

Hope is like a cork to the net, which keeps the soul from sinking in despair.—Watson.

Revival at Wendell.

I held a series of meetings at Wendell, N. C., a point in Wake county. Wendell is an academy. The meeting began on the 20th of February, and lasted up to and including the 4th of March. The Lord greatly blessed us. There were thirty-six who made profession of faith in Christ during the meeting. Twenty-two of these have united with Clyde's Chapel church, and are to be baptized Sunday in May. Others are expected by that time to join.

Fraternally, J. L. COTTINGHAM.

Wilson's Mills, March 16, 1892.

Supply Store Orders.

Orders to our Supply Store are being enlarged. Monday's mail brought orders from China for "The Choice," the "Convention Series" of Sunday-school quarterlies, commentaries and other books. Let all the schools and churches order their quarterlies, books, &c., through our Supply Store.

The brethren who have ordered "The Choice" through our Supply Store, and whose orders have not been filled, will have to wait a little while. The publishers are behind with their orders. They have just increased their facilities of printing and binding and the Supply Store will have one thousand copies as soon as orders can be filled. C. DURHAM.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 20, 1892.

Dear Sir:—As an intelligent and reasoning gentleman, one who is open to conviction, that "old ways can be improved upon," we ask your attention to the Electropoise.

The Electropoise is not a miracle, but a new discovery for the cure of disease, that is such an improvement on medicine, that it appears miraculous when compared to the old way of filling the stomach with poisons to relieve suffering.

We have proof from intelligent people of all sections to show that the Electropoise is entitled to the serious attention of all who are interested in the restoration of health.

Would you want higher or more conclusive proof of any fact than the testimony of such gentlemen as give the Electropoise their endorsement?

We ask you to read what Gov. Thomas M. Holt, Judge Jos. J. Davis, Col. J. C. Buxton of Winston, Col. John L. Cantwell of Wilmington, J. H. Holt, Jr., of Burlington, and other no less estimable gentlemen of your own State, have to say about their experience with the Electropoise.

If you are not interested in this matter yourself, we hope you will hand to some friend who possibly may be.

Upon application, accompanied by a stamp, we will mail to any address a forty-page book, describing the Electropoise, together with prices and testimonials from all sections.

Hoping your favorable consideration of the matter, we are,

Very respectfully,

ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO.

The Electropoise is able to cure all disease, no matter how various in character, because all diseases can be traced to one and the same source—weakness. Nature has not strength to resist the poisonous elements which are generated by careless habits or the exigencies of modern civilization; therefore Nature lets you know by symptoms of pain or discomfort, that your body is out of health. These symptoms are Nature's danger signals. When you put drugs into your stomach to still the pain or discomfort, you are stifling the voice of Nature; you compel her to lower the signal, but the danger is still there and sooner or later will overtake you.

The Electropoise acts in Nature's own way, by supplying you with the oxygen you need, the wholesome, pure oxygen, which enables you to digest and assimilate the food by which alone you can live; it gives you the necessary strength to throw off the complaint that is troubling you, or to resist the attacks of disease. We can prove that the Electropoise does this by a cumulative mass of testimony, which has been collected and sifted with the utmost care, and which gathers in strength and volume daily. These results so greatly to be desired, may be easily attained if the Electropoise is used faithfully and intelligently, obeying the directions that accompany each instrument which are simplicity itself. Should the patient be in any doubt whatever, he should stop and consult those qualified to advise; remember that when you possess yourself of an Electropoise, you possess yourself also of a physician, who will never weary of advising you, and who will attentively consider your idiosyncrasies; obey the simple rules and advice which are given you, and leave Nature to do the rest in her own perfect way.

THE ELECTROPOISE IS

Not an electric battery or belt.
Not an appliance to be worn constantly.
Not dangerous to the youngest child or the oldest man or woman.
Not difficult or troublesome to use.
Not a mysterious or miraculous cure.
Not costly.

THE ELECTROPOISE

Is a small instrument which enables your system to absorb the health-given oxygen which is life to you.
Is equally beneficial to the two days' infant or the octogenarian.
Is a cure which can be applied at any time, especially when you are asleep in bed, in the most absolutely simple manner.
Is a cure which stands upon the most solid of all bases—Nature's immutable law.
Is cheap, because it never wears out.
Is cheaper still, because one instrument will suffice for the cure of disease in a whole family.
Is less and less needed as time goes on; therefore can never become a necessity to those who use it.

THE ELECTROPOISE.

That cures have been made by the Electropoise, after all other means had failed, is easy of proof.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH.

February 8, 1892.

James H. Webb, Esq.,
Agent Electropoise Company,
1405 N. Y. Ave., Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: In regard to yours of the 5th inst., I have to say that I have used your Electropoise occassionally, and have always found relief from its use.

I have not had an opportunity to use it as I would like to have done, as I am so situated that I could only use it occasionally. At those times, however, I have always had good results. Very truly yours,

THOS. M. HOLT, Governor.

WATSON & BUXTON,
Attorneys at Law.

Winston, N. C., Sept. 16, 1891.

Jas. H. Webb, Sec'y,
1405 New York Avenue,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: I have been using one of your Electropoises for four years, upon a little invalid son, who has been afflicted with a pulmonary trouble and a dropsical tendency. I have found great relief for him in the use of the Electropoise, when the doctors had failed to give him any permanent relief, and I am satisfied that but for its use we should have lost him.

I have never seen it fail to reduce his fever, or bring sound sweet sleep. I would not be without it for many times its cost.

Yours truly, J. C. BUXTON.

Mr. Buxton is also President of First National Bank, Winston, N. C., and is one of the foremost men of the South.

COL. J. L. CANTWELL WRITES:

Wilmington, N. C.

The Electropoise has been in constant use in my family for six months past. It has impressed me very favorably and I take pleasure in recommending it.

WHAT JUDGE DAVIS SAYS:

LOUISBURG, N. C., Jan'y 15, 1892.

Dear Miss Tillinghast: Yours of the 12th, is received, and I cheerfully answer by saying that I have been much benefited by the use of the Electropoise. I suffered from a severe and long continued attack of the grippe, followed by rheumatism in the neck and shoulders. I commenced using the Electropoise in October last, and my rheumatic pains ceased immediately, and I think my health and feelings have been much improved by its use.

Very truly yours, JOS. J. DAVIS.

A LETTER FROM
REV. ALEX. WALKER SAYS:

DURHAM, N. C., June 22, 1892.

John N. Webb, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: I have known the Electropoise used in a number of cases for different complaints. In no instance have I known it to fail to benefit or cure the person who has used it. I am not in any way interested in it. My only object is to benefit suffering humanity, and, I unhesitatingly say, that from my personal acquaintance with you, as well as the wonderful cures it has wrought under my own observation on various persons, afflicted with various ills, I am prepared to believe the testimony offered in proof of the wonderful cures produced by the persistent, intelligent use of the Electropoise. I commend it to all invalids.

RICHMOND, VA., June 11, 1891.

Dear Sirs: I have used the Electropoise in my family for nervous prostration, anæmi, and general debility, such as is common to delicate ladies. The most marked benefit followed its use. I also used it on a case of nasal catarrh, which it apparently cured; but little evidence of the disorder remaining, and that is gradually disappearing.

Respectfully, W. H. MCCARTHY.

Mr. McCarthy is widely known as the Secretary of the Virginia Fire and Marine Insurance Co., and his evidence is valuable.

WINDSOR COTTON MILLS,
R. L. & J. H. HOLT, JR., PROPRIETORS.

BURLINGTON, N. C., Feb. 10, 1892.

Atlantic Electropoise Co.,
Washington, D. C.

Gentlemen: I have tried the Electropoise for the past two years, both as a preventive and cure for malaria and grippe, and found it to be all that is claimed for it.

Yours truly, J. H. HOLT, JR.

UNION RIDGE, N. C., June 29, 1891.

Mr. John N. Webb.

Dear Sir:—I purchased one of the Electropoises on the 5th day of May and began using it on Mrs. Hazell, who is eighty-five (85) years old. She has had the rheumatism and asthma for twenty-five or thirty years.

She was relieved from the first application of the poise, and has greatly improved beyond our most sanguine expectations. I recommend it to the afflicted.

Believing it to be all that you claim for it, I am, yours respectfully,

J. M. TATEMORY.

You can use this in any way you see proper.

WILSON, N. C., June 30, 1890.

Last October I suffered indescribable pains with what the doctors said was gravel. As soon as I could get an Electropoise I applied it every night for two weeks, and am happy to state have had no recurrence of pain, and from present appearance, never will. When you hear of one louder in the praise of the Electropoise than myself, send me his photograph. ED. M. FAGG,

Late of Danville, Va.

MISS ANNIE L. WINSTON WRITES:

RIDGEVILLE, N. C., May 8, 1890.

For years I have been in declining health from consumption, and I do sincerely believe that I would have been in my grave to-day had it not been for the Electropoise. Before I began using it I could feel my health giving away daily; I now feel better than I have for two years, and am perfectly charmed with the Electropoise.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA.

HOT SPRINGS, ARK., Nov. 24, 1890.

Mr. E. M. Ware,

Dear Sir: I began the use of the Electropoise on the eighth or tenth of July. I was obliged to quit bathing, and was full of despair, was growing worse daily, and could not rise up with crutches. Had a constriction around the chest, continuous pain and paroxysms, paralysis of the bladder; was growing numb about the waist, and the muscles of the left leg was badly wasted. In the first charge it attacked the bladder, and one by one each nerve in turn, and now the constriction around the chest is gone; have regained control over the bladder both as to retention and incontinence. My feet have lost the wriggle and I can place them where I desire; sensation is slowly returning in feet and knees. The muscles of the atrophied leg are filling up and look almost normal; complexion much improved, gastric trouble in stomach and liver gone, appetite improved, and can rise upon my feet without any aid, whatever; can balance on each hip joint, and step out like a child.

I consider this most remarkable improvement in my case, because I thought I was beyond hope, and I do not feel that I have given it a fair test, either.

It certainly will revitalise; it drove out a vast amount of eruptions, and my bladder improvement indicates that it attacks the cause. By all means give it a trial.

Yours truly, T. B. SCHNATTELY.

John N. Webb, Esq., Washington, D. C.

My Dear Sir: For the benefit of those that suffer from nervous debility I would say that in my opinion no medicine will give the permanent relief to be obtained from the use of the Electropoise. I have had one in my family for nearly a year, and do not hesitate to say it is invaluable to us.

In my own case of nervous dyspepsia which was attended with all the horrors incident to the disease in its worst form, I found it gave me relief when everything else failed, and I feel confident its use laid the foundations for the good health I now enjoy after three years of suffering such that few men could stand.

Very truly yours, W. R. FRENCH.

THE ELECTROPOISE.

We publish in this issue three columns of certificates, &c., as to the wonderful results achieved by that wonderful invention, the Electropoise. Its success is simply marvelous. We have tried it enough in our own family to believe pretty thoroughly in it, and we have had observation of its effects on others sufficient to justify us in advertising it to our readers, and in commending its use to the afflicted everywhere. We know one of our preachers who says it has made almost a new man, physically, of him. We know others who have tested it thoroughly and speak in the highest praise of it. We believe every afflicted person who can would do well to give it a trial.

The certificates we publish speak for themselves. When such men as Gov. Holt, Judge Davis, Mr. J. C. Buxton, Rev. Alex. Walker, Col. Cantwell, and many others, try a thing and recommend it, it means much. Read carefully the three column advertisement which appears in this issue on our sixth page—see what those who have used it say of it. Mr. John N. Webb, of Atlantic Electropoise Co., is a native North Carolinian—lived at Hillsboro, N. C. He has a good thing and makes it known to the world.—Editorial by Rev. Dr. F. L. Reid, in Raleigh (N. C.) "Christian Advocate," March 2, 1892.

WILLIAMSTON, N. C., March 7, 1892.

I have found more relief in Bright's disease, from a few months' use of the Electropoise than from all patent medicines, physicians' prescriptions, mineral waters, "faith-healing," sea voyages, and a winter residence in a warmer climate.

SYLVESTER HASSELL.

[Rev. Mr. Hassell is pastor of Baptist church and associate editor of Gospel Messenger.]

AIKEN, S. C., Sept. 19, 1890.

The Electropoise has worked wonders in my household. I introduced it to Mrs. Cuthbert last March as a remedy for rheumatism, and since then she has laid aside stick and crutches and is able to attend to all of her household duties. Another member of my family by using it is better than she has ever been, and I myself find it an admirable tonic when tired out after the services on the Sabbath. Several persons have availed in this instrument because of our experience and expression of opinion.

Very gratefully,

Mrs. LAURA COTHRAN.

Address ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO.,
Washington, D. C.

(CONTINUED FROM THE FIRST PAGE.)

fillment of prophecy, and of this prophecy too. And if that be so, then their Sabbath is ceased also, for it is in the same prophecy.

One will ask, "Is the Sabbath of the Lord, then, gone?" I answer, no; but the day designated in the Mosaic law ceased to be the Sabbath when the law ceased in Christ. But the Lord still gives us in his mercy and goodness a day of rest for his worship and our spiritual improvement. One day in every seven the curse of God upon man for his sins, "In the sweat of his face shall he eat bread," is suspended. And man may stop his labor, rest from his toil and contemplate that rest that remaineth to to the people of God, when the curse for sin shall be entirely removed by our blessed Lord. Oh, how we should appreciate and improve this opportunity of worship and improvement in spiritual things.

Now if the day given as the Sabbath in Moses' law ended with the fulfillment of that law in Christ, as we think this prophecy indicates, has he designated another day in which we are to rest from labor, worship him, and improve ourselves spiritually? I think he has; and that the first day of the week is that day. And in addition to what I have said about Jesus and his disciples and apostles observing the first day of the week as the day designated for worship and rest from Christ's resurrection and onward, I quote the following. Ezekiel in speaking of the Sabbath service under the law says, "And when these days are expired, it shall be, that upon the eighth day, and so forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the altar, and your peace offerings; and I will accept you, saith the Lord God." Ezekiel 43: 27.

What does the prophet mean in this by "When these days are expired?" Why, evidently, the time when the Jewish Sabbath days should expire or cease with the fulfillment of the law in Christ, which day was the seventh day. What does he mean by "Upon the eighth day and so forward?" Why, the first day of the next week. It cannot mean the next seventh day, counting the first as one, for it says, "And so forward," showing there should be a change and the change should continue. When did that change take place? On that memorable day when Jesus rose from the dead. The seventh day Sabbath was kept the next day—the eighth day—the first day of the next week Jesus rose from the dead, and "so forward" has recognized that day by his example, his smiles, and his blessings, as the Sabbath of his people in which to rest and worship him.

What is meant by "The priests shall make your offerings upon the altar; and I will accept you saith the Lord God?" Why, on "this day," which I think I have shown to mean the first day of the next week, or the resurrection day, the ministers and members of Jesus Christ—the people—being assembled together offer prayers and praise to God through Jesus Christ.

Now, in conclusion, since Jesus Christ is "Lord also of the Sabbath day," and has given us this first day of the week for his worship and our spiritual improvement, in which there is a remembrance once every week of that "rest that remaineth to the people of God," when the curse is suspended, how gladly we should hail the approach of every first day of the week.

It is strange that men are so absorbed by worldly things that they will not accept this offered blessing. What would be thought of a man in prison if one day in seven the prison doors were thrown open and the privilege given him of going home to enjoy the society of his family, but he wilfully refuses to leave his prison? The common verdict would be that he ought to remain in prison.

How much time God has given us for his service and our spiritual improvement! The child at fourteen has had two years' of Sabbaths. The young man at twenty one, has had three years. The man at the mature age of forty-two has had six years of Sabbaths. And the man who has filled out the full measure of his years, three score years and ten, has had ten solid years of Sabbaths in which to prepare for eternity. Reader, how have you treated them?

Now I believe any nation or people who becomes so engaged with business that it cannot stop one day in seven—on the Sabbath—to render obeisance to the Almighty is going too fast, and may expect retributive judgments to be visited upon them. I believe the laws of our country ought to forbid the performance of any labor in all the broad domain of our great country, and then see that the law was obeyed, except works of charity and mercy, for "the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath." I do not believe a car wheel should turn, or a telegraph office be opened the Sabbath. And I do not believe that business would be thereby materially injured, for he who created this world, and is our maker, knows better than we what rest we need, and what honor we should render to him. And we would certainly give us no law that would injure us spiritually.

I submit there is nothing in the argument that civil law should not interfere with Sabbath observance because it is in the moral law. God himself has given us an example that it should be in the civil law. It is in the "moral law." But when God gave Moses the positive law he incorporated the observance of the Sabbath, I think the law should, when the time comes, close the gates of the Worlds' Fair, and place sentinels there to see that they are not opened on the Sabbath day. And if visitors cannot see enough in six days they would better not see it on the Sabbath day.

Man's eagerness to evade the Sabbath reminds me of a story I once heard. A man was traveling in the mountains of Virginia. He saw an eagle in a cage hanging beside a man's house. He asked the man his price for the bird. He told him, and he paid it. He said, "Open the door of the cage and let him go free." He opened the door, walked and stood in the door, looked out, looked at the sun, and then turned around, jumped upon his perch, sat down and looked perfectly contented. "Shut the door," said the traveller, "and let him die in his cage." Our Heavenly Father purchased us with the blood of his own Son, and gives one day in seven when the curse for sin is suspended, and in which we may contemplate that glorious home prepared for the people of God. But if men like the eagle deliberately stay in the cage of worldly business, we need not be surprised if God shuts the door and cuts off the avenues of prosperity.

Statesville, N. C. W. A. POOL.

The trouble with most cough medicines is that they spoil the appetite, weaken digestion, and create bile. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, on the contrary, while it gives immediate relief, assists rather than impairs the assimilative process.

Second Annual Meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention of North Carolina.

TO BE HELD IN WINSTON, APRIL 14—17, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Organization.

Welcome words by pastor. Responses.

Address by George W. Sanderlin. Subject: The Bible in the Sunday school.

7:30 p. m.—Address by C. A. Jenkens. Subject: The Holy Spirit's Work in the Preparation, Exposition and Application of Scripture Lessons in the Sunday-school.

Address by T. P. Bell. Subject: Sunday-school Literature as a Means of Developing Interest in Missionary Work.

Friday, 10 a. m.—Address by J. C. Scarborough. Subject: The Influence of Sunday-school Training on our Denominational Life.

Address by J. K. Fant. Subject: The Obligational of Churches to their Sunday-schools and the Schools to their churches.

Miscellaneous business.

3 p. m.—Address by A. W. Price. Subject: The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school.

Questions and answers on general work.

General discussion on mission schools, how to organize and successfully run them.

7 p. m.—Address by F. M. Ellis. Subject: The Centennial of Missions.

Saturday, 10 a. m.—Address by W. L. Poteat. Subject: Sunday school Equipment, Rooms, Bibles, Song-books, Maps, Literature, and our Supply Store.

General discussion on Methods and Helps.

Address by J. M. Frost. Subject: The Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention.

3 p. m.—Address by D. M. Austin. Subject: How can the Schools Aid our Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in Sunday-school Mission and Colportage Work?

Address by O. L. Stringfield. Subject: Country Sunday schools, their Importance, and How to Sustain Them.

Conference: Summer Bible School. Shall it be? Where?

7:30 p. m.—Address by T. J. Taylor. Subject: The Baptist Orphanage, what should the Sunday-schools Do for It?

Miscellaneous business.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution gives the only basis of representation as follows:

ART. 3. This Convention shall be composed of one male lay delegate and one associate from each Sunday-school, regardless of contributions, and of Baptist ministers and superintendents of Baptist Sunday-schools in North Carolina who shall pay annually one dollar each to the Treasurer, and of male delegates chosen by the Sunday-schools and Sunday Associations. Each school and each Sunday-school Association shall be entitled to one delegate on the payment annually of five dollars to the Treasurer, and to two additional delegates on the payment to the Treasurer of ten dollars for the objects of the Convention. Each school shall be entitled to two delegates chosen by the school on the payment of five dollars to the Treasurer. The associates shall be women. This Convention shall co-operate with the Baptist State Convention and its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools and with the Southern Baptist Convention.

ART. 4. Only members of white Baptist churches shall be eligible to membership in the Convention as delegates or as associate delegates. The associate delegates shall not be entitled to the "floor of the house."

ENTERTAINMENT.

Delegates will be entertained by the people of Winston. The committee on hospitality, however, will be responsible for the entertainment of those delegates only who notify the pastor, Rev. H. A. Brown, by Thursday, April 7th, 1892, of their expectation to be present.

ROUND-TRIP RAILROAD FARE TO CONVENTION.

From Rutherfordton, $9.35; Shelby, 7.80; Lincolnton, 6.60; Charlotte, 5.05; Fayetteville, 6.65; Henderson, 6.10; Marion, 7.05; Sanford, 5.05; Marion, 7.55; Wilmington, 9.20; Weldon, 9.05; Goldsboro, 7.05; Selma, 6.45; Raleigh, 5.40; Durham, 4.30; Greensboro, 1.65. Intermediate points in same proportion.

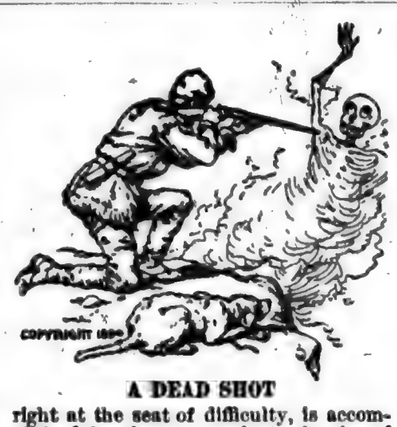
N. B. BROUGHTON,
T. H. BRIGGS,
T. M. PITTMAN,
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
JNO. T. PULLEN,
Executive Committee.

Dr. Talmage's Tabernacle.

We have before called attention to the financial condition of Dr. Talmage's church in Brooklyn. Before their tabernacle burned down they gave less than $200 a year to missions, although there were in the church 3,000 members. When the tabernacle burned, they were utterly unable to rebuild. Think of a church of 3,000 members with a lot and insurance money, in a city like Brooklyn, utterly unable to erect a suitable house for themselves. Dr. Talmage appealed to the christian world for contributions. He wanted every one who had heard him preach, or had ever read his sermons, to send a gift. He became editor of a paper, and a dollar out of every subscription went to the building fund. Yet, in spite of all this, it was necessary to borrow a large sum—perhaps $200,000—from Russell Sage in order to erect the building. Dr. Talmage had to give his life insurance policies as security for this loan. And now the contractor has sued the church, and has got judgment for $52,216 59, which has been levied on the property, and it is to be sold at public auction. The sale is subject to Mr. Sage's mortgage.

It does not appear that the 3,000 members have contributed scarcely anything toward the new building. And it is equally remarkable that the church should have so little hold on the wealthy Presbyterians of New York and Brooklyn. It is a phenomenon that will bear studying. In the meantime the church has our sympathy.—Western Recorder.

Fear not man who only can kill the body, but God who can kill and cast into hell.



A DEAD SHOT

right at the seat of difficulty, is accomplished by the sure and steady aim of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Don't fool around with a pop-gun, nor a "Flint-lock," when this reliable "Winchester" is within reach!

Dr. Sage's treatment of Catarrh in the Head is far superior to the ordinary, and when directions are reasonably well followed, results in a permanent cure. Don't longer be indifferent to the verified claims of this unfailing Remedy.

The worst forms of Catarrh disappear with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties effect a perfect and permanent cure, no matter how bad the case, or of how long standing. It's a remedy that succeeds where everything else has failed. Thousands of such cases can be pointed out. That's the reason its makers back their faith in it with money. They offer $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure.

It's a medicine that allows them to take such a risk.

Doesn't common sense lead you to take such a medicine?

"An advertising fake" you say.

Funny, isn't it, how some people prefer sickness to health when the remedy is positive and the guarantee absolute.

Wise men don't put money back of "fakes." And "faking" doesn't pay.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

Save Money
BY PURCHASING
Dry and Fancy Goods
FROM OUR
KOCH & CO.'S
ILLUSTRATED
Fashion Catalogue

Koch & Co.'s catalogue is "a household necessity." It illustrates and describes all articles useful and ornamental for the wear of either young or old, and for the furnishing and beautifying of a home; and their goods are the cheapest, without ever sacrificing quality to price.—Herald.

Spring and Summer Catalogue ready. Sent free to all by mail. Same Free upon application to

H. C. F. KOCH & CO.,
Importers and Retailers of
DRY AND FANCY GOODS,
Cooking Stoves, &c.
West 125th St. bet. 5th Ave. & 7th Aves
Formerly 6th Ave. and 125th St. New York

CONSUMPTION
POSITIVELY CURED.

THE BEST

Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. FRASCHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

Price | "Worth a Guinea a Box." | 25c.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

Dislodge Bile,
Stir up the Liver,
Cure Sick-Headache,
Remove Disease &
Promote Good Health

Famous the world over.

Ask for Beecham's and take no others. Made at St. Helens, England. Sold by druggists and dealers. New York Depot, 365 Canal Street. 10a.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

Did you ever receive a letter? You can receive our Roses the same way—by mail, postpaid. The Californian or the Pennsylvanian can alike enjoy the advantage of dealing direct at the Rose headquarters of the world. Success is universal with our

ROSES ON THEIR OWN ROOTS

We desire the acquaintance of every flower lover in America, and offer our Rose Guide and Catalogue, free, by way of introduction. It mirrors our immense stock, and gives a quarter of a century's special flower experience for the asking only. Other flowers also. No fancy prices. The Guide without price. Send your address.

THE DINGEE & CONARD CO.
Rose Growers for the World, WEST GROVE, PA.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
CINCINNATI, O., Sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts. for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE,
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 09 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 37 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 39 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 30 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 35 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 38 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	*1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*6 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 26 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 35 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.20 and 10:40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.05 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 9:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday, for Oxford and Keysville.

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville), and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 23, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m	.....	.....
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Bennettsville	.....	12.40 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	1.27 p m	.....
Ar Fayetteville	.....	2.57 p m	.....
Lv Ramseur	.....	.....	7.25 a m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	10:35 a m
Ar Madison	.....	.....	1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	9:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m	.....	.....
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	.....	3:11 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	3:38 p m	.....
Ar Bennettsville	.....	4:28 p m	.....
Lv Madison	.....	.....	3:45 p m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur	.....	.....	6:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary

President Woman's Central ... Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. ... Secretary, Mrs. J. A. ... Block

For Centennial Building ... Self-denial and Thanksgiving ... nal Literature, etc., apply ... Hook, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for March

Is Brazil a Missionary Field?

Conversing some time ... nent pastor of one of our ... he said he did not believe ... sionaries to papal countries ... tians should direct all their ... ing the gospel to the heathen ... who had never heard of Jesus ... gave it to them. In papal ... gued, the people did know ... have a gospel, and could be ... saved.

If these things be so ... papal lands do not need ... they know enough for ... Mission Boards are making ... take in appropriating money ... these fields, instead of sending ... of both to the regions of ...

But when we come to ... plication of such ideas ... pressed, we must be ... must consider things in ... they really are, and not ... ought to be, judging the ... fluences have been at ... such a time, and therefore ... results must have followed ... to theorize; we must look ... at things as they are, remember ... immortal interests of those ... depend on correct ideas. ... And beside the direct question ... sonal salvation of the people ... are considering, there is ... calculation of the problem ... of the people, that is, ... others. It was worth the ... nation of the world that ... cued from the clutches of ... have been the evangelization ... larger territories in some ... the world.

Coming down from these ... erations to the discussion ... question—yet, in its connection ... ing all these general ones ... send missionaries to ... mighty strategic point in ... the conflict of true religion ... Bible versus Catholicism ... teaches error, destruction ... which we are called on ... is important that the true ... cession of Brazil, for Brazil ... power in South America ... strategic importance, her ... ductions, her wealth, her ... and her power. Some ... the truth subdue China ... low." Equally of South ... affirmed. Let Brazil ... truth and an influence ... South America that ... tory. What the United ... America, and perhaps ... or soon will be, to South ... the contest between the ... so be that we have ... valuable to contend for ... for christians to evangelize ...

Deafness Can

by local applications, ... the diseased portion ... only one way to cure ... constitutional remedies ... by an inflamed condition ... lining of the Eustachian ... tube gets inflamed ... sound or imperfect hearing ... entirely closed deafness ... unless the inflammation ... and this tube restored ... tion, hearing will be ... cases out of ten are caused ... is nothing but an inflamed ... mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred ... case of deafness (caused ... can not cure by taking ... Send for circulars, free. ...

F. J. CHENEY ...
Sold by druggists, ...

Sunday-school ...

The following are the ... meeting of Sunday-schools ... Caldwell—Lower Creek ... Cedar Creek—Cedar ... Eastern—Lisbon ... Mt. Zion—Mt. Herman ... Pilot Mountain—Mt. ... Central—Mt. Vernon ... South Fork—Mt. Ruth ... Robeson—Big Branch ... Sandy Creek—Mt. ... 27-29.

Little River, Hebron ... 27-29.

Will not some of the ... Sunday-school Associations ... once of the time and ... their next Sunday-school ... that I may publish the ... rangements to be present.

Did you ever ride ... 'tric car, when the ... wire overhead? ... the car stopped, ... power both came ... house. The car ... above or cease operating ... christian life! ... light goes out, our ... ness.—Young People.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for March: Brazil.

Is Brazil a Mission Field?

Conversing some time ago with a prominent pastor of one of our Southern States, he said he did not believe in sending missionaries to papal countries, but that christians should direct all their energies to giving the gospel to the heathen—the people who had never heard of Jesus, save as these gave it to them. In papal countries, he argued, the people did know about Jesus, did have a gospel, and could, if they would, be saved.

If these things be so—if the dwellers in papal lands do not need a missionary and if they know enough for salvation—then our Mission Boards are making a grievous mistake in appropriating men and money to these fields, instead of sending all they have of both to the regions of total darkness.

But when we come to make practical application of such ideas as that brother expressed, we must be careful of facts, we must consider things in those countries as they really are, and not as we think they ought to be, judging that such and such influences have been at work for such and such a time, and therefore such and such results must have followed: It will not do to theorize; we must study facts and look at things as they are, remembering that the immortal interests of thousands and millions depend on correct ideas about such work. And beside the direct question of the personal salvation of the particular people we are considering, there must enter into the calculation of the problem the relative value of the people, that is, their influence on others. It was worth more to the evangelization of the world that England was rescued from the clutches of Rome than would have been the evangelization of many far larger territories in some other portions of the world.

Coming down from these general considerations to the discussion of the narrower question—yet, in its consideration, involving all these general ones—let us ask: Why send missionaries to Brazil? Brazil is a mighty strategic point in South America in the conflict of true religion versus false—the Bible versus Catholicism. If Catholicism teaches error, destructive error, and error which we are called on to combat, then it is important that the truth shall gain possession of Brazil, for Brazil is the mightiest power in South America. Consider her strategic importance, her position, her productions, her wealth, her progress, or spirit and her power. Some say of Asia, "Let the truth subdue China and Asia will follow." Equally of South America may it be affirmed. Let Brazil be dominated by the truth and an influence will be exerted on South America that will tend to final victory. What the United States is to North America, and perhaps more, is Brazil now, or soon will be, to South America. So in the contest between the Bible and Pope—if so be that we have principles sufficiently valuable to contend for—it is worth while for christians to evangelize Brazil.

T. P. BELL.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5–7.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
Sandy Creek—Moon's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

Did you ever ride in the night on an electric car, when the trolley ran off from the wire overhead? The lights went out, and the car stopped,—yes because the light and power both came from the great power house. The car must touch with the wire above or cease operations. How true of the christian life! Without the touch above our light goes out, our power is absolute weakness.—Young People's Union.

International Bible Lessons, 1892.

THE BLESSINGS OF THE GOSPEL.

Sunday, March 27—Isaiah 40: 1–10.

Motto Text—"The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together." Is. 40: 5.

Last week we had a quarterly review of the lessons passed over during the first part of the year. This week the Committee have given us a quarterly missionary lesson. You will observe that our present scheme of Bible study gives us a temperance and a missionary lesson for every quarter in the year. Intemperance and religion can not walk together. Temperance and christianity go hand in hand, but the Devil is continually trying to thrust himself between them by means of the whiskey traffic, and he follows the missionary wherever he goes with his baleful business and his abominable wares. The same vessels that carry missionaries to the heathen carry also rum and whiskey.

This is the last lesson we shall have this year from the prophecy of Isaiah. The first thirty-nine chapters of Isaiah are so different from those that follow, that some modern critics insist that they were written by different authors several generations apart. Until the latter part of the eighteenth century, however, both Jews and christians universally regarded Isaiah as the sole author of the book. Koppe was the first writer who intimated that Ezekiel, or some other prophet who lived during the exile, might have been the author of the latter portion of the book. We may very safely follow what Jews and christians unanimously believed for 2,500 years in regard to the authorship of this book rather than what a few self constituted critics have now and then asserted during the last century.

The predictions of Isaiah are contained in sixty-six chapters, of which the first five are generally supposed to have been delivered in the reign of Uzziah; the sixth, in the reign of Jotham; the seventh to the fifteenth, in the reign of Ahaz; and the remainder in that of Zedekiah. (Horne). The chapter from which our lesson is taken is the beginning of a series of prophecies which were delivered, probably, towards the close of the reign of Hezekiah. By prophetic vision rather than by actual utterance the prophecy belongs to the last years of the exile.

Both the kingdoms of Israel and of Judah had been destroyed. The best of the inhabitants had been carried into captivity and dispersed over the various countries around the Euphrates, the Chebar and the Tigris. They were subject to bitter oppressions and indignities. Many of them had been put to the most servile work on the many public buildings. They had no centre of worship, no temple, no gatherings of the people at the great religious feasts. When people despise or corrupt their religious opportunies and worship, God takes these opportunities away.

The 137th Psalm, the authorship of which the Septuagint ascribes to Jeremiah, very fitly describes the condition of the Jews and Israelites during their captivity in Babylon: "By the rivers of Babylon, there we sat down, yea, we wept, when we remembered Zion. We hanged our harps upon the willows in the midst thereof. For there they that carried us away captive required of us a song; and they that wasted us required of us mirth, saying, Sing us one of the songs of Zion. How shall we sing the Lord's song in a strange land? If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my right hand forget her cunning. If I do not remember thee, let my tongue cleave to the roof of my mouth; if I prefer not Jerusalem above my chief joy. Remember, O Lord, the children of Edom in the day of Jerusalem; who said, Rase it, rase it, even to the foundation thereof. O daughter of Babylon, who art to be destroyed; happy shall he be, that rewardeth thee as thou hast served us. Happy shall he be, that taketh and dasheth thy little ones against the stones."

The Edomites had exulted in the most indecent manner over the downfall of Jerusalem. (See Ezekiel 25: 12—14; Obadiah 10—14). Hence, the prophetic imprecations against them as against the Babylonians. It is cruel and wicked to rejoice in the downfall of a rival. To rejoice in inquity is almost, if not quite, as bad as to perpetrate iniquity.

Now the tables are to be turned. God's people are no longer to be oppressed and ridiculed but to be comforted. "Comfort ye, comfort ye, my people, saith the Lord." The heathen shall no longer ridicule your worship and deride your God.

V. 2. "Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem." Comfort is always sweetest in time of greatest sorrow and humiliation. "Her warfare is accomplished"—her forced service as in war is ended. "Her iniquity (which she has confessed and forsaken, i. e., her idolatry for which she has been sent into grievous captivity) is pardoned." "She hath received double for all her sins." This may mean full ample punishment or it may mean double mercies in the sense of complete, God like forgiveness. (See Job 11: 6). Read Ezekiel 22d chapter to see what and how great their sins had been before they were carried into captivity. The record of their particular sins, as given here, is horribly nauseating.

V. 3. This refers to the Eastern custom of sending pioneers to prepare the way for the march of the monarch through a wild and uncultivated region. Such was the character of the ministry of John the Baptist who came to "make ready a people prepared for the Lord." (Luke 1: 16, 17). Annot. Par. Bible.

In verses 1 and 2 we have the voice of God, telling the people what God will do; in verses 3 and 4, the voice of the forerunner telling what must be done for God in order that he may march as a sovereign through his own dominions. "Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight in the desert a highway for our God. Every valley shall be exalted (or filled up), and every mountain and hill shall be made low (graded down), and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain." This must precede the glorious march of the Lord in his glory upon the earth.

John the Baptist came preaching, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." Men must prepare the way for Christ by preaching repentance and a new life. Nations as well as individuals must turn with loathing from their sins. The Jews gave up their idolatry during the captivity and have never since returned to it. "Every unregenerate heart," says Peloubet, "is a wilderness abounding in obstacles to the coming of its king. The voice comes to us, 'Prepare ye the way of the Lord,' (1) Fill up the valleys, the sins of omission—defects of prayer, of faith, of love, of work. (2) Bring down the mountains of pride, sin, selfishness, unbelief, worldliness. (3) Straighten out all crooked places, crooked dealings with others, crooked ways of sin, settle difficulties, confess sins. (4) Smooth the rough places—the harshness of temper and manner, the lack of courtesy, the coldness, the fault-finding, which are the little foxes that spoil the vines, the flies in the precious ointment, the spots in our feasts of charity, that mar the beauty of holiness."

Remember it is, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord," not our way, but His way. Let our ways be conformed to his way, "the Lord's highway of holiness." The way through the wilderness must be prepared to suit the sovereign, not the subject.

Verses 6, 7 and 8. The greatest and strongest nations, as well as the greatest earthly potentates are but as grass to be trodden under foot of Jehovah when they oppose his counsels or despise his name. The mighty nations which kept the Jews in captivity were swept away when the time for their return drew nigh, and God raised up a mighty conqueror who acknowledged his sway and protected and assisted his people in their return to the promised land. "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth, but the word of our God shall stand forever." "God had but to breathe upon them, and they would pass away like the flower in the wind." The fulfilment of God's promise in regard to the return of the Jews from Babylon is an earnest of the fulfilment of his other promises. The Jews to-day are a living proof of the divine origin of the predictions concerning their nation.

"Shall stand forever." There is nothing so sure as a promise of God; nothing so true, nor so lasting, as God's word." It has stood against the assaults of foes and the mistakes of friends, the scoffs of infidels, and the inconsistencies of christians. In 1800 the Bible was translated into only fifty languages, now it is translated into more than three hundred, and the principal nations of the earth can read it in their own tongues. The opposers of the gospel tell us that there are more heathen now than there were one hundred years ago. "You have gained," say they, "perhaps 3,000,000 from heathenism during the last century, but the heathen population of the world has been increased by a vastly greater number." "True," says Sir W. W. Hunter, but the christian population has been increasing too. Proportionally, it seems to increase twice as fast as the heathen population, and by the end of the present century, the christian population will actually increase more rapidly than the heathen population." The general population of India has increased in nine years eight per cent.; the christian population in the same time has increased thirty per cent. In Bengal, the christians have increased sixty-four per cent., while the Mohammedans have increased only eleven per cent.

The English language is the language of telegraphy and the language of Protestant christianity. One hundred years ago it was spoken by only twenty-two millions of people, now it is spoken by one hundred and fifteen millions. The steamship, the locomotive and the telegraph are bringing the whole world into one neighborhood, so that China is nearer the United States to-day than Italy was to Spain in Paul's day, and a bread riot in Berlin is known and discussed at the breakfast table in all the towns and villages of America the day after it occurs in Prussia. Through these inventions of the nineteenth century the nations of the earth are learning the common brotherhood of man and the wonderful power and wisdom of the one great God who made them.

Never since the world was, have there been so many preachers of the gospel and so large a proportion of mankind engaged in the study of God's word.

N. B. COBB.

Raleigh, N. C.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—U. S. Gov't Report, Aug. 17, 1889

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Baby's Blood Skin and Scalp Cleansed Purified and Beautified Of every Humor Eruption and Disease

By the Cuticura Remedies when the best physicians, hospitals, and all other remedies and methods of treatment fail. They afford immediate relief in the most torturing of Itching and Burning Eczemas, and other itching, scaly, crusted, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure.

CUTICURA

The great skin cure, and Cuticura Soap, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, externally, instantly allay the most intense itching, burning, and inflammation, soothe and heal raw and irritated surfaces, clear the skin and scalp of crusts and scales, and restore the hair, while Cuticura Resolvent, the new blood and skin purifier and greatest of humor remedies, cleanses the blood of all impurities and hereditary elements, and thus removes the cause.

"All about the Blood, Skin, Scalp, and Hair," 64 pages, 300 Diseases, 50 Illustrations, and 100 Testimonials. Mailed free to any address. A book of priceless value.
Cuticura Remedies are sold throughout the world. Price, Cuticura, 50c.; Cuticura Soap, 25c.; Cuticura Resolvent, $1. Prepared by Potter Drug and Chemical Corporation, Boston.

Bad Complexions, pimples, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin and hands are prevented and cured by that greatest of all Skin Purifiers and Beautifiers, the celebrated Cuticura Soap. Incomparably superior to all other skin and complexion soaps, while rivalling in delicacy and surpassing in purity the most expensive of toilet and nursery soaps. The only medicated toilet soap, and the only preventive of inflammation and clogging of the pores, the cause of most complexional disfigurations. Price, 25c.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "take the country."

Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 6 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plank our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 6th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 20 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometric tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the ramshorn mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For '92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 12 Main St., San Francisco.

The Aermotor Pneumatic Water Supply System enables you to supply every part of your house with water without an Elevated Tank.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 34th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

Edwards & Broughton,

Printers and Binders,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day-books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,

RALEIGH, N. C.

FLOUR!

1,000 Bbls. Flour, all grades.
200 Bbls. Molasses, all grades.
50 Cheese.
1,000 Bags Peanuts.
1,000 Bags Rice.
1,000 Bags Salt.
2,000 Bags High Grade Fertilizer.

WRITE FOR PRICES.

D. L. Gore,

126, 128 and 134 S. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

Sunday-school Libraries.

We are anxious to serve our Sunday-schools in every way open to us. Next to Bibles, quarterlies, song books and papers, in importance to every Sunday-school is a well selected library. Just how to select a suitable Sunday-school library is, many times, a most difficult thing to do. We have made some little special investigation along this line in order to be in position, if possible, to help wisely in this work. Since the first of February, 1892, we have supplied a number of schools, and, so far as we know, entire satisfaction has been given. We have to-day, March 16th, had orders for two Sunday-school libraries. We are now better prepared to serve the schools than ever before in the history of the Supply Store. We are glad, too, that the schools seem to be more interested in securing libraies than heretofore. Here is a cut that will give some idea of our new and attractive libraries of one hundred 16mo volumes, beautifully illustrated and strongly bound in red cloth with gold back in a neat case for $25.00 net. This library contains over 15,000 pages of reading, in large, legible type, and the variety of subjects treated are sufficient to meet the demands of our Sunday-schools.

This is the Centennial of Modern Missions, and we have made extensive investigation to find a suitable "Missionary Library" to commend to the Sunday-schools. Here is a cut of a Missionary library containing twelve illustrated 12mo volumes with 4,230 pages, bound in beautiful cloth and title in gilt.

These books give facts, scenes, &c., in missionary life in Japan, China, Madagascar, India, and many other countries. The spring will soon be here, and the schools will be filled with bright boys and girls. If they can have suitable books to read, lasting good will be done. Now is the time to give the children a chance. This missionary library is sold at $9.00 net. Then, too, we have in stock at this time quite a number of splendid Sunday school libraries at prices varying from $4 00 to $25 00 each net.

The real object of the Supply Store is to aid the schools, and we are very anxious for all of our Baptist schools in North Carolina to use us freely.

Promptness in business and satisfaction given in every transaction or money will be refunded. C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

Profusely Illustrated.

For the advanced boys and girls of the class who think themselves too old or too large to go to Sunday-school, the American Baptist Publication Society issues Our Young People, a beautiful fortnightly of eight pages, profusely illustrated and filled with instructive reading, under the editorial supervision of A. J. Rowland, D. D., one of Baltimore's eminent pastors. A present of such a work every two weeks, may well tempt the older scholars to remain in school. It is furnished to schools in clubs of five or more copies, at the surprisingly low price of forty cents per year. The Society will furnish sample copies free of charge. Subscriptions can begin with any month.

Teachers of Vocal Music,

It will pay you to send me your address at once. W. E. PENN,
Eureka Springs, Ark.

The Alamance Fair will be held on the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th of next October.

Sick headache? Beecham's pills will relieve.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Seaboard ch, West Chowan, $4.57; Buckhorn ch, ditto, 7.30; Union ch, 1.15; W M S, Union ch, 1.00; Liberty ch, Sandy Creek, 1.00; Olive Branch ch, Flat River, 16.25; Bethany ch, Perron County, 2.25. Total, 33.52.

Foreign Missions—Seaboard ch, W Chowan, $3.43; Buckhorn ch, ditto, 14.50; Round Hill ch, Green River, 3.00; W M S, First ch, Wilmington, Eastern, 11.00; W M S, Tabernacle ch, Raleigh, 11.35; Sharon ch, 2.00; Hallsville ch, 3.00; Farmington ch, S Yadkin, 2.00; Antioch ch, 12.63; Stoval ch, Flat River, 30.00; Cub Creek ch, 5.00; Wilkesboro ch, 2.52; Cashie ch, W Chowan, 4.33; Flat Rock ch, Yadkin, 5.00; Shiloh ch, Chowan (Miss Knight), 15.06; Olive Branch ch, Flat River, 15.00; W M S, First ch, Raleigh (N China), 34.95; Enon S S, Granville County, 12.00; Mrs Charity Hickerson, 1.25. Total, 188.02.

Home Missions—Buckhorn ch, W Chowan, $6.60; W M S, First ch, Wilmington, Eastern, 5.50; Sharon ch, 1.00; Siler City, Sandy Creek, 1.50; W M S, Cedar Grove ch, Robeson, 95c; Liberty ch, Sandy Creek, 2.50; Mrs Charity Hickerson, 1.20. Total, 19.25.

Havana House—Seaboard ch, W Chowan, $1.86; Point Caswell ch, 4.00; Union Grove ch, S River, 1.00; Magnolia ch, ditto, 70c; Ballard's Bridge ch, 7.75; Bethlehem ch, 13.30. Total, 28.61.

Education—Buckhorn ch, West Chowan, $5.63; Farmington ch, S Yadkin, 5.00; Prof J B Carlyle, Wake Forest, 5.00; Lower Creek ch, Caldwell, 1.20; Yadkin ch, ditto, 1.05; Lenoir ch, ditto, 1.35; Spring Hill ch, Richmond, 7.00; Bethany ch, Person County, 2.60. Total, 28.83.

Orphanage—Ballard's Bridge church, $7.83; Wilmington ch, Eastern, 10.00. Total, 17.83.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Orphanage ch, $3.00; Liberty ch, Sandy Creek, 3.45; Wilmington ch, Eastern, 5.00. Total, 11.45.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, March 19, 1892.

We are a patient people—the ox is nowhere in comparison.

We buy lamp-chimneys by the dozen; they go on snapping and popping and flying in pieces; and we go on buying the very same chimneys year after year.

Our dealer is willing to sell us a chimney a week for every lamp we burn—a hundred or more a year—and we plow for him, pay him for goading us.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" do not break from heat; they are made of tough glass.

As likely as not our dealer would rather his chimneys would break; "it's good for the business," says he. He buys the brittlest ones he can get.

"What are you going to do about it?"

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & CO.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $2.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC CO., 339 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.50 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Many Persons are broken down from overwork or household cares. Brown's Iron Bitters Rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

FOR SCROFULA

scrofulous humor in the blood, ulcers, catarrh, and consumption, use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The most economical, safe, speedy, and effective of all blood-purifiers.

Has Cured Others will cure you.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season, '92.

DRY GOODS
— AND —
Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.
(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.
RALEIGH, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 26 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

Do You Want the BEST periodicals for your school? the CHEAPEST periodicals for your school? periodicals that are TRUE TO THE PRINCIPLES OF THE DENOMINATION? periodicals ADAPTED TO EVERY GRADE of your school?

You will find these necessary qualities in the excellent Series of

GRADED LESSON HELPS
AND ILLUSTRATED PAPERS,

PUBLISHED BY THE
AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY.

Order for Second Quarter Now.

13 Periodicals for 6 Grades.

Compare Quality and Prices with Similar Publications.

Primary Grade.
PICTURE LESSONS, 3 cents per quarter; 12 cents per year.
PRIMARY QUARTERLY, 2¼ cents per quarter; 9 cents per year.
OUR LITTLE ONES, 25 cents per year.

Intermediate Grade.
INTERMEDIATE QUARTERLY, 2¼ cents per quarter; 9 cents per year.
SUNLIGHT, 8 and 16 cents per year.

Advanced Grade.
ADVANCED QUARTERLY, 2½ cents per quarter; 10 cents per year.
BIBLE LESSONS, 6 cents per year.
YOUNG REAPER, 10 and 20 cents per year.

Senior Grade.
SENIOR QUARTERLY, 6 cents per quarter; 24 cents per year.
OUR YOUNG PEOPLE, 40 cents per year.
WORKER, 6 cents per year.

Teachers.
BAPTIST TEACHER, 50 cents per year.

Superintendents.
BAPTIST SUPERINTENDENT, 25 cents per year.

TERMS: Cash in Advance.

SAMPLES FREE.

AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATION SOCIETY.
PHILADELPHIA: 1420 Chestnut Street; CHICAGO: 122 Wabash Avenue;
BOSTON: 256 Washington Street; ST. LOUIS: 1109 Olive Street;
NEW YORK: Times Building; ATLANTA: 66½ Whitehall Street.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.

EXCELLED. CAN'T BE

THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.

Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to

CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3220, New York City, N. Y.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS!

A. B. FORREST,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY
CINCINNATI, O. U. S. A.
Best Copper and Tin School and Church
BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Prices and Terms Free. Name this paper.

"MURRAY" BETTER than GOLD "MURRAY"

There are not many things that are as good, or equal in value to Gold, and VERY FEW that are BETTER THAN GOLD. It is, however, a known fact that there are thousands of owners of our world-renowned "Murray" Buggies and Harness all over the continent, who say they would not give up their "Murray" Buggies and Harness for their value in gold, if they knew that they could not get another of the same kind. Our

MURRAY $55.95 BUGGIES and $5.95 HARNESS

are known the world over and are justly recognized as the BEST and CHEAPEST Vehicles and Harness on the market. We sell direct to the consumer at prices beyond competition and belong to neither the Buggy or Harness Pool or Trust.

Do you wish to purchase a Buggy or Harness this year? If so, and you want value received for your money and something BETTER THAN GOLD, there is but one make to buy and that is the celebrated "MURRAY."

Many Firms Make Big Claims
But we Prove Our Words by Deeds
AND WILL WAGER
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS with any Carriage or Harness Firm in the U. S., same to be given to any charitable institution by the loser, that we can show more honest and better testimonials for the "MURRAY" Buggies and Harness for the time our goods have been on the market, than any one Factory in the World.

$1000

Write for our Large Illustrated Catalogue, containing full description and prices of our "MURRAY" Vehicles and Harness. We will mail it to you FREE. Address all letters to

"MURRAY" THE WILBER H. MURRAY MFG. CO., CINCINNATI, O. "MURRAY"
MURRAY BUILDING.

Bible Study for 1892-3.

It has been the custom of the American Institute of Sacred Literature, for the past two years, to offer a general examination upon a Biblical subject of current interest. The examination for which preparation will be made in 1892, will take place January 6th, 1893. This examination will be open to individuals or groups of persons in all parts of the world.

The subject of this examination will be the "Founding of the christian church" as recorded in the Acts of the Apostles, the Epistles and the Revelation. The examination of 1893 will cover but half this topic, closing with Acts, 15:35. In January 1894 the second half will form the subject of a second examination. The International lessons take up this subject July 1st, 1892, continuing until December, 1892, again taking it up July, 1893, and continuing to December, 1893. The Blakeslee quarterlies which are used in many Sunday-schools, cover the same material from January to December, 1892.

Sunday-school teachers whose time is too limited to undertake correspondence study. These should take up the study at once, to be prepared for their work of teaching in the last six months of 1892.

Sunday-school classes who want broader and more definite knowledge than can be gained in the ordinary way.

Young peoples' societies which cannot yet form Bible clubs.

Chautauqua readers who can obtain a seal to their C. L. S. C. diplomas for this work.

Parents who want to keep abreast of their children in the Sunday-school.

Minister who have not time for Sunday-school work but would keep in line with it.

Any person who desires a carefully planned course of Bible study with an examination at the close.

Preparation may be made alone or in class. Where time and circumstances permit, a club for more thorough study should be formed. This work is not intended to supplant in any measure the Institute correspondence study either as individual students or in classes. It is hoped, however, that it will meet the need of the thousands who have not time or opportuity for more scholary work. Below will be found a series of helps the entire cost of which, including the examination fee, will not exceed $3.55. A careful study of these helps will enable one to pass the highest grade of the examination. If only a part of the helps can be secured, one of the first two, and the last, should be chosen. The lower grades will be best suited to those who study from the International lessons only.

The questions are offered in four grades, Elementary, Intermediate, Progressive, and Advanced. They are therefore adapted to all classes of persons. They will be sent under seal to each candidate or group of candidates, before January 10th, on which date, the appointed special examiner (an examiner will be appointed wherever there is a candidate), will break the seal, and those who desire to answer the questions from memory, without helps, may do so. The papers of such candidates will be sent at once to the office of the Institute, where they will be graded and certificates awarded according to merit. Those who perfer to use the questions for review purposes only may do so after the specified date.

The fee for this examination is fifty cents. On receipt of this amount, the examinee will be supplied with the direction sheet which has been described, and at the close of the year with the questions. These alone are fully worth the fee charged. Those persons, however, who take the examination under the Institute restrictions receive in addition to the above an approximate statement of their standing and certificate without extra fee.

A specially prepared direction sheet containing the following matter will be sent to all examinees on receipt of the examination fee.

(a) Statement of the principles underlying individual Bible study.

(b) Division of the subject, with a valuable outline.

(c) Chronological Table showing the growth and development of the church form 30 to 100 A. D.

(d) Valuable suggestions for the use of the note book.

(e) Directions, when, and how, to use the recommended books.

Address William R. Harper, Principal, 391, 55th street, Chicago, Ill., with the following application:

I desire to be enrolled as a candidate for the examination Jan. 10th, 1893, on the "Founding of the christian church." I inclose fifty cents, the examination fee and $....for such of the helps named above as I have indicated.

Name....P. O. address....

Will you study alone or in a class?....

What is your religious denomination?....

Are you actively connected with church, Sunday school or Young People's Society?

.....

N. B. Indicate clearly on the above list the helps which you desire, in addition to the examination direction sheet which is sent free to all examinees. Send money order, postal note or draft, not a check, payable to W. R. Harper.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Female University will be held at 4 p. m., April 12th next, in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh.

W. L. POTEAT, President.

Do You Suffer with Piles? You can cure yourself in a few days with our new and simple method of treatment. Medicine sent readily and gives immediate relief. Sent by mail for $1. Special treatment and extra large package of Cure $5. Send stamp for booklet, entitled "How to cure Piles," free to all, containing valuable information never before published. GLOBE MEDICINE CO., 244 Thirteenth street, O.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 13, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY.
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

God's house is not the place to make aching heads; it is the place to heal aching hearts. The most outrageous nonsense that is current in theological seminaries is that which deludes young men into the folly of aiming at profound and philosophic treatise for the pulpit.—T. L. Cuyler.

The Rev. J. H. Upshaw,

Writing from Bell Buckel, Tenn., states that he has been using Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein, with so much satisfaction for coughs and clds, wants to act as agent in his district.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The R. D. Robinson Publishing Company of this city has made an assignment.

The large new engines for the power-house of the electric street railway are expected to arrive this week.

The ladies of Raleigh have decided to raise $1,000 towards the erection of the North Carolina building at the World's Fair to be held in Chicago.

The board of officers appointed to revise the State Guard regulations, which were prepared in 1883, will meet in this city today, the 23d inst.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the State Agricultural Society last week, Mr. Hal W. Ayer was elected Corresponding Secretary of the State Fair. He will enter upon the discharge of his duties on the first of April.

Dr. R. H. Lewis of this city has been appointed by Gov. Holt a delegate to represent North Carolina at the third annual convention of the "National Dairy and Food Commissioners' Association" at Washington, D. C., March 30th and 31st.

The State Chronicle has changed hands and is now under the entire control of Hon. T. R. Jernigan, late of the News and Observer. The policy of the paper will be conservative, but unflinchingly Democratic. We wish for it great success.

State News.

Barnes Hotel at Jonesboro, Moore county, was destroyed by fire recently.

Capt. E. G. Brodie, a very prominent citizen of Henderson, died at his home in that place last Friday.

The North Carolina State Guard consists of thirty-one companies—with a total of 1,536 officers and men.

R. G. Green & Son., general merchants in Yadkin county have assigned. Assets $1,200; liabilities $1,400.

Two small negro children were burned to death in a house on the farm of N. J. Mays, near Tarboro, Sunday night, the 13th inst.

Mr. Fred Korb was killed at Wilmington on the 18th, by becoming entangled in the machinery of the Atlantic Coast Line shops.

The Kenilworth Inn at Asheville is crowded with visitors. It has been decided to build an addition to the hotel consisting of 150 rooms.

T. P. Rowland, farmer and merchant at Middleburg, has made an assignment. Liabilities about $20,000; assets about $15,000 to $18,000.

Laurinburg sent $143.35 to the Russians.

——Mr. Charles McRae of Alfordsville failed last week with liabilities at $40,000. Assets about $10,000.

Mr. E. C. Beddingfield while at St Louis, as a delegate of the St. Louis Convention was robbed of $90.00, the money he had on his person.

Judge John A. Gilmer died at his residence in Greensboro early on the morning of the 17th. Judge Gilmer was born in April, 1838, and so was not quite fifty-four years of age.

The case against D. C. Blue, charged with the murder of Arch Womack in Moore county last September, was recently tried. The jury returned a verdict of "Not guilty," and Blue was immediately released.

Mr. John S. Davidson living near Charlotte, recently lost his dwelling, barn and gin-house by fire, which originated from a spark on the roof of the dwelling. This is the third time Mr. Davidson has been burnd out of house.

A committee of the House of Representatives has favorably reported a bill increasing the annual appropriation to the militia from $400,000 to $500,000. This bill will give North Carolina over $15,000 annually, in ordinance and quartermaster's store.—State Chronicle.

General News.

A $200,000 fire occurred at Bloomfield, Ill., on the 11th inst.

The Erie railroad freight depot at Jersey City was burned recently. Loss, $250,000.

Claus Spreckle's barrel factory in Philadelphia, Pa., was burned on the 16th. Loss $130,000.

The Duval hotel at Jacksonville, Fla., was burned on the 15th. Loss, $45,000; insurance, $15,000.

It is stated that a commercial reciprocity treaty between France and the United States has been concluded.

Governor Flower of New York has signed the bill providing for the construction of two new bridges over the East river between New York City and Brooklyn.

The main building of the South Carolina Military Academy at Charleston, S. C., was partially destroyed by fire on the 14th. Loss $30,000, covered by insurance.

Last Thursday was St. Patrick's day. In New York, Brooklyn and other large cities the day was celebrated with parades, speeches and the wearing of the Shamrock.

Mr. Cleveland has written a letter to Gen. Edward S. Bragg of Wisconsin, formally announcing himself as a candidate for the Presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket.

Anarchists attempted to blow up the barracks of the Guards at Paris on the 15th. Eight hundred men were in the barracks, but fortunately no one was hurt. Not much damage was done.

At a meeting of President Harrison and his cabinet on the 18th, it was decided to protect the seals in the Behring sea. Secretary Tracy in due time will issue orders to the Pacific squadron to police Behring sea and apprehend the poachers found on the interdicted territory, whether they be from Canada or the United States.

Mrs. Jefferson Davis has brought suit against the Belford Publishing Company of New York for breach of promise. The Company were due her $4,001.17 last September as royalties on the sale of her "Memoirs" of her husband. This money has not been paid, notwithstanding the Belford Company continue the sale of her book.

For Malaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

MARRIED.

DODSON—MARSHBURN—On March 14, 1892, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. John Marshburn, in Onslow county, N. C., by Rev. S. D. Swaim, Rev. J. H. Dobson of Warsaw and Miss Lilly Marshburn of Onslow.

DIED.

PITTS—Mrs. Sallie Griggs Pitts of Norfolk, Va., formerly of Currituck county, died suddenly March 9th, 1892. She was a member of the Baptist church. To know her was to love her. We have spent many pleasant hours at her home. She leaves a husband, three children, and brothers and sisters, to mourn their loss. Her age was about fifty-four years.

A FRIEND.

BORDEAUX—Little Nellie, daughter of Rev. A. J. Bordeaux, aged eight years, died March 11th, 1892, of a fatal burn received the day before. She was a bright, intelligent and lovely little girl. There is a desolate home and a broken circle, and there are bleeding hearts; but weep not, fond parents, sisters and brother; be faithful, and you will meet your darling Nellie in the sweet by-and-by.

R. J. H.

Bladenboro, March 18, 1892.

STRICKLAND—Brother Walter Strickland obeyed the summons of death March 10th, and entered upon his reward. He had been a member of Antioch Baptist church about sixteen years, and had endeavored to shape his life according to the teachings of the word. He died in his thirty-fifth year—had not lived long, but long enough to make character. He will be sadly missed in his home and community. To those upon whom the blow falls most heavily we extend our sympathy, and commend them to the loving sympathy of God.

W. F. WATSON.

NEWSOME—Dr. J. E. Newsome of Hertford county, N. C., after an illness of two months, entered into rest March 1st, 1892, in the fifty-sixth year of his age.

In his death the Methodist church at Union has lost one of her best and most substantial members, the community in which he lived a kind neighbor and friend, the country a patriotic citizen, and the family a devoted husband and father. He leaves a wife, six children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his departure. May the Lord bless the bereaved family.

L. M. CURTIS.

BIGGS—Bro. Joseph J. Biggs, of Baltimore, passed to his eternal home, on the 23rd of January, 1892, in the seventy-seventh year of his age.

He was born near Tarboro, N. C., in 1815, and was reared under anti-mission influence. In his 19th year he was born again and joined a Baptist church. Shortly after, he moved to Raleigh and became one of the leaders in establishing Baptist principles in that city. He bore his full share of the burdens and trials then pressing so heavily upon the First church. A few years before the war he moved to Norfolk, Va., and became a member of the well known firm of Kader, Biggs & Co. Here he was one of the earnest workers that upheld the hands of Dr. T. G. Jones, then pastor of the Freemason Street church. After the war he removed to Baltimore and united with Franklin Square church. In 1885 he moved to Warrenton, N. C; but after one year he returned to Baltimore where he resided until his death.

In 1846, Bro. Biggs was married to Miss Isabella A. James, sister of the lamented missionary physician, Dr. J. S. James. His devoted wife and eight children are left to mourn their loss.

Bro. Biggs was a good citizen, a prudent, energetic and honorable business man, a warm and true friend, "given to hospitality," a friend to the poor, a faithful deacon, an earnest Sunday-school workers, a devout and zealous Christian, a wise and faithful friend to his pastor, and in all the relations of life a high toned christian gentleman.

During the last six years of his life he was a great sufferer, but with sweet, christian resignation he bore it all. No one could visit him without feeling the influence of his beautiful Christ like life. It was a pleasure to know him. It was joy to be his intimate friend. May God comfort his bereaved family.

T. J. TAYLOR.

Tributes of Respect.

WHEREAS, It has pleased the Supreme Architect of the Universe to remove from us our esteemed brother, E. A. Johnson, to that country from which no traveler returns, Resolved 1. That by the death of Bro. Johnson, Hunting Creek Lodge, No. 299, A. F. & A. M., has lost a worthy brother, Zion church one of its best members, and the community a useful citizen.

Resolved 2. That while we bow in humble submission to the will of God, we do most sorely feel the loss of our brother, yet we feel confident that he has gone to his reward above.

Resolved 3. That we tender our sincere sympathy to the family of the deceased brother hoping the blessings of God may attend them.

Resolved 4. That as a mark of further respect and esteem, we wear the usual badge of mourning for thirty days; that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Lodge; a copy furnished the family of the deceased, and copies be furnished the BIBLICAL RECORDER and Statesville Landmark requesting publication of the same.

W. A. MYERS,
T. H. COOPER,
R. P. CRATER,
Committee.

The following resolutions of respect were passed by the Sunday-school at Olive's Chapel Baptist church, Wake county, N. C.:—

WHEREAS, It has pleased God, the giver of all good, to remove from our midst by death our beloved sister, Mrs. Georgetta F. Olive, wife of our brother J. H. Olive, who died at her home Feb. 29th, 1892, in the fortieth year of her age. She leaves a loving husband and five small children to mourn their loss. In early life she learned to love and trust her Saviour, and united herself with the church at Olive's Chapel, of which she remained a consistent member until death. She carried light with her wherever she went. How sad to think we have lost her cheering words and heavenly comfort. We feel that all we could say in her praise would not overestimate her true christian virtues. As a church and Sunday-school worker she had no superior in her sphere. It was through her influence and work that Olive's Chapel Sunday-school was made an evergreen school. She was teacher of the infant class for quite a number of years. But for the last three years of her life she was in charge of the intermediate class. No one knows but the God whom she faithfully served the good seeds she has sown in the hearts of her pupils, nor what the harvest will be. She did her work earnestly and cheerfully, and was remarkably free from all pretence, and acted with that simplicity which was a natural outgrowth of the integrity of her character; therefore be it Resolved 1. That we bow in humble submission to the will of him who doeth all things well, realizing that our sister is gone to her reward, and enjoying the smiles of the Redeemer she loved so much to honor and serve while in this world.

2. That while it is our heartfelt convictions that our Sunday-school and the world is made poorer by the loss of such a good woman, that we strive to imitate her example.

3. That the Sunday-school tender its heartfelt sympathy to the family of our deceased sister, and that a copy of these resolutions and preamble be sent to them, and that a copy be sent to the BIBLICAL RECORDER for publication.

W. J. OLIVE,
W. F. UPCHURCH,
TEXANA RAGAN,
Committee.

Our beloved brother George W. Thompson was born Dec. 31st, 1804, and died Dec. 7th, 1891, aged eighty-six years, eleven months and seven days. Over sixty-two years of his long and useful life were spent in the service of his Master. He was received into the church of Wake Union, Wake county, N. C., on an experience of grace at the October meeting in 1830. He was elected clerk of this church at the December meeting of the same year, and served in that office until March 1847, over sixteen consecutive years. On the first Lord's day of 1844 he was ordained a deacon of this church. He spent much of his early life in teaching, having obtained a good education for his day. He was a very devout christian, and a firm believer in work, coupled with faith. He took the Bible as his guide and endeavored to carry out its mandates as far as possible, sparing neither time nor money. At an early period of his christian career he realized the full force and meaning of the command of our Lord, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." He was also impressed by our Saviour's preparation of his disciples for this work, realizing that a man who felt called to preach should be specially taught and prepared for it. On becoming acquainted with the limited circumstances of Matthew T Yates, he became the father of the idea of free education for indigent young ministers, and proved his faith in the idea by teaching Bro. Yates free of tuition. He afterwards directed the attention of the faculty of Wake Forest College to young Yates, and we all know the result.

In the life of this beloved brother there was much to remind one of the career of our Lord and Master while on the earth. Charity was one of his most prominent christian virtues, shining out with an enviable lustre all through his life.

He was a man of strong mental endowments which, coupled with his culture, made him a business man far above the average. One of his most admirable characteristics was that of giving his fellowman the benefit of his wise counsel without hope of reward. He was a man of strong convictions. One of his maxims was, "Be sure you are right, then go ahead." His mind once made up as to the right of a point at issue, neither fear, friendship, favor nor reward could induce him to swerve from his course.

He held a position as member of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest College from the creation of said Board to the time of his death.

We, the members of Wake Union church, hold up the life of this brother as one worthy of emulation; and while we feel most keenly the great loss we have suffered in his death, we render thanks to the God of heaven for the privilege of so many years of association and church relations with so brilliant a christian.

Resolved, That a copy of this obituary be sent to the family of the deceased, and that the same be spread on the records of our church.

W. O. ALLEN,
In behalf of the Church.

Cod-liver oil suggests consumption; which is almost unfortunate. Its best use is before you fear consumption—when you begin to get thin. Consumption is only one of the dangers of thinness.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver-oil makes the thin plump, and the plump are almost safe.

Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING—free.

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. 50c. and $1.

THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE
ADDRESS
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

Removal Sale.

Goods will be sold at very low prices to reduce stock for removal to the Andrews Building.
W. H. HUGHES, Raleigh, N. C.

Teachers Wanted.

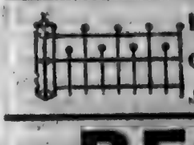
for good positions at good salaries, by the Southern Educational Bureau, Oxford, Mississippi. Send stamp for registration form and terms.

HARVEST BELLS,
round and shape note, by the 100, board bound, only 50c each; cloth-bound, 60c; words, 1½c. A Baptist song book. W. R. PENN, St. Louis, Mo

$50.00 A WEEK A bright, energetic man or woman wanted to take the sole agency for an article that is needed in every home and indispensable in every office. SELLS AT SIGHT. In town or country. $7.00 in 30 days and a steady income afterward. A "Bonanza" for the right person. Good jobs are scarce and soon taken. Write at once. J. W. JONES, Manager, Springfield, Ohio.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 164½ Whitehall St.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration form and supply of blanks, AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, MISS CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN.



IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

BELLS
Steel Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE

Easter Music. All kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. F. W. Root's New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The clearest and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.50 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price $1.25. King Sudenass, by Jas. R. Murray, a charming new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection in the market, contains the latest and best songs, 256 pages. Price 50 cents. Anthem Jewels, by H. R. Palmer and Dr. Danks. Anthems for opening and closing of services, offertory, etc., etc., 64 pages. Price 50 cents. Collections of Latest and Best Vocal and Instrumental Duets. Complete lists of contents furnished on application.

THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains anthems and voluntaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter, published monthly. Price 25 cents a single copy, $2.50 per year. Special terms to clubs.

The JOHN CHURCH CO. Cincinnati, O.
New York. | The John Church Co.

The Home Circle.

"Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep."

The fire upon the hearth is low,
And there is stillness everywhere;
Like troubled spirits here and there,
The firelights shadows flattering go.
And as the shadows round me creep,
A childish treble breaks the gloom,
And softly from the further room
Comes: "Now I lay me down to sleep."

And, somehow, with that little prayer
And that sweet treble in my ears
My thought goes back to distant years
And lingers with a dear one there;
And as I hear the child's amen,
My mother's faith comes back to me,
Crouched at her side I seem to be,
And mother holds my hands again.

Oh! for an hour in that dear place!
Oh! for the peace of that dear time!
Oh! for that childish trust sublime!
Oh! for a glimpse of mother's face!
Yet, as the shadows round me creep,
I do not seem to be alone—
Sweet magic of that treble tone—
And "Now I lay me down to sleep."

—Eugene Field, in Chicago News.

A Case of Poetic Justice.

"Father, what is poetic justice?" asked Fred Stanley at the tea table.

"What put that into the boy's head?" said mother.

"Why, there was something about it in our reading lesson to day, and when I asked Miss Thompson what it meant, she said we should see how many of us could find out for ourselves and give her an illustration of it to morrow; but I don't know how to find out unless you tell me, father."

Mr. Stanley looked thoughtful for a moment, and then smiled as if struck by some amusing recollection.

"Poetic justice," he said, "is a kind of justice that reaches us through the unforeseen consequences of our unjust acts. I will tell you a little story, Fred, that I think will furnish the illustration you are after:

"I recall a summer afternoon, a good many years ago, when I was not as large as I am now. Two other boys and myself went blackberrying in a big meadow several miles from home. On our way to the meadow, as we paddled along the dusty highway, we met a stray dog. He was a friendless, forlorn-looking creature, and seemed delighted to take up with us, and when we gave him some scraps of bread and meat from our lunch basket he capered for joy and trotted along at our side as if to say: 'Now boys, I'm one of you.' We named him Rover, and boy like, tried to find out how much he knew and what he could do in the way of tricks; and we soon discovered that he could 'fetch and carry' beautifully. No matter how big the stick or stone, or how far away we threw it he would reach it and drag it back to us. Fences, ditches and brambles he seemed to regard as so many obstacles thrown in his way to try his pluck and endurance, and he overcame them all.

"At length we reached the meadow and scattered out in quest of blackberries. In my wanderings I discovered a hornet's nest, the largest I ever saw—and I have seen a good many. It was built in a cluster of blackberry vines and hung low, almost touching the ground. Moreover, it was at the foot of a little hill and as I scampered up the latter, I was met at the summit by Rover, frisking about with a stick in his mouth. I don't know why the dog and the hornets' nest should have connected themselves in my mind, but they did, and a wicked thought was born of the union.

"'Bob! Will!' I called to the other boys, 'come here, we'll have some fun'

"They came promptly, and I explained my villainous project. I pointed out the hornets' nest and proposed that we roll a stone down upon it and send Rover after the stone.

"'And, oh boys, won't it be fun to see how astonished he'll be when the hornets come out!' I laughingly cried in conclusion.

"They agreed that it would be awfully funny. We selected a good-sized round stone, called Rover's special attention to it, and started it down the hill. When it had a fair start we turned the dog loose, and the poor fellow, never suspecting our treachery, darted after the stone with a joyous bark. We had taken good aim, and as the ground was smooth, the stone went true to its mark, and crashed into the hornets' nest just as Rover sprang upon it. In less than a minute the furious insects had swarmed out and settled upon the poor animal. His surprise and dismay fulfilled our anticipation, and we had just begun to double ourselves up in paroxysms of laughter, when with frenzied yelps of agony, he came tearing up the hill toward us, followed closely by the hornets.

"'Run!' I shouted, and we did run; but the maddened dog ran faster and dashed into our midst with piteous appeals for help. The hornets settled like a black avenging cloud all over us and the scene that followed baffles my power of description. We ran, we scratched, we rolled on the ground and howled with agony till the meadow was, for the time being, turned into a pandemonium.

"I have never known just how long the torture lasted, but I remember it was poor Rover who rose to the emergency, and with superior instinct showed us a way to rid ourselves of our vindictive assailants. As soon as he realized that we, too, were in distress and could give no assistance, he ran blindly to a stream that flowed through the meadow not far away, and, plunging in dived clear beneath the surface. We followed him, and only ventured to crawl out from the friendly element when we were assured that the enemy had withdrawn.

"Then we sat on the bank of the stream and looked at each other dolefully through our swollen, purple eyelids, while the water dripped from our clothing, and a hundred stinging wounds reminded us what excessively funny fun we had been having with poor dog, innocent and free from guilt himself, judged us accordingly, and, creeping up to me, licked my hand in silent sympathy. Then some dormant sense of justice asserted itself within me.

"'Boys, I said 'we've had an awful time, but I tell you what, it served us right.'

"Neither of them contradicted me, and, rising stiffly, we went slowly homeward with Rover at our heels.

"That, my boy," said Mr. Stanley in conclusion, "is a good instance of poetic justice."—Our Dumb Animals.

A Skeptic and the Italian Girl.

She sat behind her neatly arranged fruit stand—a girl of fourteen—absorbed in reading her Bible. She did not hear the footsteps of a gentleman who was passing by; and was startled by his question, "What are you reading that interests you so much?"

She timidly replied: "The word of God sir."

"Who told you that the Bible is the word of God?" he inquired.

"God told me himself," she replied, with child like innocence.

"God told you! Impossible! How did he tell you? You have never seen him, nor talked with him. How then could he tell yot that the Bible is his word?"

For a few seconds the girl seemed confused and was silent. The man, who was a skeptic, and took delight in undermining the faith of people in the Scriptures, felt confident that he had confounded the simple-hearted girl. She soon recovered herself, and her ready wit came to her aid. There was a flash in her dark eyes as she asked: "Sir, who told you there is a sun yonder in the blue sky above us?"

"Who told me!" said the man, smiling somewhat contemptuously, for he fancied that the girl was trying to hide her ignorance under an irrelevant question. "Who told me! Nobody; I don't need to be told. The sun tells this about itself. It warms me, and I love its light. That is telling enough."

"Sir," cried the girl, with intense earnestness, as she stood before him with clasped hands, "you have put it right for both Bible and sun. That is the way God tells me this is his book. I read it, and it warms my heart and gives me light. I love its light, and no one but God can give such light and warmth through the pages of a book. It must be his. I don't want more telling; that's telling enough, sir. As sure as the sun is in heaven, so sure is God shining through this book."

The skeptic was abashed. The earnest faith of the young fruit seller amazed him. He could adroitly insinuate doubts into the minds of those who have only given an intellectual assent to the truth that the Bible is God's book, but the girl's heart-experience of the power of God's word was an evidence he could not shake.—Messiah's Herald.

Never Swear.

1. It is mean. A boy of high moral standing would almost as soon steal sheep as to swear.
2. It is vulgar, altogether too low for a decent boy.
3. It is cowardly, implying a fear of not being believed or obeyed.
4. It is ungentlemanly. A gentleman, according to Webster, is a genteel man, well bred, refined. Such a man will no more swear than go into the street to throw mud with a chimney sweep.
5. It is indecent, offensive to delicacy, and extremely unfit for human ears.
6. It is foolish. "Want of decency is want of sense."
7. It is abusive, to the mind that conceives the oath, to the tongue which utters it, and to the person at whom it is aimed.
8. It is venomous, showing a boy's heart to be a nest of vipers; and every time he swears one of them sticks out its head.
9. It is contemptible, forfeiting the respect of all the wise and good.
10. It is wicked, violating the divine law, and provoking the displeasure of him who will not hold him guiltless who takes his name in vain.—Exchange.

The oppressed subjects of European governments turn to this country for free homes, free laws and for the free use of Salvation Oil for their pains.

It is a slight cold frequently contracted that finally undermines the system. Use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup in the beginning stages and be cured.

Church Manners.

We remember sitting in church once behind a young man who employed a good part of the time during wich the pastor was delivering a sermon in paring his nails. He did this piece of toilet work very carefully, giving attention to both hands, and surveying the task when it was finished with seeming approval. It was probably a sin of thoughtlessness, a lapse of memory of what was due to the sacred place and sacred service. But it was repulsive, and we have never thought of the young man since without associating him with an act of very bad manners. The famous Scotch evangelist, John McNeil, seems to have dealt lately with a similar case very summarily. Preaching in Aberdeen, lately, he drew attention to a young fellow in the congregation, of whom he said that if he "only worked out his own salvation as he was working at the paring of his nails, he would surely be a saint before morning."—Presbyterian Observer.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral possesses powerful healing qualities, which manifest themselves whenever this remedy is employed in colds, coughs, throat or lung troubles. Its anodyne and expectorant effects are promptly realised. It is a chemical success and a medical triumph.

The smallest Pill in the World!
THE SECRET of recruiting health is discovered in
TUTT'S
Tiny Liver Pills
In liver affections, sick headache, dyspepsia, flatulence, heartburn, bilious colic, eruptions of the skin, and all troubles of the bowels, their curative effects are marvelous. They are a corrective as well as a gentle cathartic. Very small and easy to take. Price, 25c. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y.

PASTOR KOENIGS NERVE TONIC

A Happy Orphan. XI

KENTON Co., KY., Oct. 9, '90.

In our orphan asylum here there is a 15-year-old child that had been suffering for years from nervousness to such an extent that she ofttimes in the night got up, and with fear depicted on every feature and in a delirious condition, would seek protection among the elder people from an imaginary pursuer, and could only with great difficulty be again put to bed. Last year Father Koenig while on a visit here happened to observe the child, and advised the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and kindly furnished us several bottles of it. The first bottle showed a marked improvement, and after using the second bottle and up to the present time the child is a happy and contented being. All those suffering from nervousness should seek refuge in Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic.

REV. B. HILLEBRAND, St. John's Asylum.

FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.

In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

Electropoise (TRADE MARK)

SIMPLE IN CONSTRUCTION. PERMANENT IN DURATION. EASILY APPLIED. ITS SKILFUL USE QUICKLY LEARND.

The Electropoise is an Instrument for the Cure of Disease Without Medicine.

BASED on new theories of the cause and cure of disease, it deals with the electrical and magnetic conditions of the body and the gases surrounding it in the atmosphere, controlling these conditions at will. It is not electricity. DISEASE is simply impaired vitality. The Electropoise constantly adds to the vitality and only assists nature, in nature's way, to throw off the trouble.

A 40-page book, describing treatment and containing testimonials from all sections, and for the cure of all diseases, mailed free on application. Address

ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO.,
Washington, D. C. Charleston, S. C. Atlanta, Ga.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

FREE SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, the beautiful magazine for boys and girls. It is the handsomest Young Peoples' Magazine in America. It has become a welcome visitor to thousands of boys and girls. No pains or expense is spared to make it attractive. Each number contains a volume of interesting reading for Young Folks. Short and continued stories, out-door sports, new games, and in fact everything to interest boys and girls. Twenty-eight pages and cover, each page is handsomely illustrated. It is the "Queen of the South," "The Pet of every Home Circle," and no boy or girl can afford to be without it.

To see it is to want it and to have it for six months or a year is a continual enjoyment for all the family. We want every boy or girl who has not seen this charming magazine to send us seven one-cent stamps at once for a sample copy, or better still, if you will send us One Dollar we will send you Southern Sunbeams one year and make you a present of "Cooper's TO BOYS Leather Stocking Tales." Five great works in one large volume, free of all cost. The works of this celebrated author are known among boys and girls wherever the English language is spoken. They are the monument of an era of our history that has passed away forever. While exciting and interesting they are pure and moral in tone. We are going to give the whole five stories complete. The Deerslayer, Last of the Mohicans, The Pathfinder, The Pioneers and the Prarie to every boy or girl who subscribes to Southern Sunbeams for one year. We do this to advertise our beautiful magazine, as all who take advantage of this wonderful offer will tell their friends, and in this way we will gain many new subscribers. Don't delay, this offer will not last long. Send in your subscription today and secure these five splendid stories and an excellent magazine one year.

Mention what paper you saw this advertisement in. AND GIRLS

Address SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, Box 343, Atlanta, Ga. REFERENCE, Any business house in the city of Atlanta.

HOPE FOR CONSUMPTIVES IN THE USE OF WILBOR'S Cod Liver Oil and Lime.

It is worthy of all confidence. It cures Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Pneumonia, Influenza, Bronchitis, Debility, Wasting Diseases and Scrofulous Humors.

Be sure, as you value your health, and get the genuine, as the base imitations said to be as good as WILBOR'S COD LIVER OIL AND PHOSPHATES are attempted to be substituted by unprincipled dealers. They are not, but lack the peculiar virtues of this preparation. If your druggist does not keep it, send direct to A. B. WILBOR, Chemist, Boston, Mass., the only Manufacturer of this Preparation.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

Look About the House!

And you will find that of all the presents made last Christmas, those which held out longest and give the most pleasure, are

Books

And thus it will ever be; therefore let your gifts this year to children, kindred, friends, and all whom you most esteem be an appropriate BOOK. We have a magnificent selection of all the

New and Beautiful Books

for the holidays, and can fill your orders by mail promptly. Tell us about what you want, the price you want to pay, and we will make a selection that

WILL SUIT YOU EXACTLY

Make Your Orders Early.

ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO.,
PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS, RALEIGH, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS, WAGON-MAKERS, PAINTERS, MILL-MEN —AND— SPORTSMEN'S SUPPLIES.

HARDWARE,

LIME, PLASTER, CEMENT, HAIR, NAILS, SASH,

DOORS, BLINDS.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

Paints, Oils, COLORS, GLASS, BELTING, PACKING, FILES, IRON AND STEEL.

Raleigh. N. C.

BELLOWS, VISES, ANVILS.

Best Goods. Low Prices.

SQUARE DEALING.

SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.

Farming Implements, SHOVELS, SPADES, RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

"All Right," "Cotton King," AND OTHER Cook Stoves and Ranges.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

THE BAPTIST
BOOK AND
Sunday-school Supply Store.

All profits go to Sunday-school Missions. Make Orders now for Second Quarter.

SONG BOOKS—"The Choice," by Basil Manly, is the best. Try it. Music, boards, by mail, 40 cts; words only, by mail, 12 cts.
MISSIONS—A new book. "William Carey—beginnings in Modern Missions." Is the best. Try it. In cloth, by mail, 25 cents. Address,
REV. C. DURHAM, 113 Fayetteville St., Raleigh, N. C.

BALTO. 1864 SADLER'S BRYANT AND STRATTON COLLEGE

FOUNDED 1864 by the present executive—Occupies four buildings—Unrivalled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. The outlook for is most favorable for business opportunities. The demand for our graduates is unprecedented. No vacation; pupils can enter at any time with equal advantages. Never attend a school because the tuition is cheap, for CHEAP is very dear; it means cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and offers NO opportunities for securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This school, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in business more young men and women from Md., Va., N. C., S. C. and Ga. than all similar institutions combined. Catalogue and particulars mailed. W. H. SADLER, Pres. F. A. SADLER, Secy, BALTIMORE, Md.

The New Year

BI
Volume 57.
The Biblical PUBLISHED EVERY OFFIC
123 (up stairs) Fayetteville
TERMS OF SUB
One copy, one year.....
One copy, six months.....
Clubs of ten (copy extra to Anonymous communica
their way to the waste bas
In sending letters of busi sary that you give your p
The date on the label o when your subscription ex
a receipt for your money.
Obituaries, sixty words l charge. When they exce for each word must be paid
When writing to have yo state the postoffice at whic as well as the one to which Remittances must be se
Postoffice Order, Postal N payable to the order of the stamps.

International Bible

THE WAY OF TH

Sunday, April 3—

Motto Text—"Blessed is not in the counsel of the u the way of sinners, nor sit scornful."—Ps 1: 1.

The Psalms are divi each of which ends w Hallelujah. These di 41st, the 72d, the 89th 150th Psalms.

The first division w mon, (1,000 B. C.) divisions are regarded Hezekiah (700 B. C.) o fourth and fifth books the return from Baby Nehemiah (500 or 450 as we have it is the w years.

In Joshua 10: 13 and poetical quotations fro which seems to have used by the children days of Solomon. Th celebrates the sun's command of Joshua, a Samuel is David's lam Saul and Jonathan. tiful poems. Turn to as they are taken from

Eight of the thirteen ent quarter are taken Josephus informs us enjoined to preserve, hymns as might be God; and it is thoug men that the book of have was selected fro ber, as divinely inspi missible into the can many others were rej this honorable distin may be, the entire bo considered as a part in every age by an Nearly fifty of the Ps ferred to in the New proposing a question ing the Messiah, intro Ps. 110 in this man said by the Holy Ghos calleth him Lord: an disciples, after his

"All things must be ten in the law of Mos and in the Psalms, co 24: 44-46; Mark 12: Scott.

The Apostle Paul quoting a passage f language, "Wherefo saith," "To-day," our Saviour used on my God, why hast t found in the beginni Psalm, and the very ing persecutors is fo written by David ov before the crucifixio seem to be directly cecies of Christ. It makes them the fav to aged pious peopl them an epitome of Basil, a compendiu little Bible, and the Testament; and Me quent writing in Morison says, "He of Psalms without to the judgment hal of Gethsemane, to t ion, to the Mount Throne of Heaven, vision obscured by prejudice."

The first Psalm Old Testament "S Like that sermon o character and cond God pronounces "b

Verse 1 tells us God does not, what not choose as coun as companions. counsel of the ungo way of sinners, nor scornful." Note the "standeth," "sitt

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1892. Number 39.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

118 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

International Bible Lessons, 1892.

THE WAY OF THE RIGHTEOUS.

Sunday, April 3—Psalms 1: 1-6.

Motto Text—"Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."—Ps 1: 1.

The Psalms are divided into five books, each of which ends with Amen, Amen, or Hallelujah. These divisions end with the 41st, the 72d, the 89th, the 106th and the 150th Psalms.

The first division was collected by Solomon, (1,000 B. C.) The second and third divisions are regarded as the compilation of Hezekiah (700 B. C.) or 300 years later. The fourth and fifth books were compiled after the return from Babylon under Ezra and Nehemiah (500 or 450 B. C.) So the book as we have it is the work of more than 500 years.

In Joshua 10: 13 and 2 Sam. 1: 18 we have poetical quotations from the book of Jasher which seems to have been a book of songs used by the children of Israel before the days of Solomon. The quotation in Joshua celebrates the sun's standing still at the command of Joshua, and the quotation from Samuel is David's lament over the death of Saul and Jonathan. Both of these are beautiful poems. Turn to them and read them as they are taken from the book of Jasher.

Eight of the thirteen lessons of the present quarter are taken from the Psalms.

Josephus informs us that the Levites were enjoined to preserve, at the temple, all such hymns as might be composed in honor of God; and it is thought by some learned men that the book of Psalms which we now have was selected from a much larger number, as divinely inspired, and therefore admissible into the canon of Scripture; while many others were rejected as not entitled to this honorable distinction. However this may be, the entire book has certainly been considered as a part of the 'oracles of God' in every age by an invariable testimony. Nearly fifty of the Psalms are quoted or referred to in the New Testament. Our Lord, proposing a question to the scribes concerning the Messiah, introduces a passage from Ps. 110 in this manner: 'David himself said by the Holy Ghost,' and David in spirit calleth him Lord: and when instructing his disciples, after his resurrection, he says: 'All things must be fulfilled which are written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets and in the Psalms, concerning me.' (Matt. 24: 41-46; Mark 12: 35-37; Luke 24: 44-49.) Scott.

The Apostle Paul, in Holmes 3 and 4, quoting a passage from Ps. 95, uses this language, "Wherefore as the Holy Ghost saith," "To-day," &c. The words which our Saviour used on the Cross, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" are found in the beginning of the twenty-second Psalm, and the very language of his mocking persecutors is found in the same Psalm written by David over one thousand years before the crucifixion. Many of the Psalms seem to be directly and throughout prophecies of Christ. It is this, doubtless, that makes them the favorite book of the Bible to aged pious people. "Athanasius styles them an epitome of the whole Scriptures; Basil, a compendium of theology; Luther, a little Bible, and the summary of the Old Testament; and Melancthon, the most eloquent writing in the world." Dr. John Morison says, "He who has read the book of Psalms without being led to Bethlehem, to the judgment hall of Pilate, to the garden of Gethsemane, to the scene of the crucifixion, to the Mount of Olives, and to the Throne of Heaven, has had his spiritual vision obscured by ignorance or blinded by prejudice."

The first Psalm may be regarded as the Old Testament 'Sermon on the Mount.' Like that sermon of Jesus, it describes the character and conduct of the man whom God pronounces 'blessed.'

Verse 1 tells us what the man blessed of God does not, what sort of people he does not choose as counsellors, as company, nor as companions. "He walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful." Note the verbs used, "walketh," "standeth," "sitteth." Note the characters, "ungodly," "sinners," "scornful." The man who seeks ungodly counsellors, and orders his steps according to their advice, will soon come to a stand-still with wicked men for his companions and sinful ways in his business. The next step will make of him a scoffer at religion and religious people. The course of sin is ever downward.

Verse 2 tells us of his pleasures and the subject of his meditations. "His delight is in the law of the Lord, and in his law doth he meditate day and night." Not in the laws of trade or the laws of the land which protects him in prosecuting his worldly interests at the expense of his fellow men, but in the "law of the Lord," which considers the interests of the poorest and the humblest as well as the richest and the greatest. It is a hopeful sign when we love to meditate upon God's word. Our true characters are known by our thoughts and desires when we are alone. Our meditations when we are by ourselves reveal to us just what we are and just what our hearts are set upon. Man in company is generally masked; man by himself is what he is, and not what he would have others think him to be. It is a common saying that no man is great to his valet. Look well to the character of your thoughts when you are alone, remembering that the eyes of God are upon you, and he looketh not upon the outward appearance but upon the inward intent.

"True worth is in being' not seeming,
In doing each day that goes by,
Some little good—not in dreaming
Of great things to do bye and bye."

Verse 3, "And he shall be like a tree,"—a thing of life and beauty and grandeur,—"planted" not indigenous, not a wild tree of the forest, but a tree planted for fruit, planted in a good place, "by rivers (or streams) of water," planted where the master wants him and where he will be supplied with conditions of fruitfulness. Every christian is called where he is needed, and should find and do work wherever God calls him into his kingdom—work where he is, for God's work is needed everywhere.

"That bringeth forth its fruit in its season." "God may plant us in a desert, but living streams will be there or on the bleak hill-side, where the storms blow, but his living water will bring us strength and victory: or in the feverish valley, but his river will flow by the bed of sickness." Peloubet.

Christian churches are suffering everywhere to day because of the multitude of members who do nothing because they cannot do what some one else does. We plant trees for fruit. "I have chosen you and ordained (Dr. Vincent says "planted" is the true rendering of ordained) you, that ye should go and bring forth fruit and that your fruit should remain." John 15: 16. "And whatsoever he doeth shall prosper," because done for God's glory.

A world of such people as the Psalmist here describes would be the happiest and most prosperous world ever dreamed of. The righteous man prospers in that which he as a righteous man most desires. More wealth is not necessarily more prosperity, while growth in godliness is.

Verse 4. "The wicked are not so," not like the fruitful tree, but "like chaff," light, shifting, worthless, driven away by every wind of doctrine, yea, by the very winds which separate them from the wheat and strengthen the setting of the tree planted by rivers of water.

Verse 5. "Therefore." Because they are worthless chaff, unfit and undesirable for the Master's use and no longer of any use in preserving the wheat, they are driven away from it.

"All our congregations on earth are mixed. Every church hath one devil in it: the tares grow in the same furrows as wheat; dross mingles with the gold; but sinners can not live in heaven. They would be out of their element. Sooner could a fish live upon a tree than a sinner in paradise."—Spurgeon.

Verse 6. "The Lord knoweth the way," &c., the tendency and the issues out of the life of the righteous, and the whole course of the wicked man's life. He knows what is necessarily the end of both ways. "Therefore the ungodly shall not stand in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous." The way of the sinner leads farther and farther from the path of the righteous, while the way of the righteous leads nearer and nearer to the holiness required for companionship with Christ and holy angels.

N. B. Conn.

Raleigh, N. C.

Never hurt anyone's self-respect. Never trample on any soul, though it may be lying in the veriest mire; for that spark of self-respect is its only hope, its only chance, the last seed of a new and better life, the voice of God which still whispers to it, "You are not what you ought to be; you are still God's child, still an immortal soul. You may rise yet, and conquer yet, and be a man yet, after the likeness of God who made you, and Christ who died for you." O, why crush that voice in any heart! If you do, the poor creature is lost, and lies where he or she falls, and never tries to rise again.—Charles Kingsley.

It is easy to express sentiments of kindness for others, but our Lord teaches us that true neighborliness will lead us to make sacrifices, if necessary, for their help. The good Samaritan, rendered personal service to a suffering one, and then provided and pledged the money for his care and comfort.—Christian Inquirer.

The Faithfulness of God.

"Thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds." Ps. 36: 5.

This Psalm commences with a gloomy picture of human nature. The Psalmist sees in the conduct of wicked men falsehood and flattery, deceit and treachery. Hence, at times he loses confidence entirely in his fellows: "I said in my haste all men are liars." He had already said it was "vain to put confidence in princes." Ahithophel, his wise and trusted counsellor, had grossly deceived him. His own familiar friend, with whom he had eaten bread, had lifted up the heel against him. They went to the house of God in company and took counsel together, yet he was ruthlessly betrayed by him.

His own son had most cruelly and basely deceived him. There was none to trust. He looked around despondently for human sympathy and true friendship, and exclaimed, "Lover and friend hast thou put far from me." Although sometimes tempted strongly to lose all confidence in man, yet he never lost faith in God.

He found comfort in the belief that God was a being of unquestioned veracity, who was not as man that he should lie, nor as the son of man that he should repent. "In God will I trust; he only is my rock and my salvation," he triumphantly exclaimed. "Thy faithfulness reacheth unto the clouds."

The faithfulness of God is a subject of momentous importance. We may conceive of God that he is a being of infinite wisdom, power and greatness, yet what will all this avail us if he is unfaithful?

His faithfulness must be the ground of our trust in him. If God be unfaithful, how can we trust his word, his promises made to his people, or his covenant made with his Son in the scheme of human redemption? What are his offers of pardon and salvation through Christ worth, or his denunciations against sin? All union and concord in heaven and in earth must be at an end. His physical and his moral government would reduce to anarchy and all nature to chaos. Angels would shudder and look aghast, while possibly fiends in perdition might rejoice.

But God is faithful in his conduct as the supreme ruler and governor of the world. He put his bow in the cloud as a seal of his covenant with Noah that he would no more destroy the earth with a flood. He promised that as long as the earth should remain, seed-time and harvest, summer and winter should remain.

It has been so thus far and we believe it will be so always as long as time shall last. And why? Because of the faithfulness of God which is taught us in the Scriptures. Hence, we believe the seasons will revolve their usual rounds, and that so long as the earth endures, there will be day and night. We believe that the planets will continue their revolutions in the ages to come as they have done in the ages past. And he who sees the end from the beginning makes no mistakes, has no need to change his purposes. There is no afterthought, no experiment, no improvement—his work is perfect. He has no motive to deceive as is the case with man. He is not dependent upon man's help or trust. Hence, he can have no possible motive to inveigle or deceive his creatures. As he has no occasion for change, his faithfulness is uniform; it is also constant and abiding. And we are all, both saint and sinner, vitally interested in it.

1. The faithfulness of God is the ground of the sinner's trust in Christ.

"He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins." Here the Apostle predicates the forgiveness of our sins upon the faithfulness of God. The justice and the faithfulness of God are different attributes of the divine nature, yet they are inseparable. Justice could not exist in the absence of faithfulness. Now the Apostle John says he "is just to forgive us our sins." Why? Because Christ became the sinner's surety and paid the debt he owed—rendered satisfaction to the broken law. He made such an atonement for sin and transgression as satisfied the claims of justice. His all sufficient atoning sacrifice magnified the law and made it honorable.

God in the covenant of redemption accepts the person and work of his Son. "Thou art my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased." The Father acknowledged him in his proper mission as mediator and our great high priest. "It is finished," said the dying Saviour, and God, faithful to his promise, raised him from the dead and glorified him. God has been faithful all along in his promises concerning the coming and mission of his Son Jesus Christ. "The seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head," was a promise literally fulfilled. Isaiah's prophecy of the vicarious sacrifice of Christ for sin and transgression had an exact fulfillment.

All the promises made under the law—all the types and shadows and sacrifices pointing to Christ were fulfilled through the faithfulness of God. For four thousand years God was faithful to his purpose of saving a lost world through the mediation of a coming Saviour. And now that Jesus has come and finished the work which the Father gave him to do, he can not fail of his word and promise. By two immutable things, his word and his oath, he consecrated Christ a priest forever more. It is impossible for him to lie. If God accepted the person and work of his Son, his faithfulness demands that he now accept his intercessions as our great high priest. We have not the faintest whisper from the lips of Jesus, nor from the inspired writers, as to a shadow of a doubt concerning the faithfulness of God in man's redemption and salvation. With confidence the sinner can now draw near and with faith in Jesus, cry "Abba, Father." God the Father wears a reconciling face and waits to be gracious for his Son's sake. "Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in my name, he will give it you." It makes no difference how great a sinner you may be, your sins he will freely forgive for his Son's sake.

2. The faithfulness of God is the ground of his people's trust and security.

"I will help thee," he said to Israel, and he had helped them all along from Abraham to this renewal of his promise. He was faithful to Isaac, Jacob and all the patriarchs. He did not forget his people in Egypt. He heard their groans and sent deliverance at the appointed time. He led them through a dry and thirsty land where no water was. He fed them with quails and manna, bread from heaven. Man did eat angel's food. He led them by the way that they should go into a land of habitation. He fed them with butter and kine and the milk of kine. He fought for them against their enemies. He gave them the law, a sanctuary, a priesthood, judges, prophets, and teachers until Shiloh came. He failed not in one jot of all the good things he had promised his people.

And he is faithful now to his spiritual Israel. "All power is given to me in heaven and in earth," said Jesus. And by whom? By God, the Father. And for what purpose? For the advancement and security of his mediatorial kingdom. He has promised the heathen to his Son for an inheritance and the uttermost parts of the earth for a possession—and shall he not do it? All nations shall flow into his kingdom. Kings shall be nursing fathers, and queens nursing mothers.

The promises of God are yea and amen. He has promised to take care of his church. He has done it thus far, and he will continue to do so. It is the firm reliance upon God's faithfulness to his promises that has sustained christian workers and toilers in every age of the christian dispensation. It sustained Carey, Ward and Marshman and our own Boardman and Judson in laboring among the heathen. The same truth has comforted and cheered the drooping spirits of a Yates, a Dean, a Graves and a David. It is trust in this same faithfulness of God that sustained the noble army of martyrs who laid down their lives for Jesus.

"Faithful is he who calleth you," saith Paul, "who also will do it." He will do just what he has promised. Do you believe God is faithful when he says, "All things work together for good to them that love God," &c.? You may lament the ingratitude and faithlessness of man.

"The rich hath many friends, but the poor is separated from his neighbor." God is no respecter of persons, and he has never said, "Seek ye my face in vain." He turns none away empty. He is a "friend that sticketh closer than a brother."

Parents may be unfaithful to their offspring, and children to their parents, husbands to their wives, and wives to their husbands. The mother may forget the child she bore, but God says, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." There are three negatives in the original.

His people may wander into forbidden paths, and turn away from him so as to suffer chastisements from the rod of his displeasure, yet he will not cast them off nor utterly forsake them. He says, "Then will I smite their transgressions with the rod and their iniquities with stripes. Nevertheless my loving kindness will I not utterly take from them nor suffer my faithfulness to fail." You may find it vain to put confidence in man. You say with one of old, "Cease ye from man whose breath is in his nostrils," but not from God. Where do you find either in the Old or in the New Testament, God unfaithful to one who sincerely and implicitly trusted in him? He was not to Israel in captivity, not to Daniel in the lion's den, not to the three Hebrew children in the fiery furnace, not to Paul and Silas in the jail at Philippi, nor to the martyr Polycarp who perished in the flames.

God will take care of his people. He who feedeth the fowls of the air and clotheth the lilies of the field will much more feed and clothe us, though we be of little faith. Then why be of a doubtful mind or take thought for what ye shall eat. Let us trust in God. Having food and raiment, let us therewith be content. His mercies are new every morning. He will take care of his people down to old age. As thy days, so shall thy strength be. Hope thou in God. Not one jot or tittle of all his promises shall fail.

3. The faithfulness of God is also seen in his judgments and in his punishment of sin.

He hath declared it as his fixed purpose that the soul that sinneth shall die. He punished the antediluvian world with the flood of waters. He punished Sodom and Gomorrah. He punished Israel at various times and in various ways when the nation sinned and rebelled against him. He hath declared that the wicked shall be turned into hell with all the nations that forget God; that he will bring into judgment every work, with every secret thing, whether it be good or whether it be evil. He hath also declared that whatsoever a man soweth that shall he reap—that he that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption. The faithfulness of God demands that he shall punish sin. Hence, he hath appointed a day in which he will judge the world by that man whom he hath ordained, whereof he hath given assurance, in that he hath raised him from the dead. Justice demands that God shall punish sin. Because God is forbearing and long-suffering towards sin; because he exclaims, "Turn ye, turn ye, O house of Israel, for why will ye die? As I live, saith the Lord, I have no pleasure in the death of wicked," men boldly assert that God is too merciful to punish sin with his everlasting displeasure. The new theology leaves the doctrine of future punishment in a mist. It would allow Guiteau and Garfield to be on the same footing in a future state and to be boon companions. Fie on such theology as this! It offers a premium for murder, for lust and for every evil. Live as you list, and all will end well. Eat and drink, we shall not die to-morrow, but live in eternity free from pain and sorrow—live with Jesus himself whom we have set at naught and with God our creator whom we have defied and insulted. We are gravely informed by skeptics and infidels that the christian church has borrowed the doctrine of future punishment from the heathen. Not so. It is plainly taught in the Bible. It is the clear teaching of revelation. The very heathen had more correct conceptions of what sin demanded at the hands of a just God than some in a christian land. Believe as you list, but this does not affect the truth of God. His word shall not pass away. Who can withstand God? He is of one mind and who can turn him. The wrath of God shall be revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men who hold the truth in unrighteousness. If God's faithfulness demands the salvation of the righteous, it equally demands the punishment of the unrighteous. He will by no means pardon iniquity and sin. Then, sinner, presume not to trifle with God, your final judge. Trust in his Son that you may have eternal life.

Ro. Williamson.

The Hymn-Book Question.

I have examined somewhat a copy, words and music edition, of Dr. Manly's book, "The Choice," which is so rapidly taking its place in Baptist worship. I do not think it contains all the good hymns and hymn tunes extant. I believe there are many excellent hymns and tunes among our modern productions in hymnology, and which we ought to preserve; but certainly in proportion to numbers of old and new in existence the good among the old by far surpass the best of the new. Dr. Manly did a blessed work when he preserved in so small a store-house such a larger proportion of these precious old hymns so staunch in theology and so inspiring in rhythmic beauty. Of very many of these we can say truly they are "the precious life-blood of a master spirit, embalm'd and treasur'd up on purpose to a Life beyond Life." I have spent no hour more pleasantly than one I have just spent reading these hymns, many of which I have so often heard my dear father and mother sing around the fireside in my early childhood, and the memory of which I would not lose for all of this world.

I will name some of the advantages which would attend an adoption of this book by all our churches and Sunday schools. First, a uniform song service would be established between the church and Sunday-school and between all our churches. This would add interest to the church service for the children, would promote congregational singing and prevent a great deal of confusion. When attending service at a distant church you could put your hymn-book in your pocket without the fear of being confronted when you got there with, "We don't use that book." Second, the preaching of a sound theology, such as is common, I believe, in our Southern Baptist churches, would be supplemented by singing a sound theology which stands next in importance. Said Martin Luther, "Next unto theology I give place unto music." One brother has deplored that a hymn containing so much of Emmersonian theology as "Nearer my God to Thee" should have found a place in the book; but if this criticism is well founded, certainly it can be said of by far the greater part of them that they (the hymns) are "apples of gold in pictures framework (the music) of silver." Third, is the distinctively denominational value of the book. How much have we lost by ceasing to sing so many of the old hymns so full of Baptist doctrine! Who can estimate the good in strengthening the convictions of our own people and fixing our views upon the hearts of others which the singing of these hymns on appropriate occasions would do? How impressive would be lines like the following at a baptism:

"In all my Lord's appointed ways
My journey I'll pursue;"

or,

"Our Saviour bowed beneath the wave,
And meekly sought a watery grave."

A few passages of Scripture and lines like these sung by a large assembly at a baptismal scene would do more toward fixing their duty upon the minds and hearts of those who have neglected obedience to the Saviour in baptism than many of our lengthy and ill timed dissertations do.

I verily believe Baptists do more to defeat themselves and support non-denominational hymn-book writers and compilers than any other religious body in this country.

J. E. Lyon.

Rocky Mount, N. C., March 19.

Hope is like the sun, which, as we journey towards it, casts the shadow of our burden behind us.—Samuel Smiles.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 30, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

MINISTERIAL SUPPLY AND DEMAND.

It is stated, on what seems to be good authority, that there are in one Southern State two hundred and five preachers, (Baptists we suppose), without churches, and nearly two hundred churches without pastors. If this be the number of churchless pastors, and pastorless churches, in one State comprised within the territory of our Convention, the number must be quite large, when we count those in all the States of the South, even though some of them fall considerably below the one alluded to as to numbers. We must admit that this state of things is not desirable, and there is something in it that is well calculated to put us to thinking. In this paper, then, we desire to give this matter some consideration. There is nothing made by smothering facts that ought to see the light; and it is the part of wisdom and duty to face conditions that ought not to exist, and thus fail to apply needed remedies. We are not disposed to take advantage of the state of things as to ministerial supply and demand in one of our sister States to comment on it to her disadvantage, and hence we withhold even the name of the State. We have sufficient occasion to lament that in North Carolina, as well as in other Southern and Northern States, it is true that there is quite a number of ministers and churches that are not supplied.

Bearing on this matter, we wish to ask and answer two important questions:—

1. How shall we account for this state of things?

2. What remedies can we apply to remove it?

In answer to the first question we make the following points:—

1. The carelessness and haste with which churches license and ordain ministers of the gospel. If a man is called to preach the gospel, we do not believe that obstacles should be thrown in his way to prevent him. But we should not forget that if he is called he will not be turned from his life work by slight, or even great opposition, on the part of his fellow men. We fear that committees, churches or presbyteries that are under the necessity of examining candidates for the ministry are often so much afraid of offending the candidate, his friends, or his church, as that they fail to subject him to anything like a careful examination. We should never forget that mistakes here may be quite serious, and lead to sad results; nor should we forget that it is quite possible for a young man to be influenced by wrong motives in his desire to enter the ministry. Sometimes youthful ardor, or the inconsiderate and misdirected zeal of the new convert, will account for this desire. At others the extravagant compliments of injudicious friends as to his graces of person or oratory, will account for it. Sometimes, again, the false notion that the ministry can be chosen as a profession, like law or medicine, or the silly notion of a doting mother that her boy is weak, and is fit for nothing else but the life of a minister, may account for it. These, and other considerations that might be mentioned, must impress upon those on whom the responsibility of examining candidates for the ministry rests the importance of being careful as to whom they pass upon as being qualified to undertake this work.

2. Carelessness and haste in organizing weak churches. Our fathers and mothers before us thought nothing, especially in rural districts, of going long distances to church; but the tendency now is for each neighborhood in the country, and almost every ward in the city, to have its own church. This plan may sometimes be wise, and again it may be otherwise. Of course it is a great comfort and convenience for one to have a church near his own door; but brethren often forget that it is much easier to organize a church than it is to run it, and it is quite important in this thing that our people should remember the wisdom of the old proverb, "Look before you leap." Better have one church properly supported than two or more badly attended, badly supported, and half the time pastorless.

3. A third fact that will help to explain this state of things is, that there is evidently a tendency among ministers to day to supplement their salaries by engaging in secular employments, and, as they are known to successful secularized, the churches do without their services. The example of Paul certainly teaches that it is lawful for a minister, in some cases, to engage in secular employments in order to find proper means of support. It is a well-known fact, also, that we have yet among us quite a number of preachers of such moderate intellectual and theological training that they have not the talent to command churches that are able to support them. But some of our ministers, who have such talent, are rather prone to seek secular employments, we fear, not simply to obtain food and raiment, but to gratify taste, and to satisfy a vanity that is born of a desire to "hold their own" in society, not to say in the fashionable world. We do not hesitate to say that the minister who is sufficiently talented to command a good salary, sins when he gives part of his time to secular employments merely to gratify carnal ambition or possess the means of luxurious living. He is called upon to "endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ," and it is a well known fact that the soldier in active service is sometimes compelled to subsist on light rations.

4. A fourth reason is, that churches are at times unjust toward ministers that are, to some extent, secularized. It is sometimes the case that a man of fine gifts is in this condition through stern necessity. He may have a family of bright boys and girls to whom he is anxious to give a good education. He and his family are expected, nay required, to live, dress, &c., in a style that will reflect no discredit on the people he is serving; and as they do not pay him salary enough to meet these demands, he engages in some secular pursuit in order to supplement his salary. A church in looking for a suitable man may sometimes act wisely in calling such a pastor, and paying him salary enough to enable him to feed, clothe, and educate his family properly, without resorting himself to any worldly employment. Ah! how many good men there are among us who sigh for an opportunity to cut loose entirely from secular pursuits that they may devote themselves to the Lord's work!

5. A fifth fact that may be mentioned is this: We have no central board, bureau, or organization of any kind, by which the matter of pastoral supply and demand is regulated. It is a fact that our Methodist and Episcopal brethren have a church machinery, and that they give their bishops an authority that enables them to supply rather promptly their ministers with churches, and their churches with pastors; and some may think they have the advantage of us here. The absence of any such arrangement by which preachers and churches can be readily supplied, is the result of our independent form of church government. What seems to be an advantage in this respect in the Episcopal system is, after all, more than counteracted by its drawbacks, because it deprives their congregations of the liberty of choice, and often compels them to support a man in whose place they would prefer another.

6. A sixth fact may help to account for this state of things, and that is, our churches are too often fastidious as to age, gifts, and personal qualifications of those whose services are needed. In answer to prayer the Lord of the harvest has sent forth a number of laborers among the churches, but they may be impeded in their work and the coming of the kingdom delayed because the churches are not satisfied with the men the Lord has sent. It is often the case that we hear the objection urged against a talented man who is capable of good work, "He is too old." How is it that a premium is placed on age and experience in law, medicine, and other professions, and a discount on the same in regard to the ministry of God's word? When one's body is sick or enfeebled he often prefers the doctor of some age and experience, but how does it happen that the same man or woman wants an amateur in theology to doctor the soul? Is the body more valuable than the soul? God bless our dear young preachers. They are under God our hope for the future; but we are sure that they will agree with us in protesting against this tendency to shelve able men, and in saying that age, experience, and matured piety, only add to, instead of lessening a pastor's influence and spiritual power. There are places that only the young can fill, and there are others that only the more aged and experienced ought to fill.

7. And again, too often churches that have the means are too stingy to support such men as they need, and whose services could be secured. Many churches in the country that have sustained only once a month preaching might combine with neighboring churches of some strength and have service oftener. Some town churches that are often pastorless need more liberality in sustaining the ministry.

We have thus tried to find the causes that account for so many churches and pastors that are not supplied. Remove the causes and the effects will cease. The answers to the second question that heads this article, then, readily occur to the mind of the reader.

THE BAPTIST TABERNACLE, RALEIGH.

Sunday morning, March 27th, was bright and beautiful, and the magnificently beautiful Tabernacle, with her newly added graces was filled, auditorium, aisles, Sunday school room, and even the infant class room.

Dr. W. E. Hatcher of Richmond, Va., preached a highly characteristic sermon upon the prayer of the demoniac of Gadara, from the text Luke 8: 38, 39. The sermon was rich in gospel truth, and was finely illustrated in the Doctor's own inimitable style.

After the sermon a statement was made by deacon N. B. Broughton setting forth the financial condition, &c., which was followed by a collection. At night another large audience assembled, and Dr. Hatcher again preached a strong and interesting sermon on the "Widow's Mite." Mark 12: 43, 44. The subject of giving was developed in all of its phases. Another collection was taken after the sermon.

A regularly arranged program provides services for each night during the present week. We regret that we cannot give a more extended notice, but we hope to be able to give something of the other exercises.

WE had time in our last issue simply to mention the important change in journalism which has occurred here at the capital by the recent sale of the State Chronicle, by which Mr. Thos. R. Jernigan becomes the editor of the Chronicle, and Mr. Josephus Daniels retires for the present from journalism. The RECORDER desires to express its regret that Mr. Daniels finds it necessary to retire from newspaper work; at the same time we feel that we can congratulate the readers of the Chronicle and the people of the State that his position is to be filled by one so well equipped as an editor as Mr. Jernigan. He has for a long time been known to the readers of the RECORDER. Before he became an editor he wrote for the readers of this paper, and they will remember, as we do, his clear, forceful and interesting style as a writer. His work upon the Intelligencer and News and Observer has caused him to be recognized as an able and safe leader among the newspaper men of the State.—We wish him the largest success in his new field.

The RECORDER also desires to express it appreciation of the excellent work done by Mr. Daniels while he was editor of the Chronicle. Perhaps no young man has ever exerted a wider influence in journalism in this State than Mr. Daniels did while editor of the Chronicle. He published a bright, newsy, enterprising paper—one that kept in close contact with the people, and one that they rewarded with their confidence in a marked degree.

Mr. Daniels, though young, has for a long time been connected with the newspaper business, including his experience at Wilson, at Raleigh, and we suppose it will be hard for him to keep away from the allurements of a printing office. The RECORDER will be glad to see his talents employed again in newspaper work in the State.

THE following paragraph is taken from an editorial in the New York Examiner. We reproduce it because it is a complete answer to the many rumors that are afloat in regard to Mr. Spurgeon's successor:—

"Telegraphic gossip has already decided upon a successor to Mr. Spurgeon in the Metropolitan Tabernacle pastorate. An American minister, the Rev. Arthur T. Pierson, D. D., has for some months preached most acceptably to the Tabernacle people, and has been invited by them to remain until June. From these facts some have jumped to the conclusion that the connection may grow into a permanent relation, especially as it is known that Mr. Spurgeon desired, in case his life was spared, that Dr. Pierson should become his permanent associate. The trifling circumstance that Dr. Pierson is a Presbyterian, while the Tabernacle church is Baptist, does not seem to present any obstacle to such a pastoral call in the judgment of the gossipers."

It remains to be seen whether there is any foundation in fact for these rumors. The Baptists of this country are anxiously looking on to see whether Mr. Pierson will be received into the Tabernacle church without being baptized by immersion. It has been the invariable custom of the church during Mr. Spurgeon's life-time never to receive members unless they had been immersed on profession of faith. If Mr. Pierson becomes pastor he will have to be immersed, or the church will have to depart from her custom, which we are very reluctant to believe.

The editorial above referred to closes with following significant language. Describing Mr. Pierson it says:—

"In eloquence, in spiritual power, in evangelical enthusiasm, he would come nearer to being a fitting successor than perhaps any other man that could just now be named. He lacks, however, one important qualification that Mr. Spurgeon possessed in an eminent degree, the saving grace of common sense. Dr. Pierson has a tendency towards extreme views, towards crankiness, that was wholly absent from the great preacher's mind, and this defect would greatly impair his usefulness in a long pastorate where Spurgeon labored with so great success.

If the Tabernacle pulpit should be filled by Dr. Pierson as the permanent pastor of the church, it would afford a most impressive object-lesson to all the world of the inevitable tendency and logical outcome of open communionism. Such an object lesson would do more than any one thing to counteract the influence for harm that the great name of Spurgeon has had for so many years in this country. For such open communion sentiment as has existed here has been nourished chiefly by his example and fame."

WE were delighted on Tuesday of last week to see the editor in the office for the first time since his attack. Since then he has been to the office twice. We were glad to notice to-day (Monday) a marked improvement in his condition since his previous visit. We humbly trust that he may continue to improve, and that ere long he can assume the full charge of his office.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. D. W. Herring, one of our missionaries in China, is on his way to America with his family. He was to sail March 4th.

....Rev. J. M. Bridges writes: "My work is moving on very well. The RECORDER is always a welcome visitor. It seems to get better every week."

....Dr. Chas. E. Taylor will give to the readers of the RECORDER next week a more extended account of the life and benefactions of Bro. Sidney S. Lea.

....Dr. W. B. Harrell has been called to serve the Red Springs Baptist church, in Robeson county, as supply for two Sundays (first and third) in each month from April 1.

....Rev. C. C. Haymore writes: "I went to East Bend on the 16th inst. and married S. W. Hall and Miss Mattie Johnson. Bro. Hall is building up a good school in Germanton."

....The editor is in receipt of a very interesting private letter from sister Yates of Shanghai, China, in which she gives a beautiful description of the Chinese celebration of her seventieth birthday.

....In another column will be found the railroad rates to the Southern Baptist Convention. Also notice to all delegates to send their names to Committee on Homes, and rates of hotels and boarding houses.

....Bro. W. M. Justice, the county superintendent of Polk county, writes: "The RECORDER is the best paper I see, and is doing a vast amount of good which nothing else could do as cheaply and as well."

....Rev. W. B. Morton has been unanimously called to the church at Louisburg. Bro. Morton is one of our best brethren, and goes to a people who will thoroughly appreciate his good qualities of head and heart.

....There will be a meeting of the Sunday school workers of the West Chowan Association at Aulander Baptist church on Tuesday, April 12th, 1892. All Sunday-schools are requested to send delegates.—C. W. Mitchell.

....The Shelby brethren are delighted with their new pastor, Bro. Sproles. He is young, vigorous, and one of the best equipped young pastors in the State, and is thoroughly in accord with all the interest of the denomination.

....Dr. C. Winston of Franklinton, who has just returned from Florida, where he has been visiting about a month, paid the RECORDER office a pleasant call. He says they had a frost there on the 20th inst. which did considerable damage.

....Rev. J. A. Beam says: "I am happy over our collection for Foreign Missions last Saturday at Bethel church. Last year we raised for this object $20.71, and this time $48.26. I have never known my people so much interested in Foreign Missions."

....The following are the speakers for the next commencement of Wake Forest College: Alumni orator, Dr. Willis Ramsay of Gainesville, Ga.; sermon, Dr. Carter Helm Jones of Knoxville, Tenn.; orator representing the Literary Societies, Hon. J. W. Bailey of Texas.

....The Board of Missions and Sunday-schools met in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh on the 22d inst. There were present a greater number than usual. They appointed delegates to the Southern Baptist Convention, and attended to other important matters of business.

....Mrs. Bryan, the wife of our missionary R. T. Bryan, is expected home in a few days. She was to start about the first of March. She returns on account of their oldest child, a little girl, who fell from a second-story window two years ago, from the effects of which she has not entirely recovered.

....W. W. Kitchen, Esq., of Roxboro, N. C., has accepted the invitation to deliver the Literary Address at the commencement of the Chowan Baptist Female Institute June 1st. Mr. Kitchen is an unusually fine speaker for his age, and it goes without saying that his address will be able, instructive and highly entertaining.—H.

....Rev. W. B. Wingate is held in high esteem by his people, and last night he received his second pounding within the past few months. He had just moved into his new home on Schenck street, and this time they carried furniture, housekeeping articles and everything good to eat. Mr. Wingate greatly appreciated the gifts—but more the kindness which inspired the members of his flock to not remember him.—Greensboro Record.

....Bro. D. M. Austin, of the Second church in Charlotte, is suffering with a severe sore throat. He is spending a few days at his old home in Monroe. One year ago there were only forty-eight members in the Second church in Charlotte. Now there are one hundred and three members, and the church is in fine condition.

....We regret to learn that Rev. W. K. Briggs of Briggsville, Madison county, had his residence, smoke-house and well-house burned on the 11th inst. His loss is not less than $2,000. We hope sympathizing friends and neighbors will help him to sustain the burden. "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." Gal. 6: 2.

....The pastors of the Raleigh Association met in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh on the 22d inst. to arrange for the Centennial Missions in that Association. There were present Elders J. J. Hall, J. L. Cottingham, C. W. Blanchard, W. M. Sorrell, J. R. Maynard, D. D. Edwards, O. L. Stringfield and J. M. White, together with brethren N. B. Broughton and P. W. Dowd.

....The prospect for a precious revival of religion at Wake Forest was never better than now. Dr. W. E. Hatcher of Richmond is assisting Bro. Gwaltney, who has been laboring faithfully for the past year. The Lord is in the meeting, and it is hoped that christians all over the State will pray for an outpouring of the Spirit upon the young men and the community around.

....Mr. R. P. Zimmerman died recently in Atlanta, Ga. He was a native of Guilford county, N. C., and early in life emigrated to Georgia. He devoted himself to mercantile pursuits, and greatly prospered in business, first in Madison, afterwards in Augusta and in Atlanta. In his young manhood he married Miss Bettie Meredith, a daughter of Rev. Thomas Meredith, founder of the RECORDER. We cull the following from a sad but beautifully written tribute to Mr. Zimmerman's memory, written by Mr. T. H. Blacknall: "Mr. Zimmerman, with his kind heart, polite address, and pleasant manners, was known to almost every man, woman and child in Atlanta. Though the fierce storms of adversity had swept away his fortune, leaving him a permanent wreck and a forlorn old weather beaten pilgrim on life's desert sands, he always had a cheerful smile and friendly greeting for all, and was always possessed of unmistakable evidences of culture and gentility. * * Disasters exhausted his financial resources and left him in old age in destitution and want. Bravely to the last, though crippled by disease, he fought along the desperate battle of life, and in almost a dying condition was carried from the lonely and desolate room to the city hospital, where he breathed his last with no gentle hand to administer to his wants. To him death must have been a precious legacy, for he longed to lay the burdens of life's armor down and be at rest. Peace to his ashes." He was about sixty-eight years of age.

A Meritorious Case of Need.

Dear Bro. Bailey:—I sit down to write you of my great misfortune. My house, smoke-house, well-house and most all I had was burned up Friday the 11th, inst. I'm now in great distress, without a home. The loss is about $2,000 or more. Will you please assist me all you can in helping me build. I'm not able to do much and I cannot build without a great deal of help. I want a comfortable house. I will be so thankful to you or any one that will aid me. Your Bro. in Christ, REV. W. K. BRIGGS.

Briggsville, N. C., March. 21, 1892.

The writer is well acquainted with Bro. Briggs, has shared the hospitality of his very comfortable home. He has spent his life in preaching to churches that have paid very little, and he has raised a large family of children, among whom is a preacher Rev. John W. Briggs. Another of whom is Prof. G. C. Briggs, now of Salisbury, Mo. Bro. and Sister Briggs are worthy people, and anyone, who has means to spare, may assure themselves that they are helping God's servant in a time of need.

A Former North Carolina Pastor's Advice.

Dear Recorder:—In passing around, it was my privilege to stop at a home in Lynchburg in this State. I soon noticed that there was an unusual degree of happiness in that home. Father and mother talked intelligently about missions, &c., and seemed to be well posted in matters pertaining to church work. I began to look around to see if I could ascertain a reason for this pleasant state of affairs: when, to my astonishment, I discovered that the BIBLICAL RECORDER was taken and read by them. I never spent a day more pleasantly anywhere than in that home, and I feel sure that the RECORDER has proved a great blessing to them. I know it has been, to me and mine, and I can't do without it. The more I read it, the better I like it.

I spent nearly fourteen years in North Carolina, during which time I served, as pastor, Monroe, Matthews, Morven, and some few country churches; and while I am back in my native State, I feel sure that I have many dear friends in North Carolina.

The RECORDER brings me the news and often the names of brethren and sisters in those fields where the Lord blessed my labors. And may the grand old paper, which I read in my father's house forty years ago or near that, live on, carrying light and joy into the homes of thousands. Brethren, take the RECORDER. Read it, and be sure to pay for it.

J. T. BRASINGTON.

Kershaw, S. C., March 24, 1892.

If the stream at which you wish to drink is muddy, go higher. The fountain is clear.—Gail Hamilton.

Delegates to Southern Baptist Convention.

The following named brethren were, at the meeting of the Board of Missions and Sunday schools, March 22d, 1892, appointed delegates to the session of the Southern Baptist Convention to be held in the city of Atlanta, Ga., May 6—10, next:

J. C. Scarborough, C. E. Taylor, G. W. Sanderlin, T. E. Skinner, N. B. Cobb, J. B. Boone, J. M. Heck, C. Durham, W. H. Pace, J. W. Carter, R. T. Vann, J. J. Hall, P. S. C. Davis, J. H. Morrisett, A. C. Davis, G. L. Finch, R. DanDeventer, L. Johnson, W. A. Pool, J. L. Sproles, C. B. Justice, R. H. Marsh, A. H. Porter, H. C. Dockery, J. C. Walker, J. M. Bridges, J. S. Hardaway, A. E. Caudle, R. P. Thomas, G. W. Harmon, J. A. Taylor, W. F. Watson, J. M. Powell, J. N. Page, J. A. Smith, L. M. Curtis, W. A. Barrett, N. B. Broughton, E. Frost, M. L. Kesler.

The Corresponding Secretary and any two of the above named brethren were authorized to fill all vacancies at Atlanta, and to make other appointments.

Any of the above named delegates who cannot attend will be expected to give notice to the Corresponding Secretary by the 15th of April.

The following named brethren have been appointed by their Associations, viz.:

Alexander—W. E. White; Atlantic—Rufus Ford; Anson—E. A. Covington; Ashe and Alleghany—D. W. Thomason; Beulah—W. B. Wingate; Columbus—J. L. Memory; Chowan—C. S. Vann; Central—W. R. Gwaltney; Cedar Creek—E. J. Edwards; Catawba—H. D. Lequeux; Caldwell—H. M. Croom; Cape Fear—E. W. Wooten; Flat River—J. A. Stradley; Green River—M. M. Landrum; King's Mountain—H. F. Schenck; Liberty—J. K. Fant; Mecklenburg and Cabarrus—D. M. Austin; Mt Zion—J. L. Carroll; Pilot Mountain—D. F. King; Robeson—F. H. Martin; South Yadkin—J. B. Holman; Sandy Creek—W. H. H. Lawhon; Stanly—J. C. Denney; South Fork—W. A. Graham; Sandy Run—T. Bright; Tar River—T. J. Taylor; Three Forks—E. F. Jones; Union—J. A. Bivins.

Those who desire entertainment at Atlanta through the committee on hospitality, will be expected to notify said committee by April 15th of their appointment and their expectation to be at the Convention. The Corresponding Secretary will send no names to the committee. Every brother who desired an appointment as delegate and had given us notice, was appointed. Since the above meeting, however, brethren T. H. Pritchard, J. S. Hardaway, A. G. McManaway, O. P. Meeks, J. H. Edwards, J. P. Hedgpeth, W. S. Ballard and J. A. Hursey have asked to be appointed. The list is full. It may be possible to appoint these brethren, but it will depend on the amount of contributions or on the failure of some delegates already appointed to attend the Convention. The notice of the Board's meeting, coupled with a request for brethren to send in their names who desired to go to the Convention, was in the RECORDER two weeks before the Board met. The following are the

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.80; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 12.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The Committee on Hospitality earnestly desire that delegates, both to the Convention and the Woman's Missionary Convention, should report their names to the Committee as early as possible, that they may be assigned homes where they will be entertained during the session.

For such delegates as perfer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $2.00 to 3.00; Markham House, 2.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.00; Grant House, 1.25; board at first class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with their request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

Thanks to Dr. Tichenor.

If ever a man deserved the thanks of his brethren for valuable services rendered, that man is Dr. Tichenor, Secretary of our Home Mission Board.

Sometime ago I called the attention of the readers of the RECORDER to the untimely criticisms of Dr. Goodwin of Richmond, Va., in the Religious Herald upon the plans of work of our Mission Boards, and the skill with which Dr. Bell of the Foreign Board was exposing their light and frivolous character. Since then, Mrs. Jane Graves, with a pen as keen as a Damascus blade, laid bare the critic's ignorance of what he was criticising. Then the veteran missionary, Dr. R. H. Graves, himself followed in her wake with fine effect. And Providence was evidently directing in the order of attack and defence, so as to secure the best result. The last article of the critical series was devoted to the Home Board, and in the Herald of this week Dr. Tichenor takes the doughty critic in hand and annihilates him. Not enough of the remains can be gathered up to make a burial.

And it is really a matter for sincere congratulation. When I alluded to the matter before, I felt deep concern for the effect of those ill-advised complaints about our missionary work upon the Centennial movement. But the hand of the Lord was in it. This tempest in the teapot has arisen and subsided before the actual beginning of the Centennial. There will hardly be another. Goodwin's fate is a sad warning to captious fault finders, and few will care to share it. And I was concerned, too, by the outcroppings of sympathy on the part of the Herald. I felt that there must be something dreadful coming, and I could not conjecture what it was. But I think I can understand now that the Herald knew what was coming, and was just coaxing the ox along to the slaughter. And now that the discordant notes have died away, and all is quiet on the James, let the good word be passed all along the line.

J. L. CARROLL.

Chapel Hill, March 24, 1892.

Rev. G. P. Bostick's Resignation.

On Jan. 14th, 1892, Rev. G. P. Bostick and wife, missionaries at Tungchow, China, sent their resignation to our Foreign Mission Board at Richmond, Va., and at the same time addressed a "Circular Letter" to the churches of the King's Mountain Association. In this letter Bro. Bostick asked the churches to withdraw from the general Foreign Mission work through the Board and to send their money directly to him and not through the Board.

Indeed, his circular declared that he did not wish the Association, as an organized body, to act on his proposition, but the churches, as local, separate bodies, each to determine upon its own course in these matters.

A meeting, therefore, was held in Shelby on March 25th, 1892, to consider Bro. Bostick's proposition. At this meeting twenty-three churches were represented. Rev. Thos. Dixon, Sr., was made Moderator, and Rev. J. L. Sproles, pastor of the Shelby church, was chosen Secretary. After singing, and prayer for Divine guidance, reading Bro. Bostick's proposition, and a full and free consultation about the same, the brethren were all of one mind, and they adopted unanimously the following preamble and resolutions:

"Inasmuch as the resignation of Rev. G. P. Bostick and his proposition to us tends to break down all organized effort of our denomination to give the gospel to the nations, and to cut us, as an Association, out of representation in the State and Southern Baptist Conventions, and believing, as we do, that our Boards are a necessary part of our denominational organization, and that their management of the work committed to them is better than anything we could advise, therefore Resolved 1. That we, the pastors and brethren of the churches comprising the King's Mountain Association, do heartily recommend to our churches to continue their support of Rev. G. P. Bostick in China through our Foreign Mission Board.

2. That we ask Bro. Bostick to reconsider and to withdraw his resignation and to continue his work as a missionary under the support and direction of our Foreign Mission Board.

3. That we ask the Foreign Mission Board to continue Bro. Bostick as a missionary under their support and jurisdiction. The Secretary was directed to send a copy of the above to Bro. Bostick and a copy to the Foreign Mission Board. Bro. Bostick went to China three years ago, and was, from the beginning of his work there with, as it seems, under the influence of the erratic Dr. Crawford. Dr. Crawford, for about six years, has not been connected with our Board.

Bro. Bostick's resignation is only the culmination of a number of unfortunate circumstancies for which the Board at Richmond and the churches of the King's Mountain Association were in no way responsible and over which they had no control. The action of the King's Mountain brethren and of the Board in promptly accepting the resignation will, doubtless, eliminate this trouble that has, for more than two years, through the growing erratic opinions and plans of Bro. Bostick, been taking more and more the shape of his "Circular Letter" to the churches of the King's Mountain Association.

There is no disposition on the part of any of our North Carolina churches to do Foreign Mission work other than through our Board at Richmond. Bro. Bostick, therefore, will most likely, at an early day, return to this country, and again enter the ranks of the pastors and workers at home. There is no probability of any trouble or division of opinion among the churches growing out of these things, and there is nothing in them all to discourage us in the work of missions.

Let us all most humbly, continuously and earnestly pray for God to guide the heart and mind and work of the brethren and sisters on the foreign fields, to call, qualify and send forth more and more missionaries to the nations, and to enlarge, intensify and direct the spirit of missions in all of our pulpits, churches, Associations and Conventions.

C. DURHAM.

Give.

There is always a way of doing good and getting good at the same time not sufficiently thought of and practiced; it is by giving rather than receiving. The generous giver of sympathy, help, encouragement, anything good, will find it "more blessed to give than receive." The pastor is blessed in giving instruction, comfort and encouragement to his people; they, too, are blessed in helping and encouraging him. Let pastor and people both give and both receive, and both will be doubly blessed.—United Presbyterian.

A Granville Letter.

Dear Recorder:—I have been wanting to let your many readers know something of the work that is going on in this part of God's moral vineyard for some time, and I have concluded to avail myself of this opportunity to pen you a few lines.

In the first place, let me acquaint you with a few facts concerning myself—from the fact I have the advantage of you, having known you all my life, and you and your managers know but little about me, if anything, only as a subscriber.

From my earliest recollections you made your regular visits to my father's house; and, after leaving there for Wake Forest, you still continued your visits and no doubt felt as much at home at the dear old College as any place in North Carolina. From there you found your way occasionally to the Army of Northern Virginia.

After the close of the war, I married and moved out of my native county to live, and lo! I found you in the county I moved to, and especially in the family in which I married. So among the first essentials, after going to housekeeping, I considered the RECORDER an indispensable necessity, and as such wife and I concluded, as we had both been acquainted with you all our lives, we would not part company with you, but would give you a life invitation; so you may consider us life subscribers. Allow me to say just here, that I consider the RECORDER an almost actual necessity to a live Baptist, so much so, that I think any Baptist who does not read the RECORDER, will be greatly improved by doing so. I take it, with several other papers, and I almost invariably fish out of my bundle of papers on mail days the RECORDER and read it first, so anxious am I to hear from my brethren all over the State.

Now comes the real matter I set out to write about; and some doubtless will think this is the work of our pastor, Rev. C. A. Jenkens; but he is a very modest man and not fond of parading his work before the public, or the results of it, and, as such, is silent as to what is going on in his field. For more than a year ago, Bro. Jenkens was led to believe that the old way of preaching to the churches, and the brethren not coming out and taking part in the church work other than attending the regular meetings, paying their dues, &c., was a mistake, and he therefore set out on a new line to develop his churches by putting every available member to work.

His plan is to preach the word and explain it, and just before conference he calls on the brethren generally, and especially the backward and young members, to make short talks and to lead in prayer; and, brother editor, you would, no doubt, richly enjoy hearing the hard-fisted brethren, sunburned and uneducated as many of them are, testify to the goodness and mercy of God. In many instances, nearly all the congregation is moved to tears. As a result of such preaching, members, who formerly had nothing to say in public and who were apparently inactive, are now among our livest and most influential members. Many have erected family altars and are living religion in every-day life to the extent that their walk in their respective neighborhoods is seen and acknowledged by those among whom they live. It may truly be said, as the result of such a line of preaching, that without any previous notice a genuine revival of religion is experienced, and at some of Bro. Jenkens' church at the ordinary monthly meetings some professions of religion have been made.

Your brother in Christ,

J. P. CANNADY.

Hargrove, N. C.

Melange.

I cannot write to the RECORDER without giving expression first to the sentiment uppermost in my heart. When recently the news of Dr. C. T. Bailey's serious illness was flashed over the wires, it sent a keen pang to many hearts, and thousands of Baptists turned to a throne of grace for help in time of need. The prayer was answered, and the brave defender of Baptist principles will soon be himself again. For my part I am profoundly grateful.

Is it a chimera (born of too great jealousy for what I conceive to be the truth of God, and therefore sacred) that rises before the mind's eye, and menaces with an insane gibe and laugh some of the cardinal tenets of a denomination resting upon the Bible as its sufficient explanation and defense? Of one thing I am being reluctantly but surely convinced; there is a growing disposition on the part of men high in Church and State to seize upon the slight pretext to curl the lip and ring out catch-words, guilty of ridicule and innocent of argument, that the unthinking crowd may be at least imagined to applaud. In the name of all that is just and courteous, why taunt a multitude of christians—many of them eminent for learning and piety—with an enforced construction of a doctrine which it is the easiest thing in the world to misrepresent—a taunt all the more objectionable because screened in implication. It seems to me that Dr. C. T. Bailey, so skilful in the delicate and responsible work of puncturing sophistical bubbles, is needed now, and I repeat, that I rejoice at the prospect of his speedy recovery.

"Pleasures brighten as they take their flight." I know you have heard something of the sort before, gentle reader, but bear with me now. As a child, I hung almost entranced upon the words of a grand old man as he talked of a wonderful land, where the men were the greatest, and the women the fairest and best on God's green earth. And the child whispered to his beating heart, "I'll go to that marvelous land of my fathers when I am a man!" I came, by God's providence, and found it all my childhood's dream has pictured. The years may come and go, and experiences rise with interest crowd heart and brain, but so long as memory lasts, North Carolina will be precious to me. Wadesboro, Newbern, Wilson—most cherished jewels (save one) in the casket—Raleigh, Wake Forest, Durham, Wilmington, and sister cities—each has a place in my heart. Sampson's fair village, with a halo of poetry and romance ever floating above it—Oh, I owe much to the Old North State—God bless her! Her able and consecrated ministry, her noble laity, her grand men and women who make up her splendid citizenship—I would have counted it a joy and an honor to have spent my life in such fellowship. I go with no repining heart nor lagging step to greet Virginia (it is the Master's will), but—my love to North Carolina.

The rain is steadily falling, and a living stream of men and women is moving right on to the Planter's Warehouse, where "the Drummer Evangelist" is holding his remarkable meeting. Multitudes throng to hear him. It is impossible, just at this time, to say what will be the extent of the work done. Mr. Fife is declaring the counsel of God with great power, and with less acrimony than he is said to have manifested elsewhere. A deep religious feeling is rapidly permeating the community, and scores of christians are praying and laboring for a mighty work of grace.

My friend, Mr. Henry Blount, has informed me that he desires to make some engagements to deliver public lectures. Everybody has heard of the brilliant editor of the Wilson Mirror. His one fault (as a writer), it seems to me, is a profusion of extravagant compliments. But Henry Blount is always sincere—he is a rare genius, and when his generous heart guides his pen, with an exhaustless reservoir of brilliant phrases just at hand, the result is, not a photograph, but a picture by Rubens—which, I grant you, the best friend of the subject might fail to recognize. As a lecturer, I believe he would have few equals. His fancy is ever on the wing, and his sentences often wear "the gleam and glory of a tropical night." I heartily suggest this gifted son of North Carolina—poet, humorist, and orator—to any in need of a first class lecture.

HENRY W. BATTLE.

March 24, 1892.

A New Church Constituted.

By request, a presbytery consisting of Rev. D. D. Edwards from Morrisville, and Rev. W. M. Sorrell from Reedy Creek, and Deacons Young, Stone and P. A. Sorrell from Reedy Creek, C. H. Jackson from Mount Zion, and Jas. H. Stone from Cary, met at Burrough's school-house in Wake county, on March 19th, 1892, to take into consideration the propriety of constituting a Missionary Baptist church at that place.

The presbytery was organized by electing Rev. W. M. Sorrell, Moderator, and P. A. Sorrell, Secretary.

Rev. W. M. Sorrell stated the reasons why a church should be organized, and was followed with remarks by Deacons James H. Stone, P. A. Sorrell and C. H. Jackson, favoring the organization.

Ten brethren and sisters submitted letters of dismission from Mt. Hermon, Reedy Creek and New Hope churches, with covenant, rules of decorum, constitution and doctrines, which were read and approved by the presbytery.

On motion, the brethren and sisters named in the letters were constituted a regular Missionary Baptist church. The name of the new church is "Mount Olivet."

On motion, Bro. Willis J. King was recognized as a Deacon of the new church, he having been previously set apart to that office.

Rev. D. D. Edwards preached the sermon, and the charge to the church was delivered by Rev. W. M. Sorrell.

The newly constituted church selected the third Sabbath in each month and Saturday before as their days of preaching, and unanimously called Rev. W. M. Sorrell to be their pastor, who accepted the call.

Five persons were received on a relation of their christian experience for baptism, and there are others to follow.

P. A. SORRELL, Secretary.

Moore's Sketches—Words of Sympathy.

Dear Recorder:—I have been greatly interested in the "Sketches of Pioneer Baptist Preachers of North Carolina," by your State Historian, John W. Moore; and it seems to me that it would be a pity if these valuable historical sketches are not completed and put in book form. I believe such a book would be of great interest, and meet with public favor—rivaling such works as Semple's, or Taylor's Lives of Virginia Baptist Ministers.

I was sadly shocked by the tidings of dear Doctor Bailey's illness. We are not at all ready to give him up yet. May our Father bless him with returning health and vigor, and prolong his valuable life many years. Mrs. Royall agrees with me that the RECORDER is a very helpful and interesting paper. Sincerely and fraternally,

W. S. ROYALL.

Nebraska, Va., March 24, 1892.

Commendatory Resolutions.

WHEREAS, The pastorate of the Rev. G. M. Webb closes with this church to-day; and whereas, we, the Pleasant Hill church, desire to express our appreciation of his long and continued services to this church; therefore,

Resolved 1. That our prayers and best wishes go with him to his new field of labor, and may God bless him and crown his labors with success.

2. That we recommend him to any and all with whom he may be by the providence of God called to labor.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon our minutes.

J. A. ROBERTS, Church Clerk.

Dec. 7th, 1891.

The Meeting at Clayton.

Dear Recorder:—I am here in a meeting with Bro. Horton and his Clayton people. The weather has been pretty rough most of the time, but we have kept at it. That's Horton's way, you know—patient, faithful, persistent. A few souls have "witnessed a good confession," and some others seem on the point of decision for Christ.

The people here have shown me no little kindness, and especially shall I hold in grateful remembrance good Sister McCullers, mine hostess, and her household. Many of the saints are among the excellent of the earth. The church is particularly strong in the zeal and piety of its members. And when all, men and women, shall, under the progressive leadership of their wise and thoughtful pastor, set their united strength to the task, as sure they will, I trust they will settle their own pastor among them for all his time.

R. T. VANN.

Clayton, March 24, 1892.

Not Designed as a Rival.

Dear Bro. Editor:—Permit me to say a word in reference to "Hymns New and Old." This book is not at all designed as a rival to "Manly's Choice."

"Manly's Choice" is designed as a church hymnal for Baptist churches, and is admirably suited to its purpose. Orders are coming in from all parts of the country, as the denomination are more and more coming to know the book. The force in the Bindery have to work until 10 o'clock every night, except, of course, Sunday, in order to keep up with the orders.

The love the Baptists cherish for Dr. Manly, and the fact that his family get a royalty from the sale of the book, added to the merits of the book itself, have made this the most popular Baptist hymnal issued for a long time past.

"Hymns New and Old" is the rival of Gospel Hymns, is undenominational and designed for Sunday-schools and for evangelistic meetings as well as for family devotions. Fraternally yours,

T. T. EATON.

Louisville, Ky., March 19, 1892.

How You Can Help to Bring About a Revival.

Pray for it.
Work for it.
Get nearer to God yourself.
Talk less about politics and the weather and more about salvation.
If you are wrong with anybody, get right before sundown.
Stop finding fault with your neighbors.
Talk to your unsaved children about religion. Don't send them away on a visit during special meetings.
Go to church yourself and take your children with you.
If somebody has to stay in the store, do it yourself and send your unsaved clerk to the meetings.
If you have been neglecting to have family prayers, begin at once.
Be religious everywhere and every minute.
Work as hard to get people out to church as you would to get voters to the polls on election day. Make long prayers in your closet and short ones in public.
Do all the little things you can, and God will look out for the great ones.
Be sure to attend the meetings on rainy days. Don't sit where you can see vacant seats in front of you.
Do everything you can to agitate the subject of religion and keep it before the community.
Pray for every meeting at home, on the way, and after you get there.—The Ram's Horn.

Baptism is Immersion.

It may be well enough now, when it is being blown about that there is a certain "large" sort of interpretation which makes it contrary to the mind of Christ to hold to immersion as essential to baptism—it may be well to call attention to a statement by the renowned church-historian, Dr. Philip Schaff, which I cut sometime since from a religious newspaper:

On strictly exegetical and historical grounds, baptism must be immersion. Without prejudice, no other interpretation would ever have been given to Bible baptism. It is the most natural interpretation, and such we must always give. Immersion is natural and historical: sprinkling is artificial and an expedient for convenience's sake. All the symbolism of the text, (Rom. 6: 3, 4), and everywhere in the Bible, demands the going under water and coming up out of it to newness of life. Sprinkling has no suggestion of burial to sin and resurrection to holiness. In order to be true to its original meaning, and its vital relation to redemption through Christ Jesus, baptism, must be immersion. Why do you wish to get rid of it? Eminent theologians have wasted their learning attempting to defend infant sprinkling. Imposition is not exposition. All the early defenders of christianity taught that nothing but immersion was baptism, and all the Greek or Oriental churches continue to immerse to this day.—Dr. Schaff.

For myself, I desire no simpler largeness than the most precise obedience to the divine Christ. I think it a most dangerous thing to attempt to interpret Christ's mind against Christ's words.—Wayland Hoyt, D. D., in N. Y. Examiner.

God's Love.

God loves to come to the lonely hearts which other lovers do not see. This is why bereaved hearts, outcasted hearts, misunderstood hearts, weary hearts, heavy-laden with ills and sin and native guilt and the grave of father and mother, are the hearts of his predilection.—Ex.

"Casting all Your Care Upon Him"

I sat at my open window, one warm spring afternoon, weakened and discouraged by a recent attack of la grippe. The soft evening light poured over the tender greens of the lawn and the budding elms, and the birds chirped busily and merrily, for it was not yet bed-time, and they seemed to have much to say to each other before turning in to their new, snug, little homes. But, even the exquisite beauty of all the outside world failed to rouse any response of gladness in my soul, for I thought of all that had gone wrong or been left undone, during my weeks of illness, of all those loose ends of work, so difficult to gather up and right again, and I rested my head on my hand and my elbow on the window seat, breathing the pure air, and never thinking of it, gazing at the bright outer world and not caring for it, and hearing the sweetest music yet not listening to it.

My window overlooked the flower-garden of a neighbor, and, this afternoon, two little girls went gaily flitting like butterflies, from one new blossom to another. How happy they were! Yet, suddenly, the clouds gathered. I heard a grieved cry, from one, as her little companion snatched a flower form her hand. "You naughty Phoebe," cried the injured one, stamping her little foot, "Go home, this minute!" Then, as her anger was dissolved into tears at the sight of the beautiful shattered lily, she sobbed, "I am go-going to-to tell my mamma!"

The scene changed; the children, both weeping, had gone to their respective mammas, each with her own particular woe, and I was left to wonder: "Why will children always be such little tell-tales? It seems a child would not be a child, if it did not learn to say as soon as it learn to say anything, 'I am going to tell my mamma.'"

And yet, there came the thought, why should not little Mildred tell her mother? What more natural than to run and rest the grieved baby-heart upon mother's breast, and cast the care upon her, who lives to care for and comfort her child? It is tale-telling? Yes, but is it not the very kind of tale that our Father would have us tell him? It is natural for a child to run to its mother, in any crisis or need,—it is more—, it is an instinct rather than a conscious act of volition. It is natural to a trusting child of God to lay his burdens before his Father, who is always more than willing to aid the burdened one.

I sat until the sunset glow faded into the soft night and the cresent, silver moon-lamp swung low behind the elms. Unwillingly, I closed the window, and turned to the lamp-light within, for God's beautiful world had dawned upon me, anew, in those sunset moments, and a child's plaintive voice had led me to his feet, where I laid and left my cares.

J. P. D.

Preachers who Preach and Farm.

We think it is a hard task to preach and farm for a living. Can a preacher make a success at preaching and farming too? A man who farms is engaged all the week, and neglects his Bible. He does not have time to read the Bible and prepare himself as he should, and when Sunday comes he is unprepared to preach. His heart is not full of the sweet message of Christ as it should be. His mind is confused, and he has to preach the same old sermon. He has to ride from twenty to thirty miles through heat and cold to get to his church. He is so wearied and confused when he gets there that he confuses the people. Let us read Jeremiah 23: 1, 2: "Woe be unto the pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture, saith the Lord. Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel against the pastors that feed my people ye have scattered my flock, and have not visited them; behold I will visit upon you the evil of your doings, saith the Lord."

Brethren, I think we should have some plan of raising more money so that we could give them a sufficient amount to support their families without having to farm, then they could devote all of their time in reading God's word. A man that don't know the word can't preach it. Let a man be educated, then he will carry the word of God in his heart. Let him be in Christ and Christ in him. Christ said, "I in you and you in me." Then he would not have to ride twenty to thirty miles to preach. He would be stopped on the wayside to preach.

S. P. LOWRY.

Franklinton, N. C.

The surest means to rid yourself of that distressing cough is to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cts.

"Mrs. Jones sits at the window all day as placid as a May morning, and her five small children play hide and seek on the back stairs." "No wonder! She uses Salvation Oil for sprains and cuts."

Dear Recorder:—In the Religious Herald of February 25th, Dr. F. M. Ellis of Baltimore makes "a centennial suggestion." He suggests that we give to the mission work at home and abroad the amount saved by one week of real self-denial. Surely no lover of the Lord would be satisfied to do less than this; and it is to be hoped that there are many whose zeal for the Master would prompt them to do much more.

After careful study I feel constrained to make some other suggestions which I hope will commend themselves to the Baptist brotherhood of the Southern Baptist Convention. Let each brother and sister who attends the Southern Baptist Convention next May deny him or herself the ease and comfort (not to say luxury) of a "palace sleeper," and contribute the money thus saved to Home and Foreign Missions. Also, let each pastor, instead of getting a [illegible] evangelist at a big salary to assist in protracted meetings, secure the aid of a neighboring pastor, and at the close of instead of taking the usual collection for the visiting pastor, let the collection be for missions. In this way not only can thousands of dollars be raised, but such an impetus given to the mission spirit as never before. Inspired by the example of the Captain of our Salvation, let each one of his followers be willing to practice real self-denial, not only for one week, but for fifty-two weeks in each year then will the windows of heaven be opened and God's blessing poured out without measure.

DISCIPLE.

Leaksville, N. C., March 19, 1892.

The Sunday-school Society.

The American Baptist Publication Society is by thousands recognized as the Society of the whole country in producing a literature that is suited to the needs of Sunday-schools everywhere. It is in no sense a private corporation, or a stock company, but it is owned and managed by and for the Baptists of the entire land, North, South, East, and West. Its issues have not been surpassed, either by other societies or private publishing houses; its entire profits go to the developing of the denomination, and toward the help of needy churches and schools in every part of our country whence the calls for help come. It publishes the most complete series of lesson helps in the world, and these periodicals are not only unsurpassed in quality, but are the most widely circulated of any; they deservedly hold the first rank.

The spirit of free criticism, so characteristic of our age, finds in the church and the minister its most common field of exercise. The minister's appearance, his sermons, his prayers, his clothes, his manner, his pronunciation, his gestures, are all legitimate subjects of discussion. Something funny about any one of them is listened to with especial relish. The effect upon the minister's work is so obvious that there would seem to be no need of pointing it out. And yet that is precisely what is lost sight of. We have known families where the influence of church services and faithful preaching was largely counteracted by the habit of criticism in the home. A New York preacher said the other day, with as much truth as pungency, "A cavilling christian is a better servant of Satan than the most open unbeliever."

"When you criticise your pas'or you hurt yourself and your children," said a christian man talking with a friend. Another who heard the remark exclaimed, "Would to God that I had thought of that twenty years ago!" He was reminded perhaps of his boys and girls who had grown up indifferent to all religious interest, in part at least, if not chiefly, through his own thoughtless practice of picking flaws in church arrangements and poking fun at preachers. True enough, the ministers themselves are often responsible for the levity with which they are treated. That is a different, and not less important, side of the question. But quite apart from any blame which they may deserve—and we believe that on the whole it is small—there remains the responsibility of the people in our churches. For them the duty is clear and most imperative to maintain in their own bearing and to cultivate in the young whom they lead and mould the habit of respectful thought and speech toward the minister.—N. Y. Examiner.

Second Annual Meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention of North Carolina.

TO BE HELD IN WINSTON, APRIL 14—17, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Organization.

Welcome words by pastor. Responses.

Address by George W. Sanderlin. Subject: The Bible in the Sunday-school.

7:30 p. m.—Address by C. A. Jenkens. Subject: The Holy Spirit's Work in the Preparation, Exposition and Application of Scripture Lessons in the Sunday-school.

Address by T. P. Bell. Subject: Sunday-school Literature as a Means of Developing Interest in Missionary Work.

Friday, 10 a. m.—Address by J. C. Scarborough. Subject: The Influence of Sunday-school Training on our Denominational Life.

Address by J. K. Fant. Subject: The Obligational of Churches to their Sunday-schools and the Schools to their churches.

Miscellaneous business.

3 p. m.—Address by A. W. Price. Subject: The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school.

Questions and answers on general work.

General discussion on mission schools, how to organize and successfully run them.

7 p. m.—Address by F. M. Ellis. Subject: The Centennial of Missions.

Saturday, 10 a. m.—Address by W. L. Poteat. Subject: Sunday school Equipment, Rooms, Bibles, Song-books, Maps, Literature, and our Supply Store.

General discussion on Methods and Helps.

Address by J. M. Frost. Subject: The Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention.

3 p. m.—Address by D. M. Austin. Subject: How can the Schools Aid our Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in Sunday-school Mission and Colportage Work?

Address by O. L. Stringfield. Subject: Country Sunday-schools, their Importance, and How to Sustain Them.

Conference: Summer Bible School. Shall it be? Where?

7:30 p. m.—Address by T. J. Taylor. Subject: The Baptist Orphanage, what should the Sunday-schools Do for It?

Miscellaneous business.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution gives the only basis of representation as follows:

ART. 3. This Convention shall be composed of one male lay delegate and one associate from each Sunday-school, regardless of contributions, and of Baptist ministers and superintendents of Baptist Sunday-schools in North Carolina who shall pay annually one dollar each to the Treasurer, and of male delegates chosen by the Sunday-schools and Sunday Associations. Each school and each Sunday school Association shall be entitled to one delegate on the payment annually of five dollars to the Treasurer, and to two additional delegates on the payment to the Treasurer of ten dollars for the objects of the Convention. Each school shall be entitled to two delegates chosen by the school on the payment of five dollars to the Treasurer. The associates shall be women. This Convention shall co-operate with the Baptist State Convention and its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools and with the Southern Baptist Convention.

ART. 4. Only members of white Baptist churches shall be eligible to membership in the Convention as delegates or as associate delegates. The associate delegates shall not be entitled to the "floor of the house."

ENTERTAINMENT.

Delegates will be entertained by the people of Winston. The committee on hospitality, however, will be responsible for the entertainment of those delegates only who notify the pastor, Rev. H. A. Brown, by Thursday, April 7th, 1892, of their expectation to be present.

ROUND-TRIP RAILROAD FARE TO CONVENTION.

From Rutherfordton, $9.35; Shelby, 7.80; Lincolnton, 6.60; Charlotte, 5.95; Fayetteville, 6.65; Henderson, 6.10; Maxton, 7.95; Sanford, 5.05; Marion, 7.55; Wilmington, 9.30; Weldon, 9.05; Goldsboro, 7.95; Selma, 6.45; Raleigh, 5.40; Durham, 4.30; Greensboro, 1.65. Intermediate points in same proportion.

N. B. BROUGHTON,
T. H. BRIGGS,
T. M. PITTMAN,
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
JNO. T. PULLEN,
Executive Committee.

Read This.

Let those who are appointed to attend the Sunday-school Convention in Winston send their names to the pastor (Rev. H. A. Brown) immediately, that the Committee may arrange for homes. We can not be responsible for those who do not send their names before April 7th as published in the programme. Fraternally,

COMMITTEE ON HOSPITALITY.

Winston, March 19, 1892.

Two doctors of an Eastern town,
To learning much inclined,
Were called to see a gentleman,
Whose health was undermined.

The first one used his stethoscope
Upon his patient meek.
"I find," quoth he, "one lung is gone;
You cannot live a week."

To this the other wise M. D.
Vehemently objected.
"I see," quoth he, "as all may see,
Your kidneys are affected."

These wise men argued loud and long,
Yet the patient owes recovery
(Not to those doctors, but to—Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery).

There are some patent medicines that are more marvelous than a dozen doctors' prescriptions, but they're not those that profess to cure everything.

Everybody, now and then, feels "run-down," "played out." They've the will, but no power to generate vitality. They're not sick enough to call a doctor, but just too sick to be well. That's where the right kind of a patent medicine comes in, and does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten.

We put in our claim for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

We claim it to be an unequaled remedy to purify the blood and invigorate the whole system.

It's the cheapest blood-purifier, sold through druggists, no matter how many doses are offered for a dollar.

Why? Because it's sold on a peculiar plan, and you only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

CONSUMPTION
THE BEST POSITIVELY CURED. THE BEST

Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

SPECIAL NOTICE

Complying with general request,

BEECHAM'S PILLS

will in future for the United States be covered with a Quickly Soluble, Pleasant Coating, completely disguising the taste of the Pill without in any way impairing its efficacy.

Price 25 cents a Box.

New York Depot 365 Canal Street.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.

J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891

For the benefit of the public I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.

Very respectfully,

W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:

Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,

ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR:

Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,

F G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.

Yours truly,

CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:

Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,

J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00

SEND FOR CATALOGUE

H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE,
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*8 00 p m	*8 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*8 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 53 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	1 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 30 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 30 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 30 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 35 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	5 05 p m	12 26 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.08 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.32 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2.00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leave Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2.10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday, for Oxford and Keysville.

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York: Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent.
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 28, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.35 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennettsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.27 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Rameur			7:26 a m
Ar Greensboro			10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10:35 a m
Ar Madison			1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:33 p m
Ar Bennettsville		4:22 p m
Lv Madison			3:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Rameur			8:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for March: Brazil.

Report of the Woman's Central Committee for 1st Quarter Ending Feb. 29, 1892.

Atlantic Association—Beaufort, $11.00; Value of mis. box, Newbern, 50.00; Newbern, 15.81; Pollocksville, 12.25; Morehead, 20.00; Goldsboro, 30.67.

Beulah Association—Value mission box, Reidsville, $55.00; Yanceyville, 11.20; Trinity, 7.50; Greensboro, 25.00; Sunbeams, Reidsville, 10.74; Reidsville, 5.00.

Cape Fear Association—Galeed, $5.00.

Central Association—Sunbeams and W. M. S, Rolesville, $5.19; Rolesville, 10.00; Sunbeams, Rolesville, 15.00; First ch., Raleigh, 78.95; Value mis. boxes, First church, Raleigh, 100.00; Wake Forest, 37.55; Mrs. W. Royall, Wake Forest, 2.00; Perry's Chapel, 4.65; Sunbeams, Wake Forest, 9.52; Youngsville, 6.50; Sunbeams, First ch, Raleigh, 2.92; Brassfield, 1.28; Flat Rock, 3.00.

Chowan Association—Sunbeams, Eureka, $1.00; Sawyer's Creek, 16.50; Reynoldson, 7.13; Gatesville, 14.04; Sunbeams, Gatesville, 10.54; Chappel's Hill, 3.31; Mt. Tabor, 17.62; Warwick, 10.00; Elizabeth City, 3.40.

West Chowan Association—Buckhorn, $1.20; Aulander, 5.00; Elim, 5.04.

Eastern Association—Mt. Olive, $5.43; Sunbeams, Mt. Olive, 2.55; Shiloh, 4.00; First ch., Wilmington, 10.50; Sunbeams, First ch, Wilmington, 8.13; Rocky Mount, 5.58; Mt. Holly, 1.00; Siloam, 3.23; Mt. Gilead, 4.31; Brooklyn ch., Wilmington, 13.50; Long Creek, 1.25.

Flat River Association—Oxford, $25.85; Sunbeams and W. M. S., Roxboro, $5.00; Roxboro, 9.00; Corinth, 6.80; Value box Orphanage, Concord, 13.00; Concord, 3.85; Henderson, 16.06; Flat River Union, 31.58.

King's Mountain Association—Shelby, $11.85; Miss L. Kendrick's infant class, Shelby, 6.00.

Liberty Association—Kernersville, $2.85.

Meck. and Cab. Association—Independence Hill, $3.20; Value mis. box, Second ch, Charlotte, 32.00; Croft's Creek, 1.60; Second ch, Charlotte, 12.50.

Mt. Zion Association—Mt. Pisgah, $10.60; First church, Durham, 8.00; Second church, Durham, 7.60; Sunbeams, Chapel Hill, 3.50; Bethel, 3.93; Mt. Moriah, 35c.

Pilot Mountain Association—Sunbeams, Winston, $25.00; Leaksville, 12.15; Value mis. box, two ladies from Leaksville, 10.00.

Raleigh Association—Apex, $8.32; Sunbeams, Apex, 17.15; Tabernacle, 7.20; Hartsville, 54c; Green Level, 14.00; Holly Springs, 4.65; Morrisville, 2.34; Inwood, 3.53; Mt. Vernon, 12.00.

Robeson Association—Fayetteville, $16.10; Lumberton, 39.25; Back Swamp, 1.15; Saddle Tree, 10.30; Sunbeams, Lumberton, 8.88; Cedar Grove, 1.26; Long Branch, 4.85; McAlpin's Grove, 10.00.

Richmond Association—Rockingham, $6.00; Spring Hill, 6.00.

Sandy Creek Association—Poplar Ridge, $5.00; Mineral Springs, 1.50.

Tar River Association—Cypress Chapel, $3.34; Peace's Chapel, 3.25; Warren Plains, 3.14.

Western Convention—Berea, $3.00.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS CONTRIBUTING TO CHRISTMAS OFFERING FOR NORTH CHINA.

S. S., Hickory, $4.00; S. S., Rutherfordton, 2.14; S. S., Newbern, 5.50; S. S., Fayetteville Street ch, Raleigh, 6.41; S. S., Benson, 2.82; S. S., Tarboro, 6.07; Mrs. E. A. Covington, 1.00; Mrs. Jane P. Bostick, 1.00.

CONTRIBUTED AS FOLLOWS:

Christmas Offering for North China,	$354.78
Foreign Missions	248.31
Home Missions	364.09
State Missions	108.63
Orphanage	79.09
Education	16.57
Expense fund	2.55
Total	$1,173.95

Letters written, 285; "Talks" sent out, 3,200; leaflets, 2,960; envelopes for Christmas Offering, 2,500; new societies, 16; societies contributing to expense fund are as follows: Sawyer's Creek $1.50, Mt. Tabor 70c., Mt. Moriah 35c.; increase over last quarter, $150.37; Societies and Sunday-schools reporting, 95; increase over last quarter, 80; Societies and Sunday-schools contributing to Christmas Offering, 59; Christmas Offering (as far as reported), $345.79; increase over offering of last year, $268.90.

MRS FANNIE E. HECK, Pres. C. C.
MRS. J. A. BRIGGS, Sec. C. C.

The Chapel Collection Card.

Through the courtesy of nearly every Southern Baptist editor, the Centennial Chapel Collection Card designed to aid the Boards and the Centennial Committee in their call to Southern Baptists for a $250,000 Chapel Fund, has been made familiar to readers of the religious press from Maryland to Texas. Through appeals from the Foreign and Home Boards, the need for collections and approval of the use of the Card by Sunday-schools and Woman's Mission Societies have been made known. From time, at short intervals, through the same courtesy, will appear articles from Foreign and Home fields, stimulating by fresh information, the active work of collection.

At the outset of this work, a suggestion to our earnest, devoted women workers may be serviceable. Central Committees in every State have been provided with supplies of Cards, Certificates, Circulars and Leaflets, and will send samples to every society and band in their respective States. It will remain with each society to adopt, or reject, the plan. The suggestion to be made comes in just at this point: While the sale of bricks at ten cents each is obviously suited to children's methods of work, the question arises whether it is equally appropriate for grown people? No, will be the popular answer. It is also our reply; but we would add that the sale of bricks by grown people is not the best use to which the card may be put by them, while it may be one of its uses. As a personal register of small self-denials and even of lapses into besetting sins, or as a record of special thanksgivings, with the important benefit of a definite aim to reach five dollars, the card may be made an occasion for growth in many christian graces and result in undreamed-of success for the mission treasuries, both Home and Foreign.

Who cannot personally do, or "do without," some things—five dollars' worth of some things—for this Centennial year? Should every Baptist woman, whether member of a society or not, take one of these cards to remind her constantly of her purpose, while its punctured bricks will mark her progress towards completion—should every Southern Baptist woman use one of these cards and fill it, possibly not selling a single brick to another, but only denying herself, we should have upwards of the enormous sum of $3,500,000 as the result of woman's work alone.

Is this an impossible dream? Its realization will depend on the critical now—just how these sample packages, sent out by the central committees to the societies, are received and adopted. If the cards be limited in their use to collection from others and consequently largely relegated to children, the plan will meet with limited success. Yet some will say, "I can give without the card." True enough, but will you? While for many, for most of us, we are quite sure that the little card will be an aid to memory and determination. To realize the glorious dream above referred to, let every woman in every society take a card at once, and begin to practice self-denial at once. Let her ask and urge every friend, not a member, to do the same, inspiring each friend to ask co-operation of her friends. In this way, the work will be done and done easily. A personal resolve by every reader of this article to carry out this program will insure her part of its success. Ask in your local society, or send to the central committee of your State, for the cards, which will be supplied free. A handsome certificate, in return for five dollars and upwards, as memorial of the Centennial of Missions, will be presented to each contributor by president of local society. ALICE ARMSTRONG.

Baltimore, Md.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Bro. J. E. Hutson's Meetings for This Year.

I give below a list of my appointments for this year. The names of several churches are omitted because the time for holding the meetings has yet to be fixed.

March, 3d Sunday, Bedford City, Va.

May, 1st Sunday, La Grange, N. C.; 3d Sunday, Scotland Neck, N. C.

June, 1st Sunday, Williamston, N. C.; 3d Sunday, Greenville, N. C.

July, 1st Sunday, New Hope, Va.; 3d Sunday, Tabernacle, Va.

August, 1st Sunday, Courtland, Va.; 2d Sunday, Boykin's, Va.; 3d Sunday, Newsom's, Va.; 4th Sunday, Hebron, Va.

September, 2d Sunday, Moore's Swamp, Va.; 3d Sunday, Holland's Corner, Va.; 4th Sunday, Beaverdam, Va.

October, 2d Sunday, Antioch, Va.; 3d Sunday, Hermon, Va.; 4th Sunday, Kentuck, Va.; 5th Sunday, Mt. Zion, Va.

I earnestly ask to be remembered in the prayers of my brethren and sisters.

J. E. HUTSON.

Ayer's cathartic pills are known to be the safest, surest, and best purgative medicine ever offered to the public. They are mild yet certain in their effects, give tone and strength to the stomach, and keep the system in a perfectly healthy condition.

Tongue cannot describe the love of Christ; finite minds can not conceive of it, and those who know most of it can only say with inspiration, that it "passeth knowledge."—Ex.

Letter from Rev. G. P. Bostick.

Dear Recorder:—We have just passed into two new years recently. We still keep up our months as you do at home; so that January 1st was our new year; but in our dealings with the Chinese we have also to keep up with their months and year. Their month is governed entirely by the moon, indeed their word for month is the word for moon. We passed into the Chinese new year last Saturday, January 30th. Their people nearly to a man stop all business for a few days. Regular business is considered stopped for fifteen days, the people giving themselves to feasting, visiting, passing presents, worshipping at the temples, inviting the spirits of the departed dead back home, worshipping at the graves, &c. It is on the first day of the new year that all the family are expected to knock heads to the ancestral tablets. This is one of the trying seasons to those who profess christianity. Where only one member of the family is a professor of religion, it is very difficult for him to stand up against all the family. The family often means all of a village. The family is everything in China; the individual is not recognized except as a part of the whole. The idea of becoming christians by families is natural to the Chinese when they are ready at all to accept the gospel. Some missionaries take advantage of the family idea and advocate baptizing whole families on the faith of the heads.

Bro. Herring made us a very flying visit last week, spending only two days. We were all delighted to have him. He is brimfull of missionary work. I believe God is leading him in all his movements and that God will glorify himself in him. He is living close to God, and to be with him is to feel it. To us, away off up here, so far from all our other missions, it was a real soul-delight to have him look in on us even for two days. He could not go to see the friends at Pingtu—five in number now—brethren League and Sears with their wives, and sister Fannie Knight. They are all full of work there. They are three days from us. We in Tungchow are six—Doctor and Sister Crawford, Bro. King, Miss Barton, myself and wife. The winter has been too severe to allow much country work. To go to the country sleep on a pile of bricks without fire in the room is rather too risky when the ground is hard frozen and covered with snow. We hope to be scattering in every direction now soon about the Master's work.

Brother Herring brought up with him a young Swedish Baptist, who has been out now about nine months. He is the first Swedish Baptist for China. He expects some others to follow soon. He is a strong, earnest, godly young man. He is a Baptist real and true. He has been in several parts of the empire looking for a suitable place to locate. He wanted to be near other Baptists, as they, the Swedes, can never be many in China. The English Baptists he did not like, because they are only such in name. He saw much of the missionaries of the A. B. M. Union, but they are doing much in schools, employing natives, free doctoring, &c., and the Swedish Baptists being poor, he felt that they ought to confine themselves strictly to preaching the gospel; and so he was delighted to find a few American Baptists who are so cranky as to feel that the one great thing to do for the heathen is to preach the gospel to them. Such he finds in us eleven in this province (Shantung), and he will probably settle somewhere in elbow-touch of us. I will write you later sometime of the progress of the work in Sweden as learned from him.

We are all tolerably well and pushing on in our work as we can.

Many more workers are needed. Eleven of us in this province to leaven this 36,000,000 with Bible principles, are very few. There are perhaps one hundred others in the province who teach something of the Bible, but mix with it much error, as we think, such as infant baptism or family religion, church salvation to a limited extent, &c.

May grace, mercy and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the Holy Spirit, be with all the brethren.

Yours in the Lord,
G. P. BOSTICK.

Tungchow, China, Feb. 5, 1892.

Can't Rub it Out.

"Dont write there," said a father to a son, who was writing with a diamond on the window. "You can't rub it out."

Did it ever occur to you, my child, that you are daily writing that which you can't rub out?

You made a cruel speech to your mother the other day? It wrote itself on her loving heart, and gave her great pain. It is there now, and hurts every time she thinks of it. You can't rub it out.

You whispered a wicked thought one day in the ear of your playmate. It wrote itself on his mind, and led him to do a wicked act. It is there now; you can't rub it out. —Selected.

No one has a right to be called a christian who does not do somewhat in his station toward the discharge of the trust reposed in him.—Bishop Butler.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

BABY'S BLOOD AND SKIN

Cleansed and purified of every humor, eruption, and disease by the celebrated

CUTICURA REMEDIES

These great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies afford immediate relief in the most torturing of Itching and Burning Eczemas and other itching, scaly, crusted, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Thousands of grateful testimonials attest their wonderful, unfailing, and incomparable efficacy. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "All About the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

HOW MY SIDE ACHES!

Aching Sides and Back, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains, and Rheumatism relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing, strengthening plaster.

WE TELL THE TRUTH about Seeds. We will send you Free our Seed Annual for 1892, which tells THE WHOLE TRUTH. We illustrate and give prices in this Catalogue, which is handsomer than ever. It tells NOTHING BUT THE TRUTH.

Write for it to-day. (P. O. Box 1236.)

D. M. FERRY & CO., Detroit, Mich.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c

D. L. Gore,

120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS. ESTABLISHED IN 1851.

Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Designs, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information.

170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

$50.00 A WEEK A bright, energetic man or woman wanted to take the sole agency for an article that is needed in every home and indispensable to it. Very cheap. SELLS AT SIGHT. In town or country. $750 in 30 days and a steady income afterward. A "Bonanza" for the right person. Good jobs are scarce and soon taken. Write at once. J. W. JONES, Manager, Springfield, Ohio.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO. ... makers of the "Blymyer" ... Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogues with over 2000 testimonials.

YOU WILL FIND

upon examination that the

GRADED SERIES

OF

Lesson Helps and Illustrated Papers

issued by the

American Baptist Publication Society,

are not only the BEST but the CHEAPEST.

Compare our Prices with those of Similar Publications.

WHY ORDER FROM OTHER PUBLISHERS?

Second Quarter Now Ready.

ORDER EARLY.

CLUB PRICES.

Primary Grade.

Picture Lessons, 3 cents per quarter; 12 cents per year.
Primary Quarterly, 2½ cents per quarter; 9 cents per year.
Our Little Ones, 25 cents per year.

Intermediate Grade.

Intermediate Quarterly, 2½ cents per quarter; 8 cents per year.
Sunlight, 8 and 16 cents per year.

Advanced Grade.

Advanced Quarterly, 2½ cents per quarter; 10 cents per year.
Bible Lessons, 6 cents per year.
Young Reaper, 10 and 20 cents per year.

Senior Grade.

Senior Quarterly, 6 cents per quarter; 24 cents per year.
Our Young People, 40 cents per year. Single copy, 50 cents per year.
Worker, 6 cents per year.

Teacher.

Baptist Teacher, 50 cents per year. Single copy, 60 cents per year.

Superintendents.

Baptist Superintendent, 25 cents per year.

SAMPLES FREE.

American Baptist Publication Society,

PHILADELPHIA: 1420 Chestnut Street;
NEW YORK: Times Building;
BOSTON: 256 Washington Street;
CHICAGO: 122 Wabash Avenue;
ST. LOUIS: 1109 Olive Street;
ATLANTA: 66½ Whitehall Street.

Edwards & Broughton,

Printers & Binders,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day-books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,
RALEIGH, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia ... limited. It is well bound ... is not ... soiled. Will sell ... cost ... $40. Only reason for selling ... Address ... N. C.

Italian Chapels.

It is God's good pleasure through the foolishness of the preaching to save them that believe." But a place is needed where the preachers may stand and the people gather.

Our Lord and his Apostles found everywhere Jewish synagogues in which they could expound the Old Testament and show how its prophecies were fulfilled in "the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Moreover, at the sea-side and in market place and forum, they were free to preach to the multitudes. The same facility, many of our missionaries to the heathen enjoy to-day. In Italy, it is not so. Roman Catholic churches are, of course, closed to us, and it is unlawful to hold any religious service save at a burial or within the walls of a house. Hence we are compelled to rent a locale, which is generally a small shop or a room on the second floor. It is almost self-evident that something better is needed; yet the following considerations are submitted.

1. It is extremely difficult to secure even such places as have been named. Sometimes a search of months is in vain. If one, tolerably eligible (relatively speaking) has been found, very likely the landlord refuses to rent it for evangelical meetings. Once taken, the tenure by which it is held is uncertain; and, in any case, as the moment approaches for the renewal of the contract, there is an agony of anxiety, lest the work be turned out of doors and be compelled, after months of homelessness, to tabernacle in another quarter of the city, far away from the people who may have begun to attend the meetings. These are not imaginary experiences, but such as have occurred in the history of our own and the other missions. In Naples, there is, Count Papengouth tells me, a society which will pay the rent of a locale in order to keep it out of Protestant hands.

2. The places rented for meetings are, as a rule, inadequate and unworthy. Stores in Italian cities are generally shallow and almost always without windows, the doors serving the double purpose. As our services are chiefly in the evening, we can manage about light, but alas for the lack of ventilation. Alas for preacher and congregation who have to breathe the same air over and over again.

How can we expect people, almost as æsthetic as the ancient Greeks, accustomed to beautiful theatres and churches, as well to beautiful pictures and natural scenery—how can we expect them to come to our mean and uncomfortable preaching places? If they were very anxious to hear the gospel, then they would put up with much that is disagreeable. But just because they are hostile or religiously indifferent, and often, strange as it may seem, both together, it becomes us to leave no obstacles in their way, but rather to attract them with every legitimate means. Hard by the lovely Milan cathedral, one of the wonders of the world, our little Baptist church worships, and our Brother Nicholas Papengouth, preaches in an ex-beer shop, and a poor beer shop at that.

3. A rented place gives to the work an air of instability. It is no light matter, under the most favorable conditions, for an Italian to break with all his past and with his friends and the surroundings of his daily life, and join a little band of evangelical christians; but it becomes far more difficult when these have no permanent local habitation. A property, however modest, held in fee simple, proclaims to all in the historic words of Victor Emanuel; "Here we are and here we stay."

A little chapel, too, bears all the week, a silent but eloquent testimony to the doctrines preached and the simple spiritual worship offered, statedly within its walls. People of the town, and from the country around, ask "what mean these stones?" And it will be a little reminded of great truths, alas, in this land, forgotten or denied.

4. Even from the money point of view, chapel building in Italy is a wise economy. Take one case as an illustration. In Naples, our preaching place is on the second floor, and to get the one room the entire apartment, of five or six rooms, had to be rented by us. We pay $560, which is the interest, at five per cent. on over $11,000 which sum would almost build a chapel even in that great city.

5. The other denominations at work in Italy, in view of these considerations, are pressing the work of chapel building. The American Methodists propose to build one chapel every year. They have a very good one in Rome, but have bought, in addition, valuable ground in the new quarter, on which they mean to put up a one hundred thousand dollar building. In Milan they have also erected a beautiful church in a central position, and the Waldensians own in that city a valuable and historic ex-Roman Catholic church, bought from the goverment. The free Italian church (Chiesa Libera) and the Wesleyans, in the same place, are almost as well off. We have an ex-beer shop. The Wesleyans are just completing a handsome chapel and school house at La Spezia. In Florence, the Waldensians and the Free Italian church own five buildings. In Naples, the Wesleyans own a property which cost not less than two hundred thousand dollars. And this list of Pedobaptist chapels could be greatly increased. Baptists, American and English, have done something in this direction, but they are behind our Pedobaptist brethren. Shall they remain behind? Will we be believed when we emphasize the importance of our peculiar principles, if people see that with these vaunted principles and our numbers and wealth, we are not, at least, abreast of other christian denominations in liberality and enterprise? Moreover, can we blame Italians if they turn to those Missions which declare in brick and stone that they are here not for a day, but [illegible] till Italy is evangelized? The zeal and wisdom of Romanists might well put us to shame. In every thriving city of the West and Northwest to our shame buys promptly a first rate site and puts up a solid edifice for church and school. With the material progress of the New South, we may be sure that Rome will be on hand, ready everywhere to lay hold of strategic positions. And in Rome, with its nearly four hundred Roman Catholic churches, new ones are building all the time to meet the wants of the growing population and the extension of the city. O, I admire the sagacity, perseverance, generosity of Romanists, and I am amazed at the apathy of us who are at the opposite pole from Romanism and claim to be the nearest of all Christendom to the primitive type of christianity.

Two remarks in conclusion:

1. It is not proposed to build any chapel except where there already exists a church which gives signs of life and promise of growth. If I had the means, I would build now at Cagliari, Bari and in Milan. In a year or two our work at Naples, Florence and perhaps other cities will, no doubt, justify and demand chapels.

2. While a neat chapel is a great help, it does not guarantee success. The hardest and most patient work is neccessary. Above all, our dependence is in the power and presence of the Holy Ghost. Therefore, let every contributor to the chapel Fund, pray that the existing chapels and those yet to be reared, become the birth places of souls, and homes for congregations of true worshipers.

GEO. B. TAYLOR.

Rome, Italy.

Commentaries.

In response to questions from brethren in regard to the best commentaries, we republish a list prepared with great care last year. Dr. Manly, the most widely read of scholars, looked over this list after it was prepared and his suggestions were incorporated. It is a very gratifying fact that these questions came so generally from lawyers and merchants, some of whom wish the commentaries in their own study of the Bible, and some of whom—God bless their generous hearts—wish to make valuable presents to their pastors.

The best "all round" commentary, beyond all comparison, is Matthew Henry. Below is given what we consider the best modern exegetical commentaries, with the price annexed. The various series are composed of commentaries written by different men, and vary greatly in ability and in soundness:

Murphy's Genesis, $3.50.
Murphy's Exodus, $3.
A. Bonar's Leviticus, $1 75.
Lange's Numbers, $3.
Lange's Deuteronomy, $3.
Keil's Joshua, $3.
Lange's Judges and Ruth, $3.
Keil's Samuel, $3
Lange's Kings, $3.
Keil's Chronicles, $3.
Pulpit Commentary on Ezra, Nehemiah and Esther, $2.20 net.
W. H. Green's Job.
Spurgeon's Treasury of David, 7 vols., $2 per vol., $14 a set.
J. A. Alexander's Psalms, $2.
Conant's Proverbs, 2 vols., $6.75.
Moses Stuart's Ecclesiastes, $1.50.
Thrupp's Song of Solomon, $1.50.
J. A. Alexander's Isaiah, $1.50.
Henderson's Jeremiah and Lamentations, $3.50.
Fairbairn's Ezekiel, $4.20.
Barnes' Daniel, $1.50.
Keil's Minor Prophets, 2 vols., $6.
Henderson's Minor Prophets, $3.50.
Broadus' Matthew, $2.25.
Alexander's Mark, $2.
Godet's Luke, paper $2, cloth $3.
Hovey's John, $2.25.
Hackett's Acts, cloth $2.
Hodge's Romans, cloth $1 75.
John Brown's Romans, $2.25.
Hodge's Corinthians, $1.75.
John Brown's Galatians (Clark).
Hodge's Ephesians, $1.75.
The Bible Commentary, vol. 3, cloth $3, net.
John Brown's Hebrews, $6.
Johnston's James, $2.25.
John Brown's Peter, 1 vol., $3 50.
Westcott's John's Epistles, $3.50.
Elliott's Revelation, $1.

—Western Recorder.

LADIES
Needing a tonic, or children who want building up, should take
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, Indigestion, Biliousness and Liver Complaints.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 18, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY,
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

Medicated Throat Bandage
Positively cures Quinsy, Croup, Goitre, Enlarged Tonsils, Catarrh of the Throat, Loss of Voice, Hoarseness and all Diseases of the Throat. A pleasant, portable application, gets at once, performing its work while the patient sleeps. Sent by mail for One Dollar. Testimonials and a treatise on "The Throat and Its Ailments," free to all sending 2c. stamp for postage. Mention this paper. The Physicians' Remedy Co., Charlemont, O.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.

Feb. 10, 1892.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Sandy Run church, West Chowan, $6.50; Bethel ch, Chowan, 15.00; Providence ch, 2.50; Corinth ch, Stanly, 2.00; Rev J B Richardson, 5.00; Sandy Run ch, 5.00; Albemarle ch, Stanly, 75c; Oxford ch, Flat River, 7.23. Total, 48.97.

Foreign Missions—Rose of Sharon ch, Mt Zion, $3.05; Rocky Spring ch, 1.00; W M S, Poplar Springs ch, Tar River, 4.15; New Bethel ch, Vance County, 10.98; Trading Ford ch, So Yadkin, 4.45; Ephesus ch, Tar River, 1.90; Mt Airy ch, 4 80; Rehoboth ch, Tar River, 2.42; Brantley's Grove ch, W Chowan, 15.00; Bethel ch, Montgomery Co, 8.20; Coleraine ch, W Chowan, 15.00; Mt Zion ch, Tar River, 2.55; Ebenezer ch, South Mills, N C, 13.00; Olive Chapel ch, Mt Zion, 5.85; Philadelphia ch, 3.00; Shiloh ch, 2.95; East Bend ch, Yadkin, 4.70; Bethlehem ch, W Chowan, 18.45; Lincolnton ch, 10.00; Island Creek ch, Flat River, 82.89; Sandy Run ch, 15.00; Albemarle ch, Stanly, 2.00; Mt Grove ch, So Fork, 5.00; Oxford, Flat River, 60 07. Total, 207.60.

Home Missions—Shiloh ch, Beulah, $10.00; Milton ch, ditto, 5.75; Providence ch, 2.50; Jonesboro ch, Sandy Creek, 1.80; Gum Spring ch, ditto, 2.42; Sandy Run ch, 5.00; Bear Marsh ch, Eastern 2.50; Mt Grove ch, South Fork, 5.00; Bear Creek ch, 1.25; Oxford ch, Flat River, 13.62. Total, 49.84.

Havana House—Sandy Run ch, W Chowan, $16.50; Antioch ch, So River, 4.01; Buckhorn ch, W Chowan, 9.69. Total, 32.20.

Sunday-schools—S S, Olive Branch church, 82c.

CORRECTION.—In last RECORDER, $2.75, for State Missions, was credited to Kernersville ch, Liberty, when it should have been credited to Waughtown ch, Pilot Mountain.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.

Raleigh, March 26, 1892.

We should like to give a new chimney for every one that breaks in use.

We sell to the wholesale dealer; he to the retail dealer; and he to you.

It is a little awkward to guarantee our chimneys at three removes from you.

We'll give you this hint. Not one in a hundred breaks from heat; there is almost no risk in guaranteeing them. Talk with your dealer about it. It would be a good advertisement for him.

'Pearl top' and 'pearl glass,' our trade-marks—tough glass

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

Will Trexler, a Salisbury boy, was run over and killed by a shifting engine in Asheville last Thursday evening.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $2.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC Co., 389 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Ellen Greenlish of Wilmington committed suicide in that city last Thursday morning by drowning herself in the dock at the foot of Walnut street.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Teachers of Vocal Music.

It will pay you to send me your address at once. W. E. PENN,
Eureka Springs, Ark.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28-30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28-30.
Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5-7.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27-29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27-29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27-29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29-31.
Sandy Creek—Moon's Chapel ch., May 27-29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Female University will be held at 4 p. m., April 12th next, in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh.

W. L. POTEAT, President.

The State Convention of the Y. M. C. A., and the State Prohibition Convention, were both held in Greensboro last week, and were largely attended.

Colds and Coughs croup, sore throat,
bronchitis, asthma, and hoarseness cured by Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
the safest and most effective emergency medicine.
It should be in every family.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co
Lowell, Mass.

SPURGEON
Agents wanted for "Conwell's Life of Spurgeon;" 616 pages beautifully illustrated, $1.50. Agents outfit 30 cts. Liberal inducements offered. Book sent to any address on receipt of price.
FRANKLIN PUBLISHING CO,
Savannah, Ga.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO, 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3209, New York City, N. Y.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Copper and Tin School and Church BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Prices and Terms Free. Name this paper.

W. H. & R. S.
TUCKER & CO.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season,
'92.

DRY GOODS
— AND —
Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.
(Except Furniture and Crockery.)
On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.
RALEIGH, N. C.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS!

A. B. FORREST,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!
If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

Rev. Jesse Howell.

I am sure that the many friends of Rev. Jesse Howell will be gratified to know that his health is very much improved. He is one of the oldest Baptist preachers in North Carolina, and has been for over fifty years a faithful minister of the word.

Bro. Howell filled the pulpit of the Second Baptist church of Durham, on March 13th, at both services. His sermons were a rare treat to all who heard them. They were plain, practical and full of gospel truth. It has been a long time since we have enjoyed two sermons more.

Our work is progressing finely.

Your brother in Christ,

A. A. BUTLER.

Durham, March 19, 1892.

West Chowan S. S. Association.

This body will meet at Aulander church April 12, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Tuesday, 10 a. m. Organization.

10:30 a. m. Address by C. Durham. Subject—"Sunday-school Work."

11:30 a. m. Address by C. W. Scarboro. Subject—"The Model Sunday-school."

General discussion.

Afternoon session, 2 p. m. Song service, led by J. E. Matthews.

3 p. m. Address by C. B. Williams. Subject—"Importance of Sunday-school Training in Developing Christian Character."

General discussion on methods, helps, &c.

Miscellaneous business.

8 p. m. Sermon by Rev. Archibald Cree.

Each Sunday-school in the Association is requested to send delegates.

To the Sunday-schools of the West Chowan Association.

In this issue of the RECORDER you will see notice of a meeting of the West Chowan Sunday-school Association, to be held with the Aulander Baptist church, April 12, 1892. The annual meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention meets in Winston on the 14th. As we have had no regular meeting of our Association, it was thought best to call a meeting prior to the date of the State Convention.

Let each school send one or more representative. Have placed Dr. Durham on the program, and we hope to have him with us on that day to give us a good send-off. We also extend a pressing invitation to Dr. Geo. W. Sanderlin to be with us, and deliver his address on the "Bible in the Sunday-school." If you will honor us with your presence, Doctor, we will make room for you on our program.

C. W. MITCHELL, Chm'n Com.

"For a long time I suffered with stomach and liver troubles, and could find no relief until I began to use Ayer's pills. I took them regularly for a few months, and my health was completely restored."—D. W. Baine, New Berne, N. C.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The date of the Agricultural and Mechanical College commencement is June 15th.

Capt. S. A. Ashe, editor of the News and Observer, is to deliver the memorial address at Wilmington May 10th.

Thieves made one or two raids in this city last week. A grocery store was entered and about twenty-five dollars worth of groceries stolen.

The two ice factories in this city are now under the managment of the Hygienic Ice Manufactoring Co. The company announces that the price of ice will be reduced 25 to 35 per cent.

The trustees of the colored Agricultural and Mechanical College met here last Wednesday, and selected Winston as the permanent location for the College. The citizens of Winston offered $8,000 cash in thirty days, and $3,000 additional in June.

The cotton gin of Mrs. Julia Fisher, a mile east of Raleigh, was destroyed by an incendiary fire on the morning of the 22d, together with its entire contents, consisting of seventeen bales of cotton, a quantity of guano, &c. Loss $3,000; no insurance.

At a meet of the State Board of Pharmacy in this city recently the following persons were licensed as druggists: E. V. Howell, Wake Forest; Mrs. P. B. Keyser, B. K. Keyser, P. B. Keyser, Selma; H. T. Sedberry, Fayetteville; F. W. Parker, Raleigh; Thos. N. Hall, Mooresville.

The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Confederate Veterans Association was in session in this city last week. Col. E. D. Hall of Wilmington, President of the Association made addresses. Delegates from each district and the State at large were appointed to attend the meeting of the United Confederate Veterans at New Orleans, April 8th and 9th. A call was also issued by President Hall requesting that each camp or county or city Association of Confederate Veterans, convene and elect two delegates to represent the organization at the convention to be held in New Orleans.

State News.

The Zinzendorf Winston's elegant new hotel is to be opened May 10th.

The Salem (N. C.) Iron works shipped a saw mill to Alaska one day recently.

The Athletic Association of Wake Forest College has decided to hold "Field Day" April 23d.

The First National Bank of Winston has moved into its new stone front $45,000 building.

The Oxford Day states that three Richmond newspaper men contemplate starting a daily paper at Henderson.

A fire at Warsaw, Sunday night the 20th inst., destroyed a store and its contents, together with four other farm houses.

The Norfolk & Carolina railroad will build a branch road form the main line via Aulander and Windsor to Avoca in Bertie county.

The Southern Life Insurance Company, with an investment department has been organized in Greensboro with an authorized capital of $30,000,000.

The Greensboro Evaporator and Preserving Co., has been organized in Greensboro. The Company will manufacturing and sell the Coleman Evaporator and Drier.

Mr. Millard Trotter is to bring suit against the railroad for damages to the amount of $20,000, for injuries recently received in the wreck near Rural Hall.—Charlotte Chronicle.

The Odd Fellows' Orphanage at Goldsboro has been completed, and will be occupied as soon as furnished. The trustees are to meet on April 11th to elect a superintendent and other officers.

Messrs Hart & Allen, dry goods merchants at Henderson have made an assignment for the benefit of creditors. The assignment also includes the stock of goods of Hart & Lawrence, at Oxford.

A thirteen year old daughter of Mr. Martine Welch, who lives near Bunker Hill was instantly killed on the 19th inst., by a falling tree limb, while swinging with some other children in the woods near their home.

Dan Clayton a young white man, was run over and killed by a train recently near Addie, a small station on the Murphy branch of the W. N. C. railroad. He was on a trestle and attempted to jump, but was struck by the engine.

Deputy revenue collector Massey and a possee made a raid in New Light township Wake county, last week and found and illicit distillery in a cave. A sixty gallon copper still and a lot of liquor was destroyed. The moonshiners were not captured.

John C. Davis, the alleged swindler of certain funds, has been on trial in the criminal court at Wilmington, Judge Meares presiding. On Saturday last, Davis made affidavit of his belief that he could not get a fair and impartial trial before Judge Meares, because he owed the Judge $100, and that the latter had declared that Davis had defrauded him. The Judge indignantly said the affidavit was based on a bald-faced lie, and ordered the removal of the case to the Superior Court.

General News.

Walt Whitman, the poet, is dead.

Mr. D. Lothrop, the great Boston publisher is dead.

Dr. Agnew, the eminent Philadelphia physician and surgeon, is dead.

One train ran into another, at Odin, Ill., on the 23d, injuring seventeen people.

Six persons were killed by an avalanche in the valley of Bios, Northern Italy, recently.

The Baltimore M. E. Conference met in annual session at Harrisonburg, Va., last week.

The great strike on the Canadian Pacific railway has ended, and all the men are to be reinstated.

Roger Q. Mills has been unanimously chosen United States Senator by the Texas Legislature.

New York State appropriates $300,000 to the World's Fair, the State exhibit to be closed on Sundays.

An explosion in a mill at Fredericksburg, Ohio, on the 25th, killed four men and injured several others.

Henry E. Barksdale, a very prominent lawyer of Danville, Va., shot and killed himself at Hot Springs Ark., on the 23d.

Official duties will prevent Gov. McKinney of Virginia from being present at the launching of the Raleigh at Norfolk on the 31st.

The free silver measure before the House of Representatives has been abandoned by its friends, so the latest despatches show.

By the derailment of a train at Sonsonate, Central America, last Wednesday, thirteen persons were killed and thirty-one injured.

The court house in St. Charles, Mo., was nearly destroyed by fire on the 27th inst. The records of the county surveyor were completely destroyed.

Georgia will have no State building at the World's Fair. The money intended for a building will be used to make an imposing display in the main building.

A desperate fight between oystermen took place in Chesapeake bay one day last week. Capt. Dies, commander of one of the oyster boats, was killed, and several others injured.

Burt Smith and Robert Whitaker, cashier and accountant for the commission firm of Lamson Bros., Chicago, have disappeared after swindling their employers out of $60,000.

Edward M. Field, the insane banker charged with wrecking the banking house of Field, Lindley, Welchers & Co., New York city, has been placed in the State Insane Asylum at Buffalo.

J. W. Allison and his son and daughter were knocked off a bridge by a train into Garrison river at Tullahoma, Tenn., on the 23rd inst. The girl was rescued, but the father and boy were drowned.

Do You Suffer with Piles?

You can cure yourself in a few days with our new and simple method of treatment.

Medicine used locally and gives immediate relief. Sent by mail for $1. Special treatment and extra large package of Cure $5. Send stamp for booklet, entitled "How to cure Piles," free to all, containing valuable information never before published. CLEMENS MEDICINE CO., Box 296 Cincinnati, O.

The explosion of a barrel of benzine in a drug warehouse in Amsterdam, Holland on 23d, instantly killed six persons and injured twenty-seven others, some fatally. In addition to the loss of life, four houses were destroyed.

A lighted cigar carelessly thrown among the documents in the folding room of the Capitol at Washington, caused a small fire on the 23d. Loss several thousand dollars. This is the third occurrence of fire during this session.

Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans of Richmond, Va., have unanimously adopted a resolution inviting the members of the Grand Army of the Republic to visit Richmond during their national encampment at Washington.

The police of Paris have recently discovered a regular bomb factory in an anarchist dwelling situated in the St. Dennis quarter of that city. All the articles used in the manufacturing of explosive machines were found, including a quantity of dynamite. Several arrests have been made.

The Behring Sea affair is still in an unsatisfactory condition. The latest news, however, indicate a peaceful settlement of the difficulty. It would be a blot upon civilization for two great governments to go to war over a matter of profits accuing to certain ones interested in the seal fisheries, be they Americans, Canadians or English.

A cablegram from Paris, dated March 25th, says: "The police authorities have been busy to-day receiving the names of people, who have been swindled by Stiassy, the pretended World's Fair commissioner, who published a weekly paper here, as he claimed, in the exhibition, and collected about one hundred thousand francs for space in the fair, which he had no authority to sell."

R. H. Gilliford, chairman of the auditing committee of Alleghany Council, Pittsburg, Pa., has investigated the accounts of the Pittsburg officials, and reports that the accounts of the mayors office, market clerk, superintendent of water-works and health officer have been audited and a deficiency discovered of $350,197.20. The major and market clerk have been imprisoned.

Mr. William St. John, general agent of the Safety Car Heating and Lighting Company of New York is in Wilmington to secure signatures to a petition to Congress to make an appropriation for the purpose of placing gas lighted buoys and beacons along the coast and rivers from Wilmington to Cape Canaveral, Florida, that being the territory embraced in the Sixth Light House district.

The two-masted schooner James A. Fisher which sunk off the coast of Cape May Inlet on the Jersey coast forty-nine years ago and settled into the quicksands, has been found as the result of the fierce storms which recently have swept the coast, and will be floated. The N. Y. Advertiser says that the schooner is in a remarkable state of preservation, not even a bulwark being crushed in, and that the watches, shoes and clothing of the crew are still on board.

A crazy man took possession of the capital in Jackson, Miss., for an hour one day last week. With a big knife in each hand, he defied the officers who attempted to arrest him, and cursed the Legislature. He finally ran out of the building into the street, legislators and State officials fleeing before him. Eventually three policemen succeeded in knocking him down and placing him in prison. The man was recently discharged from an insane asylum as cured.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion & Debility.

MARRIED.

GRIFFITH—RAIBY—On March 2d, 1892, at the residence of the bride's father, in Hertford county, N. C., by Rev. L. M. Curtis, Mr. John G. Griffith and Miss Ella C. Raiby.

DURHAM—LLOYD—At the residence of Dr. H. B. Lloyd, the bride's father, in Orange county, N. C., March 24th, 1892, by Rev. John C. Hocutt, Mr. S. M. Durham and Miss Willie Lloyd.

GALLOWAY—NUTT—On Feb. 24, 1892, in the Mt. Airy Baptist church, by Rev. W. B. Wingate, assisted by Rev. L. Pruett, Mr. J. R. Galloway to Miss Agnes Nutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Nutt, all of Mt. Airy, N. C.

DIED.

SUTTON—Deacon T. J. Sutton of Bethel church, in Perquimans county, died Feb. 19, 1892. He had been a deacon of the church for many years, and had also been superintendent of the Sunday-school.

MRS. T. J. S.

PERRY—Died, in Burlington, N. C., March 14th, 1892, Berlie Blanche, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Perry. Weep not, fond parents, your precious babe is safe in the fold of Jesus. Strive to meet her in heaven.

BREWER—Died, March 2d, 1892, Sue Brewer, aged eleven years. She was an affectionate child, and will be greatly missed by her friends and schoolmates. Weep not, dear parents, she is waiting over on the other shore.

M. E. S.

PUTNAM—On the 21st of March, 1892, Mrs. Z. E. Putnam, died at the residence of his father, John Bridges, near Double Springs church, of which she had been a member for seventeen years. She was a good christian woman, a good wife and mother. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn their loss, together with her father and mother.

J. M. B.

FURGERSON—Mrs. Orpha Furgerson departed this life Feb. 11th, 1892, aged seventy-two years, four months and seventeen days. She professed religion in early life, and joined the Christian church at Pleasant Hill, of which she lived a consistent member up to her death. She was a model christian. No tongue can express what she suffered with cancer, but she bore it with fortitude, and never complained, but said that "My Saviour suffered for me, and we ought to be willing to suffer, for through suffering we are made perfect." She leaves two daughters and five sons to mourn the loss of their mother. One of these sons is Rev. P. A. Furgerson. She was a good mother. To know her was to love her. She was kind to the poor and needy and the sick. She was at her best in her home; there she was known and loved and reverenced as few mothers are. She was possessed of that winning freedom of love that drew all closely to her. On the morning of her death she told the writer that she was enjoying religion, and in a few hours afterward breathed her last. On Friday, the 12th, attended by her children and grandchildren and a host of friends, her remains were carried to Oring Chapel Church and buried.

P. A. F.

LEA—In 1810, in Caswell county, N. C., a son was born, who, under the guiding hand of Providence, became an honor to his parents, an ornament to society, and a true model in gentility, business, purity and liberality. This son, by way of showing respect for, and perpetuating family name, was called Sidney Slade Lea. He received in the high schools of his boyhood days an average business education, which he used, under the blessings of God, in accumulating a very handsome estate—seeking first, though, "the kingdom of God and his righteousness," as the Saviour had commanded; for in his eighteenth year he became very much concerned on the subject of religion, and, under deep conviction of sin, sought and found forgiveness through Jesus, whom he served the remaining sixty-four years of his life, as a faithful member of the Baptist church, constantly growing in the christian graces recommended in the New Testament, which made his life a sweet benediction to all who knew him. The next important event in his life, when quite young, was his marriage to Miss Fannie E. Toria of Virginia, who proved a faithful, loving companion, sharing cheerfully his prosperity and sympathetically his adversities, until Sept. 18, 1886, God called her to precede him by six years to the rest which remaineth for the people of God. From the very day of her death, he seemed to lose all interest in earthly things, and in conversation with his friends often expressed a desire to depart and be with her. For several years he had suffered with softening of the brain, until his mind gave completely away. He was confined to his bed only one week before his death; and when the end came on Friday evening, March 18, 1892, just as the sun was going down behind the western hills, as quietly the sun of his useful life sat in the shades of death, and his spirit went to God who gave it. He was kindly cared for and tenderly nursed in his declining years by the loving hands of his nephew, Mr. T. L. Lea, and his wife, who was an adopted daughter of the deceased, and upon whom he ever looked and loved as an own child in the flesh. Their little son, Jimmie Lea, was devoted to, and staid with, his grandpa, as he called him, up to the hour of his death. Bro. Lea gave liberally all his life, and especially toward the close of it, of his money to Wake Forest College for the education of young men called to the ministry, to the Baptist Orphanage, to Richmond College, and to all the objects of the Baptist State Convention. As a monument to his memory and liberality, the builders of the Laboratory at Wake Forest put a nice marble slab in front of the building, with the names of Sidney S. and Fannie E. Lea on it. What a fit place for their names! there where the youth of our denomination can see them and be inspired to imitate their noble virtues. In giving up this father in Israel, which is hard to do, and in writing these lines about him, which fail to convey what the writer feels, having been the recipient of his kindness, and which falls far short of what deserves to be said about the deceased, I believe he would have said, had he been rational in the hour of death, "I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand. I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day." And that ere this, he has heard from the lips of his dear Lord, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant, thou hast been faith over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." And now, finally, since it must be so, farewell, father, friend and brother; abide in the perpetual sunlight of God's eternal love, till we who loved you here shall meet with you in the home of the redeemed.

J. H. LAMBERTH.

Tributes of Respect.

WHEREAS, An infinite and allwise Heavenly Father has removed by death one more of his children in the person of Jno. F. Hutson, who departed this life March 3d, 1892, from the anxious, active cares and turmoils of this life, to a life of joy, peace and rest in heaven.

Resolved 1. That in the death of our Bro. Hutson this meeting has lost a faithful and loyal member, his church a devout and ardent worshipper, his parents an affectionate son, and his State an honest young citizen.

2d. We bow with humble submission to this dispensation of an unerring Providence in simple faith that our loss is our brother's gain. And to all those he loved best we commend his christian life for your imitation and as a model to guide you over the hills of life.

3. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and that these proceedings be published in the BIBLICAL RECORDER.

Done by order of the young mens' prayer meeting at Love's Creek, Chatham county, N. C.

W. C. TEAGUE,
JNO. A. WALTERS,
S. S. SMITH,
Committee.

Chatham Record please copy.

On Thursday evening, March 10th, 1892, in the fifty-ninth year of his age, while driving his team and wagon loaded with wood, Bro. Robt. B. Harrill was thrown from the top of his load, striking his head against a rocky place, and was instantly killed. His family, church, Sunday-school, and, in the truth, the whole community was sorrow-stricken at the sad intelligence of his sudden transmission into the spirit land. Bro. Harrill was a deacon of the Baptist church at Zoar, Cleveland county, N. C., and he was a model christian. He was humble, meek and mild. Although he was not so clamorous as some christians, he held a bright and shining light after which we all should follow. He was devoted to his christian duties. He was an affectionate father and a true companion. He will be missed not only by his loving wife and dear children, but he will be missed in the church and Sunday-school, for he was ever at his post watching after the lambs. By this we mean the little children, for he made it his duty to watch after them, and not only the children, but all who visited his church and Sunday-school. His funeral services were conducted by Rev. Thos. Dixon, Sr., in the Baptist church at Zoar, in the presence of an immense congregation. Bro. Dixon preached from 2 Peter 3: 9, "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness." A more appropriate passage of Scripture could not have been chosen. Bro. Dixon said he was preaching to the living and not to the dead. The sermon was not only a comfort to relatives and friends, but to all who heard it. Bro. Harrill embraced religion when quite young and united with the Baptist church at Beaver Dam. From Beaver Dam he moved his membership to Zoar, where he remained three years. Then he united with the church at New Hope, in the organization of which he aided, and was a member there four years. From New Hope he came back and united with the church at Zoar, where he remained a faithful and an efficient member till his death. Oh, how sad we felt to hear his dear little babe calling for papa to put it to sleep the night he lay a corpse. But when we remembered the sweet promise in God's word where he says "I will be a father to the fatherless and a husband to the widow," we felt happy to think they were not left alone.

Sleep on, dear brother, sleep sweetly until the resurrection morn; by-and-by we will see you again. Therefore be it

Resolved. That Zoar church, in her expressions about one of its most faithful members, will ever remember the many good deeds done by our deceased brother, and heartily sympathize with the bereaved wife and children. We also desire that these expressions be published in the BIBLICAL RECORDER, the Shelby Review and the Shelby Aurora.

C. G. LOVE,
W. H. TURNER,
L. G. L. TAYLOR,
J. F. C. STACY,
Committee.

Shelby, N. C., March 15, 1892.

There is nothing that may not happen to a thin baby.

There is nothing that may not happen to a man who is losing his healthy weight.

We say they are "poor." They are poorer than we at first suspect.

Do you want almost all that is known of the value of plumpness told in a way to commend to you CAREFUL LIVING—and Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil if you need it.

A book on it free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

Removal Sale.

Goods will be sold at very low prices to reduce stock for removal to the Andrews Building.

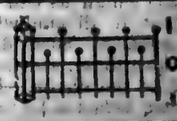
W. H. HUGHES, Raleigh, N. C.

HARVEST BELLS,

round and shape note, by the 100, board bound, only 50c. each; cloth-bound, 60c; words, 14c. A Baptist song book. W. K. PENN, St. Louis, Mo.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Country, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are coming in daily. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION. Miss CARTER, Proprietor. Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, Tenn.



IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE

Easter Music. All Kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. The Model Singer, a New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The Theory and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.00 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price $1.00. King Hezekiah, by Jos. R. Murray. A stirring new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection of this matter, containing the latest and best songs. 128 pages. Price 35 cents. Address all orders to H. R. Danks. Address for opening and closing of services, Shelley. 64 pages. Price 15 cents. Collections of Solos and Duets for Vocal and Instrumental Music. Collections of common Anthems or collections,

THE MUSICAL HERALD. Monthly. Contains volumtaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter. Published monthly. Price 25 cents a year. Sample copy free. Liberal terms to clubs.

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Read & Noon Music Co., The Arch Street Music House, 1306 Arch St., Philadelphia.

The Home Circle.

God's Ways.

God's ways are not like human ways,
He wears such strange disguises;
He tries us by his long delays,
And then our faith surprises.
While we in unbelief deplore,
And wonder at his staying,
He stands already at the door,
To interrupt our praying.

He takes his leader from the Nile,
Where mother-hands have laid him;
Hides him in palaces the while,
Till he has right arrayed him.
He sends him to the desert's hush,
With flocks and herds to wander;
Then meets him in the burning bush,
New mysteries to ponder.

Why should we doubt his care or grace,
As though he had forgotten?
As though time's changes could efface
What love had once forgotten?
As though he'd lost us from his thought,
And moved on now without us,
Whose love has always goodness wrought,
And constant been about us!

—Congregationalist.

My Neighbor's Boy.

HE GETS UP EARLY AND MAKES AN AWFUL NUISANCE OF HIMSELF.

I always make it a rule to get along with with my neighbors without engaging in any belittering quarrels or disputes with them, says a writer in the Detroit Free Press. I will put up with a good deal before I will descend to the vulgarity of a quarrel with any one, and I don't intend having a row with any one now, but if my neighbor's boy should disappear suddenly and never be heard of any more, or if he should be found with his neck broken, I will perhaps have been at the bottom of it all, and no honest jury in the land will do anything with me for it.

The boy is ten years old. His name is Horace Walpole Gladstone Smith, but they call him "Teddy." He has taken to getting up at five o'clock these fine mornings, and his parents encourage him in such idiocy by bragging around "how smart our little Teddy is."

Ten minutes after Teddy is up he is racing along in front of my house, drawing a stick over the pailings of the fence under my bedroom window. Then he walks up and down singing "I want to be an angel." He knows but one line of it, and he screeches that out over and over again until—well, you know what I wish as I lay in bed, gnashing my teeth, with no hope of getting my beloved morning snooze.

By-and-by, at about 5:30, he brings out a wagon made out of a wooden box and four creaking, wabbling, solid wooden wheels, and he races up and down the wooden pavement, dragging that noisy loathsome thing after him. Then he gets under my open bedroom window and begins screeching to a boy who lives half a block away:

"Jimmy! O o-o-h Jim! Say, Jim Jones I'm up and you a i i i n't!"

Then he goes through a series of yells, cat-calls, and dog-barks, ending with frightful singing of "Annie Rooney."

This is followed by another wildly screeched out taunt to Jimmy Jones.

"S a a y, Jim! Beat ye up! I've beat ye up, sleepy head! O o o-o-h, Jim!"

You thrust your head out of a window and say coldly:

"Stop that noise!"

He looks up at you placidly and says:

"I guess I can make all the noise I want to in my father's own yard, so I can." And he makes more noise than before, while you bounce back to bed feeling pretty sure that the command to "love thy neighbor as thyself" did not mean thy neighbor's boy.

Learning to Walk.

People sometimes ask, at what age can we seat a child in a chair; when put him on his legs; how old must he be before we teach him to walk? The answers are easy. He must not be made to sit till he has spontaneously sat up in his bed and has been able to hold his seat. This sometimes happens in the sixth or seventh month, sometimes later. The sitting position is not without danger, even when he takes it himself; imposed prematurely upon him, it tires the backbone and may interfere with the growth, so the child should never be taught to stand or to walk. That is his affair, not ours. Place him on a carpet in a healthy room or in the open air, and let him play in freedom, roll, try to go ahead and feet, or go backward, which he will do more successfully at first, it all gradually strengthens and hardens him. Some day he will manage to get upon them, and then to raise himself up against the chairs. He thus learns to do all he can as fast as he can, and no more.

But, they say, he will be longer in learning to walk if he is left to go on his knees or his hands and feet indefinitely. What difference does it make if, exploring the world in this way, he becomes acquainted with things, learning to estimate distances, strengthens his legs and back, prepares himself, in short, to walk better when he gets to walking? The important thing is, not whether he walks, now or then; but that he learn to guide himself, to help himself, and to have confidence in himself. I hold, without exaggeration, that education of the character is going on at the same time with training in locomotion, and that the way one learns to walk is not without moral [illegible]. —Popular Science Monthly.

Golden Threads.

[illegible] chilling blasts of winter [illegible] and they fall. So does it affect the [illegible], and if precautionary measures [illegible], being chilled is followed [illegible]. Taylor's Cherokee Remedy [illegible] and Malaria kill coats coughs,

The Wonders of our Country.

If we would cease to depend so much upon other countries for our models of life and thought, we would have taken the first step towards the Americanism which should be, but is not, ours. We read a vast amount of the wonders of foreign lands; but very few writers—and still fewer reliable ones—tell us of the marvelous secrets of our own. Every intelligent youth knows that there are boomerang-throwers in Australia; but how many are aware that there are thousands of natives in the United States just as expert with the magic club as are the bushmen? All have read of the feats of the jugglers of India; but how many know that there are as good Indian jugglers within our own boundaries? How many young Americans could say, when some traveler recounted the exploits of the famous snake-charmers of the Orient, "Why, yes; we have tribes of Indians in this country whose trained charmers handle the deadliest snakes with impunity," and go on to tell the facts in the case? How many know that there are Indians here who dwell in huge six-story tenements of their own building? How many know that the last witch in the United States did not go up in cruel smoke above old Salem, but that there is still within our borders a vast dominion wherein witchcraft is fully believed in?—Charles F. Lummis, in December St. Nicholas.

Cures For Fits.

1. For a fit of passion: Walk out in the open air. You may speak your mind to winds without hurting any one or proclaiming yourself a simpleton.

2. For a fit of idleness: Count the ticking of the clock. Do this for one hour, and you will be glad to pull off your coat the next hour, and work like a slave.

3. For a fit of extravagance and folly: Go to the workhouse and speak to the inmates of a jail, and you will be convinced

Who makes his bed of brier and thorn,
Must be content to lie forlorn.

4. For a fit of ambition: Go into a church-yard and read the gravestones. They will tell you the end of ambition. The grave will soon be your bed chamber, the earth your pillow, corruption your father and the worm your mother and sister.

5. For a fit of despondency: Look on the good things which God has given you in this world, and to those which he has promised his followers in the next. He who goes into his garden to look for cobwebs and spiders, no doubt will find them; while he who looks for a flower, may return into his house with one blooming in his bosom.

For all fits of doubt, perplexity and fear: Whether they respect the body or the mind: whether they are a load to the shoulders, the head or the heart, the following is a radical cure which may be relied on, for we have it from the great Physician: "Cast thy burden on the Lord, and He will sustain thee."

For fits of repining: Look about for the halt and the blind; and visit the bed-ridden and the afflicted and deranged, and they will make you ashamed of complaining of your lighter afflictions.—Dr. J. B. Taylor.

Indigestion! Miserable! Take Beecham's pills.

Definitions of Bible Terms.

A gerah was a cent.
A cab was three pints.
An omer was six pints.
A shekel of gold was $8.
A firkin was eleven pints.
A farthing was seven cents.
A talent of gold was $18,809.
A talent of silver was $538.30.
Ezekiel's reed was nearly eleven feet.
A cubit was nearly 22 inches.
A bin was one gallon and two pints.
A mite was less than a quarter of a glass.
A shekel of silver was about fifty cents.
A piece of silver, or a penny was 13 cents.
A Sabbath day's journey was about an English mile.
An ephah, or bath, contains seven gallons and five pints.
A finger's breath is equal to one inch.—Hebrew Standard.

For My Sake.

These three little word are the touchstone of love. The application of this touchstone begins with infancy and ends only with the end of life. If that baby in its mother's arms could speak intellectually it would say: "It is for my sake that a mother's eye watches unsleeping through the midnight hours, and her arms hold me until they are ready to drop off for weariness." "For my sake" many a successful man acknowledges gratefully that his parents toiled and economized in order to buy books and pay college bills. "For my sake" provides the sheltering roof and the arm chair for dear old grandma and the fireside. Take these words out of our language and you would rob home of its sweetness and human life of its noble aspirations.—Selected.

Do Keep Clean.

It has been often said that the scratch of a finger nail is poisonous; there is, however, no reason to suppose that the danger lurks in the finger nail itself, but rather in what it conceals. According to the British Medical Journal, the examination of the dirt under seventy-eight finger nails, made in the laboratories of Vienna, revealed thirty-six kinds of micrococci and eighteen of bacilli. It is therefore the deposit of these germs in the wound made by the nail that works the mischief. Cleanliness is always physical [illegible], and, very often, it is physical salvation.—Exchange.

SPECIAL MENTION.

If you have no appetite, indigestion, headache, "all run down" or losing flesh, you will find the remedy you need. They give tone to the stomach, strength to the body, brilliancy to the complexion and healthful enjoyment of daily life. Their action is mild and does not interfere with any employment. Price, 25c. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y.

TUTT'S Tiny Liver Pills

PASTOR KOENIGS NERVE TONIC

A Happy Orphan. XI

KENTON CO., KY., Oct. 9, '90.

In our orphan asylum here there is a 15-year-old child that had been suffering for years from nervousness to such an extent that she ofttimes in the night got up, and with fear depicted on every feature and in a delirious condition, would seek protection among the older people from an imaginary pursuer, and could only with great difficulty be again put to bed. Last year Father Koenig while on a visit here happened to observe the child, and advised the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic, and kindly furnished us several bottles of it. The first bottle showed a marked improvement, and after using the second bottle and up to the present time the child is a happy and contented being. All those suffering from nervousness should seek refuge in Father Koenig's Nerve Tonic.

REV. B. HILLEBRAND, St. John's Asylum.

FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.

In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

Electronoise (TRADE MARK)

SIMPLE IN CONSTRUCTION. PERMANENT IN DURATION. EASILY APPLIED. ITS SKILFUL USE QUICKLY LEARNED.

The Electropoise is an Instrument for the Cure of Disease Without Medicine.

BASED on new theories of the cause and cure of disease, it deals with the electrical and magnetic conditions of the body and the gases surrounding it in the atmosphere, controlling these conditions at will. It is not electricity. DISEASE is simply impaired vitality. The Electropoise constantly adds to the vitality and only assists nature, in nature's way, to throw off the trouble.

A 40-page book, describing treatment and containing testimonials from all sections, and for the cure of all diseases, mailed free on application. Address

ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO., Washington, D. C. Charleston, S. C. Atlanta, Ga.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

FREE SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, that beautiful magazine for boys and girls. It is the handsomest Young Peoples' Magazine in America. It has become a welcome visitor to thousands of boys and girls. No pains or expense is spared to make it attractive. Each number contains a volume of interesting reading for Young Folks. Short and continued stories, out-door sports, new games, and in fact everything to interest boys and girls. Twenty-eight pages and cover, each page is handsomely illustrated. It is the "Queen of the South," "The Pet of every Home Circle," and no boy or girl can afford to be without it.

To see it is to want it and to have it for six months or a year is a continual enjoyment for all the family. We want every boy or girl who has not seen this charming magazine to send us seven one-cent stamps at once for a sample copy, or better still, if you will send us One Dollar we will send you Southern Sunbeams one year and make you a present of "Cooper's Leather Blocking Tube." Five great works in one large volume, free of all cost. The works of this celebrated author are known among boys and girls wherever the English language is spoken. They are the monument of an era of our history that has passed away forever. While exciting and interesting they are pure and moral in tone. We are going to give the whole five stories complete. The Deerslayer, Last of the Mohicans, The Pathfinder, The Pioneers and the Prairie to every boy or girl who subscribes to Southern Sunbeams for one year. We do this to advertise our beautiful magazine, so all who take advantage of this wonderful offer will tell their friends, and in this way we will gain many new subscribers. Don't delay, this offer will not last long. Send in your subscription today and secure these five splendid stories and an excellent magazine one year.

TO BOYS AND GIRLS

Mention what paper you saw this advertisement in. Address SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, 201 Sth, Atlanta, Ga. REFERENCES, Any business house in the city of Atlanta.

SPECIAL CUT PRICE SAMPLE OFFERS.

BUGGIES CARTS and HARNESS at Half Price.

$9.50 $27.50 $47.50 $35.00

We sell the best and all more than all our competitors and are still ahead and known as LEADERS OF LOW PRICES

$30 Open Buggy	$27.50	$100 Top Carriage	$47.50
$60 Top Buggy	35.00	$25 Buggy Harness	14.75
$20 1 Man Cart	9.50	A Good Harness	1.10

If you want to save a chance to buy a $100 Leather Top Buggy with Leather Trimmings, Rubber Tires, Steel Axles and Tire for $43.50, all goods warranted and tested before it leaves the Factory. We sell for Cash only and have no losses, therefore undersell all our competitors. We will ship to your station with privilege to examine before paying. Buy of Factory, and save middleman's profit.

Write at once for No. 6 FREE Catalogue.

"I. K. MILLER, Medalia, Mo., writes: 'The $43.50 Buggy received in perfect shape and O. K. The $13.75 Harness are more than some sold there at $25.00.' Such letters received every day.

U. S. BUGGY & CART CO. NO. 6 LAWRENCE ST., CINCINNATI, O

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

Look About the House!

And you will find that of all the presents made last Christmas, those which hold out longest and give the most pleasure, are

Books

And thus it will ever be; therefore let your gifts this year to children, kindred, friends, and all whom you most esteem be an appropriate BOOK. We have a magnificent selection of all the

New and Beautiful Books

for the holidays, and can fill your orders by mail promptly. Tell us about what you want, the price you want to pay, and we will make a selection that

WILL SUIT YOU EXACTLY!

Make Your Orders Early.

ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO.,
PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS, RALEIGH, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS, WAGON-MAKERS, PAINTERS, MILL-MEN —AND— SPORTSMEN'S SUPPLIES.

HARDWARE,

LIME, PLASTER, CEMENT, HAIR, NAILS, SASH, DOORS, BLINDS.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

Paints, Oils, COLORS, GLASS, BELTING, PACKING, FILES, IRON AND STEEL.

Raleigh, N. C.

BELLOWS, VISES, ANVILS.

Best Goods. Low Prices.

SQUARE DEALING.

SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S COTTON HOES.

The Old Original.

The Best. —— The Best.

Farming Implements. SHOVELS, SPADES, RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

"All Right," "Cotton King," AND OTHER Cook Stoves and Ranges.

HARDWARE, BUILDING MATERIAL, LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT, Paints, Oils and Varnishes.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO., RALEIGH, N. C.

THE BAPTIST BOOK AND

Sunday-school Supply Store.

All profits go to Sunday-school Missions. Make Orders now for Second Quarter.

SONG BOOKS—"The Choice," by Basil Manly, is the best. Try it. Music, boards, by mail, 40 cts; words only, by mail, 12 cts.

MISSIONS—A new book. "William Carey—beginnings in Modern Missions." Is the best. Try it. In cloth, by mail, 35 cents. Address,

REV. C. DURHAM, 113 Fayetteville St., Raleigh, N. C.

BALTO. 1864 SADLER'S BRYANT AND STRATTON COLLEGE

FOUNDED 1864 by the present Executive—Occupies four buildings—Unrivalled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. The outlook for is most favorable for business opportunities. The demand for our graduates is unprecedented. No vacation; pupils can enter at any time with equal advantages. Never attend a school because the tuition is cheap, for CHEAP is very dear; it means cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and often NO opportunities by securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This school, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in business more young men and women from Md., Va., W. Va., N. C. and Ga. than all similar institutions combined. Catalogue and particulars mailed. W. H. SADLER, Pres.—P. A. SADLER, Secy, BALTIMORE, MD.

The New Year

B

Volume 57

The Biblic

PUBLISHED EV

O

118 (up stairs) Fayett

TERMS OF

One copy, one year...
One copy, six months
Clubs of ten (copy ext

Anonymous comm their way to the waste
In sending letters of essary that you give y
The date on the la
when your subscriptio
a receipt for your mon
Obituaries, sixty wo charge. When they for each word must be When writing to ha state the postoffice at as well as the one to w
Remittances must Postoffice Order, Pos payable to the order o
stamps.

International

April 10,

THE K

Motto Text—"Bless trust in him."—Psalm

Psalm first, whic presents us a pictu blesses and contra godly in this wo sent of Christ. It stanzas with three

The second Psa lesson, draws a co
of the two classes, or the ungodly, a
"sitteth in the he godly amid all the earth and the ma
tions of their enem of four stanzas o twice the length o
The first stanza the ravings and pl
and the insolence

"Why do the h ple imagine a vai earth set themsel counsel together, against his Anoin their bands asun cords from us."

The second stan how their conduc and how he will but noisy rebellio

"He that sitt laugh: the Lord s
Then shall he sp and vex them in have I set my K Zion."

The third stan
lication of Jehov
Son, his open ac
the promise that his boasting adv
earth for his inhe
asks for it:

"I will declar said unto me, T have I begotten shall give thee t
tance, and the u for thy possessio with a rod of iro pieces like a pot

The fourth st exhortation to earth, in view o to serve the Lo
Son and obtain from putting th

"Be wise no instructed, ye the Lord with bling. Kiss th ye perish from kindled but a that put their t

Those that t
1st. Because all judgment i authority over Who hath hard prospered? Hi to protect them
2d. Because vide for them own Son but how shall he n us all things?"
3d. Because instruct and us, who can b fore, be wise, wisdom which who will guid
the Son," sur accept the te and love that

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1892. Number 40.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

118 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

International Bible Lessons, 1892.

April 10, 1892—Psalm 2

THE KING IN ZION.

Motto Text—"Blessed are all they that put their trust in him."—Psalm 2: 12.

Psalm first, which we studied last Sunday, presents us a picture of the man whom God blesses and contrasts the godly with the ungodly in this world and at the judgment seat of Christ. It is a beautiful song of two stanzas with three verses in each.

The second Psalm, which is our to day's lesson, draws a contrast between the rulers of the two classes, the rulers of the heathen or the ungodly, and the King in Zion who "sitteth in the heavens" and rules over the godly amid all the storms and tempests of earth and the machinations and combinations of their enemies. It is a composition of four stanzas of three verses each—just twice the length of the first.

The first stanza (verses 1, 2, 3,) presents the ravings and plottings of God's enemies, and the insolence of their threats:

I.

"Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? The kings of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord, and against his Anointed, saying, Let us break their bands asunder, and cast away their cords from us."

The second stanza (verses 4, 5, 6,) describes how their conduct is regarded by Jehovah and how he will treat them in their puny but noisy rebellion:

II.

"He that sitteth in the heavens shall laugh: the Lord shall have them in derision. Then shall he speak unto them in his wrath, and vex them in his sore displeasure. Yet have I set my King upon my holy hill of Zion."

The third stanza (verses 7, 8, 9,) is a publication of Jehovah's decree concerning his Son, his open acknowledgment of him and the promise that he shall overthrow all of his boasting adversaries and have the whole earth for his inheritance and possession if he asks for it:

III.

"I will declare the decree: the Lord hath said unto me, Thou art my Son; this day have I begotten thee. Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy possession. Thou shalt break them with a rod of iron: thou shalt dash them in pieces like a potter's vessel."

The fourth stanza (verses 10, 11, 12,) is an exhortation to the kings and judges of the earth, in view of this decree, to act wisely, to serve the Lord, to make peace with the Son and obtain that blessing which comes from putting their trust in him:

IV.

"Be wise now therefore, O ye kings: be instructed, ye judges of the earth. Serve the Lord with fear, and rejoice with trembling. Kiss the Son, lest he be angry, and ye perish from the way, when his wrath is kindled but a little. Blessed are all they that put their trust in him."

Those that trust in Christ are blessed:

1st. Because the Father hath committed all judgment into his hands and given him authority over all principalities and powers. Who hath hardened himself against him and prospered? His followers have infinite power to protect them.

2d. Because they have infinite love to provide for them. "He that spared not his own Son but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?" (Rom. 8: 32.)

3d. Because they have infinite wisdom to instruct and direct them. "If God be for us, who can be against us?" "Now therefore, be wise, O ye kings"—wise with the wisdom which comes from the great Teacher who will guide you unto all truth. "Kiss the Son," surrender your arms of rebellion, accept the terms of peace and protection and love that he offers, and "serve the Lord with fear." "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom," &c.

4th. Because those who put their trust in him have all their sins forgiven and a home of eternal blessedness and glory promised them.

It is wicked folly to spend our lives in activities and anxieties about things which we can enjoy but for a few years at the expense honors and riches and pleasures that endure forever and in rebellion against the Judge and Ruler of the whole earth, for such favor as one whose frettings and plottings excite only the laughter of God whom he opposes.

Diocletian, incited by Galerius who filled his mind with reports of conspiracies and seditions, and by the heathen priesthood throughout the Roman empire, undertook in 303, by pulling down their churches, burning their sacred books, and handing the christians over to their enemies to be tortured and massacred in manners too hideous to describe, to root out the christian religion from the earth. Spurgeon tells us in "The Treasury of David," that a medal was struck by Diocletian which still remains bearing the inscription. "The name of christians being extinguished," and in Spain there were two monumental pillars on which were written: "I. Diocletian Jovian Maximian Herculeus Cæsaris Augusti, for having extended the Roman Empire in the East and the West, and for having extinguished the name of christians who brought the Republic to ruin." "II. Diocletian Jovian Maximian Hercules Cæsares Augusti, for having adopted Galerius in the East, for having everywhere abolished the superstition of Christi, for having extended the worship of the gods." The vanity of Diocletian's boast is apparent from the following statistics:

In A. D. 1000, there were fifty millions of christians, averaging a gain a 50,000 a year for one thousand years.

In A. D. 1500, they had increased to 150,000,000, averaging a gain of 100,000 a year for five hundred years.

In A. D. 1800, they numbered 200,000,000, averaging 450,000 a year for three hundred years and doubling in that time.

In A. D. 1880, they numbered 415,000,000, averaging per year 2,688,000 and doubling in eighty years.

For the circumstances under which David composed this Psalm, read 2 Sam. 10. For a New Testament exposition of it, read Acts 4: 24—30, which contains the song of the Apostles when Peter and John were released from prison.

[Published by request]

Policy in the Pulpit.

BY REV. N. S. JONES, SALISBURY, N. C.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth."—2 Tim. 2: 15.

The subject of my discourse could be treated from different standpoints, but I wish to consider it in particular from one definition of the word policy, meaning management or administration, based on temporal or material interest, rather than on principals of equity and honor.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God." The apostle recognized the fact that there is no other position of trust that has ever been committed to man that is so sacred as the duties of the pulpit. It is the place from whence comes the law of the eternal God, and when we fully realize its sacred responsibilities we are made to feel the force of the enquiry, "who is sufficient for these things." It was in the face of this great responsibility that the apostle felt the need of divine wisdom and power.

This gospel that we preach is a savor of life unto life or of death unto death. It is the pivot upon which the destiny of every man hangs, and God's ministers should be careful that they give no uncertain sound. It is not the surface of life that we deal with, but it is the eternal destiny of the soul, and this should be thoroughly impressed upon the heart of every one that would stand between God and man. "Let thy garments be always white." It was the inspiration that Paul caught on his way to Damascus that followed him through life. He caught the Spirit of Christ so thoroughly that he conferred not with flesh and blood, but the cry of his soul was, "What must I do Lord?" And the Lord did for him what he will do for every true and faithful minister. In his ignorance, he was his wisdom; in weakness, his strength; in distress, his joy; and in death, his life. It was this same inspiration and zeal that he would have Timothy, his son in the ministry, to possess; and amid the closing scenes of his life he wrote these words of wisdom, "Study to show thyself approved unto God." It is to him we are responsible, and by him we shall be judged.

It is the man of deep conviction and principle, and not selfish policy, that the world needs in her pulpits; men of nerve, who would rather have the approval of God than all the flattery the world can lay at their feet.

In this restless age, when men court fame and flattery perhaps more than in any age of the past, we need to guard the sacred desk with a jealous zeal. The very atmosphere around us becomes poisoned with policy; we breathe it in society, in the counting-room, and in all business circles of life; and it is no wonder that our pulpits should become contaminated. No true minister has ever stepped upon the sacred platform who has not felt that the conflict before him and within him was mighty. He marches out upon the field of battle as a leader of the grandest army the world has ever known. The enemy stands before him often quivering with fear of the host of the Almighty. His terms of compromise are offered, but the command comes from the great head of the line, "Thou shalt make no compromise, for I am the Lord God Almighty, and every knee shall bow and every tongue confess." The fatal mistake in the life of Saul was when he had the approval of man, but not of God. The cattle were spared and the king was spared, but Saul marched from the conquest and field of victory amid the shouts of his army, and with the approval of man, but he had not shown himself approved unto God. It is better to die right, with the contempt of the world, than to live a godless and unfaithful life, with her flattery and smiles.

Perhaps there is no man that is brought more thoroughly in contact with human nature than the minister. Paul says, "I become all things to all men." Now to have this adaptability and always be conscientious and void of selfish policy, is not an easy thing to do.

I do not propose to make any excuse for the preacher, yet we should never lose sight of the fact that he is human and not divine. He has his faults, with his appetites and passions, his likes and dislikes; he is only a man after all. The dignity of his office we admit is peculiar to himself, and should be held as sacred. Perhaps no man is oftener placed in a position where it is more difficult to clearly define the line between right and unselfishness than he. It is frequently that trouble arises between some of his flock—perchance it may be between the rich and the poor, or men of less or greater influence. It is generally the case that the minister has to take a position in such matters. He that preaches the gospel lives of the gospel. The poor or uninfluential may be right, yet it may be hard to decide; but it must be done. Policy would say while you are certain the poor man is right, everybody else is not, and he never pays, and perhaps never can pay, anything to your support. It is now that our human and selfish nature appeals to us that it be gratified. Under such circumstances it takes a man of nerve and religion to decide on principle of right instead of policy. God cannot approve the wrong.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God." It is a source of great pleasure to have all men love us, but our Lord says the world will hate you because you are not of the world. If you were of the world the would love you, because the world will love its own. Paul might have passed through Philippi without being made a prisoner had he used more policy and less principle. When he sat by the river and taught the women that resorted thither, Lydia was converted, and there was no trouble, perhaps. Lydia ran her own business, and in her conversion no man's business had been interfered with; but when the damsel that brought her masters much gain by soothsaying was converted, Paul and Silas were in trouble. They were brought before the magistrates with the accusation, "These men do exceedingly trouble our city," and the multitude rose up together against them. Policy might have offered a compromise, but principle bore the stripes and the imprisonment, and sang praises to God until the prison walls were shaken and God's faithful servants were delivered. Policy in the pulpit often fails to attack the places of vice and crime and the business that is destroying more of our young men, putting shame and disgrace into more homes, breaking the hearts of more mothers and wives, making more widows and orphans, than all the wars and famines of the world. When shall we hope to be sheltered by a law that will not recognize any business that the law of God does not approve? When we see wickedness in high places we should cry aloud and spare not. We may often incur the ill feeling of men if we denounce their business, but we must do it, for God has given us the armour, and we must not prove traitors nor false to our trust.

The minister should not be ashamed of his work. "A workman that needeth not to be ashamed." When we have the approval of God it is an inspiration to look back upon our work and not be ashamed. It is the servant that has not done his duty that feels ashamed for his Master to look upon his work. Policy will often put friends by our side and dollars in our pockets, but can the minister of God afford to be bought and sacrifice his sense of duty for a few perishable dollars, or friends that will leave him when he needs them most. Paul seems to have had no regrets along this line, for he kept the faith. There is no account of the great and noble of the world lavishing their homage and praise upon him as he passed into eternity. He died a prisoner, and without the great funeral procession, but he died a prisoner of the Lord, and was not ashamed of the work he had done. His life and labors have always proved an inspiration to the ministry, for in him we see a man clothed with the spirit and power of God. Paul says, "I have kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, but have shown you and have taught you publicly, and from house to house, testifying both to Jews and also to the Greeks repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. Now I go bound in the spirit to Jerusalem not knowing the things that shall befall me there, save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city that bonds and afflictions wait for me. But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry which I have received of the Lord Jesus to testify the gospel of the grace of God, and now behold ye shall see my face no more, wherefore I take you to record this day that I am pure from the blood of all men, for I have not shunned to declare unto you all the council of God." It must have been a source of great rejoicing to the apostle to feel that he had been faithful in preaching the gospel; and now as he goes up to Jerusalem he goes with the confidence that he is not ashamed of the record that he leaves behind. It is the keeping back that often spoils the usefulness of the minister. The world will always admire the conscientious, fearless man of God, the man who has convictions and is not ashamed nor afraid to defend them. A minister should so acquit himself upon every field of labor that he may look back over it with a sense of pride, and not shame. We frequently hear the expression, "He killed himself." How can God's faithful minister kill himself anywhere? If we will thoroughly look into such cases we will see that it was policy and not principle that killed the man if he is dead, and when this is not true he is not dead, but living in the hearts and respect of every good and true man. The effort is often made to make it appear that men are dead when they are not, it is done by their enemies because they hate them. It is the sword that cuts both ways that men dread; and when it is handled by one of God's faithful, fearless soldiers, it will divide men from their sins and the work will be done, and the workman will not be ashamed. "Study to show thyself a workman approved unto God that needeth not be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." It was when Jesus stood before Pilate saying, "To, this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world that I should bear witness unto the truth; every one that is of the truth heareth my voice. Pilate said, "What is truth?" Christ did not answer this question in words, but the very essence and power of truth itself stood before him.

It is this word of truth that has been committed to us that we may rightly divide it; and in its division is needed the greatest amount of wisdom. It cannot be divided among all men alike. The division should be free from selfish policy, but there must always be wisdom and prudence.

The apostle tells us that some cannot take the strong meat, but must be fed with milk. "To the Greek I am a Greek, to the Jew I am a Jew; I become all things to all men that I might by all means save some." This truth is abundantly adapted to the whole human family, and it only needs to be handled by wise, prudent and godly men; and there need be no principle of right sacrificed in applying it to all men. If there is any man who should thoroughly understand human nature, it is the man who would handle the sword of the Spirit. It is the business of the physician to know the mechanism of the human body, and he would not dare use the knife without knowing the position of every artery and vein. He must know where and how to begin. So should the minister study the man, and be able to read his nature and disposition, that he may know just how, where and when to attempt the operation upon which eternal life or eternal death depends. It was this wonderful divine insight that we see in the life of Christ while among men. He knew Nathaniel while he prayed under the fig tree as one in whom there was no guile. He knew the self-reliance there was in Peter, and allowed Satan to sift him as wheat. He knew the faithlessness of Thomas, and gave him the keenest reproof, and drew from him the strongest declaration of faith, "My Lord and my God."

Now, if any lack wisdom let him come to God who giveth liberally. We are often at a loss to know how to approach some men, but if it is the soul's desire to do the man good, and ask God to help you, he will do it, and write the man's life upon his face so you can read and administer his truth wisely. Surely Christ possessed such powers, and if he would have us to handle his truth for his own glory and for the redemption of our fallen race, he will give us of his Spirit and wisdom; and then we shall divide the truth, and the truth shall make men free. Unto him who is worthy let us be faithful and true, and "study to show ourselves approved unto God workmen that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." And unto him be glory and power and dominion, both now and forever, amen.

[Reproduced, by request, from the RECORDER of September 1, 1886.]

John—Chap. 3: Verse 5.

In the Sunday-school lesson of April 15, "born of water" was enterpreted as meaning baptism. In the RECORDER of August 11th an article is copied from the Baptist Review holding the same view. I am persuaded from anxious study of the passage under such teachers as the late Rev. Thomas R. Owen and Mark Bennett, who derived their notions from a study of the Scriptures, that there was no reference to baptism either directly or remotely in the whole of the discourse of the Saviour with Nicodemus. His inquiry was about the plan of salvation, and Christ went to the root of the matter at once by saying, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." Nicodemus' reply of astonishment, "How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born?" shows that was something never heard of before (baptism was a common rite by this time). Jesus answered, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, except a man be born of water and of the spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God." Only two births are mentioned, denoted by "born again" and "enter a second time into his mother's womb and be born." If Jesus meant by "born of water" to refer to baptism, he would have declared the necessity of baptism for salvation, and enunciated the doctrine of baptismal regeneration.

The sixth verse continues the argument, "that which is born of flesh is flesh, that which is born of spirit is spirit," and if a third birth was intended to be referred to "by water," the Saviour's reasoning would be run into the absurdity of that which is born of water is water. "Born of water" must be another expression to indicate the natural birth, for certainly it cannot be for the spiritual birth, as Christ was only contrasting the natural and spiritual birth or only two births. Nor would it have been attended with any wonder to the mind of Nicodemus for Christ to have said "be baptized and enter into the kingdom of God." Nor would it have been necessary to say, "Marvel not that I say unto thee ye must be born again." Christ further shows it is a matter that cannot be explained to the natural comprehension any more than can be explained whence the winds come or go, and that it is therefore a matter of experience. Just as being born naturally we understand natural things, so to understand spiritual things we must be born into a new existence or spiritual. If born of water means anything else than the natural birth, then "born again" does not express all the births, for then he would be born more than "again," and this is the reason the papists who construe "born of water" into baptism, almost always quote the passage "born again of water and spirit." And further, and might say conclusively, too, baptism is not a birth at all, it is a burial, the very antipode of birth—the putting away of a dead body—and, according to our notion, the person must be born again—regenerated, converted, dead to sin, and alive to righteousness before he can be baptized.

In the 1st Epistle of John, 5th chapter, 6th verse, he says, "This is he that cometh by water and blood, even Jesus Christ; not by water only, but by water and blood," and in the 13th verse he uses "born of blood," which is in reference to his pedigree, or genealogy, and "came by water" is explained to be his natural birth, the Apostle was then proving Christ's humanity, and to prove his divinity John cites three witnesses, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Spirit, and to prove his humanity, he cites the spirit (of a man), the water (natural birth) and the blood (genealogy).

Might it not have been possible that Jesus knew that according to the learning of the Gnostics, that water was regarded as the mother of all things, and hence that in speaking of the natural birth to the learned Jew, he should have used the term "born of water." Or further, can we not argue that in making the contrast between the natural and spiritual, he might have referred to the water birth as that which brought in a transitory existence and the spiritual as that which would endure as coming from heaven? But I hardly think it necessary to suppose enough is written in the Book of the argument to give its meaning.

The expositions favoring the "baptism" idea must be the learning of the adherents of baptismal regeneration, creeping into the views of our scholars from over-familiarity with their works. I do not mean to get into any controversy, but what I have written is to the end that some of our scholars, not too much wedded to commentators, may investigate from the Bible and the reason of the thing, and see "if these things be so," and let the truth be printed in our Baptist papers without the insidious seeds of baptismal regeneration being planted, for "seen too oft, familiar with their face," we might after awhile "embrace" the full grown object. Everybody does not think for himself.

G. W. B.

Wilson, N. C., Aug. 15, 1886.

"Better Be Sure than Sorry."

"I do not think there is need of covering the flower beds to-night. I do not believe there will be frost enough to harm."

"Better be sure than sorry," the gardener replied; "if the frost should nip them, it would then be too late, you know."

To the cavils of the skeptic and the sneer of the scorner, who do not believe because they do not understand, or think there is no danger because they would have it so, this same answer would be wise: "Better be sure than sorry." If there should be an eternity, then the question, "Where shall I spend eternity?" puts all other questions in the shade. The frost may nip all the springing hopes of the soul. "Better be sure than sorry." Thousands of souls are hesitating about giving heed to their immortal interests. "We do not think there will be frost to-night," they say. "Better be sure than sorry." If the frost of death should blight the soul, it will be too late (forever.—W. J. E. in the "Mid-Continent."

If the ice in your heart is not thawed out in this world, it will stand a good chance of thawing in the next.—Bible Reader.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 6, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

THE EDUCATIONAL POWER IN OUR CENTENNIAL MISSION

The wisdom of the Mission Boards in inaugurating the centennial movement is in the highest degree commendable.

Their immediate object is to vastly increase their contributions, and put a much larger force in the field, which is a noble purpose. Their method of doing this is by infusing an interest in missions extending to every individual that can be reached, and as near as possible arouse the whole mass of our people on the subject of sending the gospel to the heathen. If this can be successfully done, it will be one of the greatest achievements of modern times. Thus to reach our people and induce them to largely increase their gifts for one year, will at once disclose to them their ability to do easily much more than they have been doing.

But in addition to these immediate results, the educational power produced by the accomplishment of it is beyond all computation. They propose to have several well informed speakers in every Association to address the gatherings that can be assembled in every available church and community. And they propose to have general meetings to be addressed by the best talent that can be obtained. This feature of the work, if carried out wisely, will be a means of disseminating an amount of information that will work wonders among our people. The idea of having in each Association a half dozen men well informed on the subject of missions is to put into existence a living power, a self-perpetuating principle that cannot be calculated.

And still another and more potential force is to be associated in the movement—that of circulating literature on the subject of missions, until every individual member of every church shall be well supplied with information on the subject. When you can place in the hands of the people sufficient information on any given subject to enable them to have an intelligent view of the subject, so they can appreciate public discussions, it will put them to discussing it among themselves, and thus the matter grows and increases by its own momentum. This plan commends itself to us as eminently wise, as an educational scheme; it takes one subject and proposes to turn in the lights from all possible sources until a glow is produced. It is a process of focalizing power upon one given point until a result is accomplished. It seems to us that we see wisdom in it higher than human—it must have emanated from a source divine. It is simple, yet powerful. It is easy of accomplishment if our people will take hold of it—pastors and people—the former leading and encouraging, and the latter following and aiding, each in his own natural sphere, the work will be accomplished, the world will be blessed, and God's name will be honored and glorified. If the plan is carried out, an amount of information will be furnished, and an array of intelligence will be gained that will do more to carry forward the cause of Christ than any movement that has been started since the reformation.

We have, for some time past, indulged in our fancy the conception of the religious world being thoroughly aroused on the subject of giving the gospel to the world. With all our heart we hail this movement with the hope that, that which has existed only in our fancy is about to become a reality. God grant its fullest accomplishment. And what shall we have accomplished when we shall have enlightened our people on the subject of Foreign Missions? Certainly nothing less than the greatest achievement that can be accomplished on earth. Evidently the world exists for one thing only, that of giving the gospel to the world. "And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations: and then shall the end come." (Matt. 24: 14.)

With an awakening and quickening at this point, every other christian work will be correspondingly stimulated, for that is the heart of the christian system, from which flows the life blood. We verily believe that God is in the movement, and let all who oppose, obstruct, or in anywise hinder, "beware lest they be found fighting against God."

THE protracted meeting at Wake Forest is said to be a meeting of great power. The entire faculty seem to be in hearty sympathy, and in accord with the work. And many interesting experiences and confessions of the students are being related.

SPURGEON'S CHURCH RELATION.

It is a matter of no little surprise to see how many of our best Pedobaptist exchanges have misunderstood, and therefore misrepresented, Mr. Spurgeon's withdrawing from the "Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland."

But the strangest of all the strange things that have occurred in that direction is the gross misrepresentation made in "The Missionary Review" for April by Dr. A. T. Pierson, the man who now fills his pulpit. In drawing a contrast between Spurgeon and Wesley, he speaks of "Mr. Spurgeon's determined and intrepid stand against the current loose notions of theology, and his bold venture in separating himself even from his own denomination for the sake of what he believed to be the truth."

It seems to us that Dr. Pierson was in a position to ascertain the truth of the matter; and it is passingly strange that he should preach for a church and not know whether it had departed from the Baptist faith, or not know to which denomination it belonged.

The National Baptist, in an editorial on this statement, says:—

"These words of Dr. Pierson convey entirely an incorrect impression. Mr. Spurgeon never separated himself from his denomination. He withdrew from the Baptist Union of Great Britain and Ireland, which was a voluntary society, for conference and for missionary action; but not the denomination. He also withdrew from the London Baptist Association; but he immediately, with his church, united with another Baptist Association, we think, the Essex.

Mr. Spurgeon was emphatically and unmistakably a Baptist. His church received only baptized—that is, immersed—believers; and one of the principles of the Pastor's College Conference, of which he was the President, and which was formed under his auspices, was Believers' Baptism. And the very reason for his separating himself from the Baptist Union and the London Association was, that they were not, in his opinion, Baptists, that is, they did not come up to the old-fashioned standard of Baptist faith. The man who said, "I would not give a headless pin for the man who does not belong to that denomination which he conscientiously believes to be the best," would not be likely to be a homeless tramp in religion. He knew where he belonged, and there he was."

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

HOUSES OF WORSHIP.

I suppose there is hardly anything in which Baptists have made more improvement in the last fifteen or twenty years than in the appearance of their churches. I am not speaking now of our fine and costly churches in the towns and cities. A church is not necessarily fine and costly to be neat and comfortable. Common material worked on a good plan, and put together by intelligent labor is better than costly material with the absence of these.

The matter of seating a church so as to afford comfort to those who come to hear the gospel preached is of the first importance. The cruel, unrelenting discomfort that some benches can contain is simply appalling. I do not know what they would fit or what could be fitted to them—certainly nothing that walked upright and was made in the image of its Master. The relation between the seat and its back is sometimes too mean to suppose it could be accidental, but rather that the thing was carefully planned for an instrument of torture. No wonder the congregation so anxiously awaits the closing of the Book, and to hear the preacher announce his "lastly," when the back of the seat has had you anywhere from the buckle of your vest to the back of your neck, and has sent you out within three inches of the edge of the seat, when in all honesty and fairness you ought to have it all. This comes not for want of material, or lack of expense, but simply for want of some one to do the work who knows his business. I think the meanest seat I ever saw in any church was made from the prettiest poplar lumber that ever came from a mill, almost without a knot or blemish of any kind.

Then there is the matter of keeping the church floor neat and clean. This can be easily done, and in the largest per cent. of our churches, even in the country, so far as I have been able to see, it is done, and where it is not done it is a reflection on both preacher and people. I do not believe it is possible to get the benefit of a service held in an unkept, ill-arranged, indifferent church. I know a church which is now a model of neatness and comfort. Not many years ago it was just the opposite. Then the appearance of the congregation which worshipped in this church was as indifferent and as careless of their personal appearance as they seemed to be neglectful and indifferent about the appearance of the church. And now they are in fact the same people, yet they present an appearance altogether different. The neatly plastered walls, the well polished stoves, the handsome carpet in the aisles and on the rostrum, the burnished chandeliers which hang from the ceiling, have all tended to change the personnel of the people who go there to worship. These things have not given the people better clothes that I know of, but has suggested to them to put their clothes on better, and to be in keeping with the appearance of their church and their pastor.

This is said with no view to encourage extravagance,—there is no need of this,—but the hope that all of our Baptist churches may use the means in hand to make the service of the Lord inviting to the young, comfortable and pleasant to the old, and thus hasten the coming of his kingdom on the earth.

J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Bro. W. H. Edwards of Wake Forest called to see us Monday.

....There are in Japan about 40,000,000 of people and about 40,000 christians.

....Rev. H. W. Norris of Valentine's Mills made a pleasant call to this office last Monday.

....Rev. S. M. Greene baptized thirteen converts at Little Rock Creek last Sunday. —Bakersville News.

....About 212,000 copies of the New Testament in Hebrew have recently been distributed among the Jews.

....Rev. Thomas Carrick, assisted by Rev. J. K. Fant of High Point, is carrying on a meeting in Lexington, N. C.

....There are from the United States five hundred and forty-one Baptist missionaries now at work in Papal and pagan fields.

....Rev. J. F. Love of Rocky Mount, N. C., is assisting Dr. J. W. M. Williams in a meeting in the First church, Baltimore.

....Forty seven Pedobaptist preachers in the United States left their churches and united with Baptist churches during 1891.

....Rev. N. S. Jones of Salisbury is assisting Rev. J. R. Jones in a meeting at Milton. There are indications of a good meeting.

....The Third church of Norfolk, Va., has had twenty five additions during the month of March, writes the pastor, C. S. Blackwell.

....The Board of Trustees of the Baptist Female University will meet in their annual session on April 12th in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh.

....Sunday next, April 10th, is the day for all of the Sunday schools in the Convention to take collections for Sunday-school mission work.

....We are indebted to Dr. G. W. Sanderlin, State Auditor, for a copy of the "Report of the Auditor of the State of North Carolina" for 1891.

....Bro. B. F. Lawrence of Fellowship church, Wake county, called to see us, and not only renewed his own subscription, but that of his neighbor also.

....The latest society in connection with the Young People's Union, that has been formed, is the "Paychokerdy." There is a "great deal in a name."—Ex.

....The Advance states that Rev. John B. White, a student of Wake Forest College, has been called as a supply for the Baptist church in Wilson until October.

....The Manly memorial number of the Seminary Magazine contains many short but well written tributes to Dr. Manly, and is an exceedingly interesting issue.

....Sister M. J. Blackwood of Blackwood's, N. C., says: "That is a good article in the RECORDER by Rev. W. A. Pool of Statesville, N. C., on the Sabbath."

....Judge F. G. Reade of Raleigh did the handsome thing of handing to Bro. N. B. Broughton his check to the amount of $100 for the Baptist Tabernacle on Monday of last week.

....During the year 1891 four hundred and eighty-seven Baptist preachers were ordained in this country, and three hundred and ninety-eight houses of worship were dedicated.

....On last Saturday the brethren at White Stone church decided to move their church to Wakefield, and will occupy the concert hall, which will be completed by next June.

....There were fifty-four additions to the Walnut Street church, Louisville, in which the pastor, Dr. T. T. Eaton, was assisted by Dr. J. H. Boyett of Owensboro, Ky.—Baptist and Reflector.

....Bro. J. H. Lassiter of Henderson called at the RECORDER office last Thursday to pay his respects to the editor, for whom he entertains warm personal esteem, and high regard for his ability.

....Lieut. Totten, Professor of Military Tactics in Yale University, was baptized by Rev. A. J. Gordon, D. D., on Sunday Mar. 27th, at the Clarendon St, church after the morning service.—Watchman.

....Rev. Joseph E. Carter gave his watch to the Orphanage. It has just been received. It is a large Silver Elgin. We will have it put in first class order and use it as our standard.—Charity and Children.

....Alaska from extreme north to extreme south is 1,400 miles in an air line, or as far as from Maine to Florida; and from its eastern boundary to the end of the Aleutian Islands is 2,200 miles in an air line, or as far as from New York to California. Its mountain peaks are from 15,000 to 19,500 feet high, and its largest river 70 miles wide and navigable for 1,000 miles, and is supposed to be 2,000 miles long.

....Rev. W. T. Campbell and Rev. P. G. Elsom of Va., have accepted the call of the State Board to become General Missionaries of Missouri. With Rafferty Hess, Campbell and Elsom we have a "strong team."—Central Baptist, Mo.

....The converts to christianity in heathen lands one hundred years ago were about three hundred, and now the church membership in heathen lands is more than 800,000 with 2,200,000 other adherents.

....The English Baptists propose to raise during the Centennial of Missions $500,000. Some good men and women have already before the year begins have stepped forward and given over one-half of the amount.

....The total amount of contributions for all objects, as reported in the minutes of Baptist Associations in North Carolina during the year 1891, was $345,151.09. Only about two-thirds of what the churches give is reported in the minutes.

....The Baptists of Jerusalem, Davie county, have purchased the Tatum brick store building at that place, and will remodel it and convert it into a church, to take the place of the one that was destroyed by fire last year.—Statesville Landmark.

....An interesting and profitable Education and Mission meeting of the churches in the Robeson Association was held March 31st in Lumberton. In addition to the speakers in that Association, Drs. Pritchard and Durham were there and spoke to the people.

....The Baptist State Sunday-school Convention will meet in Winston April 14—17. See program of exercises in another column. Send your name at once, if you expect to go, to Rev. H. A. Brown. Drs. Ellis of Baltimore, Frost of Nashville, and Bell of Richmond, are to be there.

....The census of India for 1891 shows an increase in population in the past ten years of a little over thirty millions, making the total population 289,000,000. There are among this people about 250,000 church members, and something over 300,000 pupils gathered in mission schools.

....The "Robeson Institute," to which Bro. A. C. Melke left $15,000, will soon be a reality. Bro. B. Godwin has donated a beautiful three acre lot in the town of Lumberton, and the Trustees are most hopeful about securing the $5,000 for the building. This will give them the $15,000 for endowment.

....Every dollar collected for Home and Foreign Missions should be sent to Bro. J. D. Boushall in time to reach him by April 27th. The Treasurer of the Home Board at Atlanta and of the Foreign Board at Richmond must receive these amounts by April 30th, otherwise they cannot go into the reports on this year's work.

....Dr. F. H. Ivey has accepted the call to the Curtis Baptist church, Augusta, Ga. He is one of the ablest preachers in the South, and the Curtis brethren are to be congratulated upon securing him. We trust that there will be much fruit from the union. Rev. Byron Woodward, now of South Carolina, formerly a member of that church, has been holding a series of meetings with it.—Baptist and Reflector.

....Gov. Jas. P. Eagle of Arkansas will preach the dedicatory sermon of the new Baptist house at Mulberry, Ark., on the second Sunday in April. That is good. We are glad to see that Gov. Eagle has not forgotten to be a preacher since he became Governor. If he is as good a preacher as he is a governor, we are inclined to think that he had better give all of his time to preaching.—Baptist and Reflector.

....Rev. M. V. McDuffie, pastor of Remsen Avenue Baptist church, New Brunswick, N. J., arrived here on Monday last, summoned by the death of his mother, and returned to-day. It is gratifying to know that in Mr. McDuffie's pastorate of something over five years the New Brunswick church has greatly increased in numbers and influence; and the intelligent appreciation of his usefulness and ability is evidenced in the recent tender of the degree of Doctor of Divinity by a leading Northern college—which Mr. McDuffie, with the modesty always characteristic of merit, declined.—Fayetteville Observer.

....We extend our sincere thanks to Dr. Lansing Burrows for a copy of the Baptist Year Book of 1892, published by the American Baptist Publication Society of Philadelphia. It is invaluable in giving just the information that so many need, and that can be obtained nowhere else. Dr. Burrows by his untiring labors and indomitable energy has conferred a great benefit upon the reading public in the publication of this work. No doubt very many persons are sighing for the information therein contained, and do not know where to obtain it. It contains all the different organizations of the Baptists of the United States, and also by States. It gives a list of all the American missionaries and their fields, and the statistics of everything pertaining to the denomination. It furnishes a complete roster of the Baptist preachers of the whole country.

Dots from the East.

Dear Recorder:—On the nineteenth of March, in company with Elders Bogart, Matthews and Tynch, I made a trip to Pantego, in Beaufort county, for the purpose of ordaining Bro. W. R. Carawan to the work of the gospel ministry, of which you will hear from another source.

Bro. Matthews is our missionary at Pantego, and is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances. The Disciple Baptists are largely in the majority in this county, and it is rather uphill work for the Missionary Baptists; but we believe the light is breaking. Bro. Matthews has two out-stations at which he preaches, besides preaching in the town, and the people are willing and anxious to hear him.

Bro. W. R. Carawan, our missionary in Hyde county, gave us a very encouraging report from that field, and thinks the time is not far distant when we will have Baptist churches at work in that long-neglected county.

On the 21st, in company with Bro. Tynch, I left Pantego and went to Roper City, in Washington county. Bro. Tynch is our missionary at this point, and has done a noble work here for the Lord and the Baptists. At this place we have a little struggling band of brethren and sisters making a strenuous effort to finish their house of worship. It will be a beauty when finished, but they need two or three hundred dollars to complete it, and a little help would be very thankfully received. Brother Tynch seems to have the confidence of the people, and I think the outlook for the Baptist cause at Roper's is very hopeful.

W. P. JORDAN.

Hertford, N. C., March, 1892.

Shining Lights.

God proposes to save this world by making each saved soul a centre of power and blessing to all those with whom he is surrounded. When he saves a soul from sin, he has a double object in view. That object is, first, to save the individual, and, second, to secure a new partner in his great effort to save men. No man is saved wholly for himself. God does not kindle the fire of love on the alter of any human heart solely that that heart may be warmed and lighted. While it is warmed and lighted, and because of that, he intends that it shall warm and enlighten frozen and darkened hearts all about it.

There is an unsuspected depth in our Lord's question: "Do men light a candle and put it under a bushel?" In reading it, the emphasis should be placed on the word "men." It is as though he had said: "Are men so foolish as to light a candle and then hide it? Does not their little wisdom teach them better than to do so stupid a thing? And do you think God is less wise than men? If men light a candle and set it upon a candlestick, where all that come in may see the light, how much more will God, when he has lighted the candle of the Spirit in the heart of man, require him to let it shine before men that they may see that he is divinely illuminated, and glorify his Father, who is in heaven." Deeply imbedded in this one pregnant question lies the principle which requires each believer to confess Christ before men. He is a lighted candle. He must shine. The dark world needs the light. If he attempts to hide it under a bushel, he will not only put it out and be left in darkness himself, but will thereby be prevented from lighting the pathway of others. He can keep his own light only by obeying his Master's instructions and letting it shine before men.

The Divine command is, "Let your light shine." We are too apt to try to make it shine. We try by loud professions, by all sorts of outward bluster and parade, ostensibly to make the world see our light, but unconsciously, perhaps, our efforts are more for the purpose of making the world see us. Christ's command was not for us to shine. It is our light, that which he gives us by the power of the Holy Spirit, all the graces of the Spirit—all the humility and patience and unselfishness and holiness imparted and implanted within us in regeneration and sanctification—these go to make up the light which is to shine. How useless to try to make humility show off! We are no sooner conscious that we are humble, than humility has gone. A self-conscious humility is impossible.

Light shines silently, noiselessly, unobtrusively. It makes no effort. It is its nature to shine. It could not do otherwise. If the light has been kindled in our souls, the utmost we can do is to let it shine, to see that worldliness does not quench it, and that the bushels of calculating selfishness do not cover and smother it. Trying should have to do with filling and trimming the lamp which the Lord has lighted, rather than with making it shine.

In the silence and unobtrusivness of light we see a type of true christian influence. Morning comes, and the king of day silently folds back the curtains of night, and as silently pours light and warmth over valley and hill, into hovel and palace. The soft radiance floods our chambers, but no noise is heard. We feel it, see it, rejoice in in it, but no one ever heard it approach. "It is not the life of bustle and loud professions which is the influential one. True godliness is too deep and real to be noisy; it is known more by its deeds than by its words. The building of the temple at Jerusalem of old was a beautiful exponent of the silent and unobtrusive character of the religious life. It rose in silence! 'Neither hammer, nor axe, nor any tool of iron, was heard in the house while it was building.' Be it ours to aim after the noiseless eloquence of a holy character, our pathway in the world marked by quiet devotedness in God's service. It is not outward parade of boastful professions he values, but the undemonstrative—yet, in spite of itself, the demonstrative—evidences of the fruits of the Spirit made manifest in a life and conversation becoming the Gospel. The cup of cold water unostentatiously given, or the patient forgiveness of an injury, will, on the great day, receive the acknowledgment denied to many a brilliant deed which drew down the plaudits of thousands."

First see that you have the light. Settle that. Then daily seek the replenishing of the lamp in prayer, Scripture-searching, meditation and holy living. Do not worry lest men should not see that you are holy or humble or patient. Let your light shine. Let it shine before men. Let it be the light which shines, and not yourself, and men will see your good works and glorify your Father.—The Indian Witness.

Bro. H. M. Shaw, son of Bro. W. B. Shaw of Henderson, N. C., goes to Oxford to practice law. Bro. Shaw is a bright young man, and we commend him to the Oxford people.

The above is a cut of the Raleigh Baptist Tabernacle, the dedication and reopening of which mention was made in our last issue. The interior of the church, viewed for the first time, had a pleasing effect. It is spacious, the walls are in neutral tints, brown and light blue prevailing, and the frescoing is tasteful. The ceiling is of metal. At the south end is the triple window in memory of the late Mr. Jordan Womble. In the centre is a large crystal chandelier. The pulpit is in a recess in the east side. There are several entrances, the main one being on the south side, through a vestibule, opening by three doors into the church proper. The main auditorium is seated with 490 beautiful opera chairs, with two five-feet aisles extending to the pulpit, which are to be supplied with folding chairs when needed. North of the auditorium is the large Sunday-school room, separated by sliding doors, and when needed furnishes 350 additional sittings. And still beyond that is the infant class room. When all of these apartments open into one it immensely fills the idea of a spacious tabernacle.

In our last issue we gave an account of the services Sunday morning and evening.

MONDAY EVENING'S SERVICES.

There was another large congregation at the services on Monday evening, the auditorium being entirely filled. On the platform were Gov. Holt, Mayor Badger, Rev. Dr. Carter, Rev. J. L. Foster of the Christian church, Rev. J. N. Cole of the Edenton St. M. E. Church, Rev. Dr. F. L. Reid of the Christian Advocate, Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall and Mr. W. S. Primrose. Pastor Hall, with some very pleasant and appropriate words introduced Gov. Holt, who spoke for a quarter of an hour in a pleasant way. He alluded to church work in general and to the work done by the Tabernacle. Rev. Dr. Carter followed, speaking in behalf of the First Baptist church, and bidding the Tabernacle God speed. Rev. Mr. Cole gave the same greeting on behalf of Edenton Street Methodist church, and Mr. Primrose on behalf of the First Presbyterian church. The latter gentleman delivered a formal address, his subject being "Religion and the Citizen." Pastor Hall had many pleasant things to say in introducing the various speakers, and the evening was much enjoyed. There was congregational singing between the "talks." One of the speakers referred in a graceful way to the inscription on the north wall of the church, "Peace be within thy gates and prosperity within thy palaces."

TUESDAY EVENING'S EXERCISES.

A large audience gathered to enjoy the exercises of "Denominational night." President Taylor of Wake Forest College was to have delivered an address on "The Church and the College," but was unable to attend. Rev. Dr. Durham delivered an address on "The Church and Missions," emphasizing the work of the church in spreading the gospel. The church should be the centre from which the wandering ones may find their way home. He was followed by Rev. Paylus Cade who spoke of the Independence of the Local Church, saying that Baptists would not be bossed by anybody, except, perhaps, by the authority who presides in the home. Mr. Cade spoke strongly, saying that the marvelous growth of the Baptist denomination in the last half century had been largely due to local church independence. Rev. Dr. Carter delivered an excellent address on "Fellowship Between Churches," pointing his thoughts by some striking illustrations. The exercises were interspersed with singing, and the speakers were gracefully introduced by Pastor Hall. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. J. N. Cole.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Letters of congratulation to pastor and people were received by Dr. Hall from Dr. F. M. Ellis and Dr. H. M. Wharton of Baltimore, A. C. Dixon of Brooklyn, Dr. R. R. Overby of North Carolina, and from the pastor's father in England, S. Hall, Sr., also from the former pastors of the Tabernacle church, Dr. W. A. Nelson, Revs. W. R. Gwaltney, G. S. Williams and Thos. Dixon, Jr. The reading of these letters by Bro. J. C. Birdsong, church clerk, was an interesting feature in this night's service. Dr. Hufham also sent a letter, but fully expected to be present.

Several interesting speeches were made by the members of the church, and a most enjoyable evening it was.

THURSDAY EVENING.

After singing several interesting pieces, Rev. Mr. Scott of Virginia led in prayer.

The pastor then introduced Dr. T. E. Skinner, who delivered an interesting address on "Woman's Work in the Church." He was not specially favorable to women preaching and told a rather funny incident of the first woman (a quaker) whom he ever heard preach. The next speaker was Dr. Sanderlin; subject, "Young Men in Church Work." In the beginning of his address he made a beautiful citation from "Gray's Eligy." The address was beautiful and appropriate from beginning to end.

The closing address was delivered by Mr. N. B. Broughton; subject, "What the Church Owes to the Sunday-school." The address was highly characteristic—interesting and practical.

FRIDAY NIGHT.

This was observed as Thanksgiving night, and the interest was unabated. Envelopes were used by members in which their offerings were brought; also brief letters and passages of Scripture. The reading of these was quite affecting, and hearty was the thanksgiving to God for all his goodness. About one hundred dollars came by the envelopes, making in all about eighteen hundred dollars raised during the week. Deacon Holloway, chairman of the Board, spoke in behalf of the deacons—their mutual interest in all that relates to the welfare of the church, and the deep affection which the pastor had in all their hearts. Bro. L. O. Lougee made a financial statement showing that about $10,000 had been expended. Bro. N. B. Broughton, as chairman of the building committee, told how they had stood together in the work; many a time the darkness was very great, and in the midnight hour he had gone to God for wisdom and strength. He thanked the brethren for their support. He spoke earnestly of how Mrs. Hall, the pastor's wife, had labored in season and out of season, until every dollar was raised for the beautiful carpet which covered the church floor; and then he thanked God for the pastor and his faithfulness and labor amongst them. Bro. Hall responded by saying that it was not to return a compliment, but because it should be said that while so many had done nobly, had it not been for Bro. N. B. Broughton the work itself would not have been accomplished.

After a few more remarks made by Bro. J. M. Broughton and J. C. Birdsong, the pastor asked all present who wanted to do more and better work for Christ to join in prayer, and the week's meetings were brought to a close as the pastor prayed for the divine blessing to abide with them.

Some Features of the Grand Canon of the Colorado.

The walls of the Grand Canon are in most places not perpendicular; but seen from in front they all appear to be. They are mostly of sandstone, but in places of marble, and again of volcanic rock; generally "terraced" in a manner entirely peculiar to the southwest, and cleft into innumerable "buttes," which seem towers and castles, but are infinitely vaster and more noble than the hand of man could ever rear. And when the ineffable sunshine of that arid but enchanted land falls upon their wondrous domes and battlements with a glow which seems not of this world, the sight is such a revelation that I have seen strong men affected by it to tears of speechless awe.

There are no great falls in the Grand Canon; but many beautiful and lofty ones in the unnumbered hundreds of side canons which enter the greater canon. I had almost said "little canons," for so they seem in the presence of their giant mother; but in reality, almost any one of them would shame any canon elsewhere.—Charles F. Lummis, in December St. Nicholas.

Bro. J. C. Hocutt has been called to see his brother in Pender county, who is not expected to live but a few days.

Church Finances.

One of the most puzzling questions that the average Baptist church has to grapple with is, "How shall we manage our church finances?" This results partly from the fact that our churches are independent bodies, and each local church attempts to collect church dues according to the plan that "takes best" with their people. I glory in the independence of our churches. I would not have it otherwise; but it is just possible for our people to be so independent in the matter of church finances, as to fail to have any system as to the manner of conducting them.

I have thought over this matter a good deal, and I have "settled down" to the belief that one great cause why churches are so often behind with their pastors, and our Mission Boards are under the necessity of making such frequent appeals to the churches for help, results mainly from a want of a better financial system among our people. I do not profess to be "wise" on this subject, but I do think there is a "better way," and I wish to submit for the consideration of my brethren the following plan, which I think is adapted to both country, and city churches; and which, if generally adopted by our churches, would bring about "easier times" for our Boards, our pastors, and our benevolent work generally:

Let each church at the commencement of the Conventional or pastoral year, appoint a judicious "Financial Committee," informing said committee what amount of money will be needed for that year, to meet all church dues, including pastor's salary, Foreign Missions, Home Missions—everything; and then let that committee meet at once, and apportion the amount among all of the church members, according to their means. After the apportionment is made, let the pastor give notice that at the next regular church conference, the amounts will be read publicly, and let him request each member to be present, and hear the amount of his apportionment and change that amount, if too much, or not enough. This makes the contributions voluntary, which is Scriptural and Baptistic. Then let the church adopt a resolution, requiring these contributions to be paid in weekly or monthly instalments, according to the number of times the church has service during the year. Each member can readily determine what he is expected to pay at each regular service, by dividing the amount of his apportionment by fifty-two, or by twelve, as the case may be. Let the Finance Committee then determine what per cent should be given to pastor's salary, Foreign Missions &c.; and let that per cent be devoted to that purpose, after each collection. We will now illustrate using figures that enable us to avoid fractions, though there would be no difficulty in dealing with them, if the church Treasurer has even a common school education:

Say the church wishes to raise for a given year $2,600 for all purposes; then the committee could make out the following table under the percentage head:

For pastor's salary.....	60	per cent.
" Foreign Missions.....	5	"
" Home Missions.....	5	"
" State Missions.....	8	"
" Associational.....	7	"
" Orphanage.....	3	"
" M. R. Board.....	3	"
" S. S. and Colportage..	3	"
" Miscellaneous objects.	7	"
Total.....	100	"

To raise the $2,600 would require the collection of $50 each Sabbath. Say the contribution is $50 then on any given Sabbath; the church Treasurer could by a very simple calculation, ascertain what part of that amount should be handed to the pastor, and what amounts should be retained for the other objects, thus:

$50 x 60.....	30.00 (pastor)
50 x 05.....	3.00 (F. M.)
50 x 05.....	3.00 (H. M.)

It is almost needless to say that this plan contemplates the use of envelopes; each contributor placing his or her name, and the amount contributed on the back of the envelope, on which are printed these words, "For Church Expenses." The Treasurer could thus give each one credit for the amount contributed, and also hand to the Finance Committee the names of any who had fallen behind at the end of the year, or oftener, if necessary.

One decided advantage of this plan is, that it would cause a steady flow of contributions into the treasuries of our Boards, thus relieving them of the necessity of borrowing money on interest. Another is, it relieves the church of the necessity of appointing such a multitude of committees to collect for the various objects that claim our attention.

I can imagine possible objections that some of my brethren may offer to this plan; but I repeat that it is adapted to city or country churches. And after all it is the Bible plan. Giving is certainly a part of religion, and ought to be made a part of worship. "On the first day of the week" &c. Try the plan brethren, before you condemn it.

C. A. WOODSON.

Durham, N. C.

Centennial Union Meetings.

There are forty Associations connected with the Baptist State Convention. At the last session of each of them, or almost all of them, a special day for addresses on the Centennial of Modern Missions was designated, and a committee was appointed to arrange a program for the special occasion.

There has been much correspondence with those committees about the addresses to be made, the range of subjects to be used, the brethren who would make the special addresses, and other important things relating to these meetings. Many inquiries have come to the Mission Rooms and requests for suggestions to aid committees in their programs.

As illustrative of the work to be done, we give below the program of the Flat River Association:

MISSIONARY DAY—WEDNESDAY, AUG. 10, 1892.

MORNING SESSION.

1. Missions and the Old Testament—Rev. J. A. Beam.
2. New Testament and Missions—Rev. J. A. Stradley.
3. Missions and Prayer—Rev. R. I. Devin.
4. M. T. Yates and Missions—Rev. C. E. Taylor, D. D.
5. God's Providence in Baptist Missions—Rev. J. S. Hardaway.

EVENING SESSION.

6. Progress of Modern Missions—Rev. C. A. Jenkens.
7. Missions as Dependent on Pastors and Churches—Rev. R. H. Marsh, D. D.
8. William Carey and Missions—Rev. R. VanDeventer.
9. Mission Literature and our Church Members—Rev. C. Durham, D. D.
10. Missions and the Sunday-schools—Rev. G. T. Watkins.
11. North Carolina's Contributions to Missions in Men and Women—Rev. J. A. Lamberth.

Addresses not to exceed thirty minutes.

[Signed by the Committee—Revs. J. S. Hardaway, R. I. Devin and J. A. Stradley.]

We wish to call special attention to this program and to commend it for a number of weighty and practical reasons, e.g., for making the Bible, Old and New Testaments, the first thing in, and the foundation of, Baptist Missions, for emphasizing prayer as the channel through which we go to God for guidance and help in Missions and have him come to us in light, wisdom and power; for recognizing God's providence in Baptist Missions; and for utilizing so many of the brethren of their own Association in these special addresses.

If we can only have thirty-nine other such Associational Centennial Mission meeetings as this program of the Flat River Association indicates, this year's work will lay the foundation for enlarged Mission work in all the years to come. May the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit be with us in these meetings in great wisdom, power and love to fire the hearts of the people of our Lord for greater service.

GET THE BEST—IT WILL SELL.

"William Carey: A Sketch on Beginnings in Modern Missions by Rev. A. C. Chute," of Chicago, cloth 25 cents, paper 15 cents per copy, is one of the very best little, cheap books on Missions in Carey's day that we have seen. The April number of the Foreign Mission Journal says of this little book:

"This is an admirable work, being really an address by the author before the Baptist Ministers' Conference of Chicago, and by them asked for publication. It can be read through at a sitting, and is full of information charmingly presented. Missionary Societies and Children's Bands would find it an excellent little book for an evening's reading, as well as to keep in a library."

Our first supply of the above book was exhausted, and on March 29th our Supply Store received 1,000 copies. We have no interest in the book except to aid the work of Missions, and it cannot be bought in North Carolina other than through our Supply Store. This little book contains the foundation facts of the Centennial of Modern Missions. The pastors can greatly aid the cause of Missions by putting this little book into the hands of their people.

C. DURHAM.

The Missionary Centenary—Shall It be Observed and How?

Two dates stand out like noble peaks in the range of American history—1776 and 1492. One was fittingly honored in its centennial fifteen years ago; the other is to receive yet nobler recognition by all the civilized world next year. The world does well to hold both dates in perpetual honor. The figures are common-place, to be sure; the dates in themselves do but mark two years in the record of the centuries. But they speak great things to men. The former is the natal year of a great government. A century ago the kings of the earth looked on with little seeming concern while the handful of patriots planned and wrought and waited. But history stood expectant. A new nation had come to the birth. An epoch was at hand; how great, the world is but just beginning to learn. The latter gave to the world its missing half. Then for the first time came the son of the wool comber—not, indeed, to discover a new continent; this he had already done some twenty years before while making charts in Lisbon; but he came forth like a prophet to show the nations what the God of nations had revealed to him. In this unveiling of a hemisphere some have thought they saw God's last great effort for humanity.

And so both these years have taken their proper places in history and in the reverent memory of men. Let us be grateful that this is so. Let us rejoice that men are disposed to remember with reverence great men and great events. Continuous contact assimilates us to what we touch. Fellowship with greatness or goodness increases and develops all of either quality that there is in one. "Whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are true, think on these things." Every reverent recollection of the worthy is a benediction. It pleased God to ordain that Israel should annually observe with solemn joy the memorial of their deliverance. It means a good deal for the great God to reveal himself as "the God of Abraham," and that he should keep remembering his kindness to Jerusalem "for his servant David's sake." Does it not mean among other things that God wishes to keep those worthy men in the memory of the people, even as he holds them in his own memory.

Now, there is another event which is not less significant in the history of christianity than are the two above mentioned in the progress of the nation. Just three centuries after the glories of the new world invited Columbus to its shores the darkness of the old was calling another great discoverer; and three hundred years from that October which revealed to the great mariner the land seen but in dreams before, the heart of the great missionary was gladdened by the organization of a society for the propagation of the gospel among the heathen. We know too little in this world to place events in the order of their relative importance. We must wait for more light. But from God's standpoint it may appear that 1792 as an epoch-making date stands second to none since that which saw Paul's ministry close. Certainly an event which awoke the conscience of the christian world to organized effort for the redemption of the race and set believers of every name to prayer and toil to hasten the coming of the Lord, must stir every christians heart with mighty eloquence It is this event of glorious memory and still more glorious promise that it is proposed to celebrate this year throughout the Baptist world.

What shape shall this celebration take? If we are minded merely to honor Carey our efforts may properly exhaust themselves in memorial addresses and marble. But he has passed beyond all want of human homage. Meetings and eulogies we doubtless shall have, but only as a means to an end. That end is the realization of Carey's fine conception, the conquest of the world for our King. And since this is to be accomplished through the efforts of God's people, the immediate purpose is the awakening of those people to an apprehension of the great work laid upon them and of the rushing opportunities crowding around them.

This immediate purpose, it seems to me, is not likely to be achieved by belittling the work already done nor by criticisms, kindly or captious, of the methods of the Board. One would not think it wise to begin a protracted meeting with a series of sermons on "the failure of protracted meetings as a means of saving the people," interspersed with a few clear and ringing discourses on "text criticism." Whether either of these subjects had better be discussed at any time before the masses may be a question with many. But certainly very few who believe in protracted meetings and in the authority of the Book would select a protracted meeting as a fitted occasion for such discussion. With great respect for all concerned, it appears to me that the precipitation at the present time of a discussion in the papers of the methods, mistakes and failures of the Foreign Board is to be deplored. Most persons do not discriminate nicely. To these the failure of methods means the failure of missions, and an attack on missions. Public criticism of the Board must necessarily be misleading to some, and cannot fail to strike the Centennial movement with partial paralysis. Let us rejoice that brethren have enough interest in the work of the Board to provoke investigation of methods. But what we want right now is not new methods of missions, but a new spirit of missions. Let us get more of real missionary life into ourselves and the people, and we need not greatly concern ourselves about methods; vitality will slough off what is really needless and eliminate what is hurtful.

The true way to the desired end lies through prayer and preaching. Let our churches be aroused to earnest prayer for God's signal blessing on the foreign work, and for a mighty awakening of the spirit of missions. And let our pastors inform themselves and then inform their churches concerning the teachings of Scriptures on the subject of missions; concerning the fields, their needs, their importance, their difficulties; concerning the missionaries themselves, and the really remarkable success, all things considered, that has crowned their labors. Let the Board freely circulate literature containing the desired information. And let the special meetings not be given to brag and "buncomb," but to the steady purpose of bringing the people into broader and deeper sympathy with the mission spirit of our Lord.

So shall we see the one hundred new missionaries equipped and sent forth. But not this only, this would be a mere spasm, and spasms are never healthy. We should also see a generous enthusiasm and a unity of spirit among the tribes that would speedily bring the Son of David to his throne.—R. T. Vann, in Foreign Mission Journal.

To the Superintendents.

The Convention, through its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools, asks every Sunday-school in its bounds to give our collection this year—only one—for Sunday-school missions. Sunday, April 10th, is the day for this collection. Will not every superintendent see to it that his school understands the time for the collection and

HOW THE MONEY IS USED?

The money given for "Sunday-school Missions" is used judiciously in furnishing a small supply of Sunday-school literature for only one quarter—a few Bibles and Testaments, and, sometimes, a few song books (second-hand or otherwise, as we are able to secure)—to destitute communities where schools do not exist, and, too, where schools could not be organized without this small timely aid rendered through our Board.

In our "Sunday-school Missions" the last Conventional year, 123 new schools were organized, out of which have already grown seven new Baptist churches. No one can foretee the great and good results yet to come from these 123 schools. But did your school send anything for this work during last year? Please find out from your Treasurer.

With every four dollars sent for this work we can, it is believed, organize a new school. How many new schools will your school help the Board to organize this year?

Our Board hopes to organize at least 250 new schools this year. To do this, however, money for the purchase of supplies, as shown above, is needed. We are seeking the co-operation of all the schools in our Convention. Now, if your good judgment approves this work, we shall be thankful for your aid. We suggest that you explain these things to your school, take the collection, offer a special prayer for God's blessings on its use in some destitute neighborhood, and on Monday thereafter forward whatever is given to J. D. Boushall, Raleigh, N. C. It is important, in view of our State Sunday-school Convention in Winston, April 14th—17th, that the collection for this work be taken at the time indicated, and that the same be forwarded at once to the Treasurer.

Yours very truly, C. DURHAM,
Cor. Sec. Bap. State Convention.

Raleigh, April 5, 1892.

Hearty Amen and Anxious Shake-hands.

Dear Recorder:—When I read Dr. Carroll's protest against Dr. Goodwin's mission (or, rather, practically anti-mission) articles, my heart said Amen.

And when I saw last week his exultation over Dr. Tichenor's annihilation of the heedless critic, I wanted to stretch away over to Chapel Hill and shake hands with the University Bishop. R. T. VANN.

Scotland Neck, April 1, 1892.

Graded Helps.

The arrangement of its Sunday-school literature by the American Baptist Publication Society is helpfully suggestive. Here we see six grades provided for—enough, but not too many, for any school that would do its work thoroughly and systematically. The provisions for each separate grade are full and, in every respect, complete. Primary, Intermediate, Advanced, Senior, Teacher, Superintendent—all are well equipped for the best work of which they are capable. It would seem impossible for any Sunday-school to use such helps and so arranged, without becoming itself better managed and more helpful to every individual connected with it.

Baptist Cause in Salisbury.

Dear Editor:—Perhaps there is no place in the State that it has been harder for the Baptists to occupy than Salisbury. It would be needless to attempt to speak of the hindering causes. There are a number of our leading ministers who know them: I could mention among those such men as brethren Boone, Tuttle and others.

It has been hard to support a man upon the field even with the aid of other points, and of course we could not hope for rapid development in a town of five or six thousand inhabitants, where nearly all other denominations are strongly represented with preaching every Sunday, and our own trying to live on preaching twice or three times a month. It was not till last year that we were sufficiently aroused to make the effort to secure a man for his whole time; and it was then that we began to ask the Lord to give us the man. It seems that our prayers were answered in sending us Bro. N. S. Jones of Raleigh. Not one of us ever saw Bro. Jones till he had accepted the pastorate of our church. We invited him to preach for us before extending the call, but he informed us that he was too busy to preach sample sermons. The call was extended, and after some weeks we received a note from Bro. Jones, stating he would accept the call, and on the first Sunday in December, 1891, he began his labors with us. The Lord has signally blessed his pastorate.

Bro. Jones is a man that believes in progress and development, and his ministerial labors here has evidenced the fact. Our church has been thoroughly overhauled from top to bottom, and made convenient and attractive. This work has cost some three or four hundred dollars. The last dollar of church debt, which stood so long, has been paid. Besides all this, we have built one of the most convenient and handsome parsonages in the State. The parsonage property is worth two thousand dollars. There is perhaps one thousand dollars of indebtedness upon it, but over half of this amount has been provided for. Bro. Jones was comfortably quartered in the parsonage in about twelve months from the time he came here. Then, there was not a dollar raised or a plan laid for the parsonage.

Surely the Lord has blessed this people, and the labors of our pastor! Besides the work mentioned, about fifty have been added to our membership with wonderful manifestations of the presence of the Lord.

We certainly should take courage and go on. These things prove to us that the Lord's hand has been in all our work, and that he sent the right man at the right time to the right place. He gets better all the time; not only the Baptists say this, but all who hear him. His house in full nearly all the time. He is an earnest, helpful pastor, and takes great interest in his field. I believe in twelve months more the church will be self-sustaining. We feel encouraged.

GEORGE W. WRIGHT.

Salisbury, N. C.

A veritable family medicine box, Beecham's pills.

Notes of Travel.

Boarding the steamer of the N. & S. R. R., Feb. 5th, we sailed pleasantly down the grand old Chowan. Three long blasts of the whistle apprises us that we are nearing the town of Edenton. The church at Edenton is still without a pastor. The name of Rev. Baylus Cade was then under consideration.

After spending a few hours in town, we boarded the train of the N. S. R. R. As we pass along we find that the town of Elizabeth City is rapidly growing. About an hour's ride brings us to Indian Creek Station, Norfolk county, Va. Here we are met by one of the brethren of Blackwater church, Princess Anne county. This is one of the old churches of Virginia. We find here a good Sunday-school, a weekly prayer-meeting, a ladies aid society. It is under the pastoral care of Bro. C. W. Matthews. The church is progressing slowly.

Boarding the train again we meet Rev. C. N. Donaldson of Norfolk, Va., on his return home from his field in North Carolina. He has charge of Hertford, Harrellsville, Warrick and Sinai churches. He is a good preacher, and his sermons are suggestive of much thought. He is doing a good work in North Carolina.

While in Norfolk we attended the Park Avenue church prayer-meeting. It was not as well attended as it ought to be for a city church. They are now worshipping in what they call their lecture room. They are using every effort to raise means to build them a large and commodious house.

We spend a day in Portsmouth. We heard there would be a childrens concert at the Court Street church, which we attended. The choruses, solos and declamations were well rendered. The best of all was Aunt Dinah's quilting party.

Our next point was Oak Grove church. Here we find a thriving Sunday-school, and the church progressing rapidly. They have a ladies aid society. The church has built a comfortable parsonage. While the pastor and family were visiting his wife's folks in Virginia, his people moved his goods and chattels into the parsonage, so all he had to do on his return was to walk in and take possession. On the evening of the day he returned his people gave him a good pounding. This church is under the pastoral care of Bro. C. W. Matthews.

The next point visited is Knott's Island. It is about seven miles long and three wide. Two miles of its length is in Virginia, and the balance in North Carolina. It takes its name from the great Indian chief, Knott. We have a church here nearly self-sustaining, which is the result of the faithful, earnest labor of Rev. J. F. Tuttle, now of Plymouth, N. C.

The next point visited was Deep Creek. The church here was the result of the organization of a Sunday-school. Rev. N. M. Munden is its pastor.

The next point visited was North West. The church here was organized over a hundred years ago. It has a thrifty missionary society. Bro. P. S. C. Davis of Shiloh, N. C., is its pastor.

The next point visited was Bethel. This is a new church, organized about two years ago. It is about four miles from Great Bridge, Va., and two miles from the N. S. R. R. Some brethren from Berea church, Pasquotank county, N. C., settled here and went to work. This church is the result of their labor. Bro. P. S. C. Davis is its pastor. Their house is large and commodious.

The last point visited was Scottsville. This church has not been organized more than three years. It was for a number of years a mission station of the Court Street Church. Its membership is continually increasing. It has a sunbeam missionary society, and another society called the Youthful Gleaners. The object of this society is to aid in home church work. They are now raising means to build a parsonage. Bro. W. H. Baylor is its pastor. He is very energetic.

It was our pleasure to attend the Fife meeting at the Peoples' Tabernacle in Norfolk, and hear two sermons. The first sermon was giving instruction to christians how to work, and showing them how to meet all obstacles in their work. The only objectionable feature in his sermon was that he said the word water in John 3: 5 meant the word. The last text I heard him preach from was Dan. 5: 27. He divided his subject in four classes—the moralist, the skeptic, the average church member, and the poor sinner. At the close of this service the inquiry meeting was largely attended. The song services were good. His meetings lasted two weeks. We were informed that the Tabernacle was full every night.

D. GILLILAND.

Portsmouth, Va., March 26, 1892.

The gloomy fears and the weariness of soul, of which so many complain, would disappear if the blood were made more healthy before it reaches the brain. Ayer's Sarsaparilla purifies and vitalizes the blood, and thus conduces to health of body and mind.

Sow with a generous hand;
Pause not for toil or pain;
Weary not through the heat of summer,
Weary not through the cold spring rain;
But wait till the autumn comes
For the sheaves of golden grain.

—Adelaide Procter.

Second Annual Meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention of North Carolina.

TO BE HELD IN WINSTON, APRIL 14—17, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Organization.

Welcome words by pastor. Responses.

Address by George W. Sanderlin. Subject: The Bible in the Sunday school.

7:30 p. m.—Address by C. A. Jenkens. Subject: The Holy Spirit's Work in the Preparation, Exposition and Application of Scripture Lessons in the Sunday-school.

Address by T. P. Bell. Subject: Sunday-school Literature as a Means of Developing Interest in Missionary Work.

Friday, 10 a. m.—Address by J. C. Scarborough. Subject: The Influence of Sunday-school Training on our Denominational Life.

Address by J. K. Fant. Subject: The Obligational of Churches to their Sunday-schools and the Schools to their churches.

Miscellaneous business.

3 p. m.—Address by A. W. Price. Subject: The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school.

Questions and answers on general work.

General discussion on mission schools, how to organize and successfully run them.

7 p. m.—Address by F. M. Ellis. Subject: The Centennial of Missions.

Saturday, 10 a. m.—Address by W. L. Poteat. Subject: Sunday school Equipment, Rooms, Bibles, Song-books, Maps, Literature, and our Supply Store.

General discussion on Methods and Helps.

Address by J. M. Frost. Subject: The Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention.

3 p. m.—Address by D. M. Austin. Subject: How can the Schools Aid our Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in Sunday-school Mission and Colportage Work?

Address by O. L. Stringfield. Subject: Country Sunday-schools, their Importance, and How to Sustain Them.

Conference: Summer Bible School. Shall it be? Where?

7:30 p. m.—Address by T. J. Taylor. Subject: The Baptist Orphanage, what should the Sunday-schools Do for It?

Miscellaneous business.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution gives the only basis of representation as follows:

ART. 3. This Convention shall be composed of one male lay delegate and one associate from each Sunday-school, regardless of contributions, and of Baptist ministers and superintendents of Baptist Sunday-schools in North Carolina who shall pay annually one dollar each to the Treasurer, and of male delegates chosen by the Sunday-schools and Sunday Associations. Each school and each Sunday-school Association shall be entitled to one delegate on the payment annually of five dollars to the Treasurer, and to two additional delegates on the payment to the Treasurer of ten dollars for the objects of the Convention. Each school shall be entitled to two delegates chosen by the school on the payment of five dollars to the Treasurer. The associates shall be women. This Convention shall co operate with the Baptist State Convention and its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools and with the Southern Baptist Convention.

ART. 4. Only members of white Baptist churches shall be eligible to membership in the Convention as delegates or as associate delegates. The associate delegates shall not be entitled to the "floor of the house."

ENTERTAINMENT.

Delegates will be entertained by the people of Winston. The committee on hospitality, however, will be responsible for the entertainment of those delegates only who notify the pastor, Rev. H. A. Brown, by Thursday, April 7th, 1892, of their expectation to be present.

ROUND-TRIP RAILROAD FARE TO CONVENTION.

From Rutherfordton, $9.35; Shelby, 7.80; Lincolnton, 6.60; Charlotte, 5.95; Fayetteville, 6 65; Henderson, 6.10; Maxton, 7.95; Sanford, 5.05; Marion, 7.55; Wilmington, 9.20; Weldon, 9.05; Goldsboro, 7.05; Selma, 6 45; Raleigh, 5.40; Durham, 4.30; Greensboro, 1.65. Intermediate points in same proportion.

N. B. BROUGHTON,
T. H. BRIGGS,
T. M. PITTMAN,
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
JNO. T. PULLEN,
Executive Committee.

Read This.

Let those who are appointed to attend the Sunday-school Convention in Winston send their names to the pastor (Rev. H. A. Brown) immediately, that the Committee may arrange for homes. We can not be responsible for those who do not send their names before April 7th as published in the programme. Fraternally,

COMMITTEE ON HOSPITALITY.

Winston, March 19, 1892.

HELP! HELP! THE LADY FAINTS.

"'Tis the twink of an eye,
'Tis the draught of a breath,
From the blossom of health,
To the paleness of death."

When sudden fainting spells come upon a lady, you may always suspect some uterine disturbances or trouble, or some great disorder in the circulation and nerve centers. A remedy that has always proved successful in warding off and removing the tendency to a recurrence of fainting spells—that removes the cause of them, corrects the circulation of blood, and gives to the system that even running nervous energy so essential, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

The "Prescription" is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money refunded. Nothing else does as much. You only pay for the good you get. Can you ask more?

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at the critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The change of Life."

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.
T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

CONSUMPTION
T POSITIVELY CURED. T
H H
E E
B B
E E
S S
T T

Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Whatever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

Blind.

They are blind who will not try a box of

BEECHAM'S PILLS

for the disorders which grow out of Impaired Digestion. For a Weak Stomach, Constipation Disordered Liver, Sick Headache, or any Bilious and Nervous ailments, they take the place of an entire medicine chest.

Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St. 91

OUR NEW 1892 FLOWER SEED OFFER.

A Magnificent Collection of FLOWER SEEDS 200 Varieties, FREE!

An Unparalleled Offer by an Old-Established and Reliable Publishing House! THE LADIES' WORLD is a mammoth 20-page, 60-column illustrated paper for ladies and the family circle. It is devoted to stories, poems, ladies' fancy work, artistic needlework, home decoration, housekeeping, fashions, hygiene, juvenile reading, etiquette, etc. To introduce this charming ladies' paper into 100,000 homes where it is not already taken, we now make the following colossal offer: Upon receipt of only 12 Cents in silver or stamps, we will send The Ladies' World for Three Months, and to each subscriber we will also send Free and postpaid, a rare and magnificent Collection of Choice Flower Seeds, two hundred varieties, including Pansies, Verbenas, Chrysanthemums, Asters, Phlox Drummondii, Balsam, Cypress Vine, Stocks, Digitalis, Double Zinnia, Pinks, etc., etc. Remember, twelve cents pays for the paper three months and this entire magnificent Collection of Choice Flower Seeds, put up by a first-class Seed House and warranted fresh and reliable. No lady can afford to miss this wonderful opportunity. We guarantee every subscriber many times the value of money sent, and will refund your money and make you a present of both seeds and paper if you are not satisfied. Ours is an old and reliable publishing house, endorsed by all the leading newspapers. Do not confound this offer with the catchpenny schemes of unscrupulous persons. Write to-day—don't put it off! Six subscriptions and six Seed Collections sent for 60 cents.

LOVE-IN-A-MIST.

SPECIAL OFFER! To any lady answering this advertisement and naming the paper in which she saw it, we will send, in addition to all the above, one packet of the new and popular imported Love-in-a-Mist, a hardy, erect-growing annual, with bright green fennel-shaped leaves, finely cut, and bearing a very pretty and curious blue flower. Plants grow about 12 inches high, are of the easiest culture, and very profuse bloomers. We will also send free one copy of our Manual of Floriculture, a book of great interest and value to all cultivators of flowers.

ANOTHER GREAT OFFER! Upon receipt of Thirty-five Cents (our regular subscription price) we will send The Ladies' World for One Year, together with our magnificent Collection of Choice Flower Seeds above described, likewise one packet of "Love-in-a-Mist" and our "Manual of Floriculture." Address:

S. H. MOORE & CO., 37 Park Place, New York.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:

Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:

Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE,
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*8 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	41 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*8 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 p m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*0 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*0 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7-15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2.00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leaves Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leaves Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday, for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 23, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m	.....	.....
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Bennettsville	.....	12.40 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	1.27 p m	.....
Ar Fayetteville	.....	2.57 p m	.....
Lv Ramseur	.....	.....	7:25 a m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	10:35 a m
Ar Madison	.....	.....	1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m	.....	.....
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	.....	2:11 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	3:33 p m	.....
Ar Bennettsville	.....	4:29 p m	.....
Lv Madison	.....	.....	2:45 p m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur	.....	.....	8:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, MRS. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

The Motive of Adoniram Judson's Life.

All the great predestinated movements in society are brought to pass through the instrumentality of predestinated men, men of giant mould and exceptional endowments. The hour and the man are always matched in the providential plan. Dr. Judson was a great man in the highest sense of that phrase; great in intellect, great in will, great in moral qualities, fertile in resources, inflexible in purpose, and unswerving in integrity. These endowments were informed and pervaded by a spiritual consecration which subordinated every faculty and power to the obedience of faith. Here, then, was the hiding of his power. He accomplished the great results of his life, not from the intensity of his love for humanity, not even under the fervors of his love for him whom he had deliberately accepted as his Lord and Pattern, but from an overmastering and all comprehending of duty. From the day that he accepted Christ as his Saviour, he also accepted the law of service. Having been bought with a price, he henceforth belonged to his Master, and gave himself up to obey his word and do his will.

This sense of loyalty to Christ led to the efforts which he made, in company with others, to organize a society for foreign missions. The petition which he drafted for the General Association of Massachusetts, the interviews he held with the leading ministers of the commonwealth, and the importunity with which he followed them, all came from this lofty principle. This sustained him in the face of difficulties, rendered him superior alike to ridicule and reproach, and held him steadily to the one end he had set before him as at once the guide and inspiration of his life.

See also the force of this supreme motive in enabling him to sever the ties and surrender all the privileges and hallowed associations of country and home and christian fellowship to go to a land of darkness and barbarous customs, to dwell among and labor for a people whose tender mercies were cruel.

Moreover, we are able to see, in the light of this motive, how he was borne on in the careful investigation which he instituted as to the grounds of the faith and practice which he had received from the traditions of his fathers. He had only one thought in beginning and prosecuting his researches, which was to be sure of his ground and to know the way of duty. When Mrs. Judson begged him to desist from the investigations relating to the form and subjects of baptism, in view of the unhappy consequences to which they might lead, he replied that "his duty compelled him to satisfy his own mind, and to embrace those sentiments which appeared most concordant with Scripture." A less courageous man, a man of less uncompromising sense of duty, might have felt satisfied in stifling the convictions of conscience, as many have done since his day in respect to doctrines more vital than that of baptism. But he gladly bore the heavy and most unenviable cross involved in separation from all whom he had loved, trusted and honored in his previous life, and from all his fondly cherished hopes born of human relationships and associations. For we must remember that his embarrassment arose not only from the ties which he severed, but also from the repulsions which he would have to overcome. Mrs. Judson in the account she gave of the change, did not conceal the aversion she had long felt to the followers of the newly accepted faith, and there is no reason to suppose that Mr. Judson's traditional prejudice was less than hers. In fact, it is impossible for us, in these times of better acquaintance and larger charity, to understand the mutual antipathies which the Congregationalists and Baptists of those days entertained toward each other. It must have been a sore trial to bear the reproach of desertion from the old to the new and despised fold. Nothing less than the bond of duty could have held the young missionary to such a sacrifice.—Selected.

Deafness Can't be Cured

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Misers.

Every body looks with disgust upon a miser. Yet there are spiritual misers; people who keep all their religion to themselves and never do anything to communicate its blessedness to others. They get no good out of their religion just as the miser receives no comfort from his hoarded thousands. In things spiritual as well as material "it is more blessed to give than to receive."—Central Baptist.

Cuba.

[The following letter from Bro. Diaz is in response to one written by Dr. Tichenor, telling of our financial straits. He also asked for information concerning the opening of stations in other cities of Cuba. A portion of the letter is marked "Private," but we give the whole of it just as it was written.]

HAVANA, CUBA, Mar. 16, 1892.

Dear Dr. I. T. Tichenor:—Your letter of March 9th is at hand. I am extremely sorry to hear of the financial depression of the Board.

Do not worry about the missionaries in Cuba, the Lord will provide for them—he has before, he will again. We have some Spanish proverbs that meet this emergency, and prepare us to cheerfully submit to our fate. They are as follows: "When the sun rises it shines for all, and when it rains we all get wet." No partiality is shown, and do you remember Christ's words in his sermon on the mount?

"Why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin, and yet I say unto you that Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these." And the beautiful hymn, "Oh do not be discouraged for Jesus is your friend." We ought to be very thankful, the kind Saviour has been very merciful unto us, and he will not forsake us in these time of perplexity. We have been mercifully brought through this season of "la grippe" safely where others have not been so fortunate.

You ask who will come from Cuba to the Convention. Many would be willing and glad to go, but ours is a peculiar people, and their religious training from childhood has been slack, and they get accustomed to a certain routine and if that is interrupted they wander like sheep, and it is with difficulty they are brought back to the fold again with any regularity. The church is well attended; we have good congregations on Sunday, and Thursday, evenings, a larger and more intelligent public attendance and more interest than usual prevails.

We cannot close our churches here like you can in the States, even for a short period, and for several of us to leave now, even for a few weeks, might do us a lasting injury. I consider it would not be wise. It would take at least two months to regain our present footing, and our people are surrounded with temptations, Sabbath days more than others, to lure them from their nobler habits; temptation stares them in the face at every turn. We must not let them feel that they are homeless. The only one at liberty to go this year is myself, and perhaps Miss Gertie Joerg, who if she goes will be prepared with all details concerning our mission, to render accounts of it whenever required of her.

This year there is more to do than ever before, making it more difficult also to absent myself any length of time. I intend to have Brother Cova fill my place part of the time—if possible, divide the work with some of the other missionaries. Brother Cova has been away several weeks, and returned to his work with renewed interest. He is doing very well; his charge is in a flourishing condition, and his school is advancing and has more applicants than he is able to take care of, although he has his mother's valuable assistance.

The school at Neptuno street we were compelled to move further out, as a dispute about the land took place, and it has increased to such an extent that my mother and sister Asuncion were obliged to go there and leave this school, the supply of teachers there was insufficient to meet the demand; it is now in a prosperous condition.

The school in Jane is carried on by my wife, a Spanish lady, and Miss Joerg, who has charge of the English class. This week ten new scholars entered; schools are all well attended.

To place new missionaries in other towns will require some meditation as to the best mode of proceeding, so we will consider this matter somewhat before coming to any decision.

We are happy to say that Brother Paine and his wife are with us at present; we are particularly favored this year, as their stay is longer than usual. They are very much loved by all our people, always taking such kind interest in our mission and always occupying themselves about our welfare. Bro. Paine attends all meetings; every station and mission is favored with his presence. No matter how bad the roads nor how inclement the weather, you will surely find Mr. Paine there. He thoroughly investigates our work, schools, Sabbath and day schools, examinations and all. He has kindly brought out a magic lantern, with many well selected views to entertain and instruct our children and grown folks, furnishing them with an abundance of pleasure. His entertainments are well attended and appreciated. I am making the most of this opportunity, and deliver lectures in connection with some of the most important subjects to enlighten and impress the minds of the old as well as the young. I think it is a success. Brother Paine is always busy, he does missionary work among the migratory Americans that come to visit our land, many of whom have never heard of our mission. When he is not able to speak to his countrymen personally, he has notices of our services printed placed in the hotels, in fact he never rests. May the Lord shower blessings upon him, and give him a long life for his noble work. Many kind regards from my family. I am as ever,

Yours in christian love,
A. J. DIAZ.

Private.

The bishop has persecuted us for more than three years in the cemetery line. He puts three years ago the charges for his cemetery at $3 apiece, while we have it for $5.50. About two months ago he has take that back and charge as usual $18 for each remain. That is the reason why the number of interments has increased in our cemetery, and if it continues so I do hope we can support part of our work. Do you see how merciful is God with us? He help us as soon as we need him. I borrow $174, and with money from the cemetery I pay the missionaries last month. Please give give this account to Brother Adair. DIAZ.

[NOTE.—It is seen from the above that so far from using mission funds to support the cemetery, Bro. Diaz is able to draw funds from the receipts of the cemetery to support the missionaries. Indeed, we may repeat again what we have several times mentioned, but it seems so hard for brethren to understand:—We have not only never paid one dollar of mission funds for either the purchase or the maintenance of the cemetery, but it has yielded a net income of over four thousand dollars, which has been paid into the treasury of the Board.—Editor of the Home Field.]

"Overcoming."

We talk about power, and men may grow conceited as they lift themselves up and say, "I will be strong and conquer the world." Ah! it is not to be done so. There is one real and true strength in this universe, and that is God's strength, and no man ever did any strong thing yet that God did not do that strong in him. A man makes himself full of strength only as the trumpet makes itself full, by letting it be held at the lips of the trumpeter; so only man lets himself be made strong as he lets himself be held in the hand of God. As the chisel is powerless—if it tries to carve a statue by itself, it goes tumbling and stumbling over the precious surface of the stone—as the chisel becomes itself filled and inspired with genius when it is put into the hand of the artist; so man, putting himself into the hand of God, loses his awkwardness as well as his feebleness and becomes full of the graciousness and the strength of the perfect nature.

And to put myself into the hands of God, what does it mean? To know that God is my Father; to know that my life is a true issuing in this world of his life; to know that I become myself, only as I know myself his child. So the soul puts itself into the soul of God, and lets God do its work through him, so that that great mysterious consciousness enters into the life which was in Paul's life. Do you remember, "I live, yet not I, but Christ liveth in me?" So the soul which has given itself to God in filial consecration says, "I live, yet not I, but God liveth in me."—Phillips Brooks.

Reading the Hymn Book.

What better system of doctrine or confession of faith than can be found in the good hymn books? How often does the heart of the christian, who is alone, prompt a song which the tongue refuses to utter simply because it cannot remember the words? It would prove a means of grace during many a meditative hour if the time were taken to memorize the sweet old hymns. Read them over and over until their rhythmic beauty has caused them to sing themselves through your soul, and with what zest and spirit would you join in the congregational singing of them on the Lord's day? Let the fountain of song be opened in your soul and the joy of the Lord would increasingly become your strength. The grating wheels of many a dull day's progress would be made to run smoothly and swiftly by the oil of heavenly song.

To all these ends, every christian ought to be the owner of a hymn book, and not depend on the supply on Sunday at church. Your hymn book should be in your home and kept in a handy place. You should make it one of the books of the home circle, teaching its contents to your children, searching into the history of the composition and authorship of each hymn, but above all reading, memorizing and singing them, making melody in your heart unto God.—E. Y Mullins, in the Baptist.

Engineering in Montana.

Henry I. McDaniel, ex-City Engineer of Atlanta, now in charge of Government engineering in Montana Territory, says that he contracted a terrible cough which no physician could relieve, but was cured by Taylor's Cherokee Remedy of Sweet Gum and Mullein.

If you are a good man, what are you good for?—Ram's Horn.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

God's Cradle Song.

Two texts of Scripture there are, which, put together, I think are the most wonderful in the Bible. They suggest a child lying in the cradle, a loving face bent over it, and a sweet voice murmuring above its head. But I marvel with inexpressible surprise and adoration when I find who the singer is, and who is the child. The first verse is found in Isaiah 65: 19, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." The other verse I find in Zephaniah 3: 17, "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love; he will joy over thee with singing." Oh, I have thought again and again in my history of this picture; and I am not too proud to say my eyes have filled with tears of emotion as I have tried to comprehend how the eternal Jehovah seems to sing beside one who loves him, as I remember my mother used to sing restful songs of comfort beside our bed on the old Sabbath nights.—Congregational Magazine.

No experience makes one grow old so fast as struggling to keep down the voice of conscience. No one can do this without wasting the strength of his life.—Dr. A. E. Dunning.

ITCHING HUMORS

Torturing, disfiguring eczemas, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp diseases, with dry, thin, and falling hair, are relieved in most cases by a single application, and speedily and economically cured by the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies, when the best physicians fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every humor, eruption, and disease from pimples to scrofula. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

FREE FROM RHEUMATISM.

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. The first and only pain-killing strengthening plaster.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "take the country."

Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 6 weeks to be filled, but now we have VASTLY increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our Increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. is the 4th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition, and never has yet been shown a single feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 5,000 dynamometer tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For 93 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, still, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 12 Main St., San Francisco.

The Aermotor Pneumatic Water Supply System enables you to supply every part of your house with water without an Elevated Tank.

GALVANIZED

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Copper and Tin School and Church
BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Prices and Terms Free. Name this paper.

Peace Institute,
RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.
JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.
Please mention this paper.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c.

D. L. Gore,
120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

THIS ORGAN ONLY $29.00
SEND FOR CATALOGUE
H. W. ALLEGER,
Washington, N. J.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

$50.00 A WEEK

A bright, energetic man or woman wanted to take the sole agency for an article that is needed in every home and indispensable in every office. SELLS AT SIGHT, in town or country. $700 in 90 days and a steady income afterward. A "Bonanza" for the right person. Good jobs are scarce and soon taken. Write at once.
J. W. JONES, Manager, Springfield, Ohio.

Edwards & Broughton,
PRINTERS AND BINDERS,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day-books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,
RALEIGH, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 25 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C, W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2300 testimonials.

BELLS

Best Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL CO., Hillsboro, O.

Literary.

St. Nicholas for April is an excellent number of that magazine. Among the contributors may be mentioned Chas. F. Holder, Julian Ralph, Lieut. R. H. Fletcher, Chas. F. Loomis, Brander Matthews, Mary Hallock Foote, Katharine Pyle, Laura E. Richards, Rev. George McArthur, William A. Eddy and N. Frederick Carryl. As usual the illustrations are numerous and well executed. $3 a year. The Century Company, New York.

The Forum for April contains two literary articles of value—one, an autobiographical article about his own opinions and methods, by the late Prof. Edward A. Freeman; and another on "The Learning of Languages," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton. Economic and historical articles are on the great coal combination, "Our Anthracite Supply and Distribution," by Joseph S. Harris, president of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company; "The Germans as Emigrants," by the celebrated German economist Prof. Geffcken; "Reformatory Prisons as Schools of Crime," by Wm. P. Andrews, clerk of the Criminal Court at Salem, Mass. The Forum, New York; $5 a year.

Review of Reviews. The principal article in the April number is an elaborate discussion by Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the magazine, of the most current phases of municipal problems in New York and London, illustrated with a large number of very fine portraits of distinguished men in the two great capitals of the English-speaking world. With this number the Review of Reviews enters upon its second year. It has had an exceptional, if not an altogether unique, history. One year ago it was known only to a few discriminating readers, and its subscription list and news-stand sales required only a few thousand copies. Its edition the present month is 70,000 copies, and it is eagerly read in every State and territory in the Union and in every part of Canada. Price, $3.50 a year. The Reviews of Reviews, 13 Astor Place, New York.

The Century for April has an article on "Our Common Roads," by Isaac B. Potter. Nothing could more vividly depict the wrong way to do it than some of the striking illustrations of this paper, while the right way is also fully pictured and described. This is a subject which interests not only farmers, but all who go on wheels, whether propelled by horse-hower or man-power. The cause of good common roads is one that especially appeals to the numerous army of bicyclers. "The Mother and Birth place of Washington" is another timely subject treated by Mrs. Ella Bassett Washington—timely, because the women of America are just now particularly interested in commemorating the mother of our first President by restoring her mutilated monument. Prof. Holden of Lick Observatory has a popular paper on "The Total Solar Eclipses of 1889," very curiously illustrated. A particularly out-of-the way experience is that described by Mr. Whitmarsh in his account of "Fishing for Pearls in Australia." The author was himself a diver, and tells some strange things concerning that extraordinary calling. This number of the Century closes the forty-third half-yearly volume. $4 a year. The Century Company, New York.

Ordination.

A presbytery composed of Rev. W. P. Jordan of Hertford, Rev. Dr. C. P. Boguart, Rev. J. Tynch of Edenton, and Rev. J. R. Matthews of Hexlena, called by the Baptist church at Pantego, N. C., to examine into the call and qualification, &c., and to ordain Bro. W. R. Carawan of Rose Bay, Hyde county, to the gospel ministry, met at the house of Dr. W. J. Bullock, and organized with Rev. W. P. Jordan as chairman, and W. J. Bullock as secretary.

Brother Jordan read the first seven verses of the third chapter of Timothy. Prayer by Brother Tynch.

After a careful examination of the candidate it was decided to ordain him to preach the gospel, the ordination to take place in the Baptist church at Pantego.

Sunday at 11 o'clock Bro. W. P. Jordan preached the ordination sermon from 1 Cor. 1: 23, to a large audience in the Baptist church at Pantego. Bro. J. Tynch made the ordination prayer; Bro. C. P. Boguart delivered the charge, and Bro. J. R. Matthews presented the Bible. The services were very impressive and instructive.

REV. W. P. JORDAN, Chm.
W. J. BULLOCK, Sec'y.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb 10, 1892.

Teachers of Vocal Music,
It will pay you to send me your address at once.
W. H. PENN,
Eureka Springs, Ark.

PISO'S CURE FOR CURES and MULLEIN is Nature's great remedy for coughs, colds, croup, consumption, all throat and lung troubles.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" lamp-chimneys are made of tough glass that costs four times as much as common glass; and the work on them costs a good deal more than the work on common chimneys, just as the work on a dress is proportioned to cost of stuff.

The dealer is right in saying he can't afford to sell them at the prices of common glass chimneys.

And what will become of his chimney trade if his chimneys never break? He is apt to be wrong there. He can afford to charge a fair price and give new chimneys for all that break in use.

Have a talk with him.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Worthville ch, Liberty, $3.00; Columbia ch, 2.81; Sulphur Springs ch, Tar River, 1.80; Browns' ch, ditto, 2.95; Littleton ch, ditto, 2.00; Forest Home ch, 2.31; Aulander ch, West Chowan, 4.55. Total, 18.92. Previously reported, 1,381,56. Total this year, 1,400.48.

Foreign Missions—W M S, Bera ch, Mt Zion, $4.19; Mt Pisgah ch, Mt Zion, 10.00; W M S, Wake Forest ch, Central, 19.00; S S, Mt Olive ch, Alexander (G W Greene), 2.00; Republican ch, Flat River, 25 00; W M S, Backswamp ch, Robeson, 4.40; W M S, Ten Mile Mile ch, ditto, 2.21; Lumberton ch, Robeson, 20.50; Marion ch, 2.50; Rutherfordton church, Green River, 15.55; Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion, 2.50; Mocksville ch, 10.00; W M S, Charlotte ch, 18.42; Rock Spring ch, Flat River, 25.00; Seaboard ch, W Chowan, 4.02; Union church, Flat River, 11.80; Canetuck Chapel ch, Eastern, 5.00; Roberdel ch, Richmond, 2.00; Sharon ch, ditto, 1.08; S S, Wells' Chapel ch, ditto, North China, 3.20; W M S, Elm ch, W Chowan, 1.95; Third ch, Durham, Mt Zion, 7.75; Eliz ch, Kings Mountain, 7.50; Shelby ch, ditto, 21 35; S E Bostic, ditto, 5.00; Grover ch, ditto, 11.00; Wiling Workers of Wells Chapel S S (for Newton), 15.00; Mt Tabor ch, W Chowan, 15.60; W M S, ditto, ditto, 9.40; Lebanon ch, Alexander, 3.00; Mt Olive ch, ditto, 1.40. Total, 248.22. Previously reported, 1,949.08. Total this year, 2,297.30.

Home Missions—W M S, Bera ch, Mt Zion, $1.28; Mt Airy ch, Pilot Mountain, 4.00; Morganton ch, Catawba River, Havana house, 3.00; Siloam ch, Eastern, ditto, 6.50; Willard ch, ditto, ditto, 3.00; Cleveland ch, So Yadkin, 5.00; Shady Grove ch, ditto, 2.05; Providence 2d ch, So Fork, 2.00; Cumberland Union ch, Cedar Creek, 3.10; Marion ch, 2.75; Rutherfordton ch, Green River, 2.25; Juniper Spring ch, Little River, 1 10; New Salem ch, Sandy Creek, 2.00; Bethany ch, ditto, 4.00; Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion, 2.50; W M S, Charlotte, 18.42; Canetuck Chapel ch, Eastern, 1.00; Rieves Chapel ch, Sandy Creek, 1.86; Sandy Branch ch, ditto, 1.02; Aulander ch, West Chowan, 5.60. Total, 81.48. Previously reported, 622.50. Total this year, 703.98.

Havana House—Oak Grove church, Union, $1.15. Previously reported, 3,416.71. Total to date, 3,147.86.

Education—C Durham, $5.00; Prof E C Beckwith, Wake Forest, 5.00; Leaksville ch, 60.00; Rutherfordton ch, Green River, 75c; Mocksville ch, 5.00; Shelby ch, King's Mountain, 18.16. Total, 88.91. Previously reported, 593.47. Total this year, 682.38.

Orphanage—W M S, Bera church, Mt Zion, $2.35; Pleasant Grove ch, Richmond, 3.20; Roberdel ch, ditto, 3.00; D L Gore, Wilmington, 10.00; Western Prong ch, Cape Fear, 3.00. Total, 21.53. Previously reported, 425.67. Total this year, 447.20.

Ministerial Relief Fund—D L Gore, Wilmington, $5.00.

Sunday-schools—S, S, Dunn ch, $1.00; Caldwell Co S S Association, 1.78; Rutherfordton ch, Green River, 75c; S S, Aulander ch, W Chowan, 98c. Total, 4.51.

Students Aid Fund, Louisville—W M S, Holly Springs ch, $5.00.

In RECORDER, March 23d, Wilmington ch, Eastern Asso, $10.00 for Orphanage, and $5.00 Ministerial Relief, should have been D L Gore, Wilmington, N C.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, April 4, 1892.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $2.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC Co., 889 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Baptist Female University will be held at 4 p. m., April 12th next, in the Mission Rooms in Raleigh.

W. L. POTEAT, President.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 13, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY.
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

The Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., and return at rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale May 3d to 6th inclusive, good returning until May 17th, 1892.

Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville Railroad to furnish any extra sleepers or coaches necessary for the accommodation of delegates and others who will attend the Convention. The delegates from Eastern and Middle Carolina will leave May 4th.

Leave Goldsboro, via R. & D. R. R., at 12:15 p. m.; Raleigh, 6:25 p. m.; Durham, 7:32 p. m; Greensboro, 10:25 p. m.; arrive at Atlanta May 5th, at 12:20 p. m. This will give delegates ample time to get located and refreshed for the opening of the Convention, Friday morning, May 6th. Should they leave on next train following they would arrive at Atlanta at 11:45 p. m. Sleeping car fare from Greensboro to Atlanta will be $2 50 for double berth Two persons can occupy one berth without any extra charge. Those who do not take sleeper will have no change of cars between Greensboro and Atlanta, as the entire train runs through without change. All who expect to attend the Convention will please write the undersigned, stating at what place they will join the delegation, and how much space they will want in sleeper, in order that ample accommodations may be provided. The rate will be one lowest first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 3d to 6th inclusive.

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.30; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 12.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

PRICES OF BOARD.

For such delegates as perfer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $2.00 to 3.00; Markham House, 2.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.00; Grant House, 1.25; board at first class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the Convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with this request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

A cotton compress syndicate has purchased all the compresses in New Orleans except two. The price paid was $20,000,000.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28-30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28-30.
Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5-7.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27-29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27-29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27-29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhamach., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27-29.
West Chowan—Aulander ch., April 12,

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

RHEUMATISM
neuralgia, and sciatica can always be successfully treated with Ayer's Sarsaparilla
A cure is sure to follow the persistent use of this medicine.
Has Cured Others
will cure you.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous Please state your trouble and how long afflicted

OPIUM.
Morphine and the Whisky Habits.
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

DROPSY TREATED FREE Positively CURED with Vegetable Remedies. Have cured many thousand cases called hopeless. From first dose symptoms rapidly disappear, and in ten days at least two-thirds of all symptoms are removed. BOOK of testimonials of miraculous cures sent FREE. 10 DAYS TREATMENT FREE by mail. DR. H. H. GREEN & SONS, Specialists, ATLANTA, GA.

READY APRIL 25th.
THE STANDARD
LIFE OF SPURGEON,
BY
H. L. WAYLAND, D. D.
Cloth, 300 pages. 20 Illustrations.
PRICE, $1.25.

The author has long been a personal friend of the great Baptist preacher, and will present his life as seen in the pulpit, in the orphanage, in the college, and in his home, also including an account of his closing days and funeral

An Agent Wanted in Every Church.

AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATON SOCIETY.
PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW YORK, CHICAGO,
ST. LOUIS, ATLANTA.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS!
A. B. FORREST.
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE
Easter Music. All kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. F. W. Root's New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The clearest and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.50 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price $1.25. King Rudeness, by Jas. R. Murray, a charming new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection in the market, contains the latest and best songs, 132 pages. Price 30 cents. Anthems Jewels, by H. P. Danks. Anthems for opening and closing of services, offertory, etc., etc., 64 pages. Price 25 cents. Collections of Latest and Best Vocal and Instrumental Music. Complete lists of contents furnished on application.
THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains anthems and voluntaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter. Published monthly. Price 15 cents a single copy, $1.50 a year. Special terms to clubs.
—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 11 E. 16th St., New York.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!
If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the Chatham Manufacturing Company,
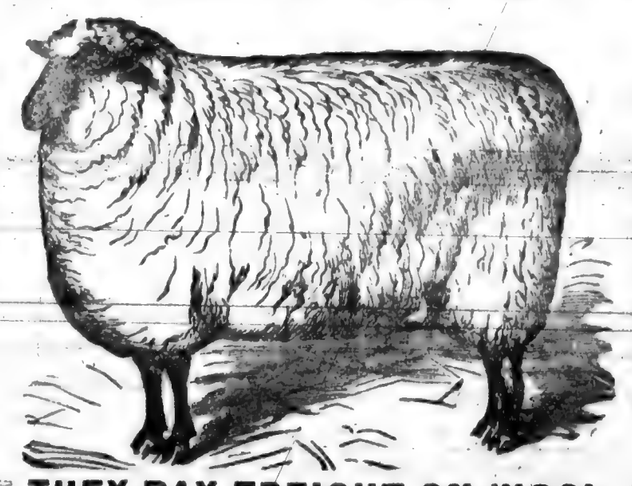
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.


THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

"MURRAY" BETTER than GOLD "MURRAY"
There are not many things that are as good, or equal in value to Gold, and VERY FEW that are BETTER THAN GOLD. It is, however, a known fact that there are thousands of owners of our world-renowned "Murray" Buggies and Harness all over the continent, who say they would not give up their "Murray" Buggies and Harness for their value in gold, if they knew that they could not get another of the same kind. Our
MURRAY $55.95 BUGGIES and $5.95 HARNESS
are known the world over and are justly recognized as the BEST and CHEAPEST Vehicles and Harness on the market. We sell direct to the consumer at prices beyond competition and belong to neither the Buggy or Harness Pool or Trust.
Do you wish to purchase a Buggy or Harness this year? If so, and you want value received for your money and something BETTER THAN GOLD, there is but one make to buy and that is the celebrated "MURRAY."

Many Firms Make Big Claims
But we Prove Our Words by Deeds
AND WILL WAGER
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS with any Carriage or Harness Firm in the U. S., same to be given to any charitable institution by the loser that we can show more honest and better testimonials for the "MURRAY" Buggies and Harness for the time our goods have been on the market, than any one Factory in the World.
$1000
Write for our Large Illustrated Catalogue, containing full description and prices of our "MURRAY" Vehicles and Harness. We will mail it to you FREE. Address all letters to
"MURRAY" THE WILBER H. MURRAY MFG. CO., CINCINNATI, O. "MURRAY"
MURRAY BUILDING.

Rev. D. W. Herring Coming Home.

Dear Bro. Bailey:—We are out on the ocean and homeward bound. Though this is our seventh year from home, about the average length of the missionary's first absence, we had thought until lately of waiting till 1894 to go home; but I have come to feel, with a good many of my fellow missionaries, that now is the time to do a special work there. We can be spared from our work in Shanghai as well now, so far as I can see, as we could be two years hence. Bro. Tatum has already been there three years and knows the ins and outs of the work. He needs a fellow-missionary, as I did before he came; but one was not likely to come while I remained. I was afraid the native brethren would feel badly about my leaving them even for a short time; but, on the contrary, at the "send off" meeting they got up for us, when I had explained fully my purpose in going home, and our experience of the Lord's leadings to begin work in the interior of China, they entered with enthusiasm into the plan and thanked the Lord that we were going home on such an errand. Many were the prayers for our safe return to and from our native land. But the burden of their prayers was that our going might prove the occasion of the Lord's sending forth to this their people many more laborers. I never heard them pray for this object so earnestly before. The brother who conducted the meeting had been led of God to select, for his reading, passages of Scripture bearing on sending laborers into the harvest. They already knew, but not so fully then, that we were proposing to start a work in the interior with a view to living amongst the people in native houses and native dress, doing nothing but preach the gospel, and asking no more of the people at home than a support for ourselves. It does my soul good to see how they appreciate the idea. I go with fresh inspiration from that meeting, feeling that the prayers of these good Chinese brethren for the Lord's blessing upon my mission home are going to be blessed. One of these brethren, seeing that I was going home on the Lord's business, said it was a fulfillment of the Scripture, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Seeking the furtherance of his kingdom, the Lord was adding unto us the great pleasure of going home to see our loved ones. The thought of seeing them so soon, the Lord willing, sweetens the hours and days of the voyage.

In view of what I wish to do, it is a source of special gratitude that we are so well. I am even stronger than when I went to China. My little girl was perhaps the only one that stood in sore need of change of climate, though we do not know how long before this need might have manifested itself in others of us. Our doctor said this was quite long enough for the first stay. So by the time this appears in your columns, we hope to be in your midst. Faithfully,

D. W. HERRING

Mid Ocean, March 11, 1892.

The Bible and Business.

I consider it very important to have it distinctly understood that the Bible is a perfect rule of faith and practice.

No matter in what earnest calling a man may be engaged, the Scriptures furnish sufficient instruction in the way of honesty. An impression seems, however, to exist that when we do things upon a large scale, it is folly to attempt to keep our proceedings within Scriptural limits. I have a hundred times heard it directly or indirectly said in politics, in war, and in commerce, it is impossible to proceed in conformity with the Scriptures.

That is a virtual denial of the sufficiency of God's Word, and a lie of the same kind that Satan told our first parents: "God doth know that ye shall be as gods;" "God doth know that you cannot apply these old fashioned rules to the modern and extended plans of war, commerce, and the like." Now the same natural law that brings an apple from the tree to the ground keeps the planets in their places. And so the same moral law that binds the conscience and should regulate the proceedings of the enormous money transactions of the Rothschilds.

In making plain the bearing of the Bible upon business, the following truths may be stated:

1. The Bible does not forbid the acquiring of wealth by honest means. To the Ephesians whom Christianity reformed, it was said: "Let him labor, working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have to give to him that needeth." "Not slothful in business" is one of the marks of a christian. The Bible, therefore, does not forbid honest trade. Nay, as honest and healthy trade is for the good of both parties, it rather encourages it, for it requires us to do good to all as we have opportunity. And it is well worth noticing that trade flourishes best in an atmosphere filled with Bible truth. A man on the other side of the globe will give an order involving half his fortune, trusting to the integrity of a British merchant. This "confidence" is one of the first essentials to traffic, and all the more fearful therefore is the loss of it, and all the more criminal those who impair it. But the Scriptures lay down clear and explicit rules for the guidance of trade. "Thou shalt not steal" is the embargo laid by the Bible on every fraudulent transaction. And when the buyer declares "it is naught, it is naught," and having seduced the less skillful into a bargain, straightway boasteth of his acuteness, the Bible comes in and declares, "Lie not one to another." And when seller or buyer would take an unfair advantage of the ignorance or the want of his customer, the Bible comes and lays between them the golden rule, "Whatsoever ye would that men do to you, do ye even so to them."

2. The Bible does forbid unduly valuing money. The wealth, to save which for an heir the owner hoarded, putting away from him many a generous emotion and many a pressing claim, instead of blessing often curses him who inherits it. The joy it is expected to give the living is often never reaped. As he came, so he goes—empty and naked. The heathen prince may have his wives and contribute to his joys in the spirit world, but religion banishes such delusion. Sleep is often enjoyed in a smoky cabin and on a hard bed, when it is wooed in vain to the chambers of the rich. The wealthy man is offered upon plate dainties which he dare not eat, while the poor "cotter" eats his dinner of herbs with gladness. Money cannot and does not give a tithe of the happiness it is supposed to give. Yet the great evil of our day is the undue value put upon money.

For money professions are chosen, children are educated, marriages are made. Money covers more sins than charity. A man may be licentious, a swearer, a Sabbath breaker, nay, even a drunkard, or dishonest, but let him be wealthy, and he will be generally received and flattered. Now this erroneous estimate of money the Scriptures forbid.

3. The Bible forbids the unduly eager pursuit of wealth. That man whose toils go so near the dawning of the Sabbath that he is unfit for the privileges of the day is unduly seeking wealth. Let him reduce his business or get another hand. His soul is being starved to fill his purse. The poor slop-worker in the garrett is so ill paid that food and fuel are out of the question, because "the trade" must get the largest price for the smallest outlay. True, "the trade is doing it," and "the trade" is not expected to have a conscience; but in the haste to be rich that poor, haggard woman and her thin-faced children are suffering. The railway company can make a quarter per cent. off "Sunday" trains. True, porters, engine drivers and car drivers lose their Sabbath, but a quarter per cent. per annum is gained. Now all this the Scriptures forbid. There is a "sea of perdition" to which they who "will be rich" are led by a few steps like these to be drowned.—Rev. John Hall, D. D.

"Is it customary and proper to give preachers fees for conducting funerals?" A good Baptist brother puts this question to us. We answer that it is eminently proper, but not generally customary. It is quite customary to pay a minister a fee for performing a marriage ceremony, and to conduct a funeral is a much heavier draft on his time and energy than to marry a couple. It is proper, therefore, to pay a much larger fee for a funeral than for a marriage.

No minister ever thinks of making any formal charge for a funeral, any more than for a marriage. He will render the service, leaving the question of the fee entirely to the parties who call on him for the service. If he gets no fee, he makes no complaint. If he gets a fee, he appreciates the kind remembrance.

The best educated people and those most accustomed to the usages of the best society generally give the minister a fee for conducting a funeral; but there are many excellent people who never think of such a thing. People should be under no constraint in the matter. When they give a fee, it should be spontaneously and heartily given. No minister with any delicacy of feeling would think of demanding a fee for conducting a funeral; nor would he, for performing a marriage ceremony. But in both cases, it is proper a fee should be paid, proportioned to the ability of the parties and to their appreciation of the service rendered.—Western Recorder.

FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Indigestion, and Stomach disorders, use
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
All dealers keep it, $1 per bottle. Genuine has trade mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

Berlin.

Our first wanderings through the streets of Berlin did not fill our souls with that thrill of joy and that sympathetic trepidation of the whole being which we experienced when we first visited Venice, for instance, or Florence, or Constantinople; nor did they excite that wonderment and eager desire to appreciate which we had felt in the great American cities like Chicago. Berlin is absolutely wanting in charm, whether of situation, of general aspect, or of historical souvenirs. It is a modern city, but its modern aspect has no marked character, and next to no originality. From the time of Frederick the Great, who was the founder of its prosperity, down to the present period of active transformation, which dates from the Franco-German war, the architectural history of Berlin was almost entirely one of imitation and adaptation. The street architecture, until within the past ten years, has been absolutely null—mere rows of box like habitations pierced with the necessary openings for light, ingress or egress, but conceived absolutely as a packing-case is conceived, without any regard for agreeableness of proportions, lines, and distribution of masses. The public buildings, of which several are grandiose, have been erected, for the most part, under the influence of mistaken admiration of the models of ancient Greece.—Theodore Child in Harper's Magazine.

"Beauty" may be "only skin deep;" but the secret of a beautiful skin is pure blood. Those coarse, rough, pimply complexions may, in most cases, be rendered soft, smooth, and fair by the persevering and systematic use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Mt. Airy people will have a chance on the 2d of May next to vote on a proposition to issue bonds for water-works.

Walter E. Shaw of Houston, Texas, while drunk, killed his mother and aunt to get forty dollars to continue his spree.

A large paper mill at Dumbar, Scotland, was burned on the 2d inst., causing a loss of 100,000 pounds.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The name of Raleigh's new hotel will be "The Park," and will have eighty-five rooms. The cost will be $60,000. Work is going on rapidly.

Judge J. J. Davis of the Supreme Court has had another attack of paralysis, and is now at his home in Louisburg. It is feared that his work is ended.

The Raleigh ladies are requested to meet in the Yarborough House parlors on Thursday morning, April 7th, at 11 a. m., to transact important business pertaining to the World's Fair building in Chicago. By order of the President, Mrs. R. S. Tucker.

The new steel cruiser "Raleigh" was successfully launched at the Portsmouth navy yard on March 31st. The vessel was christened by Mrs. A. W. Haywood, daughter of Gov. Holt. Thousands witnessed the launching. Raleigh was well represented. Secretary Tracy, prominent naval officials, Gov. Holt and staff, Mayor Badger and many others were present.

State News.

The next Y. M. C. A. State Convention will be held in Winston.

Hon. James A. Leak, President of the Bank of New Hanover at Wadesboro, died recently.

A Hunstinger Institute for the cure of drunkenness and the morphine habit, &c., will be established in Charlotte.

The next meeting of the Western North Carolina Teachers' Association will be held in Waynesville July 14th—17th.

Mr. Charles A. Cawthorne of Vance county, was thrown from a cart by a runaway horse near Kittrell on the 27th ult. and killed.

Mr. Will Gibson of Lemley's township, Mecklenburg county, was thrown from a wagon and instantly killed on the 21st ult.

The Keeley Institute Company for North Carolina has been organized at Durham, the Sun states, with a capital stock of $200,000.

Senator John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky will deliver the commencement oration at the University of North Carolina, Wednesday, June 1st.

The Mt. Airy Granite Company recently closed a contract for $10,000 worth of granite to be used in a government building at Jacksonville, Fla.

We learn that a company has been organized in our town to prepare a tar-kiln ready to be fired, to be taken to the World's Fair. —Windsor Ledger.

Evangelist W. P. Fife has recently closed a very successful meeting in Wilson. Over three hundred professions were reported during the meeting. Mr. Fife was presented with a $500 check.

The Bank of Oxford has been placed in the hands of a receiver, Mr. R. W. Lassiter. All stockholders and depositors will be paid in full. A national bank will be started in Oxford soon, it is said.

Mr. Atlas Taylor, of Jackson, was brutally murdered near that place on the night of the 31st ult., and his body was thrown in a swamp where it was found the next morning. His head had been beaten into a jelly.

Quite an addition is to be made to the buildings of the colored college. Besides two dormitories of sixteen rooms each an addition to the main building 35x75 feet, two stories high, will be made.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

A contract for the building of an iron railroad bridge across the river at this place has been made, and work will begin next month. This bridge will have a draw and will cost between $30,000 and $35,000.—Tarboro Southerner.

The Fayetteville Observer says: The Atlantic Coast Line has begun the survey of another branch railroad, to run from Latta, S. C., to Gibson's Station, crossing the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad at McColl's.

Six prisoners made their escape from the jail in Charlotte on the morning of the 31st ult., by digging through the wall. John Boyd, the negro charged with wrecking the train at Bostian's Bridge last August, was among the number.

Hon. A. M. Waddell will deliver an oration before the University at the next commencement on the "Life and Character of Col. William L. Saunders." The oration will be delivered on Alumni day, Tuesday, May 31st, before the Alumni Association.

Wash Wright colored, is now at jail at Dobson, on suspicion of being the man wanted in Reidsville for shooting a cigar-maker in December 1890, and also of robbing the safe of Col. A. B. Galloway, at Elking of $180, on the night of the 23d ult.

Mr. J. M. Weber, of Pittsburg, Pa., only son of Mr. Chas. G. Weber, who was killed in the wreck at Bostian's bridge last August, was in Statesville last week and entered suit against the railroad company in Iredell Superior Court for $50,000 damages for the killing of his father.—Statesville Landmark.

General News.

Gen. Daniel Dustin, assistant United States treasurer at Chicago, died in Carthage, Mo., on the 30th ult.

Ravachol, an anarchist has been arrested in Paris and confesses that he is the author of all the recent dynamite outrages in that city.

The building of the Ohio Spiral Spring Buggy Company in Cincinnati, Ohio, together with its entire contents was totally destroyed by fire on the 30th ult. Loss $140,000.

English capitalists have secured an option on the Memphis, Tenn., cotton press. The option runs sixty days and the purchase price is $1,500,000, one-third cash and the balance in first mortgage bonds.

Daniel J. Ryan, Secretary of State of Ohio, has resigned in order to take the office of executive commissioner of the World's Fair commission from Ohio.

At Findlay, Ohio, early on the morning of the 31st ult., a mob of 1,000 men took Lyttle, the man who assaulted and fatally injured his wife and daughter with a hatchet, from the jail and hanged him.

Advice from Rome, says that the Italian government, it is reported officially, may conclude to take part in the Chicago World's Fair provided Congress will vote to indemnify the families of the Italians lynched at New Orleans.

During a terrible wind, rain, and thunder storm in Chicago on the 1st inst., a large seven story brick building fell, demolishing several small houses which surrounded it and causing the death of three persons besides the serious if not fatal injury of eight others.

The American Bell Telephone Company met in Boston, Mass., on the 29th ult., and re-elected the officers and voted to increase the capital stock from fifteen to seventeen million dollars, the stock to be issued at par present holders in the proportion of one new share for six now held.

MARRIED.

HESTER—THOMPSON—On March 24th, 1892, at the residence of Rev. R. M. Hilburn, the officiating clergyman, Mr. J. C. Hester and Miss Millie Thompson.

BUTLER—EDWARDS—On March 13th, 1892, near Bladenboro, Bladen county, N. C., at the residence of Rev. R. M. Hilburn, by Rev. D. H. Hilburn, Mr. Thos. V. Butler and Miss Ida Edwards.

DIED.

GARNER—Manring Garner, father of Mrs Henry Sheets of Lexington, N. C., was born in Davidson county, N. C., May 12th, 1812, and died from the effects of la grippe, Feb. 4th, 1892, aged seventy-nine years, eight months and twenty-two days. He was buried on Feb. 5th in the cemetery at Salem church, Randolph county, N. C. R. E. S.

MILLER—Hugh Marion Miller was struck with cerebral paralysis March 23d, 1892, and died March 24th, aged fourteen years, six months and twenty-one days. Hugh was a bright christian, and will be sadly missed by friends and school-mates. He was a student in my school for the past two months, and a boy more loveable and full of brilliant promise I have never known. ROXIE SHEETS.

LEACH—Deacon David Leach died in Winston, Feb. 5th, 1892. Bro. Leach left his home near Mocksville and went to Winston to sell some tobacco. Soon after reaching there, he was taken very sick and grew worse till death relieved him. He was for several years a deacon of Mocksville church, which position he filled with credit to himself. In his death the church has lost one who has helped to bear her burdens, the neighborhood has one neighbor less, and the family has lost a devoted husband and loving father. We sorrow, but not as those who have no hope. Of him we can truly say, "Thou shalt be missed because thy seat will be empty." "God be with us till we meet again." PASTOR.

PARISHER—My mother died—not on the 13th day of March, 1892, she left us and went to the Saviour in Paradise, whom she had loved and trusted over fifty years. She was sixty-six years old on the 18th day of February. When she was sixteen years of age, she accepted Christ as her Saviour, and united with a Baptist church, and until the Master said "Come home," she lived a life of trust. Our mother was first married to N. M. Brickhouse in 1851. By this union there were two sons and a daughter. The sons with their wives and eleven children are left to mourn their loss, and the daughter died an infant. After six and a half years, our father was taken, and for over nine years our mother lived a widow, and then married A. Parisher of Tyrrell county, N. C. By this union, which lasted twenty-three years, there were no children. For two and a half years she again was a widow. Children and friends did what they could to cheer her, but now she has gone where happiness abounds. I almost hear her singing, "And I'm almost ready to tell you what the Lord has been doing for my soul." Good-by, mother, until we meet at home.

L. C. BRICKHOUSE.

STRINGFIELD—Shiloh Sunday-school and community of Pender county, N. C., have been called upon to mourn the loss of Miss Hallie Stringfield, daughter of J. P. and Helen Stringfield, who died at Wakefield, Wake county, N. C., Feb. 16th, 1892, in the twenty-third year of her age. She entered the Sunday-school at an early age—then the church, being baptized by Elder D. W. Herring, now of China. She was a faithful, earnest, christian worker, and delighted much in the Master's service. Especially did she love to sing God's praises. She often lead the singing in the church and Sunday-school to the satisfaction of us all. She went to Wakefield to better prepare herself for usefulness; but the Lord in his great wisdom saw fit to take her to himself—it may be to save some of the rest of us. We miss her for her real worth. We miss her on account of her many noble qualities, pleasing manners and gentle disposition. We hope to meet her one day on the happy golden shore, where we can sing the sweet songs of Zion together as we have so often done here. To the grief-stricken family we offer our tenderest sympathy, ever pointing them to the same Jesus she loved so much, to him who can turn all our sorrows into joy and happiness.

Dearest Hallie, thou hast left us,
Here thy loss we deeply feel;
But it is God who hath bereft us—
He can all our sorrows heal.

SUPERINTENDENT.

Do You Suffer with Piles? You can cure yourself in a few days with our new and simple method of treatment. Medicine used locally and gives immediate relief. Sent by mail for $1. Special treatment and extra large package of Cure $2. Send stamp for booklet, entitled "How to cure Piles," free to all, containing valuable information never before published. GLOBE MEDICINE Co. Box 7, Cincinnati, O.

The loss of flesh is a trifle. You think you need not mind it.

But, if you go on losing for some time or lose a good deal in a short time, you are running down. Is that a trifle?

Get back to your healthy weight and generally you get back to health.

A book on CAREFUL LIVING will tell you what it is to get there, and when Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is useful. Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Bryant Stallings, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the undersigned at Roxinburg, N. C., on or before April 5th, 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.

A. J. STALLINGS, Adm.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season, '92.

DRY GOODS
— AND —
Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

HARVEST BELLS, round and shape note, by the 100, board bound, only 50c. each; cloth-bound, 60c; words, 10c. A Baptist song book. W. E. PENN, St. Louis, Mo.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee $2.00. Send stamp for circulars. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, MOSES N. TAFFER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR
CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE.
J. W. RIDE, ATLANTA, GA.

The Home Circle.

If I Could Only Know.

Casting all your care upon him, for he careth for you.—1 Peter, v, 7.

If I could only surely know
That all these things that tire me so
Were noticed by my Lord!
The pang that cuts me like a knife,
The noise, the weariness, the strife—
What peace it would afford!

I wonder if he really shares
In all these little human cares,
This mighty King of kings!
If he who guides through boundless space
Each blazing planet in its place
Can have the condescending grace
To mind these petty things.

I seems to me if sure of this,
Blent with each ill would come such bliss
That I might covet pain,
And deem whatever brought to me
The loving thought of Deity,
And sense of Christ's sweet sympathy,
Not loss, but richest gain.

Dear Lord, my heart shall no more doubt
That thou dost compass me about
With sympathy Divine.
The love for me once crucified
Is not the love to leave my side,
But waiteth ever to divide
Each smallest care of mine.

—Selected.

Courtesy.

A mother tied on her little girl's bonnet and sent her out to play with an older brother, saying "Be very gentle with her, my son."

They had not been out very long before Julius came in, threw down his hat, and exclaimed:

"I hate playing with girls. There's no fun in them. They cry in a moment."

"What have you been doing to your sister? Why, you've pushed her down on the gravel walk, and her frock is torn," said the mother as she looked through the window. "I am afraid you forgot to be gentle."

"Gentle! Boys can't be gentle, mother; it's their nature to be rough and strong. They're the stuff soldiers and sailors are made of. It's very well to talk of gentle girls, but a gentle boy—it sounds ridiculous! I should be provoked if a fellow called me so."

"You would? Why, a few years from now, and you would be hurt if any one were to say you were not a gentle man. Suppose some one should say that your father is not a gentleman!"

"I never thought of it that way," said the boy. "Being gentle always seemed to me like being soft and weak."

"This is so far from the truth, my boy, that you will always find the bravest men are the most gentle. The spirit of the knights was a spirit of the noblest courage and the greatest gentleness. Perhaps you would rather be called a manly boy than a gentle boy."

"Yes, that's it, mother."

"Suppose you put the two together. Be manly when you are in danger; be manly when you must speak the truth; be manly when you are in pain. At the same time be gentle whether you are with girls or boys. By putting the two together perhaps you will have a name that you will not dislike."

"I see, mother—a gentlemanly boy."

The character of a christian gentleman is a very high one. We cannot go astray in finding that character if we study well the life of Jesus Christ. How gentle he was with the poor the sick and the sinful!—John Kramer, in "The Right Road."

What to Teach a Daughter.

Teach her that not only must she love her father and mother, but honor them in word and deed.

That work is worthy always when it is well done.

That the value of money is just the good it will do in life, but that she ought to know and appreciate this value.

That the man who wishes to marry her is the one who tells her so and is willing to work for her, and not the one who whispers silly love speeches and forgets that men cease to be men when they have on object in life.

That her best confident is always her mother, and that no one sympathizes with her in her pleasures and joys as you do

Teach her to avoid men who speak lightly of any of the great duties of life, who show in their appearance that their habits are bad.

Teach her that her own room is her nest, and that to make it sweet and attractive is a duty as well as a pleasure.

Teach her that if she can sing or read or draw, or give pleasure in any way by her accomplishments, she is selfish and unkind if she does not do this gladly.

Teach her to be a woman self-respecting, honest, loving and kind, and then you will have a daughter who will be a pleasure to you always, and whose days will be long and joyous in the land which the Lord hath given her.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Religion is a necessary and indispensable element in any great human character. There is no living without it. Religion is the tie that connects man with his Creator and him to his throne. If that tie be all shattered, all broken, he floates away, a worthless atom in the universe, its proper attractions all gone, its destiny thwarted, and its whole future nothing but darkness, desolation and death.—Webster.

If you've got a pain or ache or a bruise, Salvation Oil will reach the case instantly. 25 cents.

Prohibition voters.—By resolution passed by the Legislature, all good citizens are requested to use Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup and Baby Comfort as the people's remedy for coughs, colds, etc. 25 cts.

As the Flame of a Candle.

One who looked the crowd over as we waited for the train would not have set us down as hard hearted and indifferent; but so we proved to be as a young girl not over thirteen years of age, leading an old man who was stone blind and very feeble, passed slowly around the room soliciting alms. They got a penny here and there, but even those coins seemed to be given grudgingly, and those who gave nothing consoled themselves with the reflection that the pair were frauds and really needed no financial assistance.

When they had made the tour of the room the girl led the old man to a seat in a corner, and after a few words had passed between them they began singing a hymn. She had a wonderful voice for a child, clear and sweet, and his was a deep bass. The hymn was that entitled, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." You have heard it by a full choir, accompanied by the strains of a grand organ, but you never listened so intently as we did there. There was a plaint in that girl's voice which touched a chord, and there was a quiver in the old man's bass which saddened you. They sang low and soft, and they had not finished a verse when half of us were standing up to see them better.

The girl kept her eyes on the floor at her feet. The sightless eyes of the old man—her father—were raised to the ceiling, and over his wrinkled face crept a glad smile as they finished the chorus:

Nearer, my God, to Thee—
Nearer to Thee.

The hymn was not finished when every man began feeling for a contribution and women opened their portemonnaies. It was different now. They were no longer frauds and everyone was glad to give something. Two or three were ready to move about to take up a collection, but they waited for the end of the hymn. When it came to the chorus of the last verse the old man was singing bravely. Half way through his voice suddenly choked and the last two lines were sung by the girl alone and died away in a sob and a cry. All of us saw the old man's head drop forward and his body lurch. He would have fallen to the floor had not the girl seized and held him up. A dozen of us were there in a moment, but we were too late. The old man's life had gone out as you breathe upon the flame of a candle, and on his ashen lips still trembled the sacred notes of the refrain: "Nearer to Thee.—M. Quad.

Company Table Manners.

There seems to be an idea among many people that there must be a different set of manners for company from what is observed in every day life. While it is the proper thing to have for an invited company a more elaborate dinner, and a little more ceremony in the service than for the family table, it must be remembered that one should not put on and take off good manners as one would a garment. They are a part of one's self, and whether the family meal consist of many courses or only a cup of tea and a slice of toast, it should always be served decently and in order, and the manners of the members of the household should be such that one need not blush for them, even in the finest company. As soon as a child is old enough to come to the table he should be taught by precept and example what good table manners are. If the father and mother be so unfortunate as not to have had proper training themselves, they should study to correct any bad habits they may have, for the sake of their children. Let it be understood that good manners are not the acquiring of every new wrinkle that fashionable society may prescribe. There is a great difference between good manners and good form. What is good form to day may be very bad form to morrow, but good manners are not changeable. Unselfishness, kindly feelings and politeness are the foundation of good manners.

Good table manners demand that one shall take soup from the side of a spoon; shall eat with a fork, rather than a knife; shall take small mouthfuls of food and masticate quietly, making no unpleasant sound; shall take in the fingers no food except fruit, confectionery, olives, bread, cake, celery, etc., and that the members of the family shall be as polite to each other as to any guest. Where people rush through their meals there is not much chance for table manners or good digestion. If properly managed, the table can be made one of the most refining influences of the home.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Have You Learned

The value of sunshine?
To change a house into a home?
The great uplifting power of music?
To think and judge without prejudice?
To look up, then reach up and grasp the best?
That some uncomfortable words may be overcome?
How much environment has to do with what you are?
What a little thing will sometimes make a child happy?
That an outside door, or even the glass in it may tell secrets?
To distribute good cheer, sweet thoughts, tender remembrances?
That a clear, bright light conduces to social, friendly chat at tea time?
That there are two kinds of wealth, and that one is of the heart and mind?
That the paper and pictures on the walls, the carpets and curtains may affect the mood of a sensitive person?
That a tidy in out of place when it becomes more important than the object which it is supposed to protect?
From experience, that discouragements are to be found on all sides, but that encouragements are dealt out sparingly by prudent hands?—Good Housekeeping.

Be in Earnest.

One reason why some of us do not have more prayers answered, is because we stop praying as soon as we come out of our closets. We forget that sometimes the most effective praying is done with hands and feet and brain and heart and pocket book. We quit just when we ought to go on with the most intense earnestness. The able-bodied man who will not take off his coat and go to work to help support his family, has no right to ask help from anybody else, and the man who is not willing to do all he can to help bring about what he calls upon God to do, never attracts any attention in heaven.—Selected.

He that hopes to look back with satisfaction upon past years must learn the present value of single minutes, and endeavor to let no particle of time fall useless to the ground.—Dr. Johnson.

The smallest Pill in the World!
Provided the great Organs of the body are not irreparably injured, there are few diseases that TUTT'S
Tiny Liver Pills
will not cure. By their action the Liver, the Spleen, the Heart and the Kidneys are brought into harmonious action, and health, vigor of mind and body follow their use. Dose small. Price, 25c. Office, 39 Park Place, N. Y.

PASTOR KOENIGS NERVE TONIC
A NATURAL REMEDY FOR
Epileptic Fits, Failing Sickness, Hysterics, St. Vitus Dance, Nervousness, Hypochondria, Melancholia, Inebrity, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Brain and Spinal Weakness.
This medicine has direct action upon the nerve centers, allaying all irritabilities, and increasing the flow and power of nerve fluid. It is perfectly harmless and leaves no unpleasant effects.
FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.
This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.
Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.
In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

Save Money
BY PURCHASING
Dry and Fancy Goods
THROUGH
KOCH & CO.'S
ILLUSTRATED
Fashion Catalogue.
Koch & Co.'s catalogue is "a household necessity." It illustrates and describes all articles useful and ornamental for the wear of either young or old, and for the furnishing and beautifying of a home; and their goods are the cheapest, without ever sacrificing quality to price.—Herald.
Spring and Summer Catalogue (ready March 10) will be mailed free upon application.
H. C. F. KOCH & CO.,
Importers and Retailers of
DRY AND FANCY GOODS,
Clothing, Shoes, &c.
West 125th St. bet. Lenox & 7th Aves
Formerly cor. 8th Ave. and 125th St. New York

I CURE FITS!
When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.
H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

FREE SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, that beautiful magazine for boys and girls. It is the handsomest Young Peoples' Magazine in America. It has become a welcome visitor to thousands of boys and girls. No pains or expense is spared to make it attractive. Each number contains a volume of interesting reading for Young Folks. Short and continued stories, out-door sports, new games, and in fact everything to interest boys and girls. Twenty-eight pages and cover, each page is handsomely illustrated. It is the "Queen of the South." "The Pet of every Home Circle," and no boy or girl can afford to be without it.
To see it is to want it and to have it for six months or a year for a continual enjoyment for all the family. We want every boy or girl who has not seen this charming magazine to send us seven one-cent stamps at once for a sample copy, or better still, if you will send us One Dollar we will send you Southern Sunbeams one year and make you a present of 105 Choice Selected Books. Five great works in one large volume, free of all cost. The works of this celebrated author are known among boys and girls wherever the English language is spoken. They are the monument of an era of our history that has passed away forever. While exciting and interesting they are pure and moral in tone. We are going to give the whole five stories complete. "The Developer, Last of the Mohicans, The Pathfinder, The Pioneers and the Prairie to every boy or girl who subscribes to Southern Sunbeams for one year. We do this to advertise our beautiful magazine, so all who take advantage of this wonderful offer will tell their friends, and in this way we will gain many new subscribers. Don't delay, this offer will not last long. Send in your subscription today and secure these five splendid stories and an excellent magazine one year.
TO BOYS AND GIRLS
Mention what paper you saw this advertised in. Address SOUTHERN SUNBEAMS, Box 883, ATLANTA, GA. REFERENCE, Any business house in the city of Atlanta.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

Look About the House!
And you will find that of all the presents made last Christmas, those which hold out longest and give the most pleasure, are
Books
And thus it will ever be; therefore let your gifts this year to children, kindred, friends, and all whom you most esteem be an appropriate BOOK. We have a magnificent selection of all the New and Beautiful Books
for the holidays, and can fill your orders by mail promptly. Tell us about what you want, the price you want to pay, and we will make a selection that
WILL SUIT YOU EXACTLY!
Make Your Orders Early.
ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO.,
PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS, RALEIGH, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.
THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.
Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.
Raleigh. N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

Farming Implements.
SHOVELS, SPADES,
RAKES AND
POTATO DIGS.
BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.

"All Right," "Cotton King,"
AND OTHER
Cook Stoves and Ranges.
HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

THE BAPTIST
BOOK AND
Sunday-school Supply Store.
All profits go to Sunday-school Missions. Make Orders now for Second Quarter.
SONG BOOKS—"The Choice," by Basil Manly, is the best. Try it. Music, boards, by mail, 40 cts; words only, by mail, 12 cts.
MISSIONS—A new book, "William Carey—beginnings in Modern Missions." Is the best. Try it. In cloth, by mail, 25 cents. Address,
REV. C. DURHAM, 113 Fayetteville St., Raleigh, N. C.

STOP AT THE
Moseley House,
Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.
50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

SPURGEON.
Agents wanted for "Conwell's Life of Spurgeon;" 616 pages beautifully illustrated, $1.50. Agents outfit 30 cts. Liberal inducements offered. Book sent to any address on receipt of price.
FRANKLIN PUBLISHING CO., Savannah, Ga.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address C. H. MASON, Box 3260, New York City, N. Y.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1892. Number 41.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

113 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months.....1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender).....20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

Spurgeon's Sermon Against Baptismal Regeneration.

[Copied from the Eighth Series of Sermons, issued by Sheldon & Co., New York. This sermon will serve to correct any and all statements that Mr. Spurgeon advocated the false doctrine of baptismal regeneration.]

BAPTISMAL REGENERATION.

"And he said unto them, go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned."—Mark 16: 15, 16.

In the preceding verse our Lord Jesus Christ gives us some little insight into the natural character of the apostles whom he selected to be the first ministers of the word. They were evidently men of like passions with us, and needed to be rebuked even as we do. On the occasion when our Lord sent forth the eleven to preach the gospel to every creature, he "appeared unto them as they sat at meat, and upbraided them with their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they believed not them which had seen him after he was risen;" from which we may surely gather, that, to preach the word, the Lord was pleased to choose imperfect men; men, too, who of themselves were very weak in the grace of faith in which it was most important that they should excel. Faith is the conquering grace, and is of all things the main requisite in the preacher of the word; and yet the honored men who were chosen to be the leaders of the divine crusade needed a rebuke concerning their unbelief. Why was this? Why, my brethren, because the Lord has ordained evermore that we should have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God, and not of us. If you should find a perfect minister, then might the praise and honor of his usefulness accrue to man; but God is frequently pleased to select for eminent usefulness men evidently honest and sincere, but who have some manifest infirmity by which all the glory is cast off from them and laid upon himself, and upon himself alone. Let it never be supposed that we who are God's ministers either excuse our faults or pretend to perfection. We labor to walk in holiness, but we cannot claim to be all that we wish to be. We do not base the claims of God's truth upon the holiness of our characters, but upon the fact that it comes from him. You have believed in spite of our infirmities, and not because of our virtues. If, indeed, you had believed our word because of our supposed perfection, your faith would stand in the excellency of man and not in the power of God. We come unto you often with much trembling, sorrowing over our follies and weaknesses; but we deliver to you God's word as God's word, and we beseech you to receive it, not as coming from us, poor, sinful mortals, but as proceeding from the eternal and thrice-holy God; and if you so receive it, and by its own vital force are moved and stirred up towards God and his ways, then is the work of the word sure work, which it could not and would not be if it rested in any way upon man.

Our Lord having thus given us an insight into the character of the persons whom he has chosen to proclaim his truth, then goes on to deliver to the chosen champions their commission for the holy war. I pray you mark the words with solemn care. He sums up in a few words the whole of their work, and at the same time foretells the result of it, telling them that some would doubtless believe and so be saved, and some on the other hand would not believe and would most certainly, therefore, be damned; that is, condemned forever to the penalties of God's wrath. The lines containing the commission of our ascended Lord are certainly of the utmost importance, and demand devout attention and implicit obedience, not only from all who aspire to the work of the ministry, but also from all who hear the message of mercy. A clear understanding of these words is absolutely necessary to our success in the Master's work; for if we do not understand the commission, it is not at all likely that we shall discharge it aright. To alter these words were more than impertinence; it would involve the crime of treason against the authority of Christ and the best interests of the souls of men. Oh for grace to be very jealous here!

Wherever the apostles went they met with obstables to the preaching of the gospel, and the more open and effectual was the door of utterance, the more numerous were the adversaries. These brave men so wielded the sword of the Spirit as to put to flight all their foes; and this they did not by craft and guile, but by making a direct cut at the error which impeded them. Never did they dream for a moment of adapting the gospel to the unhallowed tastes or prejudices of the people, but at once directly and boldly they brought down with both their hands the mighty sword of the Spirit upon the crown of the opposing error. This morning, in the name of the Lord of Hosts, my helper and defence, I shall attempt to do the same; and if I should provoke some hostility—if I should through speaking what I believe to be the truth lose the friendship of some and stir up the enmity of more—I cannot help it. The burden of the Lord is upon me, and I must deliver my soul. I have been loath enough to undertake the work, but I am forced to it by an awful and overwhelming sense of solemn duty. As I am soon to appear before my Master's bar, I will this day, if ever in my life, bear my testimony for truth, and run all risks. I am content to be cast out as evil if it must be so; but I cannot, dare not, hold my peace. The Lord knoweth I have nothing in my heart but the purest love to the souls of those whom I feel imperatively called to rebuke sternly in the Lord's name. Among my hearers and readers, a considerable number will censure if not condemn me; but I cannot help it. If I forfeit your love for truth's sake I am grieved for you; but I cannot, I dare not, do otherwise. It is as much as my soul is worth to hold my peace any longer; and, whether you approve or not, I must speak out. Did I ever court your approbation? It is sweet to every one to be applauded; but if for the sake of the comforts of respectability and the smiles of men any christian minister shall keep back a part of his testimony, his Master at the last shall require it at his hands. This day, standing in the immediate presence of God, I shall speak honestly what I feel, as the Holy Spirit shall enable me; and I shall leave the matter with you to judge concerning it, as you will answer for that judgment at the last great day.

I find that the great error which we have to contend with throughout England (and it is growing more and more), is one in direct opposition to my text, well known to you as the doctrine of baptismal regeneration. We will confront this dogma with the assertion that baptism without faith saves no one. The text says, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved;" but whether a man be baptized or no, it asserts that "he that believeth not shall be damned:" so that baptism does not save the unbeliever; nay, it does not in any degree exempt him from the common doom of all the ungodly. He may have baptism, or he may not have baptism; but if he believeth not, he shall be in any case most surely damned. Let him be baptized by immersion or sprinkling, in his infancy or in his adult age: if he be not led to put his trust in Jesus Christ—if he remaineth an unbeliever—then this terrible doom is pronounced upon him, "He that believeth not shall be damned." I am not aware that any Protestant church in England teaches the doctrine of baptismal regeneration, except one, and that happens to be the corporation which with none too much humility calls itself the Church of England. This very powerful sect does not teach this doctrine merely through a section of its ministers, who might charitably be considered as evil branches of the vine, but it openly, boldly, and plainly declares this doctrine in her own appointed standard, the Book of Common Prayer, and that in words so express, that, while language is the channel of conveying intelligible sense, no process short of violent wresting from their plain meaning can ever make them say anything else.

Here are the words—we quote them from the Catechism which is intended for the instruction of youth, and is naturally very plain and simple, since it would be foolish to trouble the youth with metaphysical refinements. The child is asked its name, and then questioned, "Who gave you this name?" "My godfathers and godmothers in my baptism; wherein I was made a member of Christ, the child of God, and an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven." Is not this definite and plain enough? I prize the words for their candor: they could not speak more plainly. Three times over the thing is put, lest there should be any doubt in it. The word regeneration may, by some sort of juggling, be made to mean something else; but here there can be no misunderstanding. The child is not only made "a member of Christ,"—union to Jesus is no mean spiritual gift,—but he is made in baptism "the child of God" also; and, since the rule is, "if children, then heirs," he is also made "an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven." Nothing can be more plain." I venture to say, that, while honesty remains on earth the meaning of these words will not admit of dispute. It is clear as noonday that, as the Rubric hath it, "Fathers, mothers, masters, and dames are to cause their children, servants, and apprentices," no matter how idle, giddy, or wicked they may be, to learn the Catechism, and to say that in baptism they were made members of Christ and children of God. The form for the administration of this baptism is scarcely less plain and outspoken, seeing that thanks are expressly returned unto Almighty God because the person baptized is regenerated: "Then shall the priest say, "Seeing, now, dearly beloved brethren, that this child is regenerate and grafted into the body of Christ's church, let us give thanks unto Almighty God for these benefits; and with one accord make our prayers unto him, that this child may lead the rest of his life according to this beginning.'" Nor is this all; for, to leave no mistake, we have the words of the thanksgiving prescribed: "Then shall the priest say, 'We yield thee hearty thanks, most merciful Father, that it hath pleased thee to regenerate this infant with thy Holy Spirit, to receive him for thine own child by adoption, and to incorporate him into thy holy church.'"

This, then, is the clear and unmistakable teaching of a church calling itself Protestant. I am not now dealing at all with the question of infant baptism: I have nothing to do with that this morning. I am now considering the question of baptismal regeneration, whether in adults or infants, or ascribed to sprinkling, pouring or immersion. Here is a church which teaches every Lord's Day in the Sunday-school, and should, according to the Rubric, teach openly in the church all children that they were made members of Christ, children of God, and inheritors of the kingdom of heaven when they were baptized! Here is a professedly Protestant church, which, every time its minister goes to the font, declares that every person there receiving baptism is there and and then "regenerated and grafted into the body of Christ's church."

"But," I hear many good people exclaim, "there are many good clergymen in the church who do not believe in baptismal regeneration!" To this my answer is prompt, —Why, then, do they belong to a church which teaches that doctrine in the plainest terms? I am told that many in the Church of England preach against her own teaching. I know they do, and herein I rejoice in their enlightenment, but I question, gravely question, their morality. To take oath that I sincerely assent and consent to a doctrine which I do not believe, would to my conscience appear little short of perjury, if not absolute, downright perjury; but those who do so must be judged by their Lord. For me to take money for defending what I do not believe—for me to take the money of a church, and then to preach against what are most evidently its doctrines—I say for me to do this (I shall not judge the peculiar views of other men), for me or for any other simple, honest man to do so, were an atrocity so great that, if I had perpetrated the deed, I should consider myself out of the pale of truthfulness, honesty, and common morality. Sirs, when I accepted the office of minister of this congregation, I looked to see what were your articles of faith. If I had not believed them I should not have accepted your call; and when I change my opinions, rest assured that, as an honest man, I shall resign the office; for how could I profess one thing in your declaration of faith, and quite another thing in my own preaching? Would I accept your pay, and then stand up every Sabbath-day and talk against the doctrines of your standards? For clergymen to swear or say that they give their solemn assent and consent to what they do not believe, is one of the grossest pieces of immorality perpetrated in England, and is most pestilential in its influence since it directly teaches men to lie whenever it seems necessary to do so in order to get a living or increase their supposed usefulness: it is in fact an open testimony from priestly lips that, at least in ecclesiastical matters, falsehood may express truth, and truth itself is a mere unimportant nonentity. I know of nothing more calculated to debauch the public mind than a want of straightforwardness in ministers; and when worldly men hear ministers denouncing the very things which their own Prayer-Book teaches, they imagine that words have no meaning among ecclesiastics, and that vital differences in religion are merely a matter of tweedle-dee and tweedle-dum, and that it does not much matter what a man does believe so long as he is charitable towards other people. If baptism does regenerate people, let the fact be preached with a trumpet tongue, and let no man be ashamed of his belief in it. If this be really their creed, by all means let them have full liberty for its propagation. My brethren, those are honest churchmen in this matter who, subscribing to the Prayer-Book, believe in baptismal regeneration, and preach it plainly. God forbid that we should censure those who believe that baptism saves the soul, because they adhere to a church which teaches the same doctrine. So far they are honest men; and in England, wherever else, let them never lack a full toleration. Let us oppose their teaching by all scriptural and intelligent means, but let us respect their courage in plainly giving us their views. I hate their doctrine, but I love their honesty; and as they speak but what they believe to be true, let them speak it out, and the more clearly the better. Out with it, sirs, be it what it may, but do let us know what you mean. For my part, I love to stand foot to foot with an honest foeman. To open warfare, bold and true hearts raise no objections but the ground of quarrel; it is covert enmity which we have most cause to fear and best reason to loathe. That crafty kindness which inveigles me to sacrifice principle, is the serpent in the grass—deadly to the incautious wayfarer. Where union and friendship are not cemented by truth, they are an unhallowed confederacy. It is time that there should be an end put to the flirtations of honest men with those who believe one way and swear another. If men believe baptism works regeneration, let them say so; but if they do not so believe it in their hearts, and yet subscribe, and yet more, get their livings by subscribing to words asserting it, let them find congenial associates among men who can equivocate and shuffle, for honest men will neither ask nor accept their friendship.

We ourselves are not dubious on this point: we protest that persons are not saved by being baptized. In such an audience as this, I am almost ashamed to go into the matter, because you surely know better than to be misled. Nevertheless, for the good of others we will drive at it. We hold that persons are not saved by baptism; for we think, first of all, that it seems out of character with the spiritual religion which Christ came to teach, that he should make salvation depend upon mere ceremony. Judaism might possibly absorb the ceremony by way of type into her ordinances essential to eternal life; for it was a religion of types and shadows. The false religions of the heathen might inculcate salvation by a physical process; but Jesus Christ claims for his faith that it is purely spiritual, and how could he connect regeneration with a peculiar application of aqueous fluid? I cannot see how it would be a spiritual gospel, but I can see how it would be mechanical, if I were sent forth to teach that the mere dropping of so many drops upon the brow, or even the plunging a person in water, could save the soul. This seems to me to be the most mechanical religion now existing, and to be on a par with the praying windmills of Thibet, or the climbing up and down of Hilate's staircase to which Luther subjected himself in the days of his darkness. The operation of water baptism does not appear even to my faith to touch the point involved in the regeneration of the soul. What is the necessary connection between water and the overcoming of sin? I cannot see any connection which can exist between sprinkling, or immersion, and regeneration, so that the one shall necessarily be tied to the other in the absence of faith. Used by faith, had God commanded it, miracles might be wrought; but without faith or even consciousness, as in the case of babes, how can spiritual benefits be connected necessarily with the sprinkling of water? If this be your teaching, that regeneration goes with baptism, I say that it looks like the teaching of a spurious church, which has craftily invented a mechanical salvation to deceive ignorant, sensual, and grovelling minds, rather than the teaching of the most profoundly spiritual of all teachers, who rebuked Scribes and Pharisees for regarding outward rites as more important than inward grace.

But it strikes me that a more forcible argument is, that the dogma is not supported by facts. Are all persons who are baptized children of God? Well, let us look at the divine family. Let us mark their resemblance to their glorious Parent! Am I untruthful if I say that thousands of those who were baptized in their infancy are now in our gaols? You can ascertain the fact, if you please, by application to prison authorities. Do you believe that these men, many of whom have been living by plunder, felony, burglary, or forgery, are regenerate? If so, the Lord deliver us from such regeneration. Are these villains members of Christ? If so, Christ has sadly altered since the day when he was holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners. Has he really taken baptized drunkards and harlots to be members of his body? Do you not revolt at the supposition? It is a well-known fact that baptized persons have been hanged. Surely it can hardly be right to hang the inheritors of the kingdom of heaven! Our sheriffs have much to answer for when they officiate at the execution of the children of God, and suspend the members of Christ on the gallows! What a detestable farce is that which is transacted at the open grave, when "a dear brother" who has died drunk is buried in a "sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life," and the prayer that "when we shall depart this life we may rest in Christ, as our hope is that this our brother doth." He is a regenerate brother, who, having defiled the village by constant uncleanness and bestial drunkenness, died without a sign of repentance; and yet the professed minister of God solemnly accords him funeral rites which are denied to unbaptized innocents, and puts the reprobate into the earth in "sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life." If old Rome in her worst days ever perpetrated a grosser piece of imposture than this, I do not read things aright; if it does not require a Luther to cry down this hypocrisy as much as Popery ever did, then I do not even know that twice two make four. Do we find—we who baptize on profession of faith, and baptize by immersion in a way which is confessed to be correct, though not allowed by some to be absolutely necessary to its validity—do we, who baptize in the name of the Sacred Trinity as others do, do we find that baptism regenerates? We do not. Neither in the righteous nor the wicked do we find regeneration wrought by baptism. We have never met with one believer, however instructed in divine things, who could trace his regeneration to his baptism; and on the other hand, we confess it with sorrow, but still with no surprise, that we have seen those whom we have ourselves baptized, according to apostolic precedent, go turn into the world and wander into the foulest sin, and their baptism has scarcely been so much as a restraint to them, because they have not believed in the Lord Jesus Christ. Facts all show that whatever good there may be in baptism, it certainly does not make a man "a member of Christ, the child of God, and an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven," or else many thieves, whoremongers, drunkards, fornicators, and murderers are members of Christ, the children of God, and inheritors of the kingdom of heaven. Facts, brethren, are dead against this popish doctrine; and facts are stubborn things.

Yet further, I am persuaded that the performance styled baptism by the Prayer Book is not at all likely to regenerate and save. How is the thing done? One is very curious to know when one hears of an operation which makes men members of Christ, children of God, and inheritors of the kingdom of heaven, how the thing is done. It must in itself be a holy thing truthful in all its details, and edifying in every portion. Now, we will suppose we have a company gathered round the water, be it more or less, and the process of regeneration is about to be performed. We will suppose them all to be godly people. The clergyman officiating is a profound believer in the Lord Jesus, and the father and mother are exemplary christians, and the godfathers and godmothers are all gracious persons. We will suppose this—it is a supposition fraught with charity, but it may be correct. What are these godly people supposed to say? Let us look to the Prayer Book. The clergyman is supposed to tell these people, "Ye have heard also that our Lord Jesus Christ hath promised in his gospel to grant all these things that ye have prayed for: which promise he, for his part, will most surely keep and perform. Wherefore, after this promise made by Christ, this infant must also faithfully, for his part, promise by you that are his sureties (until he come of age to take it upon himself) that he will renounce the devil and all his works, and constantly believe God's holy Word, and obediently keep his commandments." This small child is to promise to do this, or more truly others are to take upon themselves to promise, and even vow that he shall do so. But we must not break the quotation, and therefore let us return to the Book. "I demand therefore, dost thou, in the name of this child, renounce the devil and all his works, the vain pomp and glory of the world, with all covetous desires of the same, and the carnal desires of the flesh, so that thou wilt not follow, nor be led by them?" Answer, "I renounce them all." That is to say, on the name and behalf of this tender infant about to be baptized, these godly people, these enlightened christian people, these who know better, who are not dupes, who know all the while that they are promising impossibilities—renounce on behalf of this child what they find it very hard to renounce for themselves—"all covetous desires of the world and the carnal desires of the flesh, so that they will not follow nor be led by them." How can they harden their faces to utter such a false promise, such a mockery of renunciation before the presence of the Father Almighty? Might not angels weep as they hear the awful promise uttered? Then in the presence of high heaven they profess on behalf of this child that he steadfastly believes the creed, when they know, or might pretty shrewdly judge that the little creature is not yet a steadfast believer in anything, much less in Christ's going down into hell. Mark, they do not say merely that the babe shall believe the creed, but they affirm that he does, for they answer in the child's name, "All this I steadfastly believe." Not we steadfastly believe, but I, the little baby there, unconscious of all their professions and confessions of faith. In answer to the question, "Wilt thou be baptized in this faith?" they reply for the infant, "That is my desire." Surely the infant has no desire in the matter, or at the least, no one has been authorised to declare any desires on his behalf. But this is not all, for then these godly, intelligent people next promise on the behalf of the infant, that "he shall obediently keep all God's holy will and commandments, and walk in the same all the days of his life." Now, I ask you, dear friends, you who know what true religion means, can you walk in all God's holy commandments yourselves? Dare you make this day a vow on your own part that you would renounce the devil and all his works, the pomps and vanities of this wicked world, and all the sinful lusts of the flesh? Dare you, before God, make such a promise as that? You desire such holiness, you earnestly strive after it, but you look for it from God's promise, not from your own. If you dare make such vows I doubt your knowledge of your own hearts and of the spirituality of God's law. But even if you could do this for yourself, would you venture to make such a promise for any other person? For the best-born infant on earth? Come, brethren, what say you? Is not your reply ready and plain? There is not room for two opinions among men determined to observe truth in all their ways and words. I can understand a simple, ignorant rustic, who has never learned to read, doing all this at the command of a priest and under the eye of a squire. I can even understand persons doing this when the Reformation was in its dawn, and men had newly crept out of the darkness of Popery; but I cannot understand gracious, godly people standing at the font to insult the all-gracious Father with vows and promises framed upon [illegible] and involving practical falsehood. [illegible] intelligent believer in Christ [illegible] words which they know in their [illegible]

[illegible]

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 13, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

OUR FEMALE COLLEGES.

It is a source of constant joy that our Baptist people seem to be fully alive to the importance of sustaining first-class female schools in nearly all of the States of the Union. In this respect, North Carolina has not lagged behind her sister States, and we are happy to say our Baptist people have not fallen behind the other denominations in the State in this important work.

The Moravian school at Salem, N. C., was the earliest female college founded in North Carolina; but the next was that at Murfreesboro, N. C., which soon became known by the name of the CHOWAN FEMALE INSTITUTE.

This school was founded in 1848 by the Chowan Baptist Association, with Rev. A. McDowell as principal. The next year the Portsmouth Association of Virginia united with the Chowan, and a joint Board of Trustees from the two bodies managed the affairs of the college till a short while before the late war. The school steadily grew in influence and patronage until the civil war. At the end of that struggle the Institute was hopelessly involved. "In this emergency a joint stock company was formed, which assumed and honorably liquidated its debts, conducted the school ten years for the benefit of the denomination, added several thousand dollars worth of improvements, and, in 1874, having received nothing, not even interest on the money expended, gave back the property to the denomination, their sole condition being that for each one thousand dollars of stock donated they be entitled to keep one indigent young lady at Chowan Institute perpetually, free of charge for literary tuition."

As before stated, Dr. A. McDowell was the first President, and he was followed by Dr. M. R. Forey of New York, who presided over the school until 1854. He was succeeded by Dr. Wm. Hooper. In 1862 Dr. Hooper withdrew, and Dr. McDowell again took charge, and presided with ability over the school until his death in 1881. In that year Prof. J. B. Brewer, an alumnus of Wake Forest College, was called to the presidency, which position he has efficiently filled up to date. He seems to be a born teacher, and is proving himself the "right man in the right place" in looking after the business affairs of the institution. This institution has a good record. Recent improvements have been made to accommodate its increasing patronage. The location of the institute is quite healthy, as is abundantly proven by its health record. There is no reason why this school should not fully meet the wants of our people in all Eastern North Carolina by way of securing a first class college training for their daughters. Prof. Brewer is aided by a faculty fully abreast with the demands of the age for female education. The recent completion of a railroad gives the town of Murfreesboro direct railroad communication with the outside world. The outlook of this institution is bright. Our brethren especially in the East should give it a generous and increasing patronage.

Another important female college, which is recognized as a Baptist institution, though not belonging to the denomination, is the

OXFORD FEMALE SEMINARY

at Oxford, N. C. In the year 1850 the Baptists had a female college in Oxford, presided over by Dr. Wait, who continued in charge until 1858. He was succeeded by J. H. Mills, an alumnus of Wake Forest College, who conducted a very flourishing school until 1867. For short periods of time, Rev. J. H. Philips and Drs. Marsh and Lewis had charge of it. After them, Mrs. Stradley, assisted by Miss B. Jordan. These ladies resigned their positions as principals to accept positions in the corps of teachers when the present competent and efficient President, F. P. Hobgood, A. M., took charge of the institution in 1880. In 1890-'91 the number of students was so large that it was necessarry in the following summer again to add to the buildings. Five years afterward, the sum of $5,000 was expended in improvements. The patronage steadily increased, and the catalogue of 1891-'92 showed an enrollment of one hundred and thirty-four students, including lo[illegible]. In the year 1890 Prof. Hob[illegible] resigned the presidency, and for about [illegible] years the school was in charge [illegible]. Poston. In 1892 Prof. F. P. Hob[illegible] again called to the presidency, [illegible] under the management of [illegible] school goes on its way of usefulness, with brighter prospects than ever before. This college is splendidly located. The President is aided by a first-class faculty, and there is no reason why it should not become one of the strongest and most influential colleges in the State. The healthfulness of Oxford cannot be questioned. No better selection of locality could be made for our Baptist people, especially in the central and northern sections of the State. The present financial status of the college is a secure one. Board and tuition are reasonable. Our people should heartily rally to its support.

Again, further west we have the HIGH POINT FEMALE COLLEGE.

"On the eleventh day of March, 1889, the General Assembly of North Carolina granted a liberal charter for this institution. On the evening of the fifteenth of the same month, the principal, faculty, and forty pupils of Thomasville Female College, including all the boarders, and some day scholars, arrived at High Point, and took possession of the college buildings which had been prepared for their reception. The college building is commodious, and is planned with special reference to the comfort and convenience of faculty and students. The town of High Point, numbering about three thousand inhabitants, has a fine location on the R. & D. R. R., the main air line North and South. It is on the crest of the ridge that separates the waters of the Yadkin and Cape Fear rivers, and is one thousand and sixty-five feet above sea level. The healthfulness of the place is unquestioned. Dr. J. N. Stallings is the energetic president of this school. He has on foot, and is earnestly pushing a plan, by which High Point Female College may become the property of the denomination. The plan certainly seems feasible, and if our people can be convinced of the need of their owning this institution, there is no good reason why they should not purchase it on the terms proposed by its worthy president. Whatever may be the outcome of this effort, however, one thing they can do, and that is, send their girls to High Point to be educated. The college is not as old as some, but still it has life and promise, is well located, and affords good facilities for the education of our girls. The grateful thing for the many intelligent Baptists, living especially in the Piedmont section of the State, to do, is to give Dr. Stallings such an increased patronage as will support it, and make it in after years a stronger factor in our educational work.

Beyond the Blue Ridge we have

JUDSON COLLEGE,

located at Hendersonville, Henderson county, N. C. This is a mixed school, and receives for its course young men and women. Dr. R. H. Lewis, in charge of Judson College, is a fine educator, and ones daughter or son is in safe and competent hands when placed under his watchcare. He only needs a better patronage to make the school first-class in all of its appointments.

We have thus briefly noticed the leading colleges of the State for the education of our young women which are recognized as Baptist institutions. While they are such, in none of them is the denominational feature made obtrusive. Brethren of other creeds can send their daughters to either one of these institutions with the assurance that no pressure will be brought to bear on them during their college days with a view of changing their church preferences, more than can be said, we fear, of some schools that make a great outcry about their unsectarianism. As a matter of fact, brethren of other denominations are patronizing more or less these colleges, convinced of the fact that our people are not making their literary institutions a special medium for propagating their faith.

These colleges, and others that may come into existence, are amply sufficient to meet the wants of our girls so far as the ordinary college course is concerned. In order that they may push their studies beyond the ordinary college curriculum, and be placed on an equal footing with our young men who have the advantage of university courses, we need the Baptist Female University of North Carolina. A correspondent of Wake Forest, in a recent letter, rather objected to the high ideal set forth in the editorial columns of the RECORDER recently as to our proposed Female University; but in a brief conversation since that time with one of the most scholarly men in the State, and almost an adept in female education, we ascertained that he heartily endorsed our position. "Give us such a university or nothing." It will be impossible to make Murfreesboro, Oxford, High Point, and other schools, what they ought to be, if we open a central Baptist college which, from the beginning, proposes to antagonize these schools by feeding upon their patronage. Let all these schools be feeders of the University, and let that institution nourish and encourage them instead of crippling them.

DEATH OF REV. J. J. JAMES.

It is our sad duty to record the death of our venerable brother J. J. James of Caswell county, who died last Thursday morning, April 7th. Bro. James was editor of the BIBLICAL RECORDER from 1854 to 1861. He was a native of Halifax county, Virginia, and was a student of Wake Forest College three sessions, and graduated from Columbian University, Washington City, D. C. At his death he was in his eighty-eighth year. Brother James was a theologian, a strong man, and has had a long and useful career.

A more extended notice of him will be given by one who has had opportunity for knowing the history of his life.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

The Sunday-school Convention for the Eastern Association was held last week with the church at Lisbon, in Sampson county. Bro. Jno. T. Bland was elected president, and Bro. Herring was made secretary.

The brethren were much encouraged by the large attendance. The churches were much better represented than they have been at any previous session.

The program was well selected, and not only embraced in its discussion the Sunday-school proper, but the speeches were calculated to aid in all of our denominational work. Dr. Pritchard discussed the relation of the Sunday-school to our centennial work. He is showing great zeal and power in his efforts for this work, and the brethren heard him with much interest, as in fact they always do when he speaks.

Bro. John T. Bland made an excellent speech on "How to secure efficient teachers for the Sunday-school." This subject was well suited to the speaker. Bro. Bland has for years been doing valuable work in his Sunday-school, and I learn the church at Burgaw has one of the very best schools in the Association. The impression I got of Bro. Bland when associated with him in college was that he always tried to do his work well.

If a vote had been taken, I am inclined to think the Convention would have said Bro. L. R. Carroll made the best speech of the Convention. Dr. Pritchard says Bro. Carroll is the best posted on the subject of missions of any man in the State. I do not know as to this, but this I do know, he has great power and unction as a speaker, and this power, as it seems to me, comes largely on account of his familiar knowledge of the Bible and the free use he makes of it in illustrating and enforcing the positions he takes.

Bro. R. E. Peele was there, and was looking stronger than I have seen him for a long time. He made one of his characteristic "Wednesday evening talks." Bro. Peele has the work now suited to him. His work is not only in Onslow county, as has been stated heretofore, but he has in addition to this the general supervision of the mission and pastorless churches, also the destitute fields in the Eastern Association. Brother Peele loves the country, and delights to work among the destitute, and to give the gospel to the poor and the needy.

Bro. Mills presented the Orphanage just before the Convention closed, in which he appeared rather gloomy and despondent as to the present condition of the Orphanage. The receipts, so Bro. Mills says, are $2,000 less than they were at this time last year, and with the same number to feed and clothe. Of course this makes it rather unpleasant for the institution. Bro. Mills' speech, however, was not all gloom, for the crop prospect he said was good, and the health of the children excellent. A collection was taken, and I hope Bro. Mills went back to the Orphanage as full of hope and encouragement as he seemed to be gloomy and despondent when he came.

The brethren were glad to see Bro. Durham. They always work him freely, either in the lead or off-side behind. My success for the RECORDER has inclined me to forgive Bro. Durham for carrying me to Magnolia, twenty-two miles from the Association, instead of to Garland, four miles, where the brethren were waiting with conveyances to carry us over.

J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. D. W. Herring and family have arrived from China, and are at Mt. Airy, N. C.

....The Christian Index, Atlanta, Ga., came out last week in quite a changed form, and very much improved in appearance.

....Bro. Joseph Stanaland of Supply, N. C., sends the money to renew his subscription to the paper. He has been taking the RECORDER forty years.

....Rev. B. Craig of Ahoskie, N. C., says: "The work of the Lord is prospering in the West Chowan Association. The brethren are preparing for a thorough canvass for missions in the Association."

....Rev. Dr. Hufham of Tarboro is aiding Pastor Wood in a series of meetings at the Baptist church this week.—Murfreesboro Index, April 8.

....Rev. J. R. Jones writes from Milton: "Our meeting closed last Thursday. Eight or nine persons made profession of faith. It was a good meeting."

....Rev. Pinckney Oliver of Dalton, N. C., in writing to the editor, says: "May you long live to manage our State organ. It breathes the right spirit."

....The Baptist State Sunday-school Convention will be held in Winston this week. The Convention will meet Thursday at 3 o'clock p. m., and be in session till Saturday night.

....It is hoped that the brethren will not forget to forward all funds which have been collected for Home and Foreign Missions to J. D. Boushall in time to reach him by April 27th.

....Rev. A. D. Hunter writes that Rev. J. E. Hutson has changed his appointment at LaGrange on the first Sunday in May, and has agreed to begin a meeting in Greenville at that time.

....Rev. A. T. Howell of Southport writes: "I have a hard field of labor, but I am succeeding. I am backed at Southport by such good brethren as Wescott, Watson, Ruark, and others.

....Rev. F. H. Poston of Smithfield, N. C., is aiding me in a series of meetings at Kinley, N. C., one of our mission stations, this week. Pray for our success.—J. W. Rose, Pine Level, April 4.

....Forty-seven new members have been received into the Wilson church as a result of the late revival. Thirty-one were baptized last Sunday. Bro. Battle leaves for his new field on Thursday.

....Rev. C. A. G. Thomas is carrying on a meeting in his church in Elizabeth City, assisted by Rev. H. A. Bagby of Suffolk, Va. Brother Thomas entered on his fourth year's pastorate last Sunday.

....Bro. W. H. Dodd of this city will be at the Convention at Winston this week, perhaps on Saturday, to illustrate his methods of managing and teaching the primary department in the Sunday-school.

....Rev. L. Johnson has had a good meeting in Rockingham, N. C. Bro. L. M. Kesler of Laurinburg preached three sermons during the meeting, but the pastor did the most of the preaching himself.

....Bro. John B. White passed through Raleigh last Friday on his way to Wilson, N. C., to assume the care of the Baptist church in that place till next October, at which time he expects to go to Louisville to attend the Theological Seminary.

....Rev. R. E. Peele, late pastor of this city, has declined several inviting calls to accept work as a general missionary of the Eastern Baptist Association, with the Onslow section as a special field.—Wilmington Messenger.

....It is significant that the three brethren of our foreign missionaries who find fault with the policy of the Foreign Mission Board all belong to the North China Mission, viz: T. P. Crawford, G. P. Bostick and T. J. League.—Baptist (S. C.) Courier.

....The protracted meeting at the Baptist church, inaugurated Sunday night, continues with unabated interest. Rev. J. H. Edwards, the pastor, is ably assisted by Rev. W. B. Oliver of Fayetteville, who arrived here Tuesday.—Headlight, April 7.

....Dr. S. A. Goodwin, after the morning sermon, tendered his resignation of the pastorate of Grove Avenue Baptist church. The resignation was accepted in the afternoon. His physician, it is said, has ordered him to suspend preaching for a season.—Baltimore Baptist.

....The protracted services at the Baptist church are doing a great deal of good. Rev. Mr. Pruett is preaching some excellent sermons. Rev. D. W. Herring, missionary to China, is aiding in the meetings, and preached an impressive sermon last night. Several conversions up to date.—Mt. Airy News, April 7.

....On Tuesday night, April 5th, quite a number of the people of Smithfield met and went to the Baptist parsonage and gave Rev. F. H. Poston a good "pounding." Our people always look out for the preachers. Mr. Poston and his family return thanks for this token of respect and appreciation.—Smithfield Herald.

....We are indebted to J. E. Wilhelm, manager of the Central Publishing House, Atlanta, Ga., for a copy of the "Life of Spurgeon," by Henry Davenport Northrop, D. D., of London. It is printed in large, readable type, and contains 512 pages. It has the grace of being the first to put in an appearance in our office.

....Rev. D. P. Bridges says: "I am hard at work raising the pledges of my churches for Home and Foreign Missions. Some of them have gone beyond their pledges. I hope to do more than ever before for missions. This work is dear to me. I am praying that this may be the best year's work in our history."

....We found quite a number of Virginia boys at Wake Forest, and we might possibly have raised a small quarrel but for the fact that they were doing such excellent work, seemed so thoroughly contented, and were in a college which has more things about it to our taste than any other college in the entire South.—W. E. Hatcher in The Baptist.

....A very valuable and interesting little pamphlet entitled "Hints to Young Men" has been issued by the University. It contains practical suggestions how to get an education, what to study, and how to become speedily fitted for law, medicine, journalism, teaching, business or agriculture. Any one can obtain a copy by addressing President Winston, Chapel Hill, N. C.

....Hon. G. W. Sanderlin, LL. D., will deliver the "Literary Address" at the closing exercises of Buie's Creek Academy on May 12, 1892. The enrolment of that school for the year is 140, the largest in the history of the school.

....Rev. B. W. Spilman and his churches are doing well. Last year these churches had no pastor, hence no pastor's salary to pay. This year they pay their pastor and have already given for State Missions five times as much as they reported to the Atlantic Association last October. The church at Smyrna has, too, put a twelve lamp chandelier in position, and are now painting their house of worship.

....A telegram from Bro. W. M. Poisson, Wilmington, N. C., informs us that Rev. Robert S. Moran, D. D., died in New York City last Monday, and is to be buried in Wilmington, N. C., to day (Wednesday.) He had been in poor health for some time. We have not the particulars of his death. Dr. Moran was for years a member of the North Carolina Conference and filled many of our most prominent appointments. He was a preacher of peculiar power.—Raleigh Christian Advocate, April 6.

....Rev. George C. Needham will be in Raleigh from the 17th to the 20th inst., and will preach at the Presbyterian church on Sunday next at 11 a. m.; at the Edenton St. M. E. church at 8:45; and at the Baptist Tabernacle at 7:45 p. m. The day meetings will be held at the Presbyterian church at 3:45, and at the First Baptist church at 7:45 p. m. These meetings will give christian people in all these parts an excellent opportunity to meet and hear one who is known far and wide as a man mighty in the Scriptures, a faithful and efficient teacher of the word. Bro. Needham passed through Raleigh last Saturday en route to Oxford, N. C.

....The Wilmington Messenger has these pleasant words for an esteemed citizen of Raleigh: "The Seaboard Air-Line names a depot 'Vass' in compliment to Maj. W. W. Vass, the treasurer of the Raleigh & Gaston road for more than forty-seven years. He is from Granville county, and we have known him over forty-five years. If there was ever an honest man it is this long-trusted, long tested, most faithful and efficient official—a genial, kindly man withal, one to hold in lasting esteem. He is now an old man and most deserving. He has been a member of the Baptist church for probably fifty years. Long may the good Major live, for like Tim Linkinwater in "Nicholas Nickleby," he deserves nothing but good of his employers."—State Chronicle.

....The services which Rev. George C. Needham is now holding in this city are not evangelistic meetings in the ordinary sense of the term, but meetings for Bible conference and study. They are more on the order of those conducted by Rev. W. J. Erdman. Mr. Needham does not assume the title revivalist. He says no man is, or can be, a revivalist; the Holy Spirit is the only revivalist. No man can get up a revival. Men can use the means preparatory to revival, but God the Holy Spirit alone can renew life in the soul. We attempt no report. The instruction is sound, the admonitions and appeals are direct and persuasive. Multitudes hang upon the words that are taught, and the services give promise of receiving an outpouring of God's blessing upon them.—North Carolina Presbyterian.

The Needham-Fife Bible Conference in Wilmington, N. C.

The christian people of this city have enjoyed a rare privilege during the last six days in listening to the Bible expositions of the Rev. Geo. C. Needham. He has made a profound impression upon the community; indeed, it may be truly said that he has captured the city. Beginning in the Y. M. C. A. hall, the congregation grew so large that the meeting was adjourned to the First Baptist church, which was crowded to overflowing for the last two nights. I fell so much in love with this dear man and was so much refreshed by his words and spirit that I can hardly trust myself to say what I think of him and his work. I thought R. G. Pearson was familiar with the teachings of the Bible in a most extraordinary degree, but it is the general opinion here that Bro. Needham is fully his equal in that respect, if not his superior. I do not think he is so great a preacher of the gospel as Mr. Pearson, and I don't know any living man that is, but I am pretty certain that as a Bible teacher he surpasses any one to whom I ever listened. It is not his verbal memory of God's word, though that is wonderful, which so excites my admiration, but his comprehensive, and at the same time discriminating, knowledge of the doctrinal teachings of the Bible. His mind is both analytical and synthetic, and the high type of his mental powers is seen in the clearness, vigor and beauty of his style. While it is now and then apparent that he is not classically educated, but in all that relates to the Scriptures, he seems to be a man of wide reading and highly respectable learning. His eye is very fine, his face lovely, and the general make-up of the man is much like Mr. Spurgeon.

The crowning glory of the brother, however, is his piety. He has got religion—he loves the Lord and his holy word, and as you leave him, you long to be like him. His influence must prove a benediction wherever he goes, and happy is that people who have the privilege of hearing him. Mr. Fife is worthy of all praise for bringing him to North Carolina to instruct and edify our people in the study of God's word.

T. H. PRITCHARD.

Board of Missions and Sunday-schools.

There will be a called meeting of the Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in the Mission Rooms, Thursday, April 21st, at eight o'clock p. m.

J. C. SCARBOROUGH, Pres.
C. DURHAM, Sec.

Letter from Wake Forest College.

The session of '91-2, which is now near ing its close, will always abide in my memery as one of the happiest and most fruitful of the twenty-two sessions that I have spent at Wake Forest. And now the Lord has crowned and glorified the year by coming himself into our midst, and bringing to very many rich spiritual blessings. The sowing and planting and watering have been long, often wearying, sometimes, seeming but for the divine promise, almost hopeless. Now, God has given the increase, and the patient, faithful labors of Vann and Royall and Gwaltney, as we look back upon them in the light of this harvest time, are seen not to have been lost. God's word has not returned to him void.

For sometime past I believe that many christians in the community, thirsting for the dews of divine refreshing, have been calling earnestly upon God, and I think that in very many hearts there was some renewal of love and consecration before the meeting began. The people were in some degree prepared for the blessing which the Lord was preparing for them.

Bro. W. E. Hatcher, pastor of the Grace Street Baptist church, Richmond, having been invited by Bro. Gwaltney, came to us on Thursday afternoon, March 24th, and preached twice daily (except on Sunday, when he was compelled to be in Raleigh) until Saturday, April 2d, when, to our great sorrow, his duties to his own people called him away, during this time his labors in public and private were unceasing. It was evident from the first that he had come with the single purpose of seeking to do good in his Master's name. His preaching was natural, simple, and in the power of the Holy Ghost. It was very largely addressed to christians, but was carried to the hearts of all. The old fashioned doctrines of sovereignty, repentance, unconditional surrender, and faith in a divine Saviour were constantly presented. Grace was magnified and God was exalted. Those who accepted salvation seemed to come to God empty-handed and broken hearted.

But of the man and minister whom God has honored as a means of blessing to so many of us I cannot trust myself to write. Very much is in my heart which must not flow from the nib of my pen. The simple, straightforward, magnetic power of his christian manliness I could not analyse if I would. Of the fuller revealings of his heart in the sanctities of private intercourse I would not tell if I could. But I only voice the feeling of all our people, students, citizens,—all, when I say "Bless God for Hatcher and for his coming to us."

There was no one, I suppose, who attended the meetings who was impressed with their deep spiritual power. I have been present in many in which there was more expression of emotion, but in only one in which the truth seemed to have such access to the consciences of men and women. That was the Earle meeting in Raleigh in 1870.

Many young christians who had wandered from the King's highway and were in Doubting Castle, many who had become cold from neglect of the means of grace, and some who had gotten far off and were leading inconsistent lives,—very many have made public confession, have rededicated themselves to Christ and are knowing the joy of salvation. Some who had heard many sermons and passed through many meetings sought and found forgiveness. More than twenty have been received for baptism and "there's more to follow."

The College has been greatly blessed. The purifying stream has flowed through our midst. Jangling chords have been tuned for music. The house has been swept and garnished. O that the Strong One may keep it henceforth. He alone can. T.

Wake Forest, N. C.

Brother Woodson's Plan.

Bro. Editor:—The last RECORDER is just to hand. It never comes too soon. As usual, I have gone through it promptly. Two or three things I want to say:

First, as to Bro. Woodson's plan for raising our church funds. The "plan" for the most part is in operation with many churches. So far as it applies to pastor's support, it always seems to work well. But for "all purposes," it has some defects. As a "plan," it works out on paper nicely, but I have known trouble in its practical operation.

It is rather too iron clad. It wants flexibility. It is difficult to develop a church's benevolence under it. Members get to thinking, if they have met the assessment—they have complied with "the law," and are exempt from any other demands. Yet there are unforeseen objects—sometimes emergencies—that are worthy of help. These, not having been contemplated, will not be aided worthily.

The call for the Havana house is an example of this kind. So of many others. I am writing from the "record." Again, the money for the various objects, pastor's salary and all, cannot be collected regularly as indicated in country churches generally. In some, it may be possible.

Just here, there are some facts which our salaried officers of Boards, city pastors and city brethren do not know, or else they fail to recognise them. As a rule, for many years, our country members, who are farmers, have had money only once a year. Of course, I mean outside of immediate home demands. More recently, they have not had it that once. It is needless to try to enforce a plan that calls for a steady flow of money into the treasury, it matters not for what purpose, when, as now, the great bulk of country members have it not. They would if they could, I verily believe, but Solomon with all his wisdom could not pay a dollar when he did not have it. So there will be several months in which the plan will fail. I am speaking of things as they are—not as they ought to be. Now, I express an opinion, I think well founded, that until there is great improvement in the finances of our people—until there is more money, our Boards will have to economize or be embarrassed.

This condition of affairs is deplorable, but we would do well to heed facts. In my own field I am straining every nerve to bring my brethren to the liberal support of our Boards, but I find a degree of suspicion of late, that it cost too much to run the machinery. Allow me to suggest that it would be well to explain these matters to the people, and thus remove any unwarranted suspicion. Let self-denial mark our efforts from humblest layman to the highest in position. And let us work and pray that God may bless our efforts to evangelize the world.

J. M. WHITE.

Help Needed.

The last installment of money we sent our beneficiaries, nearly exhausted the ready cash in our treasury. We sent most of them only half the amount we generally send. This we regretted, but it was the best we could do. And now brethren and sisters, some of these aged men will soon be crying after us for more help. We are quite anxious to command a sufficient fund to enable us to send them monthly instalments. Will not the churches come to our aid? We have thirteen on our list, and another will doubtless be received at our next Board meeting. Can we not secure at least on collection from every church in the State?

I would be greatly obliged to the brethren who prepare the programs for the next Union meetings, to make the "Claims for the M. R. Board upon our churches," one of the topics for discussion, and then follow the discussion by a collection. If they cannot do both they will please leave out the discussion, and give us the collection.

Dear brethren and sisters, we are looking to you to relieve the wants of the aged preachers, and the widows, that are now looking to us for help. Last year, an unknown sister who signed her name "Kemple," sent us two hundred dollars at one time for our work. Are there not other Kemples in, or out of North Carolina, that will help us to cause "the widow's heart to sing for joy," or lighten the burdens of care upon the shoulders of Christ's aged veterans, that have fought nearly their last battle, and are almost ready to be crowned. "I was hungry and ye gave me meat."

C. A. WOODSON, Cor. Sec. Bd.

Too Busy to Go.

It is a very commendable thing in a man to have a good business; in fact a church without business men in it would not make much headway of any kind, for it takes a head to make a way. And yet, here in the Richmond Association, our greatest difficulty is that our business men are so very busy about the time the Association meets. Not that they are notoriously successful as business men, nor that they are so devoted to this business as to shut themselves out from the pleasures of an occasional hunt, two or three days off on a social visit; a great many trips to the nearest town to hear a political discussion,—but all of a sudden they are seized with a busy fit about the time the Association meets, and while the session lasts they are like a chicken with his head off. When, however, the time has passed they relax their energetic efforts and become very leisurely brethren who can sit on a dry goods box half a day any time and explain the iniquity of the tariff, or the necessity for free silver.

If the representative Baptist of Richmond county, felt the same interest in the cause of their Lord that they do in the political issues of the day, this would be one of the banner Associations of the State; as it is they go on with their work and let the Association take care of itself. There are a few exceptions of course. There are a noble few who do about as much business and who manage their affairs with equally as much discretion, as the same number of "busy Baptists," who, rain or shine, attend the sessions of the Association whenever it meets; and as I write I am reminded that one of those faithful and true followers of his Master has within the past year been stricken down and a wide gap is thus make in the thin ranks of the earnest workers of this Association.

"What are you going to do about it," eh? Well, we are simply not going to do a thing except resolve that we will allow no hindering cause over which we have any control to keep us away from the Richmond; and pray that the Lord may show these slack Baptists how much they miss by being busy." We have done one thing, however. We have changed the time of meeting from the month of October to that of August so that we could cut the last ligament of that old fraudulent excuse that our brethren have so long hidden behind. Who is busy the 1st of August? Not the farmer, for his crop is "laid by." Not the merchant, for their is no cotton to buy. Not the railroad man, for traffic is light and work is "slack." Not the school teacher, for his school is out and he is back from the Springs.

Brethren, you must hunt some better excuse. We have got you. Come now, be honest, have you wanted to go very much?

RICHMOND.

Rev. D. W. Herring's Arrival from China.

On Monday night, April 4th, 1892, Rev. D. W. Herring and family of China arrived in Mt. Airy, to the great joy of Bro. Nutt's family and their many warm friends. We are in a meeting, and Bro. Herring, never ceasing in his work for the Master, is preaching to large congregations. The people crowd the church to hear his loving words again. There have been some professions, and quite a number interested. Pray for us.

L. R. PRUETT.

Sister Janette Collins, an aged pilgrim, a "mother in Israel," died in Wilmington, N. C., on Feb. 23d, 1892. She had been closely identified with Baptist interests in Wilmington since childhood.

From Baltimore, Md.

Bro. Bailey:—I preached my first anniversary sermon at Broadway Baptist church on yesterday. Our church clerk reported seventy-nine additions during the year and three awaiting baptism. We have had some one to baptize nearly every Sabbath this year—among the number many Methodists and some Catholics.

Our Treasurer, (who is from North Carolina, as is also his wife, and both are subscribers to the RECORDER). "The Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad;" and we begin our second year with great encouragment. With a united, harmonious, self-sacrificing band of brethren and sisters to aid us we hope to accomplish more for the Master during this year.

I have never met with a more social, high toned, set of christian ministers than the pastors of Baltimore who meet every Monday morning at "The Baptist Headquarters." They have certainly been very helpful to me, reported that the church had raised twice as much money during the year as it did the year before; (1890).

Our congregation has increased at least fifty per cent. Prayer meetings were well attended, and Sabbath school in a prosperous condition.

Broadway Sunday school has the honor of being the first organized in the State of Maryland, and the third in the United States, "as we are informed by the History of Maryland Baptist," both by advice and unexpected acts of kindness.

In the list of the great, and good of this world, "Great in goodness and good in their greatness," there will be, and ought to be found, the names of Drs. Williams, Ellis, Rowland and Wilson—the last of whom, is said to be worth half million of dollars, which he uses for the glory of God and to benefit suffering humanity; his big-heartedness, and liberality are known all over Baltimore. Often his carriage may be see leaving the home of the poor, to whom he has carried bread and blessing. Is this not what the Bible means when it says, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction"? Then Dr. Wilson obeys the injunction and has enshrined himself in the affections of needy humanity.

That beloved Disciple of Christ, not John, but James—F. Love of Rocky Mount, N. C., attended our conference on yesterday—he is aiding Dr. Williams at the First church and the church and congregation is pleased with him and his sermons. He will remain at least this week and preach for the church—possibly longer as the First has been without an assistant pastor for several months, and the Doctor is on the lookout for one to aid him in his arduous duties. R. B. COLLIER.

Baltimore, April 4, 1892.

Revival at Wake Forest.

Dr. Hatcher preached eight days, and preached with great clearness and earnestness. The Holy Spirit attended the word with great power. All of God's people were revived. Many backsliders were reclaimed and many sinners were converted. Sixteen have been received for baptism, and others will join. The oldest people here think that it is perhaps the best meeting in the history of the College. What a blessing to this church and College! How wide-reaching it will be in its results! How many churches and communities will feel its gracious influences through these young men! What a responsibility it brings upon us here as a church and pastor! These young converts must be developed and trained for usefulness. "And who is sufficient for these things?"

We earnestly ask for the prayers of all the churches. No church in the State has such responsibilities as this. Brethren, remember us in your daily supplications.

W. R. GWALTNEY.

The Baptists of North Carolina own 309 acres of land in Davidson county. On this land are four dwellings 24x90 feet; and four eating houses 16x60 feet; a Nursery 50x90 feet; an Infirmary 50x100 feet; a Chapel 24x30 feet; a library and office building 26x64 feet; a bath house and spring-house, all of brick. Charity and Children occupies two wooden buildings and is now equipped for a large amount of work. Besides these are five outhouses and cowshelters. Two large pastures are enclosed with good fences. These premises are now occupied by 135 orphans and officers needed to train them. But contributions are $2.000 less than they were last year. Many pitiful applications have been refused for want of means of support. In fact without more liberal contributions we shall be compelled to discharge many who are now here.

Now shall the Orphanage be discontinued and the orphans dismissed just as they have the greatest need of guidance and instruction? Widows and orphans are now starving to death on account of unsuitable and insufficient food.

We verily believe that (as Mordecai said to Esther) the Orphanage has come to the kingdom for such a time as this. Wide open stands the door of great usefulness. But we can not enter withot the means.

Once more, we ask pastors deacons and charitable people to help the Orphanage do its work for orphans in this hour of sore distress.

J. H. MILLS.

Moneys Received.

The following amounts of money were collected by Miss Alice Russell for Mt. Vernon Springs Baptist church:

Miss Jennie Carson, 25c.; Mr. J. W. Cott of Greensboro, $1.00; Mr. James H. Taylor, 1.00; Mr. C. C. Cheek, 3.70.

Total amount collected, $32.20.

Life is not so short but that there is always time for courtesy.—Emerson.

From Lumberton, N. C.

Since the 14th of June, it has been my fortune to be pastor of the church at Lumberton, and never has it been my lot to live among better people. They have in many ways shown me their love and respect, and for all I feel truly grateful.

Heretofore the most of their pastors were unmarried, and the members never thought it necessary to have a parsonage; but as I was married last September and, after boarding six pleasant months with an excellent family, I thought it was time to begin housekeeping. About a month ago, I mentioned this to my members, and the result is to-day we are happily situated in a cozy parsonage, with everything nicely arranged. We moved in on last Tuesday, and in the evening we were pounded with various bundles of groceries and table-ware. I know there never were better people, and I feel so grateful to God for his goodness, and that it fell to my lot to be pastor at Lumberton.

F. H. MARTIN.

Lumberton, April 1, 1892.

Our Meeting in Clayton.

Preaching began on the 12th of March, and closed on the 17th. Rev. R. T. Vann of Scotland Neck did the preaching from the evening of March 14th to the close of the meeting. It is useless for me to say he did it well—that goes without saying. He lovingly and plainly put the truth to our hearing and worked his way into our affections despite inclement weather and other drawbacks. He would now and again meltingly sing the gospel and move us all to tears. Some of us had known him in other days, and were delighted with this reunion and renewal of old friendships. Our appreciation of his visit and work in our midst cannot be put in words, and for his future success in the Lord's work will cause us to remember him more tenderly at the throne of grace. Nine have been received up to this writing, and we are expecting others at our next appointment.

Fraternally, O. C. HORTON.

Selma, April 6, 1892.

Bibles and Tracts Needed.

I have to day been applied to by three poor families for Bibles and Testaments and could not supply them with the larger print needed. To another family, whose house and books got burned in the country, I gave a large old Bible and other books and tracts, which was so thankfully received by the good wife and mother. This old Bible was given to me, not very long since, by one of the best old christian sisters I ever knew in Raleigh before she died, to give where needed.

A thoughtful brother told me to ask our kind city editors to publish this request of our good people: to look up all the old Bibles and Testaments that they could spare, and either send them to Messrs Jones & Powell's office on Fayetteville street, or Williams & Haywood Drug Store, or if preferred, let me know and I will gladly call at your houses for them. There has not yet been half enough money sent to Bro. Pullen, the committee and myself to buy the Bibles and Tracts now needed in my mission work. A few have given from 25 cents to $5 and "a friend" so kindly continues one dollar a week "for me or my work" with his [or her] good wishes. I thank God for such voluntary lending to the Lord and his poor. I do hope more will prayerfully see him, in the poor around us and always with us," as the Bible says, and give money to supply the destitute with God's Word. I am glad there are those among us that are able and willing to buy, and give as presents to friends, fine Bibles from $5 to $30. This is right, and I have some of these put in my hands to sell, but I am so sorry I have not half enough to give the Bread of Life to those unable to buy, who cannot even cloth themselves so as to go and hear our good pastors and attend our excellent Sunday-school.

At last fifty dollars is needed for the work now pressing upon me to get my second supply of tracts. Do give what you can, christian friend, by the week, month, quarter or year. Please let me have the old Bibles and Testaments, with what money you can give as soon as possible. The King's business requires haste, and we each have but one short life in which to attend to it. A man to-day met and thanked me for the blessings he received by a tract "How to Begin to be a Christian" I gave him. He wanted some to give his ungodly comrades, who like himself were "wild and in the broad way to ruin." "He that giveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord." Do trust and try God's promise.

W. J. W. CROWDER.

Mr. Spurgeon's Mistake as to Dr. Pierson.

In hunting for missionary news through some English religious weeklies, I came across a piece of interesting information in the London Christian Commonwealth for March 17th. The editor, or some one sent by him, has been interviewing Rev. James A. Spurgeon, the great preacher's brother. Mr. Spurgeon said distinctly that his brother Charles always thought Dr. Pierson was a Baptist until he, James, at one time enlightened him. It was on that supposition that Charles invited Dr. Pierson to fill his place. At the time Mr. Charles Spurgeon asked Dr. Pierson to come to the Tabernacle, he did not know that Dr. Pierson was a Presbyterian. Mr. James Spurgeon said, further, that he "never heard believers' baptism put more strongly in the Tabernacle than by Dr. Pierson, not even by my brother." He added that beyond all doubt Dr. Pierson had never been baptised, but "whether he is not a Baptist is another question." Mr. Spurgeon seems desirous of having Dr. Pierson continue as his colleague.—N. Y. Examiner.

From Dr. W. A. Nelson.

Please change the address of my copy of the RECORDER from Asheville to Aiken, S. C. Have accepted the call of this little church for one year only with the hope that the climate that has twice proven itself friendly to me may fully restore my vocal organs in that time. Fraternally.

W. A. NELSON.

Aiken, S. C., April 2, 1892.

Led by Him.

"As many as led by the Spirit of God, these are sons of God." This is the test and herein lies the demonstration. The "led" are the "sons." Not as many as are touched by the Spirit, whether once, twice, or many times; but as many as are led. There is a constancy of Divine action, the steady even pressure of the Holy Ghost; and on the part of the man, there is a ready yielding to this gentle force; "led," not dragged; "led," not goaded; "led," not even coaxed. And where by our godly behavior we show that, in conduct and feeling, we are led by him, then indeed "the Spirit himself beareth witness with our spirit that we are the children of God."—C. C. S. W., in Young People's Union.

The most marked, significant and contrasting pictures possible to be put on canvas would merely express the sober truths of history as they stand out in the life of Christ. Such a case is that in Matt. xv., 30, 31: "And there came unto him great multitudes, having with them the lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and they cast them down at his feet; and he healed them." A good place, certainly, for the troubled and needy, at the feet of Jesus. The turbid natures of the streams of sinful men flow to his feet in all their blackness, but flow away from his feet clear as crystal. A day is spent by him in fever-smitten Capernaum. "And when the sun is setting all they that had any sick with divers disease brought them unto him; and he laid his hand on every one of them, and healed them. And devils also came out from many." A criminal on the cross, confessing himself guilty, as a thief, looks upon him as he hangs beside him, receives the truth into his heart, breathes his petition to Christ: "Remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom," and exchanges his cross for fellowship with Christ in paradise that very day. Power, compassion, all blessedness, are in him as in a free fountain; and all who come to him may draw freely. The weary world is invited, and rest is promised to all who come.—The Christian Inquirer.

Charity.

Be lenient with the fallen. You see a brother fall and say, "I never could have done that!" Perhaps you could not, because your temptation does not happen to be in that direction, but you have done things in the course of your life that these fallen men could have never done, because their temptation was not in that direction. Do not my in boasting, "I never could have done such a thing as that!" You do not know what you would do if sufficiently tempted. You have an infinite soul force. If grace direct it, a force for the right; if evil influences siese upon it, a terrific force for the wrong. There are passions within your soul that have never been unchained. Look out if once they slip their cables. In our criticisms of others, let us remember that we have faults which our friends have excused. How much would be left of us if all those who see inconsistencies in us should clip away from our character and reputation! It is an invariable rule that those who make the roughest work with the names of others are those who have themselves the most imperfections. When you hear evil of any one, suspend judgment. Do not decide till you have heard the man's defense.—Dr. Talmage in Christian Herald.

Bethel Church Moneys Received.

The following churches and friends have aided us on the Bethel church debt:

Oxford Baptist church, $21.04; Corinth, 6.90; Brassfields, 11.70; Youngsville, 3.90; First Baptist church, Raleigh, 9.85; W. G. Upchurch, 2.00; Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter, 2.00; W. H. Pace, 2.00; Maj. W. W. Vass, 2.00; W. N. Jones, 2.00; G. M. Allen, 1.00; Mrs. Annie Justice, 1.00; Mrs. J. C. Scarborough, 1.00; E. S. Wyatt, 50c.; John T. Pullen, 50c.; Rev. Dr. W. B. Royall, 1.00; brethren at Cedar Rock, 75c.

Thank you, dear friends, for your kind help. J. R. PACE.

Bethel, April 8, 1892.

Wanted.

At the last session of the Flat River Association, the clerk was requested to collect, as near as possible, a file of the minutes of the Association, and to have them bound for its use.

It is necessary that the Association should have a complete record of its proceedings. To this end the brethren should lend their assistance. I am in need of the records up to '41—and the minutes of the following years: '45, '67, '68, '69, '71, '72, '73, '74, '75, '76, '77, '78, '81, '82, '84, '85, '87. Those who have the foregoing numbers, and especially the older numbers, would confer a favor upon the Association by sending them to me at Wake Forest, N. C., in the next few weeks. JOSEPH G. BROUGHTON.

The lover a christian stoops to higher he can lift.—Rom's Horn.

Character is [illegible] —Young's.

(CONTINUED FROM THE FIRST PAGE.)

to be wickedly aside from truth? When I shall be able to understand the process by which gracious men so accommodate their consciences, even then I shall have a confirmed belief that the God of truth never did and never will confirm a spiritual blessing of the highest order in connection with the utterance of such false promises and untruthful vows. My brethren, does it not strike you that declarations so fictitious are not likely to be connected with a new birth wrought by the Spirit of truth?

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Showers of Blessings.

We feel somewhat like the good old sister who, when asked if her life never had any clouds, answered, "Why, yes, else from where would all the blessed showers come?" It rained nearly all the time during our meeting, but we went to church regularly, and felt that God was with us through all.

Our pastor began with some of the most soul-searching sermons we had ever heard from him, and all of his sermons are good. Bro. R. T. Vann came on March 15th, and spent nine days with us, preaching twice a day. After once hearing him, we just could not stay away. There were good crowds day and night. It is a wonderful thing to see a man so gifted with rare powers of eloquence and oratory, just bring himself down to simple words and language, and tell nothing but the sweet old story. And all of his illustrations were but to bring out more clearly God's love to us, and our duty to him. And the tender, winning pathos, and gentle, loving sympathy of our dear brother's every look and tone won every heart. He had a way of drawing us toward himself, while he ever held before us the adorable love of our precious Saviour. And then, too, the beautiful songs our brother sang for us, in a voice as rich and sweet as any woman's, wooed and melted every listener. We can not sum up the good which has been done. A good number have joined the church, but there are many others not yet saved who have resolved to seek the Saviour till they find him precious to their souls.

Truly nothing but the Holy Spirit could enable a man to preach like Brother Vann. And we all with one accord, give God thanks for the rare privilege of hearing the Scriptures explained in so convincing a manner.

And our beloved pastor, Rev. O. C. Horton, rejoices with us, for we all have been drawn closer to God and to each other, and are determined, by the help of our Saviour, to stand by each other with heart and hand in the Master's work. I. C. H. H.

Clayton, N. C.

Short Cuts.

This is an age of labor-saving machinery. And not only so in mechanics. The realm of morals corresponds to that of physics at many points. "You press the button, we do the rest," is a motto which might describe the Kodak religion now so popular. It is a religion of dependency on external helps—as when the church member lets his pastor do his thinking for him, the deacons and trustees perform his church duties, and prayer meetings and religious literature take care of his spiritual exercises. There are many temptations to this proxy life in our well equipped christian organizations. Just join them and you will be well taken care of from beginning to end.

"Drop a nickel in the slot and take out," something which you could not get so easily otherwise, is another material synonym of certain spiritual privileges. For it is surprising how many great advantages are offered to a christian now-a-days at little cost to himself. A minister can purchase sermons ready made and warranted to suit any occasion he may specify. The Sunday-school teacher will find the lessons all ready to be taught in our numerous and excellent "helps." You may apply to "Bureaus of Information" and receive original essays, orations, articles on any topic that you ask for. And so it goes. The worker can get his work done for him at small expense—the soldier can win a victory without fighting a battle.

But is it honest—all this reaping of harvests that we did not sow? Have we a right to receive credit for what costs us so little?

It is true that we are entitled to all the advantages which modern improvements supply to us. If we can be carried swiftly to the top of lofty buildings in an elevator, we need not climb the stairs. If we can fly across the country in a vestibule train, there is no dishonor in neglecting the old stage coach. For the same reason we are entitled to make use of the apparatus for study which now enriches us with the result of other men's labor. Every scholar thus gathers wisdom as the heir of all the ages.

Nevertheless we should guard against a loss of self-reliance. No one can afford to walk on another's feet and see through another's eyes entirely. The genuine christian does his own work in his own way, trusting the Saviour for guidance and guardianship, accepting all the assistance which the church can render, he yet works out his own salvation, knowing that it is God who is working in him an inspiration given to no one else. There is nothing more precious than the individuality of each soul. There is nothing more important than that each christian life should be original.—Rev. C. J. Baldwin, D. D., in Young Peoples' Union.

One might as well try to stem the rapids ... to expect perfect health while ... impurities remain ... in the blood. ... its alterative and purifying prop... Ayer's Sarsaparilla removes every ... of scrofulous poison from the blood.

What is the Bible to You?

Tell me what the Bible is to a young christian, and I will generally tell what he is. This is the pulse to try—this is the barometer to look at if we would know the state of the heart. I have no notion of the Spirit dwelling in a man, and not giving clear evidence of his presence. And I believe it to be a single evidence of the Spirit's presence when the word is really precious to a man's soul. When there is no appetite for the truths of Scripture, the soul cannot be in a state of health. There is some serious disease. Reader, what is the Bible to you? Is it your guide, your counsellor, your friend? Is it your rule of faith and practice? Is it your measure of truth and error, of right and wrong? It ought to be so. It was given for this purpose. If it is not, do you really love your Bible?"—The Sunlight.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $3.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC Co., 339 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

Our acts make or mar us. We are the children of our own deeds.—Victor Hugo.

The love of God is an endless circle (from good to good, without error or inconstancy, moving in an everlasting round.—Farindon.

Second Annual Meeting of the Baptist Sunday-school Convention of North Carolina.

TO BE HELD IN WINSTON, APRIL 14—17, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Thursday, 3 p. m.—Organization.
Welcome words by pastor. Responses.
Address by George W. Sanderlin. Subject: The Bible in the Sunday-school.
7:30 p. m.—Address by C. A. Jenkens. Subject: The Holy Spirit's Work in the Preparation, Exposition and Application of Scripture Lessons in the Sunday-school.
Address by T. P. Bell. Subject: Sunday-school Literature as a Means of Developing Interest in Missionary Work.
Friday, 10 a. m.—Address by J. C. Scarborough. Subject: The Influence of Sunday-school Training on our Denominational Life.
Address by J. K. Fant. Subject: The Obligation of Churches to their Sunday-schools and the Schools to their Churches.
Miscellaneous business.
3 p. m.—Address by A. W. Price. Subject: The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school.
Questions and answers on general work.
General discussion on mission schools, how to organize and successfully run them.
7 p. m.—Address by F. M. Ellis. Subject: The Centennial of Missions.
Saturday, 10 a. m.—Address by W. L. Poteat. Subject: Sunday-school Equipment, Rooms, Bibles, Song-books, Maps, Literature, and our Supply Store.
General discussion on Methods and Helps.
Address by J. M. Frost. Subject: The Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention.
3 p. m.—Address by D. M. Austin. Subject: How can the Schools Aid our Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in Sunday-school Mission and Colportage Work?
Address by O. L. Stringfield. Subject: Country Sunday-schools, their Importance, and How to Sustain them.
Conference: Summer Bible School. Shall it be? Where?
7:30 p. m.—Address by T. J. Taylor. Subject: The Baptist Orphanage, what should the Sunday-schools Do for it?
Miscellaneous business.

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION.

The Constitution gives the only basis of representation as follows:

ART. 3. This convention shall be composed of one male lay delegate and one associate from each Sunday-school, regardless of contributions, and of Baptist ministers and superintendents of Baptist Sunday-schools in North Carolina who shall pay annually one dollar each to the Treasurer, and of male delegates chosen by the Sunday-schools and Sunday Associations. Each school and each Sunday-school Association shall be entitled to one delegate on the payment annually of five dollars to the Treasurer, and to two additional delegates on the payment to the Treasurer of ten dollars for the objects of the Convention. Each school shall be entitled to two delegates chosen by the school on the payment of five dollars to the Treasurer. The associates shall be women. This Convention shall co-operate with the Baptist State Convention and its Board of Missions and Sunday-schools and with the Southern Baptist Convention.

ART. 4. Only members of white Baptist churches shall be eligible to membership in the Convention as delegates or as associate delegates. The associate delegates shall not be entitled to the "floor of the house."

ENTERTAINMENT.

Delegates will be entertained by the people of Winston. The committee on hospitality, however, will be responsible for the entertainment of those delegates only who notify the pastor, Rev. H. A. Brown, by Thursday, April 7th, 1892, of their expectation to be present.

ROUND-TRIP RAILROAD FARE TO CONVENTION.

From Rutherfordton, $9.35; Shelby, 7.80; Lincolnton, 6.60; Charlotte, 5.95; Fayetteville, 6.65; Henderson, 6.10; Maxton, 7.95; Sanford, 5.05; Marion, 7.55; Wilmington, 9.20; Weldon, 9.05; Goldsboro, 7.05; Selma, 6.45; Raleigh, 5.40; Durham, 4.30; Greensboro, 1.65. Intermediate points in same proportion.

N. B. BROUGHTON,
T. H. BRIGGS,
T. M. PITTMAN,
E. K. PROCTOR, JR.,
JNO. T. PULLEN,
Executive Committee.

Read This.

Let those who are appointed to attend the Sunday-school Convention in Winston send their names to the pastor (Rev. H. A. Brown) immediately, that the Committee may arrange for homes. We can not be responsible for those who do not send their names before April 7th as published in the programme. Fraternally,

COMMITTEE ON HOSPITALITY.
Winston, March 19, 1892.

A MAD POET

rushed into a newspaper office recently, and threatened to "clean out" the establishment, because they printed his verses wrong. Said he: "I wrote, 'To dwell forever in a grot of peace,' and you idiots put it 'a pot of grease.'" The mortified editor presented him with a vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, a year's subscription and an apology.

The little "Pellets" positively cure sick and nervous headache, biliousness, costiveness, and all derangements of the stomach, bowels and liver. It's a large contract, but the smallest things in the world do the business—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest, but the most effective. They go to work in the right way. They cleanse and renovate the liver, stomach and bowels thoroughly—but they do it mildly and gently. You feel the good they do—but you don't feel them doing it.

They're the cheapest pill you can buy, because they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You only pay for the good you get.

That's the peculiar plan all Dr. Pierce's medicines are sold on, through druggists.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.
T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

CONSUMPTION
T POSITIVELY CURED. T

H E B E S T

Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

SPECIAL NOTICE

Complying with general request,
BEECHAM'S PILLS
will in future for the United States be covered with A Tasteless and Soluble Coating, completely disguising the taste of the Pill without in any way impairing its efficacy.
Price 25 cents a Box.
New York Depot 365 Canal Street.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE

Easter Music. All kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. P. W. Root's New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The clearest and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.50 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price $1.25. King Rudeness, by Jas. R. Murray, a charming new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection in the market, contains the latest and best songs, 132 pages. Price 50 cents. Anthem Jewels, by H. P. Danks. Anthems for opening and closing of services, offertory, etc., etc., 64 pages. Price 25 cents. Collections of Latest and Best Vocal and Instrumental Music. Complete lists of contents furnished on application.

THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains anthems and voluntaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter. Published monthly. Price 15 cents a single copy, $1.50 a year. Special terms to clubs.

—PUBLISHED BY—
The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 200 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts. for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 30 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 30 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 38 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	†8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.55 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leaves Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2.10 a m. Leaves Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday, for Oxford and Keysville.

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 28, 1892.

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	4.35 p m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m	.....	.....
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Bennettsville	.....	12.40 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	1.27 p m	.....
Ar Fayetteville	.....	2.57 p m	.....
Lv Ramseur	.....	.....	7:25 a m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	10:35 a m
Ar Madison	.....	.....	1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m	.....	.....
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	.....	2:11 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	3:32 p m	.....
Ar Bennettsville	.....	4:22 p m	.....
Lv Madison	.....	.....	3:45 p m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur	.....	.....	5:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; secretary, MRS. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thank-giving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to MISS FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for April:—Cuba.

Cuba.

Ancient writers tell us of a large continent, formerly existing in the Atlantic ocean, which, during a violent earthquake shock, disappeared beneath the waves. Modern theorists have formed numerous conjectures as to the probable situation of this submerged continent, and many of them, adducing plausible arguments in support of their theory, have endeavored to prove that the West Indies are the mountain peaks of the "lost Atlantis."

Perhaps this is only a myth, yet a very fascinating one, which, to the student of mythology at least, invests these islands with an added charm. This we do know, however, that they are even now engulfed in the waves of superstition and sin, and the "Pearl of the Antilles" still lies buried in the depths of Romanism. The rescue of lost souls is a grander enterprise than the discovery of a lost continent.

We cannot dwell upon the history of Cuba, her fruitless struggles to throw off the Spanish yoke, which enlist our interest and sympathy all the more because hers, too, was a "lost cause." One of her chief claims to historic interest is the fact that here is the resting-place of Christopher Columbus, "the creator of a hemisphere."

This island was discovered by him on the 28th of October, 1492. In size it is more than twice as large as the kingdom of Greece. Its population is a million and a half, of whom one million are Spaniards and native Cubans, nearly half a million negroes, and fifty thousand Chinese coolies.

The climate is delightful, the average temperature at Havana being 77. Nature is lavish with her gifts, bestowing the luxuriance of perpetual summer. Broad fields of sugar-cane, thick groves of orange and plantain, the stately palm, the drooping cocoa, enlivened by gay tropical flowers and birds of gorgeous plumage, present a scene of entrancing loveliness.

"Here every prospect pleases,
And only man is vile."

Must we add this sad commentary? It is only too evident that morality is at a low ebb in Cuba. And the cause is equally apparent. When the clergy are so openly corrupt as not to be permitted to visit respectable families, we cannot expect a high standard of morality in their followers. The masses are practically without any religion, and many thinking men are driven to open infidelity.

The government of Cuba has been defined as "an armed monarchy encamped in the midst of a disarmed and disfranchised people." The Captain-General is appointed by the Spanish government, and is invested with absolute power. No native Cuban is allowed to hold any office of honor, trust or emolument. It is not strange that the red and yellow of the Spanish flag, fit emblem of blood and gold, is becoming to them a hated ensign. Many of them are beginning to hope in the star of our national flag. Yet, if it be true that "popular self-government is rather of the nature of a faculty than a right," and that "every nation has, in the main, as good a government as it deserves," we cannot fail to see that it would seriously affect the welfare of our nation to receive into the Union this horde of ignorant Romanists. We must first christianize and enlighten them, and then the "Pearl of the Antilles" may be safely welcomed to a place in the galaxy of our American Republic.

What are the grounds of our obligation to give the gospel to Cuba?

1. The great commission, the motor of all mission work, applies to Cuba as well as China and Africa. For are we not to "begin at Jerusalem"? Is she not literally "our neighbor," a part of our home field? Dr. Carey, in urging upon the people of the United States the support of Judson, said, "I think, however, your first duty is to the West Indies."

2. Aside from this command, however, their great need of the gospel should be, in itself, a sufficient appeal to christian philanthropy. A little girl once said, "If Jesus had told us we must not tell the heathen about God and heaven, I should be obliged to whisper it to them and bear a part of their punishment myself."

So Paul could wish himself "accursed of God for his brethren." Christ, the Great Missionary, trod the "wine-press of the wrath of God" for us. "If any man have not the spirit of Christ he is none of his."

3. Although a seeming failure should not cause us to abandon a mission field, yet the remarkable success which has attended the work in Cuba seems to be a mark of the Divine approval, while the eagerness of the people for the gospel is an irresistible appeal for the continuance of our labors.

This leads us to inquire, "What are we doing in Cuba"?

No sketch of this country would be complete without a tribute to the great Cuban apostle, Alberto J. Diaz, the originator of the Cuban mission. Ten years ago, sick and alone in the city of New York, he was converted through the instrumentality of a young christian lady. Upon his recovery, he resolved, with God's help, to "win Cuba for Christ." Returning to his native land, he has "in stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults," evinced the sublimest heroism. In 1886, a church was established in Havana, with him as pastor. This was soon received under the auspices of the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention. Within three and a half years, there were 1,500 baptized believers in and around Havana. The success of the Cuban mission is almost without a parallel in the history of modern missions. We quote the following statistics from Rev. A. J. Rowland:

"There are now seven churches—one large church in Havana and six smaller churches elsewhere. There are actively at work twenty-one missionaries who are preaching or otherwise laboring at twenty-seven stations. The present membership of the churches is about 1,800, and there are 25,000 scholars in the various Sunday-schools."

A school for girls has recently been established in Havana, which is destined to be a great power for good.

The second payment of $30,000 on the Havana house of worship has been made, and the remaining $30,000 falls due in December next.

Dr. Tichenor, in reporting his recent trip to Cuba, says:

"As far as I could see, there is no abatement of interest, no flagging of zeal, no reaction among our people in Havana. Of one thing I am sure, among the multitudes of that great city outside of our churches, sympathy with our people's interest in the cause which they represent is broadening and deepening year by year."

EVABELLE SIMMONS.

The Havana Church.

A marked leading of God's hand appears in connection with the Havana church. The great want all along had been one central home for the main mission church. The believers had been assembling in rented quarters, and these were contracted and inconvenient. The prevailing laws, which permitted Protestant worship, provided that such worship should be within closed doors and so hidden from public view. It was difficult, in the city of such strange architecture, to find locales which met the requirement of the law. Observe now how God provided for this exigency. In 1880, one Jane built him a theatre; he intended it to be next to the famous Tacon, the leading place of amusement in the gay city; he built it a stone's throw from the Prado, the resort of Havanese society; he built it admirably, a noble amphitheatre in form, rising in ample proportions to an iron dome eighty feet in the air; he surrounded it with a pleasant arcade, so that it should be entirely removed from the street, and yet accessible by wide opening doors. But Senor Jane was not so successful as he had wished.

When Dr. Tichenor, the Home Board Secretary, visited Havana with a view to selecting a site for the new church building, the Treatro Jane was upon the market. It was not thought possible to agree upon the terms, and the Secretary was about to return home to await further developments. Accustomed to the freedom of America, he had not fulfilled the routine required of those who would leave the island and so was compelled to see his ship depart without him. Before the next ship sailed, a most astonishing offer was made by the owner of the property, which made it possible to close the transaction and transform the spacious auditorium erected for theatrical display into a sanctuary for the honor of Jehovah.

LANSING BURROWS.

Depression.

On every hand we hear a great deal about the terrible financial depression of our Southern country, especially in connection with the raising of money for the Lord's work. From several States come tidings to the Foreign Mission Board of decreased receipts, and in every case the reason given for the decrease is "hard times." "Times" are "hard," and a great deal of the hardness is falling on the Lord's work, and this has caused me to think a few things acout the times and this particular fruit of them which it may not be amiss to mention, that our christian people may think about them.

Thought one. South Carolina is undoubtedly one of the poorest States in the South in material resources and has felt as severely as any the depressing influence of hard times. Yet South Carolina Baptists have kept up their contributions to Foreign Missions. What they can do, the Baptists of other States can do. Why not?

Thought two. Most of the contributions of our Baptist people are in small sums, so small as not to be seriously missed even in "hard times." There is danger of our making hard times an excuse for not doing what we can do.

Thought three. I will borrow from a brother, who expresses it thus: "There is yet enough in Baptist pockets to make this Centennial movement a prodigious success, if only our hosts could awake to the thought of making a moderate sacrifice for God." When our luxuries are cut off and the necessaries are being curtailed, then can we begin to talk about giving less to him who gave himself for us. Till then, we ought to be ashamed to think of it.

Thought four. Real love to Jesus will manifest itself now in enlarged gifts for his work even to the making of sacrifices—which few of us have done as yet. The luxuries have not yet been sacrificed, much less the comforts. Love of these will make some of these give way to the higher claims of Jesus upon us.

Thought five. What we do must be done quickly. Only a few weeks remain until the fiscal year of the Convention closes, April 30th, and the Board is further behind than ever before at this time. Receipts are behind those of last year, and expenditures will be $15,000 or $20,000 more.

Thought six. Of all the Baptists who read these lines would stop thinking about hard times and let their minds dwell for a while on the many "good" times the Lord has given them in the past, they would be so filled with thankfulness that they would want to give vent to this in a thank-offering, and their praises would be heard where now only lamentations burden the air.

T. P. BELL, Assist. Sec'ry.

Richmond, Va.

The Best Made Better.

For the past twenty years many persons have thought and said that the Baptist Teacher was the best of its kind. Now, they say, that the best has been made better: that the last copy of the Teacher is superior to any of its preceding numbers. Editorials, contributions, lesson notes, Editor's drawer, library notes,—all its contents, from beginning to end, are up to the very highest point of excellence. How the American Baptist Publication Society can furnish such a monthly for only fifty cents a year is what puzzles the average newspaper proprietor.

The Sympathy of Christ.

"Lo! I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." With what sweet assurance do these words of our Lord come to us! There is no feeling which is quite so depressing and disheartening as the lack of sympathy. To think that, if we stretch out our hands, there is no one to clasp them; that if we mourn, there is no one to comfort; that if we seek companionship, there is no one to walk and commune with us—this it is which makes the heart sink as nothing else can. We are like the embers of a fire; when our hearts cease to touch other hearts, they grow cold and die. We live only through sympathy. Shut a man out from that, and all the hope, the joy, the fruitfulness, the energy, pass out of his life. To be alone, in all its experiences, is a terrible thing for a soul—a kind of spiritual death.

Jesus Christ knew this. He himself felt the awful depression which came from lack of sympathy on the part of those about him. No man was ever more alone than he was—alone, we mean, in those deep spiritual experiences which formed the daily current of his life. Even his dearest and most faithful disciples could not quite understand him, could not quite penetrate and enter into his profounder life. So, in the few instances which are given us in the gospels of Christ's spiritual struggles, we see clearly how it is the loneliness of his soul which makes him cry unto the Father. Think of him there in the Garden of Gethsemane, with his sleeping disciples, the unfaithful, unapprehending men who could not watch with him for even a single hour. What a desolation of loneliness must have crept over his yearning soul! How friendless and forsaken he must have felt, when the very hearts of all hearts in the world which might have been expected to beat in closest sympathy with his, proved so utterly irresponsive, cold, and dull in the hour of his great extremity!

Yes, Christ knew what bitterness and pain spring out of human loneliness, out of the lack of sympathy. He knew how this feeling chills the heart and paralyzes the energies. How tenderly significant, then, was the promise which he made to his followers in all after time: "Lo! I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." The sympathy which he offers us is truer and deeper, more intimate, more vital, than even the best of human sympathy. Dear as human sympathy is, it can never quite satisfy the demands of the soul. One feels always the lack of a perfect comprehension of the need, an inability to render the fullness of comfort and strength which can only come with a full understanding of the spiritual dearth or struggle. Christ's sympathy is full and perfect. It is the sympathy of one who knows the utmost bitterness and need of a soul in its extremity of trial; the sympathy of one whose divine heart yearns infinitely to comfort and sustain all who are fainting in trial and affliction. Christ can sympathize with us more closely than any earthly friend because he enters into all our feelings and experiences, and understands them as no other being can. Is it not an inspiring and uplifting thought, that no christian can ever be alone in this world, no matter how men may misunderstand and misjudge him; no matter how completely circumstances may have exiled him from human sympathy; no matter how he may have been deprived, by death or distance, of the society and affection of dear ones? He cannot lack for loving help and companionship while Jesus is his friend. It often seems as if the loniliest souls, humanly considered, were those to whom the Lord came nearest. He delights to comfort those who are without earthly comfort, and the greatness of the need always measures the fullness of the sympathy.—Zions Herald.

The Staying Power.

If you will look into the oldest book of biographies on the globe, you will find that the men who have conquered the strongest temptations have had not only the courage of their convictions, but have had the indwelling power of God. Joseph, spurning a tremendous temptation, not because Potiphar saw him, but because God saw him; Daniel, facing both a laugh in the palace and the lions in the royal park; Paul, defying Nero, because "the Lord stood with me and strengthened me"—these are the models for your imitation. Good impulses are abundant and cheap. They will never hold you in a sharp fight unless you have the staying power which Christ imparts. To stand the sneers of scoffers, to resist the rush for sudden wealth, to conquer fleshly appetites, to hold unruly temper under control, to keep base passions subdued, and to direct all your plans and purposes straight toward the highest mark, requires a power above your own. Christ's mastery of you will give you self-mastery; yes, and mastery over the powers of darkness and of hell. Faith will fire the last shot, and when the battle of life ends, you will stand among the crowned conquerors in glory.—Theodore Cuyler, D. D.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

A child in its grief hides its face in its mother's lap, and so may we hide our faces from the worst of this world's sorrow under the shadow of God's love.—Miss Sewell.

Suffering is God's tool to cut life into beauty.—C. A. Bartol.

He that has a pure heart will never cease to pray; and he who will be constant in prayer shall know what it is to have a pure heart.—La Combe.

HOW BABIES SUFFER

When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with Itching and Burning Eczemas and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases, with Loss of Hair, none but mothers realize. To know that a single application of the

CUTICURA

Remedies will afford immediate relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy and economical cure, and not to use them, is to fail in your duty. Parents, save your children years of needless suffering from torturing and disfiguring eruptions. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

PAINS AND WEAKNESSES Relieved in one minute by that new, elegant, and infallible Antidote to Pain, Inflammation, and Weakness, the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. 25 cents.

EVERY Family Student School Library

S-H-O-U-L-D

Own a Dictionary.

Care should be taken to GET THE BEST.

WEBSTER'S INTERNATIONAL DICTIONARY

THE INTERNATIONAL, NEW FROM COVER TO COVER, IS THE ONE TO BUY.

It is a thorough revision of the authentic "Unabridged," fully abreast of the times.

The work of revision occupied over ten years, more than a hundred editors being employed and over $300,000 expended before the first copy was printed.

"This work, well used in a family, will be of more advantage to the members thereof than hundreds of dollars laid up in money."

Sold by all Booksellers.

G. & C. MERRIAM & CO., Publishers, Springfield, Mass., U. S. A.

Do not buy reprints of obsolete editions.

Send for free pamphlet containing specimen pages, illustrations, testimonials, and full particulars.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c.

D. L. Gore,

120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS. ESTABLISHED IN 1851.

Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Design, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information.

170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

BAILEY'S REFLECTORS

Compound Multi-spreading Silver-plated Corrugated Glass

Churches, Halls, Depots, Stores, Offices, Dwellings, Conservatories

Send for price list free.

BAILEY REFLECTOR CO., 103 Penn Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Edwards & Broughton,

Printers and Binders,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day-books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,

RALEIGH, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 25 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY

CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the Genuine Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials free.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY

CINCINNATI, O.

Best Copper and Tin Bells.

BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

Prices and Catalogue Free.

A Flying Trip to North Carolina.

Dear Recorder:—On the saddest mission that ever carried any man from one State to another, I went Saturday, March 26th, from New Jersey to North Carolina. It is a sad day in a man's history when to him it is said, "Your mother is dead." If the message came by telegram, when all your loved ones are supposed to be well and happy, it is the more crushing. This expresses my recent painful experience, for my dear mother died suddenly. But, blessed be the God of all grace and comfort, dying to such a christian as my mother was, is but going home to be with Jesus, so I praise the Lord that she has entered into rest.

NO SUNDAY TRAINS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Reaching Weldon at 11 o'clock Saturday night, it was seen to be useless to go any further, because no trains would be run into Fayetteville on Sunday.

For once in my life I wished it were not so, for I feared that unless I travelled on Sunday, the interment would take place before I could reach home, and in that case the face I longed to see would be forever hidden from my eyes. This thought, however, came to me: many laboring railroad men can have a day of needed rest and religious privileges by the stopping of the trains on the Lord's day, and God's command will be recognized all over the State as it would not be were the situation different. This thought helped me to be submissive and home was finally reached in time for the funeral. At Weldon many old friends were seen with great comfort. The little flock I once ministered to is still heroic, humble, appreciative, anxious to hear the old gospel and ready to do all within their power to bring the world to Christ and heaven. The last pastor, Bro. Morton, who but recently resigned the pastorate there after six and a half years of faithful service, is most affectionately spoken of, and it gives them real pleasure to know that by his acceptance of the church in Louisburg, he will be in the same Association with them. It ought to be a great comfort to any pastor who has served a church six and a half years, to know that all the people thus tenderly love him and rejoice in having him in their Association, even though he has ceased to be their shepherd.

AT FAYETTEVILLE.

I could see many, very many old friends and loved ones, but outside of the family circle one cares to talk with but few when he is at home on such an errand as that which carried me to the "home of my childhood." Yet I heard and saw enough to know that the pastor there is still loved by his people. He deserves their love and high esteem for his pure and good life and faithful preaching;—was sorry not to see more of him. For twenty-two years he was engaged in mercantile life with a Jew, but was always a bold and faithful advocate of the claims of Jesus Christ and an earnest supporter of the Baptist church.

GREENSBORO, THE CHURCH AND KEELEY INSTITUTE.

Returning by way of Greensboro and stopping there for the night, with two brothers I attended the prayer-meeting at the Baptist church, and unfortunately got into a church conference. I say unfortunately, because church conferences, to some of us, are never pleasant. Would that these could be abolished! But this conference had redeeming features. The condition of the church was reported to be better than a year ago, indebtedness small, and the faithful few still willing to do their part and more. Oh, that all the professed disciples of Christ were like the faithful few found everywhere. Then would we rejoice rather than lament in church conferences. The pastor, Walter Wingate (for so we were taught in our schoolday to call him), like his distinguished father, is calm, cordial, dignified, patient, gentle, wise and good. He deserves success. He may not drive or push, but he will lead aright the flock over which the Holy Ghost made him an overseer. Did the Greensboro church not make a mistake in attempting to stand alone? Sometimes we get discouraged when we attempt too much. The pastor and the faithful few there constitute a faithful and plucky band, and if they can wake up the sleepers and arouse the dead heads, the church may stand alone. "It is by each soldier feeling his obligation and doing his part, that the army conquers; it is by each bee doing its work, that the hive is stored with honey; it is by each insect putting forth all its might, that the coral reef becomes an island and cities rise upon the bosom of the main." Greensboro is an important field and needs to be well sustained.

A SAD REVELATION.

At Keeley's Institute, under treatment for the cure of drunkenness, to my painful surprise, I found five or six old acquaintances from different parts of the State; some of them I had been in College with, some of them professors of religion! What sad havoc sin has made with them in a few short years! They had been lost sight of by me; but it was taken for granted that they were somewhere filling useful and honored places in society; but alas, alas, it is not so, for they are drunkards!! Thank God, they still have some remaining sparks of their manhood, and therefore desire to be delivered from the awful thraldom of the accursed sin and shame. Alas, what multitudes subject themselves to a base thraldom in accepting the pleasures of sin, while disdaining the easy yoke of the Redeemer. The path of virtue and sobriety is the path of happiness. "Men carry unconscious signs of their life about them. Those that come from the forge, and those that come from the barn and mortar, those from the humic soil and those from travel, bear signs of doing work—of their work. One need not ask the history of a sad one whether it hath come out of grief. Tears are their own story. Should we, with fruit, we say, 'Thou art come from the orchard;' if with hands full of wild flowers, 'Thou art from the fields;' if one's garments smell of mingled odors, we say, 'Thou hast walked in a garden,' but how much more if one hath walked with God or with Satan?" The devotees of sinful, carnal pleasure carry in their very faces the signs of their dissipation. None of the boys or men seen were graduates of the College. All of them that I had met there left after being at College but a session or two—left before the College had had time to do its greatest work, that of moulding their moral character. They tried the outer world too soon. Let us take warning.

IN DANVILLE.

Others are on the way to this same gulf of wickedness. At the railroad restaurant in Danville, Va., along with other passengers I went in for dinner, and there claret is given away almost as freely as water. They do not wait for even young boys to ask for it, it is brought to them as is the food they eat. Shame, shame upon the tempters of youth! But so it is. Temptations are met with on every hand, and on the right and on the left, behind and in front of us, we see the thoughtless ones going on like the ox to the slaughter.

And now I am at home again in New Jersey, heart burdened with sorrow, but across the storm-cloud I see the golden belt of heaven's own promise of life, long life, even life forever more. And so shall it be till the end comes.

No one of the RECORDER readers rejoices more than myself over the returning health and strength of Bro. Bailey, whose gifted pen and courageous spirit have served the State and Nation well.

M. V. McDUFFIE.

Central Association.

CENTENNIAL OF FOREIGN MISSIONS.

The following brethren are appointed to speak at the churches at their regular Sunday appointments in May. In the case of Woodland, the appointment is made for the third Sunday in June. The First church of Raleigh will themselves arrange for a meeting. For Wake Forest church, one day is to be devoted to the consideration of this subject during the Association.

Every brother appointed is expected to be present without fail, or to have his place filled.

Bay Leaf, 1st Sunday in May—R. R. Day, W. O. Allen.

Mt. Olivet, 1st Sunday in May—W. B. Royall, N. Y. Gulley.

Wake Union, 1st Sunday in May—J. F. Lanneau, I. T. Newton.

Forestville, 2d Sunday in May—W. B. Morton, W. R. Bradshaw.

Franklinton, 2d Sunday in May—W. L. Poteat, C. E. Brewer.

Harris' Chapel, 2d Sunday in May—William Royall, E. G. Beckwith.

Midway, 2d Sunday in May—W. H. Edwards, C. M. Billings.

New Hope, 2d Sunday in May—J. C. Scarborough, J. D. Boushall.

Oak Grove, 2d Sunday in May—P. W. Johnson, W. J. Howell.

Rocky Ford, 2d Sunday in May—T. L. Blalock, J. A. McKaughan.

Brassfields, 3d Sunday in May—C. E. Brewer, S. J. Porter.

Flat Rock, 3d Sunday in May—William Royall, J. V. Devenny.

Hopkins' Chapel, 3d Sunday in May—A. F. Purefoy, J. M. Alderman.

Mt. Vernon, 3d Sunday in May—J. W. Carter, J. B. Carlyle.

Rolesville, 3d Sunday in May—W. J. Ferrell, E. G. Beckwith.

Woodland, 3d Sunday in June—W. R. Gwaltney, P. W. Johnson.

New Bethel, 4th Sunday in May—W. L. Poteat, J. O. Gough.

Perry's Chapel, 4th Sunday in May—W. R. Gwaltney, J. F. Lanneau.

Stony Hill, 4th Sunday in May—J. E. Green, W. F. Fry.

Wake Cross Roads, 4th Sunday in May—M. R. Pernell, W. H. Reddish.

Youngsville, 4th Sunday in May—N. Y. Gulley, J. B. Carlyle.

W. B. ROYALL,
W. R. GWALTNEY,
E. G. BECKWITH,
Committee.

Quarterly Receipts of B. M. B. Board.

Dear Recorder:—Will your kindly announce for the B. M. B. Board the following receipts for last quarter?

Sandy Run Association, $7.34; Bear Swamp church, 5.50; Warrenton church, 13.25; J. D. Boushall, Treasurer, 62.38; First Baptist church, Durham, 13 41; Johnston Antioch church, 1.95; "A Little Friend," 25c.; J. A. Coppedge, Cedar Rock, 1.75; Pactolus church, 3.30; First Baptist church, Durham, 6.30; Morris Hill church, 1.00; A Fayetteville lady, 1.00; Marion church, 2.10.

Yours fraternally,
T. E. CHEEK, Treasurer.
Durham, April 8, 1892.

Tough glass lamp-chimneys. Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are made of tough glass. They rarely break except from accident.
Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Cashie ch, West Chowan, $8.75; W M S, Goldsboro ch, Atlantic, 5.00; Poplin Grove ch, Stanly, 1.00; Chapel Hill ch, Mt Zion ch, 26.00; Mars Hill ch, W Chowan, 14.00; Bethel ch, Union, 5.00; Elim ch, West Chowan, 7.52; J R Corbett, Colley, N C, 50c. Total, 61 77. Previously reported, 1,400.48. Total this year, 1,462.25.

Foreign Missions—W M S, Tabernacle ch, Raleigh, $8.10; Mrs A S Wheless, Bark Spring, Tar River, 1.00; Piny Grove ch, Elkin, 1.00; Henderson ch, Flat River, 38.31; Cedar Rock ch, Tar River, 2.28; Macedonia ch, Pilot Mtn, 1.50; Sunbeams, Lumberton ch, Robeson, 1.80; Bladen Union ch, Cedar Creek, 2.75; Globe ch, Caldwell, 13.21; Red Bank ch, Pilot Mtn, 65c; May's Chapel ch, Sandy Creek, 8.51; Union ch, West Chowan, 15.00; S S Society, ditto, ditto, 5.00; Morrisville ch, Raleigh, 5.50; Mt Zion ch, Cape Fear, 1.62; W M S, Hopkin's Chapel ch, Central, 1 62; Trap Hill ch, Brushy Mtn, 2.50; Hopewell ch, Union, 3.00; Ramoth Gilead ch, Chowan, 24.00; Ahoskie ch, W Chowan, 50.00; W M S, Morrisville ch, Raleigh, 7.10; Mill Creek ch, Union, 3.00; Benton X Roads ch, ditto, 2.00; New Hope ch, ditto 1.00; Bethel ch, ditto, 3.00; Flat Rock ch, Yadkin, 6.00; J R Corbett, Colly, N C, 5.00. Total, 214.51. Previously reported, 2,297.30. Total this year, 2,511.81.

Home Missions—Murfreesboro church, W Chowan, $6.16; Lenoir ch, Caldwell, 2.00; Lower Creek ch, ditto, 2.70; Palmerville ch, Stanly, 4.00; Macedonia ch, Pilot Mtn, 1.50; McAlpine Grove ch, Robeson, 2.10; Providence ch, ditto, 4.21; Raft Swamp ch, ditto, 11.25; Union ch, West Chowan, 5.00; Salem church, Chowan, 3.00; Olivet ch South Fork, 5.00; Sawyer's Creek ch, Chowan, 30.00; Mt Zion ch, Cape Fear, 1 51; Mt Zion ch, Flat River, 22.66; Beaver Dam ch, Union, 4.30; Hopewell ch, ditto, 3.00; Newbern ch, Eastern, 24.55; Mill Creek ch, Union, 76c; Benton X Roads, ditto, 70c; New Hope ch, ditto, 90c; Bethel ch, ditto, 3.90; J R Corbett, Colly, N C, 1.00; Bethel ch, Montgomery, 6.00. Total, 146.20. Previously reported, 703.93. Total this year, 850.23.

Havana House—Providence ch, Robeson, $1.81; Masonboro ch, Eastern, 6.50; J R Corbett, Colly, N C, 1.00. Total, 9.31. Previously reported, 3,147.86. Total to date, 3,157.17.

Education—King's Creek ch, Caldwell, $1.75; Hopewell ch, Union, 3.00; Jackson ch, West Chowan, 4.12; High Point ch, Liberty, 10.00; Spring Hill ch, Richmond, 2.00; Frank Gough, Lumberton, N C, 20.00; R E Royal, Wake Forest, N C, 5.00. Total, 45.87. Previously reported, 682.38. Total this year, 728.25.

Orphanage—S S, First ch, Raleigh, Central, $15.00; S S, Cashie ch, W Chowan, 1.20; J R Corbett, Colly, N C, 50c. Total, 16.70. Previously reported, 447.20. Total this year, 463.90.

For Elder W K Briggs—S S Mis Soc, Cashie ch, W Chowan, $3.40.

"Louisville Seminary"—W M S, Henderson ch, Tar River, $10.00.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, April 9, 1892.

Many Persons are broken down from overwork or household cares. Brown's Iron Bitters Rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 13, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY,
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

The Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., and return at rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale May 3d to 6th inclusive, good returning until May 17th, 1892.

Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville Railroad to furnish any extra sleepers or coaches necessary for the accommodation of delegates and others who will attend the Convention. The delegates from Eastern and Middle Carolina will leave May 4th.

Leave Goldsboro, via R. & D. R. R., at 12:15 p. m.; Raleigh, 6:25 p. m.; Durham, 7:32 p. m.; Greensboro, 10:25 p. m.; arrive at Atlanta May 5th, at 12:20 p. m. This will give delegates ample time to get located and refreshed for the opening of the Convention, Friday morning, May 6th. Should they leave on next train following they would arrive at Atlanta at 11:45 p. m. Sleeping car fare from Greensboro to Atlanta will be $2.50 for double berth. Two persons can occupy one berth without any extra charge. Those who do not take sleeper will have no change of cars between Greensboro and Atlanta, as the entire train runs through without change. All who expect to attend the Convention will please write the undersigned, stating at what place they will join the delegation, and how much space they will want in sleeper, in order that ample accommodations may be provided. The rate will be one lowest first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 3d to 6th inclusive.

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.85; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 13.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

PEACE OF MIND.

For such delegates as prefer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $3.00 to 3.00; Markham House, 2.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.00; Grant House, 1.25; board at first class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the Convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with this request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28–30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5–7.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27–29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27–29.
West Chowan—Aulander ch., April 13.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

For Bilious Attacks
heartburn,
sick headache,
and all disorders of the stomach, liver, and bowels,
Ayer's Cathartic Pills
are the safest, surest, and most popular medicine for family use.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.
Lowell, Mass.

READY APRIL 25th.
THE STANDARD
LIFE OF SPURGEON,
BY
H. L. WAYLAND, D. D.
Cloth, 300 pages. 20 Illustrations.
PRICE, $1.25.
The author has long been a personal friend of the great Baptist preacher, and will present his life as seen in the pulpit, in the orphanage, in the college, and in his home, also including an account of his closing days and funeral
An Agent Wanted in Every Church.
AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATON SOCIETY.
PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW YORK, CHICAGO,
ST. LOUIS, ATLANTA.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS
A. B. FORREST,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

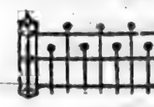
BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & Co., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Bryant Stallings, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the undersigned at Rosinburg, N. C., on or before April 5th, 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.

A. J. STALLINGS, Adm.



IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!
If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.
THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.

Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.
All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary Histories at $10.00.
MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.
Biblical Museum, 3 Vols., cloth, $3 per set. Song book—"The Choice"—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 15 cts. This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch—Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts.; paper, 15 cts.
Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

From Rockingham, N. C.

Dear Recorder:—Last night we closed a two weeks' meeting with the Baptist church here. Bro. Kesler preached three strong and well-received sermons at commencement of the meeting, and Dr. H. G. Hill, pastor of the Presbyterian church Maxton, preached a fine sermon last night. The rest of the preaching was done by the pastor.

In many respects, it was the most remarkable meeting in which I ever labored. There was no excitement, no machinery nor manipulation; but an intense interest from beginning to close. The congregations were good from the beginning and steadily increasing till the close. The last few nights the house was packed.

The whole community felt the influence of the meeting. Many openly expressed an interest in their souls, and there was a deep under current of interest that didn't reach the surface and was not expressed in words that I believe was far reaching in its influence. Some, who rarely ever attended services at any of the churches, were very regular in their attendance, and gave serious attention to what was said.

Had we resorted to the methods and systems of modern evangelists, I feel sure that we could have had a hundred professions.

Results: One of the "counting brethren" would have reported at least twenty-five conversions. I suppose there were fifteen who gave satisfactory evidence of a change of heart. Others were advised to wait awhile before applying for membership. Several who had grown cold and careless, were greatly revived.

The doors of the church will be open next Thursday night at our conference meeting. Most of the converts are boys and girls just entering manhood and womanhood.

Another result is, that the church is more revived and in better condition than I ever knew it, and the bond between pastor and people is stronger than ever before. Had some modern evangelist held a great union meeting and belittled the labors of the pastors, this scribe, instead of sitting in his study writing the RECORDER, would be running over town trying to win back the affections of his people. As it is, the church, with singular unanimity, is standing by the pastor, ready to hold up his hands in every good word and work.

But the most blessed result of the meeting, perhaps, is that it has taught our people to rely on the Holy Spirit.

Soon after I came here, there was a great union meeting conducted under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. The whole town was stirred from top to bottom. That real good was done by that meeting, we do not deny. Some of the best members we have were brought to Christ under its influence. But the reaction came, and it was terrible. Only the poor pastors who had to pull through it know what it was. Some of our very best members thought we couldn't have a successful meeting without employing "modern methods." This glorious meeting has taught us that if we honor God's Spirit, God will honor us. There was absolutely no "machinery." The preaching was by the man whom they have been hearing regularly for three years so that there could be nothing new and sensational in the preaching. It was the plain, simple gospel, accompanied by the Holy Spirit in answer to the prayers of God's people, that moved upon the hearts of the unsaved. I am convinced—and I think the meeting has convinced this people—that that is God's method, and hence the only method we need.

To God be all the glory; enough, that the blessing is ours.

Before I came here, I was told that this was one of the hardest fields in the State. But the "assistant pastor" and myself have been very agreeably surprised. While the church is weak financially, it is vigorous and hopeful. The membership is perfectly united, there hasn't been the slightest jar during the three years that we have been here. And I am sure no pastor in the State has a more appreciative people.

What I have said of Rockingham is true of Lilesville, the other church on my field. They are solidly united, hard at work, and always ready to respond to any call made by the pastor.

These churches have doubled their pastor's salary this year, and have preaching twice a month each, and the Lord, as he always does, is blessing them in this advance movement. Hopefully yours,

LIVINGSTON JOHNSON.

Death of Rev. Jacob Albert Hill.

Elder Jacob Albert Hill died at his home in Union county, N. C., Feb. 16th, 1892, in the seventy-fourth year of his age. He was twice married. He left seven children by his first wife (nee Chapmen), four sons and three daughters, and twenty seven grandchildren, all of whom live in Texas. His second wife, who was the widow of the late J. C. Saunders, survives him.

Bro. Hill was born near Newberry, S. C., Feb. 22d, 1819. His parents were Dutch, and he was brought up under Lutheran influence, but became a subject of saving grace early in life, and joined the Enoree Baptist church where his ordination took place on the fifth Sunday in April, 1849. He was pastor of Harmony and Catawba churches in York county, S. C., nine years, and in 1858 moved to Walker county, Ala. He spent thirty years in Alabama, Mississippi and Texas, returned to South Carolina in 1887, and the next year settled in North Carolina and became the pastor of churches on both sides of the State line.

Although advanced in years, Bro. Hill looked young and fresh. He enjoyed perfect health and his physical strength and powers of endurance were very great, until he was thrown from a buggy last July. The injury then received proved to be the beginning of the end. A week later he took la grippe. On the third Sunday in December he was attacked by pneumonia, and on the 17th of February at 6:30 p. m., the strong man yielded to the pressure and sank to his last sleep. The spirit took its place among the redeemed, and the body was tenderly laid to rest in the graveyard at Waxhaw church, where on the third Sunday in November he preached to us from Rom. 14: 17, his last sermon.

One mighty in the Scriptures and a fearless defender of the faith has fallen, albeit a plain-spoken, matter of fact man, honest to the core, with little policy about him.

He brought to our times the chivalrous spirit and noble frankness of a former generation.

He is gone and many are sad, for we shall see his face no more.

Written at the request of Hermon church, of which he was a member and the first pastor. J. J. MCLENDON.

Teachers of Vocal Music,

It will pay you to send me your address at once. W. E. PENN,
Eureka Springs, Ark.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

Four fire-proof stairways in the Insane Asylum have recently been completed.

The Democratic Executive committee met here in special session last Thursday. There was a large attendance and great unanimity of spirit was manifested.

There was a bonfire which was a bond fire at the State treasury Thursday, when $244,000 of old bonds were consumed in accordance with law.—State Chronicle.

Gov. Holt has offered a reward of $200, for the apprehension of the unknown assassin or assassins of Atlas P. Taylor, who was murdered in Northampton county April 1st.

Mr. Kemp B. Johnson a young Harnett county man was thrown from a buggy by a runaway horse in this city last Wednesday night receiving sundry injuries. The horse ran on after throwing the young man out, and struck a telegraph pole with great force breaking his back, and causing his death.

Mr. Weston R. Gales has taken charge of the Y. M. C. A. in this city. A meeting of the Board of directors of the Association was held last Friday. The treasurer and several committees made reports, after which, it was decided to at once equip and open the building to the public, various appropriation of funds being made to this end.

We have received from Mr. H. W. Ayer, the new Corresponding Secretary of the State Agricultural Society, the list of the premiums to be awarded at the next Fair for agricultural products. Intending exhibitors should not fail to send and get this list at once. We congratulate the Society on securing Mr. Ayer's services, and feel justified in saying that if the premiums are as liberal in all the departments as they are in the one mentioned above, the Fair will be a success.

State News.

Brick laying laying for the deaf and dumb school at Morganton will be commenced May 1st.

Near Stokesdale, March 28th, Mr. Henry Strader lost his dwelling and a little daughter by fire.

The Shelby Aurora says there is prospect of a railroad being built from Shelby to Cleveland Mills.

Charlotte is no longer a "dry" town. Licenses to sell whiskey have been granted to several parties.

The Gastonia Gazette learns that the lumber order has been placed for a new depot and warehouse at that point.

There are 322 postmistresses in North Carolina. In the United States there are 6,335, including one in Alaska.

The Hotel Gregory, at Goldsboro is to be sweed by a local syndicate which will make improvements upon it, costing $8,000.

Mr. Julius D. Miller, a brave revenue officer of Lenoir, was shot and killed by a horse thief in Wilkes county on Sunday, the 3d inst.

A colored woman and her two children were burned to death in a house near Harrell's Store, Sampson county last Thursday night.

A Mrs. John Glenn and her eight-year-old son were both drowned in Eno river seven miles north of Durham, one day recently.

On Monday the 4th inst., Mrs. Sarah Downs, wife of James Downs, Esq., of Little River, received such severe injuries from a burn that she died.

Gov. Holt, with Gen. Glenn, and other military officers were in Wilmington last week to inspect the permanent encampment grounds at Wrightsville.

The committee on public buildings and grounds have favorably recommended a bill in Congress for a $50,000 government building at Durham, this State.

The first day of public fasting and prayer in America was ordered in North Carolina by the "Committee of Public Safety," of Rowan county, Nov. 11, 1775, the Charlotte News states.

Mr. J. H. Myrover, one of the editors of the Fayetteville Observer, has severed his connection with that paper to accept a position on the editorial staff of the Charlotte Daily Observer.

Gov. Holt has issued an order of execution for John Cox of Jones county to be hanged at Trenton on Friday, May 13th, for the murder of Wm. Sutton, col., of the same county three years ago.

The prize house of Mr. C. A. Young, three miles from Wilson, was recently destroyed by an incendiary fire. About ninety thousand pounds of leaf tobacco were consumed. Loss about $12,000; insurance, $6,000.

The North Durham Pants Factory is the latest industry for Durham, with a capital stock of $50,000. Mr. B. L. Duke has closed the contract for this industry and operations are expected to begin next week.—Durham Sun.

James Moran, a Charlotte policeman, was shot by Nelson Murdock, a negro, while on his beat Saturday morning, the 2d inst., and died Sunday night following. The assassin was captured in Chester, S. C., and made a full confession. He is now in jail.

The six prisoners who escaped from the Charlotte jail, have all been recaptured. Bob Pharr, one of the gang, resisted arrest at Spartanburg, S. C., and made an attack upon the officer with a knife. Pharr was shot three times, and died before reaching Charlotte.

The following suits, not heretofore reported, growing out of the Bostian bridge wreck, with the amount of damages asked for, have been entered against the railroad company in Iredell Superior Court: W. P. Coone, administrator of A. Davis, $10,000; J. S. Ramsey, administrator of Rev. J. M. Sykes, ——; Naomi H. Moore, injuries, $25,000; R. B. McLaughlin, administrator of Ophelia P. Moore, $50,000; O. W. Lawson, injuries, $10,000. The suit of Geo. W. Bowley, $10,000, for injuries, was decided in his favor by the Supreme Court last week.—Statesville Landmark.

General News.

A $3,000,000 fire occurred in New Orleans on Sunday, the 3d inst.

The Republicans have gained the victory in the Rhode Island elections.

Rev. Sam Jones is preaching to immense congregations in Augusta, Ga.

Mr. Benjamin Riddick, mayor of Suffolk, Va., died last Wednesday night.

The postoffice at LaGrange, Ga., was robbed of $1,800 one night recently.

A series of fires attributed to anarchists are alarming the residents of Vienna.

President Harrison has appointed Frank L. Combs of California minister to Japan.

Fourteen lives were lost on the 6th inst. in a collision of two steamers in the English channel.

A heavy rain storm in the Wheeling, West Virginia, section recently did over $100,000 damage to buildings, stock, &c.

Deeming, the man captured in Australia, alleged to be Jack the Ripper, was tried in Melbourne last week and found guilty of wilful murder.

Seven people, all members of one family, were burned to death in a fire at Fort Madison, Iowa, on the 6th inst.

The fire box of a locomotive on the Long Island Railroad, exploded last Wednesday near Blissville, N. Y., fatally injurying five men.

A Miss Beal, a teacher of science aged forty years, jumped from the window of a four story building in New York City on the 5th and killed her self.

A cyclone at Olean, N. Y., on the night of the 5th, wrecked ten houses and a church, besides killing one woman and seriously injuring a number of people.

The northwestern portion of Faulkner county, Ark., was visited by a cyclone on the 5th inst., which demolished twenty dwellings and injured about fifty people.

A systematic robbery of the banking-house of Dix & Phyfe, 45 Wall street New York by employees, was unearthed one day last week. The loss by the peculations aggregate $57,000.

The New Orleans rice merchants have organized a stock company with $500,000 capital to fight the rice trust in that city. As all the present mills are in the trust, a new mill will be built.

A small cyclone on the 5th inst. did considerable damage to the Illinois State building at the Worlds' Fair Grounds, Chicago. Loss over $10,000. Two policemen were seriously injured.

It is reported in St. Petersburg that a steamer bound from the Persian coast for Bako in the Black Sea, with two hundred passengers and a cargo of cotton, has been lost with all on board.

An express train from the west which arrived at Kansas City, Mo., on the 5th inst., was covered an inch thick with mud which came from the clouds in showers, supposed to have been drawn up by a water-spout.

A factory for the manufacture of smokeless powder at or near St. Petersburg was completely demolished on the 4th inst. by the explosion of five tons of gun-cotton which was in the building. Nine men were blown to atoms.

It is understood that the differences between the United States and Great Britain, growing out of the Behring sea matter have, with the exception of the question of damages for the seal catch of this year, been formally adjusted.

Rev. J. J. G. Webster, the ruling elder of the Methodist Episcopal church of East Baltimore, Md., was found dead on the sidewalk in front of a hotel in Charleston, W. Va., on the 6th inst. He is supposed to have committed suicide by jumping from a window of the hotel.

J. A. Morris, a member of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, says that the Lottery Company will dissolve and go out of business at the expiration of its charter in 1895. He denies that they contemplate establishing it in Mexico or elsewhere.

A cyclone swept over Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, Texas and Indiana week before last. In Kansas the storm was very severe, several towns—New Haven, Towanda, Augusta and Smolan—being completely wiped out. In that State about fifty persons were killed and many others injured. In the other States the damage done to property was considerable.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES,
Or you are all worn out, really good for nothing, it is general debility. Try
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It will cure you, cleanse your liver, and give a good appetite.

MARRIED.

CORRELL—TEDDER—On March 24th, 1892, in the Laurinburg Baptist church, by Rev. M. L. Kesler, Mr. R. E. Correll and Miss Lula Tedder.

CHEEK—DURHAM—On April 4th, 1892, near Hadley's Mills, Chatham county, by Rev. O. T. Edwards, Mr. D. W. Cheek and Miss Etta W. Durham.

DIED.

HUMPHRIES—At her residence in Currituck county, on the 28th inst., sister Deborah Humphries in her fiftieth year. Sister Humphries is the third one from Providence church this year—"crossing the river one by one." Whilst living she was a light in this dark world; to-day she is in the land where all is light and joy. "Her warfare is accomplished." R. R. OVERBY.

WILSON—On Wednesday morning, April 6th, 1892, Nellie, infant daughter of Brother and Sister W. A. Wilson of Mooresville, N. C., aged two years and eleven months.

"A few short years of evil passed,
We reach the happy shore,
Where death-divided friends at last
Shall meet to part no more."

"These ashes, too, this little dust,
Our father's care shall keep,
Till the last angel rise and break,
The long and dreary sleep."

W. J. H.

GORDON—Mrs. Ruth A. Gordon, wife of Mr. R. G. Gordon, died at her home near Bethlehem church, Moore county, N. C., on March 26th, 1892, of throat trouble. She leaves a husband and four children to mourn her loss. Sister Gordon has been a member of Bethlehem Baptist church for a number of years, and lived a true christian life. She was a good and loving wife, a kind and affectionate mother, and a true friend to all. We return our deepest sympathy to the bereaved husband and children, brothers and sisters. She expressed her willingness to go before she died, and we believe she is enjoying a better world than this. "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." A FRIEND.

CARLTON—Died, in Wake county, on November 17th, 1891, Miss Mattie E. Carlton, daughter of J. M. and Elizabeth Carlton, aged eighteen years, four months and two days. Sister Carlton professed religion at an early age and united with the Baptist church at Mt. Zion, of which she remained a member till her death. She was a consistant member and delighted in the service of her Master. On March 27th, 1890, her health failed, and she was taken with typhoid fever, from which she suffered for about twenty-one months. During all of her protracted sufferings she endured it with marked fortitude and resignation. She was well beloved by all who knew her. Our loss is her gain. She was followed to her last resting place by a large concourse of her friends and neighbor.

G. M. JACKSON.

HICKS—On Dec. 12th, 1891, after years of ill health, Deacon J. J. Hicks, at his residence, Longford, Iredell county, N. C., in his sixty-third year. Bro. Hicks was born and reared in Cleveland county, N. C. He gave himself to Christ in early youth. At the age of twenty-seven he married Miss Martha Finger, who lived about ten or twelve years. In 1870 he married her sister, Miss Susannah J. Finger, who lived but a few months. Two years later, he married Mrs. Clara Clark, who survives him. He moved his membership to Bethel church in Iredell county nineteen years ago, where he was subsequently elected deacon, which office he filled until failing health caused him to resign a short time ago, asking the church to put some younger man in his place. He was a man of convictions, and had the courage to stand by them. When he was convinced of an error in his positions, he had the grace to openly renounce such error. He was kind in his family, candid and generous with his neighbor, and always had a reason for the hopes he cherished. His grasp on Bible doctrines and church polity was firm and clear and he died calmly resting on his Saviour.

W. J. H.

VANN—After an illness of eighteen months, Sister Annie E. Vann departed this life, on Oct. 26th, 1891. At the age of fifteen she was baptized into the fellowship of Mt. Tabor Baptist church, where she remained a useful member until her marriage to Bro. A. C. Vann. Soon after the organization of the Baptist church at Union, Brother and Sister Vann cast their lot with the faithful few who wese trying to carry on the Lord's work there, where she remained a faithful servant of the Jesus, until the summons came, "Come up higher." All through the long months of suffering she bore her affliction with meekness, and the burden of her prayer seemed to be, "Lord, thy will, not mine, be done." Only one thought seemed to cloud her last moments, namely, she had not done enough for him who had redeemed her immortal soul. Just at noon on October 26th, 1891, without a struggle she passed away, aged thirty-nine years, four months and fifteen days. She leaves a husband, six children, four sisters and one brother to mourn their loss. May the Heavenly Father comfort them in the hour of trouble. B. C.

Aboskie, N. C.

BUFFKIN—Sister Martha Buffkin was born May 16th, 1836, and departed this life March 26th, 1892. Sister Buffkin became a member of Whiteville Grove church when young, and afterwards moved her membership to Chapel Hill, where she remained until death. She truly served her church and pastor faithfully as far as she was able. Sister Buffkin possessed an humble, meek spirit as a church member, a mother, a neighbor. But few could equal her. For twenty odd years she lived a widow, and patiently labored for the support of her children. For months she had been a great sufferer, but very patient. The writer visited, talked and prayed with her a few weeks ago, and on leaving she said, "I feel that I am nearing my home. I hate to leave my children, but the Lord doeth all things for good." With resignation to the will of God she lived, and as she lived she died. She leaves ten children and thirty odd grandchildren, with a host of friends, to mourn their loss. She will be missed. Dear children, how sad to part with one so kind and loving as dear mama was; but take courage, look up. She is not dead, but gone before. God bless, comfort, guide and gather home at last the dear children, is the prayer of the preacher. PASTOR.

Beauty often depends on plumpness; so does comfort; so does health. If you get thin, there is something wrong, though you may feel no sign of it.

Thinness itself is a sign; sometimes the first sign; sometimes not.

The way to get back plumpness is by CAREFUL LIVING, which sometimes includes the use of Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil.

Let us send you—free—a little book which throws much light on all these subjects.

Scott & Bowne, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season,

'92.

DRY GOODS

AND

Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out-of-town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

OPIUM ... Atlanta, Ga. Office 1044 ...

TEACHERS ...

The Home Circle.

He Knows.

He knows thy sorrows, soul so crushed and broken
He seeth all thy grief;
Be this to thee a sweet and certain token
That he will send relief.

For he sees not with heart devoid of feeling,
Nor powerless doth he see;
In his own time, his sympathy revealing,
Will he deliver thee.

If he but knows, what though a little longer
He wait ere sending aid!
His sure salvation shall be shown the stronger;
Oh, trust; be not afraid.

—Rev. Philip Burroughs Strong.

How to Treat Company.

To appear a pleasant, cheery hostess throughout an evening "party," or even the short-lived call, is truely no easy thing, nor can some people ever learn the art.

Tact is an essential, and an absolute unselfishness; the guests must be first, and they must not feel any sacrifice of time or attention too keenly. All women should aim at being bright conversationalists, not startling nor wonderful, but amusing, refined and especially light of touch. Long stories are usually intolerable bores, and a serious, slow, heavy way of looking at matters in general is an infliction. Grievances of any sort are best kept hidden; a sprightly acquaintance with the affairs of the day, a flattering anxiety as to other's opinions, an absence of slang or mannerism, or boastful egotism, or self-depreciation, tact, tact, above all, tact, these make the agreeable hostess, the woman one wishes to find at home in one's round of calls.

Parlor chairs should be for the most part light and easily moved, with just a few of a more substantial sort for those who are six feet tall or weigh two-hundred pounds. People can't talk a rod or two apart, nor can they drag that abomination a "patent rocker" (don't have rocking-chairs in your parlor!) across to their nearest neighbor. A sofa superinduces conversation.

Have little things lying about the room which must of themselves call out comment and give your guests something to do. Albums and piles of photographs; birthday books; a pig album where one has to draw a pig and write one's name underneath with closed eyes; scrap books, particularly of ciptures, and such works as Bellow's "Comic Primer," and "The Good Things of Life," all these are hosts in themselves.

Games are almost invariably successful; the older and staider the company the more riotous they are likely to become. Bean bags are a good thing to have in the house, and Logomachy proves entertaining in many circles. But simple, childish games (I don't mean Copenhagen) and the simpler the better: "Going to Jerusalem," "Vacant Chair," Charades, and the like, prove more diverting than any other form of entertainment.

We women make work of company, and we grow, many of us, to look upon it as an evil. Could we see the best way, which is also as truely the easiest, we might be not grudgingly given to hospitality, and all learn the lesson few do not need—what goes to make up a model hostess.—Good Housekeeping.

SWEET GUM AND MULLEIN is Nature's great remedy for coughs, colds, croup, consumption, and all throat and lung troubles.

The Petrified Forest of Arizona.

From the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad it is not hard to reach one of the greatest of natural curiosities—the petrified forest of Arizona. Much the nearest point is the little station of Billings, but there are the scantiest accommodations for the traveler. Only a mile south of the tract, at that point, one may see a low, dark ridge marked by a single cottonwood-tree. Walking thither (over a valley so alive with jack-rabbits that there is some excuse for the cow-boy declaration that "you can walk clear across on their backs!") one soon reaches the northern edge of the forest, which covers hundreds of square miles. Unless you are more hardened to wonderful sights than I am, you will almost fancy yourself in some enchanted spot. You seem to stand on the glass of a gigantic kaleidoscope, over whose sparkling surface the sun breaks in infinite rainbows. You are ankle-deep in such chips as I'll warrant you never saw from any other woodpile. What do you think of chips from trees that are red moss-agate, and amethyst, and smoky topaz, and agate of every hue? Such are the marvelous splinters that cover the ground for miles here, around the huge prostrate trunks—some of them five feet through—from which Time's patient ax has hewn them. I broke a specimen from the heart of a tree there, years ago, which had around the stone pith a remarkable array of large and exquisite crystals; for on one side of the specimen—which is not so large as my hand—is a beautiful mass of crystals of royal purple amethyst, and on the other, an equally beautiful array of smoky topaz crystals. One can get also magnificent cross-sections of a whole trunk, so thin as to be portable, and showing every [illegible] and "year-ring," and even the bark. There is not a chip in all those miles which is not worthy a place, just as it is, in the proudest cabinet; and, when polished, I know of [illegible] rock so splendid. It is one of the [illegible] in the world, and [illegible] incomparable points.—Charles F. [illegible], in St. Nicholas.

A Father's Promise.

[illegible] essential for you to provide [illegible] against that night-fiend to your [illegible] to their hunger. Taylor's [illegible] of Sweet Gum and Mullein [illegible] coughs and colds.

How One Old Man Lives.

ECONOMICAL BOARD AND ROOM KEEPING OF A RESIDENT OF WASHINGTON.

It is wonderful how the theories of our past lives come back to us now as the realities of the present. Daniel Webster constantly made notes of current ideas, and when asked how long it was before he used them, replied sometimes twenty years, sometimes longer. When I was a boy, in Shelby county, I went one day to Mr. John Cooper's shoemaker's shop to be measured for a pair of shoes, as the custom of the country then was. He and his little son Robert lived alone in the woods in a house of one room, which was dwelling and shoeshop. Soon Bob's uncle, Gideon Kaylor, about his age, came in, and Bob joyfully exclaimed, "Come, Uncle Gid, I have got some potatoes, and there is plenty of salt."

It seemed strange to me how eagerly they roasted and ate the potatoes and how happy they were. They lived happily, and yet this was all their living. I have repeated this story frequently during my prosperous days as a great wonder, never dreaming that it would become my own reality, as it now is, and I am happy too.

A German woman who could not speak a word of English came into my office one day with one of my German circulars in her hand, which Mr. Cooper had given her in Saxony. I sent her our into the country with a German merchant to look at lands, and that day she bought a farm. The next day I made the deeds, and she became the owner and moved in. A neighbor soon afterwards that it cost that lady nothing to live. He says she puts a tin cup of coffee on the stove and a tin cup of cornmeal mush, and that is all her living, but she is getting rich. I thought that very strange, too, never thinking that I should live so, but I do just that thing now, having remembered hearing how she lived.

When I lost all my money and yet must live, I rented a room fourteen by sixteen feet, with heat, for five dollars per month—not a very good room and not very well furnished, but comfortable and respectable, and there are plenty of them at that price. I bought an outfit as follows: An iron handy lamp, 75 cents; three seamless pint tin cups, 15 cents; one do. quart, 15 cents; one half gallon tin cup, with cover, 10 cents; three bowls, 15 cents; cup saucer, 10 cents; gallon glass oil can, 35 cents; oil 15 cents; spoon, 10 cents; total outfit, $2. Then I bought one month's provisions as follows: Half bushel potatoes, 35 cents; ten pounds cornmeal, 20 cents; three pounds Graham flour, 15 cents; one pound ground coffee, 25 cents; eight pounds granulated sugar, 36 cents; one pound lard, 10 cents; coarse salt, 5 cents; total for the month, $1.46.

I am a good, hearty eater, and am full fed and live well, and am thankful for it, but I cannot eat all my month's provision. There is always a considerable amount over every month, and I live well too. In the morning I light my handy lamp, fill my seamless pint tin cup with water, put a teaspoonful of ground coffee into it, put it over the lamp, and turn another tin cup, bottom upward, over it for a cover. In ten minutes there is a pint cup of good, hot coffee. While the coffee is boiling I put a little water into the half gallon cup, not more than one eighth full, and then fill the quart tin cup about one-fourth full of cornmeal, add a little salt, then set this cup into the half gallon cup, and fill up the quart cup full of water and stir up the meal well. Jam in the handle of the quart cup so that it will go into the larger cup. As soon as the coffee comes off set the mush on the lamp. Stir it occasionally, and when it thickens and fills up the cup take it off.

I buy a loaf of bread for four cents for Sunday, and melt a little lard and salt for gravy, and I live well and have plenty to eat. Many others in this city, gaunt and half starved, can live well in this way.—John Howard, in Washington Post.

"Take Heed How Ye Hear."

The excellence of our hearing determines very frequently the excellence of the thing that is heard. Many a sermon denominated poor is better than the audience accorded it. We frequently hold the speaker chargeable for the fault that is in ourselves. If we have sympathy with the thought presented, if we have the charity that can cover up defects, and if we have the charity that can compensate for lack in that which is given us, we shall frequently have praise to bestow where otherwise we might blame. Those who are best furnished in themselves will find most in the products others may give. "Take heed how ye hear" is an injunction just as germane in these days as in those in which it was first delivered.—Young People's Union.

The men who seek to destroy the Old Testament and yet profess great reverence for the New, stultify themselves. It is impossible to get rid of Moses without rejecting the testimony of Christ—and this means a denial of his divinity—and this is just the tendency of the higher criticism as seen in many instances. If Christ did not know what he was talking about, then he was an ignorant man not the divine Messiah. Destroy one part of the Bible and you invalidate the whole. Cannon Liddon remarks with point and power: "The trustworthiness of the Old Testament is, in fact, inseparable from the trustworthiness of the Lord Jesus Christ; and if we believe that he is the true light of the world, we shall resolutely close our ears against any suggestions of the falsehood of those Hebrew Scriptures which have received the stamp of his divine authority."—Central Baptist.

The confidence that people have in Ayer's Sarsaparilla as a blood medicine is the legitimate and natural growth of many years. It has been handed down from parent to child, and is the favorite family medicine in thousands of households.

Bowery Pawnshops.

The pawnbrokers' sales shops have held me before their windows many and many an hour since childhood, and to-day when I pause before one I feel a keener touch of the impulses of youth than anything else can bring back to me. There is much humbug in the Bowery, but there is no humbug in what these stores display. Pathos and tragedy are constantly exhibited and enacted on every block of that throbbing avenue, but it all seems to me as nothing beside the tragic and pathetic tales that are told by the goods in these store-fronts. The vanity of man is felt by every poor stranger who is knocked about and jostled by the crowds that throng the pavement; but for a sermon upon vanity I know no text in all New York like the contents of one of these windows.

The very manner in which the dealers have shoveled the goods out for exhibition is impressive. It is usually their rules to heap the bottoms of the windows a foot or two deep with the less showy and bulkier relics of misfortune, and then to display the more peculiar and tempting goods on swinging shelves hung close to the panes. Here you see medals presented for heroism in saving life or for bravery in battle, swords given to men for taking part in actions that are household words, badges of bejeweled gold bearing the arms of petted militia regiments, all showing that their owners were once confident of fortune, and yet must have come to desperate passes. A medal of silver to the best scholar in a great sectarian school, one of gold to the champion clog-dancer of Australia, a golden-headed malacca cane won by ——, the most popular police officer in ——, these call to the mind happy scenes that no one dreamed would have such forlorn sequences. But what of the scores of opera-glasses and bracelets engraved with such mottos as "To Laura on Christmas," or "Isabel," or "With J. M. F.'s love to Sadie"? Rings, bracelets, breastpins, jewels especially devised, and curios which no one would part with except from stern necessity are in the heaps and on the shelves—literally in burden by the ton when you take them all together; and yet every article in the mass carries its sermon of happiness despoiled, of security that was only fancied, of vanity that toppled, or of applause that beckoned anguish.—Julian Ralph, in Century.

Sour Eructations, fullness after eating, with disinclination to exertion of body or mind; irritability of temper, general weariness and debility are speedily removed by the use of TUTT'S
Tiny Liver Pills
and good appetite, strong digestion, activity of body and mind, sociability, buoyancy of spirits, and health and strength take their place. Price, 25 cents. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, N. Y.

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

Six Years in Torment. XII

Rev. W. Buis, Red Wing, Minn., speaks a good word for Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, when he says that he recommended the Medicine, during a period of five years, to many sufferers from nervous diseases with the best results. He informs us that a woman, a member of his congregation, had been cured of Epilepsy of Six Years' Standing by the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic.

Could Not Get Along Without It.

PLATTEVILLE, Wis., May, 1888.

The bottle of Koenig's Nerve Tonic has been received and almost used up, and that with a decided good result. My wife could not get along without the medicine. It has proved to be especially in clearing her, removing gloominess of mind and giving her a better appetite and color in the face. LUCAS ABELS, Presbyterian Clergyman.

FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.

In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. R. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
F. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

HAIR ON THE FACE, NECK, ARMS OR ANY PART OF THE PERSON
QUICKLY DISSOLVED AND REMOVED WITH THE NEW SOLUTION
MODENE

AND THE GROWTH FOREVER DESTROYED WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST INJURY OR DISCOLORATION OF THE MOST DELICATE SKIN.—DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

IN COMPOUNDING, an incomplete mixture was accidentally spilled on the back of the hand, and on washing afterward it was discovered that the hair was completely removed. We purchased the new discovery and named it MODENE. It is perfectly pure, free from all injurious substances, and so simple any one can use it. It acts mildly but surely, and you will be surprised and delighted with the results. Apply for a few minutes and the hair disappears as if by magic. It has no resemblance whatever to any other preparation ever used for a like purpose, and no scientific discovery ever attained such wonderful results. IT CANNOT FAIL. If the growth be light, one application will remove it permanently; the heavy growth such as the beard or hair on moles may require two or more applications before all the roots are destroyed, although all hair will be removed at each application, and without the slightest injury or unpleasant feeling when applied or ever afterward. —MODENE SUPERCEDES ELECTROLYSIS.—

—Recommended by all who have tested its merits—Used by people of refinement.—

Gentlemen who do not appreciate nature's gift of a beard, will find a priceless boon in Modene, which does away with shaving. It dissolves and destroys the life principle of the hair, thereby rendering its future growth an utter impossibility, and is guaranteed to be as harmless as water to the skin. Young persons who find an embarrassing growth of hair coming, should use Modene to destroy its growth. Modene sent by mail, in safety mailing cases, postage paid, (securely sealed from observation) on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Send money by letter, with your full address written plainly. Correspondence sacredly private. Postage stamps received the same as cash. ALWAYS MENTION YOUR COUNTY AND THIS PAPER.

LOCAL AND GENERAL AGENTS WANTED. } MODENE MANUFACTURING CO. CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A. } MANUFACTURERS OF THE HIGHEST GRADE HAIR PREPARATIONS. } You can register your letter at any Post-office and insure its safe delivery. } CUT THIS OUT AS IT MAY NOT APPEAR AGAIN

$1,000 FOR FAILURE OR THE SLIGHTEST INJURY. EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

Look About the House!

And you will find that of all the presents made last Christmas, those which hold out longest and give the most pleasure, are

Books

And thus it will ever be; therefore let your gifts this year to children, kindred, friends, and all whom you most esteem be an appropriate BOOK. We have a magnificent selection of all the

New and Beautiful Books

for the holidays, and can fill your orders by mail promptly. Tell us about what you want, the price you want to pay, and we will make a selection that

WILL SUIT YOU EXACTLY!
Make Your Orders Early.

ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO.,
PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS, RALEIGH, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.
Raleigh. N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.

Farming Implements, SHOVELS, SPADES, RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

"All Right," "Cotton King," AND OTHER Cook Stoves and Ranges.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

SPURGEON

Agents wanted for "Conwell's Life of Spurgeon;" 816 pages beautifully illustrated, $1.50. Agents outfit 50 cts. Liberal inducements offered. Book sent to any address on receipt of price.
FRANKLIN PUBLISHING CO.,
Savannah, Ga.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3250, New York City, N. Y.

HARVEST BELLS,
round and shape note, by the 100, board bound, only 50c. each; cloth-bound, 60c; words, 14c. A Baptist song book. W. H. PENN, St. Louis, Mo.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1892. Number 42.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

118 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

Spurgeon's Sermon Against Baptismal Regeneration.

[Copied from the Eighth Series of Sermons, issued by Sheldon & Co., New York. This sermon will serve to correct any and all statements that Mr. Spurgeon advocated the false doctrine of baptismal regeneration.]

BAPTISMAL REGENERATION.

"And he said unto them, go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned."—Mark 16. 15, 16.

[CONCLUDED FROM LAST WEEK.]

I have not done with this point: I must take another case, and suppose the sponsors and others to be ungodly; and that is no hard supposition, for many cases we know that godfathers and parents have no more thought of religion than that idolatrous hallowed stone around which they gather. When these sinners have taken their places, what are they about to say? Why, they are about to make the solemn vows I have already recounted in your hearing? Totally irreligious they are, but yet they promise for the baby what they never did, and never thought of doing, for themselves,—they promise on behalf of this child, "that he will renounce the devil and all his works, and constantly believe God's Holy Word, and obediently keep his commandments." My brethren, do not think I speak severely here. Really, I think there is something here to make mockery for devils. Let every honest man lament that ever God's church should tolerate such a thing as this, and that there should be found gracious people who will feel grieved because I, in all kindness of heart, rebuked the atrocity. Unregenerate sinners promising for a poor babe that he shall keep all God's holy commandments, which they themselves wantonly break every day! How can anything but the long-suffering of God endure this? What! not speak against it? The very stones in the street might cry out against the infamy of wicked men and women promising that another should renounce the devil and all his works, while they themselves serve the devil and do his works with greediness! As a climax to all this, I am asked to believe that God accepts that wicked promise, and, as the result of it, regenerates that child. You cannot believe in regeneration by this operation, whether saints or sinners are the performers. Take them to be godly, then they are wrong for doing what their conscience must condemn; view them as ungodly, and they are wrong for promising what they know they cannot perform; and in neither case can God accept such worship, much less infallibly append regeneration to such a baptism as this.

But you will say, "Why do you cry out against it?" I cry out against it because I believe that baptism does not save the soul, and that the preaching of it has a wrong and evil influence upon men. We meet with persons who, when we tell them that they must be born again, assure us that they were born again when they were baptized. The number of these persons is increasing, fearfully increasing, until all grades of society are misled by this belief. How can any man stand up in his pulpit and say "Ye must be born again" to his congregation, when he has already assured them, by his own "unfeigned assent and consent" to it, that they are themselves, every one of them, born again in baptism. What has he to do with them? Why, my dear friends, the gospel then has no voice; they have rammed this ceremony down its throat, and it cannot speak to rebuke sin. The man who has been baptized or sprinkled, says, "I am saved; I am a member of Christ, a child of God, and an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven. Who are you, that you should rebuke me? Call me to repentance!—call me to a new life! What better life can I have? for I am a member of Christ—a part of Christ's body. What! rebuke me? I am a child of God. Cannot you see it in my face? No matter what my walk and conversation is, I am a child of God. Moreover, I am an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven. It is true I drink and swear, and all that, but you know I am an inheriter of the kingdom of heaven; for when I die, though I live in constant sin, you will put me in the grave, and tell everybody that I died "in sure and certain hope of the resurrection to eternal life."

Now, what can be the influence of such preaching as this upon our beloved England?—upon my dear and blessed country? What but the worst of ills? If I loved her not, but loved myself most, I might be silent here; but, loving England, I cannot and dare not; and having soon to render an account before my God, whose servant I hope I am, I must free myself from this evil, as well as from every other, or else on my head may be the doom of souls.

Here let me bring in another point. It is a most fearful fact, that, in no age since the Reformation, has Popery made such fearful strides in England as during the last few years. I had comfortably believed that Popery was only feeding itself upon foreign subscriptions, upon a few titled perverts, and imported monks and nuns. I dreamed that its progress was not real. In fact, I have often smiled at the alarm of many of my brethren at the progress of Popery. But, my dear friends, we have been mistaken, grievously mistaken. If you will read a valuable paper in the magazine called "Christian Work," those of you who are acquainted with it will be perfectly startled at its revelations. This great city is now covered with a network of monks and priests and sisters of mercy, and the conversions made are not by ones or twos, but by scores, till England is being regarded as the most hopeful spot for Romish missionary enterprise in the whole world; and at the present moment there is not a mission which is succeeding to anything like the extent which the English mission is. I covet not their money. I despise their sophistries, but I marvel at the way in which they gain their funds for the erection of their ecclesiastical buildings. It really is an alarming matter to see so many of our countrymen going off to that superstition which as a nation we once rejected, and which it was supposed we should never again receive. Popery is making advances such as you would never believe, though a spectator should tell it to you. Close to your very doors, perhaps even in your own houses, you may have evidence ere long of what a march Romanism is making. And to what is it to be ascribed? I say, with every ground of probability, that there is no marvel that Popery should increase when you have two things to make it grow: first of all, the falsehood of those who profess a faith which they do not believe, which is quite contrary to the honesty of the Romanist, who does through evil report and good report hold his faith; and then you have, secondly, this form of error known as baptismal regeneration, and commonly called Puseyism, which is not only Puseyism, but Church-of-Englandism, because it is in the Prayer Book, as plainly as words can express it,—you have this baptismal regeneration, preparing stepping-stones to make it easy for men to go to Rome. I have but to open my eyes a little to foresee Romanism rampant everywhere in the future, since its germs are spreading everywhere in the present. In one of our courts of legislature, but last Tuesday, the Lord Chief Justice showed his superstition, by speaking of "the risk of the calamity of children dying unbaptized!" Among Dissenters you see a veneration for structures, a modified belief in the sacredness of places, which is all idolatry; for to believe in the sacredness of anything but of God and of his own word, is to idolize, whether it is to believe in the sacredness of the men, the priests, or in the sacredness of the bricks and mortar, or of the fine linen, or what not, which you may use in the worship of God. I see this coming up everywhere—a belief in ceremony, a resting in ceremony, a veneration for altars, fonts, and churches,—a veneration so profound that we must not venture upon a remark, or straightway of sinners we are chief. Here is the essence and soul of Popery, peeping up under the garb of a decent respect for sacred things. It is impossible but that the Church of Rome must spread, when we who are the watchdogs of the fold are silent, and others are gently and smoothly turfing the road, and making it as soft and smooth as possible, that converts may travel down to the nethermost hell of Popery. We want John Knox back again. Do not talk to me of mild and gentle men, of soft manners and squeamish words: we want the fiery Knox; and even though his vehemence should "ding our pulpits into blads," it were well if he did but rouse our hearts to action. We want Luther, to tell men the truth unmistakably, in homely phrase. The velvet has got into our ministers' mouths of late, but we must unrobe ourselves of soft raiment, and truth must be spoken, and nothing but truth; for of all lies which have dragged millions down to hell, I look upon this as being one of the most atrocious,—that in a Protestant church there should be found those who swear that baptism saves the soul. Call a man a Baptist, or a Presbyterian, or a Dissenter, or a Churchman,—that is nothing to me: if he says that baptism saves the soul, out upon him, out upon him: he states what God never taught, what the Bible never laid down, and what ought never to be maintained by men who profess that the Bible, and the whole Bible, is the religion of Protestants.

I have spoken thus much, and there will be some who will say, spoken thus much bitterly. Very well; be it so. Physic is often bitter, but it shall work well, and the physician is not bitter because his medicine is so; or if he be accounted so, it will not matter, so long as the patient is cured; at all events, it is no business of the patient whether the physician is bitter or not: his business is with his own soul's health. There is the truth, and I have told it to you; and if there should be one among you, or if there should be one among the readers of this sermon when it is printed, who is resting on baptism, or upon ceremonies of any sort, I do beseech you, shake off this venomous faith into the fire as Paul did the viper which fastened on his hand. I pray you do not rest on baptism.

"No outward forms can make you clean:
The leprosy lies deep within."

I do beseech you to remember that you must have a new heart and a right spirit, and baptism cannot give you these. You must turn from your sins and follow after Christ; you must have such a faith as shall make your life holy and your speech devout, or else you have not the faith of God's elect, and into God's kingdom you shall never come. I pray you never rest upon this wretched and rotten foundation, this deceitful invention of antichrist. Oh! may God save you from it, and bring you to seek the true rock of refuge for weary souls.

I come with much brevity, and I hope with much earnestness, in the second place, to say that faith is the indispensable requisite to salvation. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; he that believeth not shall be damned." Faith is the one indispensable requisite for salvation. This faith is the gift of God. It is the work of the Holy Spirit. Some men believe not on Jesus; they believe not, because they are not of Christ's sheep, as he himself said unto them; but his sheep hear his voice: he knows them and they follow him; he gives to them eternal life, and they shall never perish, neither shall any pluck them out of his hand. What is this believing? Believing consists in two things. First there is an accrediting of the testimony of God concerning his Son. God tells you that his Son came into the world and was made flesh; that he lived on earth for men's sake; that after having spent his life in holiness he was offered up a propitiation for sin; that upon the cross he there and then made expiation—so made expiation for the sins of the world that "whosoever believeth in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life." If you would be saved, you must accredit this testimony which God gives concerning his own Son. Having received this testimony, the next thing is to confide in it. Indeed, here lies, I think, the essence of saving faith, to rest yourself for eternal salvation upon the atonement and the righteousness of Jesus Christ, to have done once for all with all reliance upon feelings or upon doings, and to trust in Jesus Christ and in what he did for your salvation.

This is faith, receiving of the truth of Christ: first knowing it to be true, and then acting upon that belief. Such a faith as this—such real faith as this—makes the man henceforth hate sin. How can he love the thing which made the Saviour bleed? It makes him live in holiness. How can he but seek to honor that God who has loved him so much as to give his Son to die for him? This faith is spiritual in its nature and effects; it operates upon the entire man; it changes his heart, enlightens his judgment, and subdues his will; it subjects him to God's supremacy, and makes him receive God's word as a little child, willing to receive the truth upon the ipse dixit of the Divine One; it sanctifies his intellect, and makes him willing to be taught God's word; it cleanses within; it makes clean the inside of the cup and platter, and it beautifies without; it makes clean the exterior conduct and the inner motive, so that the man, if his faith be true and real, becomes henceforth another man to what he ever was before.

Now that such a faith as this should save the soul, is, I believe, reasonable; yea, more, it is certain, for we have seen men saved by it in this very house of prayer. We have seen the harlot lifted out of the Stygian ditch of her sin, and made an honest woman; we have seen the thief reclaimed; we have known the drunkard, in hundreds of instances, to be sobered; we have observed faith to work such a change, that all the neighbors who have seen it have gazed and admired, even though they hated it; we have seen faith deliver men in the hour of temptation, and help them to consecrate themselves and their substance to God; we have seen, and hope still to see yet more widely, deeds of heroic consecration to God and displays of witness-bearing against the common current of the times, which have proved to us that faith does affect the man, does save the soul. My hearers, if you would be saved, you must believe in the Lord Jesus Christ. Let me urge you with all my heart to look nowhere but to Christ crucified for your salvation. Oh! if you rest upon any ceremony, though it be not baptism—if you rest upon any other than Jesus Christ—you must perish, as surely as this book is true. I pray you believe not every spirit, but though I, or an angel from heaven, preach any other doctrine than this, let him be accursed; for this, and this alone, is the soul-saving truth which shall regenerate the world—"He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." Away from all the tag rags, wax candles, and millinery of Puseyism! away from all the gorgeous pomp of Popery! away from the fonts of Church-of-Englandism! We bid you turn your eyes to that naked cross where hangs as a bleeding man the Son of God.

"None but Jesus, none but Jesus
Can do helpless sinners good."

There is life in a look at the crucified; there is life at this moment for you. Whoever among you can believe in the great love of God towards man in Christ Jesus, you shall be saved. If you can believe that our great Father desireth us to come to him—that he panteth for us—that he calleth us every day with the loud voice of his Son's wounds; if you can believe now that in Christ there is pardon for transgressions past, and cleansing for years to come; if you can trust him to save you, you have already the marks of regeneration. The work of salvation is commenced in you, so far as the Spirit's work is concerned: it is finished in you so far as Christ's work is concerned. O, I would plead with you—lay hold on Jesus Christ. This is the foundation: build on it. This is the rock of refuge: fly to it. I pray you fly to it now. Life is short: time speeds with eagle's wing. Swift as the dove pursued by the hawk, fly, fly, poor sinner, to God's dear Son; now touch the hem of his garment; now look into that dear face once marred with sorrows for you; look into those eyes, once shedding tears for you. Trust him, and if you find him false, then you must perish; but false you will never find him while this word standeth true, "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; but he that believeth not shall be damned." God give us this vital, essential faith, without which there is no salvation. Baptized, re-baptized, circumcised, confirmed, fed upon sacraments, and buried in consecrated ground—ye shall all perish except ye believe in him. The word is express and plain—he that believeth not may plead his baptism, may plead anything he likes, "But he that believeth not shall be damned;" for him there is nothing but the wrath of God, the flames of hell, eternal perdition. So Christ declares, and so must it be.

But now to close, there are some who say, "Ah! but baptism is in the text; where do you put that?" That shall be another point, and then we have done.

The baptism in the text is one evidently connected with faith. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved." It strikes me, there is no supposition here, that anybody would be baptized who did not believe; or, if there be such a supposition, it is very clearly laid down that his baptism will be of no use to him, for he will be damned, baptized or not, unless he believes. The baptism of the text seems to me—my brethren, if you differ from me I am sorry for it, but I must hold my opinion and out with it—it seems to me that baptism is connected with, nay, directly follows belief. I would not insist too much upon the order of the words, but for other reasons, I think that baptism should follow believing. At any rate it effectually avoids the error we have been combating. A man who knows that he is saved by believing in Christ does not, when he is baptized, lift his baptism into a saving ordinance. In fact, he is the very best protester against that mistake, because he holds that he has no right to be be baptized until he is saved. He bears a testimony against baptismal regeneration in his being baptized an professedly an already regenerate person. Brethren, the baptism here meant is a baptism connected with faith, and to this baptism I will admit there is very much ascribed in Scripture. Into that question I am not going; but I do find some very remarkable passages in which baptism is spoken of very strongly. I find this—"Arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord." I find as much as this elsewhere; I know that believer's baptism itself does not wash away sin, yet it is so the outward sign and emblem of it to the believer, that the thing visible may be described as the thing signified. Just as our Saviour said—"This is my body," when it was not his body, but bread; yet, inasmuch as it represented his body, it was fair and right according to the usage of language to say, "Take, eat, this is my body." And so, inasmuch as baptism to the believer representeth the washing of sin—it may be called the washing of sin—not that it is so, but that it is to saved souls the outward symbol and representation of what is done by the power of the Holy Spirit, in the man who believes in Christ.

What connection has this baptism with faith? I think it has just this, baptism is the avowal of faith; the man was Christ's soldier, but now in baptism he puts on his regimentals. The man believed in Christ, but his faith remained between God and his own soul. In baptism, he says to the baptizer, "I believe in Jesus Christ;" he says to the church, "I unite with you as a believer in the common truths of christianity;" he saith to the onlooker, "Whatever you may do, as for me, I will serve the Lord." It is the avowal of his faith.

Next, we think baptism is also to the believer a testimony of his faith; he does in baptism tell the world what he believes. "I am about," saith he, "to be buried in water. I believe that the Son of God was metaphorically baptized in suffering. I believe he was literally dead and buried." To rise again out of the water sets forth to all men that he believes in the resurrection of Christ. There is a showing forth in the Lord's supper of Christ's death, and there is a showing forth in baptism of Christ's burial and resurrection. It is a type, a sign, a symbol, a mirror to the world: a looking-glass in which religion is as it were reflected. We say to the onlooker, when he asks what is the meaning of this ordinance, "We mean to set forth our faith that Christ was buried, and that he rose again from the dead, and we avow this death and resurrection to be the ground of our trust."

Again, baptism is also Faith's taking her proper place. It is, or should be, one of her first acts of obedience. Reason looks at baptism and says, "Perhaps there is nothing in it; it cannot do me any good." "True," says Faith, "and therefore will I observe it. If it did me some good my selfishness would make me do it, but inasmuch as to my sense there is no good in it, since I am bidden by my Lord thus to fulfil all righteousness, it is my first public declaration that a thing which looks to be unreasonable and seems to be unprofitable, being commanded by God, is law to me. If my Master had told me to pick up six stones and lay them in a row I would do it, without demanding of him, 'What good it will do?' Cui bono? is no fit question for soldiers of Jesus. The very simplicity and apparent uselessness of the ordinance should make the believer say, 'Therefore I do it because it becomes the better test to me of my obedience to my Master.'" When you tell your servant to do something, and he cannot comprehend it, if he turns round and says, "Please, sir, what for?" you are quite clear that he hardly understands the relation between master and servant. So when God tells me to do a thing, if I say, "What for?" I cannot have taken the place which Faith ought to occupy, which is that of simple obedience to whatever the Lord hath said. Baptism is commanded, and Faith obeys because it is commanded, and thus takes her proper place.

Once more, baptism is a refreshment to Faith. While we are made up of body and soul as we are, we shall need some means by which the body shall sometimes be stirred up to co-work with the soul. In the Lord's supper my faith is assisted by the outward and visible sign. In the bread and in the wine I see no superstitious mystery. I see nothing but bread and wine, but in that bread and wine I do see to my faith an assistant. Through the sign my faith sees the thing signified. So in baptism there is no mysterious efficacy in the baptistry or in the water. We attach no reverence to the one or to the other, but we do see in the water and in the baptism such an assistance as brings home to our faith most manifestly our being buried with Christ, and our rising again in newness of life with him. Explain baptism thus, dear friends, and there is no fear of Popery rising out of it. Explain it thus, and we cannot suppose any soul will be led to trust to it; but it takes its proper place among the ordinances of God's house. To lift it up in the other way, and say men are saved by it—ah! my friends, how much of mischief that one falsehood has done and may do, eternity alone will disclose. Would to God another George Fox would spring up in all his quaint simplicity and rude honesty to rebuke the idol-worship of this age; to rail at their holy bricks and mortar, holy altars, holy surplices, right reverend fathers, and I know not what. These things are not holy. God is holy; his truth is holy; holiness belongs not to the carnal and the material, but to the spiritual. O that a trumpet-tongue would cry out against the superstition of the age. I cannot, as George Fox did, give up baptism and the Lord's supper, but I would infinitely sooner do it, counting it the smaller mistake of the two than perpetrate and assist in perpetrating the uplifting of baptism and the Lord's supper out of their proper place. O my beloved friends, the comrades of my struggles and witnessings, cling to the salvation of faith, and abhor the salvation of priests. If I am not mistaken, the day will come when we shall have to fight for simple spiritual religion far more than we do now. We have been cultivating friendship with those who are either unscriptural in creed or else dishonest, who either believe baptismal regeneration, or profess that they do, and swear before God that they do when they do not. The time is come when there shall be no more truce or parley between God's servants and time servers. The time is come when those who follow God must follow God, and those who try to trim and dress themselves and find out a way which is pleasing to the flesh and gentle to carnal desires, must go their way. A great winnowing time is coming to God's saints, and we shall be clearer one of these days than we now are from union with those who are upholding Popery, under the pretence of teaching Protestantism. We shall be clear, I say, of those who teach salvation by baptism, instead of salvation by the blood of our blessed Master, Jesus Christ. O may the Lord gird up your loins. Believe me, it is no trifle. It may be that on this ground Armageddon shall be fought. Here shall come the great battle between Christ and his saints on the one hand, and the world, and forms, and ceremonies, on the other. If we are overcome here, there may be years of blood and persecution, and tossing to and fro between darkness and light; but if we are brave and bold, and flinch not here, we stand to God's truth, the future of England may be bright and glorious. O for a truly reformed church in England and a godly race to maintain it! The world's future depends on it under God, for in proportion as truth is marred at home, truth is marred abroad. Out of any system which makes salvation by baptism must spring [illegible] an infidelity which the false church [illegible]

[CONTINUED TO THE FOURTH PAGE.]

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 20, 1892.

Rev. C. T. BAILEY, Editor and Proprietor.
J. C. CADDELL, Agent and Correspondent.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Some one has said that "the prayer meeting is the pulse of the church." It would be stating it perhaps more accurately to say that the prayer meeting is the index of the spiritual condition of the church. Where we find a live prayer meeting, well attended, even in inclement weather, we are almost sure to find a church in good spiritual condition, and vice versa. There are some things that tend to hinder, and others that promote, the success of the prayer meeting, we wish to mention:—

One thing in the way of the success of such meetings is, the careless, dilatory manner of some deacons, and other leading members in attending them. It is generally understood that the pastor, unless providentially hindered, will be at the prayer meeting; and, as a rule, will conduct the service. But it is often the case that leading members from one cause or another will fail to be present. This is noticed by the pastor. It has a depressing effect on his feelings. It is noticed by the younger members of the church, and they naturally conclude that as brother A or B, old and influential members seldom come, they themselves ought not to be expected to attend. They begin to cultivate the habit of absenting themselves, then, from the very meeting they need to strengthem them against the temptations peculiar to youth and inexperience.

Another thing very much in the way of the success of the prayer meeting is the disposition of the church members to let trivial causes prevent them from coming. A little rain, a little mud, a little heat or cold, a little of anything, is found sufficient as an excuse for their absence. When men and women are seen to risk their lives by exposure to forward their own designs, to promote the success of their own business enterprises, and then shrink from the Lord's work for such slight reasons, it does not speak well for their spirituality, their religion, or their faithfulness to Christ. How some church members expect to hear Christ say on that day, "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of thy Lord," is a kind of mystery to us. If we have men employed, or servants about our homes that served us, as some church members are serving the Lord, we would not retain them for a week.

Another thing that hinders the prayer meeting is the habit of some of the brethren of making very long prayers. Prayer is a good thing, but the place for long prayers is in our closets at home, and not in public worship at the house of God. The model prayer that Christ gave his disciples was very brief. The prayers recorded in the Bible are, as a rule, also brief. In praying in public it is not necessary to pray for everything we can think of, to roam from Dan to Beersheba. A brief, earnest prayer, usually for some specific thing, lasting from two to four minutes, is usually the best kind of prayer for public worship. We do not mean to be irreverent, but we must say that even now we recall vividly our experience at some of the prayer meetings we attended with our mother when a boy. Ah, some of those long prayers tired us, and we did, not devoutly of course, wish often that the good brother would stop before he did. Brethren that lead in prayer should remember that many in the congregation are not christians, and that long prayers have a tendency to drive them from church instead of drawing them. Again we say, except on special occasions, and excepting the more formal opening or closing prayer by the pastor, the prayers at our prayer meetings should be brief.

Another obstacle in the way of the success of such meetings are long talks from certain brethren to the exclusion of others. It is not wise for even the pastor to indulge in a lengthy discourse at such meetings, else they become something else than regular prayer meetings. If possible—and it is usually possible—the pastor should develop the gift of speech on the part of the male members of his church. To always call on the same brethren, confining the call to two or three brethren that consume much time in reproducing pretty much the same thoughts, will cripple almost any prayer meeting.

Again, too much monotony, and a stereotyped order of exercise, will militate against the success of the meeting. The [illegible] not necessarily always lead the [illegible] the same [illegible] at every service. The usual order is to have two or three hymns, followed each by prayer, then reading from the Scriptures, comments on some passage, or passages, by the pastor, followed by short talks from the brethren, closing with another hymn, prayer, announcements, and benediction. This is a good order; but it is certainly wise to vary it from time to time. It may be wise sometimes to open with a short talk on the importance of realizing the nature of the service in which the worshippers are engaged, or by calling attention to some passing event of importance that ought to claim the attention and prayers of God's people. It may be wise, again, to read and expound the Scriptures after the first hymn and prayer. A very profitable variety can at times be secured by asking young or old converts to give some account of their conversion, or of the daily conflicts, trials, or temptations they encounter in their christian life. The pastor is a genius who can put something fresh, and yet Scriptural, into nearly any ordinary meeting of his people.

There are other obstacles in the way of prayer meetings that we can here barely mention without comment, such as going to the meetings to hear favorite men speak or pray, without an earnest desire to hold communion with God; levity and irreverence on the part of worshippers or church members; sameness or monotony in the objects for which prayer is offered; reluctance to participate in the exercises; failure of the members (pastor included) to place themselves in close sympathy with the afflicted, the bereaved, or the suffering poor of the church; absence of members at lodge meetings, places of amusement, &c.; continual scolding of absentees by the pastor and leading members of the church, at church service or prayer meeting, instead of kind, brotherly remonstrance at their homes, &c., &c.

The mention of these obstacles, and the comments upon them, naturally suggest the means to be used to make the prayer meeting more interesting and attractive to the our church members. It is certainly a matter worth mature deliberation on the part of pastor and people as to how to make the prayer meeting a success. A praying church is always a strong church, and this remark will hold good whether the church is strong in numbers and means or not.

Besides the general hints already given, we would say further, that it is important that each church member should realize that it is his duty to attend the prayer meeting of his church; that he should not stay away unless providentially hindered; that he should do what he can to promote its success, cheerfully responding to any sensible request of the pastor that has that end in view. The church prayer meeting is an institution of our modern church life that needs a thorough study and a thorough revival.

CORRECTION.

In our last issue a singular mistake occurred in Bro. M. V. McDuffie's article, on page six. In the paragraph headed "Fayetteville," the last sentence was inadvertently slipped in by an oversight on the part of our foreman. The sentence commences with the words, "For twenty-two years he was engaged in mercantile life," &c., and in its connection it would apply to the pastor of the Fayetteville church. Our good brother Oliver is too young a man to have done that. But as every one who reads the paper does not know our brother, we hasten to make the correction. We are sorry that it occurred.

We call attention to the article in this issue of the Recorder on the Keeley treatment. We commend it for the evidences of good which have come under our own observation, as well as upon the statement of men about whose judgment and veracity there can be no question. Whatever is for good deserves the endorsement and support of all good people.

Queries.

1. Is it right for a Baptist church to hold members in fellowship who have perjured themselves?

2. Can an Association hold a church in full fellowship, which holds members who have sworn in open court against each other, and the church utterly refuses to investigate the matter?

3. Can a christian be a horse-jockey?

4. Can a christian buy flour at four dollars per barrel, and sell it to his croppers at eight dollars per barrel; and buy meat at six cents per pound, and sell it at ten cents per pound?

J. B. Elliott.
Olay, N. C.

Has a member of a Baptist church a moral right to send his children to a dancing-school?

C. W. C.

We present the above queries that the brethren may see them and consider them for themselves.—Editor.

KEELEY INSTITUTE, GREENSBORO, N. C.

I have just spent two days at the Keeley Institute in Greensboro, N. C. I came for a purpose; and to enable me to accomplish the mission on which I came, I have spent the time largely among those whom I found here taking the treatment. So whatever of information this article may contain, and whatever good its circulation among the readers of the Recorder may accomplish, I owe to the patients who are here, or who have gone to their homes, leaving their testimony behind them.

Let me say, however, that the kindness and courtesy of the officers of the Institute have been all any one could expect, or even desire, and that I should get my information from those who are here for treatment, or who have been here, was the expressed desire of the officers in charge of the work.

If the treatment which the Institute offers, and which is being received now by so many, is a real blessing, what it purports to be, it ought then to have the endorsement and support not only of christian people, but of men everywhere who feel a common interest in the cause of humanity. It is with this view that this article is written.

WHAT IS CLAIMED BY THE AUTHOR OF THE CURE.

As I understand it, Dr. Keeley, who is the discoverer of this cure, which in the results it is producing appears a little short of the miraculous, claims that drunkenness is nothing more nor less than a disease, a physiological disease and derangement of certain portions and functions of the system, and that by using this treatment these losses are restored, and that the desire and appetite for drink disappears as the health and normal condition of the body is restored. Simply this and nothing more is claimed by Dr. Keeley and those who administer the cure.

THE SORT OF MEN WHO HAVE BEEN CURED AND THE TESTIMONY THEY GIVE.

I do not know how well this treatment will stand the tests of theorists, but so far as human testimony goes there is plenty of that to convince the most incredulous and obstinate inquirer. There are present today at the Institute just fifty patients, representing some of the best known and most highly respected families in this as well as in other States.

A good number of these men who are here to be cured I have known for years in their business or professions, and know them to be men of the highest sense of of honor and the most unquestioned veracity. They all with one accord tell the same story, viz: that the treatment had completely banished all desire whatever for the taste of whiskey. As I write, I have before me more than a score of letters dating from twelve years ago to the present month, signed by men whose names are a guarantee for truth and respectability, testifying in terms too strong for me to quote, to the light and joy which this cure has brought into their lives, their homes, and loved ones. Only last night a scene appeared at the depot that even strangers to the parties will not soon forget. A few years ago one of the sweetest and most thoroughly accomplished girls in the State was married to a man who was then prospering in his business, but who in time was overtaken and ruined by strong drink, finally abandoning his wife and child, and wandered, as it were, among the tombs. About a year ago he was induced to go to the Keeley Institute in New York, where he took the treatment and was cured. He has since been restored to his place in business, and is now living happily with his wife and child in the home where their happiness and sorrow began. One of the very best lawyers in North Carolina, as he shook hands with me last night to go home, said, "It is a great mystery; I do not understand it all; but I have no idea I shall ever want another drop of whiskey." A poor fellow said to me, "This is the first time in thirty years that I have been free from the merciless cravings of whiskey." And so I might continue till I had filled all my space in recording the testimony I have heard to-day.

THE WAY THE TREATMENT IS GIVEN AND ITS EFFECT ON DIFFERENT PATIENTS.

The treatment is absolutely uniform, given to each patient at the same time and in the same quantities, and yet all patients are not effected in just the same manner. This will not appear strange, however, when it is remembered that these are three distinct classes of patients who offer themselves for treatment. First, those who are mentally and morally strong; these come to the Institute with a full purpose and desire to be benefitted, and these never fail to be cured. And there is no case on record where a patient of this sort has ever gone back to his old habits of drinking. This class, too, is always cured in the time prescribed. Then there are others who, to some extent, resent the treatment,—that is, they are passive in their dispositions. These are as certainly and as effectually cured as the others. But in some cases it requires a little more time. Then there is still another class who come with little mental or physical power, and who are not easily brought under the treatment, and it is with this class that all the failures to cure have been found, and this has amounted to only five per cent. of all who have been treated in the twelve years work of the institution.

At 8 o'clock a. m. and 12 m., and at 5 and 7:30 p. m., each patient takes in his left arm a hypodermic injection, the point of the instrument tending upward. This is done in perfect order, all the patients forming in single file and each one approaching the desk in his regular order. The operation is without pain, and the patients seem rather to enjoy it, as it affords a pleasant stimulant. Then in addition to this each, one is required to take one teaspoonful of the liquid every two hours when awake. This is put into a bottle on which is labelled the name of the patient, so each man uses his own bottle and that of no one else.

THE CHEERFULNESS OF THOSE WHO ARE THERE.

Almost any one visiting the Institute will be deceived, especially if he should expect to find any restraints or rigorous discipline placed upon the attendants. They are absolutely free to exercise and amuse themselves at will, and this they seem to enjoy fully. The idea of being cured seems to thoroughly possess each one, and this has done away with the remorse and humiliation which some might associate with the treatment.

The citizens of Greensboro are proud of the institution and the noble work it is doing, and are doing what they can to contribute to the comfort and pleasure of all who come to receive the benefits of the institution.

THE LOCATION.

The location seems to be most fortunate here. Greensboro is accessible from all points of the compass. This is an advantage which will come to be more and more appreciated as the reputation and patronage of the Institute shall grow and increase, as increase it must. The building is convenient and well located on Main street, with an abundance of nice, well furnished and well-ventilated rooms. The dining hall on the first floor is kept scrupulously neat and orderly by the presence of Sister Eller, who is a good Baptist sister, and whose heart is thoroughly in this work. The table is well supplied by a variety of the best and most wholesome food. The appetite of the patients as it loses its desire for whiskey, is strengthened and sharpened for its natural food. In fact the natural relish for food is one of the first symptoms of the recovery and restoration of the patient. Board, lodging and servant hire is furnished in the building at $6 per week. Any patient preferring to board elsewhere is permitted under the rules of the Institute to do so.

THE MEN WHO ARE IN CHARGE.

The officers in charge are W. H. Osborn, Esq., president; Judge W. H. Eller, business manager, and Dr. W. J. H. Durham, physician.

President Osborn is well and widely known as a successful, enterprising business man. He is himself a graduate of the Institute at Dwight, Ill. He was from the first a strong and enthusiastic advocate of the merits of the Keeley cure, and is now giving his time largely to the work of inducing others to avail themselves of it.

Judge Eller is a most elegant gentleman, courteous, kind, and attractive in manner. He moved to Greensboro from Nebraska in October last, and has been in charge of the business department of the Institute since that time. He is, however, a native North Carolinian, and in all respects to the manor born.

Dr. Durham is well known to many of our people as one of the very best physicians in the State. He received his medical education at the Medical College of Virginia, and in addition to his thorough medical experience, he took a full course of treatment under Dr. Keeley at Dwight, Ill., and has the highest endorsement of both the doctor and the patients whom he has treated.

THE OWNERSHIP OF THE PROPERTY.

The Institute is owned entirely by native North Carolinans, and, except two, is the largest in the United States, having now a paid up capital of $200,000. One hundred and sixty patients have been enrolled here since October last, and more than one hundred have been cured, and are now "clothed in their right minds," many of them having been restored to their accustomed stations in business and in society, making happy many homes which for years have been filled with gloom and despair.

Now as I conclude, I commend the consideration of this matter, not on account of what I have written, and not on account of any man's theory as to its merits or demerits, because theory, in the face of living testimony, must go for nothing, but I do commend to all men everywhere that due consideration be given to the living, breathing evidence which stands up and boldly proclaims, "Whereas, I was blind, now I see, and the things I once loved I now hate."

J. C. C.

Rev. M. L. Green, one of our missionaries in the State department, and his brethren at Pine Forest have finished their house of worship and it is to be dedicated on the second Sunday in August.

OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

ROXBORO.

The pleasant as well as profitable trip to Roxboro, and to Ephesus church, did much to repair the loss I felt in having to leave the meeting which was in progress at Wake Forest. Dr. Hatcher did some of his very best preaching, capturing students, men, women and children from the very first. The influence of the meeting will be felt at the College for years to come, and what is more, it will strengthen and build up the cause in many portions of the State as the young men who were converted and restored to their church fellowship shall go to their respective homes and places of work.

I found a great change in Roxboro since I saw the town twelve months ago. Many stores have been built or refitted, several new warehouses built, and quite a number of new and elegant residences have been erected in different portions of the town. The building of the Lynchburg and Durham Railroad by Roxboro has done much to put life and spirit into the business of the town, and has been of great value to this entire section, provided they will have the good sense to stop now without building another railroad, but will improve the country roads leading into the town. It is just as easy to ruin a town by too many railroads as it is to ruin it without any.

Every town like Roxboro needs especially to draw trade from all the surrounding country. This can be done by making and keeping up good roads into the country.

I found on reaching the town that Bro. Lamberth had gone to Ephesus, one of his country churches. I had heard of Ephesus church, and was glad of the opportunity of going (even if I did have to go by myself) to spend a while among the border-line brethren. This is no reflection on the brethren. There is no harm in living near the State line as long as they take their State paper. I was delighted with this section of the State. It is not only in the hands of good people now, but the evidences are there that the very best people have occupied that section in all the years which are past. The broad acres, rock fences and large mansions, still mark the places once owned by the Southern farmers who were the noblemen of the country. They were the men who paid the taxes, lent money and stood security. Why might it not be so now? These men made everything used on the farm and sold a large surplus of various products to men who followed other business; and a return to this method will restore that same thrift and independence which was so bountifully enjoyed by those who have lived before us. Ephesus is one of the oldest churches in this portion of the State. Good old Bro. King was its pastor for a great number of years, receiving for his services some forty or fifty dollars per year. Then came Bro. Mills, the father of Bro. J. H. Mills and Prof. L. R. Mills. Many of the brethren who are members now came into the church under the preaching of Bro. Mills, and speak of him now with great respect and affection. Following these were brethren J. J. James and F. H. Jones, both of whom were good pastors, and did faithful work.

For the past seven years Bro. Lamberth has been pastor of this church, and it looks now that nothing short of a ministerial funeral will separate him from these people. Pastor and people seem to be thoroughly in love with each other, agreeing upon all the plans and purposes of the church. I do not know any preacher in the State who has a more desirable field than Bro. Lamberth, and he deserves just such a field as he has, for first of all he is a splendid preacher, and is also an exceptionally good pastor. In his preaching he deals honestly and faithfully with his congregation, and when necessary does not fail to remind his people that the gospel is good for "reproof." Bro. Lamberth has no "hobby," but he and his people stand up square to every object of our work. A large per cent. of the Ephesus people are subscribers to the Recorder, and have been for years. I got quite a good number of new ones through the efforts of the pastor and other good brethren who aided me greatly in my work.

J. C. C.

STATE SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

This Convention was held with the First Baptist church in Winston. The body was called to order by President N. B. Broughton of Raleigh. J. M. Beaty was made temporary Secretary. The Convention was permanently organized by electing Dr. C. A. Rominger of Reidsville, President; Thomas H. Stout, 1st Vice-President; T. S. Sprinkle, 2d Vice President, and Rev. N. S. Jones of Salisbury, Secretary.

Rev. H. A. Brown, pastor of the First church, welcomed the Convention, in a well-chosen speech, which in itself was a foretaste of the pleasant sojourn which the Convention, during each day of the session, enjoyed.

The Convention extended a grateful, as well as graceful, response through the President, Dr. C. A. Rominger.

The Convention was highly entertained by responses from Dr. Ellis, who spoke for Baltimore; Dr. Frost, for the S. S. Board of the S. B. Convention; Dr. A. E. Dickinson of Richmond; Dr. T. P. Bell, for the Foreign Mission Board, and Rev. D. W. Herring, for China.

General regret was felt at the failure of Dr. Sanderlin to be present and deliver the opening address of the Convention. We heard much sympathy expressed for Mrs. Sanderlin, whose extreme illness made it impossible for Dr. Sanderlin to be present.

At 7:30 p. m., Rev. C. A. Jenkens of Oxford, N. C., addressed the Convention on the Holy Spirit's work in the preparation, exposition and application of the Scripture truth in the Sunday-school lessons. The greatest compliment I can pay to the spirit and elegance of this address is, to say to the readers of the RECORDER, that we have just written to the speaker for his manuscript for publication.

Then followed an address by Dr. T. P. Bell on S. S. literature as a means of developing interest in missionary work.

But for the consideration that Baltimore, Nashville and Richmond remained to be heard from through Drs. Ellis, Frost and Dickinson, I should have supposed we were using too much of our good things the first day. What followed, however, showed that our apprehensions were groundless.

Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. J. K. Fant addressed the Convention on the obligations of the churches to the Sunday-schools and of the schools to the churches. His speeches are always interesting. He has something to say, and when he says it, he stops.

Bro. J. C. Scarborough is next on the program, but was kept away by sickness. Dr. A. E. Dickinson stood for him, and in a spirit full of common sense and of practical utility, told us of the influence of a Sunday-school on our denominational life.

Special prayer, at different times, was offered for the recovery of Rev. A. W. Price, who was reported critically ill at his home in Wadesboro. But for his sickness he would have shown the Convention "The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school." Dr. J. J. Hall of the Baptist Tabernacle, Raleigh, was chosen by the committee to present this topic, and in a speech highly characteristic of his ability as a speaker the interest in the program was well preserved.

At 7 o'clock p. m., the largest audience yet assembled to listen to Dr. J. M. Frost discuss the Sunday-school department of the Southern Baptist Convention, and Dr. F. M. Ellis of Baltimore, who was to tell us about the Centennial of Missions. Many who were at the Baptist State Convention were prepared to enjoy a speech from Dr. Frost. He is a man of the people, thoroughly practical in his ideas, and liberal toward the opinions of his brethren.

No one was disappointed in what he expected from Dr. Ellis. His speech was in the highest sense educative, discussing as he did the subject of missions in the broadest and most comprehensive sense.

Having to leave at this stage of the proceedings, I can only congratulate those who remain to hear the balance of the program.

I was splendidly entertained at the home of Bro. and Sister D. S. Reid. The people of Winston without regard to denomination did the handsome thing from the first to the last, and in behalf of those who attended the Convention, I wish to tender thanks to the Street Car Company for the free and liberal use of their cars to delegates who, for the first time, had an opportunity of seeing the livest and most progressive town in the State.

The Convention will meet next year in Charlotte. J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. J. A. Campbell, of Poe's, Harnet county, called in this office last Saturday.

....Bro. L. L. Jenkins of Gastonia, paid his respects to the RECORDER office last Thursday.

....The Baptist church has been moved to the new lot on McIlvane street.—Kinston Free Press.

....Dr. R. H. Marsh of Oxford writes: "Geo. C. Needham is here doing good work in his Bible conference.

....Rev. A. W. Crabtree, has changed his post office from Longford to Hornet, Mecklenburg county, N. C.

....The Methodist Educational Society met in Charlotte, N. C., on the 13th, inst., and were in session three days.

....Rev. J. O. Alderman paid a pleasant call to the RECORDER office last Friday as he was on his way to Concord, N. C.

....Bro. A. W. Early, of Aulander, N. C., called to see us last Monday on his return from the Sunday-school Convention.

....The Durham church has called Bro. C. W. Tyree of Virginia, who is now a student of the Seminary at Louisville, Ky.

....We learn from the Murfreesboro Index that eight persons were received into the Baptist church by baptism last week.

....Prof. W. L. Poteat passed through Raleigh last Thursday afternoon en route to Winston to the Sunday-school Convention.

....The ladies of the Baptist church gave their pastor, Rev. W. A. Pool, a pounding last Thursday night.—Statesville Landmark.

....Rev. T. H. Justice, an old and well known Baptist preacher of Rutherford county, died last Saturday morning.—Monroe Enquirer.

....Rev. N. R. Pittman, of St. Joseph, Mo., writes: I enjoy the RECORDER, I am delighted with Baptist growth in my old home town—Lumberton.

....Dr. A. T. Pierson, who has been supplying Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit for some time, has engaged passage and expects to sail for America June 1st.—Baltimore Baptist.

....The Baptist State Sunday-school Convention met in Winston on the 14th, inst. Dr. C. A. Rominger was elected president of the Convention.

....Rev. A. W. Price, of Wadesboro, was kept from attending the Sunday-school Convention by sickness. We are sorry to learn that he is seriously ill.

....At the First Baptist church in this city on last Sunday, Rev. J. L. White, the pastor, received seven into the fellowship of the church.—Asheville Baptist, April 13.

....Rev. J. S. Hardaway, of Oxford, writes that brethren Marsh, Hobgood, and myself and probably Bro. Stradly expect to go to the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta.

....The little mission church at Princeton, with Rev. O. C. Horton as leader, will soon be in their new house of worship. It will be the best house of worship in the town when finished.

....The Baptist Home Mission Society closed its year March 31st with a balance in the treasury. This was caused by a legacy of $70,000, otherwise there had been a debt.—Baltimore Baptist.

....The next session of the Baptist State Sunday-school Convention is to be held with Tryon Street Baptist church, Charlotte, N. C., and is to begin Tuesday before the 1st Sunday in April 1893.

....Rev. C. N. Donaldson of Norfolk, Va., sends us an account of the recent meeting in Wilson, N. C., in which he says there were about fifty or sixty added to the church by baptism and by letters.

....Rev. J. L. Cottingham and his brethren at Wilson's Mills, have about completed their new house of worship. This is one of the many mission churches that will get into a new house this year.

....Rev. E. M. Poteat of New Haven, Conn., with his wife and child, is on a visit to his brother, Prof. W. L. Poteat at Wake Forest. He is recuperating from some temporary illness, and expects soon to return.

....Dr. Edward Lane, a Presbyterian Missionary at Campinas, Brazil, died the 27th of March, last. Dr. Lane was one of the founders of the Campinas Mission in 1869. He went on from Va.—N. C. Presbyterian.

....The members of the Baptist church gave their pastor, Rev. J. H. Edwards such a pounding Thursday evening, that the grocer who supplies the larder will find his occupation gone for weeks to come.—Goldsboro Headlight.

....Bro. L. L. Lowery, a student at Wake Forest died at the College Sunday morning, of stricture of the bowels. Bro. Lowery was a fine student, an exemplory christian. We extend our sincere sympathy to his bereaved father and mother.

....Dr. J. M. Frost, Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday-school Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, writes: "Our work is moving very finely, surpassing all our expectations in everything, and promising even larger returns for the future."

....Rev. A. C. Dixon is to give his celebrated lecture on "Moths and Myths of Infidelity," on May 19th, at the Y. M. C. A. hall. Everybody in Baltimore will want to hear him. The proceeds are to be devoted to the dissemination of anti-infidel literature.—Baltimore Baptist.

....At the Baptist church, Rev. J. N. Stallings of High Point filled the pulpit morning and evening. In the afternoon the pastor, Rev. Henry Sheets, baptized four applicants and at the evening service the right hand of fellowship was extended by the church.—Kernersville News.

....One great joy of our conference this morning was the presence of our beloved Dr. J. L. Burrows. His sweet, rich voice delighted the ears of his old charge at Freemason street. Dr. Burrows says his health is fine, and he enjoys life and preaches with ease.—Norfolk Notes in Balto. Baptist.

....Rev. D. W. Herring, will deliver the address before the Maggie Nutt Missionary Society of Oxford Female Seminary at the next Commencement. The Society is named in honor of his wife, who is a graduate of the Seminary. Dr. H. A. Tupper will be invited to speak also, and it is hoped that he will accept.

....There is a good meeting in progress at the Fayetteville Street Baptist church in this city. The pastor, Rev. Jonathan Wood, has been aided by Rev. O. L. Stringfield, until he left to attend the Sunday-school Convention. Several persons have professed conversion. On last Sunday night they had a very precious meeting.

....Bro. Carrick of Lexington writes April 18th: "I am glad to say that we have just closed a good meeting in our church here. I baptized fourteen last night, and three others have been received for baptism. One received by letter. Bro. J. K. Fant of High Point was with us and preached the gospel with earnestness and power. Our people were very much pleased with Bro. Fant, and will be glad to hear him again."

....The Board of Trustees of the Baptist Female University met in annual meeting on the 12th inst. There were present Prof. W. L. Poteat, Dr. C. E. Taylor, Rev. W. R. Gwaltney, Judge Faircloth, Rev. C. Durham, J. C. Scarborough, W. N. Jones, Dr. J. W. Carter, N. B. Broughton and W. G. Upchurch. The newly elected trustees, Carey J. Hunter and Prof. E. McK. Goodwin were invited in and were introduced.

....Rev. Geo. C. Needham commenced his meetings in Raleigh last Sunday at 11 a. m. in the First Presbyterian church by delivering an able and instructive sermon on the doctrine of the resurrection. He held a Bible lesson at the Edenton Street M. E. church at 3 p. m.; at night, at the Baptist Tabernacle, one on the "Priesthood"; Monday, 4 p. m., one on the "Holy Spirit" in the Presbyterian church, and one at night in the First Baptist church on "How to Study the Bible." These were rich feasts to all. The meetings are to close on Wednesday. We are glad to see so much interest manifested in Bible study.

....Bro. T. G. Wood writes: "We have just closed a delightful meeting here of a week's duration, in which quite a number professed conversion. Dr. Hufham was with us and did the preaching. Our people always hear him with delight and profit, and this time, the "Old, old story" as told by him, seemed simpler and richer, and fuller of love than ever, and it proved the power of God unto salvation. Only one young lady now at Institute not a professing christian.

From Edgefield C. H., S. C.

Dear Editor:—The visits of the dear old RECORDER with its bright face are more welcome as the time goes on. Though separated from the people of my birth by half the width of the Old North State and almost the entire width of the widest part of her sister commonwealth, South Carolina, I still feel an interest in all that interests my kindred and former co-laborers. The RECORDER from week to week comes laden with intelligence of their successes, and all is hailed with joy.

I thought that a few dots from a distance would be interesting to you:

My field is hard. All work is hard, I believe, if it is closely followed. My people are kind and appreciative—a good people to work with and generous to a fault.

Things were somewhat confused here when I took hold, but there is now increasing unanimity and efficiency on all hands. Sometime ago I held a meeting, and the Lord was with us. I had thought of getting help from abroad for my next, which I am to hold soon; but Dr. Nelson, my neighbor now, suggests that I hold it with my forces on the field. So I have decided to hold just after the S. B. Convention, and with my own home helpers. In my church are sufficient help—lawyers, doctors, and one young minister of good prospects.

The Centennial of Missions is receiving considerable attention in these parts. I go next Friday to help in a mission concert at Johnston's, at which place Rev. W. T. Hunley, a son of Old Virginia, is pastor. By the way, he is one of my predecessors at this place. Several brethren are expected to be present, viz., Rev. J. C. Brown of Aiken, Rev. J. W. Wingo of Ridge Springs, Bollridge of Batesburg, Tolson of Columbia, and possibly Bro. Thomas of the Courier. It will be a good meeting and similar meetings will be held at other places as the year goes on.

Bro. Hunley will be with us here on the fourth Sunday in an effort in behalf of Foreign Missions.

Edgefield county is peculiar in many respects. It has furnished more State officers and more almost anything else than any other county in the State. The present Governor, R. B. Tillman, is an Edgefield man, and the candidate of the Anti-Tillmanites is a fellow-citizen of this village and member of my church, and sings in the choir. Ex Gov. John C. Sheppard is the candidate, and a hot contest is anticipated on all sides.

The fights here are very different from what they were in North Carolina. There, the heat of the battle comes, I think, after the nomination of the candidates. Here, the fight is made before the time of the nominating convention, and is a contest of the candidates for the nomination, because to get the nomination is equal to election. Democracy being solid here, to be its candidate for an office virtually elects, there being no hope for an opponent. The fighting has already begun with us, echoes of which I am sure will reach you all in North Carolina. It will be hard for us pastors to keep the interests of the cause from suffering amid the confusion always attending a campaign. There is one redeeming feature,—beginning earlier, it will be over sooner than with you.

We are counting the weeks as they pass, so anxious are we for summer to get here, when during vacation we will visit you all at home. I am to be with Prof. Beckwith in a meeting at Mt. Moriah in the Raleigh Association. I have been there with him before and am looking forward to it with delight.

All aboard for the Convention at Atlanta! One advantage I have here. I will not have near so far to go as you all have. That's good and cheaper, which is an item these hard times. Fraternally,

J. N. BOOTHE.

Edgefield C. H., S. C., April 11, 1892.

Serious Outlook.

Only $82,427.48 has been received by the Foreign Mission Board since May 1st, 1891. Last year at this time, $85,559.91 had been received. Our obligations now are $5,000 more than they were then. Hence the churches are $8,000 more in arrears than in the middle of last April. By the last day of April, the Board must have $35,000 to meet notes in bank given on the faith of the Southern Baptist Convention, not to mention drafts which may come from the missionaries.

Let each ask before God: What is my duty in this crisis?

H. A. TUPPER, Cor. Sec.

Richmond, Va., April 14, 1892.

Chowan Association.

The Chowan Association meets with the church at Ballard's Bridge, Chowan county, May 17th, 18th and 19th.

Persons coming by steamer "Lota" from Franklin or Edenton will be met at Holley's Wharf. Those coming on the Suffolk and Carolina Railroad will be met at Chowan Station.

The ministers of this Association at their meeting in Edenton, April 6th, passed a resolution, requesting the Association to give the second day entirely to the Centennial of Missions. A. W. BURFOOT.

Bible Meetings.

The Bible meetings in Oxford, conducted by Rev. Geo. C. Needham, have come to a close. They were attended by the whole town, and have stirred up a spirit of inquiry as to the teachings of the word of God. I look for much from the meetings in the future. They must lead to better living, and to more faithful service of God. Rev. W. P. Fife was called away from the meetings by the illness of his wife. Rev. Geo. C. Needham won the hearts of all our people. He captured Oxford. He is a man of faith, and mighty in the Scriptures. Oxford will remember his visit for years to come, and will gladly welcome him into our midst again, whenever he can come among us.

JNO. S. HARDAWAY.

"Church Finances" Again—A few More Words.

In the RECORDER of April 6th, appears a communication on this subject over my name. In the hast of writing, I made a mistake, which I wish to correct. The mistake occured in multiplying by the different amounts of percentage. I may not be amiss to complete the table thus:

$50x60	per cent.	$30.00 (Pastor.)
50x 5	"	2.50 (F. M.)
50x 5	"	2.50 (H. M.)
50x 8	"	4.00 (S. M.)
50x 7	"	3.50 (A. M.)
50x 3	"	1.50 (Orphan's)
50x 2	"	1.00 (M. R. P.)
50x 3	"	1.50 (S. S. & Col.)
50x 7	"	3.50 (Miscellaneous)
Total		$50.00

It may be well to state, by way of meeting one common objection to this plan, that is, apportionment or assessment feature, that the Finance Committee, by some more labor, could see in person each member of the church, and secure by pledges the amount needed for the year. Any other object besides these mentioned in the first table, could be provided for by allowing a certain per cent for that object. "Miscellaneous objects" could include amount needed for lights, fuel, sexton's pay, for the poor, &c., and if necessary, the per cent. allowed could be made larger.

Brethren belonging to the churches in the country are apt to dispose of this plan with the remark, "It will suit perhaps town or city churches, but is not practicable among farmers, who do not handle much money only at certain seasons of the year." Admit that a brother handles money but once during the year, can he not then decide what he proposes, or what he is asked, to give for "Church expenses" that year, lay it aside, and give in the manner mentioned? Here, as elsewhere, it is often emphatically true that "where there is a will, there is a way." Yet many of our people will continue their "old way" of collecting, which often is virtually "no way." It needs no prophet to say here, however, that until the masses of our churches adopted some better system of collecting church dues, our pastors, our churches, our boards, and our benevolent work generally, must suffer for it. Brethren, we can improve here; why not do so? It will require at least three years to test properly the plan suggested.

C. A. WOODSON.

Was it Said Sympathetically?

In the 39th number of the RECORDER, brother S. P. Lowery informs us that the farming preachers have a hard task; that he has to ride twenty or thirty miles to get to his church; and that when he gets there, he is so wearied and confused, that he confuses the people. Brother Lowery then calls down upon him the woe pronounced in Jeremiah 23: 1, 2. He says let him be educated, then he will carry the word of God in his heart—if he had only said head, instead of heart.

Though a man speak with the tongue of men and of angels, and have not charity, he becomes as sounding brass or a tinkling symbol.

That the preacher, who preaches and farms for a living has a hard task, is not questioned. Who feels this more than himself, and who deserves sympathy more than he? But did Brother Lowery give us this information, in order to elicit sympathy that we might help to bear the weary and heavy-laden brother's burden, or to array him before the public, that he might be had in derision, and that his burden might become more grievous to be borne? In war, artilleries have battered down many a fortification, infantry has achieved many a victory—both are necessary. Also, there is a duty and a place for all of God's servants to work in his vineyard—to every man his work.

Oh, that the time may speedily come that we shall realize that the Lord hath need of us all, and that we are one body in Christ, and every one members of another! Then, though we have gifts differing to the grace given us, we shall be kindly affectioned one to another, with brotherly love, in honor preferring one another, that the world may know that we are Christ's disciples.

Then, we should not mind high things, but condescend to men of low estate, and rejoice with those that rejoice and weep with those that weep. Then, we should not think more highly of ourselves than we ought to think, nor be wise in our own conceits, nor look upon our own things; but we should look every man on the things of others, and we should be meek and lowly in heart. Then, we should not be thrusting with side and shoulder, nor pushing with the horns; but we should be strengthening the diseased, healing that which was sick, binding up that which was broken, and seeking after that which was lost. Then, whether the preacher be educated or uneducated, whether he be a man of oratory or a man of plain speach, whether he be clothed in costly apparel or clad in vile raiment, whether his hand be gloved in kid or browned with honest toil, the word spoken will not be as sounding brass or a tinkling symbol; but will accomplish that whereunto it is sent; Zion will travail and bring forth sons and daughters to the glory of God. Then, we should not dispise one another, judge one another, nor put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in a brother's way; but love will be without dissimulation.

J. A. MOTON, a layman.

Whitley, N. C.

Life of Rev. Daniel White.

Real sunbeams sometimes illumine the pathway of an author. Several of these, it has been the good fortune of the writer to enjoy in reference to his little work above mentioned. Numbers of esteemed brethren have written of how much they enjoyed the book and the good they believed it would do wherever read; but none were more keenly relished than those below, one from Rev. N. B. Cobb, while the work was running through the RECORDER, to the Rev. John Monroe, and which was handed the writer; another, the complimentary notice of the book by the Rev. Wm. Cathcart, D. D., in his Baptist Encyclopedia of Philadelphia, and, very recently, from our loved brother, Rev. Henry Sheets of Lexington, N. C. Bro. Sheets wrote to one of the publishers, Bro. N. B. Broughton, for copies of the book, and he replied that none were left and referred to the writer for the possibility of getting it. This showed that the edition of one thousand copies, or over, was exhausted with the exception of a dozen still on hand with the author. A copy was sent at once. Appended is a brief extract from Brother Sheet's letter to the writer, written from Lexington, N. C., bearing date of March 23d, 1892:

"This morning I received the copy of the Life of Rev. Daniel White. As it was raining this eve, I read it through. My brother, I want to thank you for writing this grand little book. I don't know that I ever read anything (of its character) that so stirred me as this little work. I was alternately reading and using my handkerchief. I don't know that I ever wept more in reading anything in my whole life. If it is weakness in me—can't help it—I don't want to help it. I feel in my soul that it was a God send. Why? I'll tell you. I might have sent for it a little earlier or just a little later, but it would not have affected me like it did had it come at any other time. * * *

"Now, this is what I have decided to do—decided before I finished reading in the book in question. * * * I'll swing loose in my work and trust God to take care of me and mine in old age. I failed to state in the proper place, that my spirituality was becoming somewhat dwarfed—I was becoming uneasy—I hardly knew what was the cause. God bless the memory of Daniel White."

Thus speaks a good man and an able minister. Such utterances are, to an author's heart, as the dews on Mount Hermon or the songs of Ossian! If this work is thus blessed of God to his great workers, what may he enable it to accomplish in his harvest field and for missions!

Bro. Sheets is preaching for Waughtown and New Friendship and in his excellent letter tells us much of interest in his section, William Dowd, instrumental in getting up New Friendship church, owned a farm in what is now Winston—married a daughter of Dossey of the "Choice" hymn book. (Can any of the RECORDER readers tell where Rev. Wm. Dossey lived?) He tells also of Rev. George Pope, so long pastor at Abbott's Creek church, and concludes by asking if the writer has copies of the Life of Rev. Daniel White for sale, as he wishes to supply friends, and for us to make his house our home when we come to Lexington. With such children of the Great King, it is our wish ever to be at home here and hereafter.

The first edition of the Life of the Rev. Daniel White is exhansted; shall there be another, enlarged and improved, (with appendix memoirs of Rev. John Monroe and Mrs. Ann B. McGugan) issued and sent forth? If fifteen brethren or sisters agree to contribute ten dollars each for that purpose, they will each receive fifty copies when out to reimburse them—with their names on the frontispiece page to show their good work. No money need be sent till the work is ready for the printer, and the fifteen ready to contribute made up, when they will each be reminded, and the book with their contributions sent to the publisher. Any willing to contribute will please address the author, Duncan McNeill, Montpelier, Richmond county, N. C.

As many, too, as could sell in their sections 10, 50, 100, or 500 copies, will please let us know by letter, that an approximate idea as to the number to be issued may be formed. All letters on the subject will be thankfully received. D. MCNEILL.

Montpelier, Richmond Co., N. C.

The Rev. George H. Simmons, the evangelist from Kentucky, and the famous singers, Prof. D. B. Towner and wife, commenced a series of services in the First Baptist church of Wilmington on the 15th inst.

Rev. J. L. White of Asheville will preach the annual sermon at the coming commencement of Judson College, and J. D. Murphy, Esq., of same city, will deliver the annual address.

Mr. Walter L. Stradley, son of Bro. J. H. Stradley of Granville county, recently delivered an oration before a club in San Francisco that is highly spoken of by the press of that city. Mr. Stradley is a lawyer, and we note with pleasure the success of young men from North Carolina in other States.

Rev. B. F. Marable, D. D., an able preacher and one of the most popular ministers in Wilmington presbytery, died yesterday at the residence of Dr. Daniel McGraham in Wallace, Duplin county. Dr. Marable had charge of the Presbyterian churches at Clinton and [illegible]. He was about fifty three years of age. [illegible] years past he had suffered with [illegible] kidney trouble. Wilmington Star.

(CONTINUED FROM THE FIRST PAGE.)

seems willing to nourish and foster beneath her wing. God save this favored land from the brood of her own established religion. Brethren, stand fast in the liberty wherewith Christ has made you free, and be not afraid of any sudden fear nor calamity when it cometh, for he who trusteth to the Lord, mercy shall compass him about, and he who is faithful to God and Christ shall hear it said at the last. "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord." May the Lord bless this word for Christ's sake.

International Lessons, 1892.

Sunday, April 24—Psalm 23.

THE LORD MY SHEPHERD.

Motto Text—"The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want." Ps. 23: 1.

This Psalm is called by an eminent American preacher, "the nightingale of Psalms." "It is small, of homely feather, singing shyly out of obscurity, but Oh, it has filled the air of the whole world with melodious joy greater than the heart can conceive." It is the song of the christian masses of the world and the Saviour seems to remind his disciples of it in John 10: 1—16, wherein he says, "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

The relationship existing between the Eastern shepherds and their sheep was very intimate. The shepherd not only fed and protected the sheep by leading them into green pastures and beside still waters, and by defending them against wolves and bears, but he made a companion of them. He called them all by name, he knew the peculiarities of each individual among them. "I am the good shepherd," says Jesus, and know my sheep, and am known of mine."

While David was a shepherd boy, he was cut off by his business from the companionship of men, and it was but natural for him to make companions of the poor creatures dependent upon his care. Their enemies became his enemies, and their friends his friends. The cry of a helpless lamb would instantly arouse him to its care, and an attack made upon the fold by a wolf or a bear was resented as promptly and as fiercely as an attack made upon himself.

Some have supposed that the Psalm was composed by David at Mahanaim, when he had been driven from his throne by his rebellious son Absalom, and both he and his army of faithful followers were rescued from starvation by the friendly gifts of Shobi, Machir and Barzillai. (2 Sam. 17: 27–29). In his desolation in the wilderness, his thoughts, doubtless, returned to the innocence and happiness of his younger days when he minded his father's sheep in the wilderness and practiced his sacred songs to the accompaniment of his harp. He was reminded of his own care for the poor helpless sheep, when they were pursued by their foes, and how he had risked his own life and slain a bear and a lion in their defence. (1 Sam. 17: 34—34.) As the sheep in time of great danger looked to him for deliverance and for life, so now, in his great straits, he could look only to the Lord as his shepherd, to grant him life and deliverance from the strong army that was gathered against him, and from the pangs of hunger that were consuming his own followers. This Psalm, like all true song, was the outburst of his own feelings and his own experiences.

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters." Warned by messengers from Zadok and Abiathar of the plans of Absalom's generals to surround and destroy him in the wilderness, he had just passed over the waters of the river Jordan with his whole army faint and hungry when Barzillai and his friends came to their rescue with provisions (2 Sam. 17: 15—29), and in the stillness of the night that followed the passage of the Jordan and the refreshment of his troops, he looked toward the quiet waters of the river so lately disturbed by the splashings of his soldiers, and realizing that his own life had been saved by the timely information that had come to him, he sang, "He leadeth me beside the still waters. He restoreth my soul." He giveth back my life. Man's life, like a stray sheep, has wandered far from God. The good shepherd restoreth it by bringing back the soul to harmony with God's law. Happy is he who can say with David, "He restoreth my soul." If the soul is restored to communion with God, no sort of earthly surroundings can destroy one's peace and happiness. All misery comes from the soul being in disharmony with God.

V. 3. "He guideth me in the paths of righteousness." The shepherd goes before in guiding his flock. The christian's safety is in following obediently and meekly in the footsteps of Jesus. There are many paths leading in different directions, but only one path in which the child of God is secure. That path is marked by the earthly footprints of the Good Shepherd. 'Tis always safest to follow where Jesus leads.

"For his name's sake." Not for our sakes are we made righteous, but for Christ's sake. The cripple was made whole and commanded to take up his bed and walk—not simply that he might be cured and made happy, but that the world might know that the Son of man "had power on earth to forgive sins."

V. 4. "Yea, though I walk," &c. "Some one has said that when there is a shadow, there must be a light somewhere, and so there is. Death stands by the side of the highway in which we have to travel, and the light of heaven shining upon him throws a shadow across our path; let us then rejoice that there is light beyond." Spurgeon.

"I will fear no evil." Not that the christian will not encounter evil, but the fear of it is removed. "God did not take the Hebrews out of the fiery furnace to come down and walked with them. He did not remove Daniel from the lions' den; he sent his angel to close the lions' mouths. He did not answer the prayer of Paul to remove the thorn of flesh, but he gave him a sufficiency of grace to sustain him."—Peloubet.

V. 5. "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies." This was literally done for David when Barzillai, Shobi and Machir "brought beds and basins and earthen vessels, and wheat, and flour, and parched corn, and lentiles, and parched pulse, and honey, and butter, and sheep, and cheese of kine for David and for the people that were with him (at Mahanaim) to eat: for they said the people are hungry, and weary, and thirsty, in the wilderness." (2 Sam. 17: 27–29.)

Enemies of every kind are round about the christian in this world. He wrestles "against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places; wherefore," says Paul in Eph. 6: 13, "take unto you the whole armor of God that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand." (Eph. 6: 13.)

"Thou anointest my head with oil." The anointing of the head with oil was an act of great respect in the East. Christ contrasts the want of respect shown him by Simon in not anointing his head, with the great respect shown by the woman in anointing his feet. David meant to say, God had highly honored him. No wonder he added, "My cup runneth over."

If the great God so highly honored him, and had so guided and guarded him all his days, he would never forsake him. "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, and I shall dwell in the house of the Lord forever." The believer is secure not only in this life, but in that which is to come.

Happy is that man who can truthfully say, "The Lord is my shepherd I shall not want."

N. B. COBB.

Raleigh, N. C.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

The greatest enemy of the gospel to-day is worldliness in the churches The fact cannot be ignored or denied. Many a pastor has his pulpit in a spiritual ice-house and the people are as cold and immovable as blocks of ice. We sometimes tremble at the thought that God may chasten his people with great sorrows to wean them from earth and to draw them nearer him.—Central Baptist.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $3.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC Co., 339 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

The man who lives under a habitual sense of the divine presence keeps up a perpetual cheerfulness of temper, and enjoys every moment the satisfaction of thinking himself in company with his dearest and best friends. The time never lies heavy upon him. It is impossible for him to be alone; but his heart burns with devotion, swells with hope, and triumphs in the consciousness of that presence which everywhere surrounds him.—Spectator.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
BEECHAM'S PILLS
CURE
SICK HEADACHE,
Disordered Liver, etc.
They Act Like Magic on the Vital Organs, Regulating the Secretions, restoring long lost Complexion, bringing back the Keen Edge of Appetite, and arousing with the ROSEBUD OF HEALTH the whole physical energy of the human frame. These Facts are admitted by thousands, in all classes of Society. Largest Sale in the World.
Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.
Of all Druggists. Price 25 cents a Box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

Madness from Much-Learning.

A preacher may have great learning, but very little sense. William F. Broadus used to tell a story of a young preacher of decided talents and wide culture, who, with great erudition, prepared and preached a sermon to prove that the Bible must be of Divine origin, because the poetry of the Bible was superior to all the ancient classical poetry. In proving (?) this, he quoted long passages from Homer and Virgil, and critically compared them with passages from Isaiah and Ezekiel, and his congregations were made up of negro slaves. How a man who had so little sense could ever have made himself a scholar, is one of the insoluble mysteries of human nature.—Cor. Philadelphia Baptist.

Increase the appetite by the use of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. They cause the stomach, liver and bowels to perform their functions properly, do not debilitate, by excessive stimulation, and are not irritating in their action. As an after-dinner pill, they are unequaled.

Conscience.

Conscience is either the best friend on earth or the greatest enemy on earth. And man had better have all the world against him than have his conscience against him, and if all the world be against a man, yet if his conscience befriend him, it will enable him to bear up with comfort.—Samuel Slater.

Gone mad—
the person with bad blood who's not taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. You are bereft of judgment and good sense if you allow your blood to get out of order, your liver sluggish—life dull, everything blue, for you may soon find out that you're in the grave—or next to it—because you did not procure the G. M. D. soon enough, and some dread disease, may be influenza or consumption, may be typhoid or malarial fever, has taken you. Consumption is Lung Scrofula. For Scrofula in its myriad forms, and for all Liver, Blood and Lung diseases, the "Discovery" is an unequaled remedy. Everybody, now and then, feels "run-down" "played-out,"—with no power to generate vitality, in fact, just too sick to be well. That's where the right kind of medicine comes in, and the "Discovery" does for a dollar what the doctor wouldn't do for less than five or ten.

We claim that nothing like it has been discovered for a blood-purifier. It's guaranteed by the makers. Your money is returned if it doesn't benefit or cure you.

CONSUMPTION
THE POSITIVELY CURED.
THE BEST
Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merits alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed it will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.
For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.
W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by
W T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.
A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 25 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells.
Catalogue with over 2500 testimonials.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 23, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m	.....	.....
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m	.....	.....
Lv Bennettsville	.....	12.40 p m	.....
Lv Marston	.....	1.27 p m	.....
Ar Fayetteville	.....	2.57 p m	.....
Lv Ramseur	.....	.....	7:25 a m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	10:35 a m
Ar Madison	.....	.....	1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m	.....	.....
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m	.....	.....
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m	.....	.....
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m	.....	.....
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m	.....	.....
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m	.....	.....
Lv Fayetteville	.....	2:11 p m	.....
Lv Maxton	.....	3:32 p m	.....
Ar Bennettsville	.....	4:22 p m	.....
Lv Madison	.....	.....	2:45 p m
Ar Greensboro	.....	.....	4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro	.....	.....	5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur	.....	.....	8:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

WANTED.
Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 25 cts for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*8 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 53 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	3 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 53 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4 40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leaves Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leaves Oxford 8.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7: 5 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

STOP AT THE
Moseley House,
Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,
RALEIGH, N. C.
Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.
50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

"MURRAY" BETTER than GOLD "MURRAY"
There are not many things that are as good, or equal in value to Gold, and VERY FEW that are BETTER THAN GOLD. It is, however, a known fact that there are thousands of owners of our world-renowned "Murray" Buggies and Harness all over the continent, who say they would not give up their "Murray" Buggies and Harness for their value in gold, if they knew that they could not get another of the same kind. Our
MURRAY $55.95 BUGGIES and $5.95 HARNESS
are known the world over and are justly recognized as the BEST and CHEAPEST Vehicles and Harness on the market. We sell direct to the consumer at prices beyond competition and belong to neither the Buggy or Harness Pool or Trust.
Do you wish to purchase a Buggy or Harness this year? If so, and you want value received for your money and something BETTER THAN GOLD, there is but one make to buy and that is the celebrated "MURRAY."

$1000
Many Firms Make Big Claims
But we Prove Our Words by Deeds
AND WILL WAGER
ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS with any Carriage or Harness Firm in the U. S., same to be given to any charitable institution by the loser, that we can show more honest and better testimonials for the "MURRAY" Buggies and Harness for the time our goods have been on the market, than any one Factory in the World.
Write for our large Illustrated Catalogue, containing full description and prices of our "MURRAY" Vehicles and Harness. We will mail it to you FREE. Address all letters to
"MURRAY" THE WILBER H. MURRAY MFG. CO., CINCINNATI, O. "MURRAY"
MURRAY BUILDING.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, MRS. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for April 1—Cuba.

God's Hand in Cuba.

No modern mission bears greater evidence of providential leadings than that so recently established in the island of Cuba. Before our people were ready for the work, God was preparing for his latest evangelical victory. Earnest women upon the neighboring isle of Key West, were indeed praying for an open door, and yearning looks were sent over the dancing waters of the Gulf towards the Queen of the Antilles. In the Southern Baptist Convention of 1882, sitting in the town of Greenville, S. C., a brother arose and begged that a resolution be considered, directing the Foreign Board to enter the island of Cuba with the gospel. It found no favor; even the officials of the Board urged that they be not trammeled by positive directions, such as the paper provided for. The resolution was laid upon the table, with scarcely an opposing voice. The resolution not appearing in the journal, when that was read on the following morning, a point was made by the mover of it, that it should be recorded together with the disposition of it. The secretary had omitted it from the record, according to established precedent, since it had failed to become an action of the body. The President, nevertheless, directed that it should be entered, but upon searching for the paper, it could not be found, and so was never incorporated in the records of the Convention. The matter was dismissed, probably without a thought, save that the movement was but the visionary dream of some impulsive brother, who was perhaps acting without knowledge. But Alberto J. Diaz was even then in New York coming into the light of the gospel of Christ, and cherishing his first yearnings for the evangelization of his brethren according to the flesh.

When in 1885 the Florida State Convention, sitting in Jacksonville, felt drawn towards Cuba, the way seemed to be blocked up, on account of the burdens then upon our Foreign Board. So great were the demands from the other fields of the Convention that prudent brethren did not see their way clear to take up the work, at least until after the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention, then nearly half a year in the future. But the exigency was a pressing one. Diaz had then appeared, full of enthusiasm, but practically untried. No one could prognosticate the power of the man or his adaptedness to the work. Indeed, more was hoped for from the devoted and zealous sister, who it was thought might have access to the women of Cuba and thus reach them and their children, with the purity of the gospel. A tentative proposition from our Home Board, to sustain its own missionaries in Florida, if these should devote a part of their meagre salaries to Cuban work, proved to be the means by which the island was entered, and so Diaz was set apart as an American minister under the Home Board, at Key West in the following month of January, 1886.

The man who had left Cuba upon a log of wood, escaping from the soldiery because of his connection with one of the futile revolutions against the Spanish power, and who, like his prototype, the Apostle, had thus spent on his frail support, "a night and a day upon the deep," now returned as a minister of Jesus Christ, with an open Bible and a delivering gospel. The ear of the people was turned to him as it would not have turned towards an imported missionary, as was evidently intended by the Greenville resolutions. There had been missionaries sent out by other denominations, but all these had failed. Good men, of American birth, representing at least three denominations of evangelical christians had done no more than reach a few English speaking people, and one had only gathered around him a few English and American folk. But God now raised up a native,—a man of the people,—familiar with their traditions, acquainted with the customs and prejudices, and perfect in their liquid and emotional tongue. The sweetest encouragement met him as his own mother became the first fruits of his work. God had settled the question of a Cuban mission, and we could but marvel at the wisdom and power of it.

The story of the wonderful success of this work is part of current history, and is as "familiar as household words." The reception of Diaz among his own kindred was a marvel of grace. One after another his own family rose from the foot of the Cross glowing with a new life, and gathering into a nucleus around which crystallized a band of believers. The little church begun in his own house became a testifying church from the beginning; out of the fulness of new-cleansed hearts, the first disciples of Cuba "went everywhere, preaching the word." The rapid growth of interest and inquiry attracted the attention of the antagonistic powers of the Romish hierarchy. But when, humanly speaking, the infant interest might have been strangled in its cradle, God interposed his hand again.

A pestilence sprang with venomous grip upon the city of Havana. It was a new and unaccustomed trial to a people who had become familiar with the tropic fevers and their remedies; it was a loathsome disease from which men fled with blanched faces. God had made Diaz a skilled physician as well as an Apostle of the truth. With his band of baptised believers he thrust himself into the breach, ministering with skillful treatment and tender nursing. Ten per cent. of the whole number fell at their post of nursing. It was a trial of faith, but a trial which proved victorious. Out of that epidemic of small-pox, the little Baptist church emerged with the grateful appreciation of a stricken population.

From this circumstance sprang the famous contest about the cemetery,—a project on the part of the Romish officials which invited a succession of antagonisms, any one of which would have proven successful had they not been met with a patience and tact which can only be explained by the fact that God was directing everything with his own hand. The christian Baptists were confronted with the alternative of being buried like dogs with paupers and outcasts, or of renouncing their simple faith in the Lord Jesus in the trying hour of death. A Protestant cemetery became a necessity. Friends were marvellously raised up at an important juncture, by which an acquisition of ground was possible. When it was located, the avenues to it were blocked up, and roads that had been high ways for a century were obliterated; excommunication was pronounced upon those who had aught to do with the interment of their friends within it; appeals were made to the secular authorities and to the parent courts at Madrid as against the enterprise. But at every turn the opposers were worsted; the cemetery has become the sacred burial spot of the poor of Havana, and the wealthier who chafe under the galling yoke of Rome are adopting it as their Machpelah. From the beginning God has so prospered it that it has never been a charge upon the brethren of the island, or upon the sustaining Board in America. It has been a source of revenue rather than a charge.—Lansing Burrows, D. D.

Letter from Brazil.

Dear Miss Armstrong:—I must write you something of the progress of our work in Brazil, and the state of affairs at the close of this our most prosperous year. It is with a soul full of thankfulness to God that I look over the past months of '91 with their busy days and golden sheaves,—for truly the Lord has given us much fruit, and the cause is growing as never before.

I alone have baptized nearly fifty rejoicing believers since the beginning of the year, and the brethren in North Brazil (Bahia) and in Minas have also witnessed many conversions and baptisms.

Here in Rio Janeiro Mission we have organized three new churches, now having five under our supervision.

In Rio Janeiro city, which numbers not far from 600,000 souls, we have kept steadily at work and have been preaching at half a dozen different points, where the attendance has been most cheering, and where many persons have for the first time listened to the way of salvation. Our native brethren for the most part have been very zealous, self-sacrificing and faithful. A number of sinners have been converted and added to the church by baptism. Our membership is fifty six, ten members having been dismissed by letter to form the Campos church, and two having been excluded.

The present state of the church is really very good, and nothing apparently hinders much greater progress, except the lack of a building and more workers. We are still compelled to invite people to a little noisy rented hall over a grocery store, and hidden away, to hear the gospel, while other denominations have spacious and comfortable quarters for their churches in nice buildings of their own, and Rome has her lofty steeples and elegant shrines in all parts of the city. What a pity it is that our cause is thus so sorely hindered, when thousands are perishing around us, many of whom we might win to Christ if we had a suitable and decent building for our church home. We are not at all discouraged, for notwithstanding all obstacles, God is blessing us, and much progress is being made. Our work in Rio is on a solid basis and going forward every day. Brother and sister J. J. Taylor, who came to us a few months ago, are most pleasant people, and we believe them to be greatly suited to the work in this city. They are at present hard at work on the language.

In the city of Campos, where we were just beginning in January last, the Lord has wonderfully blessed our labors and given us the pleasure of seeing many conversions and baptisms. The church which I organized in March with ten members now numbers forty-one, and others are awaiting baptism. An open door is before us in that city and region. We greatly need a man for that post this coming year.

In November I visited San Paulo State and hunted up some German-Russian Baptists, who over a year ago, came from Russia. They were overjoyed to see some one of their faith. Bro. J. J. Taylor and Bro. Ginsburg (a young Russian Jew recently baptized at Bahia) visited them last month and organized them into two churches.

We now have ten churches in Brazil, and over four hundred members. What has God wrought in ten years.

In Bahia, while the force has been increased by Brother and Sister Entzminger and Bro. Ginsburg, we are now called upon to lose Brother and Sister Taylor, at least temporarily, they having been called home by Sister Taylor's state of health. In Minas, Bros. Soper and Downing are quite busy and looking out to new fields. We look forward to this new year with bright hopes for great blessings. Yours very truly,

W. B. BAGBY.

DR. BIGGER'S HUCKLEBERRY CORDIAL cures all bowel and stomach troubles and children teething. Sold by all dealers.

Missions.

Discussion of methods seems to be in order.

If a tree is to be known by its fruits, we are not entitled to the name we bear—Missionary Baptists.

We have been "playing at missions." What is the trouble? Allow me to suggest a remedy—a plan which I adopted last fall—and my reasons for so doing.

Dr. Cobb believes that a systematic distribution of tracts is the thing. Bro. J. C. Scarborough says: "The masses of the people of North Carolina don't read." He ought to know.

This is my first pastorate. While in attendance upon the Atlantic Association in Beaufort last October, I noted that the entire yearly contribution for Foreign Missions from the field to which I was to go was only one dollar.

One hundred and sixty-three members, instead of contributing $163, gave one dollar. What is the trouble?

The people are not interested, hence they don't give. They are not interested because they are not informed. They are not informed because they will not read our denominational literature. Contributions to missions may generally be reckoned in proportion to the number of BIBLICAL RECORDERS taken in our North Carolina churches.

Why are our Associational collections taken after the speeches rather than before? What is the object of the Foreign Mission Journal, the tracts on missions, etc.? Why so much noise about the Centennial campaign? The object is to impart information and thus "reach the people."

It amuses me sometimes when I think of our "methods."

We want to reach the people, and by "the people," I mean the great mass of our Baptist people in North Carolina.

Take the average country church. It has preaching one Sunday in the month.

The Association is about to meet. Some of the brethren go around and "beg money for the Association." (Begging money from God's people for God's work!)

Brethren A, B, and C are appointed to represent the church. Brethren A, B, and C attend the Association. They have represented the church at the Association for the past ten or fifteen years. Ask Bro. Durham if he does not meet very nearly the same brethren at the Associations every year.

Brethren A, B, and C hear the reports (the same old reports brought up to date) read and discussed. Speeches are made and listened to, collections taken, pledges made for next year, and all go home happy. These brethren are "reached"—and have been for five, ten or twenty years. How about the great bulk of the membership that remained at home? Are they reached? The minutes are published for them. But they were not at the Association—their names are not in the minutes, and if the minutes are read at all, it is like water poured on a duck's back.

The delegates usually make no report. And so the matter rests until next year with the great bulk of the members perfectly indifferent. Year after year the story is repeated. The "big addresses" are almost always delivered before Conventions and our city churches, leaving untouched the very places that most need such assistance. "Unselfish benevolence bids us care most for those least cared for by others and help first those most ready to perish."

How are we to reach the people? Bro. John C. Scarborough says: "We must reach them with the living voice."

"But," says a pastor, "we have to preach and we can't preach missionary sermons all the time."

My plan is the prelude. Devote from ten to fifteen minutes before the sermon on Sunday to the discussion of some missionary subject. After the discussion, take the collection, and then distribute the tracts the following week. The plan that I marked out was about this: My prelude last October was, "What Shall We Read?" It was a brief discussion of our denominational literature, the RECORDER, Foreign Mission Journal, Our Home Field, etc. Then followed one prelude devoted to each of our Boards. Then our mission fields are to be taken up, then our progress in mission work with news from the field, and now and then a biographical sketch of our missionaries. There is no possibility of using up the material. Keep abreast of the progress of missions and then keep your people with you.

They will more readily subscribe to and read the Foreign Mission Journal, Our Home Field, etc., when they become interested in China, Brazil, Italy, Mexico, Africa, Japan, Cuba and our Orphanage.

Who could read unmoved the letters from our frontier missionaries? If your people will not read, then tell them about it.

Let us begin a Centennial of Missions and begin at home—a campaign that shall continue until we may with pride call ourselves Missionary Baptists.

B. W. SPILMAN.

Smyrna, April 7, 1892.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

There is no wealth but life; life with its power of love, of joy, of admiration. That country is the richest which nourishes the greatest number of noble and happy beings! That man is richest who, having perfected the functions of his own life to the utmost, has, also, the widest helpful influence, both personal and by means of his possessions, over the lives of others.—John Ruskin.

SKINS ON FIRE

With agonizing Eczemas and other Itching, Burning, Bleeding, Scaly, Blotchy, and Pimply Skin and Scalp Diseases are instantly relieved and speedily cured by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure,

CUTICURA

SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies. This is strong language, but every word is true, as proven by thousands of grateful testimonials. CUTICURA REMEDIES are, beyond all doubt, the greatest Skin Cures, Blood Purifiers, and Humor Remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, chapped, and oily skin cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

WEAK, PAINFUL KIDNEYS,

With their weary, dull, aching, lifeless, all-gone sensation, relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing strengthening plaster. 25 cents.

45 sold in '88
2,288 sold in '89
6,268 sold in '90
20,049 sold in '91
60,000 will be sold in '92

A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. ☞ These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we "take the country."

GALVANIZED

Though sold, we were unable to make all of the 20,049 Aermotors in '91. Orders often waited 6 weeks to be filled, but now we have vastly increased our plant and are prepared promptly to plant our increase in every habitable portion of the globe.

Are you curious to know how the Aermotor Co. in the 6th year of its existence, came to make many times as many windmills as all other makers combined? How we came to originate the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Tilting Tower?

1st. We commenced in a field in which there had been no improvement for 15 years, and in which there seemed no talent or ambition and none has yet been shown except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

2d. Before commencing the manufacture, exhaustive scientific investigation and experiments were made by a skilled mechanical engineer, in which over 4,000 experiments in tests were made on 61 different forms of wheels, propelled by artificial and therefore uniform wind, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, number, curvature and amount of sail surface, the reduction of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mill, and many other more abstruse, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheel is could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrates it has been done.

3d. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., which permits each its mode or factory of purchase both ways, and to the enormous out put of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For 92 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made an exhaustive revision of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower—or if you want the tower you don't have to climb (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still that costs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor), or if you want a Geared Aermotor to chop, grind, saw wood, pump water, turn grindstone and do your work, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated printed matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 12 Main St., San Francisco.

The Aermotor Pneumatic Water Supply System enables you to supply every part of your house with water without an Elevated Tank.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c

D. L. Gore,

120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

Edwards & Broughton,

Printers & Binders,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Having one of the largest and best equipped establishments of the kind in the South, with latest material and machinery, we are prepared for all kinds of Printing and Binding and

Blank-book Manufacturing

Book-keepers will find our Ledgers, Day books, Cash-books, &c., very superior in make and FLAT OPENING.

$2.00

will pay for our Great Hand-Book for magistrates,

The N. C. Manual of Law Forms,

latest revision in existence.

Edwards & Broughton,

RALEIGH, N. C.

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE

Easter Music. All kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. F. W. Root's New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The clearest and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.50 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price $1.25. King Rudeness, by Jas. R. Murray, a charming new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection in the market, contains the latest and best songs, 128 pages. Price 50 cents. Anthems Jewels, by H. P. Danks. Anthems for opening and closing of services, offertory, etc., etc., 64 pages. Price 25 cents. Collections of Latest and Best Vocal and Instrumental Music. Complete lists of contents furnished on applications.

THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains anthems and voluntaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter. Published monthly. Price 25 cents a single copy, $1.50 a year. Special terms to clubs.

The JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.

East & 13th Streets. | The John Church Co. 5th Ave. & 16th St., New York.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administrator, with will annexed, of the estate of Bryant [illegible] deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to me at Rosinburg, N. C., on or before the 1st day of [illegible], 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.

A. J. STALLINGS.

Caldwell County Sunday-school Association.

This body met in its first session with Lower Creek church, Friday before the fourth Sunday in March. In the absence of Bro. C. M. Murchison, the introductory sermon was preached by Rev. C. E. Gower of Lincolnton from "Prove all things." The sermon was good and timely. The weather was inclement, but a goodly number of the churches and Sunday-schools in the Caldwell County Association were represented.

The organization was effected by electing Bro. H. M. Croom, President, and Jos. Powell, Jr., Secretary, with Bro. J. L. Beach, Vice-President.

The discussions were interesting and instructive, and we hope new zeal and life were added to the Sunday-school work in this section.

Bro. Jos. Powell was appointed to devote some time to visitation among the weak churches and destitute places in the bounds of this Association, and try to create a greater interest in the S. S. work. Brother Powell is a good S. S. worker, having superintended an evergreen Sunday-school in Lower Creek church for nearly eight years consecutively.

The Association advised all the churches and Sunday schools to use the literature of the Southern Baptist Convention, and to order all their supplies through our Supply Store at Raleigh.

The next session will convene with Globe church.

Among the visitors were Bro. Gower of Lincolnton, Bro. Robinson of Charlotte, and Bro. Pardue of Brushy Mountain Association.

On Sunday good sermons were preached by brethren Gower and Croom, and a collection taken to aid the objects of the Baptist State S. S. Convention.

Bro Croom was elected a delegate to the State S. S. Convention in Winston.

Monday night after fourth Sunday Bro. Gower preached a good sermon to an appreciative audience in the Baptist church in Lenoir and endeared himself to us all. He is expected to spend some days with us in Lenoir last of this month.

I. W. THOMAS.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Corinth ch, W Chowan, $11.10; Dr Thos Hume, Chapel Hill, pledge, 11.50; Wilkesboro ch, Brushy Mtn, 3.37; Mt Airy ch, Pilot Mtn, 5.01. Total, 30.98. Previously reported, 1,462.25. Total this year, 1,493.23.

Foreign Missions—Hector's Creek ch, Little River, $1.40; Friendship ch, ditto, 3.53; Piny Grove ch, ditto, 1.67; Mt Tabor ch, ditto, 61c; Lillington ch, ditto, 50c; Spring Branch ch, South River, 2.75; W M S, Rocky Mount ch, Tar River, 1.08; Bear Creek ch, Yadkin, 1.25; Meadow Branch ch, Union, 5.00; Wake Forest Mis Society, 9.05; Pollocksville ch, Atlantic, 5.00; Piny Grove ch, ditto, 5.00; Chapel Hill ch, Mt Zion, 21.66; B F Turner, Grover, N C, 25.00; North Catawba ch, Catawba, 17.00; W M S, Buckhorn ch, W Chowan, 11.33; Cub Creek ch, Brushy Mtn, 4.93; Damascus ch, South Yadkin, 3.35; Mt Zion ch, Sandy Creek, 4.80; W M S, Mt Olive ch, Eastern, 2.00; Sunbeams, ditto, ditto, 1.08; W M S, Pine Forest ch, W Chowan, 6.00; W M S, Middle Swamp ch, Chowan (Miss Knight), 20.00; Pleasant Plains ch, Cape Fear, 2.40; Oakdale ch, ditto, 71c; S S, ditto, ditto, 67c; Fishing Creek ch, Tar River, 7.06; Ringwood ch, ditto, 3.65; Harris' Chapel ch, ditto, 10.00; Rev E F Jones, Three Forks, 25.00; W M S, First ch, Durham, Mt Zion (N China), 5.00; First ch, Durham, Mt Zion, 7.46; Scotland Neck ch, Tar River, 15.00; Cedar Fork ch, Mt Zion, 3.07. Total, 283.18. Previously reported, 2,511.81. Total this year, 2,744.99.

Home Missions—Spring Branch ch, South River, $2.27; Bethesda ch, Mt Zion, 5.70; Robeson Grove ch, ditto, 2.25; Corinth ch, West Chowan (Diaz), 5.98; Meadow Branch ch, Union, 4.70; Farmington ch, South Yadkin, 5.00; Piny Grove ch, Atlantic, 1.80; Trenton ch, ditto, 50c; Shiloh ch, Union, 75c; Mt Zion ch, Sandy Creek, 3.10; W M S, Mt Olive ch, Eastern, 1.00; Pine Forest ch, West Chowan, 2.50; Oakdale ch, Cape Fear, 72c; Albemarle ch, Stanly, 1.65; S S, Brooklyn ch, Eastern, 5.75; New Bethel ch, Flat River, 2.76; Scotland Neck ch, Tar River, 15.00; Glen Alpine ch, Catawba River, 2.00. Total, 63.43. Previously reported, 850.23. Total this year, 913.66.

Havana House—La Grange ch, Atlantic, $3.09; Union ch, ditto, 1.89; Seven Springs ch, ditto, 85c; S S, Island Creek ch, Flat River, 3.25. Total, 9.01. Previously reported, 3,157.17. Total to date, 3,166.18.

Education—Sandy Spring church, Yadkin, $5.00 Previously reported, 728.25. Total this year, 733.25.

Orphanage—Lillington church, Little River, $2.21; S S, Farmington ch, South Yadkin, 1.00; Mt Zion ch, Sandy Creek, 2.71. Total, 5.92. Previously reported, 463.90. Total this year, 469.82.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Louisburg church, Tar River, $1.15.

Sunday-schools—S S, Hephzibah ch, Raleigh, 60c; S S, Wendal ch, ditto, 37c; S S, Gum Spring, Anson, 22c; S S, Warrenton ch, Tar River, 3.20; S S, Pollocksville ch, Atlantic, 1.40; S S, Warren Plains ch, Tar River, 2.48; Philadelphia ch, ditto, 1.25; S S, French's Creek ch, Cape Fear, 2.00; S S, Woodburn, N C, 1.10; S S, Cool Spring ch, Chowan, 2.20; S S, High Point ch, Liberty, 2.00; S S, Pleasant Grove ch, Raleigh, 65c; S S, Independence Hill ch, Meck and Cab, 60c; S S, Bethel ch, Cape Fear, 1.00; S S, Morrisville ch, Raleigh, 2.00; S S, Tryon St, ch, Charlotte, Meck and Cab, 4.00; S S, Spring Hill ch, Richmond, 85c; S S, New Bethel ch, Flat River, 2.03; S S, First ch, Raleigh, Central, 15.00; S S, First ch, Durham, Mt Zion, 3.06; S S, Perry's Chapel ch, Central 1.25; S S, Washington St church, Greensboro ch, Beula's, 3.50; S S, Wake Forest ch, Central 1.25. Total, 67.99.

Students' Aid Fund, Louisville—Spring ch, South River, $1.00; W M S, First ch, Durham, Mt Zion, 25.00. Total, 26.00.

Foreign Missions—Oak Grove ch, Central, [illegible]

[illegible] Red Bank ch, Pilot Mtn, [illegible] Missions, 30c; should be $8.65.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.

April 16, 1892.

Who rules in this town?
Depends on the question up.
The lamp-chimney question—what sort do you break?
Whatever sort your dealer deals in.
How, do you think, he selects his chimneys?
He buys those that cost him least; he can get the regular price for them; and the faster they break the more he sells. That's how he reasons.
Tell him you want Macbeth's "pearl top" or "pearl glass," tough glass, transparent, clear, not foggy, fine, of right shape and uniform. Tell him you'll pay him a nickel more a piece, and that will cover his extra costs twice over. Tell him you don't propose to break any more. Try your hand at ruling.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACBETH & Co.

Objectionable Matter in Religious Newspapers.

It was once asked, "What shall be done for the man whom the king delighteth to honor?" Now I write to inquire, What shall be done with the religious newspaper that gives notoriety to such blots on American morals and American social order as a notorious prize-fighter and his savage boasts of physical manhood.

I know a paper, a professed Baptist paper, the last issue of which contains as ample an advertisement of a pompous bet to fight the world as one could have asked, and said notice is given as an item of news.

It must be very gratifying to the editor, as he contemplates this wonderful performance, seeing that he has furnished so many homes with this item of necessary (?) information.

Is there not already too great a greed for such stuff, and cannot the religious press leave to the secular papers the work of detailing the crimes of the day (of which most of them are full ad nauseum) and fill their columns with something that is calculated to excite and cultivate the better feelings of humanity?

To my mind the Baptist paper in the South that can dare to give place to such news items, or to articles saturated with Unitarianism and the no-hell doctrine, is standing on the verge of a precipice, and the plunge is near. JOHN AMMONS

George Wilkes, known as the "king of forgers" died in Bellvue hospital, New York, on the 14th with a fractured skull. Wilkes was found unconscious on the street and it is not known how he was injured.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion & Debility.

Board of Missions and Sunday-schools.

There will be a called meeting of the Board of Missions and Sunday-schools in the Mission Rooms, Thursday, April 21st, at eight o'clock p. m. J. C. SCARBOROUGH, Pres.
C. DURHAM, Sec.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28-30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28-30.
Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25-27.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5-7.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27-29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27-29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27-29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27-29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27-29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27-29.
West Chowan—Anlander ch., April 13.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

For Boils, Pimples
carbuncles,
scrofulous sores,
eczema, and all other blood diseases, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla
It will relieve and cure dyspepsia, nervous debility, and that tired feeling.
Has Cured Others
will cure you.

500
NEW SUNDAY SCHOOLS
For 1892

Through the liberality of a few generous persons the American Baptist Publication Society is enabled to help in the organization of new Sunday-schools, white or colored.

TEN DOLLARS

will be given in books or periodicals to each of the first 500 needy Sunday-schools founded between May and December, 1892.

CONDITIONS.

1. The School must be strictly a new school, organized within the limit of time above named.
2. It must be a Baptist School.
3. It must be unable to purchase all its supplies.
4. It must have promise of permanent existence.
5. It must not have received another grant from this Society.

Application should be made to Dr. C. C. Bitting, Missionary Secretary, 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

R. GRIFFITH, D. D, Secretary.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 13, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY,
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

The Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., and return at rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale May 3d to 6th inclusive, good returning until May 17th, 1892.

Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville Railroad to furnish any extra sleepers or coaches necessary for the accommodation of delegates and others who will attend the Convention. The delegates from Eastern and Middle Carolina will leave May 4th.

Leave Goldsboro, via R. & D. R. R., at 12:15 p. m.; Raleigh, 6:25 p. m.; Durham, 7:32 p. m.; Greensboro, 10:25 p. m.; arrive at Atlanta May 5th, at 12:20 p. m. This will give delegates ample time to get located and refreshed for the opening of the Convention, Friday morning, May 6th. Should they leave on next train following they would arrive at Atlanta at 11:45 p. m. Sleeping car fare from Greensboro to Atlanta will be $2.50 for double berth. Two persons can occupy one berth without any extra charge. Those who do not take sleeper will have no change of cars between Greensboro and Atlanta, as the entire train runs through without change. All who expect to attend the Convention will please write the undersigned, stating at what place they will join the delegation, and how much space they will want in sleeper, in order that ample accommodations may be provided. The rate will be one lowest first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 3d to 6th inclusive.

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.85; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 12.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

PRICES OF BOARD.

For such delegates as prefer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $2.00 to 3.00; Markham House, 2.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.00; Grant House, 1.25; board at first class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the Convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with this request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos. W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

ANNUAL STATEMENT
Showing the Condition of the Citizens Insurance Company.

ASSETS. DECEMBER 31, 1891.

Value of real estate and ground rents owned by the Company, (less the amount of encumbrances thereon,)	$ 130,700.00
Loans on bond and mortgage (duly recorded and being first liens on the fee-simple,)	76,000.00
Account of stocks and bonds of the United States, and of this and other States, also all other stocks and bonds absolutely owned by the Company	460,900.00
Stocks, bonds and all other securities (except mortgage,) hypothecated to the Company as collateral security for cash actually loaned by the Company	255,875.00
Interest due and accrued on stocks and other securities	6,428.80
Cash in Company's principal office and belonging to the Company, deposited in bank	50,760.44
Cash in hands of Agents, and in transitu	76,196.86
Premiums or assessments unpaid	23,675.07
All other assets, detailed in statement	1,205.00
Total Assets	$ 1,081,041 17

LIABILITIES.

Losses unpaid, including those resisted	$ 51,624.92
Reserve, as required by law	487,510.05
All other claims	13,755.92
Total Liabilities	$ 552,891.59
Capital stock paid up	300,000.00
Total Income	676,622.88
Total Expenditures	746,442.82

NORTH CAROLINA BUSINESS IN 1891.

Risks written	293,354.00
Premiums received	4,841.06
Losses paid on risks taken	246 94
Losses incurred	246.94

President, E. A. WALTON.
Vice-President, G. H. McLEAN.
Secretary, F. M. PARKER.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE SECRETARY OF STATE,
INSURANCE DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH, N. C., December 31, 1891.

In compliance with Section 9 of "An Act to Consolidate the Insurance Laws of North Carolina," I certify that the above is a true extract from the sworn statement of the Citizens Insurance Company on December 31st, 1891, now on file in this Department.

OCTAVIUS COKE, Secretary of State.

ANNUAL STATEMENT
Showing the condition of the U. S. Branch of the Commercial Union Assurance Company.

ASSETS. DECEMBER 31, 1891.

Value of real estate and ground rents owned by the Company, (less the amount of encumbrances thereon,)	$ 865,497.01
Account of stocks and bonds of the United States, and of this and other States, also all other stocks and bonds absolutely owned by the Company	1,570,880.00
Interest due and accrued on stocks and other securities	24,038 18
Cash in Company's principal office and belonging to the Company, deposited in bank	617,115.41
Cash in hands of Agents, and in transitu	381,381.62
Premiums or assessments unpaid	91,945.31
Premium or assessment loans and notes	26,427.15
All other assets, detailed in statement	16,674.22
Total Assets	$ 3,565,958.90

LIABILITIES.

Losses unpaid, including those resisted	$ 318,547 39
Reserve, as required by law	2,080,789.04
All other claims	79,863.99
Total Liabilities	$ 2,479,200 23
Total income	2,994,975.56
Total expenditures	2,761,827.89

NORTH CAROLINA BUSINESS IN 1891.

Risks written	$ 1,470,303.00
Premiums received	10,187.14
Losses paid on risks taken	6,997.26
Losses incurred	6,965.94

Manager, CHARLES SEWALL.

General Agent, W. W SMITH, Raleigh, N. C.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
OFFICE OF SECRETARY OF STATE,
INSURANCE DEPARTMENT,
RALEIGH, N. C., December 31, 1891.

In compliance with Sec. 9 of 'An Act to consolidate the Insurance Laws of North Carolina," I certify that the above is a true extract from the sworn statement of the United States Branch of the Commercial Union Assurance Company on December 31st, 1891, now on file in this department.

OCTAVIUS COKE, Secretary of State.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.

Their Goods Just Simply EXCELLED. CANNOT BE

THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.

Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to

CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.

All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.

MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.

Biblical Museum, 3 Vols., cloth, $3 per set. Song book—"The Choice,"—1,000 copies under order. Music by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts. This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch, —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts.; paper, 15 cts.
Address,
REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

A Profit to the Denomination.

The Book Department of the American Baptist Publication Society is not a stock company, dividing its profits among its members, as has been sometimes said, but it is the property of the denomination. It is in such shape as to be self-supporting. It pays the salaries not only of its own officers but also the salaries of the officers and assistants of the Bible and Missionary Departments out of its own profits, and the balance is used in enlarging its great work. As its books and periodicals are bought, the colportage work grows.

From Baltimore, Md.

[We reprint the following article, because in the type-setting last week the pages got mismatched and destroyed the sense, and the error escaped detection. We do the next best thing—print the entire article, and beg Bro. Collier's pardon for the mistake.]

Bro. Bailey:—I preached my first anniversary sermon at Broadway Baptist church on yesterday. Our church clerk reported seventy-nine additions during the year and three awaiting baptism. We have had some one to baptize nearly every Sabbath this year—among the number many Methodists and some Catholics.

Our Treasurer (who is from North Carolina, as is also his wife, and they subscribe to the RECORDER) reported that the church had raised twice as much money during the year as it did the year before (1890.)

Our congregation has increased at least fifty per cent., prayer-meetings are well attended, and the Sabbath-school is in a prosperous condition.

Broadway Sunday-school has the honor of being the first organized in the State of Maryland and the third in the United States, as we are informed by the "History of Maryland Baptists." "The Lord hath done great things for us, whereof we are glad;" and we begin our second year with great encouragement. With a united, harmonious, self-sacrificing band of brethren and sisters to aid us, we hope to accomplish more for the Master during this year.

I have never met with a more social, high-toned set of christian ministers than the Baptist pastors of Baltimore, who meet every Monday morning at "The Baptist Headquarters." They have certainly been very helpful to me both by advice and unexpected acts of kindness.

In the list of the great and good of this world—"great in their goodness and good in their greatness"—there will be, and ought to be, found the names of Drs. Williams, Ellis, Rowland and Wilson, the last of whom is said to be worth half million of dollars, which he uses for the glory of God and to benefit suffering humanity: his big-heartedness and liberality are known all over Baltimore. Often his carriage may be seen leaving the homes of the poor, to whom he has carried bread and blessing. Is this not what the Bible means when it says, "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction"? Then Dr. Wilson obeys the injunction, and has enshrined himself in the affections of needy humanity.

That beloved disciple of Christ, not John, but James F. Love of Rocky Mount, N. C., attended our conference on yesterday. He is aiding Dr. Williams at the First church, and the church and congregation are pleased with him and his sermons. He will remain at least this week and preach for the church, possibly longer, as the First has been without an assistant pastor several months, and the Doctor is on the lookout for one to aid him in his arduous duties.

R. B. COLLIER.

Baltimore, April 4, 1892.

From Elizabeth City.

Dear Recorder:—To-day I began my fourth year's work by taking a collection of $102.54 for missions. This is the largest ever taken at one time for this object in our church, or any other in Eastern North Carolina I believe. We also protract our services this week with Bro. H. A. Bagby of Suffolk, Va., to help.

During the three years I have been here, I delivered 572 sermons and addresses, attended 160 prayer-meetings, 314 miscellaneous meetings, made 900 visits, travelled 6,732 miles, married 28 couples, buried 88 people, baptized 37, received by letter 40, restored 4, making 81 additions to the church. One colony has been sent off to form another church. We have raised over $11,000. I have been on the field every Sunday except seven, and then was off on religious engagements or sick. I have preached every Sunday except three: two of these I was sick, and one at the Convention.

We hope to make this year the best in all our history.

May the Lord bless you.

CHAS. A. G. THOMAS.

Elizabeth City, April 10, 1892.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

Gov. Holt offers a reward of $300 for the capture of the unknown assassin of J. D. Miller of Wilkes county.

Gov. Holt offers a reward of $200 for the apprehension of Henry P. Hodges, who killed Banner Jolly in Surry county.

Rev. Dr. Payne, of Concord, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon before the young ladies of Peace Institute, in the 1st Presbyterian church May 29th.

The "Easter" collections were as follows: $360 in Christ's, and $210 in Good Shepherd Episcopal churches, and $155 at the children's service in Edenton St. M. E. church.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of St. Mary's School, will take place from June 4th to 9th, 1892. On Sunday, June 5th, Rev. J. B. Cheshire, Jr., D. D., will address the Alumnæ.

Raleigh is to have a cheap system of electric lighting, which will be specially designed for use in private houses.

Congressman B. H. Bunn is to deliver the Memorial Day address here May 10th. His subject will be the "Life and Military Services of Brig. Gen. William MacRae."

It is stated that the Seaboard Air-Line will put on through and fast trains about May 15th. This news will be gratifying to people all along the line from Portsmouth to Atlanta.

Mr. James L. Fowle of Washington, N. C., brother of the late Gov. D. G. Fowle, has presented to the State a handsome oil portrait of Gov. Fowle. The portrait has been placed in the Executive Mansion.

The Republican State Convention was held in this city last week. Mr. John B. Eaves was re-elected chairman of the State Executive Committee. Four delegates were elected to attend the National Convention at Minneapolis. Their names are H. P. Cheatham, E. A. White, J. C. Pritchard and Jno. C. Dancy.

State News.

Winston people are working for a $500,000 cotton mill.

The horse-thief who murdered Deputy Marshal Miller, in Wilkes county, has not been captured.

It is announced that night trains are to be put back on the Western North Carolina Railroad on or before May 10th.

The annual meeting of the Association of College Professors of North Carolina will be held in Greensboro, Friday, April 22d.

A cabinet making establishment and the residence of G. C. Gray in Kinston were burned on the 15th. Loss about $3,000.

The second annual session of the Western North Carolina Sunday-school Convention will be held in Salisbury commencing May 5th, 1892.

Rev. W. P. Fife, and Rev. Geo. C. Needham, propose to establish at some point in this State, a fixed Bible Institute which will be for the Southern States.

Frost did great damage to truck in this State on the 10th and 11th inst. The New Berne Journal states that the frost injured the truck in that section at least $100,000.

Miss Anna Perry, a young lady of Vance county, accidentally fell in a thirty-feet well recently, but climbed out without assistance, receiving stratches and bruises and no serious injury.

Mr. Walter S. Little, a prominent citizen of Anson county, committed suicide by shooting himself with a pistol at his home in Ansonville last Thursday morning. He leaves an estate of about $10,000.

Mr. Joseph Hines, living with his brother, Mr. Geo. W. Hines, died in Franklin county, on April 7th, 1892, aged eighty years. He was never married. Mr. Jasper York of the same county died on April 4th, aged forty-six years. Both were esteemed citizens.

It is said that Anderson & Barr, the contractors for the proposed light-house on the outer Damond Shoals, off Cape Hatteras, lost something over $100,000 in their unsuccesaful attempt to sink a foundation caisson in the treacherous sands of the shoals.

A special to the State Chronicle says: "For the week ending April 9, Henderson shipped fifty-nine car loads of tobacco, and, with the exception of two cars, it was entirely to manufacturers, and not to commission merchants on consignment."

Dr. J. J. Rone, of Pineville, lost his house, furniture and clothing by fire, at 1:30 o'clock on the morning of the 15th. During the progress of the fire, it was feared the stables would catch, so Dr. Rone's two fine horses were turned out. They became frightened and ran rapidly to the railway track. They reached the track just in time to be struck by a train, and both were killed. The entire loss amounted to $3,000.

The Shelby Aurora contains an account of a terrible tragedy which occurred near Ttom in Rutherford county, on Sunday, April 10th. On Sunday morning, Charles Atkins had a quarrel with his nineteen-year old son Weldon, which terminated in the father driving his son away from home. That afternoon the son returned, and the difficulty was renewed. The father chased the son around the house several times. Young Atkins succeeded in getting twelve or fifteen feet distant, when he picked up a stone and threw it at his father, striking him on the head and fracturing his skull. His death occurred the following night. The father was forty-two years old, and leaves a widow and seven children. The son made his escape.

General News.

An epidemic of black small-pox is raging in Poland.

The South Dakota reservation was opened to settlers on the 15th.

Cholera is spreading at an alarming rate in Punjaub, British India.

The government bank note mill at Dalton, Mass., was burned on the 15th inst.

Six men lost their lives in the Hill Farm Mine, near Dunbar, Pa., on the 12th.

A severe hail-storm did great damage in certain sections of South Carolina last week.

Gen. Thomas W. Sweeny, a veteran of the U. S. Army, died at his residence in Astoria, L. I., on the 10th inst.

Eleven cases of small-pox were discovered in an overcrowded tenement house in New York City on the 13th inst.

The London Times' Cairo dispach says Egypt has yielded to Turkey all the military posts on the Arabian shore of the Red Sea.

During a recent fire at Tokio, Japan, six thousand houses were destroyed, and between fifty and a hundred persons lost their lives.

The Austrian government has been petitioned to prohibit the wearing of long trains by ladies on the streets. It is claimed that the trains, sweeping through the dirt, spread infectious diseases.

Christman Hall, one of the buildings of Clark University at Atlanta, was burned on the night of the 14th. Estimated loss fifty thousand dollars, partially, if not wholly, covered by insurance.

Superintendent Murray was retired by the New York police board on the 12th inst., on a pension of $3,000 a year. Inspector Byrnes has been made superintendent in his place. Henry V. Steers succeeds Byrnes.

The Inter-State National Bank in New York City closed its doors on the 15th. The depositors were paid 90 per cent. of the entire deposit, and a dividend of fifty per cent. or more will be paid to stockholders.

Recent floods have caused great loss of life and property along the rivers in Alabama and Mississippi. Thousands of people are homeless. Horses mules, cattle, sheep, poultry, &c., by the thousand have been lost.

A sailboat containing the instructor and ten boys of the Boston Farm School at Thompson's Island, Mass., was struck by a squall and capsized in Boston Harbor while returning from City Point on the 10th inst., and the instructor and eight boys were drowned.

Many rise in the morning with a headache and no inclination for breakfast. This is due to torpidity of the liver and a deranged condition of the stomach. To restore healthy action to these organs, nothing is so efficacious as an occasional dose of Ayer's Pills.

It is said that there are 1,000 millionaires in New York.

For Malaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

DIED.

UPTON—At his residence in Camden co., April 11th, 1892, John Upton, aged fifty-two years and five months. He was a good man, and will be greatly missed, not only in his family but in the community and in the church and Sunday-school. His seat will be vacant.

R. R. OVERBY.

GRADY—On Saturday night, March 26th, 1892, our dear Sister Mary J. Grady departed this life. For months she had been wasting away under the terrible disease, consumption, and when death came, it was really a relief to her. In her early years she consecrated her life to the service of the Saviour, and for years she has been one of the most consecrated and useful members of the La Grange Baptist church, and often will we miss her in our work for our blessed Lord. We sorrow, though not as those who have no hope, for we are confident that our loss is her eternal gain. She leaves to mourn her loss four children, two brothers and a sister and a host of friends. May the God of all peace sustain them.

G. L. FINCH.

SHEARIN—Bro. Jacob J. Shearin died at his home near Warren Plains, March 16th, 1892. He had been a great sufferer for years, but bore all his sufferings with simple christian submission. He was stricken with paralysis just a week before his death and never spoke again, but when he was just entering the valley of shadows and loved ones gathered around to listen for a last whisper, he simply raised his hand, pointed upward, and was gone. Bro. Shearin was a faithful member of the Baptist church at Warren Plains. He leaves a wife and four children and a host of sorrowing friends, all of whom will miss him greatly, but 'tis our Father's work, and "he doeth all things well." So we bow in humble resignation and say

"Go to thy rest, and while
Thy absence we deplore,
One thought our sorrow shall beguile,
That soon with a celestial smile
We meet to part no more."

W. R. CULLOM.

ROBINSON—Charles E. Robinson died at his home in Edenton, N. C., on March 30th, 1892, in the sixty-fourth year of his age. The deceased had been a sufferer from consumption for many years, and would have yielded to the dread disease long ago but for his strong will power. In appearance and manners, he was dignified. In character, he was positive and strong. Incapable of believing anything except with his whole heart and nature, he naturally stood by and for his convictions. He was faithful to his friends, kind to the poor and needy, and true in all his relations with men. He was a friend to the Baptists, though not one. He helped them with his counsel and with his means. He seemed glad to have them about him. His home was ever open to them and many a Baptist preacher who reads this will recall, how at some time he has enjoyed the welcome and shared the hospitality of Mr. Robinson's home. He leaves a widow and sister and other relatives who grieve for him and many friends to cherish his memory.

C. S. V.

COLLINS—An aged pilgrim, "a mother in Israel," Mrs. Janette Collins, was called away from her earthly home in Wilmington, N. C., to the better land, on the twenty-second of February last. She was attached to and closely identified with Baptist interests in Wilmington from her childhood. Her mother was a Baptist, and though there was no organized church there at the time, the little band of baptised believers held prayer meetings around at private houses. Sister Collins used to tell how she always went with her mother to these assemblages. In her young womanhood she was an active member of the ladies' sewing circle, taught in the Sunday-school, and was an enthusiastic worker for the church even before her connection with it. She united with the church and was baptised in 1849, though converted some years before. Through the long years she loved the Master's cause and filled her place in God's house. She was a patron and reader of the BIBLICAL RECORDER from the days of Rev. Thos. Meredith down to the time of her death.

Sister Collins was sick but a few days. During her apparent convalescence she remarked, "I wasn't afraid to die." She suddenly grew worse and passed away. Her place on earth is vacant, and long will she be missed, but with her all is well. Her children and friends may take comfort in the thought that she is in that bright world where so many loved ones have gone before, and with that Saviour in whom she had so long trusted. The writer was her pastor for eight years, and will always cherish her memory with love and gratitude.

J. B. TAYLOR.

Lexington, Va.

DAVENPORT—On the eleventh day of January last, at his residence in Washington county, N. C., Bro. Joshua B. Davenport, in the sixty-fifth year of his age. Bro. Davenport had a severe attack of la grippe, followed by pneumonia, and lived only a few days from the beginning of his sickness.

Parhaps no death in the county in several years caused more general or sincere sorrow than his. By reason of his irreproachable character, unusually good judgment, strong common sense, and kindly heart, he was universally loved and respected, and had the confidence of his neighbors, which confidence he never betrayed, but used this great influence acquired by a long life of integrity to settle the differences and heal the breaches among his fellowmen. He was a man of strong convictions, and was not easily led off by new theories, either in politics or religion. He was an unflinching Democrat and an uncompromising Baptist. In a conversation with the writer around his fireside not many weeks before his death he stated that he had never subscribed to any organization except the Democratic party and the Baptist church.

He connected himself with the Baptist church at old White Chapel in early life, and continued a member there until the organization of the Baptist church at Creswell, when he moved his membership there, and was at the time of his death the senior deacon and treasurer of that church. Brother Davenport was married three times. His last wife, who was Miss Caroline Woodley, survives him. Sister Davenport has long been a pillar of strength in the Creswell church. He left only one child, Mrs. Richard Elliott of Washington county, the daughter of his first wife, who was also a Miss Woodley. Sister Elliott possesses many of the strong characteristics of her father.

Such a life as Bro. Davenport's was a benediction to a community.

W. V. SAVAGE.

Before the cause of consumption was known (that was only a few years ago) we did not know how Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil did so much good in consumption and in the conditions that lead to consumption.

The explanation is interesting. We send it free in a book on CAREFUL LIVING.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.

Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. 50c. & $1.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS

A. B. FORREST,

RALEIGH, N. C.,

has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that used to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a house in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,

Morphine and the Whisky Habits,

Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

IRON FENCE

SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN

CATALOGUE FREE

J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M. D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 1014 Whitehall St.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Families and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee $2.00. Send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION. Miss CARTER, Proprietor. Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY, CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A. Best Copper and Tin School and Church BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES. Prices and Terms Free. Name this paper.

READY APRIL 25th.

THE STANDARD LIFE OF SPURGEON,

BY

H. L. WAYLAND, D. D.

Cloth, 300 pages. 20 Illustrations.

PRICE, $1.25.

The author has long been a personal friend of the great Baptist preacher, and will present his life as seen in the pulpit, in the orphanage, in the college, and in his home, also including an account of his closing days and funeral

An Agent Wanted in Every Church.

AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATON SOCIETY.

PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, NEW YORK, CHICAGO, ST. LOUIS, ATLANTA.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season, '92.

DRY GOODS

— AND —

Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out-of-town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $1.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
160 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp'd.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
66 W. Fourth Street. 19 East 16th Street.
Cincinnati. New York.

The Home Circle.

Where the Master Dwelleth.

"If any man serve me, let him follow me: and where I am, there shall my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honor."—JOHN XII: 26.

Have ye looked for sheep in the desert,
For those who have lost their way?
Have ye been in the wild waste places,
Where the lost and wandering stray?
Have ye trodden the lonely highway,
The foul and the darksome street?
It may be ye'd see in the blooming
The print of my wounded feet.

Have ye folded home to your bosom
The trembling, neg'ected lamb,
And taught to the little lost one
The sound of the shepherd's name?
Have ye searched for the poor and needy,
With no clothing, no home, no bread?
The Son of man was among them—
He had nowhere to lay his head.

Have ye carried the living water
To the parched and thirsty soul?
Have ye said to the sick and wounded,
"Christ Jesus will make thee whole?"
Have ye told my fainting children
Of the strength of the father's hand?
Have ye guided the tottering footsteps
To the shore of the golden land?

Have ye stood by the sad and weary,
To smooth the pillow of death,
To comfort the sorrow-stricken
And strengthen the feeble faith?
And have ye felt when the glory
Has streamed through the open door
And flitted across the shadows
That I had been there before?

Have ye wept with the broken-hearted
In their agony of woe?
You might hear me whispering beside you,
'Tis the pathway I often go.
My brethren, my friends, my disciples,
Can you dare to follow me?
Then, wherever the Master dwelleth
There shall the servant be.

—Selected.

A True Story.

In the year 1871 the steamship Swallow left the Cape of Good Hope, bound for England. Among the passengers were a child of two years old and a nurse. The lady had also brought with her a huge, handsome Newfoundland dog.

The voyage had lasted about six days. No land was visible, and the island of St. Helena would be the nearest point. The day was beautiful, with a soft breeze blowing, and the sun shining down brightly on the sparkling waters. A large and gay company of passengers were assembled on the deck; merry groups of young men and girls had clustered together; now and then a laugh rang out, or some one sang a gay little snatch of song; when suddenly the mirth of all was silenced by the loud and piercing scream of a woman.

A nurse who had been holding a child in her arms at the side of the vessel had lost her hold of the leaping, restless little one, and it had fallen overboard into the sea—into the great, wide Atlantic Ocean. The poor woman, in her despair, would have flung herself after her charge, had not strong arms held her back.

But sooner than it can be written down something rushed quickly past her; there was a leap over the vessel's side, a splash into the water, and then Nero's black head appeared above the waves, holding the child in his mouth.

The engines were stopped as soon as possible, but by that time the dog was far behind, in the wake of the vessel. A boat was quickly lowered, and the ship's surgeon, taking his place in it, ordered the sailors to pull for their lives. One could just make out on the leaping, dancing waves the dog's black head, holding something scarlet in his mouth. The child had on a little jacket of scarlet cloth, and it gleamed like a spark of fire on the dark blue waves.

The mother of the child stood on the deck, her eyes straining anxiously after the boat, and the black spot upon the waves still holding firmly to the tiny scarlet point.

The boat seemed fairly to creep, though it sped over the waves as it never sped before.

Sometimes a billow higher than others hid for a moment dog and child. But the boat came nearer and nearer, near enough at last to allow the surgeon to reach over and lift the child out of the dog's mouth; then the sailor's stout arms pulled Nero into the boat, and the men rowed swiftly back to the ship.

"Alive!" shouted every lip, as the boat came within hail of the steamer; and as the answer came back "Alive!" a "Thank God!" came from every heart.

Then the boat came to the ship's side. A hundred hands were stretched out to help the brave dog on board, and "Good Nero," "Brave dog," "Good fellow!" resounded on every side. But Nero ignored the praise showered so profusely on him. He trotted sedately up to the child's mother, and with a wag of his dripping tail looked up into her face with his big, faithful brown eyes, as if he said, "It is all right; I have brought her back safe."

The mother dropped on her knees on the deck, and, taking his shaggy head in both hands, kissed his wet face again and again, the tears pouring down her face in streams. Indeed, there was not a dry eye on board. One old sailor stood near with the tears running down his weather-beaten brown face, unconscious that he was weeping.

Well, Nero was for the rest of the voyage the pet and hero of the ship, and he bore his honors with quiet dignity. It was noticed, however, that ever from that time he made himself the constant and body-guard of the child. He always placed himself at the side of the chair of any person in whose charge she was, his eyes watching every one she made. Sometimes she would run on the deck with only Nero to watch her. Her head would scarcely come out of her bonnet, and her little dress of the skirt of her frock, promptly drew her back. It was as though he said: "I have been lucky enough, Miss Baby, to save you once, but as I may not be so lucky again, I shall take care you don't run any such risks in the future."

When the steamer reached her destination, Nero received a regular ovation as he was leaving the vessel.

Some one cried, "Three cheers for Nero!" and they were given with a will. And "Good-bye, Nero," "Good-bye, good dog!" resounded on every side. Every one crowded around to give him a pat on the head as he trotted down the gang plank. To all these demonstrations he could, of course, only reply with a wag of his tail and a twinkle of his faithful brown eyes.

He was taken to the home of his little mistress, where he lived, loved and honored, until he died of old age, with his shaggy gray head resting on the knee of the child (now a woman) that he had saved. His grave is in an English church-yard in the burial plot of the family to which he belonged, and is marked by a fair white stone, on which is engraved, "Sacred to the memory of Nero."

His portrait hangs over the chimneypiece of an English drawing-room, beneath which sits, in a low arm chair a fair haired girl, who often looks up at Nero's portrait as she tells how he sprang into the Atlantic Ocean after her, and held her up until help came.
—Harper's Young People.

Standing up for his Principles.

"Hold on there, Redmond! You have done me many a good turn, and now when I have a little spare change I want to treat you handsomely. Here is a restaurant with plenty of tempting things in the window, so come along." And the speaker, Cyrus Brent, laid a detaining hand on the arm of the boy, who like himself had just stepped from the morning train.

"Better save your money, Cyrus, counseled the other boy. "Fellows like you and me cannot afford to be too generous."

"I have saved it already, you see," returned Cyrus, holding up a bright quarter. "I euchered the railroad company out of this shining bit, and consequently deserve an extra bits for my cleverness."

"Cheated the railroad company! I don't understand you, Cyrus," exclaimed Redmond. "What do you mean?"

"I palmed a half-fare ticket off on the conductor as you might have done if you had kept your wits about you," was the reply.

"That was not honest Cyrus. Only those between seven and twelve belong to that favored class. I am over thirteen, and you are a year older."

"But I am not quite as large. The conductor looked at me suspiciously, but I went on reading as innocently as a baby, and he passed along without questioning me. It is nothing when you get used to it. I could name a dozen fellows who are shrewd enough to take advantage of their size. The conductors never find it out, and consequently the company is none the poorer."

"Perhaps not but the boys who sell themselves so cheaply are. No one can afford to be dishonest, Cyrus, said Redmond. "If a fellow wishes to succeed in the world, he must retain his own self-respect."

"Don't preach, Reddy; I never knew a Lenox yet who was cut out for an orator, and you are no exception," retorted Cyrus, impatiently. "Come in and get a lunch, and you will feel in better terms with yourself and the rest of the world generally."

"No, thank you, Cyrus. It is too early to lunch," answered Redmond, decidedly.

"Well, I would hate to have such a troublesome conscience," said Cyrus. "You are afraid you would choke on stolen sweets, I presume."

Redmond made no reply for a few moments, then he said slowly: "You know, Cyrus, that I have promised henceforth to live for Christ. Would I be honoring him should I engage in what I am convinced is wrong? His command is 'Follow me——'"

"And you think you would have a long time to wait before you could follow him into a place to partake of food procured with other men's money," interrupted Cyrus. "Very well! You go your way, and I will go mine, and see which of us will get rich the sooner. Some folks strain at gnats and swallow camels."

"But you have strangled yourself on gnats at the very outset, young man. I am superintendent of this road, and came down here for the purpose of engaging a new messenger boy for our business here," remarked an elderly gentleman, who had been standing near them during the discussion. "You applied for the place, and your name is Cyrus Brent. After what has passed you will not expect me to employ you. Instead, I shall offer the position to this other lad, who cannot afford to part with his self-respect on any terms. I do not make much pretention to religion myself, but a boy who tries faithfully to walk in the steps of Jesus will never go very far astray.—The Sunlight.

It Will Surprise You.

A surprisingly successful and very useful experiment is that of holding wholly under water shears and glass when the latter is to be trimmed into some particular shape. It is quite astonishing to find how easily and truly pieces may be cut, as we have just proved on a fragment of window-pane, after reading the direction. The explanation offered is that the water prevents or checks vibration—it holds the glass and the steel blades strictly to the one line of effect.—Exchange.

A Rich Legacy.

The General attorney of the Pullman sleeping car company, Ex-chief Justice O. A. Lochrane, states that old Dr. Biggers could leave no better legacy than his Huckleberry Cordial for all bowel affections.

Ignorance of our own Land.

AMERICAN AND EUROPEAN NATURAL WONDERS.

As to our scenery, we are rather better informed; and yet every year many thousands of un-American Americans go to Europe to see scenery infinitely inferior to our own, upon which they have never looked. We say there are no ruins in this country, and cross the ocean to admire crumbling piles less majestic and less interesting than remain in America. We read of famous gorges and defiles abroad, and are eager to see them; unknowing that in a desolate corner of the United States is the greatest natural wonder of the world—a canon in which all the rest of the world's famous gorges could be lost forever. And not one American in ten thousand has ever looked upon its grandeur.

Of course, we know the Sahara, for that is not American; but you will seek far to find any one who is familiar with an American desert as absolute and as fearful. We are aware of our giant redwoods in California,—the hugest trees in the world,—but did you ever hear of the petrified forest covering thousands of acres? There is one such in the United States, and many smaller petrified forests. Do you know that in one territory alone we have the ruins of over fifteen hundred stone cities as old as Columbus, and many of them far older? Have you ever heard of towns here whose houses are three-story caves, hewn from the solid rock?

It seems to me that when these and a thousand other wonders are a part of America, we, who are Americans, should be ashamed to know absolutely nothing of them. If such things existed in England or Germany or France, there would be countless books and guides overflowing with information about them, and we would hasten on excursions to them, or learn all that reading would tell us.—Chas. F. Lummis, in St. Nicholas.

The smallest Pill in the World!

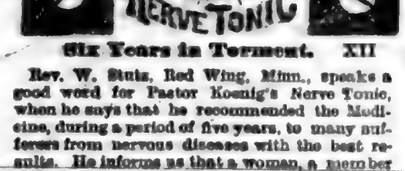
Tutt's Tiny Pills

SAVES MONEY.

One vial of these pills will save many dollars in doctor's bills. They are specially prepared as a family medicine, and supplies a want long felt. They remove unhealthy accumulations from the body without nausea or griping. Adapted to old and young. Price, 25c. Office, 39 Park Place, N.Y.

USE TUTT'S HAIR DYE;

a perfect imitation of nature; impossible to detect it. Price, $1 per box.



Six Years in Torment. XII

Rev. W. Stutz, Red Wing, Minn., speaks a good word for Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, when he says that he recommended the Medicine, during a period of five years, to many sufferers from nervous diseases with the best results. He informs us that a woman, a member of his congregation, had been cured of Epilepsy of Six Years' Standing by the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic.

Could Not Get Along Without It.

PLATTEVILLE, WIS., May, 1888.

The bottle of Koenig's Nerve Tonic has been received and almost used up, and that with a decided good result. My wife could not get along without the medicine. The impression is especially in cheering her, removing gloominess of mind and giving her a better appetite and color in the face. LUCAS ABELS.
Presbyterian Clergyman.

FREE A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.

In Richmond, Va., by Bödeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.
T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. B. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

HAIR ON THE FACE, NECK, ARMS OR ANY PART OF THE PERSON

QUICKLY DISSOLVED AND REMOVED WITH THE NEW SOLUTION

MODENE

AND THE GROWTH FOREVER DESTROYED WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST INJURY OR DISCOLORATION OF THE MOST DELICATE SKIN. DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

In COMPOUNDING, an incomplete mixture was accidentally spilled on the back of the hand, and on washing afterward it was discovered that the hair was completely removed. We purchased the new discovery and named it MODENE. It is perfectly pure, free from all injurious substances, and so simple any one can use it. It acts mildly but surely, and you will be surprised and delighted with the results. Apply for a few minutes and the hair disappears as if by magic. It has no resemblance whatever to any other preparation ever used for a like purpose, and no scientific discovery ever attained such wonderful results. IT CANNOT FAIL. If the growth be light, one application will remove it permanently; the heavy growth such as the beard or hair on moles may require two or more applications before all the roots are destroyed, although all hair will be removed at each application, and without the slightest injury or unpleasant feeling when applied or ever afterward. —MODENE SUPERCEDES ELECTROLYSIS.

—Recommended by all who have tested its merits—Used by people of refinement.—

Gentlemen who do not appreciate Nature's gift of a beard, will find a priceless boon in Modene, which does away with shaving. It dissolves and destroys the life principle of the hair, thereby rendering its future growth an utter impossibility, and is guaranteed to be as harmless as water to the skin. Young persons who find an embarrassing growth of hair coming, should use Modene to destroy its growth. Modene sent by mail, in safety mailing cases, postage paid, (securely sealed from observation) on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Send money by letter, with your full address written plainly. Correspondence sacredly private. Postage stamps received the same as cash. ALWAYS MENTION YOUR COUNTY AND THIS PAPER.

LOCAL AND GENERAL AGENTS WANTED.

MODENE MANUFACTURING CO., CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.

MANUFACTURERS OF THE HIGHEST GRADE HAIR PREPARATIONS.

You can register your letter at any Post-office and insure its safe delivery.

CUT THIS OUT AS IT MAY NOT APPEAR AGAIN

Offer $1,000 FOR FAILURE OR THE SLIGHTEST INJURY. EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

Look About the House!

And you will find that of all the presents made last Christmas, those which hold out longest and give the most pleasure, are

Books

And thus it will ever be; therefore let your gifts this year to children, kindred, friends, and all whom you most esteem be an appropriate BOOK. We have a magnificent selection of all the

New and Beautiful Books

for the holidays and can fill your orders by mail promptly. Tell us about what you want, the price you want to pay, and we will make a selection that

WILL SUIT YOU EXACTLY!

Make Your Orders Early.

ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO.,

PUBLISHERS AND BOOKSELLERS, RALEIGH, N. C.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

FARMERS, BUILDERS, WAGON-MAKERS, PAINTERS, MILL-MEN —AND— SPORTSMEN'S SUPPLIES.

HARDWARE,

LIME, PLASTER, CEMENT, HAIR, NAILS, SASH, DOORS, BLINDS.

Paints, Oils, COLORS, GLASS, BELTING, PACKING, FILES, IRON AND STEEL

Raleigh, N. C.

BELLOWS, VISES, ANVILS.

Best Goods. Low Prices.

SQUARE DEALING.

SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S COTTON HOES.

The Old Original.

The Best. The Best.

"All Right," "Cotton King," AND OTHER Cook Stoves and Ranges.

Farming Implements. SHOVELS, SPADES, RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

HARDWARE, BUILDING MATERIAL, LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT, Paints, Oils and Varnishes.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

SPURGEON

Agents wanted for "Conwell's Life of Spurgeon;" 616 pages beautifully illustrated, $1.50. Agents outfit 30 cts. Liberal inducements offered. Book sent to any address on receipt of price.

FRANKLIN PUBLISHING CO., Savannah, Ga.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns. No purge, no salve, no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address H. A. REEVES, Box 3508, New York City, N.Y.

BELLS

Best Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. E. A. BELL & CO., Hillsboro, O.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

olume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1892. Number 43.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

118 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

The Cross my Glory.

Text—"But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world."—Gal. 6: 14.

This is the third time we have undertaken the study of this subject together. We have studied it as the highest manifestation of God's power and wisdom, also the influence of the same in history, and now we wish to speak once more of this all-inclusive theme as our only glory.

There is much in this life in which a man may glory, and no man had more to glory in, other than the Cross, than the author of our text. He was the foremost man of his time, or perhaps any time, and had such an opportunity before him as neither Alexander nor Napoleon possessed. To my own thinking there was no such general before or since as Paul, and with a nation of soldiers, such as defended Jerusalem in her death struggle, he might have rolled back the Roman legions and made himself master of the world; and then, too, as a Roman citizen he might have divided the Roman army. With the combined genius of an Alexander, a Hannibal and a Napoleon, God only knows what such a man might have done. Indeed, there is nothing that men hold dear that Paul did not possess in the highest degree. Yet he put all these things under his feet—yea, more, cast them away as refuse that he might win Christ. And we undertake to say that, like Moses and others of his nation, he chose the better part; that granting him success in all of which we have spoken, he stands to day in the eye of the on-looking universe pre eminently higher than he could as Master, Statesman and Imperator of the whole world. This was his feeling about it then. What must it be now, forever with the Lord, looking down the ages and seeing the great work God enabled him to do! He said he could do all things through Christ who strengthened him; and it looks now like he did do all things.

Paul gloried in the Cross as a revelation of sin. God had given us many revelations before. In the deluge, the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, the plagues of Egypt, and the punishments of Israel. But not until the Son of God was crucified between two thieves was the exceeding sinfulness of sin manifested and the true inwardness of human nature revealed. The Cross then demonstrated that sin would murder God; that to commit it is to convict ourselves of this awful crime. It is not enough then for sin to be punished. Punishment does not counteract it nor atone for it. Penitence does not change its nature or cure it. The Cross is the one remedy for sin; hence Paul gloried in the Cross as the all-sufficient remedy for sin.

This is our next point for consideration. There is a remedy for this dreadful disease, this unnameable malady. Certainly nothing else has reached the case, and everything else has been tried. But is this remedy sufficient? We are too much concerned not to press this inquiry. Sin means heart-failure. Sin means a loss of vitality that involves the death of the soul. Sin means eternal isolation and separation from God. Sin means empty of all that is good and true and that can make us happy, and full of all that is vile and loathsome and that can make us miserable. Is the Cross a sufficient remedy for all this? The case is desperate. How does the Cross meet it? We have seen that it recognized it. That is a most important fact. A correct diagnosis is the next thing to a cure. What then is the remedy? It is life. It is an absorbing of the disease by another and putting new life within us. When Christ laid down his life it was because he had absorbed the death we deserve and when he took it up again it was that he might impart that life to us. He not only had to be a bottomless pit for our sin, but a fountain of life for our supply.

This brings us to the third point, viz: How to appropriate this remedy. The answer is clear and plain; we must take it. First, by a surrender, a complete giving of ourselves up to the Great Physician, putting ourselves at his disposal. Baptism is the figurative expression of this act. Second, we receive whatever he gives us of medicine or food. We eat that which is good, and delight ourselves in the fatness of our new-found friend. This is continuous. We must feed on this bread day by day; this water must be continually in us, a well of water springing up into everlasting life. The Lord's Supper is a figurative expression of this process.

Here is the rub—getting men to give up and send for the Physician. It is humiliating. We love to have our way. It is hard to surrender our will to anybody. We want to be independent even of God. Everybody would be saved on his own terms, but being saved on God's terms is something else.

Well, with the strength God has given you, you can hold out a while longer against him, but sooner or later you must bow. Why not now, when it means to be saved? Why will you wait till it means to be damned?

R. E. PEELE

How the Y. M. C. A. Hurts the Churches.

As an evangelizing agency, the Y. M. C. A. is not a success. I would not put a commercial value on souls. The whole world would be a price too small for one soul; still it is a law in natural and spiritual life that the reaping shall be commensurate with the sowing. "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." I do not misrepresent the Association when I say a prominent feature in the work is the purpose to save young men. In a good report made by the Winston branch of the Association, I find these words:

"God be praised, the 400 are organized to save the 1,200."

In a report prefaced by Dr. Hume, I find: "Let us fulfill our distinctive mission of leading young men to save young men, and prove ourselves the true ally of the churches."

In an invitation presented by F. B. Fuller, I find: "There are 900,000 fellows unsaved, and their salvation depends largely upon organized effort of young men for young men."

So I do not make a mistake in saying, a prominent feature in the organization is the salvation of men, and with the membership and money at their command, we would naturally expect large results.

There were in North Carolina, according to the report for 1891, forty-two Associations. There were 5,000 members. They spent $31,000 in the work, and as a result, so far as salvation of souls were concerned, under the wisdom and guidance of the best men the Association could command, sixty-seven persons joined the churches.

The Winston Association who said, "God be praised, the 400 are organized to save the 1,200," reported three having joined the churches.

Wilmington branch which are spending $30,000 for a home for the Association, does not report a single soul saved. In fact, only eight of the forty-two Associations reported those who joined any church.

How does this hurt the churches? It takes the young men away from their church work to keep the Y. M. C. A. alive. I do most earnestly believe there is not an Association in this State that could exist, if it depended upon its power to win men to Christ to keep up its membership. Perhaps North Carolina does not fairly represent the work; let us look at the work in New York City. If beautiful buildings and large opportunities are wanted, you have them here. There are in the city seven branches of the Association. I suppose it is safe to say they have property worth $1,011,000. The official report for 1889 says sixty persons joined the churches. A pastor in New York City writes: "Any one of two score churches in the city led more souls to Christ that year than all the Associations combined." That pastor said: "I approve of the work of the Association most heartily when conducted according to its original idea, but the Association conspicuously fails to reach the very young men who most need religion." The pastor quoted says: "These Associations claim the most active young men we have, at the expense of their work in their churches, and make no return or little to the churches thus drawn upon."

One of the prominent pastors of the M. E. church in Virginia, who has been associated with the Associated in Richmond, Petersburg and Norfolk says the tendency of the Association is to draw young men away from the churches. I give his exact words: "Now and then one suffers himself to be drawn away from his church work by the Association."

It seems to me the inference is, unless young men resist the natural influences of the Association, they will be drawn away from their church.

Another pastor in Virginia writes: "Many of my best young men in other cities have had their powers neutralized by being turned over to the Y. M. C. A."

In the face of these facts, with the experience of these pastors who all say they are friends of the Association, yet they believe the tendency of the Association is hurtful to the churches, I can not but feel, and feel strongly, that I must not give my influence in favor of this agency.

1. The training of the Y. M. C. A. unfits young men for church work. It may fit them for Associational work, but church work must ever be conducted along other lines. Every pastor hopes that the bright boys who come into his church will become active church workers. He looks to the time when he will be prominent and active in all work of the church and denomination. He is turned over to the Association and trained by a man (no one questions his piety) who knows nothing about any church but his own. The training the young convert gets is, at the best, only an undenominational exercise. If a young man wants to join a church and asks the Association, it can only say, "Join the church you like best." The Secretary would like to say, "I have searched the Bible, and believe this church is the one to join," but that would be sectarian, denominational, and such would call forth the opposition of other interested parties. So he is told to act not in accord with the teaching of the Bible, but consider his preferences. The thing that stirs his enthusiasm is union. He cries, "Away with creeds. I have no creed but the universal brotherhood of man and fatherhood of God." He learns to cultivate a religion that has no backbone. A pastor writes: "Those church members, who are most zealous in the meetings and work of the Y. M. C. A. are among the sorriest members of the churches. As a rule, you never can count on them for church work. They have no zeal for any but union work."

Religion is not made the prominent thing in the work of the Y. M. C. A. The Association in Asheville, with 405 members in 1891, held 203 religious services, and had an average of thirty-nine present. Much time was given to gymnasium, lawn-tennis, socials, games, health talks, concerts, &c.

The Association in Greensboro, with a membership of 235, report an average of sixty present at religious meetings. They talk about classes in education, book receptions, star course of lectures, games, physical culture, &c. Though called "Christian Association," we find that it is not prominently christian.

Our nature is toward excess, towards abuse, and the injunction of the Lord is to "Shun every appearance of evil."

I was in an Association in Oxford. In the reading room there were three men, the room used for playing games was well filled. It is a most dangerous experiment to teach boys how to play games at home or in a Christian Association, hoping to keep them away from places where vice is not under the name of christianity. It is just as sinful to play a game with the understanding the one loosing shall treat to cigars in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., as it is to go across the street in a pool room and do the the same thing, except one is called Young Men's Christian Association, and the other place is called bar room. A mother asked her pastor to try and say something to her boys that would keep them from playing progressive euchre and cards. Those boys learned to play around the fireside with their parents. It is the wrong way to teach boys to shun the games of chance by teaching them at home to play them.

Anything the abuse of which, or the undue indulgence thereof, will ruin your boys and girls, should not be encouraged by any organization that calls itself "christian"; to do it, is to do the cause of the Lord injury.

The Y. M. C. A. depreciates the church. Some who may read this, will remember a remark made by Mr. Southgate of Durham, that was told that the Y. M. C. A. was doing more in the city of New York, to save the young men than all the churches together. I have shown from the official report of the Y. M. C. A. that that statement is not true, that Mr. Southgate was misinformed.

Another advocate will say, "I find my greatest enjoyment in the Association."

Still some will say, "The Association is doing a work the church can't do;" all of which means that man has found out a better way—made an improvement on God's plan. The work done is done by the members of the church, and I believe it would be done better if conducted through the churches.

I was in a session of an Annual Conference in one in one of our towns. An effort was made to get a collection for Foreign Missions. Less than $200 was given. I was in a convention of the Y. M. C. A. in the same town, and three or four members of that same church gave about $300 to the Association. Is the work of the Association of more importance than God's command to give the gospel to all the world? In another town in North Carolina where the Association is flourishing, I notice that the contribution of one of the churches of the town to a very important denominational work was only twenty-five per cent. of what the contribution of that same church was to the Association. Is the Young Men's Christian Association of more importance to the church than missions?

It is a pity that the Associations have to exist at the expense and hurt of the cause of Christ.

R. VANDEVENTER.

Self-Knowledge.

Our views of the characters of others are too often caricatures of their foibles and vices. Our views of ourselves are largely caricatures of an inverse sort—the vices and foibles being dropped out. Most men believe that, on general principles, men cannot know themselves; but each one is likely to cherish a belief that by some special dispensation he has a pretty accurate knowledge of himself. He imagines that he can prove it by telling you frankly where he is weak or wicked. But if he would know the truth of it, let him try to draw a caricature of himself.—Sunday school Times.

The Need of a Chapel Fund in the South.

The imperative need of a chapel fund on which the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention may draw, cannot be easily overestimated. It is true, the gospel may be preached and churches may be gathered and maintained until they can build for themselves. This has been done and may be repeated. But who can estimate the cost and loss in this method of work as a rule? Had the Convention, when first organized, begun to raise and employ a chapel fund with a reasonable degree of vigor and wisdom, the result would have been very greatly to our advantage. Prosperous churches would be found to-day in very many places, where only feeble bodies linger, or none exist.

The building necessities of feeble churches in new and prosperous communities have been sometimes met by special efforts over a larger or smaller territory, and the aid secured in this extensive way, is returning in some cases thirty, some sixty and some a hundred fold. The expense of a special agency of the right sort to collect and disburse a chapel fund would, in the last forty years, have been an auxiliary investment worth many times the outlay.

But the opportunities of the past are gone forever. Others, however, even more inviting are coming up all over the South, and almost every day, in the new towns that are building along our railroads, in mining districts and in new territory that is settling up, with a church edifice fund in hand from which a small loan would be made at one place, a donation at another, or interest be paid for a limited time, no money that could be borrowed when it was needed, large self help could be secured from churches and communities in many places, where, without this encouragement, nothing will or can be done, but leave them to absorbed by the influence of more enterprising denominations.

An intelligent Board while raising funds to aid in building churches, could also have visited new towns, and secured the donation of eligible building lots, or purchased, if need be, while property was yet cheap, set on foot proper measures to secure money to build, or raise it, if necessary, and have seen that a suitable building was erected This would have been a more profitable and permanent missionary work than any other now done at equal cost. The very best mission work that can be done in any community where there are Baptists, but no house of worship, is to put one there.

The present tendency of population is from the country of the towns. This makes the demand for chapel building more imperative than it was even a few years ago. Baptists go from the country to town and find no church or house of worship of their own, or a very poor one in some out of the way or inconvenient place, and are attracted by the houses provided by other denominations, and finally take membership with them. The children often do this where the parents do not. There are probably from twenty-five to fifty thousand Baptists living in the South to-day, lost to us and gain by others, in this way. And while this is going on, multitudes who might be won to Christ and saved to promote the truth, are lost in the same way. Shall we allow this to go on? Does not loyalty to Christ and his truth forbid it? Our brethren in the North are carrying forward this work grandly with a Baptist population much less than ours and some other denominations are doing still more than they are. We should fall behind in no good work. The constituency of the Southern Baptist Convention is fully able to put a chapel wherever one is needed on their territory and they should be developed in giving, cost what it may.

Chapel building in foreign lands should accompany the efforts of every missionary. Expensive structures are rarely needed. A stated meeting place, a home for the gathered converts where they can assemble, gives permanent results in foreign lands as well as at home.

No wonder this great work is attracting the attention and enlisting the enterprise of our sisters who are doing so much for missions. They know what a home means, and it means no less in missions and for the assembly of the saints, than for the family.

Shall we not go forward and relieve the hundreds of struggling churches in the South by a little timely aid in helping them to build needed houses of worship. Shall we not preoccupy strategic points rather than turn them over to others? A small amount of money spent in the right way, at the right time and in the right place will be worth more than thousands of dollars spent later on, when the ground has been occupied by others. We should be wise for Christ and his truth, and for the salvation of men. Wisdom points as the finger of God to immediate and active work in building houses of worship as they are needed at home and abroad.

J. B. LINK.

Austin, Texas.

Our faith is founded on the clear word of God, and there we rest as on a rock, upon which the tide of infidelity has been beating in vain for all the centuries that are past. The waves of skeptical assault have broken upon it only to be dissipated into spray and foam. The grand old Bible seems to lift itself in triumph after each shock, exactly as the rock appears to emerge from the breakers when the ocean tide has spent its force.—Andrew W. Archibald, D. D.

How to Kill a Prayer-Meeting.

1. Forget all about it until the hour arrives.

2. Come ten minutes late and sit near the door.

3. Speak of your unfitness for religious service, and apologize for your lack of interest by saying, "I have not had time to prepare myself," and beg to be excused altogether.

4. Drag the singing painfully slow, such singing is so appropriate for a dead prayer-meeting.

5. When the meeting begins, wait for others to speak or pray.

6. Be sure to bewail the low spiritual condition of the church.

7. When you do take part, occupy about twenty-five minutes.

8. When the meeting closes, go out as from a funeral. You can speak with your brethren or strangers some other time or place.

9. If you mention the meeting during the week, tell how dull it was.

10. When the hour arrives for going to church, excuse yourself by saying, "I am tired, and do not feel like going. Besides, there will be plenty of others there to conduct the meeting without me. So I will stay at home and rest to-night."

11. If this does not kill the prayer-meeting, stay away entirely for six months or a year.

R. D. CARROLL.

Louisville, Ky.

Preachers in Politics.

Does not danger threaten our churches at this time—especially country churches, in view of the fact that many of our preachers are being drawn into the political whirlpool which we are fast approaching?

Old and established opinions are not always right, but deserve to be carefully considered before they are discarded. There has long existed a prejudice against political preachers. It is true, they have rights as well as other men, but the truth remains that a minister's usefulness is largely measured by his devotions and consecrations to his work, and his want of acceptability is often due to the lack of these.

When the preacher is a party to the contentions and strifes that exist, he is in no position to counsel peace and love.

We have seen ministers of the gospel leaving off sacred and religious duties and running after things of the world.

We have seen a few ministerial wrecks; may our eyes never behold another.

LAYMAN.

We make our bow to the Kentucky House of Representatives for their action on our State exhibit at the World's Fair. The generous sum of $100,000 was appropriated, but an amendment was adopted by a vote of 56 to 35, requiring the exhibit to be closed on Sundays and forbidding the sale of liquor on the premises. The bill as presented to the State Senate contained these provisions, which were stricken out, as we have before told our readers, by a vote of 16 to 15. As the bill went back to the Senate, these amendments were accepted, and the bill has become a law. We regret only that after all that has been said, there were thirty-five members of the House who had so little respect for the convictions of the best people in the State, whose money they were voting away, and so little regard for the interests of the working men, as to vote against the amendment. Such men are the sort whom it is safe for the voters to leave at home, instead of sending them to make laws for us.

Some of the secular papers say that this amendment will be inoperative because the matter is in the hands of the Board of Control in Chicago. It is not inoperative so far as the Kentucky exhibit is concerned. That will have to be closed, because no set of men in Chicago can decide what Kentucky shall do. The State exhibit will be in charge of the State commissioners. Of course, nobody supposed that the action of the Kentucky Legislature would settle the question of whether the Fair itself should be opened on Sundays and whether liquor should be sold on the grounds. But this action is bound to have great influence. The States of New York, Ohio and New Jersey have taken similar action, and it is hoped other States will fall into line. If the Board of Control shall set at defiance the sentiments of the people, it will prove that they are unworthy of the trust committed to them, and will to a great extent break down public interest in the Fair.

Kentucky thus ranges herself on the right side of this question, which affects the interests of the whole people, but more especially of the working men and women of the land. We make our bow to the fifty-six members of the House who have saved the honor of the State, as well as to others who have striven to reach this same result.—Western Recorder.

As Michael Angelo wore a lamp on his cap to prevent his own shadow from being thrown upon the picture which he was painting, so the christian worker and servant needs to have the candle of the Spirit always burning in his heart, lest the reflection of self and self-glorying may fall upon his work to darken and deface it.—J. H. Gordon, in The Two Worlds.

Preach the Scriptures purely.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

OUR SCHOOLS AND ACADEMIES.

After all that has been said or written about colleges, universities, and other higher seats of learning, we should never forget that the brunt of the battle, and much of the work of developing and shaping the minds of the youth of our land, rest with the common schools, and with the academies and high schools among us. These schools are intermediate, and fill the place in the American system of education that is filled by the more complete and effective German gymnasium system. Our academies and high schools have charge of the intellectual development of boys and girls at that period of life when it is generally decided what their future intellectual attainments shall be. It is in these schools principally that the intellectual swords are forged, to which the college and university course may give keenness, polish and elasticity. As a people we have, we fear, never given that attention to primary and academic training that their importance demands.

More and more then there is, and ought to be, a demand for first-class men to conduct our high schools and academies. There ought to be a closer connection between these schools and the higher seats of learning in the State. In this respect Wake Forest College is doing a work in different parts of the State that will tell in the generations to come. Her alumni are found all over the State engaged in the noble calling of teachers. The same is true, more or less, of Trinity, Davidson, and other colleges. We have not a complete list of all the Baptist teachers and principals scattered over the State that are now running what we may call "intermediate schools" with credit to themselves and to the colleges from which they have graduated. Among the academies of the State we may mention those at Greenville, Globe, Moravian Falls, Buie's Creek, Warsaw, Wakefield, Bethel, Scotland Neck (military), Durham, Buckhorn, Jackson, Bayboro, Cana, Cedar Run, Fork Church, Mt. Vernon Springs, Holly Springs, Snow Hill, Woodland, Leaksville, Ashe, Sugar Grove, Morganton, Cleveland, Pinacle, Yadkin, Lumber Bridge, Fair Bluff, Rock Rest, Wadesboro. Among the high schools or institutes we may mention the following: Mar's Hill (college), Littleton, Hamilton, Ashpole, Durham (female), Liberty.

Such men as L. W. Bagley, T. M. Hufham, John Duckett, W. H. Ragsdale, T. C. Buchanan, J. T. Horner, O. L. Stringfield, W. J. Ferrell, J. A. Beam, W. C. Allen, L. T. Buchanan, E. L. Middleton, J. T. Alderman, W. L. Carmichael, F. B. Hendren, G. T. Alderman, J. T. Joiner, J. M. Weatherly, R. P. Johnson, Jas. B. Williams, A. W. Britton, B. W. Ray, J. E. Kesler, R. L. Patton, P. G. Hopper, J. H. Yarboro, A. T. Hord, S. W. Hull, and others just as worthy, whose names we cannot now recall, are doing a work that will abide after they have passed away. Only a few of these men control what are recognized as denominational schools. Their schools are patronized, more or less, by people of all creeds, or no creed, just as our people often patronize the academy or high school controlled by teachers of other denominations.

Such men doubtless find the drudgery and monotony of the school room a severe tax on their patience, and sometimes on their religion; but they should remember that all professions and callings have their trying, and what may be called disagreeable features. The man that does his duty in life's struggle and life's battle, need not expect perpetual repose on a bed of roses. The history of the race, and of the world, have not been fashioned by men of ease or "elegant leisure." The men and women who are giving their time, their talent, and their lives, to our common and intermediate schools, have not received that consideration and compensation from the American public that the drudgery and nobility of their work demand. Next to the minister of Christ, it is important that the school teacher should be "abroad in the land." Parents of the schools taught by these men and women should remember, that it is money well spent which is devoted to the intellectual culture of their children and to the compensation of the faithful teachers who are shaping their minds for future development.

There is one tendency, commonly experienced with our high schools and academies at the present day, that is fraught with serious disadvantages to teachers and pupils, and that at the risk of being considered quite common-place, we will mention here. The tendency referred to is seen in the frequent objection of larger boys and girls to proper school discipline, and the constant interference of patrons with teachers in their efforts to enforce it. From one cause and another many boys and girls in these days are permitted to do pretty much as they please at home, in other words, are not controlled, and they carry the habits thus acquired to the school room, and the teacher often has to correct them by enforcing obedience and respect among his pupils. Usually the parent is quite unwise in taking issue with the teacher in maintaining proper discipline in his school, especially when he knows that his son or daughter is self-willed and not under good control at home. It is said that so complete is the discipline in the German gymnasium, and so thoroughly are the students under the spell of the teacher's influence and example, that it is seen to a marked extent in public places, and even in the family circle. This is to be expected when we study the German system, some important features of which could be adopted by us without doing violence to our American ideas of liberty and parental responsibility.

One thing is quite evident, that a teacher who is a man or woman of judgment, experience, and often of religion, is much more apt to be right in a school difficulty than a young and inexperienced lad or lassie. This remark has additional force when we remember that in these days of "advanced" moral ideas, and "moral suasion," when the rod, about which Solomon had something to say, is considered a relic of barbarism, and many boys and girls have a very dim idea of what proper constraint or control means. Another thing is certain—no teacher can run a school successfully without controlling it. This does not imply that he should be a barbarian or a despot. Love and tact are all-important in the school room.

Another evil, closely allied to the one just mentioned, is becoming quite common in connection with high schools, and that is the habit of allowing boys and girls to quit school when it "strikes their fancy" that they ought to quit. If it becomes known to a father that a boy or girl is utterly indifferent to his or her studies, and is dead to all appeals from parent or teacher as to the importance of cultivating the mind, then it is at times wise to allow such to stop mental but not bodily labor. Young men or women who have been raised in easy circumstances are often quite averse to either mental or bodily labor, and when placed where they are compelled to labor, or be considered drones, they at times form quite a distaste to school life and studious habits, and desire, with youthful impulsiveness, to "quit it all." This desire is often intensified by the lazy associates they find among their schoolmates, who, neglecting their own studies are, by a perverse principle of human nature, disposed to persuade others to do the same. A wise parent cannot afford to gratify every whim of a large boy or girl any more than he can the foolish fancies of a spoiled or petted child.

We bid the noble men and women of our own and other denominations God-speed in the work they are doing. Let parents extend a hearty co operation, and let a generous public sentiment cheer and brighten the lives of our teachers, who are shaping the minds and hearts of those who will take our places when we have passed from the stage of action here, that we may know the realities of the hereafter.

RALEIGH, together with several other cities and towns, has enjoyed the pleasure and benefit of Rev. Geo. C. Needham's lectures. Mr. Needham is an expert in getting up and conducting "Bible Readings." And well conducted Bible readings never fail to interest the people. We are inclined to the opinion, that many of our pastors would do well to turn their attention to it, as a means of teaching their own congregations. Some of Bro. Needham's Bible lessons in Raleigh will not be soon forgotten. But his last two exercises, the "Scripture Plan of the Ages," and the "Coming of the Lord," attracted the greatest attention. They were highly entertaining and profoundly interesting, whether one entirely agreed with him or not. The Scriptures say a great deal about the coming of Christ, and they say some very plain things. And surely when the subject is about the coming of our Lord, whom we love and whom we serve, it elicits our undivided attention.

Mr. Needham is a pleasant speaker, makes a good appearance, shows entire mastery of his subjects, and is really and deeply in earnest in all his teaching. We regard him as an excellent scriptorian, a close student of the word, and hence an able expounder of the Scriptures. But faithfulness demands that we should state in this connection one slight defect: In one of his lectures, the one on the "Fellowship with Christ, Illustrated by David's men," showed the spiritualizing method to an extent that was objectionable. Spiritualizing means to put some other meaning to the teaching of the Scriptures than the plain obvious sense; for instance, to make something a type which is not obviously typical. David was a type of Christ in some things, but not in all things, and that his four men in the cave of Adullam were types of anything does not clearly appear to our mind.

We may, in the future, have something further to say about spiritualizing, but not in this connection.

With this exception we saw nothing in Mr. Needham's method of teaching but what we could commend. He is a lovely spirit, and carries with him our sincere love and esteem as a devoted servant of our common Lord, and we would not interpose the least obstacle in his way of doing the Lord's work. But we want always to learn and to know the true meaning of God's word.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. N. S. Jones of Salisbury writes: "My work is getting along very nicely here."

....Rev. D. W. Herring, returned missionary, is at Wake Forest, and will be in Raleigh this week.

....The cost of a round trip ticket from Raleigh to Atlanta to Southern Baptist Convention will be $13.75.

....Bro. Alfred M. Darden of Hertford county was on a visit to our city last week, and paid his respects to the RECORDER office.

....Rev. O. L. Stringfield passed through Raleigh last Monday on his way to Morehead City, to which place he goes to assist Bro. H. C. Moore in a meeting.

....A Baptist church was recently organized in Buford township, about two miles from Alton. It was organized with seven members and is known as Rock Hill. Monroe Enquirer, April 21.

....Rev. F. T. Snell filled Dr. Hall's pulpit at the Tabernacle Baptist church last Sunday night. After the sermon two persons were baptized. Announcement was made for continued services.

....Rev. C. W. Matthews of Creeds, Princess Ann county, Va., writes: "I never lived among a more appreciative people. I take charge of the Lake Drummond church, Norfolk county, Va., June 1st."

....Rev. George Wharton, pastor of the Baptist church in Waynesville, N. C., baptized six persons into the fellowship of the church on Sunday, the 17th inst., as we learn from the Waynesville Courier.

....Rev. J. E. Love of Rocky Mount, N. C., has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church in that place to accept the position of assistant pastor of the First Baptist church of Baltimore, of which Dr. J. W. M. Williams is pastor.

....Rev. F. T. Snell, recently pastor in Augusta, Wis., is in the city, and is the guest of Mr. J. R. Barkley at 218 Edenton street. Bro. Snell is reported in the Western Recorder as having preached for Dr. Eaton in Walnut street church in Louisville, Ky.

....The financial condition of the American Baptist Missionary Union at the close of the financial year, March 31st, 1892, is as follows: Appropriations (including debt of April 1st, 1891), $685,027.24; receipts, $569,172.93; debt, $66,754.31.—E. P. Coleman, Treas.

....The Chowan Association meets at Ballard's Bridge church May 17th to 19th. Those coming by rail can leave Suffolk, Va., on the S. & C. R. R. at 5 p. m. and arrive at Chowan station at 8 p. m., where they will be met by brethren.—T. J. Riddick, Clerk.

....We were glad to see in our office last week Rev. W. B. Waff of Reynoldson, N. C. He was on the return trip from the Sunday-school Convention at Winston, and spent a night in Raleigh and had an opportunity to hear two of Bro. Needham's Bible lessons.

....Rev. H. A. Brown of Winston, N. C., who has been tendered a call to the pastorate of the Randolph Street Baptist church, preached for that congregation last night. The people are pleased with him, and the impression prevails that he will accept.—Richmond Dispatch, April 21.

....The trustees of Broaddus College have decided to accept the proposition of Hon. S. B. Elkins to give the Baptist denomination of West Virginia $25,000 in cash and twenty-five acres of land to build a college in the town of Elkins, West Virginia, for the education of students of both sexes.

....Bro. C. J. Woodson of Gatesville, N. C., writes: "I have just entered upon the third year of my pastorate here, and I feel very grateful to God for the progress which has been made along the different lines of church work. About sixty-five members have been added to the church, the contributions to missions and other objects more than doubled, and fifty dollars added to pastor's salary."

....Rev. S. H. Thompson of this place has been informed of his election as an honorary member of the French Academy of Inventors, and awarded a first class diploma and the great gold medal. This is an honor that seldom comes to an American, and is highly appreciated by Mr. Thompson. Mr. Thompson is the popular pastor of the Baptist church of South Boston.—Cor. Richmond Dispatch, April 22.

....Rev. A. B. Caudle writes: "My church at Waxhaw is doing well. With all the trouble we have had with Adventism I believe the church is in a better condition now than it was before the trouble. The brethren are united. We are receiving members occasionally. I baptized the Rev. Mr. Ferrell, a minister of the Methodist church, on last Sunday. A large congregation was present to see it. He is a splendid preacher, and will do good wherever he goes. Others are expected to join soon."

....Rev. Mr. McDuffie, pastor of the Baptist church at East Durham, came near having a serious accident yesterday. He was going to a picnic in company with M. B. Wyatt's family, and in attempting to assist the latter to arrange some part of the harness his own horse started to run and kick. He was struck on the knee, and is suffering from a painful wound. Two children of Mr. Wyatt were thrown from the vehicle and badly bruised, one having a shoulder bone broken.—Richmond Dispatch, April 20.

....Railroads in Germany are by no means equal to those in our country. The trains do not run as swiftly and the roadbed of most of the main lines is not as smooth as that of our best roads. Neither is traveling as cheap here as it is in New England and the Middle States. There are on most trains four classes, the first and second of which are good, the third indifferent and the fourth poor. A first class ticket will cost at least four cents a mile, while a second class ticket will be three cents a mile, a third class two cents, and fourth class about one cent a mile. The fourth class carriages have no seats, the third class have seats, but no cushions.—Correspondent in Christian Secretary.

In Memory of Rev. J. J. James.

Rev. Joshua John James died at his home near Yanceyville, Caswell county, N. C., on April 6th, 1892, in the seventy-eighth year of his age.

He was born in Halifax county, Va., Nov. 30th, 1814. After obtaining a neighborhood education, he prepared for college at a classical school in Danville, Va. He then was a student at Wake Forest College three sessions, and after this taught school for two years at Peytonsburg Academy. He entered Columbian University, Washington, D. C., where he graduated in 1841. He obtained a hope in Christ in his seventeenth year, and connected himself with the Baptist church in his native county. He was ordained to the gospel ministry in 1842 by the presbytery of the Dan River Association, at County Line church, Halifax county, Virginia.

In June, 1843, he settled in Caswell county, N. C., and became pastor of Yanceyville and Trinity Baptist churches, located in the bounds of the Beulah Association, where he continued to labor for eight years. While laboring in this field he baptized many of the prominent citizens living in communities contiguous to his churches.

In 1852, he entered upon the agency of a Baptist Female College in Oxford, N. C., which he succeeded in establishing.

In 1853, he was called by the Baptist State Convention to the editorial chair of the BIBLICAL RECORDER, which paper he continued to edit until 1861, when he transferred it to Rev. J. D. Hufham.

The remainder of his life he spent with his family on his farm in Caswell county, N. C., with the exception of a few years when he filled short pastorates at High Point, Milton and Ephesus. He also aided his ministerial brethren in their meetings and preached whenever occasion seemed to require, until failing health unfitted him for public service—a period of ten years, during which time he could only now and then preach, and this always seemed to be a pleasure to him.

He was at one time Moderator of the Beulah Association, Trustee of Wake Forest College, and Vice-President of the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina.

He was a good preacher, a fine conversationalist and well-versed in theology. As a writer, he excelled. His views were comprehensive, his perception was clear, his style elevated, his language chaste, his diction excellent; all this, together with his strong logical turn of mind, made him one of our best writers. Few could cope with him in a newspaper discussion.

For more than sixty years he was a member of the Baptist church and for fifty years a preacher of the gospel. He had unbounded confidence in God, a strong faith in Christ, and an unwavering reliance on the promises of the Bible. A few years before he died, the writer heard him say, "I have tried the pleasures, the honors, the wisdom, and, in some measure, the riches of this world; but these have all cloyed on my appetite, and have failed to bring relief and comfort in the trials of life. Christianity, as taught in the Scriptures of Divine Truth, has been a source of never-failing comfort to me in all the trials of life. And now that my end is drawing near, my only hope of salvation is in the atoning merit of Jesus Christ. My trust is in the mercy of God in Christ."

For several months previous to his death, he was a constant sufferer and talked freely about dying to his family. A short while before he died, he said to his three sons as they were near him, "Care tenderly and kindly for your mother and sisters, be good boys, and prepare to meet your father in heaven." Among his last utterances was about the following: "Dear Jesus, how can I do without thee now? Be thou my stay and support!"

He requested the writer to preach his funeral, and Rev. J. K. Howell to assist in the exercises. We carried out his request. A large number of his brethren and friends attended his burial. Rev. J. E. Jones of Milton was also present and took part in the burial services.

He leaves a wife and five children to mourn their loss. They have our sympathy. May God's all sustaining grace be their comfort and support. F. H. JOHN.

Rev. Thomas Butler Justice is Dead.

God is calling many to honor their King and Redeemer. Our father, Elder Thomas Butler Justice, was born in Buncombe county, N. C., July 17th, 1813; married Harriet Baily (who survives him) Aug. 14th, 1834; converted May, 1835; baptized August following; licensed to preach Aug. 1st, 1840; ordained July 3d, 1843; died at the home of his son, Rev. C. B. Justice, in Rutherfordton, N. C., April 9th, 1892.

The funeral services took place at the Baptist church in the city and were conducted by the writer, using as a text Acts 13:36. He was assisted by Rev. Mr. Hoyle of the Methodist church. The attendance was thought to be the largest ever known in the town, attesting appreciation of the deceased. He was laid to rest in the city cemetery near by with Masonic honors, his grandsons acting as pall bearers.

Father Justice was Moderator of Green River Association in 1871-'74 and 1880. He was forced to give up his churches by reason of bad health in 1883. He was a good and successful business man as well as preacher. Few men have accomplished more good—"full of the Holy Ghost," truly a "preacher of righteousness." He ever acted from principle; this he never sacrificed for anything. He was truly an earnest expositor of the true doctrines of the gospel. He was in many respects a remarkable man—was never known to use or repeat after others a profane, obscene or vulgar word; never tasted ardent spirits; made first speech and offered the first resolutions on Temperance and Missions in his Association about 1845. He was the first to advocate the propriety of publishing a religious paper in the Association, and gave his last dollar to start it. He often did this. On one occasion he gave his last dollar (had but one) to a poor widow, and he one hundred miles from home and a number of toll gates to pass. He received soon after double the amount, the toll gates passed him free, and no one charged him for a night's lodging. So the Lord works. He suffered much of late with a nervous trouble, and was truly a great sufferer for ninety-nine days before the end. He never complained or murmured, ever anxious to do God's will. He would hesitate to take medicine to relieve pain, saying, "I fear it is not His will." He "loved the brethren," "loved his neighbor," his steps were feeble and tottering, but his faith was bright and strong. He let his light shine. All his life-work and walk were such as becomes a true christian minister of the gospel of Jesus Christ.

He will be missed. His pleasant smile and friendly grasp of hand will be seen and felt no more. His aged wife will miss him most; we commit her to the widow's God the short remainder of her life's journey. May children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and his host of friends imitate his life's work. God is their friend. "He doeth all things well."

Father Justice in his mind often went back to the days he spent with old brethren Barrett, Alfred and James Webb, Harrill, Grayson, McCurry, &c. How pleasant on earth was it for him to be with them! and how much more pleasant for them to meet "beyond the river" after life's battle has been fought and the victory won! They now reap their reward; they rest from their labors. Rest on, dear ones! by the grace of God, when our work is done, we hope to join you. 'Till then, farewell. M. M. LANDRUM.

Marion, April 15, 1892.

Letter from Missouri.

The seventh anniversary of my pastorate of Patee Park Baptist church at this place occurred on the third Sunday in this month. My thoughts are reminiscent. The noble man, Rev. E. S. Dulin, D. D., who founded this church, is crowned with glory in heaven. He was pastor about three years. He sent for me. I came to the church. He went to Kansas City. The church has gained steadily. We have dismissed members to constitute South Sixth Street church and Wyatt Park church. We have now about four hundred members. We have built a magnificent meeting house, and we owe ten thousand dollars on it—enough to keep us from being vainly proud. The first floor will accommodate six hundred people. Besides this auditorium, we have six other rooms on the first floor. Four of these six rooms are separated by folding doors like you've seen between parlors. In these four rooms are the quarters of the Patee Park Library. These rooms are opened to the public at 7:30 a. m., and close at 10 p. m. The expense of keeping a man in charge, of fuel, gas, periodicals, stationery, etc., is met by an organization known as the Library Association. The patronage of the Library has been unexpectedly good from its beginning several months ago. It is a new venture in this part of the world, but it is a decidedly good thing. My study is in one of the rooms, and I find that the pastor is supplied with rich opportunities for leading men to Jesus.

I have been an associate editor of the Central Baptist almost five years. Dr. Williams, the chief editor and manager, is fine and fat, genial and true. He has been a blessing to me.

We have in St. Joseph six white Baptist churches and three colored Baptist churches.

I lift my hands and pronounce my benediction upon North Carolina Baptists.

R. B. PITTMAN.

St. Joseph, Mo., April, 1892.

God is all for quality; man is for quantity. But the immediate need of the world at this moment is not more of us, but, if I may use the expression, a better brand of us. To secure ten men of an improved type would be better than if we had ten thousand more of the average christians distributed all over the world.—Henry Drummond.

When thou prayest, rather let thy heart be without words, than thy words without a heart.—Bunyan.

The Church and the Boards.

This definition is sufficiently accurate for our present purpose:

The church is a body of baptized believers organized at a given place upon New Testament principles for the promotion of God's kingdom and its interests in the world.

The design of the gospel is, by saving men, to bring them into harmony with God and the principles of his moral government. Being saved from sin, its curse, love and dominion, they become servants, of righteousness and own Christ as their King. They are thus brought into a condition to obey, follow, and execute his orders. They do this willingly, lovingly—would not do otherwise if they could.

God's kingdom and its interests constituting the object to be advanced by the church, we will get a fairly adequate notion of the office and functions of the church by ascertaining the meaning of the expression "Kingdom of God."

By this phrase is meant this much at least, viz: subjection to God's authority and law as revealed in the Bible, and as inferred from the study of nature.

The church then is organized with direct reference to bringing all men to submit to God's rule by accepting the gospel of reconciliation as preached by Christ and his followers.

But as this acceptance in its early stages may be attended with defects in view of the inadequate apprehension of what it involves; and as submission to God's rule may be imperfect on account of failure to know the rule in its extent and intent, so in order to the promotion of God's kingdom it will be necessary to yield to the church the right and exact the duty, as of prime importance, to teach and to train those who have accepted the gospel. This is the work of the church in the direction of intensifying and deepening and broadening individual christian life. Each life thus brought up to the level of normal christian manhood becomes a new factor in the work of the church as it presses on to the establishment of the kingdom. Indeed progress without individual development is impossible.

The work of the church covers all the ground of christian activity. The church has upon its hands a fight with all the hosts of darkness. Let us indicate the principal force which go to swell the ranks of our opponents.

These may be embraced in the following classes: Those which oppose or retard the progress of sound doctrine, and those which prevent the beginning or check the growth of individual christian life. The two great problems which await solution, the two questions which demand an answer from the church are; What doctrine shall be preached, and what shall be done to relieve the individual of the hindrances in his way in accepting the salvation of Christ and of realizing in himself that salvation in its fulness. The first question is partly involved in the second, but must be viewed apart from the following reason: The question of sound doctrine has its importance in the fact that there is needed a "form of sound words"—a standard to which we may refer in determining the character of that opposition which hinder the beginning and the steady onflow of christian life, and also the weapons with which it is to be met.

A correct and comprehensive knowledge of Bible truth is essential to a clear apprehension and a wise refutation of the error which beclouds, and to a full appreciation of the vice which deadens the nerve of the spiritual eye.

Error and vice! Their name is Legion. Who is sufficient to grapple with them single-handed? None. Hence the need of organization, co-operation, combination. And not of these only; of specialization also. There must be elect men for each of the different kinds of work involved. All men are not equally well adapted to all kinds of church work. Paul speaks of "diversities of gifts." Specialists are essential to good work. Not all can lead or even follow heartily in all lines of work. One is peculiarly exercised about missions, and he is, unless restrained, a whole man at that one thing. And so with education, the Sunday-school, Temperance, the Poor, the Orphan. Each branch of christian work—work done for the advancement of the kingdom, has men specially qualified by zeal, wisdom, taste for that particular branch. Give their talent full play. There is room for all; there is a demand for all. And it is especially needful in view of the limitations imposed upon us by nature—limitations which restrict each, when at his best even, to narrow boundaries that there be these diversities of aptitudes and tastes for different forms of work. It is natural, and we ought rather to rejoice in it, that while and because each magnifies his own loved and chosen line of work, each line of work will be represented by men of zeal and devotion and the work will be prosecuted with vigor in all its spheres.

Now it is the undivided church at work at all points, although different groups of its membership are at work at different points.

Extend the view a little. Many departments of church work may be best carried on by combination of elect (select) men from many churches. Even the interest of the individual local church, not to speak of interests more general may best be subserved by such combinations.

Where great ends are to be reached, like the world's conversion; where great enterprises are to be carried to a successful issue like that of building a College, an Orphanage, an Asylum of whatever kind; where great and wide-spread evils are to be exterminated, like intemperance; where policies take into the sweep of their action whole generations of men, are to be canvassed, like the Sunday-school, then surely the church should combine their select men to take suitable measures for attaining objects of such notoriously common concern. But even here the individual church is at work, as every one who has followed one analysis will clearly perceive—the individual church contributing its share in a way judged by it most effective in advancing the interests of the kingdom. It is above, not co-equal with, nor inferior to the agent or agency which it employs. And it is only when the agent claims the right to control or by assumptions of power tacitly acquiesced in by the church seeks to use it for ulterior and unconcerned purposes that it becomes dangerous to the liberties of the church or calls for repression.

WM. ROYALL.

The Late Rev. T. B. Justice.

Dear Editor:—The announcement of the death of Rev. T. B. Justice of Rutherfordton, N. C., has just reached me. I am moved to tears, as I think of his devoted wife and affectionate children, and the deep sadness with a sense of loss, carried to homes and hearts widely scattered. As I remember, his long life of useful ministry, the great good he has accomplished in Western N. C., by his elevation of character, his balanced judgment, his beneficent influence and his fatherly advice to me, I am made to rejoice that it has been my privilege to know and love such a great and good man. Many a church will recall his faithfulness in presenting the word of God with singular force and clearness. Bro. Justice did not have the advantage of an early education which he afterwards acquired and gave to his children; but I have not lived long enough to see his equal in presenting God's claims and man's personal responsibility. He preached repentance, and made people feel like repenting just as John the Baptist did, just as Peter, Paul and Christ did. Once in White Oak church, the audience was unusually large, when uncle Butler (as we all called him) sprang upon the table in front of the pulpit, and gave a gospel exhortation with such clearness and force, that more than a score went to the front benches and fell upon their knees crying for mercy and pardon. I shall never forget the impression he made upon my mind when from the same pulpit he preached from the text "Come now, let us reason together, saith the Lord." I can hear him now calling upon the parents as he reasoned with them about home government, church relationship and their obligation to vote for prohibition which was then before the people of North Carolina. If faithfulness be the best of true greatness, then Rev. T. B. Justice was as great as any man. It will soon be two years since I visited Bro. Justice in North Carolina after an absence of five years. After praying with him and bidding him farewell as I then felt for the last time, I said with deep emotion, "Uncle Butler, I owe more to you for what I am than to any living man." "No, you owe nothing to me; I have only discharged what I felt to be my duty to you." The above allusion has reference to what occurred in the summer of 1879, while in school near the residence of the deceased, riding together one day from Mills' Springs to his home. He asked me if I had ever read the thirty third chapter of Ezekiel, I replied affirmatively, and told him how much I had been impressed with the requirements of that chapter. This opened up the way for other interrogations with respect to my desire to preach, convictions of duty and whether prompted by the proper motives. Having approached me so cautiously and kindly, I submitted my impressions without reserve. As the result of this conference, I was called out of the audience into his pulpit at Silver Creek the following Saturday. Imagine my embarrassment in the presence of my teacher, Prof. J. N. Morgan, and schoolmates, uncles, aunts, and cousins. I hesitated. "But come along, Walter," was the reply. He gave me the Bible, saying, "Conduct the worship for us."

I found these words in Matthew, "Ye are the light of the world." I have never been able to recall a single thought of that brief discourse—possibly more about darkness than light.

"To morrow you must preach again," said he, as though I had already. Saturday meetings are very poorly attended compared with Sunday. "To-morrow," I said, "Everybody will be here." But I could not beg off. After making my second attempt, Bro. Justice followed me upon the same Scripture with contrasted masterly effort. Now it became generally known in our neighborhood that Walter Splawn was going to be a preacher. In a few days my parents and Bro. Justice met at the home of uncle Berry Arledge. The new preacher was discussed, as mother told me, and my father, an uneducated farmer, was induced by our pastor, T. B. Justice, to send me to Wake Forest College the following September, 1879, where I remained until June, 1884.

In the meantime, during the summer vacations I had the advantage of holding meetings with Bro. Justice in his churches, —a rare privilege. His loving confidence and manifest interest have always been an inspiration to me.

In a letter from his son William, the last illness is so comforting when the subject of the christian religion was mentioned to him. His mind was clear and his ideas bright on that subject, although for the most part unconscious from his first illness, January 1st until the 9th inst. Before his departure he was heard to say, "'By grace ye are saved through faith.' It is nothing that I have done. 'He that believeth on me shall not be brought into condemnation.' On this I rest. Fraternally,

WALTER S. SPLAWN.

Lexington, Ky., April 10, 1892.

"The loving—how can they be shut out? They are in the kingdom, the spirit of the kingdom is in them; where they are the kingdom is. The unloving—how can they be admitted? They have nothing in common with the kingdom; where they are is the outer darkness."—A. B. Bruce.

Let prayer be the key of the morning and bolt of the evening.—Henry.

Preaching to the Chinese.

Not long ago a well informed brother told a young man who contemplated coming to China, that he need not expect to find congregations in China to preach to; and I supposed this to be the case until I arrived. Preaching in China is not peculiar to the christians. Many years ago, one of the emperors published a number of moral precepts, and issued an order requiring the officials of every city and village to provide preaching places and have these precepts proclaimed, elaborated, explained and enforced by suitable preachers. This is done especially on the first and fifteenth days of each moon, though to some extent on other days. I have seen more than one of these halls, with pulpit, and room and seats for more than a hundred people. Once I passed the door of one of these halls and saw a crowd assembled and listening to a man who seemed to be preaching very earnestly. This is called preaching "the Sacred Edict." These preachers are said to exhort the people very earnestly to the practice of the cardinal virtues, and to illustrate their teachings by numerous anecdotes. But alas! they show the way, but neither preachers nor hearers walk in it. Much experience agrees with the teachings of the Scriptures that the sure basis of a moral life is the grace of God in the heart.

Similarly we find that there is opportunity for preaching the gospel. In the smaller country villages there are opportunities for street preaching, and both the missionaries and the native preachers make much use of these opportunities. In Canton, it is much more difficult to find such opportunities. The streets are very narrow, never more than ten feet wide, and all the day they are thronged with people. There would be no difficulty in getting a congregation. The people are very ready to stop and see or hear anything going on along the street. But obviously it would not be right to block up the public street with a crowd stopped to hear preaching. Occasionally the brethren find opportunities for street preaching in some of the less frequented streets. But most of the preaching in Canton is done in the chapels. There is the main chapel in the midst of the city, where the Canton church worships, and there are some other chapels built by individuals or by the Chinese themselves. This city chapel is opened for preaching every day in the week except Saturday. Preaching begins about twelve o'clock and continues two or three hours. Usually three brethren preach one after another, one missionary and two native preachers. This chapel is on a main thoroughfare, and there is a constant stream of people passing by the door. From curiosity or other cause, numbers come in and listen awhile. Some stay just long enough to find out what is going on, others stay long enough to hear a whole sermon or even more. The number present varies from fifty to a hundred. Some are disorderly and talk and disturb the preacher and those who wish to hear, but we can bear with them, they are heathen and do not know any better. Some smoke and vitiate the air which others must breathe, but again we can find some excuse for them. I have seen those who were raised in christian homes and taught to respect religion who disturbed the preacher and the congregation. I have seen them stand around the church door and blow their smoke into the church and pollute the air which is to be breathed by a congregation of worshipers. And they claim to be gentlemen, far above the "heathen Chinee."

How much impression is made upon the minds of these hearers, only God knows. Possibly some come back again and again, but the congregation each day is composed largely of new hearers. In this way it will be seen that thousands hear the gospel in the course of a year. Will not God's people pray, as well as give, that these who hear the gospel may not forget it, and that soon there may come a great awakening in Canton, when thousands shall turn to the Lord.

At the other chapels similar services are held, though not quite with as much regularity as at the main chapel. Thursday morning the members of the church meet for a prayer meeting, and Sunday they meet for Sunday-school and preaching. On Sunday it is necessary to close the front door to keep out curiosity seekers, that the congregation may not be disturbed by disorderly attendants. The chapel will hold about two hundred people, and often it is full. This is the only service to which women come. They come in at a back door and sit on their own side of the house, separated from the men by a high partition. If the crowds of passers by were allowed to come in and see both men and women present, a row might result, so completely does Chinese custom separate the sexes.

After the exercises of the Sunday-school, which do not materially differ from those of Sunday-schools in North Carolina, preaching follows. The pastor, who is quite tall for a Chinaman, fine looking, and an earnest, faithful preacher, preaches every other Sunday, the missionaries alternating with him in this service. Dr. Graves is assistant pastor, and usually preaches every other Sunday. The hymns sung are translations of the good old hymns of our fathers, while the tunes are the same. In Sunday-school they sing many of the hymns in use in American Sunday-schools. We who have not yet learned the language, often sing the English words, while they sing Chinese.

On the first Sunday in each month, the Sunday-school gives place to a prayer-meeting, and the sermon is followed by the Lord's Supper. On the first Sunday in March nearly two hundred people sat quietly for three hours and participated in all these services.

This chapel is two miles from the mission residence, where Dr. Graves and Bro. Simmons live. Bro. McCoy and I live nearly four miles away, so that we do not always attend the morning service. There is a chapel adjoining the mission property, where there is Sunday-school and preaching every Sunday afternoon. Here Bro. Simmons takes turns with the Chinese preachers in preaching.

Each Sunday night the missionaries and a few others assemble at the Presbyterian mission for preaching in English. At some other time I may may write more fully about other features of the work among the Chinese, and other methods for reaching them with the gospel.

G. W. GREENE.

Canton, China, March 20, 1892.

The Communion Neglected.

Dear Recorder:—Whenever it has been my privilege to attend churches on communion occasions, it has been a source of no little regret to note the apathy with which many church members treat this most important of all church meetings. The first thing you may generally notice on those occasions is more vacant seats than is usual.

Another thing to be regretted is to see church members leave the house as soon as the emblems of a dying Saviour's body and blood is spread. Christians that can't bear to see the Lord's last supper commemorated! what mind can grasp this "insolvable enigma," and tell just to what extent of inconsistency those christians have drifted.

Another class you may notice are those who, when the emblems are carried around, will shake their heads, and you will sometimes see them turn around to those nearest them with a very significant smile, which may be interpreted to mean that the whole affair is not of sufficient importance to demand their princely attention.

We have now briefly spoken of three classes of christians who practically reject the table of the Lord—those who stay at home, those who leave the house, and those who shake their stately heads mightily in order to make their rejection so positive as to need no further discussion.

Ask those who stay at home about the matter, and the usual reply will be, "It was so with me that I couldn't go," but to find out just what that "it" was is more than you will generally be able to do.

Ask either of the other classes, and one of two reasons will generally be assigned. They are at variance with some brother or sister, or else they are so wonderfully scrupulous of offending God by "eating and drinking unworthily," and moreover of eating and drinking their own condemnation, that they reject on this account. Now can any rational man or woman reconcile themselves to the belief that they can better serve God by holding themselves aloof, because they have had unpleasant words or thoughts respecting some brother or sister? or because their lives have not been as perfect types of our holy religion as they desire? forgetting that "the spirit is willing but the flesh is weak."

Now, brethren, these excuses are all wrong, trivial, and without foundation, and are averse to the sentiment of the world's renowned, much beloved and late lamented Spurgeon, as he from the fulness of his great, warm heart uttered language like this: "If you cannot come to Christ with faith and repentance, come to Christ for faith and repentance." Then lay down your puny arms and yield with implicit obedience to the will of God, no longer indulge this fond chimera which is deluding you into the belief that you can please God and neglect his ordinances. "Take, eat, this is my body"; and again, "Drink ye all of it," are positive injunctions, and must needs be observed to insure such spiritual growth and development, as will ultimately insure that robe which Christ the Righteous has promised to all his obedient followers.

Yours in Christ,

W. S. MILLIKIN.

Excelsior, April 15, 1892.

Goldsboro News.

Our church has just experienced a most gracious revival from the presence of the Lord. Rev. W. B. Oliver was with us for ten days. His sermons were remarkable in a blending of the clear, argumentative style with tenderness and pathos. His sermons went with power to the hearts of the hearers. The interest steadily deepened and the pastor found it expedient to carry on the meeting for nearly a week after Bro. Oliver left. There were over thirty who professed conversion, nearly all of whom will be gathered into this church. Many others are concerned, and we confidently hope to continue reaping the fruits for many days.

The spiritual awakening of the church is one of the most delightful features of the work. Nearly all the converts are grown people, some of them heads of families, and a number of them young men.

This is a noble church and possesses a lofty conception of its duty to spread the truth of the gospel. The membership have greatly endeared themselves to the pastor by many tokens of thoughtful kindness and affection.

Rev. W. B. Oliver had already a strong hold upon the affections of my people, and now they love him still more for his noble work among us.

J. HARDWELL EDWARDS.

Murfreesboro Items.

On April 4th, Dr. J. D. Hufham of Tarboro came to assist Pastor Wood in a series of meetings. He preached the gospel with great earnestness, power and pathos. The church was greatly revived.

Saturday, April 9th, Dr. Hufham left, and Rev. J. A. Lee of the Methodist church preached Saturday and Sunday.

As a result of the meeting, eight have joined the Baptist church and two the Methodist church.

Dr. Hufham is a great favorite here, and his many friends were glad to see him looking so well. Long may his life, already so full of unselfish deeds, be spared for even greater usefulness.

The Methodists are making some much needed repairs to their church, and are building a steeple eighty feet high.

It is thought here that Rev. R. T. Troy of Littleton will accept the Presidency of the Wesleyan Female College, which was lately tendered him.

A thorough canvass of the West Chowan will be made in the interest of Missions. A committee, consisting of Elders C. W. Scarboro, B. Craig, C. B. Williams and —— Curtis has charge of the work and will visit the churches, giving the true status of our labors in foreign fields.

Thursday night, Pastor Wood received thirteen into the church—five by letter and eight by baptism.

The present session of the Institute is nearing the close. In many respects, it has been an unusually good one. The State owes a debt of gratitude to the men who preside over our female colleges. They have done and are doing a noble work for education, though laboring under many difficulties, of which outsiders never think.

H.

Murfreesboro, April 23, 1892.

Literary.

The Baptist Teacher for May does not fall below the high standard which has been set for this publication. Of the five lessons of the month, three of them are taken from the Psalms, and two introduce to us the prophet Daniel at the Babylonian court. With matter so full of interest and with expositors so able, the treatment could not be otherwise than suggestive and helpful. The editorial articles of the number, though occupying less room than usual, are practical and pointed. The contributed articles, by Rev. Messrs. Rowland, Wallace and Gambrell, are especially helpful in that they bear upon the subject matter of the lessons. The Editor's Drawer contains suggestions as to classes, presence of children at worship, the relation of the school to the church, etc.; this feature of the Baptist Teacher grows more interesting and useful. The one who masters the material in this number, though he may have no other help than his Bible, will be well qualified to teach the lesson. This valuable teacher's magazine is published by the American Baptist Publication Society at fifty cents a year in clubs of five or more.

A Loyal Heart. By Mrs. Caroline Atwater Mason. 12mo. 330 pp. Price $1.25. Philadelphia: American Baptist Publication Society.

Mrs. Mason has made an excellent reputation as a writer, and we are more than glad to greet her among the lists who write for our Publication Society.

"A Loyal Heart" is a thoroughly good book. It is far above the ordinary Sunday-school volume, and is well adapted to the large class of young people in our churches, mature and cultured, for whom the best is none too good.

The story, in the main, centres about the heroine, Lois Fleming, who well illustrates the sentiment of the title. Of strong integrity, single hearted, conscientious in the highest degree, for her to see the right was to do it. A duty discerned was, for her, a duty discharged, and in a matter of course way that would make deed and doer all the more fascinating and helpful. Around Miss Fleming are other characters scarce less full of interest and suggestive. John Romeyn, Rachael Barobet, Cornelia Roberts (Corny they call her), and Rose Romeyn are among these; and their doings are their relations, one to another, will be followed with the intense interest.

"Hours with a Sceptic." By Rev. D. W. Faunce, D. D. 12mo, 240 pages. Price: $1.00. Philadelphia: American Baptist Publication Society.

Dr. Faunce is not unknown in the realm of literature. He has twice taken the Fletcher Prize offered by Dartmouth College for the best essay on prayer, and has written much else that has found its way into the periodical press. This book is not unworthy of aught else that has proceeded from his pen. In the form of conversations he has given a discussion of the main points in a volume of Christian evidences. They purport to be conversations with a sceptic, who, being stricken by a mortal illness, had desired them. In his preface, Dr. Faunce tells us that this in the main is true, while at the same time there have been put into the volume arguments constructed for and used on other occasions. The book reminds one of Henry Roger's "Eclipse of Faith," and is not unworthy to be ranked in the same class.

Among the contents are, "Credibility of Evidence," "Possibility of Miracles," "Personality of God," "The Soul's Immortality," "Authority in Religion," and "The Facts of Sin and the Atonement." These and other kindred topics are treated with skill and power, evincing a large acquaintance with the themes themselves and the literature which they have created. The central position of the book is to view things from a moral standpoint. Miracles are looked at in their moral character and relations, as also are the being of God and the atonement, etc. This feature of the book makes it especially valuable, and will help to make a place for it in the ranks of christian apologetics. It will be of interest to all ministers, as well as all others who desire to become acquainted with a thoughtful, strong exposition and defense of the faith in which they trust. A full and discriminating index has been appended which will add to the value of the book.

The next Union Meeting of the Yadkin Association will be held with the Friendship church on Friday and Saturday before the fifth Sunday in May.

The following queries are for discussion:

1. What is the duty of [illegible] Sunday-school?

2. Can a christian church or [illegible] afford to do without [illegible]?

J. H. FLEMING, Jr.

Missouri Mormons.

RISE AND SPREAD OF MORMONISM.

Probably it is not generally known to the readers of the RECORDER that it was in Missouri the Mormons experienced some of their earliest "trials and triumphs." The old jail in which Joseph Smith, the founder of Mormonism, was imprisoned in 1838, still stands in Liberty, and the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints is now holding its fortieth Ecumenical Conference at Independence, some twelve miles from here. A short sketch of this branch of Smith's followers may not be uninteresting.

Joseph Smith was borne in Vermont in 1805, but in 1815 his father moved his family to Palmyra, New York. Smith claimed that he was converted at a union meeting conducted by the different denominations of his town in 1822, and though satisfied that he ought to unite with some church, he could not decide which was the scriptural one. This troubled him much until one night an angel appeared to him and commanded that he have nothing to do with existing churches as they were the agents of the devil. From this time he had frequent revelations, the most important being received in 1823. While in the act of praying, an angel imparted to him the momentous revelation. Of this heavenly visitor he said, "Not only was his robe exceeding white, but his whole person was glorious beyond description, and his countenance was truly like lightning. The room was very light, but much brighter immediately around his person. When I first looked upon him I was afraid, but the fear left me when he called me by name. He said he was a messenger sent from the presence of God to me, and that his name was Maroni; and also that God had a work for me to do, and that, because of it, my name should be both good and evil spoken of among all people. He said that there was a book deposited in the earth, written upon gold plates, and that this book gave an account of the former inhabitants of this continent and the source from which they sprang." Maroni gave him many instructions as to the work he was called to perform and, in a vision, he was shown the hill where the plates were, though he was commanded not to disturb them for four years. In 1827 Smith began the translation of the plates, and in 1830 the Book of Mormon appeared. This is what the Mormons claim to believe, but the proof is pretty conclusive that their sacred book is a part of a novel giving an account of the ten lost tribes of Israel, written by a Presbyterian minister, which was stolen by a printer from a publisher to whom it had been submitted.

With the few converts he had made in the State of New York, Smith moved to Ohio in 1831. The following year they came to Missouri, making Independence their headquarters. This was the zion of their prophecy, and it is now the Mormon mecca, for it has been revealed to them that the most magnificent of temples shall be erected there, that it shall be the headquarters of the church militant, and from it the final ascent shall be made when Gabriel's trumpet sounds. The Mormons increased rapidly and soon numbered many thousand. It was not long before there was an armed conflict between the Mormons and the Gentiles, as other citizens were called, and after several battles, in which a number were killed, Smith and his followers were driven from the State in 1833. They next went to Illinois where they founded the city of Nauvoo. It is claimed by the Utah branch that it was here Smith received the revelation permitting polygamy. Another crusade was now waged against them. Smith and his brother were killed in 1844 while attempting to escape from jail. The Mormons now became widely scattered, the majority going to Utah under Brigham Young, where they have greatly prospered.

Joseph Smith, Jr., son of the slain prophet, who is the First President of the Reorganized Church, and is now presiding over its ecumenical conference, refused to accompany Young, claiming he was teaching false doctrine. He and the church of which he is the head hold that his father never claimed to have a revelation permitting polygamy, and that he neither taught nor countenanced such a doctrine. However, several men have sworn that this revelation was submitted to them by Hiram Smith, who claimed to be with his brother Joseph when the revelation was received, and three women have made affidavits that they had been married to the prophet and had lived with him as his wives all at the same time. If their testimony be true, the Utah Mormons are the true followers of the prophet.

Of those who did not follow Young, some settled in the northwest and others came back to Missouri. The Reorganized Church has a temple at Independence, and its membership in all countries numbers about 30,000. This branch has established missions in many parts of the world, and at the present conference there are in attendance about one thousand delegates from all parts of America, Great Britain, the Sandwich and the Society Islands, and Australia. Its missionaries are working in every State of the Union except Georgia and the Carolinas. The organization of the church seems to be perfect, and there is system in all that is done. The church is governed by quorums of presidents, apostles, priests and elders. Every one appears to know his place and understand his work. Their standard of faith and doctrine is contained in three books—the Bible, the Book of Mormon, and the Doctrines and Covenants. The last named contains the revelations made to the church from time to time. A recent revelation forbids tobacco must not be used, a fact which the church is having some difficulty in enforcing. Immersion is practiced instead of infant baptism, and the laying on of hands. Applicants for admission to attend entertainments, theatres or lectures are not believe in everlasting punishment, but hold that every one will be punished in proportion to the sin he commits. They believe each will be rewarded for the good he has done, however little it may have been or however evil his life as a whole may have been. It is held that God often makes revelations to his people in dreams. Periods of fasting and prayer are frequently observed.

The most sensational event of the conference this year was the receipt of a communication from D. H. Mays, a prominent member of the quorum of the seventy, and a leading elder in the church. "Elder Mays in his epistle exhaustively examined and discussed the foundation of the doctrines of the church, and positively declared that he had come to the conclusion that it was all false, and consequently that he had decided to abandon the faith, and with his communication he tendered his resignation. Very bitterly and earnestly Elder Mays attacked the Mormon faith and work, and challenged the entire church to disprove his position." Some wanted the letter referred to Colonel Ingersoll, but President Smith said he doubted if Ingersoll would favor them with a report on it, so it was referred to the quorum of the seventy.

So much for the Mormon church, but I cannot resist the temptation to add to this article a word about an institution which has been a power for good in the west, and has done and is doing much to combat Mormonism and other evils—

WILLIAM JEWELL COLLEGE.

This college was founded in 1849 by the Missouri Baptist General Association. It was named in honor of Dr. William Jewell, its first and largest benefactor. Since its opening more than four thousand young men have been enrolled as students, at least four hundred of them studying for the ministry. The attendance this year numbers two hundred and fifty, representing some six or eight States. Its alumnæ are found in every honorable vocation, many of them now occupying positions of distinction and influence. The faculty numbers eleven—two are from Virginia, one from New York, one from Illinois, one from Kentucky, two from North Carolina (Prof. J. H. Simmons and the writer), and the rest are native Missourians. The productive endowment fund amounts to over $200,000. We now have two large brick and three frame buildings. A magnificent brick building for laboratories, etc., is to be erected next summer. Each of the two literary societies—the Philomathic and the Excelsior—has a handsomely furnished hall. Secret fraternities are allowed, though I doubt if anything in their favor can be said

Just one word in conclusion. Soon after arriving at Liberty I sent the RECORDER a letter giving first impressions. A longer residence has but confirmed and strengthened the opinions then expressed. I am convinced there are no people on the face of the earth nobler or more warm hearted than the friends of William Jewell College.

Do not think me disloyal to the Old North State, for

"There is a magical tie to the land of our home,
Which the heart cannot break, though the footsteps may roam."

CHARLES LEE SMITH.

Liberty, Mo., April 11, 1892.

Gen. James Longstreet says: "I was cured of indigestion and insomnia by Germetuer."

Peace Chapel and Ordination of Rev. K. C. Horner.

This church is located four miles west of Kittrell, on the main road leading to Oxford. Several years ago I preached one year as pastor of Tabb's Creek church, and would stop and preach at Sandy Fork or Fair Port, the name or names of the place where the church house, Peace Chapel, now stands. Taking a geographical view of the country, I concluded that it would be a suitable place for a church. I asked Bro. M. R. Pernell to go with me, and take it as one of his mission points, with which request he complied. Five years ago, Bro. Pernell preached his first sermon in the upper room of a tobacco factory. At the close of the sermon, I introduced Bro. Pernell to the congregation and told them why I had requested him to come, stating that I thought there ought to be a Baptist church at that place. Dr. Kit Pace kindly offered the upper room of his tobacco factory as a place to preach in, and we gratefully accepted his offer.

Bro. Pernell began the work, and through his earnest labor up to the close of last year, he and the people have succeeded in building quite a good house of worship, though it is not more than half finished. The church has a membership of thirty or forty.

The church has called Bro. K. C. Horner, now a student at Wake Forest, as her pastor.

On the fourth Sabbath in March, and at the request of the church, Rev. W. A. Smith and myself met to ordain Bro. Horner to the full work of the gospel ministry. After a thorough examination, it was decided that he be set apart to the work.

Bro. Smith preached the ordination sermon from 2 Tim. 4: 2, "Preach the word." The sermon was highly praised by many good judges of preaching, and Bro. Smith made lasting and good impressions upon the minds of the large and very attentive audience who heard the sermon.

The ordaining prayer was offered by the writer, and also the charge given.

The Bible was presented by Bro. Smith, the hands of the presbytery were imposed, and the benediction by Bro. Horner.

May the blessing of God, the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with the pastor and church. May much good be done by their united effort in building up the church and the saving of precious souls.

W. A. BARRETT.

Kittrell, April 11, 1892.

Gov. Hubbard of Texas was cured of dyspepsia and general debility by Germetuer.

Western Union of Raleigh Association.

This body will meet with Apex Baptist church, on Friday before the 5th Sunday in May, 1892.

11 a. m., sermon by Rev. C. W. Blanchard. Organization.

2 p. m.—"What is the Duty of the Churches toward Members who Persist in Dram-drinking?" Rev. J. R. Maynard.

3 p. m.—State Missions. Rev. J. M. White.

Saturday. 9:30 a. m.—Religious exercises.

10 a. m.—"Duty of the Churches toward the Young." Bro. J. D. Marcom.

11 a. m.—"Systematic Giving." Rev. W. S. Olive.

1:30 p. m.—"Should our Churches have Branch Sunday-schools?" Bro. A. Herndon.

2:30 p. m.—"How to Make our Sunday-schools more Interesting." Brother H. C. Olive.

Sunday. 9:30 a. m.—To be provided for by Superintendent of Apex Sunday-school.

11 a. m.—Sermon.

The churches of this section are requested to send with their letters a liberal contribution for Associational Missions. The Executive Committee thinks we ought at least to spend one thousand dollars this year within the bounds of our own Association, and, so far, receipts have been very small. Also, please send a contribution for minute fund, as, by advice of last session, we purpose publishing a record of the Union to spread before the various churches of our section.

The Clerks of the churches composing this Union will please see that the blank letters sent to them are made full and complete, as the items will be needed in the report of the Union.

We hope to have a large representation from all the churches and Sunday-schools, and make it one of the most profitable meetings of the kind we have had.

C. W. BLANCHARD, for Com.

How to get Thin.

The only safe and reliable treatment for obesity, or (superfluous fat) is the "Leverette" Obesity Pills, which gradually reduce the weight and measument, No injury or inconvenience—Leaves no wrinkles—acts by absorption.

This cure is founded upon the most scientific principles, and has been used by one of the most eminent Physicians of Europe in his private practice "for five years," with the most gratifying results.

Mr. Henry Perkins, 29 Union Park, Boston, writes: From the use of the "Leverette" Obesity Pills my weight has been reduced ten pounds in three weeks and my general health is very much improved. The principles of your treatment are fully indorsed by my family physician. In proof of my gratitude I herewith give you permission to use my name if desire to do so."

Price $2.00 per package, or three packages for $5.00 by registered mail. All orders supplied direct from our office.

The LEVERETTE SPECIFIC CO., 339 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., says: "Germetuer cured me of la grippe."

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

TASTELESS—EFFECTUAL FOR A DISORDERED LIVER

Taken as directed these famous Pills will prove marvellous restoratives to all enfeebled by the above or kindred diseases.

25 Cents a Box,

but generally recognized in England and, in fact throughout the world to be "worth a guinea a box," for the reason that they WILL CURE a wide range of complaints, and that they have saved to many sufferers not merely one but many guineas, in doctors' bills.

Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS! ESTABLISHED IN 1851.

Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Design, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information.

170 Trement St., Boston, Mass.

What Your Great Grandmother Did.

She hetcheled the flax and carded the wool, and wove the linen, and spun the tow, and made the clothes for her husband and ten children. She made butter and cheese, she dipped tallow candles, to light the house at night, and she cooked all the food for her household by an open fire place and a brick oven. Yes; and when she was forty years of age, she was already an old lady whose best days were over. Her shoulders were bent and her joints enlarged by hard work, and she wore spectacles and a cap.

Her great granddaughter, with all the modern conveniences for comfort, refinement and luxury, may be as charming and attractive at forty-five as at twenty. Especially is this true if she preserves her health by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which wards off all female ailments and irregularities, cures them if they already exist, keeps the life current healthful and vigorous, and enables the woman of middle age to retain the freshness of girlhood upon brow and cheek, the light of youth in her eyes, and its elasticity in her step.

Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come.

But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results — you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle-wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

Can you ask more?

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.

J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.

Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.

Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 25 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.
50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

THE CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
CINCINNATI, O., Sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

WANTED.

Agents to sell the "Life and Works of Spurgeon." Big commissions and liberal premiums. Send 35 cts. for a canvassing book and outfit without delay. The demand is great. The R. D. Robinson Publishing Co., Raleigh, N. C.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 18 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	†8 40 p m	*3 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 50 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 38 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 29 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 38 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	†8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 3.30 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.30 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Oxford 9.10 a m. Leave Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7: 5 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent.
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 28, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv. Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennettsville		12.40 p m
Lv Marion		1.27 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7.25 a m
Ar Greensboro			10.05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10.35 a m
Ar Madison			1.05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:00 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Marion		1:32 p m
Ar Bennettsville		4:22 p m
Lv Madison			2:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:35 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			8:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for April:—Cuba.

The Giving Alphabet.

All things come of thee, and of thine own have we given thee. 1 Chron. 29: 14.

Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse that there may be meat in my house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of Hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room enough to receive it. Mal. 3: 10.

Charge them that are rich in this world . . . . that they do good, that they be rich in good works, ready to distribute, willing to communicate. 1 Tim. 6: 17, 18.

Do good unto all men. Gal. 6: 10.

Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give, not grudgingly, or of necessity. 2 Cor. 9: 7.

Freely ye have received, freely give. Matt. 10: 8.

God loveth a cheerful giver. 2 Cor. 9: 7.

Honor the Lord with thy substance, and with the first fruits of all thine increase; so shall thy barns be filled with plenty, and thy presses shall burst with new wine. Prov. 3: 9, 10.

If there be first a willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not. 2 Cor. 8: 12.

Jesus said, it is more blessed to give than to receive. Acts 20: 35.

Knowing that whatsoever good thing any man doth, the same shall he receive of the Lord, whether he be bond or free. Eph. 6: 8.

Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt and where thieves break through and steal; but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal. Matt. 6: 19.

My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue, but in deed and in truth. 1 John 3: 8.

Now, concerning the collection for the saints, upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store as God hath prospered him. 1. Cor. 16: 1, 2.

Of all that thou shalt give me, I will surely give the tenth unto thee. Gen. 28: 22.

Provide yourselves bags which wax not old, a treasure in the heavens which faileth not, where no thief approacheth, neither moth corrupteth. Luke 12: 33.

Quench not the spirit. 1 Thess. 5: 16.

Render unto God the things that are God's. Matt. 22: 21.

See that ye abound in this grace also. 2 Cor. 8: 7.

The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of Hosts. Hag. 2: 8.

Unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall much be required. Luke 12: 48.

Vow and pay unto the Lord. Psalm 76: 11.

Whoso hath this world's goods, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him? 1 John 3: 17.

Ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though he was rich, yet for our sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich. 2 Cor. 8: 9.

Zealous of good works. Titus 2: 14.—Tidings.

(It is also suggested that the alphabet idea be used in children's meetings, each child being asked to bring a verse commencing with certain letter to next meeting, bearing on any desired topic.)

Woman in China.

One of the weakest parts of the Chinese social fabric is the insecurity of the life and happiness of women. But no structure is stronger than its weakest part, and Chinese society is no exception to this law. Every year thousands upon thousands of Chinese wives commit suicide; tens of thousands of other persons are thereby involved in serious trouble, hundreds of thousands of others are dragged in as co-partners in the difficulty, and millions of dollars are expended in extravagant funerals and ruinous lawsuits. And all this is the outcome of the Confucian theory that a wife has no rights which a husband is bound to respect.—Rev. Arthur H. Smith.

Rev. Dr. Hawthorne says that he was cured of catarrh and his wife of neuralgia and rheumatism by Germetuer.

Chowan Association.

The Chowan Association meets with the church at Ballard's Bridge, Chowan county, May 17th, 18th and 19th.

Persons coming by steamer "Lota" from Franklin or Edenton will be met at Holley's Wharf. Those coming on the Suffolk and Carolina Railroad will be met at Chowan Station.

The ministers of this Association at their meeting in Edenton, April 6th, passed a resolution, requesting the Association to give the second day entirely to the Centennial of Missions. A. W. BURFOOT.

A vain man's motto is, "Win gold and wear it;" a generous man's, "Win gold and share it;" a miser's, "Win gold and spare it;" a profligate's, "Win gold and spend it;" a broker's, "Win gold and lend it;" a gambler's, "Win gold and lose it;" a wise man's, "Win gold and use it."

Without a Peer.

Dr. Sylvanus Landrum once said before the Southern Baptist Convention that Mrs. M. J. Kennedy was without a peer in the preparation of Bible lessons for the little ones. She edits the Intermediate Quarterly of the American Baptist Publication Society.

An Important Measure Before Congress.

There is a bill before our present Congress that we hope to see passed, before that body adjourns. The bill is knows as "Senate 3825, H. of R. 5067." The object of this bill is to prevent the circulation of books (other than magazines, etc.), in the mails as second class matter at one cent a pound.

1. And the reasons for it are that it was not the intention of Congress to admit books into the mails at one cent a pound. The legal postage on books is eight cents a pound. The loss in revenue is $1,400,000 per annum on the present volume of matter.

2. The amount of papered covered books carried in the mails at one cent a pound, from a careful estimate, is 20,000,000 pounds annually, and it is increasing at the rate of two million pounds a year.

3. The actual cost of transpotation alone of the mails is about seven cents a pound. These books are carried entirely from publishers to news agents at one cent a pound. It cost the people of the United States, in actual cash, $1,200,000 in excess of postage received for the privilege of carrying these books, to say nothing of clerical work at Post offices.

4. All books (other than this class) are carried only at eight cents a pound, and other merchandise at sixteen cents a pound, and the weight of all such packages are limited at four pounds. Paper covered books are carried from publishers to news agents in packages weighing several hundred pounds each, at one cent a pound.

5. About ninety per cent. of these books, carried at one cent a pound, are foreign novels. One of the best catalogues of this class of publications shows that out of 1,142 books 1,031 are novels. In another out of 619 books 510 are novels, and only twenty are by American authors. In another out of 2,080 books, less than seventy-five are by American authors. Other catalogues make a much worse showing.

6. All the "flash story books" or "yellow-covered novels," and all the "blood curdling" boys' and girls' story books are carried in the mails at one cent a pound. Publishers of some of the latter class issue six each week.

The worst French novels are in this class. In Great Britain some of them are not allowed to be published or sold at all, and a publisher was imprisoned six months for issuing them. In France not a copy of certain publications are sold at any railroad newstand, being excluded on account of their filthiness. The attention of the French Government was called to this exclusion in the French Senate, and it was successfully defended on the ground of the immorality of the publications. In America all such novels, filled with impurity as they are, are not only sold everywhere, but entire editions are carried in the mails from the Atlantic to the Pacific at one cent a pound, or at a cost in cash to the people of six cents for each pound carried. Many other foreign novels are equally bad and receive the same favored entry to the United States mails.

7. The postage on school books, Bibles, prayer books, scientific, religious and miscellaneous books, bound and unbound (other than these entered as second-class matter), is eight cents a pound.

I give a sample of the twenty million pounds of books carried in the mails at one cent a pound, and those for which eight cents a pound is charged. I select the former almost at random from catalogues containing thousands of the same kind:

AT ONE CENT A POUND.

Creeping Cat the Cadoo; or, the Red and White Pard.
Red Skin Tom; or, The Demon's Trail.
Little Quick-shot, the Scarlet Scent, or The Dead Face of Daggerville.
Denver Doll, the Detective Queen.
Manhattan Mike, the Bowery Blood.
Wild Emma, the Girl Brigand.
Eagle Kit, the Boy Demon.
The Queen of Fates Revenge.
The Girl Avenger. The Girl's Dead Shot.
French and other foreign novels.
Five to ten per cent. of helpful and unobjectionable able publications.

AT EIGHT CENTS A POUND.

Bibles.	Medical Books.
School Books.	Scientific Books.
Prayer Books.	Religious Books.
Law Books.	Miscellaneous Books.

In this bill we propose no censorship of the mails and no discrimination against any book or class of books. We offer no objections to novels of home or foreign authors, whether good, bad or indifferent but we do ask that all books shall stand on the same level, and that foreign novels shall pay as much postage as is exacted for good and helpful books.

HOW TO ASSIST IN SECURING THE ENACTMENT OF THESE BILLS.

1. Write a personal letter at once to the Senators from your State, (mentioning the bills by number, Senate 3825), and the member of congress from your district, (H. of R. 5067), and the Representatives on the Post Office Committee from your State, giving your reason for desiring the passage of the bills, and asking them to use their influence for them.

2. Interest as many other persons as you can and get them to write similar letters.

3. Interest your local papers in the matter and send items marked to Senators and Congressmen.

4. Do not depend on printed matter, but write a personal letter, showing your own interest in the bills.

5. As Congress will adjourn in a few weeks, immediate action is necessary.

6. Senators and members are desirous of catering to the wishes of their constituents when they know what they are.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Dr. Parkhurst's Crime.

And now it seems that the gamblers, the saloon-keepers, the houses of prostitution and their patrons, all cry out against Dr. Parkhurst because of his methods. They denied everything that he said in his previous sermon, and shrieked aloud for proof. He then, at his own cost, employed detectives, and, not satisfied with this, he himself visited the infamous resorts that he might not speak from hearsay, but from personal knowledge. He has laid before the Grand Jury some of the facts which he learned; the Ledger states that much of the evidence is of a character that cannot be published in that family paper, which is very likely. There are a great many things which are too bad to be described, though not too bad to exist. If proof were demanded of the existence of some offensive and pestilential nuisance, of some center of leprosy and filth disease, it is quite likely that people would be shocked at the report brought by an eye-witness.

But what would these objectors have? They cried out against the absence of evidence; and now that there is evidence, they do not seem nearly so happy as an inexperienced person might have expected.

But it was his methods! Oh, yes! He should have dropped a postal card to the heads of each of these establishments, asking a few questions, such as, "Will you kindly inform me if you are in the prostitution business, and what is the number of your inmates, and what is their age and nativity, and what Sunday-school they attend, and what is your average daily number of patrons?" That would have been unexceptionable; it would have been strictly ministerial. These excellent persons are inflamed with a hallowed zeal for the sanctity of the ministerial profession. They are so afraid that Dr. Parkhurst has lowered the standard.

We put ourselves on record as standing with Dr. Parkhurst; he not only acted from good motives (which is saying nothing), but he did what was wholly justifiable and right, except that he did what the authorities themselves ought to have done, or, rather what they ought to have made it unnecessary for any one to do.

Criminals and manufacturers of criminals are very apt to find the means used against them objectionable just in proportion as these means are effective. Dr. Parkhurst may perhaps recall with pleasure the words of his fellow-clergyman, the Resident Canon of St. Paul's:

"It is not the practice with the destroyers of vermin to allow the little victims a veto upon the weapons used against them. Otherwise, we should have one set of vermin banishing small tooth combs; another, protesting against mouse traps; a third, prohibiting the finger and thumb; a fourth, exclaiming against the intolerably infamy of using soap and water. It is impossible, however, to listen to such pleas. They must all be caught, killed, and cracked in the manner and by the instruments which are found most efficacious to their destruction; and the more they cry out, the greater plainly is the skill used against them."

And if all this apply to small criminals, how much more to the greater criminals who are destroying the very life and soul of our communities and of the Nation!—National Baptist.

Read God's word topically.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Divers Definations.

Time—The servant of eternity.
The future—An eternity of to morrows.
Now—The crown jewel in the coronet of endeavors.
The Past—The mighty urn of countless yesterdays.
To-Day—A draft on the bank of Time that is always cashed at sight.
Yesterday—Our demon or our good angel, as we neglected or improved it.
Moments—The plaything of forever broken and cast aside as soon as tried.—Ex.

From the Tar Heel Country.

Knott, Hennesee & Co., Brindleton, N. C., writes that Huckleberry Cordial sells better with every satisfaction for bowel troubles and children teething, and commend it to every mother, the physician of the home.

The force of habit carries some to church, and to kill that much time, or to be pleasantly entertained for an hour, serves to quiet conscience, and to produce a feeling of self-satisfaction. But to "worship God"—"a Spirit," "in spirit and in truth," does not really enter into the contemplation of the average attendant. They scarcely hear the text, and half an hour afterward they could not give a meagre outline of the sermon. There may have been a pleasurable sensation, as we all feel on listening to good music; but food for thought, or the marrow and fatness of the gospel, is not even eaten, much less digested and assimilated.—Ex.

Hon. H. J. Chamberlain of Chicago says: "Germeteur cured me of an old case of dyspepsia."

Better lock your lips and throw the key away than to speak truth in an unlovely spirit to thy brother in Christ.

In consequence of winter diet and lack of open air exercise, the whole physical mechanism becomes impaired. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the proper remedy, in the spring of the year, to strengthen the appetite, invigorate the system, and expel all impurities from the blood.

All who have been great and good without christianity, would have been much greater and better with it.—Colton.

What Can Cuticura Do

Everything that is cleansing, purifying, and beautifying for the Skin, Scalp, and Hair of Infants and Children, the CUTICURA REMEDIES will do. They speedily cure itching and burning eczemas, and other painful and disfiguring skin and scalp diseases, cleanse the scalp of scaly humors, and restore the hair. Absolutely pure, agreeable, and unfailing, they appeal to mothers as the best skin purifiers and beautifiers in the world. Parents, think of this, save your children years of mental as well as physical suffering by reason of personal disfigurement added to bodily torture. Cures made in childhood are speedy, permanent, and economical. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"All about Skin, Scalp, and Hair" free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

ACHING SIDES AND BACK, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains and Weaknesses relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster, the first and only pain-killing plaster.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

CONSUMPTION
T POSITIVELY CURED. T
H H
E E
Camm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any kind, Camm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by E. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.
B B
E E
S S
T T

A Pain Destroying Remedy.

DR. WORTHINGTON'S

Instant Pain Cure

AND BEST SOUTHERN REMEDY FOR

COLIC, CRAMPS, CHOLERA MORBUS, DIARRHŒA, DYSENTERY, NEURALGIA, &C., &C.

Manufactured by official order for the Confederate States Army and Navy. Twenty-five cents per bottle.

BOYKIN, CARMER & CO., Druggists, Baltimore, Manufacturers.

Peace Institute,
RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 56th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.) Principal.

Please mention this paper.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c.

D. L. Gore,
120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address Hon. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of a two cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of a two-cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

Upon the receipt of a two-cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

FOR MUSICAL PEOPLE

Easter Music. All kinds for Sunday-Schools and Churches. Complete list furnished on application. F. W. Root's New Course in Singing for the Male and Female Voice. The clearest and most concise methods in existence. Price of each volume $1.50 in paper; $2.00 in cloth. Story of a Musical Life, by Geo. F. Root. A most fascinating autobiography, by one of America's best known composers. Price, $1.25. King Redeemer, by Jas. R. Murray, a charming new Cantata for children. Price 30 cents. Popular College Songs. The best collection in the market, contains the latest and best songs, 128 pages. Price 50 cents. Anthems Jewels, by H. R. Danks. Anthems for opening and closing of services, offertory, etc., etc., 84 pages. Price 25 cents. Collections of Latest and Best Vocal and Instrumental Music. Complete lists of contents furnished on application.

THE MUSICAL VISITOR contains anthems and voluntaries for choirs and organists, in addition to choice reading matter. Published monthly. Price 15 cents a single copy, $1.50 a year. Special terms to clubs.

THE JOHN CHURCH CO., Cincinnati, O.
Root & Sons Music Co., 156 Wabash Ave., Chicago. | The John Church Co., 19 E. 16th St., New York.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administratrix upon the will annexed, of the estate of Rayford Bowden, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the undersigned at Smithfield, N. C., on or before the 5th, 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.

A. J. STALLINGS, Adm'r.

Meeting of College Representatives in Atlanta.

The following is the program for the meeting of the Representatives of our colleges, to be held some time during the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta in May.

1. "To what extent my Students share in the Government of the College?" President C. R. Taylor, D. D., Wake Forest, N. C.

2. How may Colleges be of Service to Each Other?" President G. A. Nunnally, D. D., Mercer University, Ga.

3. "Colleges and Affiliation?" President R. M. Dudly, D. D., Georgetown, Ky.

4. "The Bible as a College Text-book." President Chas. Manly, D. D., Furman University, S. C.

5. "Examinations as Tests of Scholarship." Professor J. H. Fuqua, A. M., Bethel College, Ky.

6. "College Athletics." President W. R. Rothwell, D. D., William Jewell College, Mo.

7. "Secondary Schools." President B. T. Riley, D. D., Howard College, Ala.

8. "Co-education in Colleges." President W. A. Montgomery, D. D., Carson Newman College, Tenn.

President Rothwell and Montgomery are not heard from yet, but we hope they will be on hand to discuss the topics assigned them.

W. S. RYLAND,
A. G. EMERSON.
H. H. HARRIS,
Committee.
W. S. RYLAND,
Chairman of Com. at Russellville, Ky.

The annoyance of breaking lamp-chimneys need not be borne.

Get tough glass chimneys.

Macbeth's "pearl top" and "pearl glass" are tough against heat; they do not break, except from accident.

They are also clear, transparent, not misty or milky; they fit and stand upright; shape and proportions are right to direct the draft upon the flame.

They cost a little more than rough and wrong chimneys of common glass that break continually.

Pittsburg. GEO. A. MACKETT & CO.

Malaria.

The term "Malaria" covers a vast field for ingenious guessing as to the cause of disease, and is a convenient refuge for the physician when hard pressed to name one of the many nameless ills that make life a burden. At the same time, while malaria is commonly recognized by practical experience of its effects, no one has yet been able to give a comprehensive defination of the term satisfactory in any considerable degree.

Practical experience has, however, taught us that our definition of disease is the correct one, namely, that it is simply decreased vitality, caused by absorption of gases positive in their electrical quality into the body. These gases are mostly hydrogenous compounds, as found in marsh, or swamp-gas, sewer-gas, illuminating, and other gases. They are present everywhere in the atmosphere, in greater or less proportion. The electrical preponderance of the human body is intensely negative; hence it becomes a point of attraction for these positive gases, and they gradully accumulate, causing congestion of the blood in the capillaries, where it becomes so sluggish that it is not returned to the heart, as it should be, nor oxygenized in the lungs. This congestion gradually extends through the system, involving most hopelessly the weakest organs first, when with the reinforced power the stronger organs are attacked, till the mastery is complete and death ensues. If the liver is first attacted, the proper secretion of bile is interrupted, the organ becomes engorged, the bile, a deadly poison, which fills the system, sinks the already impaired vitality, and silently, but surely, invests life's every resource. Probably nothing is felt at first to indicate the deadly progress of the work going on. Possibly a chilly sensation, followed by a warm glow, comes after awhile, and little or no notice is taken of it. The process is repeated, slightly intensified with each return, till it becomes a well defined case of chills and fever, the chill representing the work of the deadly congestion, the fever nature's revolt against the invader.

The physician is called in and immediately administers quinine. Why? Because he has been so taught by his "system" of medicine.

Does he know that it is nine-tenths oxygen, and that is has tonic virtue solely on that account?

If he considers the case one of congestive chills, he will rub with pepper or mustard. Here again is oxygen in an almost pure state, but unfortunately, in each case, mixed with a modicum of other elements that are not only valueless, but absolutely harmful.

Another most important point now appears. This strong chemical (quinine) is dumped into the stomach regardless of the acid diseased condition of that sensitive organ, or the character of its contents. If it [illegible] any substance for which its oxygen has a stronger affinity than for the morbid accumulation in the liver causing all the trouble, a chemical reaction immediately takes place, a new substance is formed in the stomach, and fortunate indeed is it for the victim if the so called "remedy" does not become "worse than the disease."

[illegible] the child is broken; immediately [illegible] is charged, and an [illegible] is put to "pass that way." [illegible] does the [illegible] appear [illegible] another very [illegible]

posite in electrical properties to the quinine and neutralizing its effects; for the "theory" demands that the fever must be kept down at all risks.' Between this wreck-strewn Scylla and Charybdis the patient is kept tossing about until the disease has become chronic, unless there is constitutional strength sufficient, so that nature asserts herself with such a powerful hand that the patient is recovered in spite of the drugs.

The Electropoise antiquates this method of proceeding, as the steam engine and modern railway did the "prairie schooner" and ox team of celebrated '49. True, both are to-day methods of travel, and a man can now make the trip by wagon as well as then, if he chooses; for what has been done can be repeated. But for what reason? All considerations of convenience, economy, comfort, speed, and safety bid "take the train." And no less potent is the argument for a choice of the Electropoise to exterminate disease, instead of the rum and poison agencies of the drug-shops. And the reason is not far to seek; for nature's sole need for victory in this contest is simple—pure oxygen—which has been expelled by the invasion of its province by the hydrogenous positive element. The body is dying only because it lacks this one element, oxygen, which it must have to live. And why should it not have it? It is not all about it at every moment, awaiting its call? Why should man rack his ingenuity, waste his life, and sacrifice that of untold thousands annually by his efforts to find in plants, minerals, toads, and serpents, loathsome and deadly poisons with which to drug, torture, deform, and curs his fellow-man? Are there not ills enough, and sufficiently terrible, without this? And what the need of thousands more as deadly, compounded in unending variation, all being hurled on the unfortunate? Is there any need, and, if so, how shall the lack be supplied? Providentially, this need is exactly met by the Electropoise. It seizes hold on nature's own remedy for every ill, and dealing out this veritable "Elixir of Life" applies it to every needy part in the exact proportion to its relative lack. It guesses not, does not work uncertainly nor indirectly, but with exactly the difference between the work of the Almighty and that of man, it proceeds to business, does it work well, and for permanent results. In medicine, human ignorance must first name the disease, then find a remedy for the name, then a dose for the remedy, and finally a time for the dose.

With the Electropoise, the only question is what shall be the quantity, and even here nature has set so many signal stations along the line, that to go wrong requires an obtuseness far more marvelous than the skill of right practices. The Electropoise does not treate symptoms of diseases, but gives all its attention to the man. His vital forces receive such abundant reinforcements, that nature, rallying from her partial defeat, hurles disease from the helpless victim, and the cure is complete. Nor is the victory less effective or permanent because wrought silently, as was the work of the foe.

Chills and fever, typhoid fever, yellow chills, pneumonia, cholera-morbus, acute bronchitis, diphtheria—and in fact, any disease, acute or chronic, if taken at the stage when a physician is usually called—is cured in hours by this means, where medicine requires weeks, months, or, what is more common, fails entirely. In acute diseases it is impossible to go wrong. A child who can put on and take off the instrument will cure such cases at random, for to arrest its process is cure. In chronic cases, where both arrest of process and repair of waste wrought during long years must be accomplished, more time, patience, and skill is required.

When in Jacksonville, in 1888, treating yellow fever with the Electropoise, the writer one morning found a negro at the stable shaking with a violent chill. "Boss, I has dese ebery yeah as natchell as leaves on de trees." He was told the poise would kill them all at once, though it might be this one could not now be stopped. He was put to bed in half an hour, a strong power applied, and was soon in such a burning fever that he had to stop treatment. That night he reported himself well, and had no more trouble during the month I was there.

Rev. C. N. Morrow writes from Hawthorn, Fla.: "I treated Mrs. Price for malarial fever when her husband, a physician, had abondoned her case as hopeless. She was cold up to her knees. Immediate relief was given by the use of the Electropoise, and Dr. Price acknowledges that it saved her life. I have broken fever in fifteen minutes, and cured more than a dozen cases in from two hours to four days."

STATESVILLE, N. C., July 30, 1891.
ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE COMPANY,
No. 1425 New York Avenue.

It is with great pleasure that I write in testimony of the wonderful success I have had with the Electropoise, arresting, in from two to three applications, the most acute billious attacks; and, used intelligently in fever cases, not a single case has failed to yield readily in from three to four days. I can never cease to be thankful for its wonderful results, used now for one year on every member of my family—not having given a single dose of medicine to any member during the whole year.

MRS. C. A. CARLTON.

Rev. H. B. Pratt, Tlalpam, Mexico, says: "I have just seen a case of chills and fever of more than a year's standing (after the fever consequent on the last chill, had lasted two days and a half with unabated violence) broken after three hours' application, and the patient pronounced himself well after four days' application."

Rev. N. W. Edmunds, of Sumter, S. C., says: For two years past Mrs. E. has suffered with what was regarded as malarial attacks, which began about May and continued through the summer and fall. Her sickness last summer was more severe and more protracted than that of the year before, and we therefore looked forward with apprehension to its return the present season. Early in the year she began the use of the Electropoise, and has continued to use it ever since without the use of other remedies. At present her health is excellent, and there are no indications of return of her malady.

For all information about the Electropoise, address, Atlantic Electropoise Co., Washington, D. C.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28–30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
Caldwell—Lower Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Cedar Creek—Cedar Creek ch., Mar. 25–27.
Columbus—Porter Swamp ch., April 30, May 1.
Eastern—Lisbon ch., April 5–7.
Elkin—Rock Creek ch., June 11, 12.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch;, May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
South Yadkin—Mocksville ch., May 27–29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27–29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27–29.
West Chowan—Aulander ch., April 19.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. SIX months treatment for $5.00.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 13, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY.
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

The Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., and return at rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale May 3d to 6th inclusive, good returning until May 17th, 1892.

Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville Railroad to furnish any extra sleepers or coaches necessary for the accommodation of delegates and others who will attend the Convention. The delegates from Eastern and Middle Carolina will leave May 4th.

Leave Goldsboro, via R. & D. R. R., at 12:15 p. m.; Raleigh, 6:25 p. m.; Durham, 7:32 p. m.; Greensboro, 10:25 p. m.; arrive at Atlanta May 5th, at 12:20 p. m. This will give delegates ample time to get located and refreshed for the opening of the Convention, Friday morning, May 6th. Should they leave on next train following they would arrive at Atlanta at 11:45 p. m. Sleeping car fare from Greensboro to Atlanta will be $2.50 for double berth. Two persons can occupy one berth without any extra charge. Those who do not take sleeper will have no change of cars between Greensboro and Atlanta, as the entire train runs through without change. All who expect to attend the Convention will please write the undersigned, stating at what place they will join the delegation, and how much space they will want in sleeper, in order that ample accommodations may be provided. The rate will be one lowest first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 3d to 6th inclusive.

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.85; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 12.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

PRICES OF BOARD.

For such delegates as prefer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $3.00 to 2.00; Markham House, 2.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.50; Grant House, 1.50; board at first-class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the Convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with this request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

There is ease for those far gone in consumption—not recovery—ease.

There is cure for those not far gone.

There is prevention—better than cure—for those who are threatened.

Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING and Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil, even if you are only a little thin.

Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & Co., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3220, New York City, N. Y.

500 NEW SUNDAY SCHOOLS For 1892

Through the liberality of a few generous persons the American Baptist Publication Society is enabled to help in the organization of new Sunday-schools, white or colored.

TEN DOLLARS

will be given in books or periodicals to each of the first 500 needy Sunday-schools founded between May and December, 1892.

CONDITIONS.

1. The School must be strictly a new school, organized within the limit of time above named.
2. It must be a Baptist School.
3. It must be unable to purchase all its supplies.
4. It must have promise of permanent existence.
5. It must not have received another grant from this Society.

Application should be made to Dr. C. C. Bitting, Missionary Secretary, 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

B. GRIFFITH, D. D., Secretary.

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $2.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
130 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
74 W. Fourth Street, Cincinnati. 13 East 16th Street, New York.
Root & Sons Music Co., Chicago.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 194½ Whitehall St.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies occurring every day. Registration fee $2.00. Send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION. MISS CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg. NASHVILLE, TENN.

It is simply a WALK OVER
- - - - getting trade on
OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS
Their fire is never out. A hundred thousand lovers are enveloped by their smoke. - - - - -
Beautifully made from a choice combination of stock, and only TEN 17 CENTS for FIVE.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CANT BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

The Model Service.

Dear Recorder:—I would like to know if there are many good old consecrated christians like one I have talked with to day. She said she had been to one old-fashioned church service, where the preacher would have three or four songs and prayer before preaching and songs and prayer after preaching. She said, "I cannot enjoy my church service. They do not have but one short prayer and a fashionable song on the organ, and led by the youngest of the church, and a part of them not members of the church."

Oh! I want to know if God will compromise with that kind of service? Would it not be better to have more time spent in prayer and song service, and have it so the old of our churches would feel like they were not knocked out of the service by the fashionable organ, &c.

Then I want to know if God will compromise with the church that opens its doors to Alliance mass-meetings, school entertainments and festivals?

"Old-fashioned religion is good enough for me." E. H. J.

Col. I. W. Avery of Atlanta says: "I was cured of kidney troubles and paralysis by Germetuer."

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

State News.

Union county is to have a new $12,000 jail.

A new sanitarium to cost $15,000 will be erected at Asheville.

It is stated that Southport, a town which claims 1,800 population, has no shoemaker.

Mrs. Julia E. Wilson, wife of Judge Thos. J. Wilson, died at her residence in Winston last Thursday.

Lawrence and Rackle, brownstone quarrymen at Sanford, Moore county, have made an assignment.

Concord people have voted a subscription of $75,000 to the building of the Concord and Southern Railroad.

The Newbern Journal states that in a few weeks more the annual pony pennings at the banks will commence.

About 6,000 gallons of liquor distilled by moonshiners was captured in Wilkes county recently by revenue officers.

The Washington Gazette says that more than a hundred thousand eels have been shipped from that place recently.

The Atlantic National Bank of Wilmington, N. C., capital $125,000, was authorized on the 18th inst., to begin business.

The corner stone of New Hanover's new court house in Wilmington was laid with appropriate ceremonies on the 20th inst.

The Erwin Cotton Mill Company has been organized at Durham with a capital of $125,000, to be increased to $500,000 if necessary.

Mr. Richard Bradley, one of the oldest native white citizens of Wilmington, died in that city on the 18th inst. in his eighty-first year.

Congress appropriates $100,000 for the improvement of the Cape Fear river below Wilmington, and $15,000 for improvements above that city.

Ras Walker, a sixteen year old boy living near Smith Grove, Davie county, committed suicide on the 20th inst. by shooting himself through the head with a shot gun.

Miss Mamie M. Clayton, sixteen years old, was thrown from a wagon by a runaway mule near Franklinton on Sunday, the 17th, and received injuries from which she died.

On the 18th inst., at Flat Rock, Henderson county, John S. Jones shot and instantly killed L. B. C. Brookshire, his uncle. Family troubles were the cause of the homicide.

Hail and frost have done great damage to truck in Halifax county recently. It is stated that Dr. Furgerson lost 60,000 cabbage, two acres in onions, and 5,000 watermelon plants.

On a farm near Goldsboro during the storm last Friday evening, lightning struck and instantly killed Mr. Hosea Evans and his child which he had in his arms. His wife was also badly stunned.

Nelson Murdock, the young Charlotte negro charged with killing policeman Moran, has been released, no evidence being found against him. It appears that his alleged confession was simply extorted from him by threats.

Will McGee and Chas. Bryan were jailed at Fayetteville on the 18th, charged with the murder of John Adams, colored, of Fayetteville. The killing was done Sunday morning, the 17th inst., several miles below Tatums, in South Carolina.

The dead body of Charley Adams, the fifteen-year old son of Mr. Joseph Adams of Cedar Falls was found in the river near the cotton factory on the 21st. The boy was subject to fits, and is supposed to have fallen in the river during an attack.

Sunday night, the 17th inst., at Greensboro, Charles Blackman, a negro, shot and instantly killed his wife, whom he had before beaten. Before killing his wife he shot at another woman, the ball missing her only a few inches. Blackman was captured.

The annual convention of the King's Daughters will be held in Wilmington, N. C., May 18th, 19th and 20th. Delegates expecting to attend will please notify the president of the United Circle, Mrs. F. D. Swindell, 408 Mulberry street, or the secretary, Mrs. S. H. Bantz, 807 Walnut street.

Rev. M. C. Cole, New Orleans, says: "Germetuer cured me of rheumatism and indigestion."

General News.

Miss Amelia B. Edwards, the well known novelist and lecturer, is dead.

An anarchist paper, the Commonweal, published in London, has been seized by the police.

Very great damage to the vineyards in France has been done by recent cold weather.

Eight or ten miners were drowned in the Lyttle mine, near Minorsville, Pa., on the 20th inst.

The steamship Dresden, from Bremen, Germany, landed 2,287 immigrants in Baltimore on the 20th.

A fire in Kenosha, Wis., on April 19th, destroyed property on several squares. Loss about $700,000.

The Tombigee river in Florida recently overflowed its banks, and over one hundred people were drowned.

Earthquake shocks were felt in California on the 18th and 21st. Considerable damage was done to buildings, &c.

The national silver committee have decided to call a national bi-metallic convention in Washington City May 26th.

The Louisiana anti-lottery Democratic State ticket headed by Murphy J. Foster has been elected by a plurality of 40,000.

Charles Rosenfelds, a young diamond merchant of New York, and a gambler, committed suicide in Paris, France, on the 21st.

The New York legislature adjourned on the 21st. Governor Flower immediately called an extra session to meet Monday of this week.

The Moosic Powder Mills at Scranton, Pa., were destroyed by an explosion on the 13th inst. Five men were killed and twenty seriously injured.

The Seaboard Air Line system, which controls the Georgia, Carolina and Northern road, has withdrawn from the Southern passenger association.

J. L. Osmond of New York is to be electrocuted during the week beginning June 6th, for the murder of his wife and Jno. C. Burchell, last October.

Herr Jaeger, chief cashier of the great banking house of the Rothschilds in Frankfort, Germany, has skipped. He is said to have stolen 1,700,000 marks.

The police of the city of Paris threaten to strike on May day if their wages are not increased. The anarchists are reported as being delighted at this state of affairs.

At a dinner held by the members of the New York City Real Estate Exchange last week it was estimated that nearly a billion dollars worth of property was represented.

The government of the United States will pay the Italian government 125,000 francs ($25,000) as indemnity to be paid the families of the Italians killed in the Parish prison at New Orleans.

A delegation of colored men from New York called on President Harrison on the 21st and presented resolutions of a colored meeting in New York in regard to outrages against negroes at the South.

A disastrous fire occurred at Butte, Mont., on the 13th inst., destroying the smelter of the Butte and Boston company. Loss, $350,000. Five hundred men were thrown out of employment by the fire.

Big frauds have recently been discovered in the New York custom house. Employes have been robbing the government by undervaluing imports. Several arrests have been made and others will follow.

At the meeting of the Confederate veterans in New Orleans recently, the old officers were re-elected. Gen. John B. Gordon is commander-in-chief. The next re-union will be held in Birmingham, Ala.

The first armor plate of American manufacture was secured in its place on the California coast defence ship Monterey recently. The plate was of nickle-steel, thirteen inches thick, and weigned 40,000 pounds.

The property of General B. F. Butler in Lowell, Mass., was attached on the 19th inst. for $50,000 by the Jewett Publishing Company of Boston in a suit growing out of the printing of the General's memoirs.

The steamship Conemaugh, with a cargo of about six million pounds of flour, 88,000 pounds of rice, and other provisions, for the famine sufferers of Russia, sailed for Riga, Russia, last Saturday evening from Philadelphia.

Seven attempts were made to burn Louisville, Ky., on the night of the 19th. In four hours fifteen buildings were destroyed, causing a loss of $16,000. All were of incendiary origin. One or two arrests have been made.

Charles Miller, a boy murderer, was hanged in Cheyenne, Wyo., on the 22d. Miller was seventeen years old, and in 1890, when fifteen years old, shot and killed Waldo Emerson and Ross T. Wishbaugh in a box car, a few miles from East Cheyenne.

Burglars recently broke into the National Bank at Mountville, Pa., and blew off the vault doors with dynamite. The noise was heard by neighbors, and the burglars made their escape without getting any plunder. A large amount of money was in the safe.

A press dispatch from Seattle, Washington, says that two thousand Chinamen are distributed along the Washington and Montana line awaiting the expiration of the exclusion law on May 6th, in order to cross into the United States from British Columbia.

Rev. H. H. Rivers, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., says: "I was cured of neuralgia by Germetuer."

Advices from British Columbia state that an increase of 20 per cent. has taken place in the value of sealskins within a week, owing to the large decrease in the coast catch this year.

Sam Owen, a young man living in the city of Bristol, Tenn., has a map of the State of North Carolina wrought on a piece of white silk with a needle and thread by his great grandmother, Harriet B. Harden, in the year 1819, when she was a fourteen-year-old girl in the Raleigh Academy. It is a rare and valued curiosity. Mr. Owen is going to take it to the world's fair.—Cor. Richmond Dispatch.

Rev. M. H. Wells of Birmingham says: "La grippe and rheumatism were quickly and permanently cured by Germetuer."

The great bridge over the Mississippi River at Memphis is about completed, and will be opened for traffic on May 12th. It is three miles long, with its approaches. The bridge proper is three-quarters of a mile in length. It has five spans, the longest of which is 794 feet, the third longest in the world; 9,000 tons of steel have been used in its construction, and its cost is about $3,000,000.—Baptist Reflector.

Sick headache? Beecham's pills will relieve.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—W M S, First ch, Raleigh, Central, $15.49; Double Springs ch, King's Mountain, 12.00; New Bethel ch, ditto, 10.03; Corinth ch, South Yadkin, 2.00; Christian Harbor ch, W Chowan, 3.00; Fort Barnwell ch, Cape Fear, 1.00; W M S, Mt Vernon ch, Central, 3.00; Waughtown ch, Pilot Mountain, 2.86; Statesville ch, South Yadkin, 7.35; Sandy River Association, 5.00; M A Belcher, Mt Vernon ch, Central, 1.00; Olive's Chapel ch, Mt Zion, 2.72. Total, 65.45. Previously reported, 1,493.23. Total this year, 1,558.68.

Foreign Missions—Pleasant Grove ch, Liberty, $2.55; W M S, First ch, Raleigh, Central, 19.02; Holly Grove ch, W Chowan, 13.00; J W Robertson, Kittrel, N C. 1.00; J W Snider, Monroe, N C, 1.00; Cross Roads ch, Yadkin, 15.00; S S, ditto, ditto, 5.00; Flat Rock ch, Central, 1.00; Baptist Grove ch, Little River, 25c; Macedonia ch, ditto, 25c; Pine Forest ch, ditto, 30c; Beaver Dam ch, King's Mountain, 3.00; King's Mountain ch, ditto, 3.00; Double Springs ch, ditto, 30.00; Shelby ch, ditto, 15.19; New Bethel ch, ditto, 25.00; Galatia ch, W Chowan, 7.16; Mt Moriah ch, Mt Zion, 3.03; Antioch ch, ditto, 6.45; Cane Creek ch, ditto, 5 27; Forest Home ch, Ashe and Alleghany, 2.46; Cedar Creek ch, Cedar Creek, 2.50; Cool Spring ch, Mt Zion, 2.17; Centre Hill ch, Chowan, 3.50; Olivet ch, ditto, 1.00; Whiteville Grove ch, ditto, 4.50; Beren ch, ditto, 22.50; Chappell's Hill ch, Chowan, 2.00; Great Marsh ch, Robeson, 3.00; John's Chapel, Eatman, N C, 2.10; W M S, Mt Hebron ch, Central, 1.95; W M Kivett, Carthage, N C, 2.50; Green's X Roads ch, W Chowan, 5.00; Edenton ch, Chowan (Miss Knight), 35.00; E City ch, ditto, ditto, 67.81; Burlington ch, Mt Zion, 2.75; Kernersville ch, Liberty, 6.78; New Friendship ch, ditto, 10.00; Pleasant Union ch, Eastern, 2.00; Spring Hill ch, Richmond, 5.15; W M S, ditto, ditto, 7.35; Pine Level ch, Raleigh, 1.00; Sardis ch, ditto, 1.00; Four Oaks ch, ditto, 1.00; Shiloh ch, ditto, 1.00; Mt Gilead ch, Montgomery, 3.00; Bruington ch, South Fork, 7.00; Plymouth ch, Chowan, 10.00; Waxhaw ch, Union, 1.80; Mt Pleasant ch, ditto, 1.10; Cape Fear ch, Cedar Creek, 2.10; Statesville ch, South Yadkin, 15.00; St John's ch, W Chowan, 12.00; Sandy Run Asso, 16.41; Leaksville ch, 22.74; M A Belcher, Mt Vernon ch, Central, 1.00; Teachey's ch, Eastern, 3.00; Mt Holly ch, South Fork, 5.00; W M S, Rockingham ch, Richmond, 6.85; Sunbeams, First ch, Wilmington, Eastern, 3.63; Jonesboro ch, Sandy Creek, 3.04; Sandy Springs ch, Yadkin, 1.00; Mountain Creek ch, Flat River, 21 06; S S, Mountain Creek ch, ditto, 5.00; Forestville ch, Central, 22.45; Brassfield ch, ditto, 28.74; Dr D I Watson, Southport, 2.00; Concord ch, Flat River, 14.20; W M S, ditto, ditto, (North China), 4.75; W M S, Lumberton ch, Robeson, 11.00; S S Union, Carmichael, ditto, 60c; Reynoldson ch, Chowan, 8.94; W M S, ditto, ditto, 2.61; Cool Spring ch, ditto, 2.50; Gum Spring ch, Sandy Creek, 1.83; Bethany ch, W Chowan, 10.00. Total, 602.84. Previously reported, 2,744.99. Total this year, 3,347.83.

Home Missions—Holly Grove ch, West Chowan, $3.00; W M S, First ch, Raleigh, Central, 9.49; Mrs J W Robertson, Kittrell, N C, 1.00; Baptist Grove ch, Little River, 25c; Macedonia ch, ditto, 30c; Pine Forest ch, ditto, 30c; Double Springs ch, King's Mountain, 3.00; New Bethel ch, ditto, 10.00; Antioch ch, Mt Zion, 2.87; Howells' ch, Meck & Cab, 2.00; Centre Hill ch, Chowan, 3.00; Olivet ch, ditto, 5.50; Whiteville Grove ch, ditto, 2.00; Beres ch, ditto, 15.00; Chappell's Hill ch, ditto, 5.50; Great Marsh ch, Robeson, 3.00; W M Kivett, Carthage, N C, 2.50; Elis City ch, Chowan, 19,46; W M S, ditto, ditto, 5.54; Burlington ch, Mt Zion, 2.40; Kernersville ch, Liberty, 1.48; New Friendship ch, ditto, 6.00; Mt Gilead ch, Montgomery, 1.37; Mt Hermon ch, Mt Zion, 3 31; Bethlehem ch, Sandy Creek, 2.79; Friendship ch, ditto, 79c; Moore's Chapel ch, ditto, 2.79; Waxhaw ch, Union, 1.80; Macedonia ch, ditto, 2.50; Mt Pleasant ch, ditto, 35c; Piney Grove ch, (colored), 87c; Statesville ch, South Yadkin, 5.00; St John's ch, West Chowan, 3.00; Sandy Run Asso, 11.00; M A Belcher, Mt Vernon, Central, 1.00; Teachey's ch, Eastern, 3.00; Rockingham ch, Richmond, 7.50; East Bend ch, 1.35; Sandy Springs ch, Yadkin, 5.00; Mountain Creek ch, Flat River, 14.37; Bethlehem ch, W Chowan, 10.00; Ebenezer ch, Chowan, 4.00; Brassfields' ch, Central, 25.59; Concord ch, Flat River, 6.13; W M S, ditto, ditto, 1.71; Back Swamp ch, Robeson, 16.74; Big Branch ch, ditto, 5.68; Antioch ch, ditto, 3.75; Tolarsville ch, ditto, 3.75. Total, 248.63. Previously reported, 913.66. Total this year, 1,162.29.

Education—Double Springs church, King's Mountain, $3.09; Cane Creek ch, Mt Zion, 40c; Alfred Hampton, pledge, 5.00; Centre Hill ch, Chowan, 3.00; Olivet ch, ditto, 3.50; Whiteville Grove ch, ditto, 3.50; Beres ch, ditto, 10.00; Chappell's Hill ch, ditto, 4.00; Elizabeth City ch, ditto, 12.50; Cool Spring ch, ditto, 2.55; Statesville ch, South Yadkin, 5.00; Durham Brethern, 25.00; M A Belcher, Mt Vernon ch, Central, 1.00; State Line ch, Flat River, 5.80. Total, 66.96. Previously reported, 783.26. Total this year, 831.50.

Orphanage—Cane Creek ch, Mt Zion, 65c; Bethel ch, Chowan, 9.00; Inwood ch, Raleigh, 2.60; M A Belcher, Mt Vernon ch, Central, 1.00; Olive's Chapel ch, Mt Zion, 3.12; S S, ditto, ditto, 5.00. Total, 21.37. Previously reported, 469.82. Total this year, 491.19.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Cedar Creek ch, Cedar Creek, $3.50; Lebanon ch, ditto, 2.10. Total, 4 60.

Colportage—Double Springs church, King's Mountain, $5.00.

For Tarboro Church—Flat River ch, Central, $5,00.

Sunday-schools—S S, State Line ch, Flat River, $2.84; S S, Salem ch, 1.00; S S, Chapel Hill ch, Mt Zion, 1.50; S S, May's Chapel ch, Chatham Co, 1.00; S S, Back Swamp ch, Robeson, 1.65. Total, 7.99.

Foreign Mission Chapel Fund—Ollie Fiddler and Mamie Nissen, $5.00.

Home Mission Chapel Fund—Emma Bodenhamer and Bessie Nissen, $5.00.

In last RECORDER $1.00 from Poplin Grove ch for State Missions should be Home Missions.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.

Raleigh, April 26, 1892.

RECEIPTS FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION.

S S, Tabernacle ch, Raleigh, $10.00; Cedar Creek S S Asso, 6.00; S S, Roxboro ch, 4.00; S S, Greensboro ch, 5.00; A S Speer, 1 35; J B Newton, 1.00; J S Kilby, 1.00; J T Cottingham, 1.00; H A Brown, 1.00; J C Womack, 1.00; J T Jenkins, 1.00; J N Stallings, 1.00; R W Brooks, 1.00; J M Beaty, 1.00; C A Rominger, 1.00; J W Durham, 1.00; Clementsville ch, 2.00; S S, Waughtown ch, 75c; S S, Smithfield ch, 2.25; N S Jones, 1.00; S S, Fork ch, 1.00; Cash collection, 14.05. Total, 58.40.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Sunday-school Convention.

LADIES
Needing a tonic, or children who want building up, should take
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It is pleasant to take, cures Malaria, Indigestion, Biliousness and Liver Complaints.

MARRIED.

LOVE—GUTHRIE—On April 19th, 1892, in Newlin's Township, Alamance county, N. C., by Rev. O. T. Edwards, Mr. John T. Love and Miss Eliza E. Guthrie.

DOWELL—NOYES—On April 6th, 1892, in the Methodist church at Silver Spring, Md., by Rev. George J. Dowell, Mr. Arthur E. Dowell and Miss Marie L. Noyes.

DIED.

ROWE—Died at her home in High Point, April 10th, 1892, sister Maggie Rowe, aged seventy years. She joined the Baptist church in Chatham county while yet a child and lived a consistent christian life, and died in the faith. Her life was one of great physical suffering. PASTOR.

JONES—Died at her home in Apex, N. C., April 16th, 1892, sister Letitia Jones, relict of the late Gray Jones, aged sixty-seven years. She had been a member of Apex Baptist church since its organization. On Sunday I conducted the funeral and burial services in the presence of a large congregation. After a life of vicissitudes and its full share of troubles, she now sleeps with her husband and her children. J. M. WHITE.

EARLE—In Baltimore, Md., where he was studying dentistry at the Baltimore Dental College, on March 25th, of typhoid pneumonia, James W. Earle departed this life, in his thirty-fourth year. The deceased was born and reared in Franklin county, N. C., and was the eldest son of Mr. W. D. Earle. In 1881 he removed to Stanhope, Nash county, where he engaged in mercantile business until the spring of 1889. In December, 1888, he married Miss Nora G. Stallings, and in the spring of 1889 he moved to Springhope, where he soon gained a host of warm and intimate friends. After preparing himself thoroughly, on Sept. 28th, 1891, he left his home for the Baltimore Dental College, where he remained until his death. X.

ALDERMAN—Bro. Daniel W. Alderman was born Feb. 26th, 1825, and died at his home in Sampson county Feb. 8th, 1892. He had been a faithful member of Bethel Baptist church for about forty years. His last days were spent amidst great sufferings, but these he bore with christian resignation. He was never heard to murmur or complain. Bro. Alderman was greatly blessed in having a godly family. His wife and six children who still survive him are consistent christians. This of course made his afflictions lighter.

Bro. Alderman was not a man to say much, but he did much. His life was a most powerful argument in favor of christianity. He lived Christ, which is the best way to prove the reality and goodness of christianity. To live Christ before death means to live with Christ after death—throughout eternity. We feel that we have lost much, but we feel that our dear brother has gained more. We have lost a good, useful man; he has gained a glorious, eternal inheritance.

May the dear Lord in his infinite mercy comfort the bereaved members of his family and help them to feel that their loss is not equal to his gain. PASTOR.

That Your Hair may retain its youthful color, fullness, and beauty,
dress it daily
with Ayer's Hair Vigor
It cleanses the scalp, cures humors, and stimulates a new growth
of hair.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.
Lowell, Mass.

Bertie Union Meeting.

The next session of the Bertie Union Meeting will meet with the church at Margarettsville.

Introductory sermon by Elder Cree; Elder T. T. Speight, alternate.

Missionary sermon by Elder B. S. Williams, Elder C. B. Williams, alternate.

1st practical subject: The moderate drinkers. To Prof. Kennedy and Elder Curtis.

2. What are the characteristics of a New Testament church? To Dr. Thomas and Elder T. G. Wood.

3. Our mission in Africa; its history, success and future prospects. To Prof. Foushee and Elder C. B. Williams.

4. The BIBLICAL RECORDER. To Bro. J. C. Caddell and Elder Craig.

5. Church and State. To Bro. W. P. Shaw and Elder T. T. Speight.

A. J. COBB, Sec.

Senator Vance is recovering from his second stroke of paralysis.

READY APRIL 25th.
THE STANDARD
LIFE OF SPURGEON,
BY
H. L. WAYLAND, D. D.
Cloth, 300 pages. 20 Illustrations.
PRICE, $1.25.
The author has long been a personal friend of the great Baptist preacher, and will present his life as seen in the pulpit, in the orphanage, in the college, and in his home, also including an account of his closing days and funeral
An Agent Wanted in Every Church.
AMERICAN BAPTIST PUBLICATON SOCIETY.
PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON,
NEW YORK, CHICAGO,
ST. LOUIS, ATLANTA.

W. H. & R. S.
TUCKER & CO.
RALEIGH, N. C.
Spring Season,
'92.
DRY GOODS
— AND —
Kindred Wares.
In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.
We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.
Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.
A COMPLETE
Mail Order Department.
Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.
GOODS DELIVERED FREE.
(Except Furniture and Crockery.)
On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.
W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.
RALEIGH, N. C.

The Home Circle.

A Quiet Mind.

I have a treasure which I prize,
  Its like I cannot find;
It's far beyond what earth can give,
  'Tis this—a quiet mind.

But 'tis not that I am stupefied,
  Or senseless, dull, or blind;
'Tis God's own peace within my heart,
  Which forms my quiet mind.

I found this treasure at the Cross,
  And there, to every kind
Of weary, heavy-laden souls,
  Christ gives a quiet mind.

The love of God within my heart
  My heart to him doth bind;
This is the peace of heaven and earth,
  This is my quiet mind.

I've many a cross to take up now,
  And many left behind;
But present troubles move me not,
  Nor shake my quiet mind.

And what may be to-morrow's cross
  I never seek to find,
My Saviour says, "Leave that to me,
  And keep a quiet mind."

And well I know the Lord hath said,
  To make my heart resigned
That mercy still shall follow those
  Who have this quiet mind.

I'm waiting now to see my Lord
  Who's been to me so kind;
I want to thank him face to face,
  For this my quiet mind.

—Selected.

Talks With Boys.

SELF CONTROL.

From childhood up, there has been something inspiring to me in the sight of a team of four horses, and to be whirled on by them was a curious mixture of terror and exaltation. Who does not like to watch the driver, whether he sits on the high seat of a country picnic wagon, or mounts the elegant four-in-hand coach. What a watchful eye, what a grasp he has on the reins, not a prance of the sixteen feet, not a prickling of the eight ears, not a turn of the four heads escape him. He knows which one will shy on the slightest provocation, which one will be ready to start off if a team comes up behind. The reins are slender but strong; he keeps them well in hand, and because he keeps them well in hand, the coach whirls on in safety. I daresay you have all envied him.

You will not be at a loss to understand the figure, if I say you are each driving a four-in-hand. If I should go still further I think I would name your steeds: Thought, Affection, Appetite, and Passion; and when you have learned to manage them in all their different exercises, you have learned self-control.

Or I might use another figure, and say each of you is a king in his own right, having a kingdom full of subjects wide awake, and often turbulent, who must be constantly restrained if order and right doing shall prevail in the realm. This kingdom we call "Self," and to rule it well is to have self-control.

We are all fond of power, but I can tell you the power over one's own self is the mightiest human power in the world. It is much more interesting to see a boy or a man subdue himself than to watch any control of mere animals.

I remember a boy whom I used to study. He had a quick, fiery spirit, which started up in anger on very slight incitement, indeed it was almost vicious. But he had been taught that wouldn't do, and his efforts at self-control were, to say the least, unique. I have seen him as a little fellow dash out of the house in a rage, run around it two or three times, and come in with a smiling face. It was his own remedy, administered in his own way; but as time has gone on, he has had himself more and more in hand, until now, only a little trembling of the lips, and then a firm compression, show that he is moved. That boy is destined to be a strong man.

This is the phase of self control which presents itself most vividly to you now; the quick, hot spring of youth, the fight which is in most boys, is what you recognize now as needing restraint. The longer you live the more you will see that it must lay its hand on every part of your lives. Self-control in eating and drinking keeps you from becoming gluttons and drunkards; that you can understand. But you do not know, and God forbid you should ever realize, the possibilities of evil which lie in every life. There are risks in thinking, risks in every affection, in every passion, in every appetite, which can only be avoided by this stern self rule.

You can turn to the Book to find the estimate there put upon it. Over and over again in the Proverbs it is expressed in various ways. "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty, and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." And James say, "Let every man be . . . slow to speak, slow to wrath." Paul says, "I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection." I wish you would try to find out all there is in the Bible which touches on this subject; I am sure the number of texts will surprise you.

There is one text, however, which brings great help and comfort. If you look in the margin of the Revised New Testament at Galatians 5: 23, you will see that self control is a fruit of the Spirit. At the end of the list, left out by no means least, stands the word temperance; in the margin it is self-control, which I suppose is what the word really meant at the time it was used there, although temperance has no long expressed one idea that now it means to you [illegible], but total abstinence.

[illegible] know how difficult it is to [illegible] over self in the multiplied forms in which it must be accomplished, it is good to be told that there is an all-powerful ally in the Spirit of God, and to be assured the Spirit is promised to those who ask it.

It will be of little use to talk of this if we do not practice it. Let us begin to day this self-control, knowing that it is to be a life-long work, but knowing also that it will grow easier as we go along, and as we become "strong in the Lord, and in the strength of his might."

Who is free? He who masters his own self. Who is powerful? He who can control his passions.—H. A. H., in Observer.

Ask your druggist what proprietary medicine is selling right along and they will tell you King's Royal Germetuer.

What a Girl Should Learn.

A girl should learn
To sew.
To cook.
To mend.
To be gentle.
To value time.
To dress neatly.
To keep a secret.
To be self-reliant.
To avoid idleness.
To mind the baby.
To darn stockings.
To respect old age.
To make good bread.
To keep a house tidy.
To control her temper.
To be above gossiping.
To make a home happy.
To take care of the sick.
To humor a cross old man.
To marry a man for his worth.
To be a helpmate to a husband.
To take plenty of active exercise.
To see a mouse without screaming.
To read some good books besides novels.
To be light hearted and fleet footed.
To wear shoes that won't cramp the feet.
To be a womanly woman under all circumstances.—Selected.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "My wife and daughter were cured of headache and catarrh by Germetuer."

Regular Eating.

Half the girls in the land become dyspeptic before they are out of their teens, in consequence of being about the house and nibbling at everything they lay their eyes on that is good to eat; whereas, were they to eat but three times a day at regular times, and not an atom between meals, they might enjoy perfect health. To digest a full meal and pass it out of the stomach requires not less time than five hours. If a person eats between meals, the process of digestion of the food already in the stomach is arrested, until the last which has been eaten is brought into the condition of the former meal; just as, if water is boiling and ice is put in, the whole ceases to boil until the ice has been melted and brought to the boiling point, and then the whole boils together. No wonder that dyspeptics are cross and peevish! How can they be otherwise, since a disordered stomach is the source of so many pangs. Yet they deserve punishment for neglecting to obey the laws which Nature renders imperative if health is to be preserved.—Ex.

Dr. O. P. Starks of Alexander, La., says: "Had asthma from birth; tried everything; Germetuer cured me."

How to Make Yourself Unhappy.

In the first place, if you want to make yourself miserable, be selfish. Think all the time of yourself and your things. Don't care about anything else. Have no feeling for any one but yourself. Never think of enjoying the satisfaction of seeing others happy, but rather if you see a smiling face be jealous lest another should enjoy what you have not. Envy every one who is in any way better than yourself; think unkindly toward them and speak lightly of them. Be constantly afraid lest some one should encroach upon your rights; be watchful against it, and if any one comes near your things, snaps at them like a mad dog. Contend earnestly for everything that is your own, though it may not be worth a pin, for your rights are just as much concerned as if it were a pound of gold. Never yield a point. Be very sensitive, and take everything that is said to you in playfulness in the most serious manner. Be jealous of your friends, lest they should not think enough of you; and, if at any time they should seem to neglect you, put the worst construction upon their conduct you can.—Ex.

Senator J. R. Lyle says: "After giving up all hopes my wife was cured of neuralgia and indigestion by Germetuer."

Two Essentials.

No woman is well dressed unless she is well gloved and well shod. No matter how fine the other raiment may be, if soiled or ragged gloves are worn the fine effect is ruined. There was a woman on Washington street one day who wore a black velvet dress and mantle, heavily trimmed with jet. There were diamonds like headlights in her ears. The black gloves were ragged and the color had worn off, her shoes were down at the heel, and most of the buttons were gone. The two items of her attire that should have marked the lady were wanting.—Watchman.

Dr. Bigger's Huckleberry Cordial cures all bowel and stomach troubles and children teething. Sold by all dealers.

Don't Allow Talent to Rust.

As by constant friction steel is kept highly polished, so by constant exercise is talent ever at its brightest. All our powers grow by use. If we neglect to cultivate the habit of observation, we might as well walk through the world blindfold. We lose our faculty—what artists call our "touch"—by neglect of practice on other things besides the piano. The man who seldom reads, reads slowly; the woman whose writing is confined to an infrequent letter to some absent child spends more time over that than does a practised writer over a dozen pages of manuscript. Exercise of possessed talent is absolutely necessary, then, if we would retain our gifts. For example: If our occupation is sedentary, we need to plan for walks, rides, and active games to keep our muscles lithe and serviceable. But if our employment gives us enough muscular action, it is not one whit less important to our health of body that we should plan for mental exercise—for employment enough of our memory and our reasoning powers to keep them from rusting. And, in either case, that life must be a dwarfed and unhealthy one that does not provide exercise for our spiritual faculties—for worship, and charity, and patience, and magnanimity. Exercise of soul, mind, and body can alone bring us to the stature of the perfect man.—Selected.

There are Sarsaparillas and Sarsaparillas; but if you are not careful in your purchase, the disease you wish to cure will only be intensified. Be seure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla and no other. It is compounded from the Honduras root and other highly concentrated alteratives.

Employ your mind in improving yourself by other men's writings, so you shall come easily by what others have labored hard for.—Socrates.

BUOYANCY OF BODY
can never be realized when the bowels do not act as nature intends they should. Instead, there is headache, weight in the stomach after eating, acidity and belching up of wind, low spirits, loss of energy, unsociability and forebodings of evil. An unhappy condition, but will relieve it and give health and happiness. They are worth a trial.
TUTT'S
Tiny Liver Pills

Six Years in Torment. XII
Rev. W. Stutz, Red Wing, Minn., speaks a good word for Pastor Koenig's Nerve Tonic, when he says that he recommended the Medicine, during a period of five years, to many sufferers from nervous diseases with the best results. He informs us that a woman, a member of his congregation, had been cured of Epilepsy of Six Years' Standing by the use of Koenig's Nerve Tonic.

Could Not Get Along Without It.
PLATTEVILLE, WIS., May, 1888.
The bottle of Koenig's Nerve Tonic has been received and almost used up, and that with a decided good result. My wife could not get along without the medicine. The impression is especially in cheering her, removing gloominess of mind and giving her a better appetite and color in the face. LUCAS ABELS,
Presbyterian Clergyman.

FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.
This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.
Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.
In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

CONSUMPTION.
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.
T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR A POLICY
—IN THE—
N. C. Home Insurance Co.
This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out $600,000
to its policy holders for losses.
INSURE AGAINST FIRE
W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
F. COWPER, Actuary.
HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - - Baltimore, Md.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL
WILL NEED
NEW BOOKS THIS SEASON.
We can Supply all Your Wants in this Line Promptly and at Publishers Lowest Prices.
OUR NEW SPECIALTIES:
Class Book and Report (five years), - - 25c. Teachers' Bibles (Oxford or Bagster), $2 to $10.
NEW SINGING BOOKS:
Master's Praise, cloth bound, by mail, - - - 35c.
Manly's Choice, music edition, by mail, - - - 40c.
Manly's Choice, word edition, by mail, - - - 12c.
Notes of Triumph, round or shape notes, by mail, - - - 35c.
Work and Worship, round or shape notes, by mail, - - - 35c.
ANY SINGING BOOKS, PER DOZEN, BY EXPRESS, $3.60.
SEND YOUR ORDERS TO
ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO., Raleigh, N. C.
Complete Catalogue of Sunday-school Supplies free.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.
All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.
MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.
Biblical Museum, 8 Vols., cloth, $8 per set. Song book—"The Choice."—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts. This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch. —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts.; paper, 15 cts.
Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.
THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.
Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.
Raleigh. N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.
"All Right," "Cotton King,"
Farming Implements,
SHOVELS, SPADES,
RAKES AND
POTATO DIGS.
AND OTHER
Cook Stoves and Ranges.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

MAGNOLIAS! MAGNOLIAS
A. B. FORREST,
RALEIGH, N. C.,
has on hand a splendid lot of Magnolias just the right size to transplant, which will be sold at reasonable rates. Plants that need to sell for five or six dollars can be had for one dollar. This is the time for setting out these trees. Every man who owns a home in the South ought to have one or two Magnolia trees in his front yard. Send your order, accompanied by one dollar, and a tree from three to six feet high will be shipped to your address at once.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMENTERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. BRIDE, ATLANTA, GA.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1892. Number 44.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

115 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

The Resurrection.

I. SCRIPTURE AFFIRMS TWO RESURRECTIONS.

"Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." John 5: 28, 29. "And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust." Acts 24: 15. This hope the Sadducees denied; hence they sought to entangle the Lord Jesus with the difficult question: "In the resurrection therefore, when they shall rise, whose wife shall she be of them? for the seven had her to wife." Mark 12: 23.

II. THE TWO RESURRECTIONS DESIGNATED.

1. The "blessed" resurrection. The "first" resurrection. "Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years." Rev. 20: 6. The "out" resurrection. "I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, becoming conformed unto his death; if by any means I might attain unto the resurrection from (out from among) the dead." Phil. 3: 2. The "resurrection unto life." "And shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." John 5: 29. The "better resurrection." "Others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection." Heb. 11: 35.

2. The other is called the resurrection unto "shame," "contempt." "And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt." Dan. 12: 2. The resurrection of "damnation." John 5: 29. The resurrection of "the unjust." Acts 24: 15. The "second death." Rev. 20: 6, 14. David taught the truth of the two resurrections when he wrote, "The ungodly shall not stand (rise up) in the judgment, nor sinners in the congregation of the righteous." Ps. 1: 5. Paul expressed himself as earnestly striving to attain unto that first resurrection, as though it were a condition distinct from, and more desirable than to have part in a general resurrection, such as devout Jews believed was appointed for all men. "If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of (out from) the dead. Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect; but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus." Phil. 3: 11, 12.

III. ONE THOUSAND YEARS.

The two resurrections are to be separated by an interval of one thousand years. "But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection." Rev. 20: 5. This thousand years will be the time of millennial blessing to the Jews and the nations of the earth. It is termed "a day" in various places in Scripture. "Because he hath appointed a day, in the which he will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom he hath ordained; whereof he hath given assurance unto all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead." Acts 17: 31. The reason for which St. Peter gives: "But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day." 2. Pet. 3: 8.

IV. THE TIME OF THE FIRST RESURRECTION.

This will be at the second coming of Christ. "But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope. For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him. For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thess. 4: 15, 16. Michael would seem to be the angel who has charge of the sleeping saints. "And at that time shall Michael stand up, the great prince which standeth for the children of thy people: and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time thy people shall be delivered, every one that shall be found written in the book. And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake." Dan. 12: 1, 2. "Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the Devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee." Jude 9.

V. THE SAINTS WILL ARISE IN VARIOUS BANDS OR ORDERS.

"In Christ shall all be made alive. But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits, afterward they that are Christ's at his coming." 1 Cor. 15: 22. The word "order," tayma, is peculiar to this one place, and refers to a series or succession of companies, as military regiments. The corresponding Old Testament term is found in Job 10: 22: "A land of darkness, as darkness itself; and of the shadow of death, without any order, and where the light is as darkness." The teaching of Scripture seems to indicate that such stages to the blessed resurrection will occur throughout the Great Tribulation, or during the reign of Antichrist. See Rev. 7: 13; 9: 11; 20: 4.

1. There shall be variety of glory in the first resurrection. "But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body. There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars; for one star differeth from another star in glory. So also is the resurrection of the dead." 1 Cor. 15: 38, 41.

2. There shall also be variety of quality in the resurrection. "All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds. There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestial is another." 1 Cor. 15: 39, 40.

3. Celestial bodies and terrestrial bodies. May indicate the difference that shall exist in that state, between the Church of Christ and the house of Israel. See Isa. 26: 19; Eze. 37: 13.

4. Sun, moon and stars. May be figures illustrative of the glory of three classes, viz: Jesus, the saints, and Israel. See Mal. 4: 2; Cant. 6: 10; Dan. 12: 3.

VI. PECULIARITIES OF THE FIRST RESURRECTION.

1. Human relationships will be set aside. "For when they shall rise from the dead, they neither marry, nor are given in marriage: but are as the angels which are in heaven." Mark 12: 25. Since there will be no dying, marriage, the object of which is procreation, will be no more required.

2. Perpetual youth shall be another characteristic. "And, behold, there was a great earthquake: for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow." Matt. 28: 3. "And entering into the sepulchre, they saw a young man sitting on the right side, clothed in a long white garment; and they were affrighted." Mark 16: 5. "And his (the risen Jesus') countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength." Rev. 1: 17. His saints shall be like him. "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him." 1 John 3: 2.

3. Luminous beauty shall be another characteristic. "Then shall the righteous shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father." Matt. 13: 43. "And was transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the sun, and his raiment was white as the light." Matthew 17: 2. "And as he prayed, the fashion of his countenance was altered, and his raiment was white and glistering." Luke 9: 29.

4. Garments of light. The covering of all animals is a part of themselves. For example: the wool of the sheep, the scales of the alligator, the feathers of the fowl. In the garden of Eden, Adam and Eve were probably clothed like God himself, in light, which emanated from themselves. "O Lord, my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty: who coverest thyself with light as with a garment." Ps. 104: 1, 2. When Adam and Eve transgressed, and fell from holiness, they lost their raiment of glory; and discovering themselves unclothed, in shame hid themselves. In the resurrection this shining raiment shall be restored as part of the lost heritage, regained in the second Adam. Thus the livery of heaven shall be worn by redeemed saints. "And it came to pass, as they were much perplexed thereabout, behold, two men stood by them in shining garments." Luke 24: 4. "He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels." "And round about the throne were four and twenty seats: and upon the seats I saw four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads crowns of gold." Rev. 3: 5; 4: 4.

5. Peculiar elasticity shall characterize the resurrection body. The phenomena of the grave-clothes, which convinced Peter and John of the resurrection of Jesus, was this: they beheld the bandages used for embalming lying intact, while the body had emerged from their folds, as the butterfly departs from the chrysalis. "Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie, and the napkin, that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself. Then went in also that other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed." John 20: 6, 8. Later Jesus appeared, and vanished as suddenly from two on the road of Emmaus. "And their eyes were opened, and they knew him; and he vanished out of their sight." Luke 24: 31.

Again he shewed himself among the disciples when they were gathered in a room with locked doors. "And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you. But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit." Luke 24: 36, 37. "Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you." John 20: 19. So Paul, caught up to the third heaven, and John, projected into the future scenes of judgment, had foretastes of this resurrection power to overcome obstacle and space. 2 Cor. 12: 2-4; Rev. 1: 10-19.

6. Power of rapid locomotion. "Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation." Dan. 9: 21. "Swiftly" refers to splendor. As the angel flew, his whole person glittered with splendor. It is said of resurrection saints they are like angels: "Neither can they die any more: for they are equal unto the angels; and are the children of God, being the children of the resurrection." Luke 20: 36.

7. The resurrection body shall be tangible; though not a body of present physical conditions. "It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body." 1 Cor. 15: 44. "Behold my hands and my feet, that it is I myself: handle me, and see; for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have." Luke 24: 39.

VII. THE SECOND RESURRECTION.

This occurs when the thousand years' reign of Christ are finished. Rev. 20: 5. It includes all the dead, "small and great," that is, the low and the high. Rev. 20: 12. It shall be for final judgment and punishment. At the first resurrection Christ judges his saints for reward at his own judgment seat. At the second resurrection God himself on his great white throne judges the wicked for punishment. The white throne is mentioned in connection with the wicked; and not in relation to the saved through Christ.—Rev. George C. Needham's "Bible Briefs."

Revival in Ireland.

The Baptist revival in Ireland is most wonderful. For many years our cause languished in the Emerald Isle. But God has raised up an apostle in Dublin whose labors He is richly blessing. A high-church Episcopalian lawyer, a graduate of Trinity College and a young man of brightest worldly prospects, went to hear Mr. D. L. Moody preach and was convicted of sin and soundly converted to God. He studied the Bible to learn his duty, and became a Baptist. Called of God to the ministry, he gave up his worldly prospects and began preaching. He at once attracted crowds and many were converted, until now he has the largest evangelical congregation in Dublin. His name is Hugh D. Brown.

He has, as was to be expected, aroused much opposition. The air is filled with "replies" to his sermons. Tracts with such titles as "Baptist Absurdity," "Believers' Baptism Annihilated," "Baptism of Infants Demonstrated upon the Grounds of Reason and Scripture," etc., etc., are scattered on every hand. The Irish Ecclesiastical Gazette (Episcopalian) thus delivers itself concerning Pastor Brown and his work:

"It may be well to direct attention to other kinds of perversions and to ask who is responsible for filling the Baptist church in Harcourt Street with the scores of former members of the church of Ireland who attend it? We know of whole families 'going over' to this pernicious form of dissent, which is condemned by implication in our Articles, and which is a real thorn in the side of the evangelical clergy of Dublin. We know of a case where a wealthy individual recently withdrew all her substantial subscriptions to the church of Ireland in favor of the Harcourt Street chapel; and we have heard of certain local churches being spoken of as hotbeds to turn out adherents for the Baptist persuasion."

The work is spreading over Ireland, and the outlook is most inspiring. Dr. Gordon, to whom we are indebted for some of the above facts, thinks Pastor Brown "has come to the kingdom for such a time as this," and that the future is big with hope. It may be that the redemption of Ireland is at hand.—Western Recorder.

Mysteries, Real and Imaginary.

There are many questions, wise and otherwise, that I suppose, more or less, bother every pastor. The object of this paper is to help some of these questioners. Of course, we do not expect to answer all questions, but we do hope to clear the mist from some that are only obscure because of the rubbish that has accumulated upon them, and to give some rest to the mind about others that are unsolvable.

REGENERATION AND CONVERSION.

These terms are frequently misunderstood by the average hearer, much to his confusion; and the pastor's work is sometimes lost because he presumes on a knowledge that does not exist. Generation means the imparting of life, and regeneration means the re-imparting of life. Human nature is radically deficient here. Death reigns universally. Something has dreadfully disagreed with the race. Not only are our teeth on edge for what our forefathers ate, but we have poisoned ourselves deliberately and with malice aforethought. We are as a city in ruins, a nation in captivity, a king in chains. We need to be rebuilt, set free, unbound. From the crown of our head to the sole of our feet we are nothing but wounds and bruises and putrefying sores.

Regeneration is the planting of new life in the mass of corruption, the grafting of the Divine life in the human, a spiritual vaccination against the contagion of sin. Conversion is the result that follows; a transforming of our life according to the inward motive given us by the new birth, a continuous putting off of the old man and putting on of the new. Regeneration is God formed within us, conversion is God working in us us both to will and to do of his own good pleasure. Regeneration is the power to do, conversion is the exercise of that power. Regeneration is the believing with the heart, conversion is confession with the mouth.

BAPTISM.

It is very clear, from the above, that baptism is no part of regeneration. It is, however, a figure, a picture or photograph, life-size and life-like of this saving relationship to Almighty God. This is why we hold to the form that the Saviour used and gave us, which not only says we must be born of God but teaches us the very process by which we realize this change, viz., by being immersed into the very life of God as we are buried in the baptismal flood. We have no disposition to lash those who do not agree with us because the fundamental principle of our religion is that every man shall follow his own honest convictions of the teaching of God's word; but we do reserve to ourselves the right to give a reason for the faith that is in us. We believe Christ did and commanded us to do, not three things but one thing; that what he did and commanded, it becomes us to do, and that nothing else is baptism. The meaning of the word, the doctrine of the ordinance, and the admission of Pedobaptist scholars is all the apology that we have to offer for contending so earnestly for this part of the faith once for all delivered unto the saints. We think a coin that passes with all should be adopted by all and all disputed coin rejected. Our understanding of this ordinance also forbids our administering it to those who cannot receive it upon profession of their faith. The command is to be baptized, not to have somebody baptized. No adult christened in infancy can say, "I have been baptized"; he can only say, "I accept the act of my parents for me;" but their act was not being baptized but having somebody baptized. Some claim that baptism takes the place of circumcision; for the sake of argument, suppose it does. When was a child circumcised? After his birth of course. When, then, should he be baptized? After the new birth.

COMMUNION.

As baptism is the birth ordinance, so communion is the life ordinance. Baptism says, "I am born again, I am dead and buried to sin and resurrected to righteousness." Communion says, "The life I now live is by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave himself for me." Baptism says, "I receive the Son of God"; communion says, "I feed on him." We eat after we are born, not before, hence baptism precedes and is prerequisite to communion, therefore baptism is the bar that separates us from our brethren of other churches. We did not put this bar up and we cannot take it down. We could not receive a candidate for membership who should demand sprinkling or effusion at our hands and rejecting him, we could not consistently invite him to the communion. We should have to exclude from our church one who should change his views on baptism, could we invite this excluded member to the Lord's table? This is not to unchurch our brethren of other faiths, but to unbaptize them, and to us they are unbaptized churches. All we are contending for is that they put on the God-given sign of what they have already put within.

SIN.

Of course we do not expect to solve this problem or even define this awful reality. Suffice it to say, it is the dry rot of the soul. It is spiritual blood poison which means a death that never dies. Its origin we can never fathom, this side of eternity; but we may look as deep as we can into this bottomless pit. It is clear how man was corrupted. God made him innocent and free and set before him life and death. It was in the use of this freedom that man was to fulfil his destiny—complete himself. It was in the abuse of it that he fell. But could not God have interfered to prevent the fall? No, not without taking away man's freedom. In other words, to have made man incapable of falling was to make him incapable of rising; i. e., to add another species of ape to the animal kingdom. To be able to go forward involves the possibility of going backward. Service to God would be worthless unless we could withhold that service. But man did not fall of himself: he was deceived by God's enemy and his, why did God permit it? Because man was liable to fall without seduction, like the angels who kept not their first estate, and had he so fallen, recovery would have been impossible. But how was it possible for a good being to fall, unless tempted from without? We don't know. We only know the fact as a revelation, the how, God has wisely reserved to himself, till we are able to bear it. Yet we are confident of this, that the innocence and freedom of these beings involved development and trial. They were all taught of God, and, instructed in the right, they could see the wrong, and since wrong is the exaggeration of right, i. e., going too far in the right direction, or the prostitution of right to evil ends, might not incomplete and free beings do this? It seems so to me. But I desist, lest being wise above that which is written I fall into condemnation. Still I must say, that it seems to me that these beings wanted to get through their book a little too fast. Not being quite so dull as some of the other angels, they got to be too smart and presumed to teach the Almighty! This ought to frighten some of these free-thinking "smart Alecks" to death. Our view is objected to on the part of some who claim that sin is the shadow of good, and therefore necessary and eternal. But this is to do away with sin altogether, making right and wrong meaningless terms, and character itself a farce. No, no! God is not the author of confusion, "an enemy hath done this." R. E. PEELE.

How to Read the Bible.

You cannot be holy unless you do in secret live upon the blessed Word of God, and you will not live on it unless it comes to you as the sacred word of his mouth. The Bible is not a book only, but a speaking trumpet through which God speaks from afar to you, so that you may catch the very tones of his voice. You must read the Word of God to this end, for it is while reading, meditating and studying, and seeking to dip yourself into its spirit, that it seems suddenly to change from a written book into a talking book or phonograph; it whispers to you or thunders at you as though God had hidden himself among its leaves and spoke to your condition; as though Jesus, who feedeth among the lilies, had made the chapter to be lily beds, and had come to feed there. Ask Jesus to cause his word to come fresh from his own mouth to your soul, and if it be so, and you thus live in daily communion with a personal Christ, you will then with your feet take hold upon his steps; then you will keep his way; then you will never decline to go back from his commandments, but you will make good speed in your pilgrim way to the eternal city.—Spurgeon.

Man's Usefulness and Welfare.

Not what comes to man in the way of outward advantages, but what issues from him in the way of effort and influence, is the chief source of his welfare and usefulness. He may never see the results of his efforts—he may never know how much he has added the sum of human happiness; but if he is patiently and steadily treading in his appointed path, and puting forth his best efforts, no matter how small he may think them, great and abiding results must follow, and his influence for good will never be lost.—Selected.

"Give me where to stand," the old Greek said, "and I will move the world." Very forcibly the late Dr. Frederick Hedge replies: "Stand where you are, is the nobler postulate; stand where you are and move the world. Heaven's zenith is perpendicular to every spot on the earth's round." Stand where you are and do your work. Scan not your neighbor's horizon. Confine your vision to your own. Think not if circumstances were different you could do better. He who, as a rule, cannot do well where he is, would not do well were he transferred to another spot. The spot on which you are to stand and move things, young people, is where you are. God may raise you then to greater vantage ground. Fill your place so full that it cannot hold you, and another, perforce, will open to your entrance.—Young People's Union.

Some teachers seem incapable of thinking back on their own earthly youth, and give their pupils the impression that they have always been grown up. Feeling in this way, not understood, or misunderstood, a child has not courage to state his difficulties. She who is not a student of human nature must fail as a teacher.—The Five Talents of Women.

In times of affliction we commonly meet with the sweetest experiences of the love of God.—Bunyan.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 4, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

TO THE BEREAVED.

This issue of the RECORDER will doubtless visit many homes, around the firesides of which vacant chairs may be found, across the thresholds of which the shadow of grief has fallen. We have passed through a severe winter. The grippe, pneumonia, and other dangerous forms of disease, have carried to their last resting places many who are now missed by our firesides and in the walks of life. We feel moved, then, to speak, if we can, a few words of comfort to those that have been bereaved. This we attempt, not only as an expression of our sympathy for, and condolence with them, but also from a sense of duty, for it is our duty to try at least to comfort one another while we are passing through the sorrows to which the flesh is heir.

First, let us say then to our bereaved friends that the time is coming when they will understand much better than they do now why God has permitted death to enter their households. We are told in the Bible that "all things work together for good to those who love the Lord; who are the called according to his purpose." This expression, "all things," takes in the sum of all earthly life and experience, and hence, death itself. It is very difficult, when the hour for the bitter stroke of death comes, when some jewel of our heart is leaving us, to understand some of the mysteries connected with our stay here and our passage to the other world. The dregs of the cup of sorrow were being drained by David of old when he cried out, on hearing of the death of a loved and erring son, "would God I had died for thee, oh, Absalom, my son, my son!"

Ah, it was hard for many who read these lines to see any light amid the shadows that enveloped them as they stood by the bedside of those that they miss to day and saw the stony stare of death settle down upon faces so dear to them. The Saviour says, "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter." This evidently means that there are providences and mysteries that face us here that we cannot fully fathom, but we shall be able to do so hereafter. When we stand in the sunlight of the heavenly land and look at things that were dark and mysterious here, we shall see them as never before. When "the mists have cleared away," many problems of life that now perplex us shall be made plain.

If, however, we have the mind of the Lord here, and are led by his Spirit, we can often see, even this side of eternity, some good reasons why death in our households and bereavements in our families may be overruled by God for our good. Isaiah says, "The righteous perisheth, and no man layeth it to heart, and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come." This passage evidently teaches that God sees that many sorrows and evils lie in the future pathway of some of his saints; and hence, when they have suffered enough in the flesh, he takes them to himself and away from the evil to come. Many mothers' eyes will scan these lines who have often wondered why God called to himself the dear little ones whose going saddened earth and brightened heaven. But, dear sisters in Zion, and mothers in Israel, is there not comfort in the thought that the little ones for whom you mourn were taken away in their bright and innocent youth from the "evil to come?" Speaking after the manner of men, if they had lived they might have grown up to be wicked men or women, and by their waywardness might have cast shadows across your pathway of life longer and deeper than those through which your soul has passed since they left you. When you think of them now you see only coy red lips that you loved to kiss, innocent eyes in which you loved to gaze, and sweet faces fit to shine mid the cherub throng hard by the throne of God. Ah, who does not love a dream of unalloyed gladness, a song without a jarring note of discord, a life without a shadow or a sin.

And the thought of meeting them again—is there not great comfort in that thought? The presence of the Saviour "over there," and the coming of the bliss which shall be [illegible] with the rest that "remaineth to the people of God," are the [illegible] that give to heaven its chiefest [illegible] after all, the presence of the [illegible] and the pure that left us in the [illegible] of childhood, does add to the [illegible] that thine like bells of glory. [illegible] made of the voices we miss on earth, where the warm touch of the chubby hands that have vanished, and the light that faded from eyes that have grown dim in death?—in heaven, with the Father that gave them.

And again, let us remember that the death of our loved ones, especially those that are young, draws us, as with cords of steel, toward the heaven to which they have gone. Said an aged preacher once, when speaking of some of the children he had lost by death, "My family is growing smaller on earth, but thank God it is growing larger in heaven." Another aged pilgrim was heard to speak about these words, "Most of mine have passed over the river; there are but few ties that bind me to this earth, and I am only waiting the Master's bidding to cross over and be with them."

And "we shall know each other there." We know each other here. The power to remember and identify is one that adds much to the joys that are vouchsafed to us on earth. Will any of the faculties of the human soul cease to exist in heaven? They shall only be brightened and intensified. The parable of the rich man and Lazarus certainly teaches that a lost soul has power to recognize a saved soul, even afar off, across the "impassible gulf." If a lost soul can recognize a saved soul, how does it happen that saved souls cannot recognize one another? David of old, when a dear child had passed from his embrace to the silence of the tomb, cried out, "I shall go to him, but he shall not return to me." How did he expect to go to him if he should have no power to recognize him hereafter?" The aged king and afflicted father was not dreaming when he uttered these words, a dream never to be realized, and "too sweet to be true;" nor was the hope that sustained him of the kind indicated by Whittier in the beautiful words:—

> "Ah well for us all some sweet hope lies,
> Deeply buried from human eyes;
> And in the hereafter angels may > Roll the stone from its grave away," but he spoke by inspiration, and he says, "I shall go to him," &c. He announces a fact, not a possibility.

How often do aged mothers, when passing away, exhort their children that weep at their bedsides, "to meet them in heaven." Is it reasonable to suppose that these aged ones are cultivating a false hope when they, with their dying words, exhort those they leave behind to meet them again? Have they conned God's word during the days of their long pilgrimage, without some light on the secrets of time and eternity? Is it not contrary to Scripture and reason to suppose that we shall not know among the blessed those that we knew and loved on earth?

> "E'en from the tomb the voice of nature cries, > E'en in our ashes live their wonted fires."

We would add, by way of conclusion, that the best remedy for the sorrow that oppresses the heart in the hour of bereavement is prayer. We are told that after the disciples of John had buried their master, they "went and told Jesus." Pouring out our sorrow into loving, sympathetic ears, is often a relief to those that are bereaved, even when those to whom we speak can give no relief but human sympathy and condolence; but when we tell our sorrows to Jesus, we are talking to one that can help. He knows how to pour the oil of consolation into wounded spirits, and bind up with gentle hands hearts that are bleeding. Not only does the blessed Saviour stand at the door of the sinner's heart that he may enter and give him joy; but in the person of his Spirit he is always ready to come with special power to comfort his bereaved saints, his children, when they call to him from the depths of sorrow. "Oh, the depth of the riches, both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out."

THE CONVENTION AT ATLANTA.

We notice the following announcement among the "Editorial Varieties" in the Western Recorder:—

"Prof. and Mrs. Towner will be in Atlanta at the Convention and will conduct the singing with a chorus of local singers. This will be an interesting feature of the meeting and will be greatly enjoyed by all."

Prof. and Mrs. Towner are Northern Methodists, and agents for a non-sectarian hymn book. We would like to know who invited them to the Convention. It is comforting to know that Judge Harralson, president of the Convention, can dispense with these singers and non-sectarian book agents, just as he did at the last Convention, by calling on Dr. C. Durham of North Carolina to lead the singing.

REV. F. T. SNELL, late of England, and a student of Spurgeon's Pastors College, who recently came to Raleigh from Augusta, Wis., wishes to locate in the South, and would be glad to correspond with churches desiring a pastor.

THE LAST TWO DAYS OF THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL CONVENTION AT WINSTON.

In having to leave the Convention on Saturday morning we failed to hear some of the best speeches made during the session, and also failed to get the business of the Convention which was transacted at the close.

We note with pleasure the addresses of brethren Poteat and Stringfield. The Convention was highly entertained and instructed by the speeches of these brethren. Bro. W. H. Dodd's teaching of a primary class was a revelation to many who were present. A brother who has been accustomed to seeing Bro. Dodd's work in this department of Sunday school work says he never saw him do so well before.

A committee consisting of brethren J. B. Brewer, W. H. Dodd, Mrs. C. E. Taylor, Mrs. F. P. Hobgood and Miss Fannie E. Heck were appointed to recommend suitable books for libraries in the different Sunday-schools. This is a capital idea, securing as it does great economy in the purchasing of books; and what is of more value still, it will give our Sunday-schools the best and most appropriate literature. Many people want to read good books if they only knew what they were and where to get them. Those composing this committee possess the highest qualifications for the work, and we shall hope to see our Sunday-schools adopt their suggestions without question.

The Convention appointed a Sunday-school Board, to be located at Winston, consisting of Dr. W. J. Conrad, T. S Sprinkle, Rev. H. A. Brown, Rev. L. G. Broughton, D. Rich, W. T. Carter, A. J. Hunt, D. S. Reid, R. A. Womack, Dr. C. A. Rominger, I. W. Durham, N. B. Broughton, W. H. Dodd, Prof. C. E. Brewer and W. A. Albright. The Board elected Prof. J. T. Alderman of Reidsville Corresponding Secretary of the Sunday-school Convention, to take charge of the Sunday-school work of the State. J. C. C.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

This is not supposed to be the season for protracted meetings, yet quite a number of our churches have recently been blessed with series of meetings. Goldsboro, Wake Forest, Wilmington, Salisbury, Milton, Henderson and Reidsville have all recently enjoyed revivals which have greatly strengthened and increased the membership of the churches. Why is this? Farmers are busy doing their spring work preparatory for a crop. Merchants are active in getting their spring stocks and displaying goods so as to attract customers. The men who for the most part talk politics,—and their name is legion,—are zealous for the promotion of men as well as for measures; and yet in spite of these disturbances the work of the churches seem to go on.

In the April number of the Forum is an article by Hon. W. L. Wilson of West Virginia on "A campaign for a principle." Among other interesting thoughts in the article, the writer states with wonderful force and clearness that all bad legislation is always attended with a train of incidental evils which at first might not be anticipated. This is doubtless true. The converse of the proposition is no less true. So that while the brethren, those who are preachers and some who are not, are meeting the people with the purpose of creating special interest in the cause of missions, we are not only to be blessed in this particular department of the work, but the churches are getting a new impetus, so the centennial year promises not only greater activity in the mission work, but out of these special efforts all of our work is to get renewed vigor and fresh strength.

While passing through

HENDERSON

I was permitted to hear a sermon from Bro. Hutson of Petersburg, who is aiding Bro. VanDeventer in a series of meetings. Bro. Hutson is known to many of our people to be a preacher of fine ability. He at once impresses you with great earnestness. He evidently has no time for "sky-scraping" or other foolishness while preaching the gospel.

And now I am in

REIDSVILLE

listening to another Virginia preacher—Bro. Tames, pastor of the First church in Danville. I suppose this is a sort of reciprocity offering brought over by the "sacred soil" to make some amends for the high-handed depredations made in this portion of the State. Bro. Tames had made a fine start when my work called me away. The fact is, he is a strong preacher, and in this he is fortunate, for these Reidsville Baptists are used to good preaching. Bro. Howard is doing a splendid work. His sermons are excellent, and are greatly appreciated by his brethren. Dr. Taylor had just spent a day or two in the town and preached for the church. The expressions I always hear from the brethren where Dr. Taylor goes are so many reassurances that Wake Forest College is year by year growing on the hearts of our people. The best friends the College has are those who have become the best acquainted with the work it has done and with the men who are its representatives. I spent the time at the homes of a number of the brethren, and the cordial greeting I received from all will cause me to hunt an excuse to repeat my visit. The brethren, however, all renewed their subscriptions to an extent that will keep me away for sometime to come. Dr. Rominger had just returned from some appointments which he and Bro. Wingate had been filling in the interest of the Centennial of Missions. He thought these efforts were calculated to do much good in the education of many on the subject of missions.

Col. Webster, editor of Webster's Weekly, has always been specially kind to me. I actually shared the comforts of his room with him, and that is quite a concession for a bachelor to make. By the way, Sister Allen keeps a sort of "Bachelor's Retreat" there, only half dozen boarding at her house.

Bro. J. T. Alderman was just closing up the work of his school for the present session. The Reidsville people are much pleased with him as a teacher, and would regret exceedingly to give him up.

Bro. Alderman has gotten together some very valuable Baptist history, and will address the North Carolina Baptist Historical Society on Tuesday of commencement day at Wake Forest. J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Dr. Chas. E. Taylor spent Saturday and Sunday in Wilmington.

....Rev. W. W. Landrum, D. D., of Richmond, Va., is on a visit to Augusta, Ga.

....Rev. W. B. Wingate has resigned the charge of the Baptist church in Greensboro, N. C.

....Hon. W. L. Wilson of West Virginia has declined the presidency of Richmond College.

....Bro. Tames of Danville, Va., is conducting a good meeting for Bro. Howard at Reidsville.

....The meeting at the Fayetteville Street Baptist church of Raleigh continues with a good interest.

....The Baptist Historical Society holds its session on Tuesday of commencement at Wake Forest.

....Dr. J. J. Hall, pastor of the Baptist Tabernacle, gave the hand of fellowship to eight last Sunday.

....Rev. J. A. Fristoe of Accomac county, Va., accepts a call to the Second church of Petersburg, Va.

....Rev. J. H. Lewellyn has moved his residence from Dobson to Pilot Mountain, Surry county, N. C.

....Dr. T. H. Pritchard of Wilmington, N. C., baptized twelve persons into the fellowship of his church last Thursday.

....The protracted meeting in Goldsboro closed last Thursday night. The meeting resulted in about thirty conversions.

....Rev. W. A. Pearson of Front Royal, Virginia, has accepted a call to the Rock Hill Baptist church in South Carolina.

....We have an interesting article from Rev. C. C. Newton, missionary at Lagos, West Africa, which will appear in our next issue.

....Gladstone goes regularly to church twice every Sunday, and he humorously calls those who go only once "Once-ers."—Selected.

....Mr. Council S. Wooten, now of Texas, is in our city on a visit to his sister, Mrs. G. W. Sanderlin. He speaks in exalted terms of Texas.

....Rev. D. W. Herring was in the city last week on his way to Mt. Airy. We were glad to have a short call from him in the RECORDER office.

....One lady in Louisville last week sent in her check for $500 for missions, and four other ladies joined in a check for $1,000.—Exchange, April 28.

....We are examining the lives of Spurgeon, and we expect to offer the best book that is published as premiums for subscribers to the RECORDER.

....The Baptist churches in Nashville, Tenn., extended a hearty invitation to the Southern Baptist Convention to hold their session of 1893, in that city.

....Bro. Hutson was with Bro. VanDeventer of Henderson in a series of meetings last week. The latest account is that there have been twenty-five professions.

....The University of Louisiana has opened its doors to the girls of our State who are to have equal advantages of that institution.—Baptist Chronicle, La.

....Rev. J. D. Newton of Thomasville called to see us last week on his return from Mt. Olive and Kenansville, where he had been on a visit to the churches in those places.

....At the First Baptist church at Winston Rev. H. A. Brown, the pastor, announced that he had decided not to accept the call to Richmond.—State Chronicle, April 27.

....Rev. A. C. Dixon of Brooklyn, New York, will preach at Leigh Street Baptist church, Richmond, Va., next Wednesday night.

....The Ocala Baptist church has extended a unanimous call to Dr. S. A. Goodwin to become her pastor. It is expected that he will accept.—Florida Baptist Witness.

....The Baptist churches of North Carolina have given more for Home and Foreign Missions the past Conventional year, which closed April 30th, than ever before in their history.

....Dr. W. B. Harrell writes that he has received in two months nine members into the Red Springs church in Robeson county, and will receive three others at his next meeting.

....Rev. S. M. Brown of Kansas City, Mo., will pay a short visit to his father, Rev. W. G. Brown, in North Carolina, before the meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention.

....Profs. J. C. Maske and L. R. Mills paid their respects to the RECORDER office last Friday while in the city to attend the match-game of baseball between Wake Forest and Chapel Hill.

....Bro. W. S. Grandy has just returned from Ocala, Fla., where he has been spending the winter with brother and sister Crawford. We are glad to see him looking so much improved by his trip.

....About one hundred delegates and visitors from this State will attend the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta, Ga., this week. The brethren will leave here Wednesday evening at 6:15 via Greensboro.

....Rev. B. Leggett says: "The congregations on my field are growing and the Sunday-schools are doing well. I have never seen the prospects look so bright." Bro. Leggett is one of the missionaries of our Board.

....We print on our first page in this issue a Bible reading by Rev. Geo. C. Needham on the "Resurrection," for the double purpose of giving our readers the benefit of that excellent lesson and to give an idea of Mr. Needham's work in that department.

....Cards are out for the marriage of Bro. B. P. Robertson, pastor-elect of the Gaffney Baptist church, to Miss M. Ida Osborne of Brevard, N. C. The happy event is expected to come off at high noon, Tuesday, June 7th, in the Brevard Baptist church.—Baptist Courier, S. C.

....It will be a great accommodation for our delinquent subscribers to pay up their subscriptions. We know the times are hard, but we hope the brethren will not throw all the burden upon the editor. With a little consideration and a little skilfulness many of our brethren might pay up their arrearages, and a great burden would be lifted from us.

....Rev. T. F. Tuttle has tendered his resignation as pastor of the Baptist church of this town to take effect August 1st. Mr. Tuttle is an able and eloquent preacher and has done much good since here and we hope that such arrangements may be made as will cause him to withdraw his resignation and that he will remain with us.—Roanoke Beacon, Plymouth, N. C.

....Rev. C. C. Newton of Lagos, Africa, says there had not been a baptism in the mission in two years when he came; there have been thirty-one this last year—twenty-nine of them in his own field—Lagos and Hausa Farm. There have been forty additions to the Lagos church since he took charge, and it now has a membership of fifty. There has been, too, a corresponding reduction in expenditures.

....Rev. Charles S. Farriss has resigned the pastorate of the Baptist church at Orlando, Fla., and left last Monday. His wife and baby will spend a few weeks with her father, Rev. J. B. Richardson, in High Point, N. C., while he goes to the University of Virginia, to brush up on Greek preparatory to his taking charge of the chair of Greek in Stetson University, Deland, Fla.

....Rev. A. D. Hunter writes April 26th: "We have organized a 'Centennial Mission Band' here. We had our first regular meeting last Sunday and move off with thirty-five members. Each one says how much he will pay per month for the mission work. Meetings are to be held second and fourth Sunday evenings. We are to have reading, singing and recitations in our exercises."

....Dr. L. G. Broughton of Winston writes: "Our work at Broad Street is growing. We gave contract for enlarging our church last Monday. We are to build baptistry, infant-class room, pastor's study, and also enlarge the audience room. Our congregations grow every Sunday; our prayer meetings are well attended. We have added to our church in the last two months twenty by letter."

....The house of worship of the First Baptist church of New Orleans was destroyed in the recent big fire which swept over that city. It was insured for $3,000, which will doubtless cover the loss. The furniture was saved. Several of the members lost their homes at the same time. It is intended to rebuild, but on a large scale, if help can be obtained from the denomination at large. Rev. Geo. W. Baines of Texas has been invited to the pastorate.—The Baptist.

....The cable dispatches announce that at a meeting in the Metropolitan Tabernacle, last Friday evening, Rev. James A. Spurgeon was invited to occupy the Tabernacle pulpit for three months. An invitation also was extended to Dr. Pierson to supply the pulpit for one year with the request that he conclude his American visit as quickly as possible so he may begin his labors at an early date. In addressing the meeting Mr. Spurgeon said that the Tabernacle was never in a more flourishing condition.—Christian Inquirer, April 28.

....The Ladies Missionary Societies of the First and the Tabernacle Baptist churches of Raleigh had Centennial Mission services last Sunday—at 4 p. m. at the First church, addressed by Dr. J. J. Hall, and at 8 p. m. at the Tabernacle, addressed by Dr. J. W. Carter. Dr. Durham explained the object of the Centennial Mission work at each of the meetings in a brief talk. At the First church, Bro. T. H. Briggs briefly explained the plans for raising the chapel building fund.

....Rev. W. B. Wingate addresses the following letter to the members of the Baptist church of Greensboro: "Dear brethren and sisters:—I hereby offer my resignation as your pastor, to take effect May 15th. For some time I have felt that I ought to retire from the ministry. For years I was in the business walks of life and long habits have created tastes and inclinations towards a business life. This is no new or sudden impulse, but my mature conviction. I trust you will consider this resignation final. For all the beloved members of our church I have a sincere affection. You have been almost too kind and patient. I thank you for it. I thank also the good people of Greensboro of every faith for their generous friendship to me and mine. I love the town and its noble people. I trust to remain among you."—Greensboro Record, April 28.

Some Things the Bible Does Not Say.

Matt. 3: 1. In those days came John, the sprinkler, sprinkling in the wilderness of Judea.

Look and see if it reads that way. Wouldn't it read "supremely ridiculous" if it did? Can anything imaginable be more laughable? Read it over aloud, and listen to the sound of your voice as you read. Try it again. John the sprinkler! There! Compare it with the true reading, "John the Baptist."

A friend asked me if I thought that any one really believed that "John the Baptist" sprinkled Jesus? "No, indeed," was my reply. "The bare idea is too absurd for intelligent belief." The Revised Version of the New Testament does not say "John the Baptist" sprinkled water on the Lord Jesus for baptism. Their reputation as Greek scholars forbade the revisers doing so silly a thing.

"He that hath ears to hear let him hear."

If "sprinkling" is ever used in the Bible for "baptism," this writer has never seen the place, chapter or verse. And what is more, we would walk, barefooted, forty miles to see the man who has found the place in the Bible; and we wouldn't think the price paid for it was dear at that.

The baptismal controversy would be forever settled if the foes of immersion could only show "sprinkling" used in the Bible for "baptism." Now wouldn't they chuckle with delight? And wouldn't they crow over the poor Baptists worse than the politicians do over a defeated candidate, if such reading could be found? Verily they would; for the spirit of persecution is not dead in the world. The Bible, however, is on our side; or, rather, Baptists are on the side of the Bible.

The Bible does not say, He that believeth and is sprinkled shall be saved; neither, he that is sprinkled in infancy and believeth afterward in maturity, shall be saved. (See Mark 16: 16.) Such reading would be a perversion of all gospel order. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved" reads just as Christ taught and as the Apostles preached and practiced. Why not be satisfied to do as they did about this matter of baptism? Why wish to substitute something else for the baptism of the Bible? And how is it that a christian will say, it does not matter; that something else will do as well as the act commanded? If the believer in Jesus is not commanded to be immersed, please tell us what he is commanded to do after he believes. "He that believeth and is"—what? Say, ye enemies of the Lord's baptism, say what Jesus would have us do for obedience, is the next step, in the new life. Will you say, "be baptized"? Precisely. Does that convey the true idea to your Pedobaptist mind? Will you go and be "buried in baptism"? Will you go "down into the water" to obey the Lord, as Philip taught the eunuch, and as they did, in Acts 8: 38? Come, now, you say you are Christ's disciple, and if so, of course you desire to obey him. What, then, will you do, in order to render that obedience required in the command? You are silent, and well may you be. Again we say, "He that hath ears to hear let him hear."

The Bible does not say that baptism is nothing, as we have heard some declare when pressed for argument; but it does say in 1 Pet. 3: 21, that it is "the answer of a good conscience towards God by the resurrection of Jesus Christ." If that "good conscience" is worth anything, then go and obey him if you are truly a believer in the resurrection of your Lord; and only can we show our belief in his resurrection, by being buried into, and raised out of, the baptismal waters, in the likeness of his burial and resurrection.

As a minister of Christ, we dare to speak as "the oracles of God" do teach (see 1 Pet. 4: 11), that God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

W. B. HARRELL.

Dunn, N. C.

Camden and Currituck Union.

This Union will meet with the Beres church on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May. Rev. C. A. G. Thomas has been appointed to preach the introductory sermon.

The Union will meet at Beres on Friday and Saturday, and on Sunday it will meet at Corinth for the purpose of dedicating the church to the Lord. Dr. J. J. Hall of Raleigh will preach the dedicatory sermon. Bro. Hall will be with us on Friday and Saturday also. J. B. HARRELL.

Elizabeth City, April 27, 1892.

[Published by Request.]

Rev. C. A. Jenkens' Address before the Sunday-school Convention.

THE HOLY SPIRIT'S WORK IN THE PREPARATION, EXPOSITION, AND APPLICATION OF SCRIPTURE LESSONS IN THE SUNDAY-SCHOOL.

I shall treat the subject not in its mystical, but in its practical bearings; and before considering the work of the Spirit in teaching the Holy Scriptures, I shall consider the Worker Himself.

Once as I entered a Sunday-school, a young lady who had been a member of the church for some years and who was at that time a member of the Bible class, approached me with an open Testament in her hand, and, pointing to a passage in which occurred the name of the Holy Spirit, asked me to explain its meaning. She stated that she had seen it a number of times in reading the Scriptures, but that she did not understand what it meant. This young woman did not know whether this sacred name denoted Jupiter Olympus, some classic hero, or an animal. This is but an instance, though an exaggerated instance, of the ignorance that prevails respecting both the person and the office of the Holy Spirit. Some esteem him as nothing more than an emanation of the Deity, or an influence proceeding from the Father, or even a bare abstraction; while others are like those poor, untutored disciples who, when questioned by the Apostle touching their baptism in its relation to the third person of the Trinity, replied that they did not know whether there be any Holy Ghost.

The Scriptures ascribe a special work to the Spirit which is as distinct from Christ's as Christ's is from the Father's. Christ made the atonement, the Spirit applies its blessed results; Christ gave himself to men, the Spirit enables men to give themselves to Christ; Christ did a work for men, the Spirit does a work in men; Christ founded the church, the Spirit guides the church; Christ's earthly ministry is finished, the Spirit's earthly ministry has not been finished, nor will it be until the last sinner on whom rests the electing love of God is brought into the fold. Christ's mission was attested by miracles exerted chiefly on material objects; he turns water into wine, multiples loaves and fishes, controls winds and waves, withers a fig-tree, heals the body; while the Spirit's mission is attested by miracles exerted on immaterial objects, and manifested in the regeneration of the soul and in the growth of spiritual character.

1. Preparation of the lesson. The Bible is God's book, and in a peculiar sense the Spirit's book; for "holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." Having prepared men to write the Scriptures, he prepares men to teach them. Just here Christ himself outlined the Spirit's work, saying, "He shall teach you all things"; and again, "He shall guide you into all truth." As a matter of fact, Christ taught a great deal of truth; he revealed the character of God, the plan of salvation, brought life and immortality to light, and declared the destiny of the righteous and the wicked in the world to come—in a word, he taught much truth; but it remained for the Holy Spirit to guide into all truth. Inasmuch, then, as inspired truth is spiritually discerned, it is clear that no one is prepared to receive or to proclaim it without a special endowment of the Spirit of truth. The Master indicated as much in his gracious promise, "Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you," and his own life was a striking illustration of its truth. The power of Jesus dates from the waters of the Jordan. Before the descent of the Holy Spirit at his baptism, even John the Baptist did not know him; he was nowhere recognized as a public teacher; he spoke no parable; he wrought no miracle; he saved no soul; he gathered about him no school of disciples; he founded no church. But after the Spirit in dove-like form rested upon him, he overcame the devil in the wilderness, snapped the chains from the wrists of men, and broke the earth's chronology in twain. He spoke in parable and lived in miracle; lepers were cleansed, the blind saw, cripples leaped as the hart, the dead lived, governors and kings trembled, a nation was moved, a world was redeemed.

The risen Lord still further emphasized the necessity of the Spirit's aid in teaching divine truth when he commanded the disciples to tarry in the city of Jerusalem until they were endued with power from on high. Though they had sat for months, or even years, at the Master's feet, and had heard his gracious doctrines, though the tragedy of Calvary was fresh in their minds, and the light of his resurrection morn had scarcely faded from their vision, they were still unfitted to proclaim to a sinful world the love of a crucified and exalted Saviour. One might think it their first duty to make haste to tell the marvellous story that had ravished their own eyes and ears and hearts, but not so; they must wait, they must pray, they must receive an unction from on high before they can proclaim with saving power that wondrous story. But, on the day of Pentecost when the Holy Spirit came upon them, they swayed the vast concourse of their hearers with such entrancing power that sinners rent the air with sighs and made the welkin ring with shouts of salvation. Even in Jerusalem, under this Holy Ghost ministry, there were daily added to the church such as were being saved, while in the regions beyond, many souls became obedient unto the faith, and churches sprang up as by some potent spell. In the light of such a revelation, I do not believe ungodly persons are prepared to teach in our Sunday-schools. A man who has himself turned his back upon Christ is not a fit person to point others to Christ; a man who has chosen the way of death is hardly prepared to teach the way of life. God delights to save men by human means, but not by human meanness. He will honor a child of grace, but not a scapegrace; and the fact is clear that a teacher should be light, not lightning, and salt, not saltpetre.

2. The exposition of the lesson. As a trumpet receives its music from the lips that touch it, and discharges its mission only when filled with the breath of the trumpeter, so a religious teacher should be but the vehicle through which the Spirit speaks. He operates, the teacher co-operates; and when he declares to the teacher the intention of the Scriptures, he demands the attention of the pupils. The first essential, then, in expounding the Bible, is to secure the attention of the class; for no attention means no instruction. The attentive reader of Scripture will readily recall the tireless endeavors of the inspired writers to gain the attention of mankind. How often are the most weighty truths of revelation introduced by some word or phrase calling upon men to give earnest heed. "Lo!" "Behold!" "Hearken unto me!" "Take heed how ye hear." "Him that hath ears to hear, let him hear." "Verily, verily, I say unto you." These are but signal notes to arrest the straying thoughts of men and fix them on holy verities. Philip was not commissioned to instruct the eunuch until the treasurer was ready to hear. Peter was not sent to Cornelius until the centurion was ready to receive his message. Ananias was not commanded to enlighten Saul of Tarsus until the chief of sinners was ready to hearken to the word of the Lord. A listless pupil cannot be taught. It would be as wise to hold a corked bottle in a Geyser and expect to fill it as to attempt to instill holy things into a brain closed to instruction. As the seething fountain pours over the bottle without entering, so the most precious truths, welling up from the warmest heart, will fall upon a heedless scholar without penetrating. And yet, how few teachers can either get or hold the attention of their class! The Grecian myth forcefully illustrates the fruitless labors of many Sunday-school workers. The daughters of Danaus in the lower world were required to fill bottomless tubs, or, as some say, to carry water in broken vessels. As fast as they poured in the water it flowed out, thus making their doom eternal, because their task was impossible. But how may the attention of a class be won? By attraction. Rub a glass rod with flannel until its atoms seem well nigh to burn, and it possesses a new and potent property—it attracts. The cold, inert rod, as if a thing of life, reaches out its electric arms and draws by a peculiar force other bodies to itself. O teacher! let the warming breath of the Spirit but touch your heart, let your soul tingle with electricity imparted by a Divine touch, and you will attract those whom before you repelled. On the day of Pentecost, Peter touched the multitude because the Spirit had touched Peter. Get the Spirit and you will get attention.

In teaching the lesson, present the very ideas which the Spirit has put in it. Give your pupils the pure milk of God's word, not the buttermilk of your word. The world needs Bible ideas, Bible standards, Bible morals, Bible salvation. I know that there are some who raise quite a storm about liberalism, and require us in no liberal way to be broad. But there are small people; and it is better to be deep than broad. Truth cannot be diluted, while some things, from their very nature, must be narrow. Jesus himself said, "Narrow is the way that leadeth unto life," and "Broad is the way that leadeth to destruction." Broaden the edge of your razor, and you had just as well try to shave with a spoon. In expounding the Scriptures, we need not so much the prism to separate the rays of light, as the sun-glass to concentrate them. The spectrum thrown by the prism upon the wall may be very pretty, but to warm the heart of this cold, dull earth, the burning rays of the sun-glass must converge upon it. As a bar of magnetized iron when held in proximity to a mixture of iron, copper, tin, zinc, and other metals, will, by its own affinities, separate the iron from the commingled elements, in like manner, a teacher magnetized by the Holy Spirit will discern the truth of God from the trash and rubbish of men's philosophy.

3. The application of the lesson. As every road in England is said to lead directly or indirectly to London, so every lesson should point to Christ. Unless we are witnessing for Jesus, we may be sure that we have not the Spirit; for our Lord showed the Spirit's part in applying the truth when he said, "He shall testify of me." The end of Sunday-school work is not cultivation, it is salvation. The cry should constantly ascend from every teacher's heart, "Lord, save my class!" The Master said, "Those that thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost." He seemed to feel an intense satisfaction and—I say it with profoundest reverence—a holy pride in successfully applying his teachings to the heart of every disciple that really desired to learn of him. "None is lost!" He saved his class. But, in general, we cannot lead a soul nearer to Christ than we ourselves are. If the teacher is cold, unsympathetic, and goes over the lesson in a perfunctory way, the scholars will be cold and heedless. If the teacher is enthusiastic and spiritual, the class will catch his enthusiasm and feel his spiritual power. Like teacher, like scholar. The very atmosphere of a class should be deeply spiritual. No unhallowed jest should jar upon the solemn hour, no flippant remark should check the flow of the Spirit. Every look should be tender, every word devotional. One had just as well sow seed upon an iceberg in hope of harvest, as to expect fruit from a class whose surroundings are chilled by frivolity and irreverence. Here is the weak point in our work. Many of our young people, especially young men, having grown up in the Sunday-school without serious impressions and positive convictions, drift to the world disappointed, believing the Sunday-school to be a play-shop for children, and religion an unmeaning thing.

A wise teacher will know the effect of his teaching upon each member of his class. If one scholar is inquiring the way of life, he does not need exactly the same treatment as one that has obtained a hope. Great delicacy has to be exercised in fitting instruction to each individual case. A mistake in this particular may prove serious, if not fatal. I knew a young woman in a Southern State whose history illustrates the point under discussion. She had grown up in the Sunday-school, and seemingly was pious. She attended church services with great regularity; and, in times of revival interest, she would present herself for prayer. At her home, nothing pleased her so well as to speak with christians about her religious condition. Yet she was never satisfied as to her relations with God. She claimed to love Christ, to believe in him, and to desire above all things to be a christian. Yet, in her tears, she would exclaim that she could not feel the burden of her sins, and hence feared that she had committed the unpardonable sin. I asked her whether she had ever made a profession of religion; she replied that when a little girl she had claimed a hope, but that was all. Ah! I thought, when a little girl! That was the secret. Her teacher did not recognize the importance of guiding a little girl when she found the Lord; and ever afterwards the child, even when developed into womanhood, spent her life in darkness. At last, under the intense yearnings for light, the tension of her mind broke, and she became an inmate of an insane asylum—when she should have been a member of a church.

Teachers of the Holy Scriptures, yours is a noble work, yours a priceless reward. To you are committed the youth of the land; see to it that you form in them, by the Spirit's help, enduring character. There are at Vichy, in France, mineral waters noted for medicinal properties. Besides such properties, they have the peculiar power of coating with stone any object placed in them for a considerable time. If a specimen of curiously wrought design, or cross, or crown be submerged in these carbonate-bearing waters, it will, degree by degree, be incased in solid stone. The clear water seems but to touch the object and to glide away without leaving a trace behind. But such is not the case. Those fleeing waters have deposited, atom by atom, their rocky treasures, until the object rises from their action a thing of beauty and a gem forever.

But there is another fountain whose living waters, flowing not upon lifeless forms but upon immortal souls, builds up, Sabbath by Sabbath, imperishable character, more precious than stone and more enduring than monuments of brass. Every look, every word, every prayer, every influence of the faithful teacher leaves its atom of permanent character on the scholar, encasing him at length in the whole armor of God, and forming in him the image of his Lord.

Bro. Needham's Bible Readings in Greensboro.

Bro. Bailey:—I write to tell you of the season of refreshing our church and community has had from the Bible readings and studies presented by Rev. Geo. C. Needham, who has made clear many wondrous truths, and caused the people of God to resolve to study the word more faithfully and prayerfully in the future than ever before.

Night after night the interest increased as Bro. Needham won his way to the hearts of our people by his clear, spiritual exposition of God's Word; until our church at the last services would not begin to hold the throngs who came to hear him.

Many came out in the pouring rain to the farewell "Consecration" service this morning, and were more than amply repaid for doing so. Many thanks are due Mr. Fife for bringing our distinguished friend to North Carolina.

The "latch-string" will always be out in Greensboro for Bro. Needham.

Fraternally yours,

W. W. ROWE.

Greensboro, April 25, 1892.

It is set down as a fault in Thomas, not only that he was not present when the risen Lord first met with his assembled disciples, but that when he was told of the resurrection he did not believe it. We can imagine that the doubt of Thomas was a sin, but it does not thus appear in the narrative. We admit that he might have been left justly in his unbelief; and yet the fact that the Master addressed him personally and offered to give him every opportunity to convince himself of the fact of the resurrection, indicates a willingness to use extraordinary means for the conviction of an honest doubter. And it is safe to say that just here is the difference between such a doubter as was Thomas and the final unconvinced doubter of any age. Thomas was willing to be convinced; he wanted to believe the fact; he was glad, though troubled, by the announcement of the resurrection of his Lord. He doubted, not because of lack of affinity with his Master, lack of appreciation of the character of his Beloved while he was following him up and down through the country. Thomas was an honest doubter; and for this reason special pains was taken to convince him of what was adapted to give him so much joy and comfort. So, to-day, we may believe, the Lord condescends to honest doubt—that kind of doubt which may possess one who is willing to use diligence and honest effort to obtain relief from his doubt. It is safe to say that the honest doubter is an object of special solicitude and of special compassion. He will not long remain in that condition. The prints of the nails and of the spear will be made evident to him, and he will be enabled to say, "My Lord, and my God."—Journal and Messenger.

Some men belong to so many societies that they can no longer keep up with the password and grip of the old church they joined awhile back.—Bible Reader.

Your intentions to repentance, and the neglect of that soul-saving duty, will rise up in the judgment against you.—Bunyan.

Letter from Diaz.

HAVANA, CUBA, 28 April, 1892.

Dear Bro. Tichenor:—When you was here you asked me "if I had observed any reaction in my congregation?" I told you no, everything go very nicely. We have, as the sailor say "fair wind," but now let me tell you we have a great "reaction" and if it continues the big place we have here will be small in a couple of years. We have 3,000 seats in the church, and for the last three months, at every meeting, we have an average of a thousand people in it. When I deliver lectures with the magic lantern, I have sometimes more than 3,000 people. The church looks very pretty. We have electric lights in it, and, above all, "the light of the world is shining here." I hold, week before last, a series of sermons every night of the week, and I had an attendence from a thousand to one thousand and five hundred—twenty-five were converted and two hundred manifested sympathy for the cause.

Mr. Paine and his wife have been here. They left here for Atlanta week before last. I hope to see them there.

The school is too large, we can't hold as we wish, and all the work is on the same way. We need more laborers, more teachers, more missionaries and more money to carry on this work. Who will come and help us? I want, for the school, an American teacher, that will be able to teach and manage the boarders—and I need a couple of ministers that understand the missionaric work and the Spanish language, for the important towns here. The Lord has open this door, and think it wise to go in as quick as posible.

On the 6 of May, of 1886, this work was adapted by the Southern Baptist Convention, in Montgomery, Ala., and day before the convention adjourned, you told me this words, "Diaz, we will not take this work from your hand, but we don't want you come like a child and lay down in our arms; try to be a man—any time the Lord open any door for you in Cuba, go right in." Well, now is the time, the Lord has open many doors before us, and we want to go in. How could we do it? Let us think about it, and pray for it, and the good shepherd will direct us.

Yours in Christ Jesus,

DIAZ.

That Letter of Spurgeon's.

We have before referred to the letter Spurgeon wrote to his little namesake, the son of the Rev. F. T. Snell, on the occasion of the latter's coming to America. The letter was sealed, with the instruction not to open it till the boy was ten years old. Now that both Spurgeon and the boy have gone to heaven, the father, at our request, sends us the letter, which is as follows:

Dear Young Friend:—I am anxious that the little ones should be saved. I heard a number of ministers pray for their dear boys and girls, and after they had done I said to myself, "I will write a letter to their children and try to make them think about Jesus."

What a joy it would be if you, dear namesake, were, while yet a child, to be saved by the Lord Jesus. He can wash away sin, and by his Holy Spirit he can do it quite as easily in the young as in the grown-up people. If we seek salvation by Jesus Christ, God will give it.

In the Bible we are told to believe—that is, trust. We trust Jesus to save us and he does save us. I want you to trust him now. I hope you will have a long and useful life, and trust in Christ will be a sure way to help you year by year to live happily. But you may die while yet young, and then, through faith in Jesus, you will enter heaven and be glorified with the Lord forever.

"They that seek me early shall find me." That is the text for you. I hope you will seek at once and find Jesus at once. I may never see you here, but I hope I shall meet you, and your dear parents, in the land of the blessed. Yours, with best wishes,

C. H. SPURGEON.

In the upper left-hand corner of the first page of the note paper, on which the letter is written, I find: "Lord, save my little friend. C. H. S."

This is a beautiful letter, giving us a new glimpse into the heart of the great preacher, who has made the broadest and deepest mark that has been made upon the nineteenth century. The prayer has been heard, the boy has been saved, and the meeting "in the land of the blest" has taken place.—Western Recorder.

Aims of the Y. M. C. A.

Editor of the Recorder. Dear Sir:—I see in the issue of this week of the RECORDER an article by Rev. R. VanDeventer on "How the Y. M. C. A. Hurts the Church."

I answer, I will simply invite Mr. VanDeventer to undertake the work of the Association in his town, to enter in their "Bible Class," to lead once in a while their Sunday afternoon meetings, in fact, to learn what the work of the Association is from personal observation.

Of course, the work of the Association is going to be a failure and a great failure, if we stand outside, and do nothing for it except to find fault.

The aim of the Association is to build up young men for the churches.

If the church members should seek to do a little for the Association without taking away from their efforts for their church, the Association would be a power for Christ.

The Association is not independent of the church; it is an arm of the church.

Yours in Christ,

JOHN [illegible]

Winston, April 27, 1892.

Heaven is always in sight to the man who stands on the Bible rock.—E. P. Barrows.

Ecclesiastical Politics.

Great excitement was caused during the late meeting of the Methodist Conference in this city by an anonymous circular sent out by one of the body. This document accused other members of holding a caucus, and practicing other methods of obtaining office that are commonly supposed to belong to politics of a very "practical" sort rather than to the church of Christ. For anonymous circulars and letters, as well as for every other covert attack on men's reputations, all honorable men can feel nothing but contempt. It is to fair opposition what bushwhacking is to civilized warfare. By the usages of war the bushwhacker is condemned to be shot on sight, and a similar fate ought to overtake the anonymous assailant of other men; that is to say, on discovery he should be made to suffer social death, by being cast out of the company of all self-respecting persons. But leaving out of the account the unworthy character of this letter, one can say of it that if its author had been manly enough to sign his own name, and courageous enough to stand by his charges, much of its contents would command general sympathy.

There is undoubtedly such a thing as ecclesiastical politics, and a very nauseating thing it is. It is peculiarly rife in the Methodist Episcopal church, not because the ministers of that denomination are sinners above others, but because the opportunities for wire-pulling and the temptations to engage in it are inseparable from the organization. The great strength of the Methodist Episcopal church lies in the fact that all its forces are massed and compacted, and wielded by a few elected leaders. There is no Protestant organization comparable to it; Rome hardly surpasses it; in fact, to obtain a full parallel, even in the Roman church, one must go to the Society of Jesus, or some similar order, rather than to the secular clergy. To be one of these powerful leaders is worthy of any man's ambition. Human nature is never fully sanctified, even in the ministry, and there are plenty of men who by no means wait to have the honors and responsibilities of leadership thrust upon them. In their eyes, there is no wisdom in these words of their Master: "Every one that exalteth himself shall be humbled; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted." Or again, "If any man would be first, he shall be last of all and minister of all." They have, however, implicit faith in the assurance, "Ask and ye shall receive, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you," though they seem to apply the words only to the things of this world. They seek without ceasing, they knock importunately, they ask everybody for vote and influence. In many cases they have their reward; they obtain the high preferment they seek, and men too modest and self-respecting, as well as too humble christians, to push their fortunes in this way, are left in comparative obscurity.

Ecclesiastical politics are not the exclusive plague of any church. Even in those denominations that have the loosest organization, there is opportunity for the wire-puller, and he does not fail to get in his fine work. It has even been rumored that in our Baptist associations and in our national societies there is manipulation of this sort, and it is at times whispered about that whoever wishes for recognition and honor in these gatherings must gain the good will of a certain small "ring" of ecclesiastical politicians. Of course, this is untrue; it is only in other denominations that such things are practiced. And yet, have we not heard weird tales of the tricks and expedients employed to gain access to prominent vacant pulpits, if haply a "call" might be obtained to these coveted posts? The ecclesiastical politician has as many shapes as Proteus, and in every one of them he is hateful.

It is no doubt true, and for the credit of human nature and christian character we rejoice that it is true, that these repellant [illegible] ministers. All the activities of the christian church would be paralyzed if it were otherwise. Did the whole ministry, or the major part of it in any denomination, engage in a shameless scramble for office and honor, that denomination would be doomed to speedy extinction. There can be no spiritual life, no conversion of sinners, no missionary zeal in a body so given over to self-seeking and personal aggrandizement. The great body of christian ministers are men of God, willing to remain in obscurity if so be his will, anxious only to be good stewards of the things committed to their charge; not unwilling to respond when called to go up higher, yet not consumed with ambition for place and pay, showing themselves worthy of wider fields and larger responsibilities by filling well the place in which God has hitherto set them. May the tribes increase.—Examiner, (New York).

Ask your druggist what proprietary medicine is selling right along and they will tell you King's Royal Germetuer.

Teach mankind to lift itself out of the mental conditions that create the petty frictions of daily life. It is power to control nerve force, that the slamming of a door, the dripping of water, the hissing of steam will not excite it. It is power to control mind, power to slip the dead latch against rubbish thoughts and rubbish conversation; it is power to hold the anchor of purpose, and not drift into unprofitable seas; it is power to hold self above worry, anger, jealousy, insult; it is power to hold self above irritation, selfishness, unkindness; it is power to bring happiness into the lives around you. When your words and [illegible] and thoughts of life, and [illegible] of death, then you are sowing for the world the seed of a mighty harvest.—Mrs. Gage.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Cures nervous headache, neuralgia, troubles and children [illegible] by all dealers.

Three Things.

I. REPENTANCE.

(1) Commanded to all by God. Commanded by Christ. Given by God. Christ came to call sinners to. Christ exalted to give. By the operation of the Holy Ghost. Called repentance unto life. Called repentance unto salvation.

(2) We should be led to repentance by: The longsuffering of God. The goodness of God. The chastisement of God. Godly sorrow work repentance. Necessary to the pardon of sin. Conviction of sin necessary to repentance.

(3) Preached. By Christ. By John the Baptist. By the Apostles. In the name of Christ. Not to be repented of. The present time the season for. There is joy in heaven over one sinner brought to. Ministers should rejoice over their people on their. Should be evidenced by fruit.

(4) Should be accompanied by: Humility. Shame and confusion. Self-abhorrence. Confession. Faith. Prayer. Conversion. Turning from sin. Turning from idolatry. Greater zeal in the path of duty.

II. FAITH.

(1) Is the substance of things hoped for. Is the evidence of things not seen. Commanded.

(2) The objects of, are: God. Christ. Writings of Moses. Writings of the prophets. The gospel. Promises of God.

(3) In Christ, is: The gift of God. The work of God. Precious. Most holy. Fruitful. Accompanied by repentance. Followed by conversion. Christ is the author and finisher of. Is a gift of the Holy Ghost. The Scriptures designed to produce. Preaching designed to produce.

(4) Through it, is: Remission of sins. Justification. Salvation. Sanctification. Spiritual light. Spiritual life. Eternal life. Rest in heaven. Edification. Preservation. Adoption. Access to God. Inheritance of the promises. The gift of the Holy Ghost. Impossible to please God without. Justification is by, to be of grace. Essential to the profitable reception of the gospel. Necessary in the christian warfare. The gospel effectual in those who have. Excludes self-justification. Excludes boasting. Works by love.

(5) Produces: Hope. Joy. Peace. Confidence. Boldness in preaching. Christ is precious to those who have. Christ dwells in the heart by. Necessary in prayer. An evidence of the new birth.

(6) By it, saints—Live. Stand. Walk. Obtain a good report. Overcome the world. Resist the Devil. Overcome the Devil. Are supported. Saints die in.

(7) Saints should—Be full of. Be sincere in. Abound in. Continue in. Be strong in. Stand fast in. Be grounded and settled in. Hold, with a good conscience. Pray for the increase of. Have full assurance of. True, evidenced by its fruits. Without fruit, is dead. Examine whether you be in. All difficulties overcome by. All things should be done in. Whatsoever is not of, is sin. Often tried by affliction. Trial of, works patience.

III. BAPTISM.

As administered by John. Sanctioned by Christ's submission to it. Adopted by Christ. Appointed an ordinance of the christian church. To be administered in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. Water, the outward and visible sign in. Regeneration, the inward and spiritual grace of. Remission of sins signified by. Unity of the church effected by. Confession of necessary to. Repentance necessary to. Faith necessary to. There is but one.

(1) Administered to: Individuals. Households. W. A. BARRETT.

April 22, 1892.

Senator J. R. Lyle says: "After giving up all hopes my wife was cured of neuralgia and indigestion by Germetuer."

An Appeal to the Humane.

The North Carolina Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals appeals to all humane people in the State for their support and assistance. This Society was organized two years ago under a legislative charter, with authority "to establish and locate branches at any place or places within the boundaries of the State." At the time of its organization, it received a donation of five hundred dollars from a non-resident of the State, who has recently, unsolicited, sent another donation of fifty dollars, with an expression of gratification at the successful work of the Society thus far. This work has been hitherto almost wholly confined to Asheville and its vicinity, but the Society has from the beginning looked forward to the time when it could extend its work throughout the State, according to the provisions of its charter.

It believes that a systematic effort to that end ought now to be made. To make the effort successful, it is absolutely necessary that every friend of the cause should lend the Society a helping hand; first, by financial support, at least to the extent of the cost of annual membership, which is at present only one dollar, and second, by active assistance in executing the plan of extension adopted by the Board of Managers. All desired information about the plan will be furnished upon application to the Secretary and Treasurer, Walter S. Cushman, of Asheville. Membership fees should also be sent to him and will be duly acknowledged.

By order of the Board of Managers:

A. M. BALLARD, President.
WALTER S. CUSHMAN, Sec. and Treas.
Asheville, April 18, 1892.

The man who called sarsaparilla a fraud, had good reason; for he got hold of a worthless mixture at "reduced rates." He changed his opinion, however, when he began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It pays to be careful, when buying medicine.

A Suspicious Disposition.

There a few things more productive of evil in society than a suspicious disposition. He who is always on the watch for wrong-doing actually fosters it. He may fancy that he is a foe to evil, but, in truth, by letting it dwell in his mind, he becomes its promoter. The gross injustice he does to the innocent is but part of the injury. He stirs up resentful feelings, is the cause of quarrels, destroys friendship, embitters intercourse, sows seeds of distrust everywhere, poisons both his own happiness and that of many others.—Ex.

Dr. O. P. Starks of Alexander, La., says: "Had asthma from birth; tried everything; Germetuer cured me."

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

Early in the autumn I have heard three or four crickets under the hearthstone serenading each other in voices sharp and shrill, which seemed as if they were a thousand strong. They made the whole house ring. But the solid earth moved on its way, the autumn passed into winter, the crickets died and were no more heard. Such a passing racket are the harpings of a few skeptical minds upon this everlasting claim that our faith is detrimental, our theology obsolete, our pulpit dead.—Austin Phelp, D. D.

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."

BEECHAM'S PILLS

(Tasteless—Effectual.)

FOR ALL

BILIOUS and NERVOUS DISORDERS.

Such as Sick Headache, Wind and Pain in the Stomach, Giddiness, Fullness, Swelling after Meals, Dizziness, Drowsiness, Chills, Flushings of Heat, Loss of Appetite, Shortness of Breath, Costiveness, Scurvy, Blotches on the Skin, Disturbed Sleep, Frightful Dreams, All Nervous and Trembling Sensations, and Irregularities Incidental to Ladies.

Covered with a Tasteless and Soluble Coating.

Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a Box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.
J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

USED THEM IN HIS BLOW-GUN.

Doctor—"Well, my fine little fellow, you have got quite well again. I was sure the pills I left for you would cure you. How did you take them, in water or in cake?"

Boy—"Oh, I used them in my blow-gun."

The little fellow put the nasty, great, griping, old-fashioned pills to a good use. At most, all his internal economy needed was a dose of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules, easy to take, and are gently aperient, or actively cathartic, according to size of dose. As a laxative, only one tiny Pellet is required.

The "Pellets" cure Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels.

The "Pellets" are purely vegetable, and operate without disturbance to the system, diet, or occupation.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are the cheapest pill, sold by druggists, because they are guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or their price (25 cents a vial) is refunded. Can you ask more?

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 26 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

Atlantic Coast Line.

Wilmington & Weldon Railroad and Branches.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
Dated April 24, 1892.

GOING SOUTH.	No 23. Daily.	No 27. Fast Mail Daily.	No 41 Daily ex Sunday
Leave Weldon ...	12 30 p m	5 43 p m	6 00 a m
Ar Rocky Mount.	1 40 p m	6 56 p m	7 09 a m
Arrive Tarboro ...	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro...	12 58 p m	‡6 00 p m
Arrive Wilson	2 18 p m	7 00 p m	7 40 a m
Leave Wilson....	‡2 30 p m
Arrive Selma	3 30 p m
Arr Fayetteville.	5 30 p m
Leave Goldsboro.	3 15 p m	7 40 p m	8 30 a m
Leave Warsaw...	4 14 p m		9 30 a m
Leave Magnolia..	4 27 p m	8 40 p m	9 44 a m
Arr Wilmington.	6 00 p m	9 55 p m	11 25 a m

GOING NORTH.	No 14. Daily	No 78. Daily.	No 40. Daily ex Sunday.
Lve Wilmington.	12 35 a m	9 15 a m	4 20 p m
Leave Magnolia..	1 54 a m	10 57 a m	6 02 p m
Leave Warsaw...		11 11 a m	6 15 p m
Arrive Goldsboro.	2 55 a m	12 05 a m	7 10 p m
Lve Fayetteville.		‡9 10 a m
Leave Selma.....		11 08 a m
Arrive Wilson....	5 35 a m	12 58 p m	8 04 p m
Ar Rocky Mount	4 03 a m	1 30 p m	8 39 p m
Arrive Tarboro..	‡6 30 a m	12 [illegible] p m
Leave Tarboro...		12 58 p m
Arrive Weldon...	5 05 a m	2 55 p m	10 00 p m

‡Daily except Sunday.

Trains on Scotland Neck branch road leave Weldon 4.00 p m, Halifax 4 22 p m; arrive Scotland Neck at 5.15 p m, Greenville 6.52 p m, Kinston 8.00 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston 7.10 a m, Greenville 8 25 a m. Arriving Halifax at 11.00 a m, Weldon 11.25 a m, daily except Sunday.

Local freight train leaves Weldon Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10.15 a m, arriving Scotland Neck 1.05 a m, Greenville 5 30 p m, Kinston 7 40 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 7.20 a m, Greenville 9.55 a m, Scotland Neck 2.20 p m, arrive at Weldon 5 15 p m.

Train leaves Tarboro, via Albemarle and Raleigh railroad, daily except Sunday, 4.40 p m, Sunday 3.00 p m; arrive Williamston 7.16 p m, 4.20 p m, Plymouth 8.30 p m, 5 20 p m. Returning leaves Plymouth daily except Sunday 6.00 a m, Sunday 9.00 a m, Williamston 7.30 a m, 9.58 a m. Arrive Tarboro 10 40 a m, 11.20 a m.

Trains on Southern Division, Wilson and Fayetteville branch, leave Fayetteville 7 30 a m, arrive Rowland 12.15 p m. Returning leave Rowland 12 15 p m, arrive Fayetteville 5.15 p m. Daily except Sunday.

Train on Midland, N C, branch leaves Goldsboro daily except Sunday, 6 00 a m, arrive Smithfield 7.30 a m. Returning leaves Smithfield 8.00 a m, arrive Goldsboro 9 30 a m.

Train on Nashville branch leaves Rocky Mount at 5.15 p m, arrives Nashville 5.55 p m, Spring Hope 6.30 p m. Returning leaves Spring Hope at 8.00 a m, Nashville 8.35 a m, arrive Rocky Mount 9.15 a m, daily except Sunday.

Train on Clinton branch leaves Warsaw for Clinton daily except Sunday, at 6.20 p m, and 11.15 a m. Returning leaves Clinton at 8.30 a m, and 3.10 p m, connecting at Warsaw with Nos 41, 40, 28 and 78.

Southbound train on Wilson and Fayetteville branch is No 51; Northbound is No 50. Daily except Sunday.

Trains No 27 South, and 14 North, will stop only at Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Magnolia.

Train No 78 makes close connection at Weldon for all points North daily, all rail via Richmond, and daily except Sunday via Bay Line, also at Rocky Mount daily except Sunday, with Norfolk and Carolina railroad for Norfolk and all points north via Norfolk.

JOHN F. DIVINE, Gen. Supt.
L. B. KEMP, General Manager.
T. M. EMERSON, Traffic Manager.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 1014½ Whitehall St.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	‡1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	*8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	‡1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	‡6 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	10 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

‡Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 5.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.05 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2.10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11.50 a m, arrive Henderson 12.45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6.30 and 9.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7; 5 and 10.45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2.15 p m, and Raleigh 6.40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7.30 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville.

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville. Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N.C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 23, 1892.

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennettsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.27 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7.25 a m
Ar Greensboro			10.05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10.35 a m
Ar Madison			1.05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	8:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:32 p m
Ar Bennettsville		4:30 p m
Lv Madison			2:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:35 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			8:10 p m

W. E. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for May:—Italy.

Letter from Rome.

"A touch of nature makes the whole world kin" must be as true now as it ever was,—"a missionary to Africa" is a far off creature until we know him as a warm-hearted man with a merry smile who loves his kind, wants somebody to talk to and goes out to play with his horse from sheer loneliness; "a missionary to China" comes a deal closer resolved into a sweet woman whose enthusiasm does not prevent her having backache and blues.

You have given May to praying for "the woman country," but I am sure you would pray better if you knew more of the people you are praying for, and did not class them all as organ-grinders and peanut-venders. It would be a mistake to judge Great Britain by the London cab-drivers.

The church in Rome is certainly one of the "least among the cities of Judah," but there is something very like the primitive church in the nearness of the members to each other—the real brotherliness. Would you care to hear about the pastor's family? Mr. Paschetto himself is not very strong, and has a scholarly transparent look about him, light blue eyes, black hair and a rarely sweet smile which contradicts his otherwise stern, ascetic expression. Out in the daylight, the searching sunshine shows him a little bleached from midnight poring over books, and reveals those green hues in his coat which ministerial cloth is apt to assume when worn too long. He comes from Piedmont, the puritan land of Italy, and is as leal a man as ever breathed. Every heart has its door, and that of Mr. Paschetto's springs open at the touch of a girlish hand which belongs to that small woman, his daughter, Enrichetta, or Chetina, as she is usually called. In her dark plain clothes, she seems a very demure, sober person, until she takes to flirting with her grave father who cannot withstand her small wiles and graces, and, though conscientiously severe with himself on the score of spoiling, feels a great wave of tenderness and romance well up at the name "La mia Enrichetta." This little maid's hand will not reach an octave yet, and her feet dangle hopelessly over the pedals, but she practices faithfully and is becoming a brave musician while keeping a high record at school, though she still has a soft spot in her heart for dolls. Comrade to Enrichetta is the gentle blue-eyed Ludovico, whose dreamy, far-away look bespeaks the soul of the violinist and the artist. He is only twelve years old, but he holds his instrument lovingly and wields a pencil fairly. Emanuel and Paul, the two youngest, are dear, plump little men, full of ardor about their school, but retiring behind a curtain of shy blushes when spoken to by anyone but their father and mother. I don't know any little people more unsophisticated than these four, or better up in their classes; and in the public school attended by them they are always in demand by the teachers, "for so shines a good deed in a naughty world."

If the French saying, "Seek the woman," be true in evil things, it is often so in better cases, and Mrs. Paschetto reveals herself in other ways than speech, though she has a quiet humor of her own and a comical manner of telling her children's funny sayings and doings. They keep no servant; but I defy any land to produce a neater, better cared for family. Mrs. Paschetto does cooking, ironing and sewing for them all, only Mr. Paschetto's rare coats and trousers being made out of the house. She accompanies and fetches the children to and from their several schools, and the little people help her in drying dishes and cleaning up. She says she generally finds it better to black shoes herself as little Emanuel is apt to give more polish to his jacket than to the boots. Mrs. Paschetto is always neat, always cheery, works like a Turk all day, and attends every meeting (three on Sunday and five in the week), but no matter how tired or sleepy, has ever "a heart at leisure from itself to soothe and sympathize." Perhaps it is quite impossible to describe living people with dead words, so I give it up.

I hope you will remember these, and the children of our other ministers in Italy, for it is from them we hope most for the future. Ask God that this trust may be justified.

Yours sincerely, M. B.

Rome, Feb. 15, 1892.

Hon. H. J. Chamberlain of Chicago says: "Germeteur cured me of an old case of dyspepsia."

Says Bishop Walden: "Italy has above 30,000,000 of people, of whom between 25,000 and 30,000 are connected with some Protestant organization—not more than one in every thousand of the population. In 1890, six Protestant bodies reported 23,452 members, but besides these there is the mission of the Plymouth Brethren, a few small independent missions, and the several Anglican and other foreign churches. The entire Protestant force, however, must fall below 30,000. The Methodist contingent is about 3500, a little more than 1500 are found in the Wesleyan, and a little less than 1000 in the Methodist Episcopal Mission. The Waldensian Church began the work of evangelization in 1848, and reports 18,000; the Free Church of Italy, united in one body in 1865, reports 1800; the Baptist less than 900, and the 'Italian Catholic Church' about 100. Such is the numerical strength of Protestantism in Italy."

An Elevating Influence.

To evangelize the world is the mission of the church. In all that she does this end should be ever in view. Whatever is not against Christ is for him. Whatever makes known his truth is an agency for his glory, and consequently for man's good.

The American Baptist Publication Society is engaged in furnishing a pure religious literature to as many readers as it can reach, and is doing incalculable good thereby. Its effort is to furnish this matter at rates as cheap as possible. What profits are made go to the mission and benevolent work of the Society by sending forth the living minister to come in personal contact with the people.

The literature provided by it for Sunday-schools is cheaper than any other of like grade. It is adapted admirably to all grades of scholars. Money to provide a school with a full equipment is hard to raise, and it would be well for schools to secure supplies from this Society, knowing they thereby get as good as the best for less money, and if there is any profit it goes to help the needy over the whole country.

How Chinese Women Hear the Gospel.

In a former article, I wrote something about preaching the gospel to the heathen, and mentioned the congregations to be had every day to hear the preaching. But these are all men. Whether the preaching be in the chapel or on the street, the women are not allowed, by Chinese custom, to be present. The christian women, and a few others whom they specially invite, attend the Sunday services. But men cannot reach the heathen Chinese women with the gospel; this must be done by christian women. How to do this a very puzzling question. Much work is done by the consecrated women of this mission along the lines long in use here, which have been very successful.

Sometimes a little can be done by gathering the women at some suitable place where the missionaries may talk to them about Jesus and the plan of salvation. There is a room at the back door of our city chapel where the ladies go certain days in the week to meet any who come and to talk with them. At various places in the city christian Chinese women teach day schools for girls. One of the missionaries visits each of these schools one day in every week, examines the girls on the Scripture they have been studying, and talks to them about the doctrines of the gospel. It often happens that women of the neighborhood know when the missionary is coming and gather at the school to see her and hear what she may say. When school is over she receives from the girls invitations to go with them to their homes. She accepts as many of these invitations as possible, and in their homes she talks to their mothers and many of the neighbors about the way of salvation. Sometimes the room will be crowded with listeners. Of course many are drawn by curiosity to see the foreigner, and they often interject their questions of curiosity about herself, her clothing, her age, and her family. Once when Miss North and Miss McMinn were out together, they were asked if Miss McMinn was Miss North's wife. But even if they do come from curiosity it gives an opportunity to preach the gospel to them, and this is faithfully done.

At other times the ladies go out on the streets lined with residences and watch for "open doors" to carry the gospel. Sometimes they are invited to enter and received gladly; at other times doors are slammed in their faces. Sometimes the men meet them on the street and say rough things to them, or order them out of their houses. Once a man was about to shoot at Miss Whilden behind her back; another time men were about to close the gate across the street and prevent her returning home; but she firmly, yet quietly, told them they had no right to do so, and they let her pass. Miss Whilden often visits the home for old women, where are many helpless and decrepid old women. Many of these poor women, with the last flickerings of intelligence, seem to grasp the truth and believe in Jesus. It is touching to hear how some of them can scarcely remember the name of Jesus, or the words of a prayer, but they have quit worshipping idols, and in their hearts seem to have the spirit of true prayer. Several of them have made a credible profession and have been baptized. Mrs. Graves conducts a prayer meeting and a Bible class for christian women once a week, and tries to prepare them for teaching in Sunday-school and for living consistent lives.

G. W. GREENE.

Indigestion! Miserable! Take Beecham's pills.

Life is cumulative in all ways. A steady purpose is like a river, that gathers volume and momentum by flowing on. The successful man is not one who can do many things indifferently, but one thing in a superior manner. Versatility is over-praised. There is a certain value in having many strings to one's bow, but there is more value in having a bow and a string, a hand and an eye, that will every time send the arrow into the bull's eye of the target.—Theodore T. Munger.

South River Union.

The Union of the South River Association will convene with the Dunn Baptist church, Friday, 10 a. m., May 27. The following program has been arranged for:

Friday 10 a. m. Introductory sermon, Rev. W. R. Johnson.

11 a. m. Organization of the Union.

11:30 a. m. Address of welcome—Eldridge Lee.

Response—I. Royal.

2:30 p. m. Discussion—What does the Bible teach in 1 Cor. 9: 12; 10: 1, 2? Opened by Rev. S. C. Page.

8 p. m. Missionary sermon, Rev. W. M. Page.

Saturday, 10 a. m. What is the Bible position with reference to the whiskey question? Opened by Rev. W. R. Johnson.

11 a. m. How can we best secure an interest on the part of church members in the S. S. work? Opened by J. L. Autry.

3 p. m. Miscellaneous business of the Union.

Sunday 10 a. m. Regular exercises Dunn Baptist Sunday-school, R. G. Taylor, Superintendent.

11 a. m. Dedicatory sermon. Dr. C. Durham.

3 p. m. Sunday-school mass meeting.

8 p. m. Preaching by Dr. Durham.

Come, brethren, one and all, and let's have a good time.

W. F. WATSON, for Com.

A revivifying of nature's latent forces occurs every spring. At this time, better than at any other, the blood may be cleansed from the humors which infest it. The best and most popular remedy to use for this purpose is Ayer's Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla.

Montgomery County Union Meeting.

This Union meets with Bethel church on Friday, May 27, 1892. Sermon at 11 o'clock a. m., by Rev. Haywood Morris.

SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

Y. M. C. A.—William Denton, T. F. Haywood.

Missions and the Bible—Rev. W. M. Bostic, S. W. Fuquay.

Our duty to the Ministers' Relief Board—J. A. Covington, Z. P. Wright.

Missions as dependent on Pastors and Churches—Rev. G. O. Wilhoit, Haywood Morris.

What is the most successful way of making our Union a success?—D. H. Cook, W. B. Owen.

Sunday-school mass-meeting on Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m.

Missionary sermon on Sunday at 11 a. m., by Rev. W. M. Bostick.

Let every church be represented.

J. L. MCWILLIAMS,
J. W. DIXON,
Committee.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

A New Paper.

It is said that there are not fewer than 7,000 Syrians, Persians and Arabs in this city, and not fewer than 150,000 persons in North and South America who speak and read the Arabic language. On Friday, April 15, a paper published in that tongue appeared in this city. It is believed that this is the only paper printed in Arabic in either America or in Europe. Mr. N. J. Arbeely, who is officially employed as the interpreter of the Bureau of Immigration, will be the proprietor, editor and publisher of this new paper, and its name will be Kawkab of America, or the Star of America. Mr. Arbeely was once United States Consul at Jerusalem, and is a graduate of an American college. A portion of the paper will be printed in English. One of its aims will be to produce and preserve amicable relations between the races in America speaking Arabic, and also to give Americans a better understanding of these races. They are now the victims of a prejudice as real as it is reasonless. Frequently in this city these people suffer from outbreaks against them by other foreigners.—Chicago Standard.

It is a pity you fell, but its no use lying there; get up.—Gen. Booth.

The great lack in the preaching and work of missionaries among the Asiatics, according to a writer—Rev. S. A. Barnett—in The Contemporary Review, is failure to preach christianity as a religion of law as well as of grace. As a rule among Asiatics, especially in India, custom takes the place that principle holds in the Western mind. The idea that duty is to be treated as if it were enforced by armies is foreign to them. And yet the advance of christian civilization is doing something to inspire the idea of the reign of law. A Cingalese, for instance, who had had the devil-dancer to dance all night and attract the devil of disease from his body, said the next day that probably the damp was the cause of rheumatism. When the idea of moral obligation to a God of righteousness takes root in the Oriental mind the results of christian missions will be much greater. The same thing holds in Japan. The Japanese are essentially frivolous. "They live over a volcano but their talk is of flowers and their interest is in the last foreign importation. . . . There is no 51st Psalm in their language and no Puritan in their history." "I am Shintoist and Buddhist; I help both religions; I shall help the christians next year" where the words of Japanese, representing a common attitude of mind. The christianity that Japan needs to-day, Mr. Barnett insists, is that which made Felix tremble; the christ who is preached must be the Christ whose eyes are as fire; and the demand made must not be the acceptance of a form or a creed, or even of a code of morals, but of a new life. The Japanese need to be awed, to be smitten into seriousness, by the revelation of the God who is above the world, and of the hell which is underneath civilization. The men whom we most need as missionaries to day have the Puritan strain. Missionaries, whose ideas of law and plenty are vague and shadowy, cannot give the Japanese the christian conceptions they most need.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "My wife and daughter were cured of headache and catarrh by Germetuer."

Chowan Association.

The Chowan Association meets with the church at Ballard's Bridge, Chowan county, May 17th, 18th and 19th.

Persons coming by steamer "Lota" from Franklin or Edenton will be met at Holley's Wharf. Those coming on the Suffolk and Carolina Railroad will be met at Chowan Station.

The ministers of this Association at their meeting in Edenton April 6th, passed a resolution, requesting the Association to give the second day entirely to the Centennial of Missions.

A. W. BURFOOT.

MANLY PURITY

To cleanse the blood, skin, and scalp of every eruption, impurity, and disease, whether simple, scrofulous, hereditary, or ulcerative, no agency in the world is so speedy, economical, and unfailing as the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier and greatest of humor remedies. In a word, they are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times, and may be used in the treatment of every humor and disease, from eczema to scrofula, with the most gratifying and unfailing success. Sold everywhere.

POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Blood Humors" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough hands and falling hair cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

RHEUMATIC PAINS

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. Price, 25c.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

CONSUMPTION

T POSITIVELY CURED. T

H Comm's Emulsion of Pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil, combined with the Hypophosphites, is recommended on its merit alone. It is prescribed by many of the leading Physicians of every state in the E Union, besides being recommended by the Doctors and teachers of Medicine in Europe. This alone goes far to establish the justice of its claim to superiority. It is beyond doubt the best remedy in the B world for the cure of Consumption, and all kindred diseases. It will positively cure consumption, if used before this E fearful disease has made too much headway, particularly if it is persevered in after the arrest of the disease. Wherever there is any wasting disease of any S kind, Comm's Emulsion is the remedy. To derive the full benefit from this truly valuable medicine, it is recommended T that it be used only by the advice of an intelligent Physician. For sale by all druggists. Manufactured only by H. A. CRAIGHILL & CO., Wholesale Druggists, Lynchburg, Va.

STOP AT THE

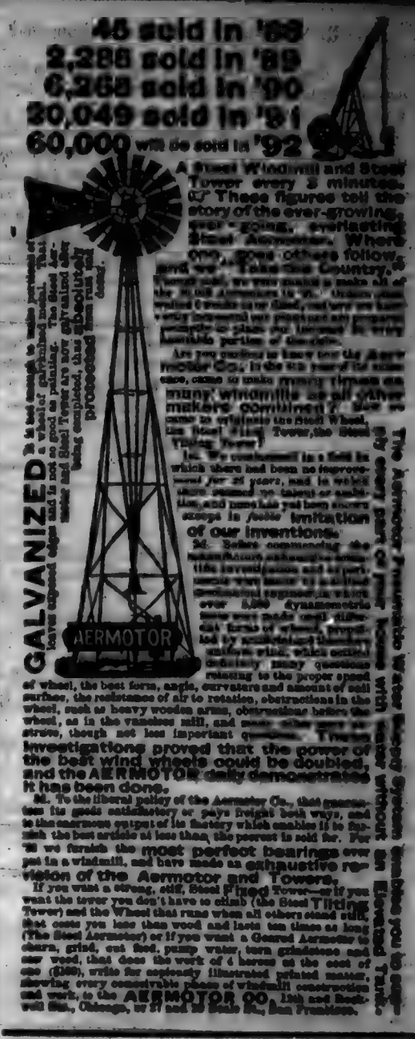
Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.



A Steel Windmill and Steel Tower every 3 minutes. These figures tell the story of the ever-growing, ever-going, everlasting Steel Aermotor. Where one goes others follow, and we are Taking the Country.

Are you going to have one the Aermotor Co. is the six years of its existence, come to make money through one many windmills as all other makers combined? Are we going to explain the Steel Wheel, the Steel Fixed Tower, the Steel Thing Power?

In your homestead in a field in which there had been no improvement for 25 years, and in which there seemed no chance or possibility, and none had yet been shown, except in feeble imitation of our inventions.

24. Before commencing the manufacture of wind mills with the present system of gearing we spent over $100,000 experimenting with gears made single, double and triple, which settled definitely many questions relating to the proper speed of wheel, the best form, angle, curvature and amount of sail surface, the resistance of air to rotation, obstructions in the wheel, such as heavy wooden arms, obstructions before the wheel, as in the vaneless mills, and to the wind passing through straws, though not less important questions. These investigations proved that the power of the best wind wheels could be doubled, and the AERMOTOR daily demonstrated it has been done.

25. To the liberal policy of the Aermotor Co., that guarantees its goods satisfactory or pays freight both ways, and to the enormous output of its factory which enables it to furnish the best article at less than the poorest is sold for. For 20 we furnish the most perfect bearings ever put in a windmill, and have made as exhaustive research of the Aermotor and Towers.

If you want a strong, stiff, Steel Fixed Tower (if you want the tower you don't have to climb) (the Steel Tilting Tower) and the Wheel that runs when all others stand still, that runs you less than wood and lasts ten times as long (The Steel Aermotor) or if you want a Geared Aermotor to churn, grind, cut feed, pump water, turn grindstone and saw wood, that does the work of 4 horses at the cost of one ($100), write for copiously illustrated, reflated matter, showing every conceivable phase of windmill construction, and work, to the AERMOTOR CO., 12th and Rockwell Sts., Chicago, or 27 and 29 Beale St., San Francisco.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 26th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.)
Principal.

Please mention this paper.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D.,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of a two-cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of a two-cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

Upon the receipt of a two-cent postage stamp, with name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

BELLS

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

Rev. R. VanDeventer's Position Approved.

Dear Recorder:—I wish to say amen and amen to Rev. R. VanDeventer's article in your last issue on the Y. M. C. A. We do not need, and ought not to have, any other organization but the divinely organized church. If any man can find time for any work after he has done all his church requires of him, let him do it. But let him be sure that he does not give any other organization of any name, under any circumstances, the glory due the church for which Jesus Christ shed his blood. Christ formed a field wide enough for the full display of all his talents in the work of his Father through the divinely-appointed channel. There never lived a man with greater talents.

M. A. ADAMS.

Jonesboro, Tenn., April 27, 1892.

Col. L. W. Avery of Atlanta says: "I was cured of kidney troubles and paralysis by Germetuer."

On May 27th, 1892, (Friday before the fifth Sunday), the Union S. S. Convention will be held with the church at Beaver Dam, N. C. The following is the program:

Friday 11 a. m. Sermon by Rev. G. W. Harmon.

1:30 p. m. Qualifications, Aims and Rewards of the Sunday-school Teacher. By Rev. D. A. Snider and A. Marsh.

Saturday 10 a. m. The Sunday-school and Missions. Rev. A. C. Davis and G. H. Broughton.

11 a. m. Duties of Parents and Church Members in Reference to the Sunday school. Rev. A. B. Caudle and Mark Day.

1:30 p. m. The Hindrances to the Sunday-school. O. M. Saunders and B. C. Ashcraft.

Sunday. The exercises to be arranged by the Convention.

It is expected and earnestly requested that all the Sunday-schools of the Association will send messengers and reports.

COMMITTEE.

FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Indigestion, and Stomach disorders, use
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
All dealers keep it. $1 per bottle. Genuine has trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

The Orphanage.

From some statements recently made in Charity and Children about the financial condition of the Orphanage, it seems that the Baptists of the State are neglecting it. Surely the great host of Baptists in North Carolina could easily support the Orphanage, and that, too, without much sacrifice, if they would go about it systematically.

Of course, we are all aware that there is a general financial depression throughout the State. This has been the case more or less for three years. The cry of "hard times" is familiar to all.

Now, I submit this consideration to my Baptist brethren and sisters throughout North Carolina:

If the hard times, about which so much is said, weigh so heavily upon those who have food and raiment and some competency with which to meet the emergencies, how utterly heart rending must it be with the poor widows and homeless and helpless orphans, many of whom barely have a bed of straw upon which to rest their bodies or a crust of bread to appease their hunger!

I do not think that the thousands of Baptists in North Carolina can afford to let the Orphanage suffer with only about a hundred and twenty-five children, or even be crippled in its usefulness by the lack of proper support.

It is highly important that the Orphanage be well supported and its capacity enlarged. I believe this can be done despite the hard times; and there will never be a better time to go about it than now.

I desire that every Baptist church or Sunday school in North Carolina that has any system of helping the Orphanage, will communicate with me, either by letter through the pastor or superintendent, or otherwise, stating just how much they help the Orphanage and by what plan they do it. I shall also be glad to have suggestions from any one, either by letter to me or through communications to the RECORDER, looking to the establishing of some improved system whereby we may do more for the Orphanage and increase its capacity for taking care of the many helpless little ones who need its shelter and its training.

Brethren and sisters, we are a mighty army, or ought to be, and shall we not rise in the strength of our Leader and save the orphans?

E. E. HILLIARD.

Scotland Neck, April 28th, 1892.

The Virginia and Carolina Heat and Light Company, of Danville, Va., have made business arrangements with Mr. Geo. Allen, of Salem, Va., (who is well known in North Carolina and Virginia,) to act as general manager and agent for the company. They have erected works in North Danville, Va., and are now furnishing the brightest and best gas light ever seen, and at the low price of one dollar per 1,000 feet. They claim to be able to make this gas at an expense of twenty cents per 1,000 feet, for material used; which is less than one half the cost of coal gas. If you are interested in the subject, examine the works and light in North Danville, or write to George Allen, at Salem, Virgina.

Acknowledgments.

[illegible]—Smyrna, N C, $3.00; Grassy Creek ch, Flat River, 5.00; Youngsville ch, Central, 5.00; Winton ch, W Chowan, 6.92; [illegible] ch, Tar River, 1.00; Mt Pisgah ch, [illegible] 4.00; W M S, ditto, ditto, 5.09. Total [illegible]. Previously reported, 1,455.03. Total [illegible], 1,560.95.

[illegible] Missions—Pisgah Tree ch, Tar River, [illegible] Mountain ch, Mt Zion, 10.00; Cumberland ch, Grassy Creek, 3.50; Siloam ch, [illegible], 2.00; Ross' ch, W Chowan, [illegible] ch, Green River, 5.00; Le[illegible] Bethel ch, 1.51; W M S, Trinity ch, 3.63; First ch Wilmington, Eastern, 37.80; Good Hope ch, Raleigh, 9.00; Hoffman ch, Richmond, 1.00; Hamlet ch ditto, 50c; G W Bunn, Spring hope, N C, 80c; Concord ch, Alexander (Greene), 2.60; Union Grove ch, South River, 2.00; Magnolia ch, ditto, 1.50; Mt Gilead ch, Cedar Creek, 75c; Lawrence X Roads ch, W Chowan, 12.00; Snow Hill ch, Flat River, 2.00; Connaritsa ch, W Chowan, 23.00; New Salem ch, Sandy Creek, 1.75; Bethany ch, ditto, 1.85; Juniper Spring ch, Little River, 1.00; Bear Creek ch, Sandy Creek, 1.57; Catawba ch, 3.30; Mrs Dr J J Baxter, Chowan, 5.00; Lower Creek ch, Caldwell, 4.40; King's Creek ch, ditto, 4.75; Hibriton S S, ditto, 3 85; Worthville Missionary Workers—Maud Jackson, 1.16; Perler Leonard, 1.10; Ollie Jenkins, 1.16; Minnie Spivey, 1.00; Lovie Harper, 1.40; Bertha Williamson, 1.68; Randleman Missionary Workers—Ellen Barker, 2.12; Lesbia Alexander, 1.89; Anna Wilson, 1.15; Maud Wilson, 2.27; Ida Alred, 3.27; Rotha Pugh, 2.97; Cedar Falls Missionary Workers—Nannie Free, 81c; Ella Campbell, 1.60; Maggie Leonard, 47c; Minnie Alred, 65c; Purler Glass, 1.42; Carrie Alred, 1.07; Gracy Kenney, 88c; Lena Coward, 1.61; Ramseur's Missionary Workers—Lillie Hurley, 1.80c; Addie Steele, 69c; Jessie Burgess, 34c; W Foster, 1.62; Lou Snider, 30c; Mattie Harman, 26c; Stone Mountain ch, Green River, 3.25; Rutherfordton ch, ditto, 12.50; Bridgewater ch, ditto, 2.00; Mountain Creek ch, ditto, 3.00; Marion ch, ditto, 7.50; Old Fort ch, ditto, 5.00; Green River ch, ditto, 3.00; Montford's Cove ch, ditto, 9.85; Beulah ch, ditto, 1.05; Bethel ch, ditto, 2.10; Camp Creek ch, ditto, 93c; C B F Institute Mis Society, 12.71; Cartledge's Creek ch, Richmond, 6.00; Cumberland Union ch, Raleigh, 5.00; Mrs Kennedy, Cameron ch, Sandy Creek, 1.00; Goldsboro ch, Atlantic, 35.00; Monroe ch, Union, 25.00; Oak Grove ch, Union, 1 00; Reed's ch, Liberty, 3.00; Holloway's ch, ditto, 1.97; Lexington ch, ditto, 14.06; Shiloh ch, Beulah, 20.20; First ch, Charlotte, Meck and Cab, 8.00; New Bethany ch, South Yadkin, 5.00; Cleveland ch, ditto, 5.00; Shady Grove ch, ditto, 2.00; Providence ch, So Fork, 2.00; Red Hill ch, Anson, 1.30; Brown Creek ch, ditto, 10.63; Norwood ch, ditto, 5.74; Ansonville ch, ditto, 4.50; Mt Olive ch, ditto, 2.54; Wadesboro ch, ditto, 42.86; Jerusalem ch, So Yadkin, 3.80; Dobson's Chapel ch, Eastern, 5.00; Eaton's ch, So Yadkin, 24.67; Providence ch, Pilot Mountain, 10.00; Mt Hermon ch, ditto, 6.30; Madison ch, ditto, 15.00; Summerfield ch, Beulah, 5.50; Lebanon ch, Cape Fear, 2.65; Southport ch, ditto, 50c; Well's Chapel ch, Eastern, 7.00; Eldorado ch, Montg mery, 1.00; Star ch, ditto, 7.80; Flat River Union, Flat River, 50c; Dr W H Edwards, 7.00; Union Grove ch, Stanly, 1.20; Mill Creek ch, Flat River, 7.13; W M S, Beaufort ch, Atlantic, 10.00; Bethel ch, Mt Zion, 8.00; Newbern ch, Eastern, 18.80; Swift Creek ch, Raleigh, 1.00; Leaksville ch, 1.46; Bethel ch, Flat River, 48.31; Salisbury ch, So Yadkin, 15.00; Bloomingdale ch, Robeson, 1.04; Zion ch, King's Mountain, 13.00; Leonard's ch, ditto, 3.00; Long Creek ch, ditto, 5.00; Rocky River ch, Anson, 2.55; Gatesville ch, Chowan (Miss Knight), 20.00; Reedy Creek ch, Tar River, 10.00; Bear Swamp ch, ditto, 10.00; Fishing Creek ch, ditto, 1.00; F P Tucker and family, 1.50; Ruffin, N C, 5.00; W M S, Greenville ch, Tar River (N China), 2.50; Greenville ch, ditto, 10.00; Rolesville ch, Central, 1.30; Youngsville ch, ditto, 6.19; Sunbeams, Oxford ch, Flat River, 1.90; Warrenton ch, Tar River, 36 26; Brown's ch, ditto, 3.62; Winton ch, West Chowan, 14.68; Kinney's Creek ch, 85c; Hickory ch, Tar River, 3 70; Weldon ch, ditto, 10.00; Jefferson ch, Ashe and Alleghany, 2.50; Beaver Creek Chapel ch, ditto, 1.00; Mt Pisgah ch, Mt Zion, 6.70; W M S, ditto, ditto 9.00; Rive's Chapel ch, Sandy Creek, 2.10; Sandy Branch ch, ditto, 84c Total, 861.95. Previously reported, 3,347.83. Total this year, 4,209 78.

Home Missions—Red Mountain ch, Mt Zion, $16.00; Siloam ch, Sou h Fork 1.00; Republican ch, W Chowan, 6.25; Ross' ch, ditto, 5.00; Morganton ch, Catawba River, 6.00; Good Hope ch, Raleigh, 1.52; Mt Hermon ch, ditto, 1.67; Ramoth Gilead ch, Chowan, 23 50; Lebanon ch, Alexander, 1.95; Mt Olive ch, ditto, 45c; Lawrence X Roads, W Chowan, 1.50; W M S, Henderson ch, Tar River, 6.00; Henderson ch, Flat River, 10.15; Bear Creek ch, Sandy Creek, 1.57; Catawba ch, 3.40; W M S, Antioch ch, Robeson, 7 00; Red Spring ch, ditto, 2.25; Cross Roads ch, ditto, 5.59; Cedar Grove ch, ditto, 90c; Long Branch ch, ditto, 3.87; Mt Moriah ch, ditto, 2 00; Mt Elim ch, ditto, 6.30; Zion's Tabernacle ch, ditto, 1.15; Maxton ch, ditto, 7.37; Spring Hill ch, ditto, 8.00; Rutherfordton ch, Green River, 3.21; Camp Creek ch, ditto, 92c; Cumberland Union ch, Raleigh, 4.13; Goldsboro ch, Atlantic, 30.00; Falling Creek ch, ditto, 2.35; Monroe ch, Union, 10.00; Reed's ch, Liberty, 3.54; Holloway's ch, ditto, 4.00; Lexington ch, 9.13; Trading Ford ch, So Yadkin, 2.25; First ch, Charlotte, Meck and Cab, 6.00; Bennett's Grove, 85c; Norwood ch, ditto, 1.69; Ansonville ch, ditto, 1.08; Mt Olive ch, ditto, 2.41; Wadesboro ch, ditto, 23.10; Dobson's Chapel ch, Eastern, 2.00; Eaton's ch, South Yadkin, 4.12; Providence ch, Pilot Mountain, 5.00; Mt Hermon ch, ditto, 5 00; Madison ch, ditto, 5.00; Summerfield ch, Beulah, 3.00; Lebanon ch, Cape Fear, 2.65; Southport ch, ditto, 50c; S S, Missionary Society, 5 00; Eldorado ch, Montgomery, 1.00; Flat River Union, 4.50; Dr W H Edwards, 7.00; Union Grove ch, Stanly, 76c; Locust Level ch, ditto, 45c; Anderson's Grove ch, ditto, 1.75; Mill Creek ch, Flat River, 10.00; Bethel ch, Mt Zion, 4.54; Swift Creek ch, Raleigh, 75c; Ephesus ch, Robeson, 1.00; Leaksville ch (for Cuban girl), 3 00; Bethel ch, Flat River, 27.70; Salisbury ch, South Yadkin, 15.00; W M S, Saddle Tree ch, Robeson, 7.99; Saddle Tree ch, ditto, 3.01; Smyrna, N C, 3.20; Ruffin, N C, 4.00; Greenville ch, Tar River, 10 00; Smithfield ch, Raleigh, 4.09; Rolesville ch, Central, 1,73; Youngsville ch, ditto, 1.25; Winton ch, W Chowan, 10.05; Kinney's Creek ch, 56c; Henderson ch, Flat River, 5.75; Friendship ch, Pilot Mountain, 6.00; W M S, Mt Pisgah ch, Mt Zion, 5.00. Total, 412.70. Previously reported, 1,162.28. Total this year, 1,574.98.

Havana House—Abbott's Creek ch, Liberty, $1.55; Holloway's ch, ditto, 4.00; Pluy ch, ditto, 5.25; First ch, Wilmington, Eastern, 117.00; Shiloh ch, ditto, 5.00; Youngsville ch, Central, 76c; Mrs H T Mitchell, Henderson, 5.00; Troy ch, Montgomery, 2.37. Total, 140.98. Previously reported, 3,166.18. Total to date, 3,307.11.

Ministerial Education—Rutherfordton ch, Green River, $1.07; Roxboro ch, Flat River, 25.00; Ephesus ch, Beulah, 25.00; Clement ch, ditto, 20.00; Lexington ch, Liberty, 2.01; Jersey ch, ditto, 1.56; Eaton's ch, So Yadkin, 4.12. Total, 78.76. Previously reported, 821.50. Total this year, 900.26.

Orphanage—Emmaus ch, Mt Zion, $3.02; Anson Asso, 9.89; Union Grove church, Stanly, 1.50; Locust Level ch, ditto, 58c; Mill Creek ch, Flat River, 3.38; Weldon ch, Tar River, 7.58. Total, 24.95. Previously reported, 491.19. Total this year, 536.14.

Sunday-schools—Rutherfordton ch, Green River, 1.07; S S, Goldsboro ch, Atlantic, 4.00; S S, Lexington ch, Liberty, 1.73; S S, Kernersville ch, ditto, 68c; Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion, 1.00; S S, Flat River Union, Flat River, 45c; S S, Selma ch, Raleigh, 75c; Weldon ch, Tar River, 4.15. Total, 13.88.

Colportage—Weldon ch, Tar River, $1.08.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Falling Creek ch, Atlantic, $2.50; Lexington ch, Liberty, 4.37; Ephesus ch, Robeson, 1.00. Total, 7.87.

Students' Aid Fund, Louisville—First ch, Wilmington, Eastern, $25.00.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.

Raleigh, April 30, 1892.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28–30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
Elkin—Rock Creek ch., June 11, 12.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
South Yadkin—Mocksville ch., May 27–29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27–29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27–29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Southern Baptist Convention.

The thirty-seventh session (Forty-seventh year) of the Southern Baptist Convention will be held with the Baptist churches of Atlanta, Ga., beginning Friday, May 6, 1892, at 10 a. m.

The date May 18, as found on page 38 of Journal of last year is an error.

Preacher of the Annual Sermon: Rev. J. B. Gambrill, D. D., of Mississippi; alternate Rev. W. R. L. Smith, D. D., of Tennessee.

OLIVER F. GREGORY.
LANSING BURROWS,
Secretaries S. B. C.

RAILROAD RATES.

The Southern Passenger Association, which embraces nearly, if not quite, all of the Railroads east of the Mississippi River, and south of the Ohio River, has authorized a Rate of one full fare for the Round Trip.

O. F. GREGORY,
Sec. in charge Transportation

The Richmond and Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Atlanta, Ga., and return at rate of one first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be on sale May 3d to 6th inclusive, good returning until May 17th, 1892.

Arrangements have been made with the Richmond & Danville Railroad to furnish any extra sleepers or coaches necessary for the accommodation of delegates and others who will attend the Convention. The delegates from Eastern and Middle Carolina will leave May 4th.

Leave Goldsboro, via R. & D. R. R., at 12:15 p. m.; Raleigh, 6:25 p. m.; Durham, 7:32 p. m.; Greensboro, 10:25 p. m.; arrive at Atlanta May 5th, at 12:20 p. m. This will give delegates ample time to get located and refreshed for the opening of the Convention, Friday morning, May 6th. Should they leave on next train following they would arrive at Atlanta at 11:45 p. m. Sleeping car fare from Greensboro to Atlanta will be $2.50 for double berth. Two persons can occupy one berth without any extra charge. Those who do not take sleeper will have no change of cars between Greensboro and Atlanta, as the entire train runs through without change. All who expect to attend the Convention will please write the undersigned, stating at what place they will join the delegation, and how much space they will want in sleeper, in order that ample accommodations may be provided. The rate will be one lowest first-class fare for the round trip. Tickets will be sold May 3d to 6th inclusive.

RAILROAD RATES ROUND TRIP.

From Raleigh, $14.40; Durham, 13.55; Henderson, 14.85; Weldon, 15.00; Goldsboro, 14.50; Selma, 14.50; Wilmington, 14.00; Wadesboro, 11.05; Greensboro, 11.75; Winston-Salem, 12.65; Charlotte, 8.75. Rates from other points will be in same proportion.

C. DURHAM.

PRICE OF BOARD.

For such delegates as prefer to go to hotels, and for visitors who are not delegates, reduced fare has been obtained as follows:

Kimball House, $3.00 to 3.00; Markham House, 3.00; Ballard House, 1.50; National Hotel, 1.00; Grant House, 1.25; board at first class Boarding Houses throughout the city, 1.00.

As it is expected that the Convention will be very large, the Committee earnestly desire that every delegate should promptly send us his name so that he may be notified by return card where he will be entertained, and on his arrival at Atlanta go directly to the home assigned him. Visitors who are not delegates and who desire us to procure boarding houses for them during their stay will be accommodated, and return cards advising them where board has been procured for them will be sent. Persons will be in waiting at the depot on the arrival of the trains to see both delegates and visitors to the places assigned them. If brethren will promptly comply with this request, we can handle the large number who attend without confusion or delay. Address,

A. C. BRISCOE, Sec. Com. on Homes,
Atlanta, Ga.

The casting out of the devil of disease was once a sign of authority.

Now we take a little more time about it and cast out devils by thousands—we do it by knowledge.

Is not a man who is taken possession of by the germ of consumption possessed of a devil?

A little book on CAREFUL LIVING and Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil will tell you how to exorcise him if it can be done.

Free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

500
NEW SUNDAY SCHOOLS
For 1892.

Through the liberality of a few generous persons the American Baptist Publication Society is enabled to help in the organization of new Sunday-schools, white or colored.

TEN DOLLARS

will be given in books or periodicals to each of the first 500 needy Sunday-schools founded between May and December, 1892.

CONDITIONS.

1. The School must be strictly a new school, organized within the limit of time above named.
2. It must be a Baptist School.
3. It must be unable to purchase all its supplies.
4. It must have promise of permanent existence.
5. It must not have received another grant from this Society.

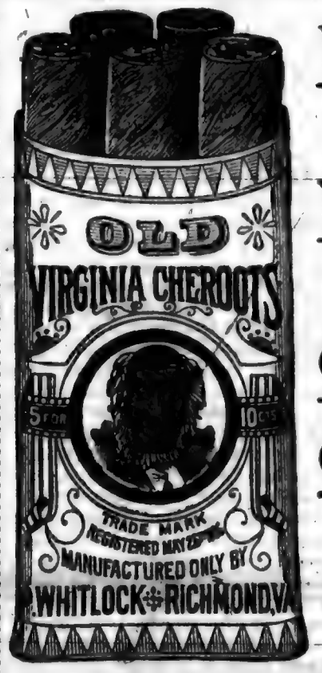
Application should be made to Dr. C. C. Bitting, Missionary Secretary, 1420 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

B. GRIFFITH, D. D., Secretary.

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $2.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
130 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
74 W. Fourth Street, Cincinnati. 13 East 16th Street, New York.
Root & Sons Music Co., Chicago.

PILES Remedy Free. INSTANT RELIEF. Final cure in 10 days. Never returns; no purge; no salve; no suppository. A victim tried in vain every remedy has discovered a simple cure, which he will mail free to his fellow sufferers. Address J. H. REEVES, Box 3200, New York City, N. Y.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee $2.00. Send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, MISS CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg, NASHVILLE, TENN.



We Have
- - A GOOD THING.
You Want
- - A GOOD THING.
Old Virginia
Cheroots.
FIVE FOR TEN CENTS.
CIGARS AS GOOD COST
TEN CENTS APIECE.
18

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.

Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to

CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

Evangelists.

I think evangelists should be paid a salary per annum, and each church they visit should pay a pro rata part of said salary and of the expense of getting to and from the church, and nothing more,—not work public sympathy by the aid of the home preacher, and give the evangelist five or ten times as much as the salary of the home preacher.

I complained to the pastor once that if he did not talk against the drain on the church members by evangelists, he would get no salary. He replied the more the members gave to other or outside objects, the more they gave to him. If he had not have been a real good christian, a man in whom I had all confidence, I might have thought he had gone in the business for pecuniary motives.

We are just through with J. C. Davis' (a religious crank) trial, in which was shown that a man with almost no money gave large amounts of money to the church, and was held up as an example to all in the matter of christian beneficence. He was tried by a jury, selected from a venire of 150 men summoned at an expense to the county beside the expense of numerous witnesses, court charges, &c. Then there was the expense of two experts, who said he was crazy. Experts are supposed to know the things about which they testify, and their conclusion should have been deemed sufficient. The expense of a jury was entirely unnecessary, and should be abolished in all such cases.

Mr. Simmons with Dr. Pritchard is having a real good meeting at the First church here, and I think will do great and lasting good.

I think the RECORDER improves with age.

Yours truly, D. L. GORE.

Wilmington, April 28, 1892.

Roanoke Union.

The Roanoke Union of the Tar River Association will assemble with the Scotland Neck church, on Friday, May 27th, 1892.

PROGRAM.

Friday 11 a. m.—Introductory sermon by Rev. Q. C. Davis.

3 p. m.—Relation of the Old Testament to the New. J. D. Hufham, J. F. Tuttle, J. R. Pace and Q. C. Davis.

Saturday 9 a. m.—Prayer and praise service.

9:30 a. m.—What should be the Altitude of Individual Christians towards the Questions of Moral Reform now Agitating the Public Mind? J. W. Powell, W. E. Daniel, W. A. Dunn, John E. White.

3 p. m.—The Union Meeting as an Agency for Developing the Churches. A. D. Hunter, G. J. Dowell, W. S. Ballard.

Services every night, to be announced as the meeting progresses.

A special program will be arranged for Sunday.

It is earnestly requested that all those whose names appear on the foregoing program will attend the meeting, and thus lend a hand in reviving the interest of this Union. Let us have a full attendance. It is thought that Bro. J. E. Hutson will be holding a meeting with the Scotland Neck church at that time. E. E. HILLIARD, for Com.

Rev. M. H. Wells of Birmingham says: "La grippe and rheumatism were quickly and permanently cured by Germetuer."

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26th, 1892.

For the last few weeks we have been calling the attention of the readers of the RECORDER to the endorsement given the Electropoise by prominent North Carolinians, including the Chief Executive, Judge of the Supreme Court, prominent ministers, teachers, bankers, merchants, lawyers, cotton and tobacco manufacturers, together with the most intelligent and highly respected members of society in private life.

In this age of humbugs and nostrums, it is a source of great gratification to us to be able to offer you such emphatic and reliable home testimony, in support of our claims for the Electropoise.

Tennessee was one of the first States in which the Electropoise was sold, and there are more of the instruments being used there than any other State. Below we beg to call your attention to some of the testimonials given the Nashville agent, which go to show "that where best known the Electropoise is most appreciated."

We are agents for this popular treatment in North Carolina and other Southern States on the Atlantic Ocean, and will be glad to furnish any information that may be desired about the Electropoise. Very truly.

ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO.,
1405 N. Y. Avenue.

SMYRNA, TENN., Nov. 19th, 1891.

Dear Sirs:—Mr. Edmondson bids me write and say that he will soon send balance on the "God-send" Electropoise. If he could not get another, $10,000 would not buy it. It seems like one almost raised from the dead to see our little boy. Three months ago he could not walk around the house, and now he can follow his father all over the farm and not feel tired. His leg was drawn till he could hardly touch his toes to the floor. Now it is almost strait and he walks with his heels down to the floor and rarely ever has a spasm, while before he never missed a day, and had from ten to thirty. I had a letter from a prominent party in your city asking about the Electropoise. I gave it all the praise I could at that time, but it was not near enough. Our son's mind seemed almost entirely gone, now his face is as bright as a sunbeam, and you can see an improvement each day. I don't believe anyone could look in his face now and tell that there was anything wrong with his mind. He has gained in flesh until he is almost round. You are at liberty to use our name, send any one to us, or they may see anyone else around here who knows the child. Hoping you may continue in your good work, and be as successful in every case, as in ours, I am,

Very truly yours,
MRS. D. W. EDMONDSON

BELL BUCKLE, TENN., Oct. 6th, 1891.

Dear Sirs:—Some time since I saw you in Nashville and promised if my wife continued to improve, to give you a testimonial. I think it my duty to speak of the wonderful merits of the Electropoise. Ten yeays ago my wife was attacked with inflamation of the stomach, from which she has never fully recovered. Has suffered ever since with a heavy aching in the stomach, scarcely ever easy. Last June she was taken with a severe pain in her shoulder, almost unendurable. A doctor was called and treated her for five or six weeks with but little benefit. The first of September I purchased a pocket Electropoise which she has used for two months and has received great benefit. The stomach trouble nearly gone, she eats anything she wants without inconvenience. Her appetite and digestion good, constipation removed, has not taken a dose of medicine in two months, the pain in her shoulder is entirely gone, her eyes have been greatly strengthened, they had been growing weaker for several years, on account of nervousness and bodily weakness. I do not think too much can be said in the praise of this wonderful little instrument.

Respectfully,
REV. R. M. WOODWARD.

CEDAR HILL, TENN., April 12th, 1892.

Dear Sirs:—For eight years I have been subject to rheumatism, I have had a number of the best doctors in my county to treat me, unsuccessfully. Last October I became so badly afflicted that I could not go about my ordinary work. Again I tried the doctors, and also patent medicines which were highly recommended for rheumatism. I grew steadily worse, and resolved to go to the Hot Springs. My doctors advised me to go there, they had done their best and could do no good. Before I could make my arrangements to go, I grew so helpless that I could not go. My feet were so swollen that I could with difficulty wear large overshoes, and my limbs swollen so that I could scarcely get my pantaloons on. I was confined to the house. A friend, who said his wife had rheumatism as bad as I had been cured by the Electropoise, suggested that I should get one and give it a fair trial. As a last resort, I did so. When I received it on the 23d of March, I had been forced to use morphine to allay the pain and enable me to sleep; the first night I used it I slept well, and have since. The swelling has left my feet and limbs, my pains have been relieved and I willingly state I have been wonderfully improved in every way, and have been able to visit Nashville and confer with you in your office. I most gratefully testify to the virtues of the Electroppise, with the hope that others may be induced to avail themselves of this strange but beneficent gift of progressive science. Gratefully yours,

JOHN H. WINN.

WAVERLY, TENN., Jan. 15th, 1892.

Dear Sirs:—I would not take any price for the little Electropoise. It has simply given me new life. I had been affected for years with a terrible case of constipation and piles, in fact, was not able to wait on my husband properly. My life was a perfect drag to me, but now, thanks to the Electropoise, I am entirely well. It has also improved my hearing which had been bad for years. I loaned the instrument to my sister-in-law for several days, it has cured entirely a terrible backache and tired feeling caused from bending over the machine, being a seamstress. Yours respectfully,

MRS. W. A. JONES.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Nov. 5th, 1891.

Gentlemen:—It is with pleasure I commend the Electropoise as an invaluable agency of cure. For several years I have suffered from obstinate dyspepsia and general debility, almost to the extent of confinement to bed. From seven weeks use of the Electropoise I have gained twenty-three pounds and feel better than I have in years.

Very truly,
G. A. FREEMAN.

Rev. H. H. Rivers, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., says: "I was cured of neuralgia by Germetuer."

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The Raleigh public schools will close May 20th.

The Young Men's Christian Association rooms were formally opened to the public Tuesday evening of last week.

Mr. Hal W. Ayer, Secretary of the North Carolina Agricultural Association, has also been elected Treasurer of the Association.

There are 284 patients in the Insane Asylum here, and twenty-six are at home on probation. It is said that the Asylum is so crowded that a number of the rooms have two beds in them, and that patients also sleep in the corridors.

State News.

A little girl died of hydrophobia, in Marion Sunday of last week.

A new plug tobacco factory will begin operations in Durham in a few weeks.

Mrs. Sallie Bunker, widow of Eng Bunker, one of the Siamese twins, died near Mount Airy, on Friday, April 29th.

The Fayetteville post office is now controlled by negroes. The postmaster and his three assistants are all colored.

Jno. C. Davis who has been on trial some time in Wilmington, for defrauding a number of people has been adjudged insane.

Governor Holt, has appointed twenty one gentlemen from this State as delegates to the National Nicaragua Canal convention at St. Louis, Mo., on June 2d.

Mr. Hinton Reams, of Granville county, committed suicide near Stems, recently by shooting himself with a pistol. Mr. Hinton was over eighty years of age.

Evangelist W. P. Fife will begin a ten days meeting in New Bern on May 12th. The meetings will be held in a large tent with a seating capacity of 3,000 people.

At Laurel Hill, Richmond county recently, Mr. John Lockany was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a rifle, which some one carelessly placed on the ground.

One day last week in Wayne county, a negro woman locked her three year old child in her house and went to Goldsboro, twelve miles distant. When she returned she found her house and baby both burned.

The Snow patent tobacco barn company has failed and attachments amounting to between $35,000 and $37,000 have been taken out against its property at High Point, Oxford and other places. So the Danville Register reports.

We hear that a white girl only twelve years old was married in this county, a few days ago. The law of North Carolina expressly declares that the marriage of "a female person under fourteen years of age" is void—Chatham Record.

On the farm of the late T. I. Lenoir, on the East Fork of Pigeon River is an apple tree which measures three feet and four inches in diameter and has a spread of top of sixty-one feet. At the same place there are about twenty-five others that will measure from thirty to thirty-four inches in diameter. —Waynesville Courier.

Mr. Thomas Hartsell, of Locust Level, Stanly county was killed at his mill in a very peculiar manner on the 22d ult. A belt connected with the machinery fell off, and the engine becoming unmanageable ran at such speed that the plastering flew from the mill stone. Some of it struck Mr. Hartsell on the head, killing him instantly.

A correspondent from Morehead City to the Norfolk Virginian says: While excavating for the foundation of Mr. T. D. Webb's new store, on Arundell street, three skeletons were exhumed. They were lying face downward and their heads towards the north. Dr Perkins examined them and said they were Indians—two men and one woman. One of them was over six feet tall.

It is announced that a railroad is to be built from Littleton to Panacea Springs, a distance of four miles. Mr. Colin M. Hawkin's of Raleigh, who is president of the company which owns the springs, will be the leading spirit in the enterprise. The cost of the road is put down at $20,000, of which amount Littleton will subscribe $7,500.—Henderson Gold Leaf.

In Charlotte last Thursday night the most daring outrage was perpetrated that has occurred in that city in years. Miss Inez Sikes, the youngest daughter of a widowed mother, was knocked down by an unknown man who then cut her hair off, and made his escape. Miss Sikes had gone out in the yard about nine o'clock to get some wood to replenish the fire, and was in the act of picking up the wood when assaulted. The man made his escape but dropped the hair in the yard.

Rev. M. C. Cole, New Orleans, says: "Germetuer cured me of rheumatism and indigestion."

General News.

Roswell Smith president of the Century Publishing Co., New York died recently.

A $1,000,000 phosphate development company has been organized at Trenton, Fla.

Anarchists are being arrested and various explosives are being found in many European cities.

Confederate memorial day was appropriately celebrated in Birmingham, Ala., on the 26th ult.

Ravachol, one of the leaning anarchists arrested in Paris, has been tried and sentenced to life imprisonment.

James A. Palmer of New York has been arrested for stealing $50,000 from the firm of Tiffany & Co., Union Square.

The entire business portion of the town of Hudson, Ohio, was destoyed by fire last Thursday morning. Loss $100,000.

Rev. Dr. Downs of Boston was given ten thousand dollars by the jury on the 29th ult. in his libel suit against the Normer church officers.

Ex-Governor and Ex-United States Senator William Pinkney White of Maryland, and Mrs. Mary McDonald Thomas, were married in Baltimore on the 27th ult.

Ferdinand C. Ewer, chief clerk in the mortgage department of the Corbin Banking Co., New York City, has disappeared together with $12,000 of the Company's cash.

Senator Voorhees, of Indiana, has accepted the invitation to deliver the principal address at the formal opening of the great bridge over the Mississippi river at Memphis, Tenn., May 12th.

Deeming, the murderer arrested in Melbourne, Australia, has confessed that he committed a majority of the Jack the Ripper crimes in the White Chapel district of London.

A fire at Glenmore, N. J., on the 24th of April destroyed $125,000 worth of property belonging to R. S. Wells, proprietor of Rough on Rats. Twenty-eight horses were burned to death, one of them being valued at $30,000.

Miss Florine Ranger, and Mr. Maurice S. Wormser, of New York City were married in that city on 28th ult. The young couple received $500,000 worth of wedding presents.

The Cape Fear & Yadkin Valley railway has recorded a mortgage for $5,000,000 in Kershaw, S. C. The purpose is to extend its line from Bennettsville to Columbia in that State.—State Chronicle.

Mr. William Astor, the New York millionaire, died in Paris, France, on the night of the 25th ult. of heart failure. His wealth is estimated at $70,000,000. He leaves in his will $2,000,000 for each of his daughters, and about $60,000,000 to his son John Jacob.

President Harrison laid the corner stone of the Grant monument in Riverside Park New York, on the 27th ult. Addresses were made by the President, Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, and Hon. Horace Porter. Twenty-five to thirty thousand people were in attendance.

A Dr. Briggs was cleaning a lounge with naptha in the basement apartment of a five-story flat house in New York City last Thursday, when the fluid exploded. The building was soon in flames. Two ladies were burned to death, and another lady and Dr. Briggs were probably fatally burned. Loss on building $20,000.

An electric trust with $50,000,000 capital has been formed in New York. The combination comprises the Edison General Electric Company, the Thomson-Houston Electric Company and the Thomson-Houston International Company, and is called the General Electric Company.

A very disastrous fire occurred in Philadelphia, on the night of the 27th, ult., which had its origin in the Grand Central Theatre. Nearly a million dollars worth of property was destroyed including the massive eight story building occupied by the Times newspaper. Six persons were killed and fifty-two injured during the rush for life in the burning theatre. Col. McClure editor of the Times lost his valuable political library which he has been collecting for the past fifty years and which can never be replaced.

MARRIED.

KING—FURDLE—On Sunday morning, April 17th, 1892, in Clement Baptist church near Bushy Fork, N. C., by Rev. J. H. Lamberth, Mr. Willie H. King to Miss Ruthie C. Furdle, both of Bushy Fork, N. C.

BRYAN—SINGLETARY—On April 20th, 1892, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. J. W. Singletary of Bladenboro township, Bladen county, by Rev. R. M. Hilburn, Mr. C. E. Bryan and Miss Alice Singletary.

BORDEAUX—BORDEAUX—On April 28th, 1892, at the residence of the bride's father, Rev. A. J. Bordeaux of Bladenboro township, Bladen county, by Rev. R. M. Hilburn, Mr. C. A. Bordeaux and Miss Martha J. Bordeaux.

DIED.

CLAYTON—On April 17th sister Maggie Clayton was called from time into eternity. She was about nineteen years of age, and had been a consistent member of Mill Creek Baptist church for four years. The column has been broken, but he did it who knows best, therefore let us not grieve for her with sad hearts, but bow in humble submission.

PASTOR.

DICKENS—Bro. A. D. Dickens departed this life January 13th, 1892, at his home near Broadway, Moore county, N. C., in the seventieth year of his age. Bro. Dickens professed religion while young and joined the Methodist church, and continued with them until about sixteen years ago, when he joined Juniper Spring Baptist church, and was baptized by Rev. A. N. Campbell. He remained a consistent member of Juniper Spring church till death. He leaves an afflicted wife and one son to mourn their loss. May the Lord bless and console the bereaved.

L. R. DIXON.

BAUCOM—Died, near Apex, N. C., on the 18th of last March, sister Caroline Baucom, wife of Bro. John Baucom, in the eighty-first year of her age. She united with Holly Springs Baptist church, Wake county, when she was but twelve years of age, and remained a consistent member of the same until after her marriage, when, for convenience, she moved her membership to Salem church Wake county, where she remained a consistent member until her death. She was the mother of fourteen children. Eight of the children with the husband survive her. The children are scattered over the different States of the Union. May they all, with her numerous grandchildren, strive to meet her in heaven.

H. C. OLIVE.

WRIGHT—John L. Wright was born in Wilkes county Sept. 21st, 1817, and was called to his eternal rest on March 20th, 1892, in his seventy-fifth year. Mr. Wright was well known in Rowan and adjoining counties, and highly respected by all who knew him. For several months before his death he was a great sufferer, but bore it all with marked patience. In the midst of his failing strength his faith grew stronger, and without wavering he looked unto Christ with great faith till the end came.

Bro. Wright made a profession of faith and united with the Baptist church in his early life. He afterward moved to Salisbury and united with the Presbyterian church, and was a member of said church at his death. The last year of his life he was deeply concerned about returning home to the Baptist church, as he called it. It was his earnest desire that he might be restored to health, at least enough to attend his mother church and be received into its fellowship, but was never able to enjoy that opportunity. Bro. Wright was well informed in the Scripture, and was a thorough Baptist in his views. He leaves a wife and six children, one sister and two brothers to mourn his loss. May God bless those left behind, and by-and-by call them to join their loved one in heaven.

H. S. J.

Many Persons are broken down from overwork or household cares. Brown's Iron Bitters rebuilds the system, aids digestion, removes excess of bile, and cures malaria. Get the genuine.

President Andrews, of Brown University, lately delivered a fine address in Philadelphia. One of his wise sayings was as follows: "The head and front of danger is apathy to social and political duty." We are pleased that President Andrews said that. We are especially pleased because of the fact that he is a Baptist and the head of a Baptist institution of learning. If there is one thing outside of their spiritual welfare that we would like to have more impressed upon our Baptist young men, it is that they are citizens who have political duty to perform. It is one of the most striking facts of the present that there are almost no Baptists in political life. They are hardly ever in our legislatures. They never edit our political papers. And, if this great nation, with its three and a half million Baptists and its sixteen million Baptist sympathizers, were to happen upon a President who was a Baptist, it would be a modern miracle. As Baptists, we do not care to enter politics; but we would like to see more of our Baptist young men interested in public affairs. Politics needs good men.—Baptist Witness, Fla.

Riches are like thorns—touch them tenderly and lightly and they are harmless; rest on them and they will cut and rend and pierce you.—Frederick A. Atkins.

FOR SCROFULA

scrofulous humor in the blood, ulcers, catarrh, and consumption, use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

The most economical, safe, speedy, and effective of all blood-purifiers.

Has Cured Others

will cure you.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season, '92.

DRY GOODS

— AND —

Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

The Home Circle.

Thanks.

To the giver of all blessings
Let our voices rise in praise,
For the joys and countless mercies
He hath sent to crown our days;
For the homes of peace and plenty,
And a land so fair and wide,
For the labor of the noonday,
And the rest of eventide;

For the splendor of the forest,
For the beauty of the hills,
For the freshness of the meadows,
And a thousand sparkling rills,
For the blossoms of the springtime
And the memories they bring,
For the ripened fruits of autumn,
Do we thank Thee, O our King.

For the wealth of golden harvests,
For the sunlight and the rain,
For the grandeur of the ocean,
For the mountain and the plain;
For the ever-changing seasons
And the comforts which they bring,
For thy love, so grand, eternal,
We would thank thee, O our King.

—The Home.

Cigarettes.

Do you care to know how they are made? I think I can enlighten you. An Italian boy only eight years old was brought before a justice in New York City as a vagrant, or, in other words, a young tramp. But with what did the officer charge him? Only with picking up cigar-stumps from the streets and gutters. To prove this he showed the boy's basket, half full of stumps, water-soaked and covered with mud.

"What do you do with these?" asked his Honor. What do you think was his answer? "I sell them to a man for ten cents a pound, to be used in making cigarettes." Not a particularly agreeable piece of information, is it, boys?

In our large cities there are a great many cigar-butt grubbers, as they are called. It certainly is not a pretty name, though very appropriate; for it is applied to boys and girls who scour the streets in search of half-burnt cigars and stumps, which are dried and then sold to be used in making cigarettes.

But this isn't all, nor even the worst of it. These cigarettes have been analyzed, and physicians and chemists were surprised to find how much opium is put into them. A tobacconist himself says that "the extent to which drugs are used in cigarettes is appalling." "Havana flavoring" for this same purpose is sold everywhere by the thousand barrels. This flavoring is made from the tonka-bean, which contains a deadly poison. The wrappers, warranted to be rice paper, are sometimes made of common paper, and sometimes of the filthy scraps of rag-pickers bleached white with arsenic. What a cheat to be practiced on people!

Think of it, boys; the next time you take up a cigarette, drop it as you would a coal of fire. The latter would simply burn your fingers; but this burns up good health, good resolutions, good manners, good memories, good faculties, and often honesty and truthfulness as well.

A bright boy of thirteen came under the spell of cigarettes. He grew stupid and subject to nervous twitchings, till finally he was obliged to give up his studies. When asked why he didn't throw away his miserable cigarettes, the poor boy replied, with tears, that he often tried to do so, but could not.

Another boy of eleven was made crazy by cigarette smoking, and was taken to an insane asylum in Orange county, New York. He was regarded as a violent and dangerous maniac, exhibiting some of the symptoms peculiar to hydrophobia.

The white spots on the tongue and inside the cheeks, called smoker's patches, are thought by Sir Morell Mackenzie to be more common with users of cigarettes than with other smokers.

"Does cigarette smoking injure the lungs?" asked some one of a leading New York physician. For his answer, the doctor lighted a cigarette, and inhaled a mouthful of smoke, blew it threw a corner of his handkerchief which he held tightly over his mouth. A dark brown stain was distinctly visible. "Just such a stain," said the doctor, "is left upon the lungs." If you ever smoke another cigarette, think of the stains you are making.

There is a disease called the cigarette eye, which is regarded as dangerous. A film comes over the eye, appearing and disappearing at intervals. And did you know that boys have been made blind by smoking cigarettes? How would you like to part with your sight, and never again behold the light of day or the faces of your friends?

Shall I give you two or three pictures? A writer greatly interested in young people (Josiah Leeds) describes a pitiful spectacle which he saw—a pale woe-begone boy, seemingly less than ten years old, standing at the entrance of an alley, without a hat, his dilapidated trousers very ragged at the knees his hands in his pockets, shivering with cold, yet whiffing away at a cigarette.

Dr. Hammond says: "I saw in Washington a wretched looking child, scarcely five years old, smoking a cigarette and blowing the smoke from his nostrils. His pale, pinched face was twitching convulsively, his little shoulders were bent, and his whole appearance was that of an old man."—Christian at Work.

Easter.

[illegible] the little darling is spending such [illegible] nights slowly and pitifully wast[illegible] away by the drainage upon its system [illegible] the effects of teething, give Dr. Big[illegible] Huckleberry Cordial and a cure will [illegible] may pull a man o[illegible] but will never [illegible] Huckleberry.

My Grandma.

Please let me tell the little girls about my good old grandma, the best in the world, she is going on ninety-one years old, have knoodle-worked seventy-six counterpanes since she was seventy-five years old, and they are perfectly beautiful. All this nice work she does for nothing, for her children and grandchildren; she don't have pay for anything she can do for any body. Every body calls her "Aunt Nancy" or "Grandma, Stinson." Can any little girl beat this?

ALICE RUSSELL.

Mt. Vernon Springs, N. C.

Licorice.

WHERE IT COMES FROM AND HOW IT IS HANDLED.

Most of it is from Asia Minor, where it is found growing in great abundance all along the flat, uncultivated and uninhabited lands of the rivers Tigris and Euphrates. It is a small shrub not more than three feet high, with a light foliage, and is never found far from the water.

The season for collecting the roots is generally during the winter, although it is possible all the year round. When the root is first dug it is full of water, and must be allowed to dry, a long, tedious process, often taking a year. It is then sent to Bagdad, where it is pressed into bales and shipped to London, and from thence to America, quantities of it being used in this country in the manufacture of tobacco.

The black licorice stick or roll which we see in the confectionary and drug stores come mostly from Spain, and are made of pure juice mixed with a little starch, which prevents it from melting in warm weather, and before packing each stick is wrapped in bay leaves.

The word licorice means "sweet root," and is of Greek origin.—Harper's Young People.

Gov. Hubbard of Texas was cured of dyspepsia and general debility by Germetuer.

At the Table.

Young people do not always make as great an effort as they should to be at the table promptly. If a bell is rung, they begin to get ready when it rings; they should be ready to go instantly on the ringing of the bell. That is the only way—to be ready before the call is made. It is not only annoying to others, but it is most disrespectful to parents, when the children are not in their places at the meal-time. Be in your place at the right time, and be in your place with clean hands, hair neatly brushed and clothes properly arranged—above all, with a pleasant and kindly words.

One of the most strongly-marked distinctions between savages and civilized people is found in their table-manners. Savages eat like animals; civilized people meet at the table for pleasant intercourse, and not merely to be fed.—Exchange.

Gen. James Longstreet says: "I was cured of indigestion and insomnia by Germetuer."

Doing Errands for Christ.

"Mamma," said a little five-year-old boy, "I wish Jesus lived on earth now."

"Why, my darling?"

"Because I should have liked so much to have done something for him."

"But what could such a little bit of a fellow as you have done for the Saviour?"

The child hesitated a few moments, then looked up into his mother's face and said: "Why, mother, I could have run on errands for him."

"So you could, my child, and so you shall. Here is a glass of jelly and some oranges I was going to send to poor old sick Margaret by the servant, but I will let you take them instead, and do an errand for the Saviour; for when upon earth he said, 'Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, ye did it unto me.'"

So remember, children, whenever you do any kind act for anybody because you love Jesus, it is just the same as if the Saviour were now living on the earth and you were doing it for him.—Herald of Mercy.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., says: "Germetuer cured me of la grippe."

There is a girl I love to think of. She is the girl who helps mother. In her own home she is a blessed little saint and comforter. She takes unfinished tasks from the tired, stiff fingers, is a staff upon which the gray-haired, white-faced mother leans and is rested. She helps mother with the spring sewing, with the week's mending, with a cheerful conversation and congenial companionship that some girls do not think worth wasting on "only mother."

And when there comes a day when she must bend over the body of her mother, hands folded, disquiet merged in rest, the girl who helps mother will find a benediction of peace upon her head and in her heart.—Exchange.

Her Mouth Slipped.

Little Elsie hung about her mother's visitor all day with her lips shut very tight, and sometimes with her hand over her mouth.

"What is it, Elsie?" the visitor at last inquired. Elsie unlocked her lips.

"Mama says I must keep my mouth shut. She's orfle 'fraid I shall tell you that Uncle Arthur has to sleep on the floor while you are here."—Youth's Companion.

Rev. Dr. Hawthorne says that he was cured of catarrh and his wife of neuralgia and rheumatism by Germetuer.

The smallest Pill in the World!

Tutt's Tiny Pills

are very small, yet possess all the virtues of the larger Tutt's Pills which have been so popular for thirty years. Their size and sugar-coating commend them for the use of children and persons with weak stomachs. For they are invaluable as they cause the food to assimilate, nourish the body and pass off naturally without nausea or griping. Both sizes of Tutt's Pills are sold by all druggists. Dose small. Price, 25c. Office, 39 Park Place, N. Y.

Sick Headache

PASTOR KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

A NATURAL REMEDY FOR

Epileptic Fits, Falling Sickness, Hysterics, St. Vitus Dance, Nervousness, Hypochondria, Melancholia, Inebrity, Sleeplessness, Dizziness, Brain and Spinal Weakness.

This medicine has direct action upon the nerve centers, allaying all irritabilities, and increasing the flow and power of nerve fluid. It is perfectly harmless and leaves no unpleasant effects.

FREE—A Valuable Book on Nervous Diseases sent free to any address, and poor patients can also obtain this medicine free of charge.

This remedy has been prepared by the Reverend Pastor Koenig, of Fort Wayne, Ind., since 1876, and is now prepared under his direction by the

KOENIG MED. CO., Chicago, Ill.

Sold by Druggists at $1 per Bottle. 6 for $5. Large Size, $1.75. 6 Bottles for $9.

In Richmond, Va., by Bodeker Bros., Druggists, 1414 E. Main St.

LOVELY FACES, WHITE HANDS.

Nothing will WHITEN and CLEAR the skin so quickly as

Derma-Royale

The new discovery for dissolving and removing discolorations from the cuticle, and bleaching and brightening the complexion. In experimenting in the laundry with a new bleach for fine fabrics it was discovered that all spots, freckles, tan and other discolorations were quickly removed from the hands and arms without the slightest injury to the skin. The discovery was submitted to experienced Dermatologists and Physicians who prepared for us the formula of the marvelous Derma-Royale. THERE NEVER WAS ANYTHING LIKE IT. It is perfectly harmless and so simple a child can use it. Apply at night—the improvement apparent after a single application will surprise and delight you. It quickly dissolves and removes the worst forms of moth-patches, brown or liver spots, freckles, blackheads, blotches, sallowness, redness, tan and every discoloration of the cuticle. One bottle completely removes and cures the most aggravated case and thoroughly clears, whitens and beautifies the complexion. It has never failed—IT CANNOT FAIL. It is highly recommended by Physicians and its sure results warrant us in offering $500 REWARD.—To assure the public of its merits we agree to forfeit Five Hundred Dollars CASH, for any case of moth-patches, brown spots, liver spots, blackheads, ugly or muddy skin, unnatural redness, freckles, tan or any other cutaneous discolorations, (excepting birth-marks, scars, and those of a scrofulous or kindred nature) that Derma-Royale will not quickly remove and cure. We also agree to forfeit Five Hundred Dollars to any person whose skin can be injured in the slightest possible manner, or to anyone whose complexion (no matter how bad it may be), will not be cleared, whitened, improved and beautified by the use of Derma-Royale.

Put up in elegant style in large eight-ounce bottles.

Price, $1. EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED.

Derma-Royale sent to any address, safely packed and securely sealed from observation, safe delivery guaranteed, on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Send money by registered letter or money order with your full post-office address written plainly; be sure to give your County, and mention this paper. Correspondence sacredly private. Postage stamps received the same as cash.

AGENTS WANTED Send for Terms Sells on Sight $10 A DAY.

Address The DERMA-ROYALE COMPANY, Corner Baker and Vine Sts. CINCINNATI, OHIO.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. H. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Secty-Treasurer.
F. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,

COMMISSION MERCHANTS,

202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL

WILL NEED

NEW BOOKS THIS SEASON.

We can Supply all Your Wants in this Line Promptly and at Publishers Lowest Prices.

OUR NEW SPECIALTIES:

Class Book and Report (five years), - - 25c. Teachers' Bibles (Oxford or Bagster), $2 to $10.

NEW SINGING BOOKS:

Master's Praise, cloth bound, by mail,	35c.
Manly's Choice, music edition, by mail,	40c.
Manly's Choice, word edition, by mail,	12c.
Notes of Triumph, round or shape notes, by mail,	35c.
Work and Worship, round or shape notes, by mail,	35c.

ANY SINGING BOOKS, PER DOZEN, BY EXPRESS, $3.60.

SEND YOUR ORDERS TO

ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO., Raleigh, N. C.

Complete Catalogue of Sunday-school Supplies free.

The Baptist Supply Store,

RALEIGH, N. C.

All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.

MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.

Biblical Museum, 8 Vols., cloth, $8 per set. Song book—"The Choice,"—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch, —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts.; paper, 15 cts.

Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.

HARDWARE,

LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.

Raleigh. N. C.

BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

Farming Implements, SHOVELS, SPADES, RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

"All Right," "Cotton King," AND OTHER Cook Stoves and Ranges.

BOLLE'S COTTON HOES.

The Old Original.

The Best. The Best.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL.
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.

JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

200 Bbls and Hhds Molasses.
1,000 Kegs Nails.
50 Tons Spirit and Pine Bbl Iron for sale.

—ALSO—

Solicits Consignments of Naval Stores, Cotton, &c.

D. L. Gore,

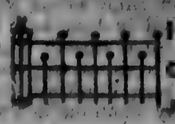
120, 122 and 124 N. Water St., Wilmington, N. C.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY, CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Copper and Tin School and Church BELLS, PEAL AND CHIMES.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Bryant Stallings, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the undersigned at Roxinburg, N. C., on or before April 5th, 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.

A. J. STALLINGS, Adm.



IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. ROSE, ATLANTA, GA.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1892. Number 45.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

113 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

My Trip to Hausa Farm and Return.

After some hasty preparations for my trip, as packing provisions and medicines in a case, binding some bed-clothing on top of the case, I mount my pony and leave for Hausa Farm at 9:30 o'clock.

The lagoon one-half mile wide has to be crossed in a canoe. It takes four men to put my horse in the canoe. They put him in one foot at a time, or rather, by the foot. Of course, when they had gotten four feet of him in, he was all in, being a rather short horse. The canoemen, thinking that I do not hear their language, talk freely about white men in general and Baptists in particular. We are a bad set in their estimation, but they never refuse our money. When they had said quite as much as I wanted to hear, I entered into conversation with them in their own tongue. They were soon put to silence.

We land at Ebute Meta where we have some members. One half hour with them shows that all do not think of us as the canoemen. These know my Master. The canoemen do not.

We set out—I on horse-back, and my carrier on foot. He has my supplies on his head and leads the way. The road is in good order. I had better say foot-path. There are no roads here, but only narrow foot-paths through the great forests and fields. Every now and then a village or market place is passed by the way. Many things might be said of these markets and villages, but it makes a letter too long and you won't read it.

Here is Yaba, for instance, in the midst of a community of villages surrounded by a fine farming section. There is a Wesleyan Mission house and chapel here with a church and school. Timothy is located here. He is not Paul's son, for he is a Wesleyan. He salutes us warmly, for he was truly glad to see us. It is lonely away out here where one rarely looks a christian in the face. Though only two hours from Lagos, there is not the least sign that the soil was ever trodden by the foot of civilization. The natives farm, yes, and they cannot be beaten on their kind, but alas for the kind. No horse, or plow, or hoe, or axe, or spade is used in their farming. They use something, oko, which we translate hoe. They farm for all that. The corn is growing finely. The soil is fertile. It has clay subsoil. They grow corn, peanuts, sugar-cane, rice, cocoa, coffee, &c., &c.

We meet many coming towards Lagos. They are bringing their produce to the markets. Some were carrying valuable loads while the greater part of them were not carrying ten cents worth. How will they pay board and carry anything home! Many goats and sheep are being carried. Some are led with a string while others are carried on the head. One is dragging his goat which is so fagged out that he can't walk. This goat's hide won't be worth much whatever may be said of its flesh. The bleating of sheep, cackling of fowls and gibberish of natives produces quite a confusion of sounds.

We water and feed at Idiroko. This village derives its name from the important fact that the founder built his house near an Irokeo tree. It is a very large tree and deserves the honor of having a city named after it, if great size would entitle any of these forest giants to it. There is a market here under the shade of this great tree. They sell the usual variety of an African market here, palm, kernels, palm oil, palm wine, eko (made from corn), dum boy (made from yams), &c., &c. About 100 women are sitting here and there flat on the ground by their calabashes selling anything you wish. We buy nothing, but eat our own chop and go on. I may add that there is a mission teacher here. He has a school of four scholars, while there are a hundred children playing around. They want more of his teaching. He says more come to hear me preach than attend my school. All of these teachers of whatever denomination are glad to see us. He salutes me very warmly, but we must go on.

Here as we go is Onigbagbo (Believer), a small town on our right. It has a significant name. Twenty-one years ago when the christians were persecuted and driven from Abeokuta, some of them settled here and gave this name to their town. It is to be regretted that they do not furnish to the towns around them a better evidence of the power of the christianity they professed by living up to their very excellent name. A lifeless christianity that does not lead to the forsaking of sin and living up to christian obligations furnishes a good field for the spread of Mohammedanism. These people were driven out of a city for their christianity, adopt a decidedly christian name, but are utterly lacking in power to withstand the deadening influences of Mohammedanism that are sweeping over this country. Is this to be wondered at in Africa when we remember what befell the churches of Asia Minor, which were planted by the great Apostle to the Gentiles?

We reach Hausa Farm at four p. m. Bro. Eli and the brethren are expecting us, and they have made about all the preparation that natives make for us. They had rubbed the mud floor and walls of the room with a fresh wash of clay. Their hospitality usually consists in furnishing a room for us. This, however, is our own property. I am at home. We have a lot of one acre with several houses on it. The dwellings are in very fair order, but the house of the Lord has fallen down at one corner. A storm, doubtless, proved too strong for it. It only requires a few poles be cut, a few bundles of thatched roofing to be gathered, and the members come together a day to put all in order. Alas, how often it requires more energy than a whole town can produce to repair a small breach in the house of the Lord. They can build a Mohammedan mosque. They can spend any amount on an idol feast, but the house of him whose are the silver and the gold are left in ruins. Can Africans ever be induced to do anything for themselves in a religious way? This house was built for them by a good brother. It has fallen down. They have not put it up, but are now holding their services in the dwelling house. Bro. Eli and I enter the fallen church house. He goes into one corner and takes down a gin box full of idols and cowries (shells used as money). The idols are soon given up by our converts, but the cowries are the contributions of the members. We sat down with this box of idols on the piazza. A group of interested natives gather about us. We talk with them about these idols to learn something of what their superstition leads them to suppose that these images can do for them. I take them out one at a time and we talk about each.

First comes out Isore. It is a dumpling made of mud, cowries and certain kinds of leaves worked up together and baked in the sun. It is as hard as a rock. This was Akpata's god. He put it under his pillow when he slept. It was supposed to protect him and supply all his needs. He has seen the error of his way, believed in Jesus, and I baptized him in Lagos.

The second was Ide Osun, god of brass. It consists of two brass rings worn as bracelets on the arms for security against all the ills of life. These belonged to Akpata's wife. She holds on to these, and lets her husband go when he becomes a christian. So some claim that christianity is doing more harm than good. It is bringing trouble into some homes.

The third is Ifa. It is 32 palm nuts in a plate. The priests shake the nuts up in their hands. The falling of a certain number of nuts from the hands of the priests indicates certain results which are to transpire in the near future. Ifa is one of the great gods of the Yoruba people and has many images in addition to the palm nuts.

But there are so many that I must not pursue them further. The principal gods of this town are Ifa, Shango, Egun, &c. We greatly enjoyed this talk with them about their gods. They get off good jokes on their own superstitions. They care nothing for their gods only in time of great need or danger. The heathen worship is very expensive. One man in this town a few days ago spent ninety dollars in being initiated into the mysteries and privileges of Ifa. The money was used in offerings and feasts. He received for his money and trouble an insignificant idol about three inches long, which he is to worship the remainder of his life. But this is by no means the last offering. Every trouble that rises sends him to the priest, and the priest must have a sacrifice. A small village will spend from $600 to $1,000 a year on idol worship.

We christians are offering them christianity without money and without price, and yet they prefer to spend their money for that which satisfieth not.

It is not all the cheapness of a religion that commends it to Africans. They will pay for a thing that appeals to their superstitions. They are superstitious to the bottom of their souls. They do not take readily to christianity because sin is to be given up, faith exercised in a holy Saviour, and a proper life required.

We have ten members in this town. A congregation of twenty five or thirty meets regularly every Sunday morning and evening. Despise not the day of small things. These villages in the simplicity of their life and manner present one of the most hopeful fields for African evangelization.

Before the sun sets we go through the town saluting the Bale (Governor), Obalogum (General), Elders, &c. Most of these dignitaries meet us at the door with warm salutations. They neither invite us in nor introduces us to their families, but this doesn't prevent our saluting many of their families. We come across a newly built mosque. There are no streets in an African town. The houses are all built alike. One could never find his way back home without a guide.

We have a long pleasant evening's conversation with Bro. Eli's family about various things connected with the work and an hour of worship until 10 o'clock has come. He has not eaten his supper at that late hour. He retires to another room and I hear him gobbling up his slop. Natives all eat with their fingers out of callabashes. They do not eat our kind of food, nor can we eat theirs, hence we never eat together. They do not gather as a family at the table and eat as we do, but each goes and eats when he is ready, or rather hungry, for there is not much getting ready—no table to set, no knives and forks, spoons, plates, or cups and saucers to be set in order. Their principal articles of food are palm oil chops and eko (made from corn). An American hog wouldn't eat it, because the pepper in it is too strong for him and the palm oil too rich.

I went out about 10:30 o'clock and looked about—no, I tried to look, but the darkness was impenetrable. It must not have been darker in Egypt. No light is visible except a few stars that seem to be trying in vain to light up this dark town. I shudder out in this darkness alone to think of the deeper spiritual darkness in which the people are groping. Those dimly shining stars are a figure of the few christians who are shedding, though it be but dimly, their light on this town cursed with darkness. I prayed for the town. Thank God, we can meet Christ here, and our souls fill with joy over the prospect of what he will do for Africa.

On returning to the house, I opened my Bible and read Acts 10th chapter—Cornelius and Peter's vision. May I not be sent here to night to some soul that, like Cornelius, is praying? May the time speedily come when the prejudices of Africans and Anglo-Saxons shall be so overcome by the fullness of God's Spirit that the one will send, and the other will come, and the Holy Spirit's power fall upon them and this poor lost people be saved. Even so come quickly, Lord Jesus. There is comfort in his promise, "I am with you," even in Africa.

But to bed I must go. My bedstead is too short by fourteen inches. A clock and watch about three feet from my head and mosquitoes do not help to "tired nature's sweet restorer, balmy sleep." The everlasting ticking of the watch, occasional striking of the clock and whirring of mosquitoes are good promoters of wakefulness. A pillow three feet long by two wide, ornamented with patchwork (crazy work) as hard as Jacob's pillow at Bethel contributed no little to my discomfort. It costs $2 25, but no man who would be "a big man" in this town can afford to be without one of said pillows. Mine host is a big man. The Obalogun and other officials have them. They are fashionable, and that is quite enough. People coming to civilization get so many wrong ideas. They get so many things in the wrong place for any comfort. Where the right place for such a pillow as this is I do not know, but I do not think it would add to one's comfort anywhere. Anyway I landed it on the floor. This being the only article of bed clothing mine host furnished, there is no further blame to be laid on him for my discomfort unless it be for not finding softer bamboo poles to floor his bedstead with. In spite of all, I am soon slumbering sweetly.

The congregation began to assemble for preaching before I have risen from my bed. After a bath, cup of tea and some bread, I am ready for work.

All the dignitaries of the town call on me. They are ready seated when I come out of the house. After expressing my gratification at having them come and salute me, I preach to them. I told them of our common origin, the sin of our first parents, and so our sinful state, my own experience of a work of grace from its rise on to salvation through Christ; after that, of my sense of duty to come to them and tell them of the Christ who had brought such joy and hope to my own soul. I turned, then, to their own idols which I had by me, and told them in their order about these idols, as to what they can do and what they can not do, and drew them to the only true God and his wonderful love which had led him to give Jesus to save—closing with the reading of John 3: 16, with comments. They listened attentively to the close of what I had to say. Then we have some general talk—all keeping their seats still.

One of them said, "It has been the custom of our fathers to worship these gods as it has been the custom of yours to worship Christ. We follow our fathers as you follow yours." I answered that our fathers had been idolaters as well as theirs. They worshipped gods of silver and gold made with men's hands even as these you see here. They, too, were idolaters, knowing no better than yours now, but in these latter days the gospel was preached to us to which we have given heed, and having seen the folly of worshiping gods of silver and gold, have forsaken the way of our fathers and turned unto Jesus Christ, the Son of the living God. We now wish you to do the same, and hence we declare unto you the word of the Lord that all should repent and believe on him who is able to save.

One of them said, "You say that you preach the word of the Lord and Christ the only Saviour—what about the Koran and Mohammed?" I answered that Mohammed was a great man and his book had some excellencies; but he was only a man, and of course his book was the writing of a man. Mohammed could not even save himself. Christ was not only man and the best man, but he was more than man. He was and is God. He can save. He has given his word that we may through it come to the knowledge of him and be saved. His word is clothed with his authority, accompanied by his Spirit, and when he calls on us to repent and believe in Christ, we should obey, and we must, if we would be saved.

One woman said, as I raised up before her eyes the god that she is accustomed to worship. "I do confess that I worship this idol, but I have found nothing better." I said, "But I offer you the Christ of the Scriptures. Will you bow down and worship him?" She could not decide to turn from her little god to Christ. I asked her if she would go by her little native lamp after the sun had risen? She quickly answered, "No." "Then," I said, "when you knew only these dumb idols, you could not be so much blamed for following the best light you have, but now you have a better,—Christ, who is the light of the world, has risen before you, and you should turn to him and walk by his light in all of this darkness. If you were to fall into the ocean, would you catch hold of this little stick idol, when a great boat was lying by you and men were ready to pull on board?" They all answered, "No. We should take hold of the life-boat." "Then, here is Christ, the Captain of our Salvation, who is mighty to save. Will you hold on to this little stick, or will you accept Christ?"

All of these said, "We will go away and think about these things. Many of us, doubtless, will gradually embrace your teachings, and many will go on in the old way." I said, "What! go on that way and be lost forever?"

That congregation breaks up. I have sowed the seed, but see no fruit yet. God only knows what will be in the future.

The church assembled on the porch of the mission house. We preached again from Matt. 11: 28—"Come unto me," &c.

We examine and receive seven candidates for baptism. We then proceed to the water side. The members and a few others accompany us to the baptism. The members stand on the shore making pleasant remarks as each candidate is dipped. African nature has a way of its own of dealing with very solemn subjects. An African laughs where others would weep. It was difficult for me to keep from laughing at some of the remarks made and at the behaviour of some of the candidates. I had a considerable tussle with one man before I could put him all over under the water. I may as well say that I baptized this man (while with his own consent), simply because I was somewhat the stronger of the two.

This was a happy season. We could realise fully the presence of Jesus with us. After the baptism, we talked to the candidates of their duty now in their new relation to Christ and the world. They must live close to Jesus and bring their friends to Jesus.

After some talk with one and another of the members about various things as building up the house of the Lord at their own expense and undertaking more special work for the Lord, I return to Lagos.

Excuse the length of this. I will add that word comes to me that they have repaired the Lord's house, are using it, and wishing me to come back.

We are all well and the Lord is blessing our work. Pray for us and our work.

All the family join me in love to you and to all the brethren.

Yours in Christ,

C. C. NEWTON.

The Presence of Jesus.

"It is I: be not afraid." Mark 6: 50.

These were the words Jesus spoke to his disciples, when in terror they beheld him walking out on the stormy lake of Gennesaret towards their little fishing boat. More literally the words of our Lord were, "I am I." They were words of power, words of assurance, and words of promise. Whenever the Lord Jesus assumes the title "I Am," he gives virtually a guarantee of his divine assistance to the full extent of our need. Thus, as Moses entered upon his trying career of law-giver and leader to Israel, he was to stand before the nation and proclaim, "I Am hath sent me to you." Ex. 3: 14. In that name was included every resource of power for the people, and every equipment of grace for their leader. For it is a title which suggests the abundant fulness, rather than the existence of God.

The Scriptures furnish many beautiful instances of the blessings which always accompany the presence of the Lord among his people:

I. IT IS SALVATION.

"Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted in me? Hope thou in God; for I shall yet praise him, for his presence is salvation." Marg. Ps. 42: 5. "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear?" Ps. 27: 1. To Peter, sinking beneath the waves, the presence of Jesus on the water was salvation.

II. IT IS POWER.

Peter again knew that the presence of the Lord was mighty, when the chains fell from his hands at the stroke of the angel, and the prison doors were opened for his liberty. Acts 12: 7, 8. Israel knew it when the power of God smote the Egyptians, but touch them not. They knew it for forty years in the wilderness, as that promised presence went before and made a way for them. "Tremble, thou earth, at the presence of the Lord, at the presence of the God of Jacob; which turned the rock into a standing water, the flint into a fountain of waters." Ps. 114: 7.

III. IT IS LIGHT.

The Cloud of Glory was the visible token of God's presence. By day it was shelter; by night "a pillar of fire, to give them light." Ex. 13: 21; 14: 19. "Jesus is the true light, which lighteth every man that cometh into the world." John 1: 9.

IV. IT IS COURAGE.

This was Joshua's experience. "Have I not commanded thee? Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." Josh. 1: 9. "When thou passest through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee." Isa. 43: 2. It was Elisha's strength, when he assured his timid servant, "Fear not: for they that be with us are more than they that be with them." 2 Kings 6: 16. That presence went with Shadrach and his friends into the furnace, with Daniel into the lions' den, and with Esther before the awful king.

V. IT IS COMPANIONSHIP.

Sometimes there are those about us whose presence annoys. They neither aid nor comfort us. Job felt this of his friends: "Miserable comforters are ye all." But the presence of Jesus is joyful, Ps. 16: 2; restful, Ex. 33: 14; sympathetic, Isa. 63: 9; and sheltering, Ps. 31: 20. "Lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world," in all days—dark days, bright days, joyful days, sad days, calm days, busy days. All men may forsake you, and flee, but I will stand by you to the end. The brotherhship began in his life, and confirmed after his resurrection, is to abide till it be consummated in glory. Matt. 25: 40.

VI. IT IS SUCCESS IN SERVICE.

This Gideon learned when it was said to him, "The Lord is with thee, thou mighty man of valor." Judges 6: 12. This Samson sadly learned when he said, "I will go out as at other times before, and shake myself. And he wist not that the Lord was departed from him." Judges 16: 20; 1 Samuel 16: 14. This was the power by which Peter and John confounded the council at Jerusalem, who marvelled at the boldness and fluency with which such uncultured laymen, never bred to oratory, could discourse on the Scriptures; and they took knowledge of them that their companionship had been with Jesus. Acts 4: 13.

VII. IT IS FEAR.

The presence of the Lord is absolute holiness. It discovers sin, and turns man's pride into loathing. It is abhorrent to every transgressor. Cain went out from the presence of the Lord a despairing fugitive. "Behold, thou hast driven me out this day . . . from thy face I shall be hid . . . and every one that findeth me shall slay me." Job was troubled at the Lord's presence when he measured his own insignificant merit with God's righteousness. Job 23: 15. And Jonah, the deserter, was fleeing from this same awful presence when disaster overtook him. Jonah 1: 10.

Unto even such blameless characters as Isaiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, and John, the presence of the Lord turned their comeliness to corruption, and made them fall as dead at his feet. Rev. 1: 17. But oh, what shall the presence of the Lord be in the final day to those who have never "appeased his presence" with the token of acceptance—his own precious blood! Genesis 32: 20. Whither shall they flee from his presence? "They shall tremble at his presence." "They shall be punished with everlasting destruction from the presence of the Lord, and the glory of his power," when his redeemed and waiting saints shall "be presented faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy." 2 Thes. 1: 9; Jude 24.—Rev. Geo. C. Needham's "Bible Briefs."

Kodak Life Work.

Modern advertising has become a profession and a fine art. Probably no expression is more widely known and quoted than the happy thought which introduces the little camera, "You press the button—we do the rest." This invention marks a great advance in photography; but there is an idea similar to this in regard to life work which is false and injurious, and is especially prevalent among young people.

Many young men think there must be some quick and easy way to fame and fortune, if they could only find it. This is the secret of the eagerness with which they go into enterprises that promise quick and large returns, and I believe it is one of the reasons which lead so many into lotteries and other gambling schemes. Somewhere there is a secret spring. If they could press it, luck, chance, fortune—something—would do the rest. But the successful, substantial men of business tell a different story. They say, "Young man, success comes only after years of earnest, patient work."—Rev. J. M. Hull in The Witness.

After a great sorrow, quiet and meditation are necessary both for soul and body. Only the most intimate friendship is possible, being but another kind of restfulness, and therefore beneficial.—Anon.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 11, 1892.

Rev. C. T. BAILEY, Editor and Proprietor.
J. C. CADDELL, Agent and Correspondent.

CLEANSING NEEDED.

It is quite common to hear the opinion expressed that our country is favored above almost any nation on the face of the earth; that the Lord in his providence has raised up this great republic of the western world to be the home of the oppressed of all nations; the receptacle of the purest form of religious truth, and the great palladium of civil and religious liberty. There are some things true of our land, up to comparatively a recent period, that have materially helped not only our people but also the civilized world in forming such an opinion.

The system of government founded under the American Constitution was one of the wisest and best under the sun. The American felt that he was in the true sense of the word a free man. He called no man master. He freely discussed matters of State, and cast his ballot without regard to the wishes or the gold of political or business bosses. The press of the country was absolutely free, and the humblest citizen did not hesitate to criticise with the keenest sarcasm, if necessary, the official life and acts of public officers, from the Chief Magistrate down to the pettiest office holder. There was scarcely any pauperism among us in the earlier history of the republic. There were very few tramps upon our public highways. What foreign immigration we received seemed to be of the better class, and was readily assimilated by our people. Our forefathers had to develop a vast country, and many of them were pioneers in opening up new States that are now thickly settled. The large majority of them were tillers of the soil, and as they and their children were laborers in the fields they were a remarkably contented and happy people.

It was soon seen after the settlement of our country that the union between Church and State did not suit the genius and habits of our people, and hence, though the Establishment made a hard fight for supremacy, it was finally abolished. The necessity for the entire separation between Church and State became especially apparent after the Revolution, because such union cannot exist in a pure republic. For many years after the adoption of the Federal Constitution we undoubtedly had the purest politics and the happiest people on the face of the globe, and there was reason for Americans to boast of their government, and claim that they were a highly favored people.

One striking characteristic of our lawmakers in those halcyon days was that many of them, we may say the large majority of them, were high-toned men, often christian gentlemen. They could not be corrupted by gold, nor by party, and they placed principle and right above convenience or expediency. To have approached such men with the offer of a monetary consideration to secure their vote or influence, would have aroused their righteous indignation, and those who were so base as to make such offers would soon have ascertained that they had mistaken their men. Luxury and fast living had made no very perceptible progress among the people, and hence the majority of them were content to live within their means. Vast railroad corporations, trusts and combines, such as we have today, were then almost unknown. There were but few millionaires among the people, and the country had been so recently delivered from the galling yoke of an oppressive monarchy that there was little disposition to ape the snobbery and exclusiveness of the "higher classes" of foreign countries.

It is said that "history repeats itself," and there is no doubt of the fact that our country is now in a condition to verify the truth of the old adage in a very striking way, if the present drift of men and things continues. There is a passage of Holy Writ that carries with it more authority, however, than the wisest sayings of uninspired men, and it is: "Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean—not one." One great trouble with our government now, and one thing eminently true of our lawmakers, is that so many of them are wicked men. We are glad to know that some of our Congressmen, and many members of our State legislatures, are high-toned christian gentlemen. Some are men of integrity and probity that are not ornithes. Would that the number of such men was so great as to control and shape legislation. Alas, alas! We heard a distinguished man a few days since say that if there was a place under the sun it was [illegible]. We think he put it rather strongly. We are not disposed, we hope, to be pessimistic in our views of the moral and religious condition of our seat of government, and we remember the Bible injunction to submit ourselves "to the powers that be." This we propose to do, and we desire to teach our people to do the same, whilst we do claim the right to exercise what influence we may have by doing our duty as a conservator of public morals and the establishment of pure religion among the people.

Lobbying, it is well known, has become a "fine art" in Washington City. Money, patronage, governmental positions, have been used largely to shape legislation. There is no use to disguise the fact that prominent members of Congress, not to say State legislatures, have been freely bought and sold, especially within the last twenty years of our history, like so many goods and chattels. Some men of the highest official trust "can be approached" by him who has a bribe in his hand. The immense whiskey combination is a felt power at Washington and elsewhere. Aided by governmental influence, some railroad corporations have become such huge affairs as to dictate terms to their masters, and are so oppressive and hold such unwarrantable power that some are calling for governmental control of them. The formation of immense trusts in defiance of State and Federal laws has placed such great money power in the hands of individuals, or close corporations, that many of the prime necessaries of life that the poor most need are greatly advanced in price. Some iniquitous laws bearing upon the tariff and huge abuses under the pension system are striking ponderous blows at the palladium of our liberties, and so grinding the poor of the land into the dust that it is not strange that there are ominous signs of a coming storm.

"History repeats itself." Ah, very true; and there is danger that our people will soon learn the force of this remark as they have never before. We should remember that no republic can exist permanently that is not sustained by an enlightened christian people; a people who value principle above gold; a people whose law-makers love their country and their God above self; who would as soon think of selling their birthright for a mess of pottage as to sell their vote or influence for money. Verily we have come to a pretty state of things when it is often the case that not even a town election can be held without money freely changing hands!

The remedy for this state of things is to put honest, incorruptible, and, if possible, christian men in office. That the candidate for an office is a christian man should be the very highest commendation of his character. Such a man may not always be as "cultured" as his competitor for office, yet he can be trusted behind the backs of his constituents. If there ever is a time when men need clean records it is when they propose to represent their countrymen in the halls of legislation. Some one has said, "An honest man is the noblest work of God," and the saying is especially forceful when applied to the christian man.

Put us and our children forever, while we sojourn here, in the hands of such men! "Who can bring a clean thing out of an unclean—not one!" True, oh seer of God, and we cannot have clean laws, a clean government; nor will the peace and happiness of the more primitive days of our beloved country come again until we have more clean men at Washington and in our State legislatures. May the Lord speed the day!

We have spoken our honest sentiments. The editor of a religious paper cannot be utterly silent when he sees public morals being prostituted, and the ship of State drifting dangerously towards the rock of imperialism on one side and anarchy on the other; a Scylla and Charybdis, from which may the Lord preserve us.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. Dr. A. C. Dixon of New York was in Reidsville on Thursday of last week.

....Rev. J. F. Love of Rocky Mount, N. C., called to see us en route to the Convention.

....Dr. J. L. M. Curry and wife sailed for Europe last week. They will spend two months abroad.

....Rev. F. H. Poston of Smithfield and Bro. J. J. Barnes of Leachburg called to see us on Friday last.

....Rev. Dr. J. B. Taylor of Lexington has been called to the pastorate of the church in Salem, Va.

....Dr. A. T. Cotton of Martinville was in our office on Thursday last, and reported Rev. J. S. Maynard quite sick.

....Rev. Jonathan Wood, pastor of Fayetteville Street church, this city, will leave for Colorado about May 16th, seeking restoration of health, which has for some time been failing. If benefitted by climate, will accept work in Raton, New Mexico.

....Hon. G. W. Sanderlin preached for the Baptist Tabernacle on last Sunday morning in place of Dr. Hall, who was in Atlanta.

....Rev. J. K. Howell of Yanceyville called to see us on Thursday last. He is the best of men, and is always welcome in our office.

....The Presbyterian church of Raleigh on Sunday last extended a call to the Rev. Mr. Vance of Baltimore to become their pastor.

....Rev. C. W. Blanchard has removed from Morrisville to Varina, and wishes his correspondents to note the change in his address.

....Hon. G. W. Sanderlin, State Auditor, will deliver the address at the commencement of Buie's Creek Academy on Thursday, May 12th.

....Rev. Dr. H. A. Tupper, Jr., pastor of the Seventh Street church, Baltimore, has purchased an interest in the Baltimore Baptist, and becomes one of its editors.

....Dr. George T. Winston, President of the State University, paid us a pleasant call on Thursday last. He invited us up to hear Dr. Carter preach the commencement sermon.

....Rev. W. B. Morton of Louisburg, N. C., says: "Having finished the work which I went to Wake Forest to do, I have moved to Louisburg, which is to be my future home."

....Hon. L. B. Ely of Missouri has succeeded in raising $40,000 in subscriptions for William Jewell College, Missouri, and thus secures $10,000 from the Baptist Education Society.

....Dr. A. E. Owen of Portsmouth, Va., stopped over in our city a day on his way to the Southern Baptist Convention, and delighted the home of the editor with his charming presence.

....Is it not surprising how many men were "intimate with Spurgeon?"—Western Recorder. Yes. But a brother in Philadelphia has published a book with a list of his students in it down to 1891 for your protection.

....Rev. C. A. G. Thomas of Elizabeth City writes: "Bro. Bagby was with us ten days and gave us some very fine sermons. We have had as the results, seven additions—four by baptism and three restorations—all young men."

....Rev. B. Cade of Richmond, Va., held services every night week before the Convention. There were three hundred and eighty two in the Sunday-school and three conversions among them, we learn from the Baltimore Baptist.

....Bro. J. H. Mills of the Baptist Orphanage tells us that he has not a single case in his hospital, and the health of his orphans never was better. We trust this good luck may attend them through the summer and for all time.—Davidson Dispatch.

....Dr. H. K. Carroll of the Department of the Census, Plainfield, N. J., wishes the minutes of the following Associations for 1890 or 1891 (colored): Bakersville, Berean, Mud Creek, New Berne Missionary, White Oak, Mecklenburg, Toisnot. Give this your attention if possible.

....I was glad to see that article from Bro. VanDeventer on "How the Y. M. C. A. hurts the Churches." All who keep files of the RECORDER (and every subscriber ought to do that) should read that article about once a week for a month.—J. T. Jordan, Troy, Texas, May 4.

....A series of meetings will commence at the Baptist church on the third Sunday in May. The pastor will be assisted by Rev. J. W. Suttle, one of our home boys, late of the Seminary in Louisville, Ky. All christians are invited to attend and work in these meetings.—Shelby Review.

....At the commencement of Salem Female Academy the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by Rev. W. W. Moore, D. D., of Hampden-Sydney Theological Seminary, May 22d. President Winston of the University will deliver the address before the graduating class on May 26th.

....The Baltimore Baptist says: "Rev. W. L. Wright (Richmond) reports seven hundred and thirty-eight in his Sunday-school, and he received nine by letter and one by experience and gave hand of fellowship to thirty. House was full in morning and at night. Some were turned away for want of room."

....Please announce that Prof. J. B. Carlyle of Wake Forest College will deliver the annual address at Roxobel Academy on June 1st. Mrs. Kennedy and I wish to thank you for the leading editorial in this week's issue. We lost our little daughter, and only child, last October, and the editorial has comforted us much.—D. S. Kennedy, Roxobel, N. C., May 6.

....The Rev. Geo. H. Simmons, the evangelist, closed his meetings on Sunday night at the First Baptist church. During the series of services fifty-nine members have joined the church, besides the meetings had led to accessions to the other churches. On Sunday, nine persons joined the First Baptist church, and at night Dr. Pritchard baptized eighteen persons.—Wilmington Messenger, May 8.

....Rev. Q. C. Davis was ordained to the Baptist ministry in Rocky Mount Thursday night of last week. The presbytery consisted of Revs. J. D. Huffham, R. T. Vann, J. W. Powell, J. F. Love and J. K. White. Rev. J. W. Powell was chairman of the examining presbytery, and Rev. J. D. Huffham conducted the examination, and Rev. R. T. Vann preached the sermon. Rev. J. W. Powell offered the prayer and presented the Bible, and Rev. J. D. Huffham delivered the charge.—Scotland Neck Democrat.

....Rev. H. C. Moore of Morehead, N. C., writes: "We have had another gracious revival. Rev. O. L. Stringfield did for us fearless, faithful, effective preaching. His sermons are seasoned with intense earnestness, and are brimful of gospel truth. Our people will hold him in loving and lasting remembrance. There were several conversions. I expect to baptize fifteen next Sunday in the blue waters of Bogue Sound. God be praised.

....Rev. A. A. Smith preached for the First Baptist church on Sunday last, morning and night, in place of Dr. Carter who was attending the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta. The morning sermon had for its theme "The Forgiveness of Sins," the text being Eph. 1: 7; and the night discourse was devoted to the discussion of Pilate's question, "What shall I do then with Jesus?" Both were strong sermons, and were listened to with profound interest.

....Rev. Travis B. Thames, the able and beloved pastor of the Baptist church of Danville, assisted the pastor of the Baptist church here in his revival meetings last week. All who heard him were charmed with his earnest and eloquent preaching. His beautiful and tender appeals to his hearers to forsake the world and walk in the paths of righteousness were quite irresistible. Mr. Thomas is a big-brained, big-hearted preacher, in the prime of physical and intellectual manhood, and is doing a good work in Danville. Fortunate, indeed, is the flock that has such a shepherd.—Webster's Weekly.

....The Social Union, during the commencement at Rochester, has secured for speakers Rev. Dr. Ford of St. Louis, and R. S. Colwell, D. D., of Denison University. The meeting will be in connection with the Seminary anniversaries. Dr. Ford is also to deliver the annual sermon before the Judson Missionary Society. Pres. Hill will deliver the address at the unveiling of the soldiers' monument on Decoration Day. Prof. Morey was expected to deliver this address, but by the advice of his physician he declined the invitation. Pres. Harrison and Gov. Flower will be present. The event promises to be the most noteworthy of its kind ever celebrated in Rochester.—National Baptist.

....Some of our Baptist ministers are developing a taste for pulpit millinery. They think that the gown gives dignity to the preacher, and they begin by wearing the baptismal robe on the evenings when they have to baptize at the close of the services. To us there is no dignity in a man's assuming a woman's dress, and the fact that judges and chancellors wear it makes it still more ridiculous. Every Baptist preacher should seek to be a man among men, rather than an official.—Baptist. There are a great many crazy men in this world in this day of restlessness and dissatisfaction outside the lunatic asylum. But the most laughable curiosity is the Baptist preacher who wears a gown.

....The Rev. Dr. Pierson has finally become somewhat nettled by the remarks making upon his relation to the Metropolitan Tabernacle, and the question whether he is to become a Baptist or the church is to have a Pedobaptist pastor. He has written two letters to the Baptist (London), in which he tries to ease off the question at issue, and avoid committing himself to anything in particular. In one of these letters he says: "When my convictions undergo any essential change, as an outspoken, genuine man, I will hope to be faithful to myself and loyal to my Lord." The Baptist confesses itself puzzled, however, when he uses such language as the following, relative to his emphasizing the duty of believer's baptism: "When I preach in a Baptist congregation, the unconverted portion of my hearers are supposed not to have been baptized in infancy, and are therefore, both according to Baptist and Presbyterian views, in duty bound to believe and be baptized." Dr. Pierson says that he expects to close his engagement in London and sail for America June 4th; though it is said that, while Mr. James A. Spurgeon is the pastor of the church, Dr. Pierson may return and act as the preacher.—Journal and Messenger.

Delightful Meeting in Wilmington.

Dear Recorder:—We have just closed one of the most delightful meetings I ever took part in, conducted by Rev. George H. Simmons and Prof. D. B. Towner and wife. Bro. Simmons is not a great preacher, but he is a good one. Some of his discourses were well constructed and might be termed superior; others were nothing remarkable as works of art or eloquence, but he is effective as a speaker and holds his audiences well. This is due as much to the intense earnestness of the man—his ardent passion for souls, as anything. He is a man of tact, judgment and taste, and it is a common expression heard here that there has been less to criticise and more to commend in the management of this meeting than usual.

As to the singing, it was a revelation to me. I never heard in all my life anything that approached it in the singing of the gospel, and could sympathize with Dr. Eaton when he wrote me that he "was never so near heaven in the flesh" as when he heard Professor and Mrs. Towner sing "Old Time Religion." They are lovely christians and most effective workers in a meeting and have special gifts for impressing and interesting children in the gospel.

I can locate about seventy who have confessed Christ, and there are others, I doubt not, whom I do not know. Fifty-nine have thus far joined our church, and more will follow.

Bro. Simmons and Prof. Towner and wife will go with me to the Convention at Atlanta, and Prof. Towner has been engaged to conduct the music on Centennial Day, which is Saturday, by the Centennial Committee, who have authority to arrange the exercises of that day.

T. H. PRITCHARD.
Wilmington, May 4, 1892.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION.

The Convention is holding its session in Trinity church (Methodist), because it was the largest audience room that could be obtained in the city. Its seating capacity is 1,600, and a large basement with six comfortable rooms for committees.

By 10 a. m. Friday, the 6th, the audience room was well filled. Promptly at that hour President Haralson called the Convention to order, and requested Rev. W. R. Gwaltney to conduct the opening exercises.

Prof. Towner led the singing with characteristing girations, and Mrs. Towner presided at the organ.

The enrollment of the delegates was gone through with more rapidity than usual. There are about 1,000 delegates present; and the number of visitors far exceeds that of the delegates.

On motion, Secretary Burrows was instructed to cast the vote of the Convention, and reported the election of Hon. Jonathan Haralson, the present incumbent, as President.

Dr. T. T. Eaton cast the vote for Lansing Burrows and Oliver F. Gregory as Secretaries.

The Vice Presidents were elected by ballot, and Joshua Levering of Baltimore, Gov. W. J. Northen of Georgia, Gov. J. P. Eagle of Arkansas, and Hon. L. L. Foster of Texas, were selected.

Pending the counting of the votes for Vice-Presidents, Dr. J. B. Hawthorne made a brief speech, explaining the disappointment they had experienced in failing to procure the large buildings they had expected to have. The house now occupied was through the generous courtesy of the Pastor and Stewards of the Trinity M. E. Church.

Dr. Hawthorne then introduced Gov. W. T. Northen, who delivered the address of welcome. The address was responded to by Dr. W. E. Hatcher of Richmond, Va. Both addresses were of a high order, the latter in Dr. Hatcher's happiest strain.

In the afternoon session, Dr. I. T. Tichenor read the report of the Home Mission Board, which was referred to four committees. The following is an abstract of this report:

HOME MISSION REPORT—ABSTRACT.

With a few words of cordial welcome to the Convention on holding its session in Atlanta, the headquarters of the Board, the report gives the following summary of the work of the Board during the past year:

The number of its missionaries have been as follows:

Alabama, 4; Arkansas, 28; Cuba, 11; Florida, 33; Georgia, 17; Indian Territory, 16; Kentucky, 5; Louisiana, 27; Maryland, 2; Missouri, 6; Oklahoma, 6; Tennessee, 6; Texas, 143; Virginia, 1; Western North Carolina, 17; Western Arkansas and Indian Territory, 26; West Virginia, 2; Texas Sunday-school Convention, 5. Total, 365.

The results of our work are as follows:

Missionaries, 365; weeks of labor, 10,640; churches and stations, 1,324; sermons and addresses, 46,866; prayer-meetings, 14,042; baptisms, 5,274; received by letter, 5,973; total additions, 11,247; Sunday-schools organized, 342; teachers and pupils, 17,785; religious visits, 54,336; churches constituted, 179; houses of worship built, 80; Bibles and Testaments, 4,304; pages of tracts distributed, 919,472.

This report of work, like all that have preceded it, is not complete. The reports of a few of our missionaries could not be obtained in time to embody in it.

The report presents the work done among the Indians, and urges that what is done for the red man must be done quickly ere he passes away forever from his hunting grounds.

The work among the Germans had been successful and encouraging, and the report urges that it be greatly enlarged to meet the pressing needs of this population.

The work in Cuba had continued to prosper greatly—the wisdom of the purchase of the superb theatre in Havana had been fully vindicated—and the establishment of a Girls' High School was regarded as the highest value in promoting the work of evangelizing the island.

The report urges that the time has come for greatly enlarging and extending the work in Cuba, and that the Board be given the means of entering the "open doors" to be found in every city, town and village.

The report takes the strongest ground in favor of increased work among the Negroes, and urges that there should be appointed for each State an able man to devote himself to the instruction of their ministers.

The report makes an earnest plea for work among the people of the mountain districts of our territory, and in our cities, and then urges hearty co-operation in the plan for celebrating the Centennial of Modern Missions.

It insists that experience has demonstrated the necessity of Our Home Field, the organ of the Board, and urges its wider circulation.

The report pays a glowing tribute to the "zeal, wisdom and consecrated tact" of the Woman's Missionary Union, auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention, and gives their report in full, from which it appears that these noble women have raised for Home Missions during the past year, $10,242.80, being an advance of more than $4,000 on the year before.

The report concludes as follows:

PAST TEN YEARS.

Ten years ago the Convention, then in session at Greenville, S. C., resolved to remove the Board from Marion, Ala., to Atlanta. The condition of the Board at that time excited the greatest apprehensions. Its total receipts for the year were about $32,000. It had but forty missionaries. Except those in the Indian Territory it had few west of the Mississippi river. The Baptist Convention in Arkansas was in co-operation with the Home Mission Society of New York.

Nothing had been attempted in Missouri for years, and that State seemed lost to the Board forever. Texas was divided into five missionary organizations, four of which were receiving aid from the Home Mission Society, and the fifth was paralyzed by its own dissensions. Thus the entire territory west of the Mississippi river had passed out of the hands of the Board.

East of the river Mississippi was in alliance with the Publication Society, Georgia was co-operating with the Society in New York in work among the negroes, while Florida was hesitating between remaining with the Board, or forming alliance with the same Society. The State Boards have grown vigorously, and from several of the States the Home Mission Board was excluded by action of their State Conventions. It is not to be wondered that the Convention at Greenville pondered the question whether removal or abandonment was the wiser policy. When it was decided to remove it to Atlanta, and the present Board was put in charge of its affairs, the outlook was by no means assuring. A survey of the field indicated a great defeat and a lost cause.

Impressed with the conviction that the existence of this Convention depended upon the resuscitation of its fortunes, the new Board threw itself into the arduous work before it with the determination to use every proper effort to reclaim its lost territory and make itself a support to the Convention. This could not be done without money, and our impoverished and disheartened people could not be expected to give a speedy or a liberal response to its demands. But such were the earnestness of its efforts and the happy results of its policy, that five years there was not a missionary to the white people of the South who did not bear a comission from either the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, or one of our State Boards in alliance with it. Its territory had been reclaimed. Texas has been united in one great Convention in hearty sympathy and co-operation with the Board. So was Arkansas, so was Louisana. A new spirit had possessed Missouri, and our cause has risen there until that State is among the strongest supporters of the Board and of the Convention. The Board has demonstrated its right to live, and had won the confidence of the denomination. It was a hard struggle; no one but those who managed its affairs will ever know how much of toil and anxiety it cost, or what unceasing labor it required. They are written in the book of God's remembrance, and will be known only at the final day.

How it has worked and how successful have been its labors may be known from the fact that in these ten years twice as much has been accomplished as in the whole thirty-seven years of its previous history. Here is a brief record of a part of its work for the past ten years:

Missionaries employed, 2,692; churches constituted, 2,290; Sunday-schools organized, 2,117; houses of worship built, 630; additions to churches, 67,166; money received and expended, $1,320,000.

May we dwell upon these figures for a moment? Twenty-two hundred and ninety-two churches with 67,169 members would not be a bad showing for a State. Half the States of the union have not so many churches or so large a membership, and the average membership of half the States in this Convention does not show an equal number. Our work for the most part has been in Florida, Arkansas, Indian Territory, Louisiana and Texas. We have been planting churches on the very borders of the wilderness which will grow like the cedars of Lebanon, or like oaks of Bashan for centuries to come.

Texas owes more to the Home Mission Board than to any other agency for her strong Baptists hosts whose churches dot her imperial domain, and the aid which she yet receives from this Board is in the language of the President of her State Board, "the very backbone of her mission work." According to the reports there have been built upon this field in the last ten years by the Board 640 houses of worship, but this is the report for seven years instead of ten. Add for the three, the report of which it is impossible to obtain, the average of the seven years reported, and you will have 910, say 900. Supposing these churches to have cost, ground and building, $1,000 each, and you will have $900,000 of church property which the labors of the Board have added to the denomination. But this is not all. The Board owns in its own right property whose value is $100,000 more. Then add the property now controlled by your Sunday-school Board, which was originated and built up by the Home Mission Board, and in defence of which it sustained the heaviest denominational conflict of the last half century, and you have a sum of more than a million of dollars of denominational property created by the Board in the last ten years. Altogether the Board has received from the churches $1,320,000 with which it has sustained nearly 3,700 missionaries, organized nearly 2,300 churches, and added 67,000 members, and in addition to this has created a property for our Baptist people equal in value to three-fourths of the entire sum committed to its hands.

While it has done this it rejoices to say that it has been helpful to its sister Board of this Convention, the Foreign Mission Board. Working in the same great field, we at home, they abroad, striving together for the glory of the same Lord and King, meeting common difficulties, sharing the same anxieties, enduring the same toils for our sin-smitten race, we have been drawn towards it by the tenderest and yet strongest ties, and joy to do anything to promote its welfare. It is therefore with peculiar pleasure that we note that where we have labored most abundantly, there it has reaped the most rapidly growing harvest.

In the last ten years Texas, Arkansas, Louisana and Florida have quadrupled their contributions to the Foreign Mission Board, while Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia have only doubled theirs. Ten years ago the States west of the Mississippi river gave to the Foreign Mission Board but $5,696, while last year they gave to that Board $35,854. While other influences have no doubt operated to increase their contributions, we must believe that the work of the Home Board, disconnecting these States from other organizations foreign to this Convention, has been a powerful agent in effecting this result.

With no spirit of pride or vain glory we lay this ten years' work of the Board before the Convention and at our Master's feet. We lament that we have not done more for our needy countrymen and for our Master's glory. But we trust we have done enough to inspire the confidence of our brethren in our earnest purpose to do the work they have assigned to us, and to induce them to more fully meet the needs of our work. Eight years remain before we enter the coming century. God grant that these years of our coming history may be more replete with the divine blessing than the whole half century of the past.

The Treasurers report for the year shows a total of cash receipts from the States of $74,895.18; miscellaneous receipts, $9,976.01, making a total of $84,871.19; amounts raised by "co-operative" bodies and expended in joint Mission work on the field, $68,688.40; for houses of worship on mission fields, $64,064.42.

This makes a grand total of receipts during the year of $227,281.51. The cash receipts of the Board, despite hard times, for the year just closed are $17,682.38 in excess of what they were last year.

This, under all of the circumstances is considered a very fine exhibit.

SUMMARY OF REPORT OF THE FOREIGN MISSION BOARD.

Dr. H. A. Tupper read the report of the Foreign Mission Board, which was referred to five committees. This report shows the amount collected during the past year was $114,325.80; of this amount North Carolina is credited with $8,402.76, or $999.37 more than was raised in that State last year, while the collections from all the Southern States together have advanced but $808.43 over last year.

After giving a detailed account of the work in China, Africa, Brazil, Italy and Mexico, the report concludes with the following summary:

It is with gratitude that the Board thus reports the most prosperous year on the field ever recorded. Never has there been so much preaching and teaching; never so many baptisms. The future seems unprecedently bright. That clouds have passed over some of the missions is as true as that the greatest good frequently comes from seeming evil. There is nothing that the Board sees ahead which, in their opinion, does not betoken greater progress to our work; and the prospect at home is even more cheering than that abroad. The thunder and lightning which have disturbed some in a small area of our territory have cleared the atmosphere in that limited sphere, and given promise of more healthfulness and earnestness of action. Truly, in the judgment of the Board, there has never been, in the history of the Southern Baptist Convention, interest in the cause of the world's evangelization so widespread and increasing.

Ten years ago there were 500 woman's societies that gave us $8,633.95, and no organizations for missionary contributions of the children. The Board had twenty-five foreign missionaries, thirty-one native assistants, and thirty-four stations; twenty churches, with 740 members; 126 baptisms, and contributions amounting to $647.83. Our home contributions were $49,041.02. The Foreign Mission Journal was a little four page paper, with a circulation of 5,000. Now the woman's societies, organized under the Woman's Missionary Union, are numbered by the thousands, and their contributions are $25,040.27; some 500 Sunbeam bands have been formed, who contribute $3,713 82; our Board has ninety foreign missionaries, seventy-seven native assistants, and some 200 stations, with 2,723 church members, who have reported 434 baptisms, and given $3,956.09; our home contributions are $114,325.80.

Dr. J. M. Frost read the report of the Sunday-school Board, which was referred to three committees.

J. W. Norton of Louisville, Ky., was elected Treasurer of the Convention, and J. P. Harvey of the same city, Auditor.

At the night session (Friday), Dr. T. T. Eaton read the report on Centennial Missions, and announced the order of exercises for Saturday.

Dr. J. B. Gambrell of Mississippi preached the introductory sermon from Isaiah 54: 3, 4, the text used by William Carey, which so stirred England on the subject of Missions. The sermon was highly interesting and stirring.

Saturday, after the opening exercises, the President announced the several committees.

The order of the day was for Centennial address. Dr. J. W. Carter of Raleigh spoke first on the subject, "The Moral Basis of Missions"—a strong speech, up to his best.

Six constituent members of the Convention were reported present, and by motion, they were invited to come forward and be introduced to the body, viz: S. G. Hillyer, Georgia; Thomas P. Smith, S. C.; H. W. Mahony, S. C.; W. H. Roberts, Miss.; C. M. Irvin, Ga.; J. T. Parks, Texas. The President introduced them in a few touching words.

Dr. J. P. Greene of St. Louis, Mo., spoke on the subject. "Can the Heathen be Saved without the Gospel?" He presented a strong and well sustained Scriptural argument that "without Christ there is no hope." His closing words were: "Oh! brethren, let us send this hope to a hopeless world."

Bro. W. H. Roberts of Miss., one of the constituent members of the Convention, made a short but a good speech.

The audience sang, "Rescue the perishing."

Dr. J. A. Broadus addressed the Convention on "How Best to Utilize the Centennial." We have got to undertake and carry out what the politicians call an educational campaign. We must bland the missionary idea with missionary information. Some of the ways of conducting this campaign are:

1. Special meetings, with visiting speakers.

2. Circulate missionary biographies and books and periodicals. You, preacher, never make a sermon for the next twelve months without one or more illustrations drawn from missions.

3. Supply yourselves with maps (large maps hung up) of all the mission fields.

4. Seek correspondences with missionaries in the fields, and send them around through the churches.

5. Conversation—talk this year about missions. Talk missions as you journey by the way—everywhere.

My second group of suggestions are: We must have greatly enlarged contributions. We need to mend our hold.

1. We need to lay more stress upon large gifts. Can't we educate some of our wealthy people to give largely to missions?

2. Can't we get something this year from every member of every church?

3. The Sunday-schools. See to it that every Sunday-school does something for missions. We need more Sunday-schools and better Sunday-schools.

4. The women. I rejoice in what they have done, and I hope they may so conduct their meetings that they will have no regrets when they read the epistles of Paul to Corinthians and Timothy.

My third and last topic is more missionaries. It is a fact that one of the very subjects about which our Saviour taught us to pray is very seldom remembered. "Pray ye the Lord of the harvest to send forth laborers into the harvest." Encourage those who are going. A century, and much to be thankful for. A century, and so little yet done. Eighteen centuries and a half, and so little done. Forgetting the things that are behind, let us turn to the century to come.

I have never heard three better speeches delivered in one day than those of Drs. Carter, Greene and Broadus. They were able, and soul stirring.

The spirit of the Convention is excellent; really the Spirit of God is manifestly with us. It is emphatically a missionary meeting.

Dr. H. C. Mabie, the representative and Secretary of Northern Anniversaries, addressed the Convention in an excellent speech full of missionary information and of an excellent spirit. The Convention is well entertained.

There was a missionary meeting in the First Baptist church to-day (Saturday) addressed by Drs. Ellis of Baltimore, and Powell of Mexico. The addresses were highly spoken of. Dr. Ellis' speech was said to have been exceedingly fine.

The remainder of the proceedings of the Convention will appear in our next issue.

The Board of Education—Its Pressing Needs.

Some two months ago we did not see how the young ministers who are being aided by the Board, could remain until the close of the session.

They are still here diligently pursuing their studies—preparing for their life work to which God has called them. They are still here because some of the churches and friends have liberally responded to our call, and because some of our people here who see the work and appreciate its importance, have recently given to it what seemed quite beyond their means, and because we have consented to go in debt some rather than let them leave.

Now so near the end of the session is the time of our great struggle in the work. We need help now and earnestly ask the brethren and friends to remember us. If our people could see our old books and run over the long list of the names of those who have been aided by the Education Board, and think of the work they have done and are doing, they would see that no agency has been more efficient in building up the cause of truth in this and other lands. A majority of the best preachers and the most efficient pastors in North Carolina were our beneficiaries. The large number we have here now will soon go forth to preach the gospel in any field to which the Lord may call them. Others are asking us if we can help them next year.

And now just a word to the churches and pastors:

Brethren, see that no one comes recommended to us for help, who is able to help himself, and who is not willing to endure hardness as a good soldier, and who would think it honor enough to preach the gospel anywhere.

We want none but humble, godly young men of solid character, who feel that they must consecrate their lives and all they are and have unto the gospel ministry.

W. R. GWALTNEY.

Fourth Section of the Tar River Union.

This body will assemble with the church at Maple Springs, beginning on Saturday before the fifth Sunday in May at 10 o'clock a. m. The following subjects will be discussed:

1. To what extent does the Scriptures place us under obligation to contribute of our means for the support and spread of the gospel? Opened by Rev W R Cullom and J A Coppedge.

2. What are the claims of our denominational papers upon us for patronage? Rev John W Sledge.

3. What is the present outlook of Foreign Missions? Rev W B Morton and Rev G M Duke.

4. What is the present condition of the Orphanage at Thomasville? Rev G W Newell and E W Timberlake.

5. How may interest in the work of the Sunday-school best be developed? C M Cooke.

A full delegation from all the churches is earnestly requested.

A. W. JACKSON, Clerk.

Letter from Rev. Duncan McLeod.

Dear Bro. Bailey:—The RECORDER, on its regular weekly mission, arrived last night about ten o'clock, and notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, I could not forego the pleasure of looking over to see what was being done in the Master's kingdom.

On the first page, I glanced at Bro. Needham's "Bible Brief," and Bro. Peele's "Mysteries," and on the second page your splendid editorial, and thought, Well, they will keep until morning, when I can give them a careful reading.

After reading "Personal and Other Items," which is always the first I read, I continued to glance over the remaining pages, when my attention was attracted by the heading, "Three Things," and as I glanced at the article, I thought, "Well, here's some one who wants to rival Brother Needham." But as I read more carefully, the style, and even the words, appear very familiar to me, and I said to my wife, "I've got those three Bible readings in a book"; whereupon I went to my study and took from the bookcase a little volume called "Scripture Text Book and Treasury," and on page 87 I found a "Bible Reading" on Repentance, on page 28, one on Faith, and on page 9, one on Baptism, which are verbatim, the same as Bro. Barrett's, with this exception, Bro. B. left out the Scripture references, which to my mind is the principal part of a "Bible Reading." There are 635 such Bible Readings, on as many different subjects in this little book, from which I could supply you with matter for some time to come; but I should hesitate to do so unless I should give credit to "Text Book and Treasury."

God bless the RECORDER and its editor. I missed you from your chair, Doctor, during your recent illness, and thank the Father that he has permitted you to resume labor, and pray that you may be spared yet many years in sending forth the dear old RECORDER. Yours in the work,

DUNCAN MCLEOD.

Beaufort, May 6, 1892.

Read, Think, Act.

I have just received the following letter from one of our aged beneficiaries. I send it for publication, withholding localities and names:

"———, May 4th, 1892.

Bro. Woodson:—I hope you are all well. My wife is in very feeble health, under the treatment of the Doctor, and I am in great need. I received a check March 19th. I thought I would wait as long as possible, before I would write. Mr. B——— of our place lets me have supplies by the month, looking to the check. When I get it, I always pay him as soon as I get it.

I hate very much to send to you, but it seems as I can't help it. Please send me if you can. I am your brother in Christ.

My wife is a poor afflicted creature; hardly able to be up; and it keeps me uneasy all the time. Your brother,

——— ———."

Now, dear brethren and sisters, "Read, think, act." Let me call your attention to the following passages from God's holy word, viz: Matt. 25: 35—"I was hungry and ye gave me meat. * * * I was sick, and ye visited me"; 1 John 3: 17—"But whoso hath this world's goods, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?"; James 2: 16—"And one of you say unto them, Depart in peace, be ye warmed and filled, notwithstanding ye give them not those things that are needful for the body, what doth it profit? Even so, faith, if it have not works, is dead, being alone."

When you are on your knees to-night, ask the Lord what you owe the aged men and widows we are trying to aid. Do you say, "Let their churches aid them"? You see from the above letter, that they are not helping them as they should.

We have not the funds on hand to meet our next payment. This work is heartily endorsed by your Convention, brethren. Now will not every pastor in the State send us a collection from his church or churches? We have thirteen on our list. Others are applying to be placed on the list.

This is an urgent matter. It is right, dear brethren, to help the heathen; but it is wrong to neglect our aged brethren at our very doors. Contributions can be sent direct to our Treasurer, Edgar Cheek, at Durham, or through the Convention Treasurer, J. D. Boushall, Raleigh.

Please respond, brethren, at once. We long to help the old brother that wrote the above letter, and others just as worthy and as needy. Do not show the spirit of Cain and dismiss this matter with the heartless remark, "Am I my brother's keeper?" but act the part of the Good Samaritan and minister unto him by your gifts.

C. A. WOODSON, Cor. Sec. Board.

Sandy Creek Baptist S. S. Association.

The next session of the Sandy Creek Baptist Sunday-school Association will be held with the Moore's Chapel church, Franklinsville, Randolph county, May 27–29, 1892.

On Friday 11 a. m., Rev W G King is to preach the introductory sermon.

Rev W H H Lawhon is to preach the annual sermon on Sunday.

Rev G L Merrell is requested to prepare a written report on Colportage.

Prof R P Johnson on Sunday-schools.

Rev James Jordan on Baptist Orphanage.

Brethren W C Douglass and T M Robertson tell "Why our Sunday-schools are not more successful."

Revs W T Jones, J Q Smith and S Gilmore tell the "Need of thorough Scripture teaching."

We will write to Dr. T. H. Pritchard to be present, or send some one to give an address on "Centennial of Missions."

Each church should send delegates with contributions for Orphanage, Association Missions, and Sunday schools.

It is specially requested that all pastors of this Association be present, and also every member of the Executive Board,

O. T. [illegible]

Ore Hill, May 3, 1892.

Liberty Union Meeting.

On Friday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892, the Union will begin with Jersey church, one mile south of Linwood, Davidson county.

The introductory sermon will be preached by Elder J. K. Fant.

PROGRAM.

1. How can a Sunday-school be kept up in a thickly-settled neighborhood? Speakers—O W Davis and Elder J M Bennett.

2. Are our Sunday-schools doing what they ought to do in the mission work? Speakers—Jefferson Lanning and Elder H Sheets.

3. What are the relations between the Sunday-school and the church? Speakers—R D Cross and Elder J D Newton.

4. Should we use Sunday-school helps? and, if so, to what extent? Speakers—Elders J A Summey and H Morton.

JAMES SMITH, Mod.

R. D. CROSS, Sec.

Eastern Association.

SOUTHERN UNION.

This body will meet with Salem church, Onslow county, on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892.

Rev R E Peele will preach the introductory sermon at 11 o'clock a m.

The following are the subjects for discussion:

1. What Should be Our Interest in the State Mission Work? Speakers—Revs R E Peele and M C Walton.

2. Should all Professing Christians be Engaged in the Sunday-school work? Speakers—Brethren H A Bland and D J Corbett.

3. What are the Layman's Christian Obligations Compared with those of the Gospel Minister's? Speakers—Rev J B Barlow and Bro J T Bland.

4. Have We Reason to be Encouraged in our Efforts to Evangelize the Heathen? Speakers—Revs T H Pritchard and S D Swaim.

SECRETARY.

WESTERN UNION.

The Western Union of the Eastern Association will be held with the church at Mt. Gilead, Sampson county, N. C., on May 27th, 1892.

Opening sermon by Rev Chaney Wells.

The following topics will be considered:

1. The Need of Thorough Preparation for the Ministry. By Rev R C Sandling.

2. The Duty of the Churches to Aid Worthy Ministerial Students. By J C Slocumb.

3. Ministerial Support—How Best Secured. By Rev W L Bilbro.

Sermon on Sunday by Rev J. L. Stewart. Collection for Ministerial Education.

O. P. M.

A Customer Secured.

A young man in a dry goods store in Boston was endeavoring to sell a customer some goods. He had a quantity on hand which he much desired to dispose of, as they were not of the freshest style; and the man seemed inclined to take them. When the goods had been examined and the bargain was about to be concluded, the customer inquired:

"Are these goods the latest style?"

The young man hesitated. He wanted to sell the goods, and it appeared evident that if he said they were the latest style the man would take them. But he could not tell a lie, and he replied:

"They are not the latest style of goods, but they are a very good style."

The man looked at him, examined some other goods of later style, and said:

"I will take those of the older style, and some of the new also. Your honesty in stating the facts will fasten me to this place."

The man not only sold his goods, and kept a good conscience, but he also retained a customer, whom he might never have seen again if he had not spoken to him the exact truth. There is no permanent gain in falsehood and deception. Righteousness and truth is a sure foundation.—Safeguard.

Hints to Church-Members.

Religious life needs culture. Nourish it by the study of the Bible, by prayer, and by the faithful performance of christian duty.

Make it a rule to attend at least one devotional meeting a week, besides the Sabbath services.

Connect yourself actively with some department of church work.

Consecrate to Christ's service some definite proportion of your income, as the minimum of your gifts.

Keep yourself informed as to the progress of Christ's kingdom throughout the world.

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy.

Cultivate, so far as you can, the acquaintance of your fellow-members in this household of faith.

In your business and your recreations, let your light shine. While in the world, be not of it.—Anon.

The greatest evils in life have had their rise from something which was thought of too little importance to be attended to.—Bishop Butler.

It never pays to do in private what you would be ashamed to have known in public.—Exchange.

The greatest and sublimest [illegible] simple patience.—Horace Bushnell.

The Work Progressing.

Dear Recorder:—I have sent circulars, bonds, &c., relative to the school to a number of brethren. I hope all will examine carefully and consider prayerfully and fill up the bonds and send to me or to Brother Pant at at once. Some are responding favorably. One of our leading brethren living in the extreme east, a minister, and by no means wealthy, writes: "I return the bond duly filled. I sincerely trust that your plan may succeed. I'm sure it ought; but brethren with ample means are often slow to respond to such enterprises, and many with smaller, are slow to see their duty. May the Lord turn their hearts to this scheme and make your school the power for good such an arrangement promises. To me it seems entirely feasible, and if accomplished, it will be more potential in our denominational development than any other agency west of Raleigh. Not to educate our Baptist girls in our own schools is in time to be swallowed up by other denominations. But I am lingering on the shadowy side. I am truly glad you are encouraged, and shall cherish an abiding interest in the enterprise, as well as pray for its success."

If all will follow the example of this dear brother, we will open next year not merely with sixty boarders and so only secure the property, but we will get the one hundred pledged, and in addition to securing the property, make such enlargement as may be needed for the accommodation of that number, and after the first year reduce the expenses for ten months to the low average of $140 per capita. Is this not a consummation most devoutly to be wished? It can be done. Send in the bonds at once pledging the sum necessary to secure the pupils, and the arrangements will be made for them. Then send the pupils at the beginning of the next school year—the last Wednesday in August—and you make its accomplishment a certainty. I appeal to all. Now is the opportunity. Do not neglect it. Do not postpone and loose it entirely. Yours fraternally,

J. N. STALLINGS

High Point, N. C., May 2, 1892.

Letter from President Osborn of the Keeley Institute.

Editor Recorder:—I have the honor to present the following for your consideration, and I trust after giving the subject matter your careful and prayerful attention it may meet with your hearty approval and endorsement.

For a number of years I have been addicted to strong drink, and I labored under the impression that I could stop drinking when I deemed it expedient to do so, or in other words when I found that it was detrimental to my health, business and happiness. I soon discovered the great mistake that I was laboring under, and that instead of being able to control my appetite, (as I had fancied myself capable of doing), the awful and dreadful reality presented itself that I was a slave to strong drink, and that strong drink was my master, and I not master of the situation.

I then determined to try Dr. Leslie E. Keeley's wonderful double-chloride of gold for drunkenness, and after taking the treatment at Dwight I find myself to-day, thanks be to Almighty God, a living monument of the Keeley cure, a cured man, a free man, restored to manhood, clothed in my right mind, and a happy man.

I represent the Institute at Greensboro as its president, and in which capacity I shall endeavor to labor assiduously for the welfare of my fellow man, and I trust be made an instrument in the hands of Almighty God to accomplish great good, (making sober men out of drunkards as the discovery of Dr. Keeley has already proven, until there shall not be left one drunkard in North Carolina.

And now to that end let me ask your prayers, and the prayers of the church, that success may crown my efforts in this grand and noble undertaking, and that through your instrumentality many may be sent to this Institute and receive the great blessing that has been vouchsafed to me. I shall be very happy to hear from you.

I am, my dear sir, with very great respect, your obedient servant,

W. H. OSBORN, President.

Greensboro, N. C., May 3, 1892.

Bessie H. Bedloe, Burlington, Vt., had a disease of the scalp, causing her hair to become very harsh and dry, and to fall so freely that she scarcely dared to comb it. Ayer's Hair Vigor gave her a healthy scalp, removed the dandruff, and made the hair thick and glossy.

A Model Sexton.

Josiah H. Haywood, sexton of the Church of the Unity, Boston, has recently celebrated his silver wedding. Among the incidents of the festive occasion was the reading of a letter from Rev. M. J. Savage, his pastor, in which he said:

"I propose, therefore—entirely for your own good—to suggest a few faults. If you can only manage to cure these, you will have become the ideal sexton, and you can command a salary of $10,000 a year, or perhaps more than that, by traveling with Barnum as the greatest curiosity of the age. The faults I allude to are these:

"First—You have not learned how to make the church hot and cold at the same time. You must learn how to have one pew mark seventy-five degrees Fahrenheit, and the next one to it go down where it would be uncomfortable for an Eskimo.

"Second—You do not seem to know how [illegible] free circulation, a plenty of fresh [illegible] not have any draught anywhere. [illegible] invent some way to make all the [illegible] skip the pews where rheumatic and [illegible] people sit.

[illegible] not yet acquired the art of having the church flooded with light while all the blinds are shut at the same time. This should be attended to at once, and you should not offer any such poor excuse as that it is impossible. To a sexton nothing should be impossible.

"Fourth—You must find out some way of giving everybody the best seat right in the center of the church, no matter whether the pews are full or not.

"Fifth—You must learn how to fill all the pews with strangers without making anybody 'mad' about it, and, at the same time, have plenty of room left for the regular pew-holders.

"Sixth—And, finally, you will spend your leisure time in inventing a patent church that shall be just warm enough, and not too warm; not too light, but just light enough, where all the people, whatever their mental, moral or physical condition, will be perfectly comfortable, and—crowning achievement of all—that you shall have all the seats in the middle.

"What is a sexton for, anyhow, if he can't please everybody at the same time!"—Ex.

Union Meeting.

The next session of the Eastern Union of the Raleigh Association will convene with Bethesda church, Johnston county, on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892.

The introductory sermon will be preached at 11 a. m. by Rev. O. C. Horton.

TOPICS.

Friday afternoon. (1) The Claims of Home Piety. Rev. J. J. Hall, D. D.

(2) What Kind of Literature Should our Sunday-schools and Church Members Use? Rev. F. H. Poston, J. M. Beaty.

Saturday, 9:30 a. m. (1) "The Need of the Holy Spirit's Presence." N. B. Broughton.

(2) Why Are Our Members so Careless about Attending Preaching and Business Meetings on Saturdays? Prof. E. G. Beckwith.

Saturday afternoon. (1) "How may we Best Guard the Doctrine of a Regenerate Membership?" Rev. O. L. Stringfield.

(2) The Progress and Needs of Mission Work within Our Own Bounds. Rev. J. W. Rose, Rev. J. L. Cottingham.

Sunday morning from 9 a. m. to 11 o'clock will be devoted to the Sunday-school work, program of exercises to be arranged by Superintendent of Bethesda school and other Sunday school workers.

Missionary sermon at 11 a. m. by Rev. O. L. Stringfield.

NOTICE CAREFULLY.

It is very important that each church be represented by delegates and contribution. Our missionaries are at work by our direction and are looking to us for the support we have promised. If we carelessly neglect them, God will hold us accountable for this want of care for his servants.

Hope every church in our Union will be mindful of our work and come with a liberal contribution.

We would once more call attention to the resolution adopted by the Union Meeting at Selma: "Each church of this Union shall be and is hereby requested to take and forward a collection by its delegates to each future session of the body; said collection to be used for Colportage and Mission work within the bounds of the Raleigh Association."

We are engaged in Associational Mission work this year, brethren, and we expect you to contribute cheerfully and liberally to build up the cause of Christ at home.

O. C. HORTON, for Com.

Dr. O. P. Starks of Alexander, La., says: "Had asthma from birth; tried everything; Germetuer cured me."

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.

E. K. PROCTOR, Jr., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.

Feb. 10, 1892.

Hon. H. J. Chamberlain of Chicago says: "Germeteur cured me of an old case of dyspepsia."

Resolutions Adopted by Apex Church.

Realizing the truth that our churches usually suffer loss of spiritual vitality during the years of great political commotion; and being further aware of the increased dangers which threaten us at this time, therefore

Resolved, That by God's help we will try to keep constantly before our minds the importance and the solemnity of our calling in him to the end that our christian character as individuals and as a church may not suffer by our course, nor the cause of Christ be reproached by our indiscretions.

Resolved, That we will especially seek to avoid bickerings and wranglings among ourselves, and endeavor when we feel called upon to admonish a brother to do so in love and kindness, with a purpose and desire to reclaim him, rather than demolish his arguments and expose him to ridicule and contempt.

Resolved, That we will strive to exercise moderation in all things calculated to provoke strife and contentions among us, and ever remember that we owe the most solemn duties to one another as brethren. We cannot inflict wounds upon our brethren with impunity. If we damage the christian character of a brother, or impair his influence or usefulness, we damage ourselves, our Lord and his cause.

Resolved, That man's first great duty is to his Lord, his Creator, Preserver, and Saviour; and that no avoidable cause shall draw us from his service and from those duties assigned us by him.

W. H. PENNY, JR., Ch. Clerk.

A veritable family medicine box, Beecham's pills.

Don't Skip the Hard Names When you Read.

Eddy was a fairly bright scholar. He could read very well for a boy of his age. He liked to read stories about birds and beasts. But he had one fault. One day his mamma talked to him about it. He would read very fast until he came to some hard word. Then he would stop, and if he could not tell at once what it was, he would skip it and go on.

"Don't skip the hard words, Eddy," said his mamma.

"Why, mamma, I don't like the hard words. I am in such a hurry to go on that I can't stop to spell them.

"That will not do, my boy," she said. "You will never be a good reader if you do not stop and spell the long words. You will never be good at anything if you do not do the hard things which come to you. When you are at work do not skip the hard things. God expects all his children to do faithfully the duty which comes to them. A boy who bravely tries to overcome hard things is a hero."

"A hero, mamma?" said Eddy, laughing. "Why, I thought a hero was a man who went to war and was a brave soldier."

"You can be a hero, dear, while you are a little boy. A hero is any one who does his best, even in such little things as spelling the hard words. You are not too young to be a true soldier of the Prince of Peace."—Selected.

WORTH A GUINEA A BOX"
BEECHAM'S PILLS
(Tasteless—Effectual.)
FOR ALL
BILIOUS and NERVOUS DISORDERS,
Such as Sick Headache, Weak Stomach, Impaired Digestion, Constipation, Liver Complaint, and Female Ailments.
Covered with a Tasteless & Soluble Coating.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.

J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.

Very respectfully,

W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:

Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,

ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,

F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.

Yours truly,

CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:

Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,

J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 25 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO.
CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2500 testimonials.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

Raleigh & Gaston Railroad.

In effect Sunday, Jan. 10, 1892.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.	No. 34. Pass. Daily.	No. 38. Pass. & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.
Leave Raleigh	5 00 p m	11 25 a m
Lv Mill Brook	5 15 p m	11 40 a m
Lv Wake Forest	5 38 p m	12 04 p m
Lv Franklinton	5 58 p m	12 26 p m
Lv Kittrells	6 15 p m	12 43 p m
Lv Henderson	6 30 p m	12 59 p m
Lv Warren Plains	7 05 p m	1 39 p m
Lv Macon	7 14 p m	1 47 p m
Ar Weldon	8 15 p m	2 45 p m

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.	No. 41. Pass & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.	No. 45. Daily Pass.
Lv Weldon	12 30 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Macon	1 30 p m	8 01 a m
Lv Warren Plains	1 39 p m	8 09 a m
Lv Henderson	2 18 p m	8 48 a m
Lv Kittrells	2 34 p m	8 59 a m
Lv Franklinton	2 51 p m	9 16 a m
Lv Wake Forest	3 15 p m	9 36 a m
Lv Mill Brook	3 40 p m	9 58 a m
Ar Raleigh	3 55 p m	10 10 a m

LOUISBURG RAILROAD.

Leaves Louisburg at 8:00 a m, 11:30 a m and 5:00 p m.

Arrives at Franklinton at 8:35 a m, 1:05 p m, and 5:35 p m.

Leaves Franklinton at 6:05 p m, 8:00 p m, and 9:20 a m.

Arrives at Louisburg at 6:40 a m, 8:35 p m, and 9:20 a m.

JOHN C. WINDER, Gen. Man.
L. T. MYERS, Gen. Supt.
WM. SMITH, Superintendent.

Atlantic Coast Line.

Wilmington & Weldon Railroad and Branches.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

Dated April 24, 1892.

GOING SOUTH.	No 23. Daily.	No 27. Fast Mail Daily.	No 41 Daily ex Sunday
Leave Weldon	12 30 p m	5 43 p m	6 00 a m
Ar Rocky Mount	1 40 p m	6 36 p m	7 09 a m
Arrive Tarboro	‡3 18 p m
Leave Tarboro	12 58 p m	‡6 00 p m
Arrive Wilson	2 18 p m	7 00 p m	7 40 a m
Leave Wilson	‡2 30 p m
Arrive Selma	3 30 p m
Arr Fayetteville	5 30 p m
Leave Goldsboro	3 15 p m	7 40 p m	8 30 a m
Leave Warsaw	4 14 p m		9 30 a m
Leave Magnolia	4 27 p m	8 40 p m	9 44 a m
Arr Wilmington	6 00 p m	9 55 p m	11 25 a m

GOING NORTH.	No 14. Daily.	No 78. Daily.	No 40. Daily ex Sunday.
Lve Wilmington	12 35 a m	9 15 a m	4 20 p m
Leave Magnolia	1 54 a m	10 57 a m	6 03 p m
Leave Warsaw		11 11 a m	6 18 p m
Arrive Goldsboro	2 55 a m	12 05 a m	7 10 p m
Lve Fayetteville		‡9 10 a m
Leave Selma		17 08 a m
Arrive Wilson		12 10 p m
Leave Wilson	3 35 a m	12 58 p m	8 04 p m
Ar Rocky Mount	4 08 a m	1 30 p m	8 39 p m
Arrive Tarboro	‡6 30 a m	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro		12 58 p m
Arrive Weldon	5 05 a m	2 55 p m	10 00 p m

‡Daily except Sunday.

Trains on Scotland Neck branch road leave Weldon 4.00 p m, Halifax 4 23 p m; arrive Scotland Neck at 5.15 p m, Greenville 6.52 p m Kinston 8.00 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston 7.10 a m, Greenville 8.25 a m. Arriving Halifax at 11.00 a m, Weldon 11.25 a m, daily except Sunday.

Local freight train leaves Weldon Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10.15 a m, arriving Scotland Neck 1.05 a m, Greenville 5.30 p m, Kinston 7.40 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 7.20 a m, Greenville 9.55 a m, Scotland Neck 2.20 p m, arrive at Weldon 5.15 p m.

Train leaves Tarboro, via Albemarle and Raleigh railroad, daily except Sunday, 4.40 p m, Sunday 3.00 p m; arrive Williamston 7.15 p m, 4.20 p m, Plymouth 8.30 p m, 5.20 p m. Returning leaves Plymouth daily except Sunday 6.00 a m, Sunday 9.00 a m, Williamston 7.30 a m, 9.58 a m. Arrive Tarboro 10 40 a m, 11.30 a m.

Trains on Southern Division, Wilson and Fayetteville branch, leave Fayetteville 7.30 a m, arrive Rowland 12.15 p m. Returning leave Rowland 12 15 p m, arrive Fayetteville 5.15 p m. Daily except Sunday.

Train on Midland, N C, branch leaves Goldsboro daily except Sunday, 6 00 a m, arrive Smithfield 7.30 a m. Returning leaves Smithfield 8.00 a m, arrive Goldsboro 9 30 a m.

Train on Nashville branch leaves Rocky Mount at 5.15 p m, arrives Nashville 5.55 p m, Spring Hope 6.30 p m. Returning leaves Spring Hope at 8.00 a m, Nashville 8.35 a m, arrive Rocky Mount 9.15 a m, daily except Sunday.

Train on Clinton branch leaves Warsaw for Clinton daily except Sunday, at 6.30 p m, and 11.15 a m. Returning leaves Clinton at 8.30 a m, and 3.10 p m, connecting at Warsaw with Nos 41, 40, 28 and 78.

Southbound train on Wilson and Fayetteville branch is No 51; Northbound is No 50. Daily except Sunday.

Trains No 27 South, and 14 North, will stop only at Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Magnolia.

Train No 78 makes close connection at Weldon for all points North daily, all rail via Richmond, and daily except Sunday, via Bay Line, also at Rocky Mount daily except Sunday, with Norfolk and Carolina railroad for Norfolk and all points north via Norfolk.

JOHN F. DIVINE, Gen. Supt.
J. R. KENLY, General Manager.
T. M. EMERSON, Traffic Manager.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*8 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 00 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*8 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	*8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 50 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	2 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 23 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	*1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 35 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leaves Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7.50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2.10 a m. Leaves Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrives Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday, for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N. C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In effect February 28, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.25 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.53 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennetsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.37 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7:35 a m
Ar Greensboro			10:05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10:35 a m
Ar Madison			1:05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	8:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:20 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:00 p m
Lv Fayetteville	2:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:39 p m
Ar Bennetsville		4:52 p m
Lv Madison			3:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:55 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			6:15 p m

W. H. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for May:—Italy.

A Universal Prayer.

(Tune, America.)

"God save our fellow-men,
Save them from every sin—
Make them thine own.
From heaven, thy dwelling-place,
Look on our helpless race,
Save them through Jesus' grace,
Thou Holy One.

"O, thou impartial Friend,
On thee their hopes depend—
Thou bid'st them come.
May thousands turn to thee,
Thy true disciples be,
And ever dwell with thee
In thy blest home.

"Bless all who own thy word,
O thou, our only Lord,
'Thy will be done.'
Bid all our strifes to cease,
Let christian love increase,
Give us thine own sweet peace
Oh, make us one."

Extract from a Letter of Dr. G. B. Taylor.

"Last Saturday we had a real christian feast in which, together with the church, the angels also must have taken part, for we welcomed a new brother possessed not only of an enlightened and lively faith, but of many other excellent qualities, which, sanctified by the Holy Spirit, will be efficacious for good to the cause which, with so much enthusiam, he has embraced. He is a teacher in one of the government schools, and he has solemnly promised to inculcate evangelical principles to the youth committed to his care. While in Iglesias awaiting a change of position he encountered our colporter, Sig. Pintus, a fellow-townsman. The next Sunday he appeared at our meeting, nor did he ever miss one afterwards, while every day he was with me conversing, reading and praying, and manifesting a deep concern for his soul's salvation. He was then called to the school at Elmas, but wished before his departure to be baptized, and become a member of our church. After a vigorous examination, in which he professed his faith in Christ, and his acceptance of the truths of God's word, he was admitted to baptism and then to the Lord's Supper, after which we wrung his hand and gave him the kiss of brotherhood. We were very joyful, and asked God to give us another such day."

Ask your druggist what proprietary medicine is selling right along and they will tell you King's Royal Germetuer.

A Few Words to Our Societies.

BY A LADY MEMBER OF ONE OF THEM.

"Come, now, and let us reason together." Is our connection with the society but perfunctory? Do we pay our dues and think no further of the matter until the collector comes around again? Are we even jealous and zealous for our society that we shall give as much or more as we did last year, or as some other society does? Let me plead that this no longer be the "all" of our interest; no longer the mere paying of "dues." Let me beg you to take an interest in the work. Make it our work—our Master's work. Let us inform ourselves of what our representatives or substitutes are doing in heathen lands. Are they doing that for which they are sent? Is the Lord blessing their labors? We cannot be interested in that of which we are ignorant. When we read the "Miracles of Missions" let us encourage each other with the good tidings. Search the Scriptures for the commands, the privileges, the promises of the word. You will perhaps be surprised at the fulness of these in the Old Testament as well as in the New.

And when we read of the thousands and millions of heathen who have not heard the name of Jesus, and who are perishing daily, while we lag in obedience to the last command to his followers, to "preach the gospel to every creature," let us resolve to labor for them, to deny ourselves for them as never before. Let us pray more. The first missionary, Paul, says again and again "pray for us." The missionaries plead with us in each letter, "pray for us, pray for the new converts, pray for the heathen." Then new converts themselves set us an example, never hesitating to "pray with and for others." Let us count it but loss if we let any occasion pass that we do not use our influence for the cause. It is no excuse that we think our influence small. It is what God has given us and will increase with the using. He who had one talent was held as responsible as he who had ten. Let us labor to increase our influence.

Again, let us give as we pray, denying ourselves if need be—giving of our abundance and giving of our poverty—growing in the grace of giving, giving not because we must, but because we may. God loveth a cheerful giver. Have we but a "mite?" give it, feeling sure of God's acceptance; but be sure we are deceiving ourselves and mistaking a minimum of our abundance for the widow's "mite," which was "all she had." Will not those W. M. auxiliaries give more than "a cent a day?" Will not others who have not given that much seriously strive to do so? Each day as we read our own Bible, let us plan that we may spare or deny ourselves at least one cent for sending the gospel to the ends of the earth. The power of the many littles—the two cents a week of the "Christian Endeavors" for missions—has raised $100,000.

Oh, hasten! Thousands are perishing while we wait.—The Missionary.

A Good List.

Have you examined the "Catalogue of Books by Southern Authors," published by the American Baptist Publication Society? If not, it will pay you to do so. It is a brilliant array—Brantly and Boyce and Burrows and Broadus, Carter and Curry, Dagg and Dayton and Dickinson, Eaton and Fuller and Ford and Frost, Howell and Jeter and Jones and Landrum, Pendleton and Taylor and others have enriched our literature with the best offerings of their heads and hearts. Two of their publications we make special mention of, "Abstract of Theology," by Boyce; and "Gospel of Matthew," by Broadus. There is something tonical and bracing about these two publications. They put spiritual ozone into the atmosphere. Dr. Boyce's work is a genuine little theological library within itself, and it can be purchased for $3.00.

Official reports from the Vatican show that in the pontificate of Leo XIII., now in the fourteenth year, the Roman Catholic church has made substantial progress. The new positions created in the hierarchy are the following: the Patriarchate of India, 12 archbishoprics, 65 bishoprics, 43 apostolic delegations, vicarates, and perfectures. Then 10 bishoprics have been made archbishoprics. The total number of dignitaries in the hierarchy are the following: 8 Latin patriarchs and 5 of the Oriental Rite; 783 Latin Archbishops and archbishops and 52 of the Oriental Rite; 308 Titulary Bishops, 28 bishops nullius dioceses. The greatest progress of the church is reported from North America and England.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "My wife and daughter were cured of headache and catarrh by Germetuer."

A Mexican Saint.

A few miles from the village of Cos, on a little farm, lived for many years Don Abundio Rodriguez, a tall old man with straight black hair, brown skin, and the sight in one eye gone forever. With his leather jacket and pants, stockingless feet slipped into rough sandals, a broad Mexican hat, and staff in hand, Don Abundio makes a picture not easily forgotten.

When the little Protestant church was established in Cos, he became one of its most earnest members, leaving the worship of the Virgin and saints to be a follower of Jesus, and like the disciples of old, he followed him closely.

Every Thursday you could have seen him with his family in the church, (though to be there they must walk six miles), entering into the service with heart and soul. Oh, how he could sing! "Oh, happy day that fixed my choice, on thee, my Saviour and my God," was one of his favorite hymns; and if you could have watched him while singing, you would know he meant every word.

Ten years ago there were few railroads in Mexico, and when a missionary wanted to travel through the country to preach Jesus in the little towns and villages, he must go in a rough wagon drawn by mules. On one of these trips, old Don Abundio went along to drive and take care of the mules, and many were the lessons of christian love and faith he taught the missionaries on the way. In Mexico it is necessary to start very early in the morning in order to rest during the heat of the day, sometimes as early as half-past three or four o'clock. But earlier than that, this old man would wake and rise—for what do you suppose? That he might have a little time alone with God. Let me tell you of one of these morning hours, that you may know how he began every day. It is one o'clock, and in the darkness he gets down on his knees and says the Lord's Prayer; then, still kneeling, he asks, "What is the meaning of the first petition?" to which he gives the Catechism answer, and so on through all the questions and answers about the Lord's Prayer. Then rising, he sings in an unsteady voice four verses of a hymn, after which he says, "May the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, the love of God and communion of the Holy Ghost, be this day in all our hearts. Amen."

Once he took a journey with a daughter, who living away from home, had never heard of the Protestant faith. By the time the journey was over, she too, was a Protestant, converted by his prayers and hymns.

One more story about this good old man. You must know that he is very poor, with scarcely any money, and no clothes but those he wears. Remembering this, you will appreciate what a sad thing it was when one day his blanket which Mexicans use for overcoats, was stolen. Neither the thief nor the blanket could be found, and Don Abundio was distressed indeed; but, instead of complaining, as perhaps we would have done, he only said, "The will of the Lord be done! blessed be his name for the blessings remaining."

And here is the lesson for us. If Don Abundio could bless the Lord for what to us would seem but few good things, shall not our days be full of thanksgiving for our many, many mercies!—Selected.

$100. Reward. $100.

The readers of the RECORDER will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Character.

One mark of ripeness in character is beauty. Ripe fruit has its own perfect beauty. As the fruit ripens, the sun tints it with surpassing loveliness, and the colors deepen till the beauty of the fruit is equal to the beauty of the blossom, and in some respects superior. There is in ripe christians the beauty of realized sanctification, which the Word of God knows by the name of "beauty of holiness."

Another mark of ripe fruit is tenderness. The young, green fruit is hard and stone-like. The mature christian is noted for tenderness of spirit.

Another mark of ripeness is sweetness. The unripe fruit is sour. As we grow in grace, we are sure to grow in charity, sympathy and love. We shall, as we ripen in grace, have greater sweetness toward our fellow-christians. Bitter-spirited christians may know a great deal, but they are immature.

Those who are quick to censure may be very acute in judgment, but they are as yet immature in heart. I know we who are young beginners in grace think ourselves qualified to reform the whole christian church. We drag her before us and condemn her straightway; but when our virtues become more mature, I trust we shall not be more tolerant of evil, but we shall be more tolerant of infirmity, more hopeful for the people of God, and certainly less arrogant in our criticisms.

Another and a very sure mark of ripeness is a loose hold of earth. Ripe fruit easily parts from the bough.—Spurgeon.

Senator J. R. Lyle says: "After giving up all hopes my wife was cured of neuralgia and indigestion by Germetuer."

Will the Glad Day Ever Dawn?

When every home will be a type of heaven?

When church proselyters will learn decency?

When the gossip's tongue will cease to wag?

When the "star" preacher will go to the rear?

When the synagogue will fill up on Sunday day nights?

When business methods will prevail in the churches?

When the steady going folks will be appreciated?

When the "I-told-you-so" people will have quit the country?

When the meal in the parsonage barrel will never get low?

When every christian's life will be a sermon on the beauty of holiness?

When prayer-meetings will reach their maximum attendance in August?

When society will spurn the male profligate as it now does the female one?

When the young man will treat his own sister as he now does some other fellow's sister?—Epworth Herald.

The Vitality of the Bible.

The supernatural can never be disproved. The supernatural is in a higher sense the natural, it is the atmosphere in which we confess ourselves the children of God. Men say we want a Bible with no miracles, no inspiration; but the time is coming when we shall want no other Bible than one of miracle and inspiration, because it brings man nearer to God. The supernatural is the believer's home. There will always be a testing of the Bible. Reasoning men will revolve around it with their questions, but alongside of these will move those who trust, and who go on opening deeper and deeper truths to feed mankind.—Phillips Brooks.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

An Arrow at a Venture.

One evening the Rev. Newman Hall was preaching to a crowded congregation. Somewhat aside from his usual manner, he was treating his theme in a calm and even philosophic or scientific way. Suddenly the thought flashed through his mind, "This is not what some one here may need." In an instant, and with a sort of undefined inspiration, he broke abruptly from the train of thought which he had been following, and exclaimed in some such words as these: "Perhaps there may be some poor wanderer all hopeless under the sway of intoxicating liquor who has strayed in here to night. Perhaps he has reached the point where he is just ready, and on the way to end his own life as a refuge from the horrible bondage. To such a one I call, O poor and lost one, Christ is waiting to help and save. He can and he will save and help if you but will now call upon him in your trouble and sinfulness." Having made this sudden appeal, he resumed his discourse.

Some weeks afterwards his assistant came to him and said: "I have just met a very interesting and even strange case in my visitings. I have found a poor woman, evidently near her end. She has been dissipated, and her disease is probably the result of her excesses, but she seems to be having a good hope in Jesus Christ, clearly resting on his salvation. She tells me this story. On a week-night some months since she was on her way, in her despair and agony, to one of the bridges with a fixed determination to cast herself into the river. As she went toward the bridge, she passed the door of our chapel. Seeing it lighted and hearing your voice, she stopped and stood at the door. Just then you looked up and spoke to her as if you knew what was in her mind; told her of the Lord Jesus, and urged her to come to him. She knew that you spoke to her, and she took the message to her heart. She seems by it to have been led to embrace him as her Saviour, and to be peacefully waiting till he shall take her to himself."—Ex.

Gov. Hubbard of Texas was cured of dyspepsia and general debility by Germetuer.

A burdened heart, with perplexing and mysterious griefs, may find the best possible relief by telling it all to Jesus. So the disciples of John when they had buried his headless body went and reported it to Jesus. John's best service to the world and to his disciples was in pointing out the Master and saying: "Behold the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sin of the world." The best service we can render our friends for the time of sorrow at our death will be in such teaching and life as will lead them to go and commune with Jesus.—Ex.

Gen. James Longstreet says: "I was cured of indigestion and insomnia by Germetuer."

The soul of conversation is sympathy. People should not talk to please themselves, but those that hear them.—The Five Talents of Woman.

When Charlemagne and his "Knights of the Round Table" were making war on the Saracens, in Africa, it frequently happened that Knights on either side would fight in single combat for the honor of their respective armies. The Saracens had been, for many years, the scourge—the dreaded invaders—of Europe, and all waged war against this common enemy.

But in these days the worst scourge that threatens us, is that dread invader, Consumption.

Consumption fastens its hold upon its victims while they are unconscious of its approach. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has cured thousands of cases of this most fatal of maladies. But it must be taken before the disease is too far advanced in order to be effective. If taken in time, and given a fair trial, it will cure, or money paid for it will be refunded.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Bronchitis, Asthma, severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an unequaled remedy.

For all diseases that arise from a torpid liver and impure blood, nothing can take the place of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Nothing will, after you have seen what it does. It prevents and cures by removing the cause. It invigorates the liver, purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite improves digestion, and builds up both strength and flesh, when reduced below the standard of health.

Sold by druggists, everywhere.

Chowan Association.

The Chowan Association meets with the church at Ballard's Bridge, Chowan county, May 17th, 18th and 19th.

Persons coming by steamer "Lota," from Franklin or Edenton will be met at Holley's Wharf. Those coming on the Suffolk and Carolina Railroad will be met at Chowan Station.

The ministers of this Association at their meeting in Edenton, April 6th, passed a resolution, requesting the Association to give the second day entirely to the Centennial of Missions.

A. W. BURNETT.

BABY'S BLOOD AND SKIN

Cleansed and purified of every humor, eruption, and disease by the celebrated

CUTICURA REMEDIES

These great skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies afford immediate relief in the most torturing of Itching and Burning Eczemas and other scaly, scaly, crusted, and blotchy skin and scalp diseases, permit rest and sleep, and point to a permanent and economical (because most speedy) cure when the best physicians and all other remedies fail. Thousands of grateful testimonials attest their wonderful, unfailing, and incomparable efficacy. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston. "All About the Skin, Scalp, and Hair," mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.

HOW MY SIDE ACHES!

Aching Sides and Back, Hip, Kidney, and Uterine Pains, and Rheumatism relieved in one minute by the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. The first and only instantaneous pain-killing, strengthening plaster.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 44th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.), Principal.

Please mention this paper.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D., Chapel Hill, N. C.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs, RALEIGH, N. C.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

50c. per meal; $1.50 per day.

PILES Remedy Free. Sufferers should not be misled by any statement, but write for a simple cure, which he will mail [illegible]

Reply to Rev. R. VanDeventer.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE BIBLICAL RECORDER:

Dear Bro.:—I have read carefully the article in your issue of April 27th, by Rev. R. VanDeventer, in which, by a very ingenious array of statistics, he seeks to show that the Young Men's Christian Association as an evangelizing agency is not a success. He also attempts to show that the tendency of the Association is hurtful to the churches. I wish to say in the first place that I am a member of the Baptist church and have been for nearly twenty years. For seven and a half years of that time I have been officially connected with the Association as a salaried officer and I don't think that any of my pastors will charge me with disloyalty to my church. The Association has in its representative gatherings from time to time reiterated its attitude to the church which is that all members of Associations shall give their first allegiance and their best efforts to their respective churches. This is the policy of the Association and every member is committed to it. If it can be demonstrated that the Association in any way usurps the province of, or is, in any way, antagonistic to, the church, then it will become the solemn duty of every minister of the gospel and all who love the LORD Jesus Christ to use every power that God has given them to crush it out of existence. It is an anomalous position for a minister of the gospel to occupy to profess to be a friend to an organization the tendency of which he believes to be hurtful to the church since the church is confessedly the one divinely ordained means for the evangelization of the world. But the term church in the modern definition of the word is very ambiguous. As I understand it no one denomination nor yet all the existing denominations can claim to be the visible church of Christ. Christ said "He that doeth the will of my Father which is in heaven the same is my brother and sister and mother." The disciples came to Christ on one occasion and said "Master we saw one casting out devils in thy name and he followeth not us and we forbade him because he followeth not us." Christ said "Forbid him not for there is no man which shall do a miracle in my name that can lightly speak evil of me. For he that is not against us is on our part." It seems to me that in the light of these utterances of the Great Teacher we may safely conclude that every organization whether it is called a church or not that has received the seal of divine approval is a component part of the church of Jesus Christ in the world. The Young Men's Christian Association does not claim to be a church but it does claim to be a part of the visible church of Christ and it has established its claim by the fruits of its work.

The aim of the Association is expressed in a resolution adopted by the World's Conference which met in Paris in 1855, and which reads as follows:

"The Young Men's Christian Association seeks to unite those young men who regarding Jesus Christ as their God and Saviour according to the holy Scriptures desire to be his disciples in their doctrine and in their life and to associate their efforts for the extension of his kingdom among young men."

As will be seen, the prime object of the Association is the salvation of young men, and only such methods are adopted as will contribute, at least indirectly, to the end in view. It has been demonstrated by experience that the so-called secular agencies employed by the Associations in the prosecution of their work have been the means of bringing young men, who were not reached by the churches, under religious influences, and eventually leading them to accept Christ as a personal saviour and united with some church. But aside from the utility of these various secular agencies as a means of bringing young men under the influence of the churches, they possess merit in and of themselves. Man is a physical, social and intellectual, as well as a moral being, and must have facilities for development along all four lines of his nature, if he is to realize the design of God in his creation. The Association simply seeks to provide for the legitimate needs of young men in these directions.

Bro. VanDeventer quotes from a pastor in New York who says that "the Association conspicuously fails to reach the very young men who must need religion." I would like to inquire what class of young men most need religion, or whether any one class need it more than another. The mission of the Association is to all young men of whatever class or condition, and is has succeeded wonderfully in reaching some classes of men who, by reason of their occupation, are almost wholly deprived of church privileges, such as railroad men, miners, army men, commercial travelers, and college men.

The charge is made that the Association tends to draw young men from their churches. I have shown that the policy of the Association, as set forth in the official declarations of its representative gatherings, is to emphasize the priority of the claim which the church has upon the affections and service of young men. There may be some individual cases where young men have shown more interest in Association work than in church work, doubtless because they were not assigned to any work in their churches; but investigation will prove that the young men who are most active in the Association, as a rule, are most active in their churches.

It is charged that the training of the Association unfits young men for church work. There is no organization in the world except the church that is more loyal to the Bible than the Association. It is the only manual of tactics which the Association employs. If so be skilful in the use of the Sword of the Spirit, unfits young men for church work, then we plead guilty to the charge preferred.

[illegible] that a young man who works [illegible] Association, whether as an active [illegible] or as General Secretary, has to give [illegible] peculiar denominational views. [illegible] that with souls dying all around [illegible] point them to Christ without insisting that they shall accept our own peculiar denominational views? Cannot the plan of salvation be presented from God's word without giving it a denominational coloring? If this is true, then we have indeed made but little progress towards the realization of the desire of the Master, "that they all may be one even as we are one."

The criticism is made that religion is not made prominent in the Association. It is true, that with the marvelous growth and development of the Association, and expansion of the work to its present proportions, and the effort to reach young men along all the many lines of their nature, there would seem to be an undue emphasis placed upon the so-called secular features of the work. And, indeed, it is a difficult problem to prevent the means from obscuring the end. And were it not for the fact that the control of the Associations is and must always remain in the hands of christian men, this would prove a rock upon which the work would go to pieces—nay, more, would long since have been wrecked.

But statistics show that with the marvelous increase of gymnasiums, reading rooms, libraries, educational classes, receptions, entertainments, &c., there has been more than a corresponding increase in the number of Bible classes and religious services, and in the attendence upon these services.

With regard to the criticism upon the games in use in Association rooms, I would only say, that the policy of the Association is that only such games shall be adopted as will be endorsed by the conservative christian sentiment of the community, and such as can with perfect propriety be played in any christian home. Nothing that savors of, or conduces to, the gambling spirit is tolerated in Association rooms, and every precaution is taken to prevent anything of the kind. With regard to the Association doing a work that the church cannot do, I would say that the church did not do it. The young men, as a class, were largely outside the church. The work that the Association is designed to do could perhaps be done by the churches in their individual capacity, at least to some extent, but such an arrangement would involve a much larger outlay of money and effort, and the results accruing would not be correspondingly increased. Hence, on the ground of economy alone, even if there were no other reasons (which there are), it is wiser for the churches to unite, not upon an undenominational but and inter-denominational basis, in this work.

The principal point in the article by Bro. VanDeventer seems to be that the results of Association work in the aggregate, in the number of young men who are known to have united with the churches directly through the instrumentallity of the Association, are not commensurate with the amount of money expended. I admit the fact that, under favorable conditions, the reaping will be in proportion to the sowing. And I know that I voice the sentiments of all true Association men when I say, that I deplore the fact that the visible results of our work are not larger, and I trust that the criticism will have a salutary effect upon the work in creating, upon the part of Association workers, a deeper spirit of consecration. I take comfort, however, from the words of the Master, "Be thou faithful (not successful) unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life" And again, the wise man says in Ecclesiastes 11:6, "In the morning sow thy seed, and in the evening withheld not thine hand, for thou knowest not whether shall prosper, either this or that, or whether they shall both be alike good."

But there is a reason for the apparently small visible results of Association work. The brother only gives the statistics of young men who have been reported by the Associations who are known postively to have united with the churches as a direct result of Association effort. In many instances, young men are awakened to a sense of their condition in some religious meeting of the Association, but do not manifest it publicly, and afterwards unite with the church, and of course the Association does not report such cases. In innumerable instances, young men who profess conversion in Association meetings, and express their purpose to unite with some church, are referred to the pastor of that church, and he fails to follow the case up, or, if he does, failes to report to the Association. There are, also, a great many strangers and traveling men who profess conversion in our meetings, and it is impossible in all cases to follow them up. Then, there are large numbers of college students who profess conversion in college Association meetings and unite with the church on their return home. So it will be seen, that the statistics of young men who are known definitely to have united with churches, as a result of our work, is not a fair standard by which to judge the work, as it represents only a small percentage of the actual visible results.

I cannot give the exact number of professed conversions in the work in our State during the past year, but I know it will foot up at least three hundred. If a young man publicly professes faith in Christ in our rooms, we have a right to report it as a conversion. But, in conclusion we are not under the necessity at this late day, of demonstrating our right to an existence as a part of the church, since the work of the Association is recognized and endorsed most heartily by the leaders of the great existing churches. And it is hardly possible that these men, after careful observation of the work and a close study of the fundamental principles upon which it is based, and the place which it occupies in the world, should be entirely deluded. Hence, the Association can and will exist, and will continue to help rather than hinder the cause of Christ.

R. E. WHITE.

Durham, May 4, 1892.

IF YOUR BACK ACHES,
Or you are all worn out, really good for nothing, it is general debility. Try
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
It will cure you, cleanse your liver, and give a good appetite.

Students' Aid Fund.

Editor Recorder:—At the meeting of the Convention in Goldsboro, a number of pledges were made to the Students' Fund on behalf of district Associations. Some of these have been paid, others are not yet paid. I am now on the home stretch, doing my best to get money enough to meet the bills on the first of June, and so close the session free from debt. I write to beg the brethren who have not yet responded to remember me in this emergency, and especially that the matter may be brought forward at the fifth Sunday meetings, and if possible that a collection may be taken for the benefit of the Fund. Fraternally,

WM. H. WHITSITT.

Louisville, Ky., May 2, 1892.

Atlantic Union.

The Atlantic Union meets with Smyrna church, May 27th, 1892.

It is hoped that all our churches will be well represented, and that visitors will be in attendance. All who come by rail should reach Morehead City on Thursday evening, May 26th. Our sharpies will be ready Friday morning to sail eastward to Smyrna seventeen miles away.

PROGRAM.

Friday 2 p m—Organization and reports from churches.
7:30 p m—Sermon by Rufus Ford.
Saturday 10 a m—Colportage. J H Edwards.
11 a m—Orphanage. J C Whitty.
2 p m—Opening questioning box.
Sunday 10 a m—Sunday-school mass meeting.
11 a m—Sermon by A L Stough.
2:30 p m—State Missions. G L Finch.

COM.

Col. I. W. Avery of Atlanta says: "I was cured of kidney troubles and paralysis by Germetuer."

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28–30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
Elkin—Rock Creek ch., June 11, 12.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhamah ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
South Yadkin—Mocksville ch., May 27–29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27–29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27–29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. SIX months treatment for $5.00.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Elim ch, W Chowan, $1.46. Previously reported, 1,599.96. Total this year, 1,601.42.

Foreign Missions—Moore's Chapel ch, $5.00; Lenoir ch (for Rev G W Greene), 2.55; Jerusalem ch, So Yadkin, 35c; Bethel ch (for Rev G W Greene), 3.92; Rockahock ch, Chowan, 35.00; Silver Springs ch, 3.10; L Johnson, 2.00; W M S, Elm Grove ch, 1.24; Louisburg ch, Tar River, 15.32; Aulander ch, 40.02; Aulander S S, 5.00; J S Memory, Whiteville, N C, 3.00; W M S, Tabernacle ch, Raleigh, 6.10; Elim ch, W Chowan (Britton), 10.70; Wall's ch, Sandy Run, 4.82; Durham ch, Mt Zion, 41.43; Laurel Hill ch, 3.20; Thomasville ch, Liberty, 90c; Mt Zion ch, Tar River, 4.42; Mt Olivet ch, 6.00; Scotland Neck ch, Tar River, 8.00; Moravian Falls ch, Brushy Mountain, 25.00. Total, 227.07. Previously reported, 4,209.78. Total this year, 4,436.85.

Home Missions—Jerusalem ch, So Yadkin, $10.00; Sunbeams Society, Wells Chapel ch, Eastern, 1.60; Rockahock ch, Chowan, 10.00; Galeed ch, Cape Fear, 25.07; Olivet ch, 25.00; Morrisville ch, Raleigh, 5.00; Salem ch, Chowan, 2.50; Elim ch, W Chowan, 3.00; Thomasville ch, Liberty, 90c; Poplar Grove ch, 1.27. Total, 84.40. Previously reported, 1,574.98. Total this year, 1,659.38.

Havana House—Bethel ch, Eastern, $6.00; Sunbeams, Reidsville ch, 3.50. Total, 9.50. Previously reported, 3,307.11. Total to date, 3,316.61.

Education—Jerusalem ch, So Yadkin, $5.80; Yeopim ch, Chowan, 10.00; Aulander ch, 7.98; Salem ch, Chowan, 5.00; Dr Timberlake, 1.00; Gardner's ch, 1.95; Rev W B Royal, Wake Forest, 5.00; Rev W H Edwards, ditto, 5.00; Caswell ch, 1.80; Bogue Chapel ch, Cape Fear, 50c. Total, 44.03. Previously reported, 900.26. Total this year, 944.29.

Orphanage—Rockahock ch, Chowan, $7.40; Poplar Creek S S, 5.00; First ch, Raleigh, Central, 15 00; Salem ch, Chowan, 4.80; Cashie ch, West Chowan, 1.49; Gardner's ch, 10.91; Bogue Chapel ch, Cape Fear, 1.75. Total, 45.35. Previously reported, 526.14. Total this year, 571.49.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Louisburg ch, Tar River, $3.90.

Sunday-school—Cashie ch, West Chowan, $1.95; Goldsboro ch, Eastern, 4.00. Total, 5.95.

J. D. SOUTHALL,
Treas. B'd, State Convention.

Raleigh, May 7, 1892.

Rev. M. C. Cole, New Orleans, says: "Germetuer cured me of rheumatism and indigestion."

Consumption carries off many of its victims needlessly. It can be stopped sometimes; sometimes it cannot.

It is as cruel to raise false hopes as it is weak to yield to false fears.

There is a way to help within the reach of most who are threatened—CAREFUL LIVING and Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil.

Let us send you a book on the subject; free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $2.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
130 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
74 W. Fourth Street, Cincinnati. 13 East 16th Street, New York.
Root & Sons Music Co., Chicago.

Notice.

Having qualified as Administrator of the estate of Francis Lee, deceased, late of Wake county, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present them to me at Wendell, N. C., on or before the 12th of May, 1893, or this notice will be plead in bar of their recovery.

D. T. LEE, Adm.

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 28 Bond St., N. Y.

The Leaksville Woolen Mills, Leaksville, N. C., need no introduction to the public in North Carolina and adjoining States. This is simply to remind you that they are still "in touch" with the people, working up their wool into various forms of finished product at satisfactory prices. A handsome catalogue containing samples of their new and attractive styles of Fancy Cassimeres and All-Wool Flannels, together with all other goods made by them, is sent to any address on application. Besides an interesting article on "Wool On How to Handle It," the catalogue contains full particulars in regard to shipping wool. If these details are carefully followed, we guarantee prompt return of goods.

Write to Hiram Foard, Sec'y, Leaksville, N. C., for catalogue, before disposing of your wool.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO., 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

Do You Want a Teacher?
TEACHERS' EXCHANGE,
Box 378, Richmond, Va.,
Supplies Colleges, Schools and Families with Teachers without charge. Secures situations for teachers at moderate cost. Correspondence solicited.
WM. F. FOX, Manager.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee 25 cts., send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, Miss CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN.

Young Man
if you expect to keep up with the procession and make friends, keep a supply of
OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS
in your pocket. They are the PASSPORT TO GOOD SOCIETY.
Five mild, pure smokes for ten cents. 19

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!
If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

Write for samples and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

S. S. Convention, South Yadkin Association.

This body will assemble at Mocksville, N. C., on Friday before the fifth Sunday in this month.

At 10 o'clock a m, sermon by Rev. W J Hopkins.

2:30 p m. Reading and discussing reports from the Sunday-schools.

Preaching at night.

Saturday 9:30 a m. Prayer and praise conducted by J B Newton.

10 a m. State Missions, and the Duty of the Sunday-schools thereto. By L R Carroll.

11 a m. The Sunday-school: Its Officers, their Qualifications, and by whom Appointed? Led by W A Pool.

2:30 p m. The Pastor's Place in the Sunday-school. Led by J T Alderman.

Sunday 9 a m. The Sunday-school Lesson taught by L R Carroll.

10 a m. Sunday-school address by L R Carroll.

11 a m. Sermon by W A Pool.

Preaching at night.

Every Sunday-school in the Association is earnestly requested to send delegates to the Convention. C. S. CASHWELL.

Mt. Zion S. S. Association.

This Association will convene with the church at Mt. Hermon, near University Station, Friday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892. At 11 a m, introductory sermon by Rev Dr J L Carroll.

2 p m. The Relation of the Sunday-school to the Church, and How it may be Sustained. Rev C A Woodson and Rev J F McDuffie.

Saturday 10 a m. How can the Missionary Spirit be Developed through the Sunday-school? Rev Dr T Hume and Rev J W Watson.

11 a m. Meeting of the Executive Committee of the Association.

2 p m. The Centennial of Missions. Rev Dr C Durham and Col W A Albright.

3 p m. The Importance of having a Circulating Library and Sunday-school and Missionary Periodicals in the Sunday-school. Rev A A Butler and Rev J C Hocutt.

Services for Sunday will be arranged for by the Pastor and Deacons.

As the Centennial year has begun, let every church be represented.

Respectfully, COMMITTEE.

DR. BIGGER'S HUCKLEBERRY CORDIAL cures all bowel and stomach troubles and children teething. Sold by all dealers.

Camden and Currituck Union Meeting.

At the Union Meeting held with the church at Ebenezer on Friday before the fifth Sunday in January, 1892, it was ordered that the several committees be appointed and sent to the RECORDER for publication.

The Moderator has made the following appointments:

On Missions—Rev J R Herald and Brother W N Gregory.

On Periodicals—Rev N P Stallings and Brother W G Godfrey.

On Sunday-schools—Rev C A G Thomas and Brother M R Gregory.

On Benevolence—Dr R R Overby and Bro I M Duncan.

On Prohibition—Rev P S C Davis and Bro B D Taylor.

On Education—Rev J B Herald and Dr R R Overby.

These committees were requested to make their reports to the next Union Meeting to be held with the church at Beres on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892.

T. B. BOUSHALL, Moderator.
W. E. McCOY, Clerk.

Central Baptist Sunday-school Association.

This body will hold its fourth annual session with Mt. Vernon Baptist church, May 27th, 28th and 29th.

PROGRAM.

Friday, May 27th, at 11 a m—Sermon by W R Gwaltney.

Afternoon—Organization, enrolling delegates, reading letters.

Discussion—S S Finances: A P Upchurch, D C Winston.

Saturday morning—Reports of committees.

Discussion—Duties of the Superintendent: T H Briggs, Prof C E Brewer.

Afternoon. Discussion—Special Training of Teachers: Rev Dr J W Carter, Professor J B Carlyle.

Discussion—The Infant Class: W H Dodd, W O Allen.

Sunday morning—Address: History of the Sunday-school—Prof J F Lanneau.

Address: Christian Homes in Relation to the Sunday-school—Rev Dr Wm Royall.

Sunday afternoon—Discussion: Sunday-school Literature—N Y Gulley, J D Boushall.

Each Sunday-school in the Association is entitled to five delegates besides the pastor of the church and any ministers among the membership. We hope there will be a full attendance.

E. G. BECKWITH,
J. R. JONES,
J. F. LANNEAU,
Committee.

Richmond Union.

The Richmond Union will convene with the church at Saron on Saturday before the fifth Sunday in May.

The subject of Ministerial Education will be discussed, and the balance of time given to Missions.

We hope for a good attendance and an enthusiastic meeting. Let every church in the Association be represented.

I expect to leave Thursday night for Atlanta. My churches (Lilesville and Rockingham) pay my expenses. To the good sisters in Lilesville, I am indebted for this kindness.

Last year the writer was sent as a delegate from this Association. About half his expenses were paid by the Association, and the remainder by one of the deacons.

In June the same brother gave his pastor a complimentary ticket to Wake Forest commencement.

These people have a small pastor, whose hands are held up by three of the largest deacons in the State—large in body and in heart. The others, if not so large physically, are as large in soul. "May their shadows never grow less."

LIVINGSTON JOHNSON.

Rev. M. H. Wells of Birmingham says: "La grippe and rheumatism were quickly and permanently cured by Germetuer."

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The old arsenal in the southwestern corner of Capitol Square was repainted last week.

General Manager Winder, of the Seaboard Air-Line, says that to secure the Atlanta-Raleigh connection, his company has spent over $7,000,000. The greater part of this amount was expended in the construction of the Georgia, Carolina and Northern Railway.

Raleigh is to have a new auditorium. The building which will be of pressed brick, three and a half stories high and basement, will be erected on the corner of Salisbury and Martin Streets. The seating capacity of the auditorium is to be 1,150. Work will begin shortly.

State News.

The "Mock Hotel" recently burned at Thomasville is to be rebuilt at once.

The people of Rockingham have subscribed $100,000 for a new cotton factory.

The hospital in Concord, after an existence of a year, has closed its doors for lack of support.

The Jonesboro Monitor is the name of a neatly printed eight page weekly paper just started at Jonesboro.

Two negro children were recently burned to death in a house on the Pernell farm, eight miles from Weldon.

The North Carolina Firemens' Association will hold a convention and tournament at Asheville July 13th to 15th inclusive.

Mr. Joseph Armfield, an esteemed and the oldest citizen of Kernersville, died last Wednesday evening in his ninety-second year.

The corner stone of the Abbey Catholic church, at Belmont, Gaston county, was laid last Wednesday with great pomp and ceremony.

Miss Annie Knotts of Lilesville has brought suit for $5,000 against Mr. T. J. Ingram, of Lilesville township, for breach of promise.

James Bradshaw, a young white fireman on the Western road, committed suicide in Salisbury last Friday night by drinking laudanum.

The North Wilkesboro News reports that negotiations are nearly completed for the location of a $75,000 bark extract works at that place.

Governor Holt is to review the troops at Charlotte May 20th. There will be a sham battle in which ten companies are expected to participate.

The House public building committee has reported favorably upon the bill appropriating $40,000 for a public building for Elizabeth City, N. C.

The Newbern Journal states that the oyster canning season is over, and that the amount of work accomplished is small as compared with last season.

The Southern Red and Brownstone Company was organized at Sanford recently with a capital of $50,000. The officers and stockholders are Philadelphians.

Richard M. Shaw, aged sixteen, a student at Horner's School, Oxford, son of Dr. H. M. Shaw of Shawboro, was drowned in a fish pond at Oxford last Thursday.

Mr. T. J. Holt, a young man formerly of Pittsboro, N. C., was run over by a train near Richmond, Va., Tuesday of last week. One leg was cut off, and he died Tuesday night.

It is probable that the C. F. & Y. V. railway shops will be built at Fayetteville during the summer. The estimated cost is $110,000, and they will cover twenty acres of ground.—Ex.

Tymon Purdie, the negro who murdered Mr. Ed. Cain in W. G. Dunham's barn near Elizabethtown Thursday night, April 28th, was lynched at Elizabethtown on the night of the 1st inst. by about one hundred masked men.

A $5,000 stock company has been organized in Charlotte to start a creamery. The factory is to be completed in sixty days. The full capacity of the factory will be 700 pounds of cheese and 600 pounds of butter a day.

Mr. Sam Jordan, while crossing Dan river at Staton's ferry Monday morning coming to Milton, had the misfortune to drop $135 out of his pocket into the river where the water was about eight feet deep.—Milton Enterprise.

The Confederate monument erected in the court house square at Concord was unveiled by four little girls on the 6th inst. in the presence of a very large crowd. Maj. W. M. Robbins was the orator of the occasion, and delivered a patriotic address.

Mr. Z. W. Whitehead, editor of the Fayetteville Observer, has sold an interest in the Observer to Hon. E. J. Hale, the only surviving son of E. J. Hale Sr., the original founder of the paper in 1825. Maj. Hale is considered one of the strongest writers in the South.

Mr. W. B. Glenn of Winston, who has been an inmate in the State hospital at Morganton for some time, died at that institution last Wednesday. Before the cloud came over his intellect not quite two years ago, he was considered one of the ablest lawyers in the State.

A large whale was sighted off Morehead Tuesday morning of last week. About a dozen boats equipped with fifty-two men chased the monster until the evening. The whale escaped, but it is thought he will die as two bombs were fired into him and he was also repeatedly harpooned.

A disastrous fire occurred in Newbern last Thursday night. The city market and wharf was destroyed, together with the stores occupied by J. F. Taylor, Jas. Parsons, Mr. Weston and Mr. White, also smaller buildings occupied by fish dealers and shippers. Loss nearly $25,000.

The east end of the round-house of the Seaboard Air-Line at Weldon fell in last Wednesday night, badly damaging an engine. The loss on the building is $1,000, on the engine $200. The building is comparatively new and was considered a substantial structure.

Dr. J. Mack Hays, who recently removed from Oxford to the national capital, has been offered and has accepted a position as assistant surgeon to Dr. Wm. A. Hammond in the Hammond Sanitarium at Washington, D. C., to take the place of Dr. Fisher, who is in bad health and will pay an extended visit to the South.—Oxford Day.

Davidson county was for a time the home of Daniel Boone, the great Kentucky pioneer. Ten miles from Lexington may be seen the cave once occupied by Boone as a rendezvous. Near the cave is the spot where his primitive cabin stood. Only the hearthstone of his cabin remains, and an effort will be made to have it exhibited at the World's Fair.

The Charlotte News learns that about June 1st the first issue of a monthly publication to be known as the Charlotte Medical Journal will appear. Dr. E. C. Register is to be editor-in-chief, and he will have an able corps of assistants. There is big capital at the back of it, and from the start will take its place among the ablest medical journals of the South.

A Weldon correspondent to the Richmond Dispatch April 30th says: "The excavators at the Great Falls canal unearthed a large number of Indian curiosities yesterday, consisting of pottery, needles, arrows, bones, and numerous other evidences of a once Indian camp on the banks of the Roanoke river. A large skull with receding forehead, in a remarkable state of preservation, was taken out; also, leg and arm bones.

Robert Jowers, a young white man living near Wadesboro, was shot and instantly killed by Davis Talbot, his neighbor, Tuesday night of last week. Jowers was at Talbot's fowl house about 10 o'clock attempting to steal chickens. Talbot heard the noise and went out at once with his pistol. He saw what he supposed was a dog come out of the fowl house and go around it. He hailed the object, and receiving no response fired. After calling again he fired the second time. A light was procured and Jowers was found dead with a bullet through his head.

The thirty-ninth annual meeting of the Medical Society of North Carolina will be held in Wilmington from May 17th to 19th. For the occasion the Richmond & Danville Railroad will sell reduced rate round trip tickets to Wilmington and return at the following rates from points named below. Intermediate points in same proportion. Tickets on sale May 15th to 19th inclusive, limited May 23d, 1892: Durham, $7.55; Henderson, $9.50; Selma, $5.45; Greensboro, $7.55; Raleigh, $7.05; Winston-Salem, $9.20. The Board of Medical Examiners will meet in the same city on the 16th.

Rev. H. H. Rivers, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., says: "I was cured of neuralgia by Germetuer."

General News.

A $75,000 fire occurred in Norfolk, Va., on the night of May 2d.

Two murderers were executed at Little Rock, Ark., on the 6th inst.

The Maryland Democratic State Convention is to meet in Baltimore June 8th.

It is stated that Mrs. Frank Leslie Wilde will build a $250,000 hotel at Augusta, Ga.

Tonitoba, West Africa, was destroyed by the British on April 28th. A number of men were killed.

The President has signed the act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons to the United States.

The St. Louis (Mo.) Sash, Blind and Door Company's building was destroyed by fire on the morning of the 4th inst.

During the past year Chicago spent over $54,000,000 for 11,805 buildings, while New York expended over $56,000,000 for 2,837.

A fire which originated in a planing mill in Rushville, Ind., last Wednesday night, destroyed about $100,000 worth of property.

Charles Harris, journalist, who has written for many years under the nom de plume of "Carl Pretzel," died in Chicago on the 5th inst.

Charles Emory Smith, United States minister to Russia, returned to this country last Wednesday, and will tender to the President his resignation.

A cyclone passed through De Kalb county, Mo., one day last week, killing two persons and injuring others and doing considerable damage to property.

Halstead Watson, a Wall street broker, committed suicide at his residence in New York City, last Thursday night, by cutting his throat with a razor.

Heavy floods are doing great damage in Illinois. Never in the history of the State have the waters risen so high. The damage is estimated at $350,000.

A section of the cellar floor of a fourteen story building being erected in New York City, fell last Thursday, killing two men and injuring two others.

A Mr. Hunter of Nevada, Mo., has a collection of over 11,000 varieties of woods petrifications, &c., which he proposes to exhibit at the World's Fair.

Lawrence W. Scott, a keeper of several tigers belonging to a circus, was attacked by one of the animals in Reading, Pa., on Thursday and seriously injured.

Henry M. Miller, ex-treasurer of Crawford county, Pa., charged with the embezzlement of $50,000 of the county's funds, was arrested in Chicago last Thursday.

The Robinson Woollen Company of Kansas City, Mo., have made an assignment for the benefit of their creditors. Assets estimated at $1,000,000. Liabilities unknown.

A steamer loaded with 6,100,000 pounds of food sailed from Brooklyn, N. Y., Tuesday of last week, for the southeastern portion of Russia where the starving peasants live.

A train on the Santa Fe railroad went through a trestle bridge near Revere, Mo., on the 5th inst., causing the deaths of nine persons and the injury of more than twenty others.

On the 4th inst., in the town of Cleburn, Texas, while political speeches were in progress, a grand stand, on which were seated nearly a thousand people, fell, injuring thirty persons, some fatally.

A fire damaged St. Michael's church in West 32d street, New York, to the extent of $50,000 last Thursday. One thousand four hundred children in an adjoining school were marched out without panic.

In a little Catholic church in New York City last week was exhibited what was claimed to be a portion of the arm of Anne the mother of the Virgin Mary. Thousands of devout Catholics viewed the relic.

A cyclone, ten miles south of Topeka, Kansas, on the night of the 2d inst., did considerable damage. Several persons were killed and a large number injured. Hail fell in quantities, destroying trees, &c.

The government of Russia has offered 100,000 roubles reward for the detection of the publishers of anarchist pamphlets in which the Czar is blamed for the famine and misery now prevailing in parts of the empire.

Telegraphic reports say that the lame, the halt and the blind are again coming into Pittsburgh, Pa., in large numbers, to see Father Mollinger, the faith-cure priest. It is also stated that most of the new comers are from the South.

The rise of the Illinois river last week caused the breaking of a dyke near Pekin, Ill., fifteen miles long and protecting a strip of bottom land about two miles wide. The damage done is very great, and it is thought that several families were drowned.

Elijah Sherman, aged fifty years, who had been convicted in Bryan county Superior Court, Ga., of the murder of a young man named Butler, committed suicide in his cell last Wednesday night by butting his head against the wall and taking poison. He broke his skull.

The whole block bounded by First Avenue and the East river between 75th and 76th streets, New York, was almost totally destroyed by fire last Friday morning. The buildings were occupied by Schwarzchild & Sulzberg, wholesale butchers. Loss, estimated at $250,000.

The Light House Board at Washington gives notice that on or about June 15, 1892, in order to make it more readily distinguishable by day, the tower at Cape Charles light station, north side of entrance to Chesapeake Bay, sea-coast to Virginia, will be painted to show a red horizontal band twenty-five feet wide at a height of about sixty feet above the beach. The other parts of the tower will remain white, the lantern black.

For Malaria, Liver Trouble, or Indigestion, use BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

MARRIED.

THOMPSON—HONEYCUTT—On April 21, at Manly Honeycutt's, the bride's father, by Rev. J. H. Hutchinson, Mr. H. P. Thompson and Miss Minnie Honeycutt.

DIED.

HOCUTT—Bro. H. M. Hocutt, a deacon of Burgaw Baptist church was called to his reward April 3d, 1892, at the early age of thirty-two. His sun went down ere it had reached its meridian, but it rank amid the prophetic splendors of an eternal dawn. If we are to know a tree by its fruits, he was truly a devoted christian. He was anxious to live that he might do more for his Master who had done so much for him, but the Lord of the vineyard said, "It is enough, come up higher." He leaves behind a sorely bereaved wife and two sweet little girls. He was laid to rest in the family graveyard beside several loved ones who had preceded him, where he sleeps till the dawning of that eternal morn.

PASTOR.

WILLIAMS—Sister Martha J. Williams, wife of A. H. Williams, departed this life March 13th, 1892. She was sixty-five years of age. Fifty years of this time she devoted to the service of her Master. In her death Burgaw Baptist church has lost one of its most faithful members. She always had a cheerful smile and a word of encouragement for her pastor. All who knew her loved her. She has left behind to mourn her loss a faithful husband and four affectionate children. May their last days be like hers.

PASTOR.

STEPHENS—On April 26th, 1892, after years of ill health, Bro. R. H. Stephens died at his residence in Wake county, N. C., in his fifty-third year. He leaves four children to mourn his loss. Bro. Stephens has been a member of Pleasant Grove Baptist church but a short while, but has lived a true christian life. He was a good father, a kind and true friend to all. We return our deepest sympathy to the bereaved boys. He expressed his willingness to go before he died, and we believe he is enjoying a better world than this. God bless, comfort, guide and gather home at last the dear fatherless and motherless children, is the prayer of the writer.

"Judge not the Lord by feeble sense,
But trust him for his grace;
Behind a frowning providence
He hides a smiling face."

J. H. AUSTIN.

CONSUMPTION in its early stages can be cured by the prompt use of
Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
It soothes
the inflamed tissues,
aids expectoration,
and hastens
recovery.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.
Lowell, Mass.

W. H. & R. S.
TUCKER & CO.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season,
'92.
DRY GOODS
AND
Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out of town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE
Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.
[Excepts Freight and Carriage.]
On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or Railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.
RALEIGH, N. C.

The Home Circle.

Trusting Jesus

If I could feel my hand, dear Lord, in thine,
And surely know
That I was walking in the light divine
Through weal or woe;

If I could hear thy voice in accents sweet
But plainly say,
To guide my groping, wandering feet,
"This is the way,"

I would so gladly walk therein; but now
I cannot see.
O, give me, Lord, the faith to humbly bow
And trust in thee!

There is no faith in seeing. Were we led Like children here,
And lifted over rock and river-bed,
No care, no fear,

We should be useless in the busy throng,
Life's work undone;
Lord, make us brave and earnest, in faith strong,
Till heaven is won!

—Selected.

Little Mercedes.

It was evening in the old Spanish city of Cadiz. The hot sun had ceased to shine upon the white buildings, and the waters of the bay were tinged with the rose and violet reflections of the sunset. Little Mercedes, a girl of eleven years, was seated upon the low steps of their humble dwelling watching her mother, who was preparing the simple evening meal. "Oh, mia madre," she exclaimed, "how I wish I could have a new dress! My old one is so shabby—not really fit to wear to the cathedral service—and I am ashamed to be seen in it any more."

"My child," replied the mother, "I would gladly give you one if I could afford it, but you know we are poor, and it is with difficulty I can earn enough to procure food for us from day to day. I see no way for you to purchase the material for a dress unless you can earn it for yourself."

"That I will gladly do, my mother, if you will tell me how."

"Perhaps you might gather chestnuts for old Silvio to roast for his stall in the market," replied the mother.

"How much would a dress cost?" asked Mercedes.

"I think you would need five reals to buy the simplest material."

"'Five reals!'" exclaimed the girl. "It would take a long while to earn that amount, for old Silvio could not pay much for the nuts, I know; he is so poor himself."

However, Mercedes was determined to make the attempt, for Spanish girls, like our own, are very fond of dress and finery, and like to look well on saint's days and similar occasions. The next morning bright and early little Mercedes was up and on her way to the market, where she speedily found old Silvio lighting his fire and getting ready for his day's sales. The old man readily agreed to her eager proposal; but, as she had feared, he could pay but a small sum for the chestnuts, as his profits were very meagre and he had a hard struggle to make a livelihood. However, nothing daunted, the little girl went off to gather the chestnuts, and day after day found her at this employment.

One Saturday her little friend Carita joined her, and while she helped her in her work she told her of the new school recently opened by some good people, and to which she went every Sunday, ending by inviting Mercedes to accompany her the next day.

"What do you do there?" inquired Mercedes.

"We sing the most beautiful hymns," replied Carita, "and learn words from a book they call the Bible. It is nice," the girl added, "for they explain everything, and make it much more interesting than the dull catechism we say to Father Pedro."

Mercedes was anxious to go to this wonderful school, and, as her mother consented, Carita called for her the following day. She found a pleasant room in which some thirty or forty children were gathered, with several ladies and gentlemen for teachers. She was greatly delighted with the hymns in her own musical language, and listened attentively to the Scripture lesson. From that day Mercedes was in her place each Sabbath, and soon learned to join in the hymns with the others. Some of the children had Testaments of their own, and she longed to possess one, that she might read its precious words herself. Upon inquiring the price of a Testament, she was told it was five reals—just the sum she had almost earned for her dress.

She went home very sober that day, for she had much to think of. Could she give up the dress for which she had worked and waited so long? For a time she felt as if she could not, but then she thought of the beautiful words she heard in Sunday-school, and how good it would be to read them for herself. She asked her mother, who told her to do as she chose, as the money was her own. After a while she decided in favor of the Testament, and as soon as she had earned the last real she carried them to her teacher, and received a neat little copy of the New Testament in Spanish. Her joy was great, and she forgot all about her shabby dress as she hugged her treasure to her heart.

This is a true story. Mercedes is a real little girl in that Spanish city, and the facts are all as related. I wonder how many of our readers would prefer buying a Testament with their earnings to having a new dress, especially if they were as poor as Mercedes and had no other means of getting the former.—Well-Spring.

I Use it Myself.

[illegible], Fort Valley, Ga., one of [illegible] druggists there, states that he [illegible] Rogers' Huckleberry Cordial [illegible] in himself, and knows [illegible] for bowel troubles.

Profane Swearing.

Of all habits it would be difficult to name one that has less reason by provocation in it than that of using profane or vulgar language. When coolly viewed, the act of one human being calling violently on his Maker to deliver over his fellow man to condemnation is wicked in the extreme; it is a vain and irreverent use of his Maker's name, and it is the expression of a harsh and infernal wish. But leaving the wickedness out of the question, it is useless and irrational; it brings no pleasure, nor comfort, nor release. No profane swearer is ever the wiser, richer or happier for his curses. He may curse his enemies for a lifetime, without turning one hair of his head white or black by the process.

Our language furnishes all the words and terms needed to give strength and vigor to expression without resorting to oaths and curses. All the words needed to express indignation and wrath even are found in it. An oath does not give strength and emphasis to the troubled man's yea; and all the oaths and maledictions that can be imagined cannot give an atom of strength to the liar's nay. Swearing is chiefly a habit; the oath which the well-bred man utters in a moment of passion of vexation may be palliated, for it is perhaps like an accident, but for the foul body of oaths and curses that the habitual swearer pours out in ordinary conversation or on slight provocation, there is no shadow of excuse, but a shame to himself and a disgust to his acquaintances. Some men are such slaves to this vicious habit that they swear without knowing it; they converse in a dialect of oaths. They would be disgusted themselves if they could see one of their conversations taken in short-hand and put in print with coarse oaths bristling all along the line of their remarks. Profanity and vulgarity do not always go together but they are apt to. The swearer is in danger of becoming vulgar, and the vulgar man is invariably a swearer. When both habits meet in the same individual they make him intensely offensive to the pure-minded people. It is imagined by some that an occasional oath or a little vulgarity gives spice or flavor to conversation but if it does, it is a very offensive flavor. There is nothing more charming than chaste and simple language, and it is worth any man's while to cultivate the habit of testing it. An oath would not be considered a flavor to the conversation of a modest and beautiful maiden, neither can it justly hold to add to the piquancy of female conversation.—Selected.

Ayer's Hair Vigor restores natural color to the hair, by stimulating a healthy action of the scalp. This preparation also produces a vigorous growth of the hair, and gives it a beautiful lustre and youthful appearance. Recommended by physicians, clergymen, and scientists.

American Women and English Titles.

If the effect of English popular literature upon the young men of America is injurious, rendering them unpatriotic and contemptible, its effect upon the young woman is even more so. The extent of this injury it would be almost impossible to overestimate. For many of them the novel drawn pictures of English social life, wherein every one bows down to birth and title, and lords and high-born ladies are spoken of as if they were divinities whose recognition and favor were the chief prize of life, are utterly demoralizing, inspiring them with an impatient contempt for the simplicity of American society, in which personal worth and charm can make them queens, and with a longing to enter, even as humble suppliants, the enchanted circle where birth and title rule, and where personal worth hides behind a mask. Women thus demoralized become utterly unfit to be American wives and mothers. Their chief effort is to shape their lives on the English model; if they are poor, toadying to the rich, would be aristocratic; if they are rich, playing the arrogant English duchess to the best of their ability. Not a few of them even render themselves contemptible to men and gods, by toadying or buying (at what a price sometimes!) their way into English aristocratic circles, by shivering attendance for hours at royal receptions, in order to do obeisance to what their country has nobly repudiated; or, worse than all, by buying husbands, renouncing their birthright of freedom and equality with the best, and sinking down into subjects, liable to be called on to act as "ladies in waiting," that is, as chamber-maids. If all the sacrifices which degenerate American fathers and mothers have made to buy titled husbands for their daughters were recorded, they would form a revelation so ignominious that it would not be believed; and, after such a revelation, patriotic Americans would hardly dare to look foreigners in the face. But even without such a revelation the conduct of many of our countrywomen abroad, and especially in England, is enough to make every self-respecting American hide his head for shame. —Prof. Thos. Davidson, in the Forum.

Rev. Dr. Hawthorne says that he was cured of catarrh and his wife of neuralgia and rheumatism by Germetuer.

Temper.

Ruskin in a letter to young girls, says: Keep absolute calm of temper under all circumstances, receiving the thing that is provoking or disagreeable to you as coming directly from Christ's hand; and the more it is like to provoke you, thank him for it the more, as a young soldier would his general for trusting him with a hard place to hold on the rampart. And remember it does not the least matter what happens to you—whether a clumsy school-fellow tears your dress or a shrewd one laughs at you or the governess doesn't understand you. The one thing needful is that none of these things should vex you. . . . Say to yourself each morning, just after your prayers, "Whoso forsaketh not all that he hath cannot be my disciple." This is exactly and completely true, meaning that you are to give all you have to Christ to take care of for you. Then if he doesn't take care of it, of course you know it wasn't worth anything. And if he takes anything from you, you know you are better without it. You will not, indeed, at your age have to give up houses or lands or boats or nets, but you may perhaps, break your favorite teacup or lose your favorite thimble, and might be vexed about it but for this second St. George's precept.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., says: "Germetuer cured me of la grippe."

Woman's Rudeness to Woman.

This is written from one of the rear seats of a railroad car. The seats of the car are all occupied, but in most of the seats there is only one person, man or woman. A lady enters at the station. She does not want to sit down by some strange man. She walks down the aisle, looks inquiringly into the faces of five ladies successively, who have each monopolized an entire seat. Not one of them relaxes a muscle or makes any effort to accommodate her. Down the aisle she comes to the sixth—the last lady who is thus occupying an entire seat. At last she finds a place to sit

At the next station the car door opens again. Another lady enters and the same is repeated.

Why should women hesitate to protect and assist their own sex? Why should they so act as to drive a sister into the awkwardness of taking a seat beside some strange man, or into some other unpleasant position? [While we are penning these lines two other ladies have been forced into just such an unpleasant attitude.] Ladies want attention and courtesies—it is pleasant to receive them. Why then do they not more generally extend these courtesies one to another.—Louisville Christian Observer.

The Training of Boys.

The great want to-day is not opportunities, but the power to grapple with hindrances to obtain the desired objects. The men who are filling leading places in the various callings and pursuits of life are usually those who in their youth had to battle with adversity and meager opportunities, and who, by the force thus developed, have risen to their present high stations.

It is interesting to note that on this principle the sons of the royal family of Germany are required to learn a trade, some manual industry, that they may learn self mastery and be able to endure hardship. A self-indulged, easy going boy, who never knew one act of self-denial, promises little in the years of mature manhood. The boy is father to the man in that sense—Presbyterian.

TUTT'S
Tiny Liver Pills
as an anti-bilious and anti-malarial remedy are wonderful in their effects in freeing the system of biliousness and malaria. No one living in Malarial Regions should be without them. Their use prevents attacks of chills and fever, dumb ague, bilious colic, and gives the system strength to resist all the evils of an unhealthy and impure atmosphere. Elegantly sugar-coated. Price, 25c. Office, 39 Park Place, N. Y.

BAILEY'S
Compound light-spreading Silvered Corrugated Glass
REFLECTORS
a wonderful invention for Lighting Halls, Churches, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free.
BAILEY REFLECTOR CO.
[illegible] Penn Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.

CONSUMPTION.
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.
T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR A POLICY
—IN THE—
N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out $600,000
to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster

HOME OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL
WILL NEED
NEW BOOKS THIS SEASON.

We can Supply all Your Wants in this Line Promptly and at Publishers Lowest Prices.

OUR NEW SPECIALTIES:
Class Book and Report (five years), . . . 25c. Teachers' Bibles (Oxford or Bagster), $2 to $10.

NEW SINGING BOOKS:
Master's Praise, cloth bound, by mail, 35c.
Manly's Choice, music edition, by mail, 40c.
Manly's Choice, word edition, by mail, 12c.
Notes of Triumph, round or shape notes, by mail, 35c.
Work and Worship, round or shape notes, by mail, 35c.

ANY SINGING BOOKS, PER DOZEN, BY EXPRESS, $3.60.

SEND YOUR ORDERS TO
ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO., Raleigh, N. C.
Complete Catalogue of Sunday-school Supplies free.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.

All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.

MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.

Biblical Museum, 8 Vols., cloth, $8 per set. Song book—"The Choice."—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch, —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts; paper, 15 cts.
Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.
THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.
Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.
Raleigh. N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.
"All Right," "Cotton King,"
AND OTHER
Cook Stoves and Ranges.
Farming Implements,
SHOVELS, SPADES,
RAKES AND POTATO DIGS.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

VOSE & SONS
PIANOS.
ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Designs, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information.
170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Copper and Tin School and Church
BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.
Prices and Terms Free. Name this paper.

NOTICE.

Having qualified as Administrator, with the will annexed, of the estate of Bryant Stallings, deceased, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present the same to the undersigned at Roxboro, N. C., on or before April 8th, 1893, and persons owing said estate will please make immediate payment.
A. J. STALLINGS, Adm.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1892. Number 46.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

115 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months.....1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender).....20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

Mysteries, Real and Imaginary—No. 2.

DEATH.

God has seen fit not to tell us much on this subject that we should like to know. He has made it clear, however, that death does not mean extinction. "It is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment," means that there is something in man that survives physical dissolution. Then we are told that the spirit returns to God who gave it; Christ committed his spirit to the Father and assured the thief that he should be with him that day in Paradise. Stephen called upon the Lord to receive his spirit, and Paul declared, just before his death, that it was far better to depart and be with Christ, and said, moreover, that for him to be absent from the body was to be present with the Lord. I know some try to explain away Christ's assurance to the thief by what he said to Mary on the morning of the resurrection; but it is evident he meant by this, that he had not ascended since his resurrection. That man is a spirit is involved in the fact that he was made in the image and likeness of God. The body, all through the Scripture, is recognized as only the temple in which the man dwells. Then God declares that he is the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob, and that he is not the God of dead men but of the living, and Jesus said of little children that their angels do always worship before the face of my Father in heaven. Add to this these facts: the friends and brethren of Peter thought Rhoda had seen his spirit; the experience of millions of believers who have seen their loved ones on the other shores as their souls were leaving their bodies; the parabolical teachings of our Lord, and the evidence is overwhelming. It is, therefore, apparent that all Scripture which refers to dead men as silent and ignorant, speaks of their bodies. Take, for example, "For there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave whither thou goest." It may throw some light on this subject to look at man from a Scripture standpoint. He is a dual being, namely, body and spirit. The soul is simply the life of this dual being and refers to his animal or spiritual life, and sometimes to both.

This leads us to the discussion of the next subject:

HELL.

There is a disposition, just now, to blot this place out of God's universe, but the tendency proves its existence. We not only find it in revelation and in nature, but in every human breast. There is something deep down in each of our hearts that says, if there is not a hell there ought to be. If sin is a fact, then hell is a reality, for hell is only sin run to seed. Our translators have greatly mystified this subject. There are two words in the original, one referring primarily to the grave and secondarily to the place of the departed, whether heaven or hell, the other referring primarily to a place outside of Jerusalem where the filth and waste of the city was burned, and secondarily to the unquenchable fire prepared for the devil and his angels. Some theologians have made much of the literal meanings of these words, but to handle the word of God in this way is to destroy it, and, indeed, to render all language meaningless. It is like taking an instrument to pieces to find the music, and then swearing there is no music, because this process does not reveal it. Some have asked, "Do you believe in a literal fire?" Yes, or something worse, for if fire is only a figure, God deliver us from the reality! Others ask, "Do we go to our final place of abode immediately after death?" Yes, so Jesus taught in the parable of Dives and Lazarus, and in his assurance to the thief on the cross. Objectors ask, "Why, then, the general judgment?" Because God wishes the assembled universe to see that he has been just in the condemnation of the wicked and the justification of the righteous; and standing there in our resurrected bodies, we shall be witnesses for or against ourselves according to the character we carry out of this world. And it seems to me the most awful hell that can ever horrify any soul is to stand there unwashed by the blood of Jesus. Once more, we are asked, "Is the punishment everlasting?" Yes, because sin is continuous, and evil men and seducers wax worse and worse. Dives neither desired nor promised to do any better, only prayed for a little relief and did not go to God for this. He plead that Lazarus might be permitted to do as much for him there as he had done for Lazarus here. Abraham reminded him that he was abiding by his own choice, and that the fixedness of that choice was the hopelessness of his condition.

HEAVEN.

We know as little here as other-where, but what little we do know is exceedingly precious, aye, a very heaven on earth; as little as it is, we cannot tell it. Words tremble and break down under the far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory that overwhelms us as we view from afar the third heaven where God resides—that holy, happy place, that glorious city whose builder and maker is himself. But it is not so much the place as the condition of its inhabitants. "Now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be, but when we shall see him we shall be like him." Then I have thought, or have tried to think, of the ecstacy that will fill our souls when we see Jesus. Words fail me here, for to utter my soul would lift me into glory. Some have never felt the joy of which we speak, they neither hope to know the Saviour, nor themselves, nor their loved ones and friends in that world of bliss, for not to know each other is not to know one's self or the Saviour. The long list of names in Scripture, and the register in heaven, are meaningless unless we retain our identity. What is the use of my going to heaven if I am going to be something other than myself, knowing nobody and nobody knowing me? "But," the objector says, "how could I be happy to know that my loved ones are damned, or to know those I had wronged?" You do greatly err, my friend, not knowing the Scriptures Our sins are blotted out, and as to our loved ones who are lost, we see them as God sees them. They have lost all that we loved in them, are spiritual corpses that are at once repulsive to themselves and to us. This is why they call upon the rocks and hills to fall upon them and hide them from the presence of him who sitteth upon his throne, and to whom all hearts are revealed. If Christ can be happy who died for them, you need not be uneasy about yourself. If his compassionate heart is not troubled, you can rest assured about yours. Bear in mind that a soul can never be damned till it has rotted, till it has lost all of the image and likeness of God, and is of its father the devil—in his image and likeness. To go to heaven means to be like God, to go to hell means to be like the devil. To go to heaven you have to crucify the body, to go to hell you have to crucify the soul which means the loss of both body and soul in unending agony.

R. E. PEELE.

Feeling in Religion.

Feeling is of just as much use in religion as steam is in an engine—if it drives the engine, it is good; but if it does not, it is not good for anything but to fizz and hiss and buzz. There are some people that seem to be like yard engines, that never go anywhere, but keep puffing and blowing and hissing, and running up and down side-tracks, doing nothing, going nowhere. Feeling in religion is of no value at all if it does not propel us along the track of duty toward our final destination—God. Fine feelings, glorious feelings—we all have them after our measure: but fine feelings, quick responsive sensibilities—do you not know that they have been the occasion of the ruin of some of the greatest geniuses that God ever gave to the human race? Feeling is a miserably cheap substitute for duty. It takes more than being happy on Sunday in church to be religious.

My friends, religion never stops short of holiness. It means that, first and last. Religion does not stop at feeling: religion does not stop at tradition, or at respectability, or at ecclesiasticism, or at painted windows, or at spacious cathedral aisles, or eloquent preaching, or delicious music; religion means, always has meant, always must mean, the actual communion of the human soul with God in righteousness and holiness. And that kind of religion costs; it takes the best there is in a man to be religious that way.—Joseph Parker, D. D.

What is the Bible to You?

Tell me what the Bible is to a young christian, and I will generally tell what he is. This is the pulse to try—this is the barometer to look at if we would know the state of the heart. I have no notion of the Spirit dwelling in a man, and not giving clear evidence of his presence. And I believe it to be a signal evidence of the Spirit's presence when the word is really precious to a man's soul. When there is no appetite for the truths of Scripture, the soul cannot be in a state of health. There is some serious disease. Reader, what is the Bible to you? Is it your guide, your counsellor, your friend? Is it your rule of faith and practice? Is it your measure of truth and error, of right and wrong? It ought to be so. It was given for this purpose. If it is not, do you really love your Bible?—The Sunlight.

Govern your thoughts when alone and your tongue when in company.—Kempis.

Consecration.

"Consecrate yourselves to-day to the Lord." Ex. 32: 29.

Fill your hands to the Lord. According to the Jewish ritual when a person was dedicated or consecrated to the Lord, his hands were filled with some present suitable to offer unto God. Hence the term consecration signified "filling up." It was an orientalism also, for every inferior when he appeared in the presence of his ruler, to bring a present in his hand.

The doctrine of consecration, as it progresses in Scripture, takes on a complex aspect. In the New Testament it reveals several distinct phases. Not apprehending this great truth in its full symmetry has led to many extravagances in christian experience.

Desire to be free from the dominion of sin is surely to be coveted more than the love of sin; and striving after holiness more to be desired than indifference towards it. Nevertheless, the soul seeking an experience of decided consecration is exposed to many serious dangers. The subtle foe is ever on the alert, ready to supply base imitations for genuine experiences. Therefore we should try every spirit, and test every confession of a professedly surrendered soul with the unerring word of God. Nor need we hesitate to condemn as false any theory or experience which makes self the prominent factor in consecration. Thinking about self, speaking of self, and glorying in self, are fruit which grow on other trees than those of the divine Husbandman's planting. Nor are we far from dangerous ground when emotions or ecstacy, produced by whatever cause, become the soul's pursuit. When such is the case, we probably shall soon drift into the spirit of comparing ourselves with ourselves, and of secretly rejoicing in our supposed attainments. Nay, more, we shall be apt to compare ourselves with others, and esteem ourselves better than they. Pride thrives on our seeming superior holiness. The truly holy man is one who is ever ashamed of himself, and would fain dismiss every thought and calculation about self from the heart: because as a real disciple he is exercised in heart and thought with Christ, his Lord and Master. His soul hungers to know more of him, to be engrossed with his varied perfections, to realize his wonderful adaptation to every need of our whole being, to lose himself in the ocean of his love, and realize the sovereign free grace of God in his exceeding kindness to us through Jesus Christ our Lord. The seraphic Rutherford, the holy Bengel, the devoted M'Cheyne, the earnest Brainerd, were truly consecrated men: peculiar in denying and not extolling self, they exulted in Christ.

There are many things which scriptural consecration include, amongst which we may mention:

I. SUBMISSION TO THE DIVINE WILL.

The seeking and doing of one's own will is a hereditary evil in the rebellious flesh of man. It is, therefore, contrary to nature to submit to God's will, the carnal mind being enmity against God. So it is entirely of grace when one is brought not only into acquiescence, but into joyful submission to God's will. For it is possible to submit with resignation and exclaim, "Thy will be done," without rising into the higher experience of delight in the will of God. There may be a joyless philosophy in acquiescence, and a sorrowing faith even in submission, but these lie below the plane of full consecration. Nor does the sentimental spirituality of Faber, expressed in the line, "I worship thee, sweet will of God," of necessity attain to the height of actual consecration. An enlightened understanding will be occupied with God himself as the object of worship, and not with any impersonal attribute or perfection of the Godhead. And the intelligent believer will seek to know the will of the Lord through his word, not to worship it, but to obey it. "I delight to do thy will, O my God," (Ps 41: 8), was the glad confession of the truly consecrated man: and no more sobering experience is there than this, correcting our flippant boasting of things beyond our measure. The soul that cannot truly say, "My delight is to do my Lord's will," knows as yet, experimentally, but a partial consecration.

II. THE YIELDING UP OF SELF.

Full consecration includes whole-hearted yielding up of life to its rightful owner. We do not like the word "surrender." It is too rough, and savors of the highwayman exacting, or the enemy demanding. It places God as in a threatening attitude with his exactions and penalties. Nor is it happily expressive of the believer's own action in the matter of consecration. The word is "yield;" a word frequently employed of trees bearing fruit, yielding all that is in them to the husbandman. In Hezekiah's letter to Israel and Judah, calling on them to observe the Passover, he exhorted them to yield themselves unto the Lord: and in Paul's letter to the Romans he urges the same duty. 2 Chron. 30: 8; Rom. 6: 13, 16, 19. Not indeed to an enemy, but to a friend do we yield, in joyful recognition that we are not our own, having been bought with a price, and are thereby called to glorify God in our body and in our spirit, which are his. 1 Cor. 6: 19, 20.

III. HUMILITY.

Full consecration begets humility. In fact the soul is thoroughly humbled in reaching thereunto. Brusqueness of manner, haughtiness of bearing, inconsideration of others' feelings, and expectation of honor above our fellows, are forms of pride endangering a close walk with God. Our God is a consuming fire, and the nearness of his presence would utterly destroy these evil things. Who would not exchange these and every rag of the far country for the sweet pure garment of humility! This is a robe which imparts to the wearer a true sense of personal unworthiness, leading such to esteem others better than themselves, and forever destroys all highmindedness. Courtesy, gentleness, patience, contentment with mean things, and willingness to be accounted unworthy, are characteristics of humility, and therefore of consecration. The spikenard will shed abroad its fragrance, and the devoted disciple, like his master, cannot be hid. He need not therefore proclaim himself.

IV. SERVICE.

Consecration is a condition of service. Indolence, as one hath expressed it, "is the rust of the soul." There may be the service of waiting, but there will be no sluggishness, nor inertness in the life of a believer whose eye is ever on the Lord. Intellect, emotion, love, conscience, will all operate in their own departments, and co-operate under the guidance of the Spirit to serve our Lord Jesus Christ. The inquiry, "Lord, what wilt thou have me to do?" will be as appropriate on our lips as the acknowledgement of our submission in confessing "Thy will be done." Ever remembering whose we are, and by whose grace we live, may it be ours to respond to the inquiry, "Who will go for us?" "Here am I, send me." Isa. 6: 8. But, in order to enter upon this experience, we must first recognize the fact that all believers are already consecrated by the purpose of the Father, by the blood of the Son, and by the sealing of the Spirit. For consecration is separation or devotement. And as we have been already separated by the sovereign, distinct, and written action of the Father, Son and Spirit, we should ever aim at the purpose for which we are thus set apart, in cleansing ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh; in putting off the old man with his deeds; in avoiding every evil way; and in walking worthy of the vocation wherewith we are called.

Thus consecration becomes reduced to a few simple practical propositions. I cannot consecrate my old nature, for that is a dead corrupt thing, which God in receiving me, on the ground of Christ's merit, has judiciously set aside. I cannot consecrate my new nature, possessed by virtue of my union with Christ, for that from the beginning was and ever will be perfectly holy unto God. But this I can and must realize: that I have been called out from the world, and all its sin and death, to be wholly set apart and devoted for the Lord's special ownership. Thus the measure of my practical, manifest consecration will be exactly in proportion to the measure with which I apprehend God's sovereign act of consecration already accomplished upon me.—Rev. Geo. C. Needham's "Bible Briefs."

This and That.

This has reference to the State Sunday-school Convention held at Marion, S. C. Request was repeatedly made that some one write a brief account of the meeting to various newspapers. The Convention was called inter-denominational, but the name seemed inappropriate, if not a misnomen, as there were so few denominations inter (into) the thing. So few, in fact, that it strains the truth to speak of it in the plural number. In the closing exercises when requests were made to write an account of the meeting to denominational papers—rather paper—the singular number was used, as if there were only one such paper in the State, and the one mentioned is the one that so caustically scathed another denomination about a year ago. But that was not so mortifying an omission as was made during the meeting by one of the best speakers, who said "we have one Lord and one faith," but omitted to use that important word without which we cannot be loyal or faithful to the one Lord. But as there was emphasis placed upon the terms essential and non essential, possibly that other word is what they term a non-essential—to obedience. To be sure they did not suppose that anyone thought it essential to salvation. But then, people don't usually tell of their own wrong, and as some christians do not comply with that condition of obedience—not salvation—it was necessary for the sake consistency (?) to omit the omission.

But worse than that! They not only omitted some things, they committed the egregious—shall I say mistake!—of saying that the inter-denominational convention had stimulated and originated the denominational conventions that are being held in different places! It was stated by one of the imported speakers that four years ago there was not a denominational Sunday-school convention in North Carolina, and that now the Baptists of the State have a convention, stimulated thereto by the inter-denominational convention.

Now the writer knows from personal knowledge—for he was a delegate—that the North Carolina Baptists had a Sunday-school convention ten years ago, and has now in his possession a copy of the minutes of 1882. Why will men commit such blunders by omitting to give honor to whom due?

It is on record, too, that there was a Sunday-school convention of Baptists held in South Carolina in 1861. The idea was conceived by Col. W. H. Duncan of Barnwell, S. C. The convention was held at Barnwell C. H. the second Sunday in May, 1861, with J. L. Shuck president, and W. H. Duncan secretary. Three of the original members of that convention still survive. The president was the Dr. Shuck of African missionary fame.

But notwithstanding this adverse criticism, good was done. Prof. Hamill of Illinois fully demonstrated that the normal method of teaching is superior to many of the old stilted styles of teaching.

The writer was surprised to hear many of the preachers say they never saw that style of teaching before, and earnestly and sincerely hopes that they and the superintendents and teachers will adopt the method as far as possible and practicable. Bro. J. M. Johnson of the Marion Baptist Sunday-school has long used the normal method efficiently, and if he could devote more of his time to the work, could greatly improve his method.

Prof. Hamill is a very efficient and magnetic teacher, a pleasant and forcible speaker. Though now of Illinois, he is a native of Alabama. He wore the gray in the late war, and bears the marks of warfare upon his person.

That refers to the "erratic" foreign missionary and his colleagues. About a month ago the writer received a tract from China written by T. P. C. He thought it a little strange that a tract should be mailed direct to him from China. Now it turns out that his personal friend and school-mate is a colleague of the "erratic" brother. T. P. C. visited this place a few years ago sowing his seeds of error. But I am glad the seeds were not fertile. It seems strange that such sensible men should do such strange and "erratic" things. But then I take it that most of the other brethren, at home and abroad, have more sense than to be fooled and led astray. The Kings Mountain Association and the Foreign Mission Board have acted wisely. Most of the brethren will do to depend upon. Suppose the erratics are not returned to the foreign field, will they do for home work? Would they not cripple missions if they were home pastors? Is it not evident to these brethren that no church nor Association can possibly build up the credit or claim the confidence, financially, which our Foreign Mission Board has at home and abroad? It has this credit because the great Baptist brotherhood is back of it. Certainly we all believe in the independence of our churches, but these individual and independent churches must organize, as any other army, if we would accomplish anything worth the time or worthy of the cause. These "erratic" brethren have extreme views of what they call independence. But brethren, is it not insubordination instead of independence? It is the same kind of trouble Washington had with the colonial soldiers at the beginning of the Revolutionary war. Are we not brethren, and can we not work together?

M. J. W.

The Devil's Call.

Is it not true that sometimes the devil calls a man to preach? And when he does, he calls a man whom God would never call. And for this reason he calls him—because God does not need him as a preacher. God knows he is not adapted to the work for various reasons. He will make a much better farmer, mechanic or merchant, and in these spheres he may be pious, useful and modest; but as a preacher he will be a failure, or tame, indiscreet, or full of self, seeking reputation or personal aggrandizement to the detriment of the church and loss of souls. In order to establish a reputation for success he may fill the church with easy-made converts with a ruinously superficial experience. With this the devil is well pleased, for the man is fulfilling his calling. Besides, the devil may persuade a good, godly, useful class-leader to become a preacher; for if he cannot induce him to sin flagrantly, he will seek to curtail his usefulness by getting him out of the proper sphere.—N. C. in Richmond Advocate.

The Power of Example.

If you live in the full sunshine of Christ and have him not merely playing upon the surface of your mind, but sunk deep down in it, transforming your whole being, then some men will, as they look at you, be filled with strange longings and say, "Come, let us walk in the light of the Lord."—A. Maclaren.

I am told by men who have been in the Indian country that very often you will find a trail over a mountain, and you will find only one footprint, as if but one man had trod the path; and I am told that the Chief goes on and the tribe follows, and they put their feet into his footprints. Our Chief has gone on before us and left us an example. We are to follow in his footsteps; and we would have continual blessing if we did not go out of the path: the trouble with most of us is that we think our way is better than his, and we are not willing to follow in his footsteps.—D. L. Moody.

We are never without help. We have a right to any of any good work, it is too hard for me to do; or of any sorrow, it is too hard for me to bear; or of any [illegible] It is too hard for me to [illegible]—Beth Charles.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 18, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

PREMIUMS.

We offer to all new subscribers to the BIBLICAL RECORDER who pay two dollars in advance Russell H. Conwell's Life of Spurgeon. The book is handsomely bound and beautifully illustrated, and sells for $1.50.

We also offer it to all old subscribers who have paid up arrearages, and will pay for the RECORDER one year in advance and fifty cents additional, thus furnishing an opportunity to all of our subscribers to supply themselves with this fresh and interesting book—worth $1.50—for the small sum of fifty cents. If any may wish to avail themselves of this opportunity who have paid up their subscriptions, they can have it by paying $2.50, and their time for the RECORDER will be moved up a year.

We are very anxious to increase our circulation, and we make this generous offer, hoping that many of our subscribers who are in arrears will avail themselves of this offer, and that very many new subscribers will supply themselves with this excellent work.

WHAT IS A CALL TO THE MINISTRY?

We are verily persuaded that there is a good deal of confusion abroad in the world on the above subject. This confusion has arisen partly from the fact that there are those who are encouraged to enter the ministry as a mere matter of choice, just as they would law or medicine. They look upon the ministry as a mere profession, and hence any one who shows a gift for public speaking, or as an exhorter in his prayer meeting, is at times commended as qualified for the work of the ministry, and, with no other prominent gift except that of public speech, young men often enter the work of the ministry. Facility and readiness in public speaking, whilst very desirable, constitute no proof that a young or old man is called to preach God's word.

Again, it is sometimes the case that a young man is weak physically, and has with his weakness a good deal of personal piety. In this case, as he is too weak to farm, or follow any secular avocation that requires long and arduous application in order to meet with success, he and his friends are apt to conclude that the ministry affords him the best field of usefulness, and hence, after a time, he is inducted into the ministerial office. Now, we read that the Lord of old demanded sacrifices or offerings without spot or blemish, and the Lord needs strong, active men to do his work now. Delicate men may be called to preach the gospel; but let us never forget that because a man is delicate and pious it does not follow that he ought to attempt the regular work of the ministry.

Again, the zeal of the new convert will at times account for the desire to enter the ministry. A great many new converts by some means imbibe the opinion that if they would do much good in the world they must devote themselves to preaching. They forget that a man may preach privately and be a good laborer in the Lord's vineyard without publicly preaching God's word. Filled with the ardor and warmth of their new-found love they are prone to attempt a work for which they are not well qualified, either by nature or grace. We have known some good men to make serious mistakes here. They rushed into the ministry like the horse rushing into battle, and after preaching for awhile found out that they were over zealous, or mistaken, and then returned to the walks from whence they came. In such cases their zeal often cools suddenly, and they are liable to become quite cold and indifferent in God's service. In cases of this kind pastors and the more experienced brethren have a duty to perform that they ought not to neglect. The zeal of the new convert may sometimes have to be restrained in this direction, just as it may be needful to urge him to effort, later in life, in the opposite direction.

Another way by which young men are inducted into the ministry is, when their friends decide they ought to preach, and continue to urge it upon them until they are induced to enter the work. We remember hearing a brother who was a member of a presbytery called to examine a young candidate for the ministry say that he could see no better reason why he wished to preach than to gratify his friends who thought he ought to preach. Now we do not like the appearance of this kind of a call coming from such friends. If a man had ample opportunity to study the young man in the exercise of his gifts. A man's friends have an unsafe basis on which to build such an opinion until they see in him not only talent for public speaking, but what is vastly more important, a longing to bring souls to Christ, a zeal for God's house, and for building up his kingdom, combined, as we shall see directly, with sincere conviction on his part that the Lord requires this work at his hands.

Another fact will at times, we think, account for young men making a mistake in entering the ministry, and that is, they belong to what are called preaching families. As the sire is a preacher it is natural for all concerned to conclude that one or two of his sons are to be of the same calling. Under the Old Dispensation the sons of Levi became priests in the places of their fathers, when they passed away, and some doubtless think that the christian ministry is a continuation of the Jewish priesthood, and hence it is natural and right that the sons of preachers should themselves preach. It is true that God called the successors of the priests of old to minister in the place of their fathers from a certain tribe; but it does not follow from this that God pursues the same plan in supplying his churches with preachers. He now uses more spiritual means to impress upon the minds of those whom he has called to do this work, their sense of duty. Let us remember, then, that because a young man's father is a preacher it does not by any means follow that he should be one. It is natural in some cases that he should regard the calling favorably; but before he enters the ministry he should study the situation only the more carefully to see whether he is actuated by the proper motives.

If none of these things constitute a call to the ministry, what does constitute one—how may a young, or older man, know when the Lord has laid upon him the performance of this work? In answering this question, let us remark in the outset that a call to the ministry is more a matter between the individual and his God than between any other parties. This leads us to state that a call to preach is a deep, abiding impression made by God's Spirit upon the mind, heart and conscience of a man that he would have to perform this work. This impression may be shaken off at times, but let the subject of it go where he may, it will follow him; and the Lord in his own way renews it, and makes it deeper and more lasting than before. This may continue through years, but, after awhile, if the man does not yield to his conviction of duty, the Lord will in some way lay his hand heavily upon him, and he will feel, "Woe is me if I preach not the gospel." The manner in which the Lord lays his hand upon him as above intimated differs in different cases. Sometimes it is bodily affliction; again it is comparative failure in earthly business.

Hence we see that this thing of a call to the ministry is emphatically a spiritual matter. It is certainly more of a matter between the young man and his God than between any other parties. And nothing will take the place of this spiritual communion between the Lord and the man he has called. It is worth more to the man than the most wonderful gifts for public speaking without it; more than the concurrent opinions of hundreds of wise, judicious, and spiritually minded persons; more than the fact that a long line of the man's ancestors have been distinguished preachers of the gospel. One great reason why we insist on this spiritual call, this real communion between God and the man he has called to preach, is, the man needs this experience in his after life as a minister. The life of the minister, like the lives of other men, has its peculiar trials and its temptations. He at times has his seasons of despondency, and may expect to be tempted to suppose that he has made a mistake in entering the ministry. It is a great help to him then to recall God's dealings with him, and to remember how he entered the work. There is nothing that gives the preacher more boldness and perseverance in clinging to and doing the Lord's work than to be fully satisfied that the Lord has called him into the ministry.

This spiritual call to the work of the ministry is not only a great help to those that preach, but a protection to the office and work generally. We are safe in declining to ordain young or older men without it. By insisting on it, we use a divine safeguard to protect our pulpits from those who would succeed better at some other calling. "Lay hands suddenly on no man," is a wise injunction.

REV. T. O. JOHNSON, brother of Mrs. Dr. J. W. Carter, and pastor of the Baptist church in Charlestown, West Virginia, preached at the First church of this city on Sunday night last. The discourse was a very instructive and comforting one on the "Exceeding Great and Precious Promises of God," the text being a part of 2 Pet. 1: 4.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

MARS HILL.

For twelve months I have been watching for an opportunity to visit Mars Hill in Madison county in the interest of the BIBLICAL RECORDER. The nearest railroad station is Marshall, ten miles from Mars Hill, but having previously promised Bro. T. M. Honeycutt to meet him at Asheville, we drove over from there, a distance of twenty miles through the country. It is really restful to get off the railroad at times and take a free ride and breathe an abundance of pure mountain air, stopping almost when you will to drink from a spring at the foot of a mountain. The mountain scenery in this section is unsurpassed, and there can be no time of the year when it presents a more lovely appearance than it does this present minute. Then when we add to the rare beauty of nature the thrift and prosperity of these mountain farmers, the pleasures which arise from a trip over this section is better imagined than described, especially in the space allotted to me.

While in many sections of our State the value of farms have grown less year by year, for the reason that the fields have constantly become less fertile, here in Madison county the farms have as a rule been improving steadily for the last fifteen years, and land is now worth from $20 to $30 per acre. I asked a number of farmers about the price of land, and not one put it under these figures. I expected to find small, insignificant dwellings, but on the other hand I saw a number of large and handsome houses and an abundance of out-houses to make these homes comfortable and pleasant.

I heard very little talk on politics. The truth is, the farmers seem to be too busy getting ready to harvest the wheat and clover which is growing now so splendidly on these mountain sides and in the beautiful valleys, and preparing their land for tobacco, to take a great deal of interest in public affairs.

I made my headquarters at Mars Hill, and through the kindness of the brethren I visited several points in the surrounding country. The town, while one of the oldest in this section of the State, has received the greater portion of its strength and inhabitants during the past few years. Quite a number of new residences have been built within the past two years, and others are now going up. Mars Hill as an educational center for this section has a history full of interest to every friend of education in this county. I learned from the oldest citizens here that the school at this point was among the first, if not the first, ever started in this section of the State. But for years was done what might be called foundation work. This sort of work is, however, not to be despised. Trials, dark days and sacrifices all have their places in the history of an institution of learning as well as in the life an experience of an individual. It has been reserved to this school to receive its greatest impetus and to enlarge its scope of work under the management of Bro. Thos. M. Hufham, who has had charge of the school for the past two years. He seems to at once have made his way to the confidence and respect of all the friends of the school. The success which has attended his administration as a teacher, the zeal which he is showing in all christian work, and his efforts to help out in everything which pertains to the betterment of those around him, have fully demonstrated that this confidence was not misplaced. The session which is soon to close is the best the school has ever had. A new brick building which has cost three thousand dollars is just being completed and will be used next session. Board in the town is from $6 to $8 per month, and if what I saw at the homes of the different ones is a sample, no one can complain. Bro. Honeycutt, the President of the Board of Trustees, is very enthusiastic in his plans and hopes for the success of the school. In this he is doing a fine work as well as in his churches. Nobody is in a better position to measure the influence a pastor has with his people than a representative of the RECORDER, for wherever the preacher has a hold of the hearts and confidence of his people you will always get subscribers. Counting over my list when I reached Asheville I found I had gotten twenty-five new subscribers, most of them for twelve months.

I had often heard of Bro. L. W. Hume, and it was a real pleasure to meet him and to enjoy the hospitality of his comfortable home. He is one of the landmarks in this section of the State, and has helped largely to make whatever of history the Baptists have in Western North Carolina. His mantle will justly fall upon the shoulders of his son, John R. Hume, who is a chip off the old block, with perhaps some interest added. Then here is Bro. Jacob Smith, known to everybody as "Uncle Jacob." He is the pioneer Sunday-school man in this section of the State. In fact, he originated and conducted the first Sunday school ever held in this portion of North Carolina. Having no children of his own he raised nine of other peoples from childhood till they were grown, and he says the little orphan asylum which he carried on is now and has ever been one of the greatest joys of his life. The noble benefactions, the outcome of a long life spent in the cause of his Master, will serve to keep his old age green till he shall be called to join his companion who recently passed over the river.

I have it in my heart to acknowledge with gratitude the kind offices of many other brethren whom I met for the first time, but whom I hope to meet again. But for the present I take my leave with the most pleasant recollections of Mars Hill and of the good people of that entire community.

J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. J. M. Hilliard of Thomasville was in the city last Friday.

....Rev. Dr. S. A. Goodwin of Richmond, Va., is called to Savannah, Ga.

....Dr. T. Whitfield's church in Richmond, Va., is going to build a new house of worship.

....The South River Sunday-school Association will be held at Dunn on the 26th of this month.

....Rev. J. D. Newton of Thomasville has accepted a call to Mt. Olive and adjacent churches.

....Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall baptized three persons on Sunday last at the Raleigh Baptist Tabernacle church.

....Rev. Dr. W. A. Nelson of Aiken, S. C., was in Raleigh on a visit to his daughter last week, who is quite sick.

....Dr. C. E. Taylor of Wake Forest delivered an address at Oak Ridge Academy on Thursday night, the 12th inst.

....Bro. A. B. Ervin has removed from Lincolnton to Maiden, N. C., and wishes his correspondents to note the change.

....Rev. Dr. J. B. Taylor of Lexington, Va., accepts the call to Salem, Va., and expects to move there the first of June.

....Rev. A. C. Dixon was in Asheville last week, and preached while there, to the great delight of his many friends and admirers.

....Dr. O. F. Gregory, one of the secretaries of the Southern Baptist Convention, was unfortunately sick for two days during the session.

....Rev. J. B. Newton writes: "Rev. L. G. Broughton of Winston will deliver the annual address at Fork Academy on Wednesday, May 25th."

....Rev. Thomas Dixon delivered a lecture in the Y. M. C. A. hall, in Atlanta, on Monday night, the 9th inst., to a good house. His subject was "Backbone."

....Rev. C. G. Jones of Lynchburg, Va., has been called to the First Baptist church of Chattanooga, Tenn., and has accepted the call, and takes charge the first of June next.

....On Sunday last, Rev. O. L. Stringfield baptized nine converts into the fellowship of the Fayetteville Street Baptist church. The meeting continues with much interest.

....The reports of the Southern Baptist Convention that we have seen speak of Dr. Carter's speech on the "Moral Basis of Missions" as one of "great power," "strong and stirring."

....Rev. T. C. Johnson of Charleston, W. Va., was on a visit to Dr. J. W. Carter, his brother-in-law, last week. He stopped over in Raleigh with Dr. and Mrs. Carter on their return from the Southern Baptist Convention.

....Rev. J. L. White of Asheville, N. C., preached on Sunday night during the Southern Baptist Convention at Barclay Methodist church. After the sermon he had an after-meeting and there were ten professions of conversion.

....At the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Union during the Southern Baptist Convention, Miss Fannie E. Heck was elected President of the Union, and Mrs. Jas. A. Briggs was elected Vice President from North Carolina.

....Dr. T. S. Dunaway of Fredericksburg, Va., in a pleasant conversation with the writer on the train returning from the Convention, says he is in his twenty-ninth year of the pastorate of the Baptist church of Fredericksburg.

....Cards are out for the marriage of Mr. George P. Pell, editor of the Yadkin Valley News, Mt. Airy, N. C., and Miss Mary Deshazo, at "Glendale," Spencer, Va., on May 25th, 1892. We acknowledge the courtesy of an invitation to the marriage.

.... Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter, on Sunday morning last, preached a most excellent sermon to the relief society of the Raleigh & Gaston Railroad from the text, "Am I my brother's keeper?" Special seats were occupied by members of the society in a body. About three thousand dollars have been expended by the society in the way of relief since its formation a few years ago. The audience of the occasion filled the church.

....At the opening of one of the sessions of the late Southern Baptist Convention, the President stood up with gavel in hand and called out: "Is Bro. Lawhon of North Carolina in the house? If so, he will please stand up." He stood up. The President then called out, "Is Bro. Lawhon of Alabama in the house? If so, he will stand up." He arose near the other, and the President said, "There you are," and took his seat. It turned out that they were brothers, and had not met before for thirty years, and neither knew the other.

....Miss L. Lazenby of Turnersburg, N. C., in enclosing a subscription to us says: "We have secured Rev. D. W. Pool as pastor at New Hope and are learning to love him very much. We trust by his leadership under Christ to go forward in the Master's work."

....Dr. L. G. Broughton preached at the Marietta Methodist church on Sunday night in the place of Rev. C. G. Jones of Lynchburg, Va., who was appointed by the Convention, and after the sermon he had an after-meeting and two persons professed conversion.

....A copy of the Minutes of the Southern Baptist Convention reached our office on Thursday after the Convention adjourned on Tuesday night. The Minutes are well gotten up, and make a good appearance. Their appearance at so early a day is a marvel of rapidity on the part of our excellent secretaries.

....Many of our Pedobaptist exchanges are saying a good deal about Mr. Spurgeon's communion, but are wonderfully silent on the subject of his baptism. If they accept one, they ought not to decline the other. As a matter of fact, however, Spurgeon was not an open communionist, as that term is popularly used.—Central Baptist.

....At the Southern Baptist Convention on Sunday seven of our North Carolina preachers were appointed to preach as follows: At Trinity M. E. Church, Rev. R. T. Vann; at St. James, Methodist, Drs. Durham and McManaway; at the Asbury Methodist, Dr. J. J. Hall; at the West End Baptist, Dr. J. W. Carter; at Barclay, Methodist, Rev. J. L. White; at Stone Mountain Baptist church, Dr. J. L. Carroll.

....The great Gladstone has expressed himself against woman's suffrage. He puts his opposition on the ground that there is "a difference of social office" between the sexes. This difference he declares is based "upon causes not flexible and elastic, like most mental qualities, but physical, and in their nature unchangeable. I for one am not prepared to say which of the two sexes has the higher and which the lower province. But I recognize the subtle and profound character of the differences between them, and I must again, and again, and again, deliberate before aiding in the issue of what seems an invitation by public authority to the one to renounce as far as possible its own office, in order to assume that of the other." That is a neat way to express opposition to woman's suffrage, and it may be applied in more ways than one.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION.

[CONCLUDED.]

At the close of Dr. Mabie's speech on Saturday afternoon, Bro. Joshua Levering of Baltimore, in a timely and graceful speech, recounting the good things of the meeting of that day, concluded by saying, "With humble thanksgiving to God, I wish to start this ($250,000 Centennial) fund with a subscription of $5,000," and presently he added another $5,000 for his brother Eugene Levering, and the amount was increased that afternoon and night to $14,000.

Saturday night Dr. B. H. Carroll of Texas delivered a strong address on "Home Missions in America."

On Sunday, the various pulpits of the city were occupied by preachers of the Convention. Your scribe had the privilege of hearing Dr. Broadus at 11 a. m. at the First Baptist church. Nearly an hour before preaching time the house was filled to its utmost capacity, supposed to contain 1,500 people. Dr. Broadus announced his text in Judges 7: 18—"The sword of the Lord and of Gideon." He said:

The hosts were gathered at the spring. I drank out of that spring, but like all civilized Americans, I dipped my cup in the spring, and drank from my cup, didn't lap like a dog. Gideon was very anxious to be assured that the Lord was on his side before he went against the Midianites. How may we rightly assure ourselves that the Lord is on our side in any undertaking? It is a hard question. We can easily deceive ourselves. Gideon felt so. He was beating out his wheat on a rock with a stick to make as little noise as possible. The angel stood by his side. The rich young fellow didn't know what to make of it. So, many a young man now feels a strong impulse to do something for the Lord's cause, and he don't know what to do about it. Gideon wanted a sign. The fleece was to be wet with dew. Again, he wanted assurance, and the Lord was patient with him, and the fleece was dry while the dew was all around. We have no right to expect such tests as these, because we have a written revelation.

How shall we know the Lord is on our side?

1. We should seek to know thoroughly God's revelation to man. Then study the great wealth of the examples in the Bible. Seek a knowledge of God's word—a perfect familiarity with all the examples and precepts. We have to charge upon men that they do not know the Bible as they should.

2. We must look to what we call the guidance of Providence. No doubt there may be a great deal of delusion in trying to understand Providence, but it is a reality. There are many here who realize that God is guiding them. He has been leading them all the way. Providence! how wonderful that in all the great affairs of the world God cares for us. But let us be on our guard how we interpret Providence. Spurgeon gives us a sermon on Jonah, in which he says Jonah saw a special providence in the ship at Tarshish. We can easily cheat ourselves in this matter. But some will say, can it be of much service since there is danger! But that is the way in God's dealings. If we earnestly seek we shall find.

3. We may pray to God to guide us. We do not know what to say about that. A very young person came forward to join the church, and when asked how she knew that the Lord would save her, replied, "Doesn't he say he will?" Ask God to guide you. The feeblest may ask God's guidance. Do you believe in prayer? You say, we do not always get what we ask. Thank God we do not. We shall be busy in eternity thanking God for what he did not let us have. He gives us what we ask, or that which is better. If you are wise, and you were to always get what you ask, you would be afraid to ask.

Put these things together and try to have some sense—good, common sense. The best thing to have in this world is good common sense. Let us cultivate good judgment. We pray for what we want, and we think it is right. How easily we may deceive ourselves. We ought to make use of those with whom we advise, and thank God for them. That other better and more beautiful nature—Oh! how valuable is the advice of our wives in all that is practical.

Can we be certain that the Lord is on our side?

That depends on how much you mean by certain. Not as certain as that two and three make five. We cannot gain the same kind of certitude as in mathematics. How ought the persuasion that the Lord is on our side affect our efforts? It stimulated Gideon to great endeavor. The sermon closed with a tender appeal to the unconverted.

Rev. R. T. Vann of North Carolina preached an excellent sermon at Trinity church at 3:30 p. m.

We also heard a grand sermon at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock p. m. by Dr. W. W. Landrum of Virginia.

Monday.—A resolution prevailed to appoint messengers to the Northern Anniversaries at Philadelphia. Rev. R. VanDeventer of North Carolina was among the number appointed.

FINANCIAL METHODS OF THE BOARDS.

Upon the report of the committee on Financial Methods of the Boards, Dr. Mullens of Baltimore spoke recommending the Mission rooms literature in Baltimore.

Dr. Felix of Virginia spoke in advocacy of a campaign document for the Centennial work, to be prepared and generally used. He said he had asked Dr. F. M. Ellis of Baltimore to write it.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL BOARD.

Special order is for the Sunday-school Board's work. The report on Publications of the Sunday-school strongly recommended Dr. J. A. Broadus's Catechism.

The report on Future Work and Plans of the Sunday school Board was read and spoken to at length by Dr. Willingham of Tennessee.

Dr. T. T. Eaton spoke on Sunday-school Libraries. He said he found a book in his Sunday-school library that taught divorce for the most frivolous pretexts. He could find in Baptist Sunday-school libraries books that teach infant baptism, apostolic succession and baptismal regeneration. Books start impulses in the mind that lead to resolution. The Bible itself is a book. If its moral tendency had been evil, it would long ago have wrecked the world. The books to put into Sunday-school libraries are those that teach the principles we want taught.

Dr. W. L. Pickard of Alabama made a clear, ringing speech on the Theology of the Sunday-school publications. He highly commended our Board's publications.

Dr. Gambrell said he wanted to supplement Dr. Eaton's speech on libraries. He said there are books that make a boy get sick on religion and die. We want a healthy religion. Sidney Smith said there are three kinds of people—men, women, and Episcopal preachers. I think some Baptist preachers are about as bad—neither men nor women—have no muscle. They sit around and talk with the old women and let the devil run the town. They are like the fellow who had been travelling a bad road; after a while he came to a good, smooth place in the road, and he kept going back and forth over that good piece of road the remainder of the day. Some of these preachers get on the rock of predestination, and turn round and round till some of us get mixed up. Like the boy whom his father sent to put on the wagon body, and he got it on hind part before. His father wanting to instruct him, took a piece of chalk and wrote on the foremost end a big B. "Now, see here, this B. stands for before." "Yes," said the boy—and he wrote on the other end a B.—"this B. stands for behind." He closed his speech by recommending Dr. Broadus's Catechism as a means of straightening out things on that line.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY.

Dr. J. A. Broadus introduced Dr. F. H. Kerfoot, the Treasurer, to make a financial statement. He said that the Seminary was $200,000 better off than it was three years ago.

The following are the changes in the Faculty of the Seminary:

Dr. J. R. Sampey is made Professor of Old Testament Interpretation; Prof. A. T. Robertson is made Professor of Biblical Introduction, and Assistant in New Testament; Rev. E. C. Dargan, D. D., of Charleston, has been elected Assistant Professor in Homiletics and Latin Theology.

FOREIGN BORN PEOPLE IN AMERICA.

Monday night the report on Foreign Born People in America was read by Professor Mason of the Smithsonian Institution at Washington City. His report was a well-prepared document, and he followed it with a fine speech. He said many of us had felt impressed that we ought to go to the heathen, or do something for them, but we did not go. Now, in the providence of God the heathen have come to us, and we have the opportunity to give them the gospel at home. Dr. MacGregor of Florida and Dr. M. B. Wharton spoke on the report, after which Dr. Tichenor introduced

BRO. A. J. DIAZ FROM CUBA.

He said our work in Cuba this year has been better than any previous year. Has baptizing every Sunday night. They have a membership in Havana of 2,097 and 900 in Sunday-school. They have no persecution this year.

NEXT SESSION GOES TO NASHVILLE, TENN.

The next session of the Convention goes to Nashville, Tenn., with the assurance of an auditorium that will seat 6,000 people. Dr. W. E. Hatcher of Virginia was appointed to preach the introductory sermon, and Rev. J. M. Wells of Texas alternate.

WOMAN'S WORK.

The report on Woman's Work elicited a lively discussion.

Dr. Gambrell advocates the utmost expansion of this work in Scriptural limits. There are limitations in the Scriptures. There are no accounts of women preachers there. I draw the line right here. But let us leave this subject largely to the good sense and judgment of the women. They can be trusted. Any set of women who have raised such men as we see here to-day can be trusted. And that keen common sense that saw in us so much to admire that they were willing to marry us are not to be distrusted.

Dr. Lofton said the greatest difficulty in the way of the women was the men.

Rev. S. M. Brown of Missouri spoke to the point that God never intended that men and women should work separately in the church. "Every woman ought to be a help meet to man. All methods that are successful are not Scriptural. If so, our Roman Catholic brethren are more Scriptural than any of us. He says there ought to be no classes of men or women, no division on any line—age, sex, nor any other, but all the classes ought to work through the church, which God himself has ordained.

He was followed by Dr. S. H. Ford of Missouri, Dr. Cranfill of Texas, and Dr. J. W. Carter of North Carolina.

In his rejoinder, Bro. Brown rose to his full height and power in the defense of his position.

DESTITUTION OF LOUISIANA.

The report of Louisiana shows that twenty-one of fifty-nine parishes have no Baptist church. Five of fifteen towns of over two thousand inhabitants have no white Baptist churches. Thirty court-house towns have no white churches. There are 250,000 inhabitants of the State without the gospel. The report recommends that the Home Mission Board expend not less than $10,000 in Louisiana this year.

Dr. W. S. Penick of Louisiana spoke to the report.

LABORS AMONG THE GERMANS.

Two German missionaries laboring among the Germans in Missouri were introduced by Dr. Tichenor and made a brief address. They were brethren Heflin and F. Severs. The latter stated that all the Germans who came to this country need the pure gospel.

COLORED PEOPLE.

The report of Rev. C. C. Brown on the Colored People, which was recommitted, was read.

Dr. Gambrell stated that he could not vote for the report in its present shape, and offered a resolution as a substitute for the report, which was adopted.

It was the unanimous opinion of the delegates that it was one of the best sessions ever held of the Convention. Judge Haralson presides over the Convention as a genius who knows how to manage men and keep them in a pleasant mood. He rules so gently and gracefully that no one feels restrained. God be praised for such an officer at such a time.

Woman's Missionary Union.

This body, auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention, held its fourth annual meeting in Atlanta, Ga., at the same time the latter body was in session.

Every year the young auxiliary becomes a more important one; every year its meetings are looked forward to with deeper interest by the Baptist women of the South, and every year greater results from its work are expected and received by the whole denomination.

It would be a mistake to think for a moment that a separate meeting meant separation in any particular from the interests of the Convention. On the contrary, the Baptist women of the South were never more closely identified with these interests than now, and the Union's work is ever drawing them more and more into, not a nominal union, but the union that comes of a thorough understanding of these aims and purposes. The whole thought of these meetings is missionary, based on recommendations of the Home and Foreign Mission Boards of the Southern Baptist Convention.

One more word of explanation: The meetings of the Union are not analagous to the meetings of the Convention, but much more so to a meeting of one of the Boards of that Convention, with four delegates and one vice-president from each State meeting with them in an annual session.

The Executive Committee, located at Baltimore, consists of a President, a Vice-President from each State, Recording Secretary, Corresponding Secretary, Treasurer, and an Advisory Committee of nine ladies. All these, with the exception of the President and Vice-Presidents, are residents of Baltimore, where the Mission rooms are located. The Executive Committee's work in 1891 was represented by 2,757 letters, 261 postals, and the sending out of 120,777 mission leaflets, mite barrels, papers, &c., in 1,122 packages to the Woman's Central Committees of the Missions of the fourteen States connected with the S. B. Convention. The figures for this year (1892) are much larger, but they are not before us.

Since the organization of the Union at Richmond in 1888, Miss M. E. McIntosh has held the position of President, and Miss Annie W. Armstrong of Baltimore, Corresponding Secretary. These ladies have given their time and strength to the work, refusing all remuneration. The great growth of the work, under their wise and self-sacrificing management, will be shown, as far as figures can show, by the fact that the Woman's Missionary Societies of the Baptist churches of the South gave to Foreign Missions in 1888, $14,516.00, and in 1892, $25,040.37; to Home Missions in 1888, $6,728.10, and in 1892, $19,242.59.

With this brief sketch of the purpose and growth of the Woman's Missionary Union, let us add an equally brief account of the fourth annual meeting which has just been held in Atlanta. Any connected account of the five meetings, each teeming with interest, would be impossible in so brief a space. As we have said, the key-note of the meeting was missions, and all its proceedings falling in tune with this work, and we will dwell particularly on this thought.

The leading question was, How can the Baptist women of the South best aid in creating a permanent Centennial Chapel Building Fund of $250,000 for Foreign and Home Missions (this being the especial Centennial work assigned them by the Convention), while continuing and increasing their contributions to the regular objects of the Convention.

The meeting was fortunate in having with them Miss Lottie Moon and Mrs. Pruett from China, Miss Mina Everett from Mexico and Miss Joerg and Miss Clotilde Diaz from Cuba, who, with hearts warm from the Mission work on their fields, could make the sacrifices necessary to come up to the full measure of the great work planned for the Centennial Year seem small.

Miss Moon, whose heroism in pushing into the northern part of China alone and fearless, has for nineteen years been an inspiration to all who read of it, spoke with a large grasp of the subject of the vast changes that had taken place in the years of her work in China. She told of the wise regency of the Queen Mother, a woman of great wisdom, of the liberal policy of the young Emperor, now two years on the throne, of the net work of telegraph wires built over the kingdom on the eve of a threatened rebellion, and looked forward to the building at no distant day of many railroads by Chinese labor and with Chinese material. In her modesty, she refrained from giving many instances of her own career, only instancing the change in the sentiments of Northern China by relating how it was not uncommon, some years ago, for the "foreign Devil woman" to be followed by six Chinese soldiers, crying, "Kill, kill," while now she goes unmolested wherever she wishes.

Mrs. Pruett told of motherhood in missions. She said the wives of missionaries were more than missionary housekeepers. If she could not go far from home, there were within ten minutes' walk of her door ten thousand women who would never hear the gospel unless they heard it from the lips of a lady missionary. They could not go to the chapels, and it would be a disgrace for the missionary to come to their homes. In these visits, which she delighted to make, her children and theirs were the thought that drew them together. From them she could teach the love of God, for the mother heart would respond to this thought, having known only of angry gods to be appeased. She told much of the hardships of the Chinese woman's lot, and appealed from it for the sympathy and love of her favored American sisters.

Miss Everitt told of the readiness, and even eagerness, to hear the gospel which she had found in her recent work in Mexico.

Miss Joerg, an American by birth, but by relationship and years of residence closely allied with Cuba and a member of Mr. Diaz's church, spoke of his wonderful work, and especially of the school for the higher education for girls, which, through the aid of the woman's missionary societies, Mr. Diaz has this year opened in large and commodious apartments in the church building of Havana. Eighteen half-orphaned girls are now being supported in it by various missionary societies (at $120 a year), thus enabling them to insure the support of the necessary teachers and offer educational facilities to ninety-eight paying pupils, many of whom came from Catholic families. She said the great need of the school was a highly educated, middle-aged American lady principal.

Mr. Diaz, speaking to the ladies in a subsequent meeting, said he had room for a hundred Baptist orphan girls at the same rate, each enlarging their ability to offer education to others. The improvement in the class and number of the congregations since the opening of the school had been marked. The course of study and hours were as follows: 6 o'clock a. m., hymns and reading Bible. 7:30, bath. 8, dictation (from the Bible. 9, reading (from the Bible). 10, Bible recitation. 11, and the following hours until 4, arithmetic, geography, etc. He justly said they had Sunday-schools seven times a week.

Miss Clotilde Diaz, sister of Mr. Diaz, who for fifteen months has been studying in La Grange, Ga., to prepare herself for the position of a teacher in this school, told of her conversion at the age of six by the teachings of her brother just returned from America; of her persecution by her mother, then a devout Catholic, and of the organization of the first Sunday-school in Cuba at the age of eight. At her request, her brother had consented to teach on Sunday any children she might gather during the week. She watched and invited every passing child, and on Sunday had sixty children, who were formed into the first Baptist Cuban Sunday-school. She compared the conversion of her mother from her bitter opposition to earnest and untiring zeal for the cause, to the bringing to life of Lazarus, and thought it a miracle hardly less wonderful.

Dr. F. M. Ellis of Baltimore on Monday made a most stirring appeal to the ladies on the importance of their work in the Centennial year. He more and more believed that the success of the Centennial movement depended on the women. He never doubted that they would fulfill their responsibility. The Chapel Card plan he considered near an inspiration. One brick (ten cents) taken by every child connected with Southern Baptist Sunday-schools, and three by every Baptist woman, would be double the sum asked from the whole Southern Baptist Convention for the permanent building fund. He told of the collection with these from a mothers' meeting in Baltimore composed of washerwomen, factory hands and day-laborers' wives. In six weeks they gave as thankofferings $88.96. None could be poorer than they, and the influence on those who gave would be greater in blessing than even on the heathen women. He plead for one year of sacrifice—plainer clothes, plainer living, better intercourse and communion with God.

Drs. Bell, Frost and Jones addressed the body on the recommendations of their Boards as Dr. Jones aptly expressed it, appearing when these various Doctors began their addresses, and disappearing when they closed them. We would like to give some thought from each, but space forbids.

Dr. Bell's reasons for the presentation of Japan as the object for the Christmas offering for next Christmas, instead of North China, which has for four years been the object of the gifts of this gift-giving season, will interest all. They were that a new and most interesting field had recently been opened there in an island of nine millions almost unreached by other missionary effort, and that the Christmast gifts, amounting this year to more than $4,000, had come in more rapidly than men or women could be found f r North China.

The climax of the meetings was undoubtedly reached in the meeting of Sunday afternoon and took the form of a collection so free and spontaneous that it was most inspiring. The number of seventy delegates, and possibly as many more visiting ladies, had been swelled by so large a number of Atlanta ladies, that the large church, the Central Presbyterian, was filled to the doors.

It was proposed to take a collection to send to Mrs. Z. C. Taylor, who had recently returned to America to have her limb amputated at the hip, a horse and buggy, that on return to her mission field, Bahia, Brazil, she might still continue her mission work by going from house to house. Money was being sent to the desk before it was asked for, when a Presbyterian lady asked the privilege of giving the whole amount. The others were unwilling to forego the pleasure of sending some testimonial to Mrs. Taylor. It was known that she wished for a typewriter that she might use the leisure moments that necessarily must come to her from her crippled condition, in writing for the mission. By a gift of fifty dollars and other large sums, the sum needed was made up in a moment. Other gifts were suggested, and finally the ladies had to be almost restrained from giving.

The election of officers for the ensuing year, which occurs at the close of the annual meeting, resulted in the election of Miss Fannie E. Heck of North Carolina, as President; Miss A. W. Armstrong of Maryland, Corresponding Secretary; Mrs. F. M. Ellis of Maryland, Treasurer; with a Vice-President from each State, Mrs. J. A. Briggs of Raleigh, being elected from North Carolina.

F. E. H.

Important Facts from the Records.

The fiscal year of the Southern Baptist Convention closed at noon April 30th, 1892. The Treasurer of each Board, Home and Foreign, summed up their figures, which show the contributions of the churches in each State to these objects. Their reports were presented to the Convention which closed its session in Atlanta last week. From these reports we gather some important lessons.

For the North Carolina churches, at least, the figures are encouraging. The Treasurer of the Home Board received during the year in actual cash $84,[illegible]70. This was $17,682.69 more than he received the preceding year.

The Treasurer of the Foreign Mission Board received $114,825.80. This was $303.43 more than he received for the year ending April 30th, 1891.

Some of the States gave more, and some gave less, than they had given the year before to each of the Boards. The North Carolina churches are in the advancement made in contributions to the two Boards during the past year. To illustrate: The churches of Kentucky gave this year for Home and Foreign Missions combined, $2,930 more than they gave last year; the Georgia churches $2,913.90 more than last year; the Texas churches $3,204.38 more than last year; while the North Carolina churches gave to the Boards $3,399.24 more than they gave last year. This was the largest advance over last year's work made by any State in the Southern Baptist Convention.

AHEAD OF ALL THE OTHER STATES

ANOTHER COMPARISON

is creditable to our North Carolina churches. While Virginia on one border gave this year $963.61 more to the Home Board, and $10.95 less to the Foreign Board, and South Carolina on the other border gave $616.46 less to the Home Board, and $963.08 less to the Foreign Board than last year. Our North Carolina churches gave $399.39 more to the Foreign Board, and $2,603.27 more to the Home Board than they gave last year.

IT IS NOW TIME

to turn to State Missions. It will be remembered that at the Goldsboro Convention the Board was due its missionaries about $3,000. For a number of years the Board has received for State Missions, between the Convention and the last of December, from $1,500 to $2,000, and thereby discharged its indebtedness to its missionaries for services during the preceding year. This has never been done, however, without special work on the part of the Corresponding Secretary, the pastors and the churches.

The convention at Goldsboro adopted a report signed by A. G. McManaway, T. H. Pritchard, H. W. Battle, J. B. Brewer and W. H. Gwaltney, recommending that the Board of Missions and Sunday-schools be instructed to secure the services of some suitable brother to raise the needed amount for the Havana House. Then, afterwards, by a special motion, the Convention placed the work in behalf of the Havana House on the writer, with the understanding that it was to be done at once. We obeyed the voice of the Convention, the money needed was secured and sent to the Board at Atlanta in good time. To do this, however, absorbed all of December and January, and February, March and April had to be given to Home and Foreign Missions. The results are stated above. Special efforts to secure the amount needed to pay off our missionaries in the State department have therefore been necessarily postponed to the present time. The Treasurer has, since the Convention in Goldsboro, acknowledged for State Missions $1,601.42, but of this amount about $529.04 have been paid through executive committees direct to missionaries on the field on this year's work. The amount, therefore, still due the missionaries on their work of last year is $937.62. They need every dollar of this money now. They need it badly. For many years we have secured very little money for State Missions till after the Southern Baptist Convention. This is most natural. But now let us turn to State Missions.

THE UNION MEETINGS, to be held the last of this month, can, if they will, greatly aid us with State Missions. Will not all the pastors aid us speedily? We have done exceptionally well for Home and Foreign Missions the past year, now let us do the best things possible for State Missions. C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

American Baptist H. M. Society.

The meetings of the American Baptist Home Mission Society, May 27th and 28th will be of unusual interest. The President, Hon. E. Nelson Blake of Mass., will deliver an address. Dr. Guild, of Brown University, will throw new light on Roger Williams as the great pioneer missionary to the North American Indians.

Rev. J. S. Murrow, for thirty-three years missionary in Indian Territory, will tell what has been wrought there. Dr. J. B. Hartwell of California will deal with a question of the time: "The Chinese in America." Dr. O. A. Williams of Nebraska will speak on "The West of 1792; of 1892; of 1892." Dr. E. B. Hulbert, of the Divinity School of the University of Chicago, will speak on the relation of Home Missions to the stability and perpetuity of our Institutions. Discussion will follow.

The Centenary of the Separation of Church and State will be observed on Friday evening, when Dr. H. S. Burrage of Maine will speak on Religious Liberty in the 16th Century; Dr. J. C. Long, of Crozer Seminary, on Baptist contention for this principle in America; and Dr. R. S. MacArthur of New York on the Benefits of Separation and what remains to be done. Saturday A. M. after brief consideration of work among foreign populations, there will be a free field for discussion of the Society's thirty years work for the colored people, with a consideration of its future policy.

Dr. A. H. Strong, of Rochester Theological Seminary, will preach the Annual Sermon on Sunday the 29th; "The Christian World in 1492 and the Christian World in 1892, with American Christianity as a new factory therein: or, the progress of the Kingdom in the last four hundred years.

H. L. M.

Tribute to Rev. B. Cade.

The Louisburg Baptist church, Louisburg, N. C., in meeting assembled, Sunday, the 24th day of April, 1892, unanimously adopted the following:

The Rev. Baylus Cade, who has recently left us to assume pastoral charge of the Venable Street Baptist church, Richmond, Va., was from December 1st, 1885, to April 1st, 1892, the pastor of this church, and we, the members thereof, are of mind to give expression to our estimate of Bro. Cade, and of the work he did while he was with us. He is of superior scholarship. He has strong convictions and is bold and fearless in uttering them, as well as in defending his conceptions of truth, and in insisting that our lives, in respect of our daily conduct, shall show forth the love of God in us by acts of beneficence and good for God's creatures. He stands upon Bible authority for his argument and contention that the great essential good of christianity in this life is that its representatives shall be helpful to others as well in material as in spiritual matters. Our church, during his ministry, was added to in its membership more than fifty per cent. It does not often happen that an individual, within the compass of little more than six years, make such an impression on a community as Bro. Cade has made upon this community. We shall ever remember his works and work, and we heartily commend him to whom he has become pastor and to their christian love.

This paper will be spread on the minutes of the church, and the Clerk will send a copy each to the Chronicle and the RECORDER, Raleigh, N. C. Baptist, Fayetteville, and the Dispatch and Herald, Richmond, with request for its publication.

W. B. MORTON, Moderator.
E. W. TIMBERLAKE, Church Clerk.

Appointments.

I will, Providence permitting, preach at the following times and places:

May 21, St. Joseph [illegible] eight, Stanton's Creek; 23, 11 o'clock a. m., Sandy Grove; 24, 11 o'clock a. m. and night, Ebenezer; 25, 11 o'clock a. m., Sandy Grove; night by Rev. A. J. Bordeaux; 26, 11 o'clock a. m., Lennon's Chapel; Sunday, 29, 11 o'clock a. m., [illegible] Dale; 27, 11 o'clock a. m., [illegible] Beulah, at night, Sub S. at [illegible] Oakland; 27, at night, Abbottsburg.

D.

The Drunkard's Cure.

One of the saddest commentaries on the human nature of our times is the disposition to make money out of the weaknesses of our fellowmen. The whiskey men, for instance, make their money out of the weakness of the men addicted to strong drink. Whatever cause first operated in leading the man to form it (and the causes are as numerous as the ills of human life and evils of human nature put together), once the habit is formed, the poor drunkard is, in many instances, well nigh helpless in the presence of his foe. The barkeeper, instead of sympathizing with his weak brother and hence seeking to separate him and his foe, seeks to bring them into contact, and, for the sake of gain, will daily hold the bottle to this crazy man's mouth that he may drink and die. So inhumanly heartless is this evil that most thoughtful humanitarians have come to loathe the whiskey man and his business.

To the eternal shame of human nature, another class of Shylocks have entered the market to make money out of these same men's weakness. The devil has sapped the man's manhood, has thrown him prostrate, and sits bestride him, gloating over his victim, and now proposes to let him up for a consideration. He charged him money for knocking him down, and now demands his price for letting him up. He says, you paid Mr. A., my agent, for the former service, now pay Mr. B., my agent, for the latter service. But who is Mr. B.? He is the man who helps Mr. A. to hold the drunkard down by arguing him into the belief that he has lost his strength and can't get up without help, and then proposes to give him strength by certain treatment. Sometimes he calls this "treatment" "Wooley's," sometimes he calls it "Keeley's." But it all goes on the same principle, viz: You are down and can't get up, and I can help you up, but won't do so unless you pay me.

"Fie upon you, you evil-minded man, to attack in such a manner such humanitarians as Dr. Woolley and Dr. Keely, and scores of others like them."

What times we live in, when humanitarianism is a commodity of trade—when every man who discovers a remedy which is strength for the weak, relief for the suffering, and salvation for the lost, must seek to make a fortune out of it.

Dr. Keeley is certainly not a philanthropist. If he were, he would publish his remedy to the world and let the unfortunate have the benefit of it. Surely every newspaper in the land would gladly advertise it as freely as they do recipes for chicken cholera, cabbage bugs, &c., and the country is full of doctors who would avail themselves of the remedy for their patients, and thousands of them would treat the drunkards in their communities free of charge. If there is anything in Dr. Keeley's remedy, and he is a lover of mankind, the course he is pursuing is inexplicable. A two-hundred thousand-dollar company organized in North Carolina to make money out of the poor drunkard's disease! Every newspaper in the State, whose services are needed, subsidized to aid them in finding the drunkard and inducing him to try the remedy! With the "whiskey trusts" at one end of the line and this company at the other, the poor drunkards are in a bad way indeed.

One of the marvels of this business is that certain religious newspapers, who have hooted at prohibitionists and called them cranks and fanatics, are giving whole columns of hearty commendation to this second "trust." They used to say the only remedy for the whiskey evil was moral suasion. Now they say physical treatment is the thing. I mentioned this inconsistency to a friend sometime ago, and he said, "Oh, that was an advertisement." An advertisement, indeed! It wasn't so marked. But that, I suppose, is on a par with the newspaper custom of putting in as editorial matter what some one else than the editor wrote. "For ways that are mean, and tricks that are vain, the heathen Chinee is peculiar." Yes, Mr. Hart, and some other people, too, the newspaper men in particular.

Let me be understood. I am not opposed to the Keeley remedy. I don't know it, chemically or experimentally. But I am heart and soul opposed to taking advantage of the poor drunkard's weakness and fleecing him of what little the whiskey men have left. I am suspicious, I confess, of any man who charges a high price for doing good. He appeals to every one for help in the interest of God and humanity, and puts thousands into his pocket as the result. This is the reason I have turned against Mr. Fife and all like him. When he was in my town, his friends induced me not to oppose an effort to raise for him over $200 for ten days' work, on the ground that he was in debt and wanted to go to school. That was two years ago. Now he can buy a home for $9,000, and still the collection business is pushed in connection with his work, and he hasn't gone to school any, either.

The Keeley treatment is a scheme to make money. Nobody is losing any money at it except the poor drunkards and their friends. It is ingeniously and extensively advertised. It is well and largely organized. Everything about it, in fact, indicates the keen, planning, unrelenting Shylock. The parties working at it in North Carolina will make millions out of it. They have struck the richest ore that was ever worked in the world's mines. Any one addicted to the habit of using any drug till one is conscious of losing self-control, or any one having a dear one in that condition will give all such one has for a cure. And these great philanthropists (?) will take the last thing they have or can get. But if they give value received, that is all right. No, a thousand times no. If I am the instrument of saving a man's life, or should God use me to save a soul, for all that man had I would receive. Would it be right? [illegible] it would be an outrage and a curse. If I charged [illegible] it would simply be actual [illegible] about that would [illegible] and not a soul saved.

[illegible] hand contains a testimonial in which are some significant points. Mr. J. G. Finley, the third graduate of the Institute in Greensboro, is the author of the testimonial. In it he takes occasion to fling at prohibitionists in such a spirit as will certainly be of great comfort to the whiskey seller. He intimates that temperance lecturers are as a rule drunkards, or at least drinkers. I have no idea that any change has been wrought in that man. He is the same old whiskey and whiskey seller lover that he ever was. A burnt child is apt to dread fire, and if one should ever go to extremes is warning against playing in the fire, it will not likely stir up enmity in its mind. Let me say to Mr. Finley and his co-partners in the Keely cure business, that the prohibitionists have done what they have not done, viz: put their motives beyond question, in that they have done their work free of charge. Whenever we charge the poor drunkards with the expenses of our campaigns, then Dr. Keeley and his partners may presume to put themselves by our side. But as long as we are willing to spend and be spent to save the drunkard, and they grow fat at the drunkard's expense, any comparison is out of place. It is significant that the friends of the Keeley cure are opposed to prohibition. If prohibition succeeds, this their craft is in danger.

Respectfully, F. C. HICKSON.

We heartily believe in the Keeley cure, and regard it as a sure remedy for drunkenness.

We publish the above, not because we approve the attack on the Keeley Institute, but that our brethren may read and form their own conclusions.—EDITOR.

Gen. James Longstreet says: "I was cured of indigestion and insomnia by Germetuer."

The Root of the Evil.

There are two things that most of us are generous, even lavish, in giving away—other people's money and our own advice. Advice costs the giver nothing; though it may be very costly to the recipient if he is fool enough to follow it. Poor, indeed, is the man who has not a coterie of kind friends who keep wisdom on tap for his behoof. No such poverty as this is likely to overtake the managers of our denominational societies. They have friends in abundance, candid friends, who do not lack courage to tell them unpalatable truths, and they are in no danger of making mistakes through lack of good advice. In the columns of two of our esteemed Baptist contemporaries pastors and laymen have been telling the secretaries and boards of managers how little these latter know about their own business and how much better the advisers could manage things if they had a chance. It has been instructive reading, on the whole, but the instruction has not been of the kind intended by the writers.

For one thing, the mass of captious criticisms and impracticable suggestions has triumphantly vindicated the good sense and intelligence of the present and past administration of our societies. Secretaries and managers are only men, and, therefore, are neither omniscient nor infallible; but taking them all in all, and viewing their work in its broad sweep, the criticisms often made seem childish when they are not something worse. We have been fortunate as a denomination in the character and capacity of men who have served us in this work.

Another thing shown by the suggestions made is that most of the critics have approached the matter from the wrong point of view. Nine-tenths of them have assumed that something serious has been done or left undone by the administrators of the societies; whereas, the real difficulty is with the constituents of the societies—the churches and individual members that make up the Baptist host. Take the one matter of the anniversaries, about which there has been so much said. The general assumption is that if the managers would do something other than they are doing—if they would omit this and add that and change the other—the anniversaries would become a greater denominational force. This, we venture to say, is a sad misconception. The root of evils generally admitted to exist in the spirit and purpose of those who attend the anniversaries. The meetings lack power because a deep, spiritual feeling, a serious purpose, an intelligent interest in the affairs of Christ's kingdom are not brought to them by delegates and visitors. The great majority go simply to enjoy themselves; they have no object more elevated than mere amusement. Is this an uncharitable judgment? Look at the facts. What sessions are best attended? Those in which the time is occupied by frothy platform oratory. What speakers draw the crowds? Those who have a reputation as "funny" men, who can tell the best stories and provoke the heartiest laughs. What sessions bring together only a handful of the older delegates? Those in which reports from mission fields are presented, and in which the important business is transacted. The lobbies and ante-rooms are filled with a chattering host, while the king's business is left to get itself done as best it may.

If the managers have sometimes yielded too much to this demand for entertainment, let us not censure them too severely for our own weakness. They are human. They want an audience, and if an audience can be attracted only by a bait of jokes and quips, shall we blame them for giving us what we so plainly tell them that we will have or stay away? No, let us be honest with ourselves for once in a way, and confess that by our laughter and hand clapping and judiciously timed absences, we have told our servants, the managers, that if they do not give us an oratorical variety show, we will not honor them with our presence. We must first of all reform ourselves, and the meetings will be reformed. Censure the program-makers and the speakers if need be; but before any man casts the first stone at them, let him be acquitted by his own conscience of any share in their guilt. Our meeting are what we make them, what we really wish them to be—not, perhaps, what we pretend to wish them, but what in our heart of hearts we enjoy and approve, whatever we may say.—Examiner.

Gov. Hubbard of Texas was cured of dyspepsia and general debility by Germetuer.

Central Union.

The next Central Union convenes with the Galeed church, one and one-half miles from Bladenboro, on the C. C. Railroad, on Saturday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892. Rev. R. M. Sessoms is to preach the introductory.

SUBJECTS FOR DISCUSSION.

1. How can we best promote the missionary spirit in our Union?
2. Are the churches doing their duty in respect to temperance with their members?
3. Should not the churches pass resolutions in their bodies forbidding dances, which constitute reveling?

J. M. REGISTER, Mod.

F. S. AVERITT, Sec.

Dr. O. P. Starks of Alexander, La., says: "Had asthma from birth; tried everything; Germetuer cured me."

Caldwell County Union.

This Union will meet with the Granite Falls Baptist church on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May. Introductory preacher—Rev. I. W. Thomas.

QUERIES.

1. Is it the duty of Baptists to patronize their own schools? Speaker—W. H. Davis.
2. Exposition of Baptist church discipline. Speaker—S. C. Buchanan.
3. Associational Missions, and what are the teachings of the Scriptures on christian giving? Speaker—I. Oxford.
4. The doctrine of christian assurance. Speaker—C. M. Murchison.
5. The church member's influence. Speaker—J. H. Nelson.

A. E. NELSON, Sec.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure.

J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.

Very respectfully,
W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:

Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully,
ZACK DAVIS.

MR W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully,
F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.

Yours truly,
CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:

Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:

Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully,
J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.

A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Brittanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 26 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 40, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 101½ Whitehall St.

Raleigh & Gaston Railroad.

In effect Sunday, Jan. 10, 1892.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.	No. 34. Pass. Daily.	No. 38. Pass. & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.
Leave Raleigh	5 00 p m	11 25 a m
Lv Mill Brook	5 15 p m	11 40 a m
Lv Wake Forest	5 38 p m	12 04 p m
Lv Franklinton	5 58 p m	12 26 p m
Lv Kittrells	6 15 p m	12 43 p m
Lv Henderson	6 30 p m	12 59 p m
Lv Warren Plains	7 05 p m	1 39 p m
Lv Macon	7 14 p m	1 47 p m
Ar Weldon	8 15 p m	2 45 p m

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.	No. 41. Pass & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.	No. 45. Daily Pass.
Lv Weldon	12 30 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Macon	1 30 p m	8 01 a m
Lv Warren Plains	1 39 p m	8 09 a m
Lv Henderson	2 18 p m	8 43 a m
Lv Kittrells	2 34 p m	8 59 a m
Lv Franklinton	2 51 p m	9 16 a m
Lv Wake Forest	3 15 p m	9 36 a m
Lv Mill Brook	3 40 p m	9 58 a m
Ar Raleigh	3 55 p m	10 10 a m

LOUISBURG RAILROAD.

Leaves Louisburg at 8:00 a m, 11:30 a m and 5:00 p m.

Arrives at Franklinton at 8:35 a m, 1:05 p m, and 5:35 p m.

Leaves Franklinton at 6:05 p m, 8:00 p m, and 9:20 a m.

Arrives at Louisburg at 6:40 a m, 3:35 p m, and 9:20 a m.

JOHN C. WINDER, Gen. Man.
L. T. MYERS, Gen. Supt.
WM. SMITH, Superintendent.

Atlantic Coast Line.

Wilmington & Weldon Railroad and Branches.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE

Dated April 24, 1892.

GOING SOUTH.	No 23. Daily.	No 27. Fast Mail Daily.	No 41 Daily ex Sunday
Leave Weldon	12 30 p m	5 43 p m	6 00 a m
Ar Rocky Mount	1 40 p m	6 36 p m	7 09 a m
Arrive Tarboro	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro	12 58 p m	‡6 00 p m
Arrive Wilson	2 18 p m	7 00 p m	7 40 a m
Leave Wilson	‡2 30 p m
Arrive Selma	3 30 p m
Arr Fayetteville	5 30 p m
Leave Goldsboro	3 15 p m	7 40 p m	8 30 a m
Leave Warsaw	4 14 p m		9 30 a m
Leave Magnolia	4 27 p m	8 40 p m	9 44 a m
Arr Wilmington	6 00 p m	9 55 p m	11 25 a m

GOING NORTH.	No 14. Daily.	No 78. Daily.	No 40. Daily ex Sunday.
Lve Wilmington	12 35 a m	9 15 a m	4 20 p m
Leave Magnolia	1 54 a m	10 57 a m	6 02 p m
Leave Warsaw		11 11 a m	6 15 p m
Arrive Goldsboro	2 55 a m	12 05 a m	7 10 p m
Lve Fayetteville		‡9 10 a m
Leave Selma		11 06 a m
Arrive Wilson		12 10 p m
Leave Wilson	3 35 a m	12 58 p m	8 04 p m
Ar Rocky Mount	4 06 a m	1 30 p m	8 39 p m
Arrive Tarboro	‡6 30 a m	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro		12 58 p m
Arrive Weldon	5 05 a m	2 55 p m	10 00 p m

‡Daily except Sunday.

Trains on Scotland Neck branch road leave Weldon 4.00 p m, Halifax 4 22 p m; arrive Scotland Neck at 5.15 p m, Greenville 6.52 p m Kinston 8.00 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston 7.10 a m, Greenville 8 25 a m. Arriving Halifax at 11.00 a m, Weldon 11.25 a m, daily except Sunday.

Local freight train leaves Weldon Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10.15 a m, arriving Scotland Neck 1.05 a m, Greenville 5 30 p m, Kinston 7.40 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 7.20 a m, Greenville 9.55 a m, Scotland Neck 2.20 p m, arrive at Weldon 5 15 p m.

Train leaves Tarboro, via Albemarle and Raleigh railroad, daily except Sunday, 4.40 p m, Sunday 3.00 p m; arrive Williamston 7.18 p m, 4.20 p m, Plymouth 8.30 p m, 5 30 p m. Returning leaves Plymouth daily except Sunday 6.00 a m, Sunday 9.00 a m, Williamston 7.30 a m, 9.58 a m. Arrive Tarboro 10 40 a m, 11.20 a m.

Trains on Southern Division, Wilson and Fayetteville branch, leave Fayetteville 7 30 a m, arrive Rowland 12.15 p m. Returning leave Rowland 12 15 p m, arrive Fayetteville 5.15 p m. Daily except Sunday.

Train on Midland, N C, branch leaves Goldsboro daily except Sunday, 6 00 a m, arrive Smithfield 7.30 a m. Returning leaves Smithfield 8.00 a m, arrive Goldsboro 9 30 a m.

Train on Nashville branch leaves Rocky Mount at 5.15 p m, arrives Nashville 8.55 p m, Spring Hope 6.30 p m. Returning leaves Spring Hope at 8.00 a m, Nashville 8.35 a m, arrive Rocky Mount 9.15 a m, daily except Sunday.

Train on Clinton branch leaves Warsaw for Clinton daily except Sunday, at 8.20 p m, and 11.15 a m. Returning leaves Clinton at 8.20 a m, and 3.10 p m, connecting at Warsaw with Nos 41, 40, 28 and 78.

Southbound train on Wilson and Fayetteville branch is No 61; Northbound is No 60. Daily except Sunday.

Trains No 27 South, and 14 North, will stop only at Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Magnolia.

Train No 78 makes close connection at Weldon for all points North daily, all rail via Richmond, and daily except Sunday via Bay Line, also at Rocky Mount daily except Sunday, with Norfolk and Carolina railroad for Norfolk and all points north via Norfolk.

JOHN F. DIVINE, Gen. Supt.
J. R. KENLY, General Manager.
T. M. EMERSON, Traffic Manager.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 06 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 13 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	†1 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*3 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	*8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 59 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 20 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	3 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 13 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 38 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	†1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	4 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	*8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	3 05 p m	12 38 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 53 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkeville	3 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

†Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.05 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.40 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.

Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leave Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 30 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leave Oxford 3.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.

Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:30 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 5:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7: 5 and 10:45 p m.

No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville

Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday.

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.

On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.

SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent.
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N.C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.

In effect February 28, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.36 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bennettsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.27 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7.25 a m
Ar Greensboro			10.05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10.35 a m
Ar Madison			1.05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	6:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	3:03 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		2:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:39 p m
Ar Bennettsville		4:36 p m
Lv Madison			3:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:25 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			6:10 p m

W. H. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BARGER, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for May:—Italy.

Dr. Judson's Persistency of Purpose.

In the great work of preparation for his mission was displayed, another remarkable quality on which his success so largely depended, namely, his unrelaxing persistency of purpose. The long and patient drill which he took in the structural forms and tonal modifications of a most difficult language, the careful arrangement of its grammatical inflections, and the production of grammars and vocabularies, constituted his first work. Then he made himself acquainted with the literature, including the sacred books of the people, to a degree that no one has since equaled. Then he investigated the natural history, the vegetable productions, the mineral riches, and the qualities of the soil. He omitted nothing that could contribute to the fullest preparation for the translation of the sacred Scriptures into the language of the people. All this work was done for this single and holy end.

When he was asked to arrange his vast collection of materials for publications in the interests of science, he refused to entertain the proposition, and even objected to Mrs. Judson's devoting any portion of her time for that purpose, though large remuneration awaited the work. He was ready to undertake any exploration and any service, however difficult, which tended to forward his great aim, while he steadily refused to take any place or engage in any labor which diverged from the exact line of missionary service. He could say with Paul, "This one thing I do." And he did his work so well as to secure the commendation of all competent judges, because he never relaxed his grip of it, or allowed his time or strength to be diverted into other channels.

During these stages of preparatory study he maintained daily preaching in his house or in zayats to those whom he could induce to hear him. As soon as he was able to write the language, he prepared tracts setting forth the truths of christianity in a familiar way, made translations of portions of the New Testament, and thus in season and out of season scattered the living seed by the wayside, or spoke to the people the word of life. He found many listeners, but few inquirers during the early years of his residence in Burmah. But his persistency never gave way; he continued to give out line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little and there a little, in never-ceasing streams of utterance. Some of the friends in this country became anxious because no conversions were reported, but he pointed them to the promise of God, and worked on, and waited six years to see his first convert put on Christ by baptism. This confidence in God and in the result of labor done in his name, rises to the pitch of sublimity. What a picture this calm, plodding, patient, ever watchful, ever active christian worker presents, sitting amid the unbroken night, the unrelieved dreariness of heathenism, sustained by the unshaken assurance that having sown in tears he would reap in joy! And the promise of God did not fail.

Soon the work of translating the Scriptures, for which he had made such ample and conscientious preparation, became the chief work of his life. Few men of modern times have begun this vastly important work with such thorough qualification as respects natural endowment and special culture. Line by line and word by word he went through the original text, seeking to convey to his Burman readers the exact meaning of the Spirit, till on the last day of January, 1834, he completed his most responsible and exacting task, and holding the last leaf in his hand, exclaimed, "Thank God I can now say I have attained." I seem to see the man of God bowing on his knees beside the rude table on which he had wrought seventeen toilsome and anxious years, with the last leaf of the Burman Bible still moist with the traces of the well-worn pen, beseeching God to pardon the errors of his work and make it "the grand instrument of filling all Burmah with songs of praise to our great God and Saviour, Jesus Christ." Three times he reviewed and revised his work. He states that the third and last revision, made as the result of light acquired through the studies connected with his Burman dictionary, cost him as much labor as the original translation.

The last work which engrossed his thought and time was his great Burman-English and English-Burman Dictionary. He was loth to begin it; he longed to preach the word which he had transferred to the Burman language in public places to the people. It was for this that he had gone to the heathen, and he desired most of all to preach Christ to the perishing as the Way, the Truth and the Life. But his failing voice paved the way for the conviction that, after all, God might have chosen him for the work of the study and the closet, instead of the open ways of life. Accordingly, he entered on the work in 1843, but did not practically complete it till 1850, the year of his death. —Selected.

Friends of Italy will hear with delight of the diffusion of the Scriptures in Rome. It is said that during the first six months of 1890, 21,000 copies of the publications of the Bible Society were sold in Rome and its environs. An especially encouraging circumstance is the introduction of the Bible into Italian schools. Schools where other languages are taught have, it is stated, adopted the New Testament as a reading book.

Doctors? Pshaw! Take Beecham's pills.

What Commentary Shall I Buy?

That is a puzzling question to many young pastors. The average young pastor has not much money to spend and he must be careful as to his investments; but he needs and must have some good commentary. Which shall he choose? The American Baptist Publication Society has issued the "American Commentary on the New Testament" which, we believe, meets a long-felt want, and gives us a splendid commentary. It is in seven volumes, and can be had for $16.00. Alvah Hovey, D. D., is the editor, and such men as Broadus, Clarke, Bliss, Hackett, Arnold, Ford, Gould, Smith, Pidge, Dargan, Stevens, Harvey, Kendrick, Winkler, Williams and Sawtelle are the writers. It combines features exegetical and practical, explanatory and expository. We unhesitatingly commend this commentary. If you cannot buy it all at one time, buy the one you most need first, and then you will feel the need of the others. The commentary will quicken your zeal for Bible study, and that cannot be said of every commentary.

Senator J. R. Lyle says: "After giving up all hopes my wife was cured of neuralgia and indigestion by Germetuer."

Hair Flowers.

Bro. Batley:—I will make a request of the sisters and lady readers of the RECORDER.

To any who will send me one dollar to help raise the debt on our church at Eagles, I will send in return a pretty spray of hair flowers; or for three dollars, will send flowers and watch-guard; or for two dollars, will send watch-guard alone (unmounted).

The debt is a little over one hundred dollars; and Mr. Eagles, to whom we are indebted for the building, has been very lenient, and has waited patiently for his money. Now he is sadly in need of it. But there are only four of us sisters to do the work, and we have exhausted almost every means of raising the money; so I have resorted to this method, trusting God to bless my efforts. I will furnish hair for flowers and guard, or will make up family hair, if sent long, straight hair, the size of finger for guards, smaller pieces, and as many colors as possible, will be prettiest for flowers.

If any should wish further information about myself or the church, I refer them to Rev. Dr. J. D. Hufham of Tarboro, and also to Brother Powell of Mildred, who is our pastor.

All money received will be acknowledged. Letters or packages sent through open mail or registerd letter, I will be apt to get.

Hoping that my sisters and friends to the cause will hear this request and come to our rescue in kindly helping us to raise this debt, I remain very sincerely your sister,

MRS. S. P. WHITAKER,
Old Sparta, Edgecombe Co., N. C.

P. S. Please enclose fifteen cents for postage.

Sunken eyes, a pallid complexion, and disfiguring eruptions, indicate that there is something wrong within. Expel the lurking foe to health, by purifying the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Cures erysipelas, eczema, salt rheum, pimples, and blotches.

Bible Statistics.

The following Bible statistics are accurately copied from a slip of printed paper that is pasted on the fly leaf of a copy of Haydock's Bibles (Dublin, 1813), in King's Inn, Library, Dublin.

More than once have statistics of the following character found their way into print, to the delight of both old and young. The statement is mainly taken from an English Bible, as given by the indefatigable Dr. Horne in his introduction to the study of the Scriptures, and is said to have occupied more than three years of the compiler's life:

	Old Testament.	New Testament.	Total.
Books,	39	27	66
Chapters,	929	260	1,189
Verses,	23,214	7,959	31,173
Words,	593,493	181,253	773,746
Letters,	2,728,100	838,380	3,566,480

Apochrypha.—Books, 14; chapters, 183; verses, 6,031; words, 125,185; letters, 1,068,876.

The Bible.—The middle book is Micah. The middle (and smallest) chapter is Psalm cxvii. The middle verse is Psalm cxviii. 8. The middle line is 2 Chronicle iv. 16; the largest book is that of the Psalms; the largest chapter is Psalm cxix. The word Jehovah (or Lord) occurs 6,855 times. The word "and" occurs 46,227 times. The number of authors of the Bible is 50.

The Old Testament.—The middle book of the Old Testament is Proverbs. The middle chapter is Job xxix. The middle verse is 2 Chronicles xx., between verses 17 and 18. The shortest book, Obadiah. The shortest verse is 1 Chronicles i. 25. The word "and" occurs 35,543 times. Ezra vii. 21 contains all the letters of our alphabet. The word "Selah" occurs 73 times, and only in the poetical books. 2 Kings ix. and Isaiah xxxvii. are alike. This fact is an internal mark of the truth of these Scriptures, being transcripts from public records by two different writers, who were not contemporaries. The same may be said of the following two coincidences: The book of Esther does not contain the words God or Lord. The last two verses of 2 Chronicles and the opening verses of the book of Ezra ii. and Nehemiah vii. are alike.

There are nearly 30 books mentioned, but not found in the Bible, consisting of civil records and other ancient writings, now nearly all lost. They never formed part of the Holy Scriptures. About 26 of these are alluded to in the Old Testament.

The New Testament.—The middle book is 2 Thessalonians. The middle chapter is between Romans xiii. and xiv. The middle verse is Acts xvii. 17. The smallest book is 2 John. The smallest verse is John xi. 35. The word "and" occurs 10,684 times. The name Jesus occurs nearly 700 times in the Gospels and Acts, and in the Epistles less than 70 times. The name Christ alone occurs about 60 times in the Gospels and Acts, and about 240 times in the Epistles and Revelation. The term Jesus Christ occurs 5 times in the Gospels.

1. The Bible was not until modern times divided into chapters and verses. The division of chapters has been attributed to Lanfranc, Archbishop of Canterbury, in the reign of William I., and by others to Archbishop Langton, of Canterbury, A. D. 1206; but the real author of this division was Cardinal Hugo de Sancto Caro, about thirty years later.

The facility of reference thus afforded was further increased by the introduction of the present system of verses; this was done for the New Testament, in 1544, by R. Stephens, a French printer, it is said, while on horseback; but long before this the Hebrew Bible had been divided into verses by a Jewish rabbi, Mordecai Nathan.

2. The two principal English versions are those of "King James" (commonly called the Protestant version) and the Douay, or Roman Catholic. The former was translated from the Hebrew and Greek in the reign of James I., A. D. 1600–1611 by 47 Episcopalian bishops and other clergy. The Douay version was translated from the Latin Vulgate, collated with the Hebrew and Greek, by 4 professors of theology in the English College at Douay, A. D. 1709.

3. The Latin Vulgate is the later translation of the Bible in common (or vulgate) use in the Catholic churches. It was made A. D. 384, by St. Hieronymus, a learned monk. It is highly esteemed by all.

4. The earliest translation known of the Bible was the version of the Old Testament called the Septuagint, into Greek, made in Egypt, 285 years before Christ, by 70 learned interpreters, from which it has derived its common title Septuagint, meaning seventy.

5. The first English translation complete of the Bible was by Wycliff in A. D. 1380. Attempts, with partial success, had before been made by the Venerable Bede, A. D. 785, who died as he finished the last words of St. John's gospel. King Alfred, A. D. 900, continued it. It had in part been translated into Anglo-Saxon even before Bede. In French a version was made A. D. 1160, for the Waldenses, by their great leader, Peter Walden. In Spanish there was one made A. D. 1280, by order of Alphonso, King of Castile. In Germany a version was made about A. D. 1640. Luther made a new translation into German of the New Testament about A. D. 1522, and the Old Testament ten years later.

6. The first American edition was printed in Boston A. D. 1752. In the time of Edward I., A. D. 1250, a copy of the Bible was valued at $164 of our currency! Now they issue at the rate of three Bibles and a half per minute, at a cost of one cent per copy. Such is one class of the benefits arising from the invention and present advanced state of the art of printing. Truly it is, and has been styled, the lever of the world.—Notes and Queries.

Ask your druggist what proprietary medicine is selling right along and they will tell you King's Royal Germetuer.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.
Feb. 10, 1892.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "My wife and daughter were cured of headache and catarrh by Germetuer."

Chowan Association.

The Chowan Association meets with the church at Ballard's Bridge, Chowan county, May 17th, 18th and 19th.

Persons coming by steamer "Lota" from Franklin or Edenton will be met at Holley's Wharf. Those coming on the Suffolk and Carolina Railroad will be met at Chowan Station.

The ministers of this Association at their meeting in Edenton, April 6th, passed a resolution, requesting the Association to give the second day entirely to the Centennial of Missions. A. W. BUNROOF.

Always do right, though loss is the result.

Effect of Bad Positions.

An erect bodily attitude is of vastly more importance to health than most people generally imagine. Crooked bodily positions, maintained for any length of time, are always injurious, whether in a sitting, standing or lying position, whether sleeping or waking. To sit with the body leaning forward on the stomach or to one side, with the heels elevated on a level with the hands, is not only in bad taste, but exceedingly detrimental to health. It cramps the stomach, presses the vital organs, interrupts the free motion of the chest, and enfeebles the functions of the abdominal and thoracic organs, and, in fact, unbalances the whole muscular system. Many children became slightly humpbacked or severely round-shouldered by sleeping with the head raised on a high pillow.—Exchange.

The Book at Home.

Is there such devout and constant reading of God's holy word now? We fully believe that the beautiful custom does still exist, and that many men and women still know of this fountain of living waters, gathering about it daily for refreshment and guidance. The great company of invalids—those whom God has shut in their homes, and who hear in quietness the far-off rush of busy life—what would they do without the sacred word, and without the communion which they find in it, in lonely hours, with the Saviour whom they love and trust? Occasionally, also, we have a record of one who, in the midst of the ceaseless exactions of a business career, never failed to secure an hour of the day in which God's word was reverently read, and the enlightening influence of God's Spirit sought. Household duties, always recurring, and sometimes very perplexing, have not kept devout women srom the faithful perusal of chapters of the Holy Book. We do not believe that this good custom is dying out.—Exchange.

Hon. H. J. Chamberlain of Chicago says: "Germeteur cured me of an old case of dyspepsia."

How to Send Flowers by Mail.

Cut them early in the morning and let them stand in water for some hours before packing, so as to absorb moisture enough to prevent them from withering, in which case they will not need to be sprinkled after they are in the box.

Pack in a light wooden box lined with cotton batting and covered with tissue paper. Lay the flowers not on top of each other, but in rows side by side, the blossoms of each row on the stems of their neighbors, and as close as possible; cover with paper and cotton; see that the lid of the box is securely fastened, and remember to write on one corner "cut flowers," as that will insure the package being carefully and quickly handled.—Harper's Young People.

$100. Reward. $100.

The readers of the RECORDER will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.
Sold by druggists, 75c.

Destitution and Nobility.

Destitution is not necessarily linked to depravity. Because a man or woman is in want it does not follow that he or she is wanton. A man may be penniless without being profligate. Rags are not an infallible sign of either moral baseness or mental inability. Scandalous deeds have been done by those who have cloaked their infamous practices by imposing raiment. Whilst some of the sublimest thoughts have been conceived, some of the noblest actions performed, and some of the purest and most Christ-like lives led by men and women clad in seamy, seedy, tattered garments.—Dr. H. Hitchen.

If we want our liberal institutions to endure, we must have in men's hearts that love of public interest which alone can combat and overcome private interest, and lead men to take time to attend to the duties of citizenship—Montesquieu.

A contented spirit covers a man like a mackintosh in a rain-storm. It makes him impervious to petty annoyances that distress and torment those who are not thus protected.—Methodist Recorder.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

ITCHING HUMORS

Tortures, disfiguring eczemas, and every species of itching, burning, scaly, crusted, and pimply skin and scalp diseases, with dry, thin, and falling hair, are relieved in most cases by a single application, and speedily and permanently cured by the

CUTICURA

Remedies, consisting of CUTICURA, the great skin cure, CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite skin purifier and beautifier, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of humor remedies, when the best physicians fail. CUTICURA REMEDIES cure every humor, eruption, and disease from pimples to scrofula. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

PIMPLES, blackheads, red, rough, and oily skin prevented and cured by CUTICURA SOAP.

FREE FROM RHEUMATISM.

In one minute the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster relieves rheumatic, sciatic, hip, kidney, chest, and muscular pains and weaknesses. The first and only pain-killing strengthening plaster.

Peace Institute,
RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 54th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.)
Principal.

Please mention this paper.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D.,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a lifelong study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my Infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs,
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs,
RALEIGH, N. C.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

Rates per week: $10 per day.

PILES

The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

NEW ARRANGEMENT AS TO DEGREES AND TITLES.

The Board of Trustees have established four titles—Th. G., Th. B., Th. M. and Th. D. The first, Th. G., or Graduate in Theology, will be give to those whom we at present call English Graduates, who have completed the usual range of the theological study, except the Hebrew and Greek originals and the Seminary's peculiar course of theology in Latin text-books. The second, Th. B., Bachelor in Theology, will be given to those whom of late years we have called Eclectic Graduates who have passed in the Junior classes of Hebrew and Greek, in English Theology, Church History and Homiletics, and in any four of the other eight departments, which four in practice always include the study of the English Old Testament and New Testament. The third, Th. M., or Master of Theology will be given to those at present called Full Graduates, who have passed in not only the Junior but the Senior Classes in Hebrew and Greek, and in Latin Theology, as well as the whole range of what is included for the English Graduates. Then there is to be a fourth degree. Any student who, after becoming a Master in Theology, spends in the Seminary at least one full session of eight months in study, and has passed in at least five of the special classes which the catalogue offers outside of the general course, and who furthermore and especially presents to the Faculty an elaborate and satisfactory thesis showing new and valuable research, or original and valuable thought, upon some topic of theological inquiry, shall receive the title of Th. D., or Doctor in Theology, a title somewhat corresponding to the Ph. D., or Doctor of Philosophy, given in certain universities. One who wishes to make a special study of Old Testament, or Theology, or Church History, can select a number of special class cognate to that subject, and devote his thesis to a corresponding topic, and will thus receive his Th. D. upon his proposed specialty.

If some brethren shrink from the idea of giving the title of Doctor, because of their dislike to the honorary D. D., that they observe two differences—this is not D. D., but a different title; and it will not be honorary, but will represent a large amount of thorough work and real attainment. Perhaps one way to check the fashion of loosely giving the honorary D. D., will be to have another title that really means something.

The advantages of these titles will be twofold. They will make clearer to the students and to the general public the fact that our Seminary offers a wide range and ample variety of studies, and give credit to every man for what he has done, and will thus tend to correct the notion that because it receives many men of inferior general education, it can not do well for the firstrate college graduate. These titles will lead to inquiry and call for explanation, and even if some persons object to them, that will only occasion further explanation. And so in various ways they will help to educate the public mind into understanding that (while we should of course shrink from adopting any high sounding name), our long-struggling Southern Seminary has really aimed from the first to be a sort of Theological university. The other advantage of having these titles will be, in the way of stimulating a good many students to remain longer and take a more extended course, just as is the effect of the M. A. and the Ph. D, of some universities. A perverted ambition may work much harm, but a rightly directed ambition is a valuable and even necessary force in human exertion. It is believed that this system of titles will do some good immediately, and no little good as the years go on.

Ordination of Deacons.

The following presbytery—Rev. A. P. Hollifield, Deacons A. G. Weathers, J. M. Glasspie, L. A. Wright, P. Z. Carpenter, Wm. McCall, T. J. Dixon, G. A. Gold and S. L. Dellinger—met at New Bethel Baptist church, Cleveland county, May 6th, and ordained brethren H. F. Schenk, T. J. Ramseur and Carma Elam, deacons of said church. Rev. A. P. Hollifield preached the sermon, asked the questions and delivered the charge. L. A. WRIGHT, Chm'n.
S. L. DELLINGER, Sec.

To the Sunday-schools of the Pilot Mountain Association.

Dear Brethren:—The fourth session of the Pilot Mountain Sunday-school Association will be held with the Baptist church in Mt. Airy, May 27th to 29th inclusive. It is earnestly desired and urgently requested that every Sunday-school in the Association send a good delegation to this meeting. During this year, which is the Centennial Year of Missions, the Baptist propose a forward movement along the whole line and it is proposed to enlarge and extend our work in every direction. Let every school see that its pledges are met, and also to try to increase the amount of their pledges for the incoming year. The following are the pledges as made at the last session of the Association:

Becks, $5.00; Brown Mountain, 5.00; Broad Street, 10.00; Clemmonsville, 5.00; Friendship, 5.00; Germanton, 5.00; Leaksville, 25.00; Lewisville, 5.00; Mount Airy, 12.00; Mount Olive, 5.00; Macedonia, (pledge by Rev. P. Oliver) 5.00; Mount Mermon, ——; Mount Tabor, 5.00; Providence, ——; Red Bank, 7.00; Shiloh, 5.00; Union Hill, 2.00; Westfield, (pledge by Rev. N. J. Mathews), 5.00; Waughtown, pledge by Rev. S. [illegible] Conrad) 7.50; West Bend, ——; Winston, [illegible]; Walnut Cove, (pledge by Rev. S. F. [illegible]) 3.00; Bethel church and Sunday-[illegible]; Belphar Springs (by Rev. Alex. [illegible]) 5.00; Oak Ridge, 3.50; Peter's Creek, [illegible]; Superintendent read this letter [illegible] school. We will try to secure [illegible] over the railroads. Let us try and make this the most interesting session held.

REV. H. A. BROWN,
Chm'n Ex. Com. of the P. M. Asso.
REV. S. F. CONRAD, Sec.

PROGRAM.

Introductory sermon, by Rev. L. G. Broughton—Friday night 27th of May.

1. Secretary's Report on the Colportage Work for the past year, followed by general remarks.

2. The object of the Sunday-school—Rev. L. G. Broughton and J. C. Olive.

3. The Relation of the Sunday-school to the church, Revs. R. W. Crews, and R. L. Haymore.

4. Rewards and Prizes in Sunday-school Work. As to their Influence and Benefits, Rev. H. A. Brown and Prof. A. L. Crutchfield.

5. Teaching the Lesson. As to the Manner and means to be employed, Dr. W. J. Conrad and D. F. King.

Robeson Union.

Long Branch ch, May 28th and 29th.

Saturday 11 a m—Sermon by Rev Jas A Smith.

1 p m—Report on Ministerial Education. Rev A R Pitman.

2:30 p m—What is Our Duty as Christians and Citizens in Regard to the Liquor Traffic? Col T F Toon.

Sunday 9:30 a m—Sunday-school address by Frank Gough.

11 a m—Sermon by Rev W J Fulford.

The Ministers' Conference will meet on Friday preceding the Union.

E. K. PROCTOR, JR.

Eastern Union of the Raleigh Association.

This body will meet at Bethesda church, May 27th, 1892, at 11 o'clock a. m. Introductory sermon by Rev. O. C. Horton of Selma on Friday 11 a. m.

Brethren expecting to come by rail will be met by the Bethesda brethren at Wilson's Mills Friday morning and also Saturday morning. Brethren coming Thursday evening and Friday evening will be met by the Wilson's Mills brethren and entertained those nights. It is only about three miles to Bethesda.

It is hoped that we may have a large delegation at this meeting. I know that it is a busy time of year, but yet we must try to make our Union just what it ought to be. I hope that we may have quite a number of visiting brethren and sisters.

Fraternally, J. L. COTTINGHAM.

Elkin Sunday-school Convention.

This body will convene in its first annual session with church at Rock Creek, on Friday before the second Sunday in June, 1892, at 1. p. m. Sermon by Elder C. Blevins.

Organization. Address of Welcome by J. W. Myers. Response by Thos. Crabb.

Saturday 10. a. m.—Devotional Exercises by Elder W. F. Byrd.

QUERIES.

The Pastor's place in the Sunday-school? Discussion led by D. J. Roberts.

The relation and obligation of the churches to the schools, and the schools to the churches? Led by C. F. Fields.

1. p. m. By what means can the children of the surrounding country be gathered into the Sunday-school? Led by J. S. Kibby.

How can we best secure a general interest in the work? Led by A. J. Williams.

Importance of Sunday school training in developing christian character. Led by J. A. McCann.

All the schools will please send delegates. Any who wish will also be expected to make addresses. Elder C. Durham and other visitors are happily expected.

E. N. GWYN.

University Commencement.

The Commencement of the State University will occur May 29—June 1, 1892. The following is the program:

Sunday, May 29—Baccalaureate Sermon at 11 a. m., by Rev. J. W. Carter, D. D.

Monday, May 30—Annual Meeting of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Literary Societies, at 8:30 p. m.

Tuesday, May 31—9:30 a. m. Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

10 30 a. m. Meeting of the Alumni Association, Annual Address by Chas. D. McIver, Esq.

11:30 a. m. Decennial Reunion of the Class of 1982.

12 m. Oration by Hon. A. M. Waddell on the Life and Character of William L. Saunders.

8 p. m. Oration by Representatives of the Dialectic and Philanthropic Societies.

10 p. m. Presentation by Locke Craig, Esq., of Portrait of Hon. C. M. Stedman.

10:30 p. m. University Reception in the Gymnasium. (Tickets may be had of the Bursar, without charge).

Wednesday, June 1—9 a. m. Meeting of the Board of Trustees.

10 a. m. Orations by Members of the Graduating Class.

12 m. Address by Hon. Jno. G. Carlisle.

1. p. m. Reading of Reports, Conferring of Degrees, etc.

4 p. m. Athletic Sports.

8 p. M. Concert by the Glee Club.

G. T. W.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Stanly Union will meet at the Mt. Olive church, on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May at ten o'clock a. m.

Letter from Concord, N. C.

Dear Recorder:—I have been here one month. The prospect here brightens. The congregation has steadily increased all the time. There are about sixty members here, about twenty males. Sunday night the house was full to overflowing. There seems to be a christian spirit animating and inspiring these people with renewed zeal. They are not a wealthy people, but are doing something to lift the debt on the church, which is $1,000 in round numbers. A heavy mortgage depresses us. These poor laboring people will try to raise one-third of the amount this year. Already they are at work. Pray God's blessing upon this part of his vineyard. Fraternally,

J. O. ALDERMAN.

P. S. Allow me to acknowledge the following amounts collected for our benefit besides what our members have done:

M. R. Jackson, 50c.; E. A. McLester, 50c.; J. E. Hamilton, $1.00; J. S. Sapp, 50c.; Mrs. M. W. Ferguson, 25c.; Miss Hattie Ferguson, 25c.; Miss Annie Ferguson, 25c.; W. M. Corzine, 25c.; Mrs. Missouri Carter, $1.00.

J. O. A.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28–30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28–30.
Elkin—Rock Creek ch., June 11, 12.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27–29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27–29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27–29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27–29.
South Yadkin—Mocksville ch., May 27–29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27–29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27–29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS
Cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion & Debility.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Sunbeams, Goldsboro ch, pledge, $5.00; Cashie ch, W Chowan, 4.03; Beaufort ch, Atlantic, 5.00; Sardis ch, Caldwell, 90c; Lower Creek ch, ditto, 1.30; Holly Springs ch, Raleigh, 4.57; Concord ch, Meck and Cab. 2.10; First ch, Durham, Mt Zion, 3.23. Total, 26.13. Previously reported, 1,601.42. Total this year, 1,627.55.

Foreign Missions—Jackson ch, Liberty, 55c; Liberty ch, ditto, 68c; W M S, Warsaw ch, Eastern, 1.75; Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion, 2.18; New Hope ch, Eastern, 1.63; Oak Grove ch, 1.38; New Hope ch, Brushy Mountain, 82c; Cub Creek ch, ditto, 5.78; Salem ch, Raleigh, 6.00; Mayo's Chapel ch, 5.00; Gardners ch, 5.75; Bay Leaf ch, Central, 3.24; First ch, Winston, Pilot Mountain, 70.07; Garner ch, Raleigh, 1.00; Holly Springs ch, ditto, 14.08; Sunbeams, Long Creek ch, 1.00; S S, Bethel Hill ch, Flat River, 12.00; Robert's Chapel ch, W Chowan, 5.50. Total, 138.41. Previously reported, 4,436.85. Total this year, 4,575.26.

Home Missions—Jackson ch, Liberty, 55c; Liberty ch, ditto, 67c; Jersey ch, ditto, 2.26; New Hope ch, Eastern, 1.18; Oak Grove ch, 35c; Wilkesboro ch, Brushy Mountain, 1.73; Mt Carmel ch, Montgomery, 2.22; Garner ch, Raleigh, 75c; Oxford ch, Flat River, 13.00; Robert's Chapel ch, W Chowan, 3.12. Total, 25.83. Previously reported, 1,659.38. Total this year, 1,685.21.

Education—Cashie ch, W Chowan, $2.45; New Hope ch, Eastern, 82c; Pine Forest ch, W Chowan, 1.70; W M S, ditto, ditto, 3.30; Robert's Chapel ch, ditto, 6.00. Total, 14.27. Previously reported, 944 29. Total this year, 958.56.

Orphanage—New Hope ch, Eastern, $2.56; Griffin's X Roads ch, Cape Fear, 2.00; White Marsh ch, 87c; Mt Airy ch, Pilot Mountain, 9.65; Albemarle ch, Stanly, 3.00; S S, New Hope ch, Central, 5.05; Holly Springs ch, Raleigh, 30c; Jackson ch, W Chowan, 6.00; Mt Zion ch, Cape Fear, 2.00. Total, 31.43. Previously reported, 571.49. Total this year, 602.92.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Holly Springs ch, Raleigh, $1.40.

Sunday-schools—S S, Brassfields ch, Central, $1.25; S S, Moravian Falls ch, Brushy Mountain, 9.08. Total, 10.33.

In RECORDER, May 3rd, Jerusalem ch, $3.80 for Foreign Missions, should be 3.30. In last RECORDER, Salem ch, Chowan Asso, 4 30, Orphanage, should be 3.20.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, May 14, 1892.

RHEUMATISM
neuralgia, and sciatica can always be successfully treated with Ayer's Sarsaparilla
A cure is sure to follow
the persistent use of this medicine.
Has Cured Others
will cure you.

The old saying that "consumption can be cured if taken in time" was poor comfort. It seemed to invite a trial, but to anticipate failure. The other one, not so old, "consumption can be cured," is considered by many false.

Both are true and not true; the first is prudent—one cannot begin too early.

The means is careful living. Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is sometimes an important part of that.

Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING—free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.
33

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $2.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
130 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
74 W. Fourth Street, 13 East 16th Street,
Cincinnati. New York.
Root & Sons Music Co., Chicago.

Notice.

Having qualified as Administrator of the estate of Francis Lee, deceased, late of Wake county, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present them to me at Wendell, N. C., on or before the 12th of May, 1893, or this notice will be plead in bar of their recovery.

D. T. LEE, Adm.

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 28 Bond St., N. Y.

The Leaksville Woolen Mills, Leaksville, N. C., need no introduction to the public in North Carolina and adjoining States. This is simply to remind you that they are still "in touch" with the people, working up their wool into various forms of finished product at satisfactory prices. A handsome catalogue containing samples of their new and attractive styles of Fancy Cassimeres and All-Wool Flannels, together with all other goods made by them, is sent to any address on application. Besides an interesting article on "Wool On How to Handle It," the catalogue contains full particulars in regard to shipping wool. If these details are carefully followed, we guarantee prompt return of goods.

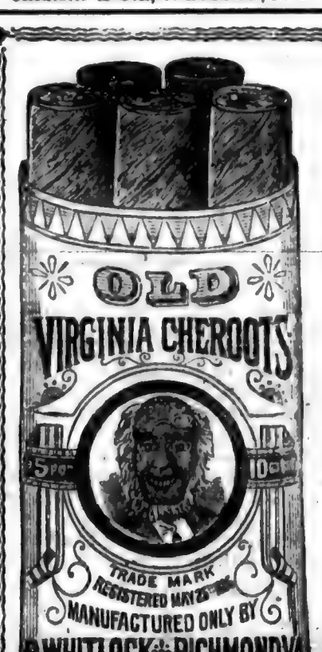
Write to Hiram Foard, Sec'y, Leaksville, N. C., for catalogue, before disposing of your wool.

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free, and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO, 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & CO., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

Do You Want a Teacher?
TEACHERS' EXCHANGE,
Box 378, Richmond, Va.,
Supplies Colleges, Schools and Families with Teachers without charge. Secures situations for teachers at moderate cost. Correspondence solicited.
WM. F. FOX, Manager.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee [illegible] stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUCATION, Miss CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg, NASHVILLE, TENN



Facts Worth
- THINKING ABOUT.
Fact One:
Old Virginia Cheroots are made of the finest Virginia leaf. - - -
Fact Two:
They Give a delicious, cool, sweet smoke to the end. - - - - - -
Fact Three:
FIVE for TEN CENTS.
Therefore:
20 - - - BUY THEM.

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!

If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the

Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED.
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, ELKIN, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

Southern Baptist Educational Conference.

A conference of Baptist presidents, professors of colleges and universities, teachers of academies and trustees of these various institution, met according to announcement, during the session of the Southern Baptist Convention in Atlanta, Ga.

The enrollment of representative men showed the following names: Prof. W. R. Rothwell, William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo.; Prof. H. H. Harris, Richmond College, Richmond, Va.; President W. S. Ryland, Bethel College, Russellville, Ky.; President Charles L. Cocke, Hollins Institute, Va.; Prof. Thos. Hume, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.; President R. M. Dudley, Georgetown College, Georgetown, Ky.; President W. A. Montgomery, Carson and Newman College, Mossy Creek, Tenn.; President Charles E. Taylor, Wake Forest College, N. C.; Superintendent J. T. Murfee, Marion (Ala.) Military Institute; President R. A. Venable, Mississippi College, Clinton, Miss.; President T. S. McCall, Bethel Female College, Hopkinsville, Ky.; President A. J. Battle, Shorter College, Rome, Georgia; Vice-President A. F. Williams, Bethel College, Ky.; Prof. T. J. Dupree, So. Western Baptist University, Jackson, Tenn.; President B. F. Riley, Howard College, East Lake, Ala.; Rev. Dr. J. D. Robnett, Financial Agent Board of Trustees Howard Payne College, Texas; President Jas. Nelson, Richmond Female Institute, Richmond, Va.; President C. S. Gardner, Boscobel College, Nashville, Tenn.; Rev. Dr. G. A. Lofton and I. J. Van Ness, Trustees Boscobel College; President A. F. Baker, Pierce City College, Mo.; President F. P. Hobgood, Oxford Female Seminary, Oxford, N. C.; President L. D. Bass, Southern Female University, Florence, Ala.; Rev. Dr. W. R. L. Smith, Trustee So. W. Bap. University, Tenn., and Boscobel College, Nashville; President S. D. Jones, So. Western Va. Institute, Glade Spring, Va.; Dr. J. M. Phillips, Trustee Bethel Female College, Rev. Dr. T. D. Pittman, Trustee Howard Payne College, Texas; President Wm. G. Hix, Montezuma Institute, Montezuma, Ga.; President J. M. Bent, Liberty College, Glasgow, Ky.; President J. G. Paty, Boscobel College, Nashville, Tenn.; Will A. Cate, Margville, Tenn., Trustee Harrison and Chilhowee Normal College, Trundle's Cross Roads, Tenn.; Prof. Jas. H. Fuqua, Bethel College, Russellville, Ky.; M. M. Riley, Financial Agent Georgetown College, Ky.; Prof. J. M. McIver, Mary Sharp College, Winchester, Tenn.; President H. H. Epes, Alabama Central Female College, Tuscoloosa, Ala.

Rev. W. R. Rothwell, D. D., Professor of Moral Philosophy and Theology in William Jewell College, Mo., was elected President, and Rev. Thos. Hume, D. D., Professor of English in the University of North Carolina, Secretary of the conference.

The programme of exercises prepared and published by a committee composed of President Ryland of Kentucky, Prof. Harris and President Cocke of Virginia, was adopted, and President Taylor of North Carolina read the first paper on "To what extent may the student take part in the discipline of the College?" A republic, he suggested, is better, abstractly, than a monarchy; practically, a monarchy better for the immature or the unprepared. In the average American college students should be allowed little share in the direct management while indirectly they must have to do with the moulding of the character of the institution. How can a transitory element, the four-year-students, do the work of law-making? Nor can it settle the personal equation so as to be judicial or executive. But a true public opinion may be fostered and gradually develop self-respect and self-control. A manly set of students will regulate dishonesty in examinations and like questions. His experience confirmed these views.

President Dudley of Kentucky read the next paper on "The Affiliation of Colleges with the University." The sudden springing up of the Chicago University has excited interest in this question. Dr. Dudley thought this affiliation practicable, if such close relations of colleges and academies is possible and already realized. Affiliation relieves the financial strain on the college by confining the college within its legitimate sphere and relegating certain subjects or departments to the university, thus requiring fewer professors or making use of specialists provided by the university. This paper was discussed by Prof. Harris of Virginia, President Ryland of Kentucky, President Baker of Missouri, Presidents Venable of Mississippi and Montgomery of Tennessee, and much difference of opinion expressed. No official expression of the views of the conference was made.

Prof. J. H. Fuqua of the Department of Mathematics, Georgetown College, Kentucky, read a paper on "Examinations as Tests of Scholarships." Many graduates have no scholarships answering to their degrees. Will any examination method provide a remedy? Yes—and no. Often the examination is a mere "cram." The daily recitation may be more rigorously conducted and result in individual scrutiny. Then a system of daily review, weekly review, original application of principles and unexpected form of questions in both daily recitation and final examination may help to solve the difficulty.

The conference adjourned from Saturday night to Monday morning, when Prof. Rothwell of Missouri read a paper on "Physical Culture and College Athletics." The argument for such training and the need of endowment or adequate provision for this department were so forcibly presented that the publication of the paper was requested. It was discussed by Presidents Riley of Missouri, Jones of Virginia, Bent of Kentucky, Nelson of Virginia and Hobgood of North Carolina, and Prof. McIver of Tennessee. The practicability of military discipline in colleges was presented with special favor by Dr. Riley and others.

In the absence of the gentleman appointed to read a paper on "The Bible as a College Text-Book," Mr. F. S. Brockman of New York, International Secretary of the College Department of the Young Mens' Christian Association, was invited to address the conference. He presented the history and success of the movement to provide a special chair of the English Bible in colleges. The subject was further discussed by Dr. Hume of North Carolina.

President Riley of Alabama read the last paper on "Secondary Schools." The feasibility of establishing endowed academies or high schools as feeders to denominational colleges was urged in the paper and in discussion by President Ryland of Kentucky, Profs. Williams and Fuqua and President Dudley of Kentucky.

A committee consisting of the officers of the convention and Dr. Nelson of Virginia was requested to prepare a programme for the next meeting of the conference to be held at Nashville, Tenn., one day before the opening of the next annual meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention. Prof. Hume of North Carolina was appointed to represent the conference before the Convention in Atlanta, and on Tuesday night delivered an address before that body on the "Relation of our colleges and schools to the supply of an effective gospel ministry." The elective plan of college courses and instruction, and its relation to the flexibility and diversification of plans of education required for the variety of preachers needed in the Baptist denomination, and indeed everywhere, was presented by Dr. Hume in his discussion of the ministry suited to the age.

H.

Rev. H. H. Rivers, D. D., of Louisville, Ky., says: "I was cured of neuralgia by Germetuer."

From Lenoir.

Fourth Sunday in April, Bro. C. E. Gower of Lincolnton began a meeting in Lenoir, which continued six days and nights, with one profession of faith in Christ, and one addition to the church by letter.

The congregations were large at night but small at the day service, owing to the very busy time with farmers, and several of our members are such, living near town. Then I was so situated myself that I could not attend all the services, but it was a good meeting in several particulars. It helped the members, the preaching made a good impression on the people, the people were drawn closer together, and we hope the good seed sown will yet bring forth a good harvest. Bro. Gower did good gospel preaching and endeared himself to us all as a preacher and as a devoted, consistent christian man. We all learned to love him, and shall be glad to have him come again.

The cause in Lenoir, I think, is hopeful. We are preparing to paint our house this spring, which will make it more inviting and attractive. Our Sunday and Sunday-night congregations are good.

Last Sunday week, after services in town, I went out two miles and aided in the constitution of a colored church. I think they will build in or near Lenoir.

I. W. Thomas.

Hibriten, May 10, 1822.

Rev. M. H. Wells of Birmingham says: "La grippe and rheumatism were quickly and permanently cured by Germetuer."

Fifth Sunday Meeting at Knap of Reeds.

This body will meet on Saturday and Sunday, May 28th and 29th, 1892.

Saturday, 10:30 a m—Devotional exercises.

11 a m—Sermon by Dr R H Marsh.

1:30 p m—Our Centennial Movement. B Royster and J S Corpening.

8 p m—Family Worship. D Howard, W R Cullom.

Sunday 10 a m—S S mass-meeting.

11 a m—Sermon by Rev J S Corpening.

1:30 p m—State Missions. J D Boushall.

2:30 p m—The Importance of Union Meetings. To be discussed by the brethren.

The brethren from other churches in the Flat River Association are cordially invited to co-operate with us in this meeting, and it is earnestly hoped that all the speakers will be present and that our discussions will be stimulating and helpful.

W. R. Cullom.

Dr. Bigger's Huckleberry Cordial cures all bowel and stomach troubles and children teething. Sold by all dealers.

The Bishop of Exeter (England) recently visited an idiot asylum and "confirmed" some of the idiots. When criticised, he defended himself on the ground that, if baptism could be rightly given to unconscious infants, "confirmation" might with propriety be given to idiots. We think the bishop is right in this. There is certainly as much reason and Scripture for confirming idiots as there is for baptizing infants.—Exchange.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

State News.

There are 348 students at the State University.

The Oxford Day, published daily, has suspended publication.

The Odd Fellows Orphanage at Goldsboro, was opened last week.

The next session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows will be held in Winston.

The General Conference of the Christian church meets at Elon College May 21st.

It is stated that Mr. J. C. Kearney, will establish a canning factory at Louisburg.

The proposed new court-house for Stanly county, will cost [illegible] and is to cost $10,000.

McKethan's mill at Mallet's pond near Fayetteville, was recently burned. Loss $2,500.

The total amount realized from a land sale at North Wilkesboro last Wednesday was $16,375.

Senator Vance has been ill at Gombroon near Asheville, and is now at Washington for treatment.

The eighth annual meeting of the North Carolina Dental Society, will be held at Winston, May 24th, 25th and 26th.

A new brownstone company has been organized at Sanford, with Wm. Rackle, president and general manager.

T. S. Bradley, a clerk in the depot at Paint Rock, committed suicide on the 12th inst., by shooting himself with a pistol.

John Cox, colored, was hanged at Trenton, Jones county last Friday, for the murder of Wm. Sutton, colored, on September 6th, 1888.

Near Mt. Tabor, Forsythe county last Wednesday, James Ransom took an overdose of laudanum which resulted in his death. He had been drinking.

E. F. Moore, ex-president of the People's National bank of Fayetteville, has been convicted on a charge of false pretense, and sentenced to five years imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The town of Greenville, Pitt county, was visited by a disastrous fire on Sunday evening the 8th inst. Four houses were destroyed and a number of others endangered. Loss between $5,000 and 6,000.

Capt. John A. Richardson, collector of customs for the Pamlico district under Cleveland, and formerly register of deeds of Craven county, died at his home at New Berne, Monday of last week.

Associate Justice Walter Clark, of the Supreme Court, is to deliver the address at the celebration at the battle-ground of Guilford court-house, July 4th. He will take as his subject "The Life and Services of General William R. Davie," the great cavalry fighter of the war of the revolution.

We learn from the Kinston Free Press that on Saturday afternoon, May 7th, at Pollocksville, two little daughters of Mr. Samuel Hudson, member house of representatives from Jones county, were drowned while wading in Trent river. Sadie, aged eight years, got in water too deep and her sister, Flossie, aged thirteen, tried to save her, and both were drowned together.

Charlotte celebrates this week the 117th anniversary of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. The celebration imbraces Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. There are numerous attractions, and large crowds will undoubtedly attend. On the afternoon of the 20th an Oration will be delivered by Senator David B. Hill, of New York, followed by Senators Ranson, Butler, Voorhees, Daniel and others.

Tryon City, beautiful for situation and perched upon a mountain, is now the subject of a big law suit. Mrs. Mary M. Cureton, daughter of Govan Mills, deceased, the widow of Dr. Thomas Cureton, formerly of Charlotte, has begun a law suit and sues for the possession of nearly the whole of Tryon City in Polk county, and she, as the only surviving heir of Govan Mills, claims title through a State grant for 350 acres of land given in 1790 to James Logan.—Shelby Aurora.

Col. I. W. Avery of Atlanta says: "I was cured of kidney troubles and paralysis by Germetuer."

General News.

Over $100,000 worth of damage was done by fire in Savannah, Ga., last Thursday night.

Deeming the wife murderer arrested in Melbourne, Australia is to be executed May 23d.

Heyman, Alexander & Co., yarn merchants of Bradford, Eng., have failed. Liabilities $400,000.

A marriage took place one day recently, in the head of the Goddess of Liberty on Bedloe's Island, New York.

Senator John S. Barbour, of Virginia, died very suddenly in Washington City last Saturday morning, of heart failure.

In all, fourteen persons have died from the effects of burns received in the Central theatre fire recently at Philadelphia.

It is reported that a big wall paper trust has been organized at Buffalo, N. Y., with an invested capital of about $20,000,000.

The extensive pottery works of Thomas A. Maddock & Sons at Trenton, N. J., were burned on the 12th inst. Loss $175,000.

The Confederate Soldiers Home at the Hermitage, in Tenn., was formally opened on the 12th inst. The main building will provide for 125 disabled veterans.

The Grand Opera House, Lehigh Valley freight depot and other buildings at Hazleton, Pa., were destroyed by fire last Saturday. Loss $100,000; two-thirds insured.

A. A. Jones, the railroad and express agent at Ellaville, Fla., who is also the telegraph operator, skipped last week with a $3,000 express payage belonging to Drew & Buckil, a lumber firm at Ellaville.

Immense damage to property &c., has been done by the floods in the West, especially in Missouri. At Arrow Rock the damage is estimated at 200,000. The rivers are flooding thousands of acres of land.

While the paymaster of a quarry company, was on his way to the quarries near Syracuse, N. Y., last Friday with the wages of 250 men, he was held up by two highwaymen who robbed him of $3,500, and then escaped.

That portion of the Charleston, Cincinnati and Chicago railroad which lies in Tenn., was sold at auction in Johnson City Tenn., last Thursday to satisfy a debt. It was bid in by Samuel Hunt for the stockholders for $200,000.

The magnificent new Capitol building of New Mexico, at Santa Fe, was burned last Thursday evening. The building was valued at $250,000 and is a total loss. The library, carpets, furniture, &c., on the two lower floors were saved.

A terrible explosion occurred in the coal mines of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company at Roslyn, Washington Tuesday evening of last week. Forty-three men were killed. About 250 children have been left fatherless by the disaster.

The great steel bridge over the Mississippi river at Memphis, Tenn., was formally declared open for trafic on Thursday last. It was estimated that 30,000 people were present at the exercises. Senator Voorhees delivered the address. The bridge is located on the exact spot where Ferdinand De Soto crossed the Mississippi in 1541.

The Childs-Drexel National Home for Union Printers, at Colorado Springs, Col., was dedicated on the 12th inst. The day was the 72d anniversary of the birth of Mr. George W. Childs, one of the patrons of the Home, who was present and delivered a short address. The Home is the only institution of the kind in the world.

Henry James, a mulatto twenty two years old, in the employ of a Mr. Charles Johnson of Little Rock, Ark., made an assault last Wednesday on the five year old adopted daughter of Mr. Johnson. The negro fled but was captured on Friday and placed in jail, but was afterward removed to the penitentiary. At midnight the penitentiary was surrounded by a mob of about one thousand men, who being refused admittance broke in and secured James. He was taken to the very heart of the city, and hanged to a telegraph pole. The injured child died.

Rev. M. C. Cole, New Orleans, says: "Germeture cured me of rheumatism and indigestion."

MARRIED.

ALLEN—GOSWICK—On May 12th, 1892, in Franklinton, N. C., by Elder John Mitchell, Solomon J. Allen, Esq., of Wake, and Mrs. Bessie J. Goswick of Franklinton.

LELONIS—SLEDGE—On May 11th, 1892, at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. Crawford Sledge, by Rev. J. K. Howell, Mr. A. L. Lelonis of Mississippi and Miss Mamie Sledge of Caswell county, N. C.

DIED.

OLMSTEAD—Bro. Jas. S. Olmstead was born in Walesville, N. Y., March 5th, 1820, and died at his home near Fish Dam, N. C., Jan. 1st; 1892, of pneumonia. His suffering was great, but his faith was strong.

Bro. Olmstead loved his church, and was ever ready to help his brethren in every good word and work. He was not afraid to die, having told his wife a few hours before his death not to grieve for him, the quicker death came the better. He seemed to long for something better than earth could give him. He remarked to his youngest daughter a few minutes before he expired that he would soon be at his long-sought home.

We shall miss him at Roberson Grove, but we bow with submission, and pray God's blessings upon the bereaved widow and children. May God's grace sustain and keep them till the summons comes to unite them in a brighter and better world, is the prayer of his pastor. J. F. MacDuffie.

BIZZELL—On Thursday, May 5th, our Bro. C. W. Bizzell departed this life at his residence in Wayne county, in the sixty-seventh year of his age. He was an influential citizen and was most highly esteemed by all who knew him for his upright life and pure character. In his boyhood days he gave his heart to Christ, and for at least thirty-five or forty years he had been an honored member of the Baptist church, joining first at old Bear Creek before that church was moved to the town of LaGrange. He loved his church and delighted to attend its services, and it was a great privation to him to be deprived on account of his failing strength of this privilege for eighteen months previous to his death. But during all his suffering he seemed resigned to the will of God, and greatly delighted in talking about God's goodness to him. A good man has gone, and to mourn his loss he leaves three affectionate sons, two loving daughters and a host of friends. May the troubled hearts of all be comforted as they remember that "blessed are the dead which die in the Lord." G. L. Finch.

COFFIELD—It is with sorrowing hearts that we chronicle the deaths of little nephew and neice, Cyrus Smith and Lottie Toy Coffield. Dear little Cyrus left us March 31st, 1892, aged four years, six months and twenty-five days. He was a bright, loving child. Dear little Lottie left us April 24th, 1892, aged eight years, eleven months and one day. She was loved by all.

Dear parents, do not grieve. They are not dead, but sleepeth. They have passed over the river and wait to welcome us. We have many loved ones over there, and if we are blessed to get there, oh what a happy meeting it will be. Let us all strive, and pray without ceasing, that we may be permitted to reach that happy land and be with our dear Saviour and loved ones where there is no sorrow, pain or parting. Lottie was very fond of uncle Cary, but he must give her up with sorrowing heart and submit to our dear Father's will, who doeth all things well. She was a true Sunday-school scholar, and loved the dear song "Yes, Jesus, my Saviour, is watching over me, and calling me home." She could sing it so sweet. Jesus has called them both home. Good bye, till we meet again.

Uncle Cary.

If you feel weak and all worn out take BROWN'S IRON BITTERS

An Opportunity to get the Best

Life of Spurgeon

FREE.

BY RUSSELL H. CONWELL.

Over 600 Pages.

Handsomely Bound.

Elegantly Illustrated.

It Sells at $1.50.

We give it to all new subscribers. For $2.00 you will get the Biblical Recorder for one year and the Life of Spurgeon. To old subscribers who pay their subscriptions one year in advance, and fifty cents additional, we will give the book.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

—OF THE—

University of North Carolina.

Third session will begin Sept. 1st, 1892. Instruction in Chemistry, Physics, Anatomy, Histology, Physiology and Materia Medica. Dissecting material furnished by the State. Practical microscopic work in the Biological Laboratory. For catalogue or other information, address

DR. R. H. WHITEHEAD,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

W. H. & R. S.

TUCKER & CO.

RALEIGH, N. C.

Spring Season,

'92.

DRY GOODS

—AND—

Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out-of-town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE

Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.

(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker & Co.

RALEIGH, N. C.

The Home Circle.

Quiet Lives.

How quietly the flowers bloom
On hills and vales of earth!
Shedding abroad a sweet perfume,
The mission of their birth.

In walks away from broil and strife,
Like some rich and rare,
The beauty of a quiet life
Sends fragrance everywhere.

How noiselessly the sunbeams fall
On fields and meadows green!
Brightening the cot and marble hall
With gilt and golden sheen.

'Tis not the noise that brings the day
And scatters dismal night;
'Tis love that drives dull care away
And fills the soul with light.

How silently the stars move on
In paths marked out of old!
Whence they have come and whither gone
The tale has not been told.

A life of quiet in wisdom's ways
Will send this truth abroad;
Duty proclaims the highest praise
And brings the best reward.

—J. C. Hanes, in Richmond Advocate.

Judge Not.

"O, mamma!" cried Jack, running into the sitting room, where his mamma was sewing, "Sidney is breaking a commandment, he is—'Thou shalt not steal,'—and I should think that he'd be ashamed of himself."

"Why, Jack," said his mother, in surprise, "what can you mean?"

"He is, truly, mamma," said Jack, hopping about on one foot, and seeming rather to enjoy the fact. "I saw him getting sugar out of the sugar-bowl, and you know you told us not to."

"O," said mamma, in a tone of relief, "that's it, is it? Come here, Jack," and taking her little boy's hand, she drew him to her side. "Do you think it such a dreadful thing to break a commandment, dear?"

"Why, yes, mamma, of course," answered Jack, astonished that his mother should ask such a question.

"You would not do it?"

"No, indeed, mamma."

"Then you think you are very much better than Sidney?"

Jack hung his head at that question, but did not say No.

"Now, Jack, I want you to see how mistaken you are; you think you would not break a commandment, but because you are so able to believe evil of your brother, you are really breaking the command which says, 'Thou shalt not bear false witness.' Do you know what that means, Jack?"

"Yes, mamma, you said it meant saying what was not true about anyone; but Sidney was stealing, for I saw him."

"He was taking sugar, Jack, but are you sure he was stealing?"

"Yes," answered Jack, "and now I s'pose he's going away to eat it."

At that moment the door opened, Sidney came into the room, his bright, manly little face not looking at all as though he were ashamed of himself.

"Here is the sugar for Dickey, mamma," he said, slipping the lump between the wires of the cage, "and here is a letter for you. I saw the postman coming and waited a minute for him."

"Thank you, dear," said mamma smiling at him; and then she turned and looked at Jack.—Sunbeam.

Don't Marry Him.

You have heard the old refrain a thousand times, "Don't marry a man if he drinks;" and this direction is well worth heeding, even if it has about it the appearance and flavor of a chestnut. But all sin isn't corked up in the whisky bottle, by any means, and there are other men I wouldn't marry besides the fellow whose breath too often smells of cubebs and cloves. Don't marry the young man who leaves his mother to find her way home as best she can on a dark night, while, without a word or thought of apology to the old lady, he looks after you. One of these days, when the novelty is worn off, he will leave you to go along as best you can, while he seeks his selfish enjoyment at the club.

Don't marry a man who curls a scornful lip when religion and the Bible is spoken of, and who has all the mistakes of Moses and the misdeeds of Solomon at his tongue's end. A copy of Ingersoll's lectures on the parlor-table, instead of the family Bible, is a very poor guarantee of happy family life.

Don't marry a man whose friends smile at each other when his name is mentioned and say, 'Well, we hope he'll come out all right, but he's sowing a few wild oats just now." Remember what is sown before marriage is reaped after marriage. It will be very awkward for you to be obliged to reap that crop one of these days; and, if you marry him, you will have the most of it to gather in.

Don't marry a man whose linen is more spotless than his character, whose shirt-collar is more flexible than his integrity, and whose necktie is the only immaculate thing about him. Collars and cuffs and neckties are all very well; but they do not make up a good husband, though they do very well on a tailor's dummy. Integrity of character is much more important than these things as a man is of more importance in the world than a dude.—Golden Rule.

Peculiar

...very peculiar when you try Dr. Bigelow's Cordial you will never ... be without it again! It ... relieve all bowel affections ... vomiting

Honors to the Flag in the Navy.

I am not so familiar with the customs of the army in regard to the flag, but in the navy I know they are admirable, and decidedly worthy of emulation in civil life. You may perhaps know that the flag of a ship does not fly during the night. It is taken in at sunset; and I think the simple little ceremony which attends the hauling down of the ensign at sunset is one of the prettiest in existence. The first time I ever saw it I was sitting on the quarter-deck of the U. S. S. "Yantic," conversing with three of her officers. We had been dining together, and were enjoying the cool evening breeze under the awning. I knew that it was nearly time for "evening colors," and I was anxious to see whether the ceremony in the navy was different from that aboard a first class yacht. I speedily learned that there was a difference.

A few minutes before sundown a bugle-call sounded from the flagship, and the call was immediately repeated by the buglers of the other ships of the squadron.

"What is that?" I asked.

"That's 'Stand by the colors,'" said one of the officers.

Two sailors came aft, cast off the ensign halyards and stood by with their eyes on the flagship. In a few moments we heard bugles sounding again; for you must know that on board ship many of the commands are conveyed by a few musical notes upon the bugle. A marine came aft, and, saluting, said:

"Haul down, sir."

"All right," said the officer of the deck. "Sound off."

At that order the bugler of the Yantic blew the lovely call, "Evening Colors."

The moment he sounded the first note the officers rose from their chairs, faced the colors, took of their caps, and stood silent, in respectful attitudes, while the two seamen slowly hauled down the colors, bringing them in over the rails as the call came to an end. When the colors reached the deck and were gathered in by the seamen, and the last note of the bugle died away, the officers put on their caps, resumed their seats and went on with the conversation. Removing the cap in honor of the colors is the common form of salute in the navy. When an officer comes up from below he always lifts his cap in the direction of the quarter-deck; and all boys should remember, when visiting a man of war, that the proper thing to do when you go on board is to turn towards the stern of the ship, where the ensign always flies at the taffrail staff, and raise the hat. If the officer of the deck sees you he will return the salute; but whether any one is on the quarter-deck or not, always raise your hat when you go aboard. The salute is to the flag, not to any person, and surely every American boy ought to be proud to lift his hat to the flag of his country.—St. Nicholas.

Rev. Dr. Hawthorne says that he was cured of catarrh and his wife of neuralgia and rheumatism by Germetuer.

"I Know a Thing or Two."

"My dear boy," said a father to his only son, "you are in bad company. The lads with whom you associate indulge in bad habits. They drink, smoke, swear, play cards and visit theatres. They are not safe company for you. I beg you to quit their society."

"You needn't be afraid of me father," replied the boy, laughingly; "I guess I know a thing or two. I know how far to go and when to stop."

The lad left his father's house twirling his cane in his fingers and laughing at the "old man's notions."

A few years later, and that lad, grown to manhood, stood at the bar of a court, before a jury which had just brought in a verdict of guilty against him for some crime in which he had been concerned. Before he was sentenced he addressed the court, and said, among other things: "My downward course began in disobedience to my parents. I thought I knew as much as my father did, and I spurned his advice; but as soon as I turned my back on my home, temptations came upon me like a drove of hyenas and hurried me into ruin."

Mark that confession, ye boys who are beginning to be wiser than your parents! Mark it, and learn that disobedience is the first step on the road to ruin. Don't take it!—Selected.

Rev. W. G. E. Cunningham of Nashville, Tenn., says: "Germetuer cured me of la grippe."

A Plea for Your Wife.

Do you know the secret anxieties and sufferings of your wife? If you do not, you should. For years she has toiled indoors. She has cooked, and washed, and sewed, and dusted and swept, and waited and watched for the small pittance you have doled out to her. That pittance has not been simply a contemptible trifle in money, but a more contemptible trifle of genuine outspoken sympathy and tenderness. You are buffeted and crowded in business places of life. You have learned, amid hard usage, to grow sturdy and muscular. You are accustomed every day to dealing with things which require from you the voice of authority and decision. In all this there is nothing to cultivate tenderness of feeling, of tone, or of manner. When you come into your house you meet a timid, retiring woman, who has been shut in all the long hours, struggling against despondency. She has waited for you. The tears are already in her eyes. If the husband cannot sympathize, who will? Now, can you not drop your gruff manner and voice for the few moments you must spend at home, and be tender, gentle and confiding. Why do you not sit down and draw your wife to you, as you did when you sought her in that home which you robbed her of, but never replaced? It is not enough that you mean all this. She sees your look and manner, and hears your voice. If these are gentle, and tender, and wooing, she will open her heart to you; but if otherwise, she will repress the tear for a moment, but it will flow when you are gone.

The world is full of unspoken bitterness—all because men take things for granted. Of course, the wife can have money if she will ask for it. Of course, she will find sympathy if she will bring her burdens and unravel them. Of course she is loved, and thought of and planned for. All this is not enough; but thousands never find it out until the hearse convey the tired and worn out body of the long waiting one to the only rest she ever knew.—Central Christian Advocate.

"The flowers that bloom in the spring" are not more vigorous than are those persons who purify their blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The fabled Elixer Vitæ could scarcely impart grater vivacity to the countenance than this wonderful medicine.

"Here I Am."

A lawyer had a cage hanging on the wall in his office, in which was a starling. He had taught the little fellow to answer when he called it. A boy named Charlie came in one morning. The lawyer left the boy there while he went out for a few minutes. When he returned the bird was gone. He asked, "Where is my bird?" Charlie replied that he did not know anything about it. "But," said he, "Charlie, that bird was in the cage when I went out. Now tell me about it; where is it?" Charlie declared that he knew nothing about it; that the cage door was open, and he guessed that the bird had flown out. The lawyer called out, "Starling, where are you?" The bird spoke right out of the boy's pocket, and said just as plain as it could, "Here I am!" Ah, what a fix that boy was in! He had stolen the bird, and had hid it, as he supposed, in a safe place, and had told two lies to conceal his guilt, and now came a voice from his own pocket which told the story of his guilt. It was a testimony that all the world would believe. The bird was a living witness that the boy was a thief and a liar.

We have not all of us a starling, but we have a conscience—not in our pocket, but in a more secure place—in our soul; and that tells the story of our guilt or our innocence. As the bird answered when the lawyer called it, so when God speaks our conscience will reply; and give such testimony that we cannot deny nor explain away.—Well Spring.

Remember every moment of resistance to temptation is a victory.—Faber.

The smallest Pill in the World!
Tutt's Tiny Pills
To purge the bowels does not make them regular; it leaves them in worse condition than before. The liver is the seat of trouble and the remedy must act on it. Tutt's Tiny Liver Pills act directly on that organ, causing a free flow of bile, without which the bowels are always constipated. Price, 25c.
USE TUTT'S HAIR DYE;
a perfect imitation of nature; impossible to detect it. Price, $1 per box. Office, 39 & 41 Park Place, New York.

CONSUMPTION.
I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address. T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR A POLICY
—IN THE—
N. C. Home Insurance Co.
This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out $600,000
to its policy holders for losses.
INSURE AGAINST FIRE
W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.
HOME OFFICE, RALEIGH, N. C.

BELLS
Best Alloy Church and School Bells. Send for Catalogue. C. S. BELL & Co., Hillsboro, O.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RICE, ATLANTA, GA.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Manufacture Superior Bells for Churches, Academies, Farms, Factories, Steamboats, Plantations, Court Houses, Fire Engines, Tower Clocks, Etc. Warranted satisfactory. Prices low. Terms easy. Illustrated Catalogue sent free.
BELLS, PEALS AND CHIMES.

HAIR ON THE FACE, NECK, ARMS OR ANY PART OF THE PERSON
QUICKLY DISSOLVED AND REMOVED WITH THE NEW SOLUTION
MODENE
AND THE GROWTH FOREVER DESTROYED WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST INJURY OR DISCOLORATION OF THE MOST DELICATE SKIN.—DISCOVERED BY ACCIDENT.

In Compounding an incomplete mixture was accidentally spilled on the back of the hand, and on washing afterward it was discovered that the hair was completely removed. We purchased the new discovery and named it MODENE. It is perfectly pure, free from all injurious substances and so simple any one can use it. It acts mildly but surely, and you will be surprised and delighted with the results. Apply for a few minutes and the hair disappears as if by magic. It has no resemblance whatever to any other preparation ever used for a like purpose, and no scientific discovery ever attained such wonderful results. IT CANNOT FAIL. If the growth be light, one application will remove it permanently; the heavy growth such as the beard or hair on moles may require two or more applications before all the roots are destroyed, although all hair will be removed at each application, and without the slightest injury or unpleasant feeling when applied or ever afterward. —MODENE SUPERCEDES ELECTROLYSIS.—

—Recommended by all who have tested its merits—Used by people of refinement.—

Gentlemen who do not appreciate nature's gift of a beard, will find a priceless boon in Modene, which does away with shaving. It dissolves and destroys the life principle of the hair, thereby rendering its future growth an utter impossibility, and is guaranteed to be as harmless as water to the skin. Young persons who find an embarrassing growth of hair coming, should use Modene to destroy its growth. Modene sent by mail, in safety mailing cases, postage paid, (securely sealed from observation) on receipt of price, $1.00 per bottle. Send money by letter, with your full address written plainly. Correspondence sacredly private. Postage stamps received the same as cash. ALWAYS MENTION YOUR COUNTY AND THIS PAPER.

LOCAL AND GENERAL AGENTS WANTED. MODENE MANUFACTURING CO., CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A. MANUFACTURERS OF THE HIGHEST GRADE HAIR PREPARATIONS. You can register your letter at any Post-office and insure its safe delivery. CUT THIS OUT AS IT MAY NOT APPEAR AGAIN

$1,000 FOR FAILURE OR THE SLIGHTEST INJURY. EVERY BOTTLE GUARANTEED.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - - Baltimore, Md.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL
WILL NEED
NEW BOOKS THIS SEASON.
We can Supply all Your Wants in this Line Promptly and at Publishers Lowest Prices.
OUR NEW SPECIALTIES:
Class Book and Report (five years), - - 25c. Teachers' Bibles (Oxford or Bagster), $2 to $10.
NEW SINGING BOOKS:
Master's Praise, cloth bound, by mail, - - - 35c.
Manly's Choice, music edition, by mail, - - - 40c.
Manly's Choice word edition, by mail, - - - 12c.
Notes of Triumph, round or shape notes, by mail, - - - 35c.
Work and Worship, round or shape notes, by mail, - - - 35c.
ANY SINGING BOOKS, PER DOZEN, BY EXPRESS, $3.60.
SEND YOUR ORDERS TO
ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO., Raleigh, N. C.
Complete Catalogue of Sunday-school Supplies free.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.
All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.
MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.
Biblical Museum, 8 Vols., cloth, $8 per set. Song book—"The Choice."—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts. This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch, —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts.; paper, 15 cts.
Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.
THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.
Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL.
Raleigh. N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.
Farming Implements.
SHOVELS, SPADES,
RAKES AND
POTATO DIGS.
"All Right," "Cotton King,"
AND OTHER
Cook Stoves and Ranges.

HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1892. Number 47.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

118 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

How to Study the Bible.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the Word of Truth." 2 Tim. 2: 15.

Other versions read:

"Handling rightly the Word of Truth."
"Rightly treating the Word of Truth."
"Cutting straight the Word of the Truth."
"Diamonds alone cut diamonds. The best commentary on the Bible is the Bible itself."—Fuller.

We can profitably study Scripture in four ways:

I. AS A SPECIALTY.

The Jews were commanded to make Scripture study their constant and prominent occupation. When they sat in their houses, when they walked by the way, when they lay down to rest, when they arose, the word of the Lord was to constitute the theme of their conversation. Mottoes of Scripture, like pictures, were to adorn their houses; and passages from the law, like amulets, were to be worn upon the person. Their schools were for the study of the sacred writings, and their children were to be ambitious to become doctors of the law. Deut. 6: 6-9.

Job expressed his love for God's truth when he said: "I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food." Job 23: 12.

Jeremiah declared his zeal for the law when he wrote: "Thy words were found and I did eat them." Jer. 15: 16.

We all know the value of specialists. To succeed in medicine, music, or commerce, a man must educate himself in these departments. The christian pre-eminently should be a specialist. To tell God's remedy for sin and to prepare himself for an eternal state is his calling here. The Bible alone gives information concerning heaven and hell.

It must be a life study.
A patient study.
A prayerful study.

Be willing to spend years over one passage till its meaning is discovered. Whatever books one gathers about them, let them be chosen and collected with one definite aim—to use them as side lights to illumine Scripture. This simple principle observed by all christians would speedily empty our libraries of all fictitious, heretical and otherwise pernicious literature.

II. STUDY IN OUTLINE.

Two methods of Bible study prevail: the fragmentary and the concrete. The fragmentary snatches a passage here or there, at haphazard, often dislocating it from its vital connections. Now, because Scripture is divine and God-breathed, blessing must of necessity follow even this method of Bible study. Isolated precepts and promises are like dew and honey to the soul and marrow and strength to the bones. But another and higher term than blessing is used concerning Bible study. We are to study for edification. "Blessing" is like beauty and plumpness to the human body. "Edification" is the power and activity of the body. Edification means building up in the truth.

At school the pupil begins geography with outlines. No teacher asks first about towns, cities and industries. The grand divisions of the globe are first taught. Later the details of countries fill in naturally.

The Bible student must begin with continents. Scripture treats of three places, and only three—heaven, earth and hell. It ranks all peoples on the earth into three grand classes—the Jew, Gentile and church of God. Every human being, dead or alive, belongs to one of these three classes. To each class pertain distinctly separate promises or threatenings.

The history of the human race down to the end is divided off into great dispensations or ages. In Heb. 11: 3 we are informed that these ages were framed off and adjusted by the word of God. The Bible student must understand these ages before he can possibly comprehend God's government of the world and the reason of his long patience in delaying to punish sin.

Moses and Christ are the two poles of Scripture. Group around these the teachings which belong to each and much that seems obscure will be made plain. "Had ye believed Moses, ye would have believed Me, for he wrote of Me." "And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the Scriptures concerning himself." John 5: 46; Luke 24: 27.

The denunciatory Psalms, the warfares of the Old Testament, and the outward magnificence of the old Jewish ritual must each be kept in their places. It is not at all permissible to transfer them to the New Testament or make them the rule of christian experience. It is of paramount importance to keep Israel and Zion in their own places. More confusion has arisen from misplacing and figurizing the prophecies to Israel than from any other false method of Bible study.

The personal return of Jesus Christ is the central pivot of all Scripture truth. Resurrection, judgment, glory on that. All doctrine is liable to be seen askew if judged apart from Christ's second coming.

Prophetic chronology is given for Israel. Moral signs are given for the church. To understand this will simplify many things and defend the truth of the Advent from misapprehension.

Another outline to be mastered is the disharmonies of Scripture. Much designed contrast prevails in the Bible. It is erroneous to expect to make all truths harmonize. Divine sovereignty and free agency can never assimilate. The costliness and freeness of salvation can never be reconciled. The mystery of predestination and choice can never be fathomed. The Word in the Beginning and the Babe in the Manger must forever stand the marvel of eternity.

A notable example of intentional disharmonies are the four gospels. Matthew's object is to emphasize the kingly character of Christ and trace his lineage through royal David to Abraham. Here, too, we behold him as the "sin offering" of Lev. 4.

Mark has another intention, and shows Jesus the servant, without any pedigree, but with a worthy character, the requisite of every servant. Here the word "immediately" occurs eighty times, showing how prompt was his obedience. Here he is the "Trespass Offering" of Lev. 5.

Luke describes him as man, traced back to Adam; the "Peace Offering" of Lev. 3: 7.

John has little in common with the other gospels. It is the gospel of the "Burnt Offering," cut into pieces to show the perfections of the Lamb of God. Lev. 1. It begins with Deity, and like the eagle soars away immediately to heights of heavenly mystery.

These are a few samples of study by outline. Once mastered they become as fixed in the heart as the rugged coast lines of countries are to the seaman entering port. The christian mariner who thoroughly knows the major details of his chart, rarely becomes wrecked upon the sunken reefs of heresy. The deceitful foam of some new sentiment may appear as pure as snow; but the discerning student will apprehend the cruel rock beneath, and wisely shun the peril.

III. STUDY THE ORIENTALISMS.

Not specially the monuments and inscriptions of antiquity, which are rarely accessible to the ordinary student. But study to understand those allusions to oriental custom which frequently constitute the basis of Scripture phraseology. A few examples will elucidate this idea.

"Ye shall not round the corners of your heads, neither shalt thou mar the corners of thy beard." Lev. 19: 27.

Baal worshippers rounded their beard and hair to make their faces look like the sun. Israel was to avoid the very appearance of idolatry.

"Come now, and let us reason together, saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow: though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." Isa. 1: 18.

A piece of cloth, tongue shaped, was tied upon the neck of the Scapegoat, called the scarlet tongue. If God accepted the atonement, this red cloth was said to turn white. No such change took place for forty years before the destruction of Jerusalem.

"And he shall break it as the breaking of the potters' vessel that is broken in pieces; he shall not spare: so that there shall not be found in the bursting of it a sherd to take fire from the hearth, or to take water withal out of the pit." Isa. 30: 14.

It is common at springs to find bits of broken water-jars used as ladles. At the public ovens in Jaffa every evening children come with sherds of pots, into which the baker pours a few hot embers with which to warm the evening meal.

"I am verily a man which am a Jew, born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, yet brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel." Acts 22: 3.

In Jewish schools the professor sat on a raised platform with his feet exactly on a level with the heads of the students.

"O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from the body of this death?" Rom. 7: 24.

The truth concerning the bondage of sin is intensified by the orientalism. It was a horrid custom among the despotic rulers of Paul's day to punish certain criminals by binding them fast to a corpse. Whether they walked, or lay down, or eat, they bore about with them the digesting putrefying carcass. To this fearful burden the Apostle likens the sins of the old nature; dead, yet ever present.

The word Evangelist, of heathen origin, has intimate relation to the city of Ephesus. When the city was being built great scarcity of material was experienced. A shepherd, Pixodorus, feeding his flock on a distant hill, discovered a quarry of fine marble. He took a specimen down to the city. It was received with great joy. The people called him Evangelus, the bringer of good tidings, and paid divine honors to him. From this circumstance came the sacred use of the term Evangelist.

Thus sometimes the orientalisms of Scripture are simply curious, or interesting, while quite frequently they are profitable to unfold and intensify the doctrine of the text.

IV. STUDY CRITICALLY.

All cannot study the Bible in the original tongues. But exegetical study may be approximated by the use of a variety of translations. With several of these at command, and referring from one to the other, many different shades of meaning will be discovered; and by this method the intelligent reader can strike a balance in his own mind as to the most probable teaching of any obscure passage.

The example at the head of this paper will suffice. 2 Tim. 2: 15.

"Rightly dividing the word of truth."
"Rightly treating the word of truth."
"Handling rightly the word of truth."
"Cutting straight the word of the truth."

The terms here used are sacrificial, and refer to the orderly manner in which the sacrifices were cut up for the altar. Lev. 1.

The christian is God's priest to minister out the word of the Lord. He must know how to "give meat in due season." Matt. 24: 45. There is to be Jehovah's portion; the Levite's portion; and the offerer's portion. Sometimes the delicate surgery of reproof is committed to the christian; a dislocated limb from the body of the church is to be restored. Gal. 6: 1.

To fulfil all this, the Bible student must understand how to cut straight the word of the truth; so that with skill he may minister it for "doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness." 2 Tim. 3: 16, 17.

A few examples will illustrate the paramount importance of studying underneath the English text.

"And Esau said, I have enough, my brother; keep that thou hast unto thyself. And Jacob said, Nay, I pray thee, if now I have found grace in thy sight, then receive my present at my hand: for therefore I have seen thy face, as though I had seen the face of God, and thou wast pleased with me. Take, I pray thee, my blessing that is brought to thee: because God hath dealt graciously with me, and because I have enough. And he urged him, and he took it." Gen. 33: 9-11.

Esau said, "I have rab"—much. I have flocks, herds, servants, and great worldly possessions.

Jacob said, "I have kol"—everything. I have God, and in him I possess more than all your wealth and honor. One was the confession of a worldling. The other was the confession of a saint.

Take another example.

"The disciple is not above his master: but every one that is perfect shall be as his master." Luke 6: 40.

Had this passage been studied beneath the surface it never would have been made to teach absolute sinlessness.

In Matt. 4: 21, it means mending broken fish-nets.

In Rom. 9: 22, it refers to the hardening process of the wicked.

In 1 Cor. 1: 10, it relates to the harmony of the church of God.

In Gal. 6: 1, it is used for the restoration of a broken limb.

In Heb. 10: 5, it describes the mystery of the incarnation.

In Heb. 11: 3, it explains the adjustment of great moral dispensations.

We must combine all these renderings to learn the meaning of perfection in Luke 6: 40.

"The disciple is not above his master, but every one shall be perfected (rounded out to fulness) as his master."

The Septuagint has: "A scholar is not above his teacher. But every one will be instructed as his teacher is."

V. THREE CAUTIONS.

1. Do not detach Scripture.

This is done with Psa. 14: 1. "The fool hath said in his heart, There is no God." The infidel says, "the Bible itself teaches there is no God."

This has been done with Jno. 13: 27. Jesus has been made responsible for commanding Judas to commit suicide. "What thou doest, do quickly."

2. Do not dislocate Scripture.

This is done by Luke 13: 24. "Strive to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say unto you, will seek to enter in, and shall not be able. When once the master of the house is risen up, and hath shut the door, and ye begin to stand without, and to knock at the door, saying, Lord, Lord, open unto us; and he shall answer and say unto you, I know you not whence ye are."

By separating these verses they have been made to teach of a time in this life when the door of mercy is closed upon the seeking sinner.

It is done with 1 Cor. 2: 9, 10. "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God."

By separating these verses they are made to teach that no one can have any conception of the glory of another world.

Not only should the connections of this passage be preserved, but it should be read in conjunction with the Old Testament quotation: "For since the beginning of the world men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither hath the eye seen, O God, beside thee, what he hath prepared for him that waiteth for him." Isa. 64: 4.

The change of wording from Isaiah by Paul, is very noteworthy. The prophet speaks of good thing prepared for those who waited for the Lord. The Lord had come in Paul's day; he was no longer to be waited for, but loved and believed in as a present Saviour.

3. Do not misapply Scripture.

This is done when the Jewish prophecies are figurized to apply to the church.

It is done when the promises concerning the second coming of Christ are said to relate to death, or the destruction of Jerusalem, or the descent of the Holy Spirit.

"O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!"

"But ye have an unction from the Holy One, and ye know all things."—George C. Needham's "Bible Briefs."

Denominational Usage.

The church of Jesus Christ, like every other organized human association, must have its methods of procedure in things that concern the purpose of its existence. This is so clearly evident that argument in its behalf is surely unnecessary. A felt need of this kind must account, historically, for the early occurrence of those procedures in matters of church organization and method which ended in ecclesiasticism and hierarchy. It is safe to presume that in their earliest form methods so adopted were not only innocent, but wise. In fact, we have an illustrative example much to the purpose in early chapters of the book of the Acts. At the very beginning, in the management of affairs under the operation of the principle of "all things in common," the apostles were accustomed to have personal charge of what needed to be done. This they soon found impracticable, and even wrong. It was not fitting that they should "leave the word of God, and serve tables." An appointment was therefore made of seven persons to have the matter in charge, and out of that appointment grew the office of deacon, fully recognized, subsequently, by Paul in his letters to Timothy.

Somewhat later another need became apparent. Where questions arise within a church, found incapable of solution there, what is to be done? Such a question the christians of Antioch had to face. A very serious question, radical in its nature and consequences—Shall circumcision as well as baptism be required of converts from the Gentiles? The brethren at Antioch could not agree. Finally it was determined to seek the assistance of brethren elsewhere, not personally involved in the controversy. The brethren of the church at Jerusalem were appealed to, and especially the apostles still there were asked to help in the solution. The method proved effectual, and became an example for like procedure under like circumstances.

This must suffice to show that church life is like all other associated life. Occasions will arise which call for expedients to meet a difficulty, to guard against anticipated evil, or as ways in which to carry out more fully the purposes of the organization. We may say, perhaps, that these expedients, as adopted in the course of christian history, so various in their nature, and in many cases so extreme and objectionable in character, may be classified as either "ecclesiasticism," or usage." With Baptist churches, as is consistent and necessary where the principle of independency rules, it is "usage," not "ecclesiasticism." That is to say, certain methods and procedures are, as the result of experience, found wise, safe, and salutary. They come to be quietly adopted, not as imposed, but as agreed upon; and they grow, in time, into a kind of common law.

Now, when we come to study these usages, with a view to determine any question of propriety concerning them, it should seem that such a question might be determined in two ways. For one of these, a usage which has New Testament precedent, may be held as correct. For example, the appointment of deacons is that kind of usage. Our Lord made no mention of such an office. It came to exist as a need of churches under apostolical administration. The apostles themselves did not enjoin it, they sanctioned it, in the form it finally assumed. So in the matter of advisory councils. We cannot make use of this expedient now in the same way that the brethren at Antioch did. There were in the church at Jerusalem inspired apostles, whose decision in such a matter had apostolical authority. Besides, that was not a "council," in the sense in which the word is now employed. But the principle is there, and the expedient of seeking aid in the case of perplexing questions by the advice and help of brethren in other churches has in that case at Antioch full New Testament endorsement.

Another way in which to test the propriety of a usage is to examine its consistency with what we find in the New Testament, and so its propriety as a method in carrying on the work and purposes of the church. We will take the case of examination by the church of candidates for baptism. (1) It is, first of all, clear that in order to determine the propriety of receiving any person for baptism, it must be ascertained whether the person so in question is a believer, since the direction is to baptize only believers; in other words, a converted person, and so a fit subject for the ordinance. So that there must, of course, be examination at some time and by somebody. (2) Then the question arises, what is meant by this act of baptism, and the answer to that question may suggest what this examination shall be, and by whom. Baptism is at once a profession and a consecration. It is not only "burial with Christ," but it is resurrection to "newness of life." Where is that "newness of life" to be manifested? Where, but in those associations, fellowships and activities which are to be found in the church? Baptism, then, distinctly contemplates church membership. But the church must have a voice in deciding who shall be members. So it is clearly both suitable and necessary that the candidate appear before the church, that the church itself may hear his "good confession," and may receive him to membership in its own act of welcome. (3) But might not the baptism be previously performed by the minister, and the candidate be afterward received? Can any one think it wise, or safe, to leave the matter in that form? Suppose, after baptism, the church refuses to receive, does not agree with the minister who administered the rite. Do we not see in that direction the open door to endless confusions? If you say that the candidate must be received, on the ground that the minister knows better than the church can who ought to be baptized, and who not, you have in that notion the very principle of the hierarchy. The dixit of a minister is not, with Baptists at any rate, the mandate of a priest.—Standard.

Lowering the Dignity of the Gospel Minister.

Dear Recorder:—It is a most lamentable circumstance that in this age of progress in the very blaze of gospel light, that there should be, among those who have been set apart as heralders of the cross, such a manifest inclination to so lower the dignity of their calling as to bring the pulpit down to such a level as will secure the admiration of the most vulgar, and sophisticated types of humanity, to the expulsion of those who for the love of God, have been brought to the sanctuary, where their souls so much delight to dwell, that blessed retreat, where they can, leaving the cares of the word behind for a season, find sweet consolation in holy communion with God. The error to which I allude is the very common, but pernicious habit of making the sanctuary the scene of anecdote and vulgar jest. Instead of holding the gospel up to the high standard, where Christ and the Apostles held it, it is let down to the depths of moral depravity.

In many sections the practice of funny remarks, and slang allusion has become so prominent from the pulpit, that unless the preacher prefaces his sermon with a slight display of wit and humor, to draw the attention of the congregation, and then manages to hold them by interspersing his remarks with an occasional, practical joke, the verdict will be that "he has not preached." Now I desire just here to say, that I am not advocating a long faced, gloomy style of religious exercises. But I wish to emphasize the assertion that before a reformation can be effected there must be an improvement of the original model. And while the standard of Christ is being compromised, to suit the tastes and conveniences of the unconverted elements of society, can we seriously, and candidly in faith look for a positive reformation among the children of men? No this is surrendering the cause of Christ to satan, and that too on his own terms of capitulation. Should we inquire where pulpit slang originated we believe the verdict would be that those sensational evangelist (who are riding from city to city, receiving their thousands for a two weeks meeting) first introduce it, and like so many satellites revolving round one grand orb, those smaller preachers, are daily adopting the slang feature of the discourse, as being far the most prominent one.

Now brethren we have a far more excellent model, and one more worthy of imitation. That model is Christ. Hold him up to a perishing people, and imploringly, and beseechingly invite them to him who has said "Come unto me all ye that labor are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

Yours in the bonds of love
W. S. MILLIKEN.

Excelsoir, N. C.

Sorrow for sin only because it exposes to punishment, is not true repentance. He that sorrows after a godly sort would not sin, though escape from the consequences were possible, for his heart is changed, he is renewed in the spirit of his mind: he loves God and his service, and has [illegible] for the pleasures of sin.—G. Waller.

The trouble is that man will persist in trying to extend his accountability to God's actions. He will wear out brain and heart in worry over consequences which belong to God. And while thus endeavoring to do God's part, he is given to neglecting his own.—Western Recorder.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

PREMIUMS.

We offer to all new subscribers to the BIBLICAL RECORDER who pay two dollars in advance Russell H. Conwell's Life of Spurgeon. The book is handsomely bound and beautifully illustrated, and sells for $1.50.

We also offer it to all old subscribers who have paid up arrearages, and will pay for the RECORDER one year in advance and fifty cents additional, thus furnishing an opportunity to all of our subscribers to supply themselves with this fresh and interesting book—worth $1.50—for the small sum of fifty cents. If any may wish to avail themselves of this opportunity who have paid up their subscriptions, they can have it by paying $2.50, and their time for the RECORDER will be moved up a year.

We are very anxious to increase our circulation, and we make this generous offer, hoping that many of our subscribers who are in arrears will avail themselves of this offer, and that very many new subscribers will supply themselves with this excellent work.

CARING FOR THE POOR.

One of the results of the introduction of true christianity in any country is that institutions for the relief of the poor and destitute abound. There is often no special provision made for the relief of the poor and needy in the most prosperous pagan countries; and christianity has the right to claim that from its earliest introduction the religion of Christ has taught regard for and a disposition to help the poor.

We think some confusion has arisen, however, on this subject of the church caring for the poor, and the prevalence of christianity ameliorating the condition of the poor from the state of society that we find in some countries that are nominally christian, and yet in which we find a vast amount of mendicancy. Take, for instance, Spain and Italy. Any one who has travelled in these countries, or who is at all familiar with the travels of others who have visited them, must know that there is a vast amount of poverty among these people, and that to meet troops of beggars who make the most piteous appeals for help is one of the most common experiences of those whose business or pleasure calls them to the lands they inhabit. This state of things is certainly not to be accounted for by the introduction or prevalence of true religion among these people, but from causes for which the religion of Christ is not responsible; such as the farm government, the union between Church and State, the prevalence of aristocratic ideas, with the feudalistic repression of intellectual growth, and last, but not least, the extensive adoption of a system of faith called christian, but deficient to a great extent of the spirit of Christ, and retaining in many cases only the form of godliness. The prevalence of a pure form of faith among a people develops two marked facts, so far as poverty among them is concerned: one is mendicancy, or pauperism, as a national characteristic, is to a great extent destroyed; and the other is such poverty as does exist is, as a rule, provided for.

It is always an unfavorable sign, as to the material and spiritual condition of a country, to find that pauperism is on the increase. It is a well known fact that pauperism is on the increase in America, and it is a matter worthy of the most intense thought on the part of all lovers of our country to know the cause, and, as far as possible, remove the effects. There is need that the State should examine herself, and see that she is free from blame for this alarming growth of poverty among our people. There is the same need that the church should examine herself, and see to what extent she is to blame for this state of things. To expect a state of society in America, or any other country, which is utterly free from cases of human poverty and suffering, is to cultivate a Utopian dream. The Saviour said, "The poor ye have always with you," and we suppose there always will be cases of poverty and suffering among the most enlightened and christian nations of the earth. But whilst this is so, it is certainly a reflection upon both the civil government and the prevalent religious faith of any country for hordes of beggars to beset the benevolently inclined at every street corner. Strong as government responsibility is in the matter now under consideration, we wish in this article to call special attention to the church's responsibility to provide for her poor. It is a well known fact that most of the poor that beset the visitor to Rome, Madrid, Naples, and other parts especially of the Spanish and Italian peninsulas, are members of the Romish church, and it is passing strange that Rome makes in many American cities such considerable provision for the poor and unfortunate, and such insufficient in countries where for centuries she has held such complete sway.

It certainly does not speak well for any faith, for those that espouse it, to sadly neglect their poor. This remark will apply with equal force to any denomination or sect of christians that profess the religion of Christ. One thing is certain, and that is, that provision for the poor of the church, or churches, was one of the distinguishing traits of primitive christianity. If it was right and wise to provide for the poor of the primitive churches, it is right and wise now. The teaching of Christ, the first appointment of deacons, many statements in the Acts of the Apostles, and in the Epistles, abound in proof that it is right for Christ's churches, individually and collectively, to provide for the poor among the membership. As far as possible, says an inspired writer, "let us do good unto all men, especially unto them that are of the household of faith."

Leaving others to solve the problem of their duty in this particular direction as they may, we desire to be quite practical by saying that our Baptist people, as such, and the membership of each local church ought to be careful to provide, as far as possible, for their poor. As we hinted above, one of the main objects in the first appointment of deacons was to make better provision to supply the wants of the "poor saints" at Jerusalem. Ought not this to be a prime idea in the appointment of deacons in all time? We are happy to state that many of our churches have more or less ample provision to meet the wants of the poorer members; but there are others, we fear, having ample means, that make little or no provision for their suffering poor. We think that we have lost sight, to too great an extent, of two things that were true, it seems, of the primitive churches, and that ought to be true of our churches now. One was, that one of the plainest duties pertaining to the office of deacon was to look after the poor of the church; and the other was, that the church provided a fund for that purpose. There are some churches that are willing to admit that deacons should look after the poor of the church if they do so at their own expense. But this should be done at the expense of the church, the deacon only doing his duty as any other member in contributing to the fund according to his means. Where one is in need, who has rendered public service to his denomination, as in the case of an aged minister, it is perfectly right to ask the denomination to assist in his support.

Let every church, then, in the country, the town, or the city, have its poor fund, and let it be drawn upon to meet the pressing wants, or tide over the special misfortunes, of its poor members. There are those who see, or think they see, danger in the existence of this plan. It is an all-sufficient answer, that we have both apostolic precept and example for it. The objection that such provision would soon bring many quite unworthy persons into our churches can be met promptly from our standpoint by saying that our usage, our general polity, and our ideas of membership, demand such precaution at the doors of our churches as would expose most of those who were disposed to act the hypocrite. The church could better afford to suffer an occasional imposition than to be deficient in a reputation for charity and benevolence. It would really not be misplaced charity, or money thrown away, if the church sometimes unconsciously of course extended aid to some who might possibly have been actuated by mercenary motives in joining, if the result of such help should be only such reformation of life and conduct as would enable them so to live as to bring no open reproach upon the christian profession. Here there is room for that charity "that thinketh no evil," while it does not demand that we should forget Christ's words, "Be ye as wise as serpents and as harmless as doves."

At all events, the reputation of caring for the poor is one that the church ought to covet, and one that she cannot afford to dispense with, if she would fulfill her true mission on earth. It is a well known fact that some benevolent societies among men have a reputation in the line of caring for their poor. The church should see to it that no mere human organization surpasses her in this respect. Let us never forget that one great object of Christ's mission on earth was to "bind up the broken hearted; to lift the burdens that Satan, sin and sorrow have placed upon the shoulders of humanity. One way then for his people to show his spirit is not to be forgetful of the bodies of men, women and children about them. And a care for the bodies of people is often the means of saving the soul. We claim to be a great people, in numbers and in means; let us see to it that our benevolence keeps pace with our growth in numbers. Let our churches care for their poor.

CHOWAN ASSOCIATION.

This Association held its session with Ballard's Bridge church, in Chowan county, on the 17th to 19th inst. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. R. T. Vann from Ephesians 5: 32, "I speak concerning Christ and his church;" and was an instructive and interesting sermon.

The Moderator, J. A. Spruill, and Clerk, T. J. Riddick, were re elected, and E. F. Aydlett was elected Vice-Moderator.

Wednesday was centennial day, and quite a number of good speeches were made by W. V. Savage, J. D. Hufham, R. VanDeventer, C. N. Donaldson, C. Durham and others. A handsome contribution for the Orphanage was taken amounting to $300, and Bro. Mills came away in an unusually amiable mood.

The Chowan Institute at Murfreesboro received its deserved share of attention. No one thing in all that country has done more to elevate the condition of the denomination than that institution. We had speeches on the report of the Institute from Profs. Foushee, Taylor of Wake Forest, and Brewer, W. R. Gwaltney and J. D. Hufham.

The Association was largely attended and was royally entertained. The brethren keep a standing arrangement by having a number of neat shelters under which they spread their dinners with all the conveniences of an ordinary dining room. The place looks very churchly, and no wonder, when we remember that it has past a whole century as a consecrated spot for a church of Christ.

We enjoyed the hospitable home of the two brethren Elliott and their sister, Mrs. Nowell, and their generous kindness will not be forgotten.

The country in that Chowan section looks prosperous. Much of the farming is excellent. As you pass their cotton fields the land is level, the rows are straight, and you can look down them to such a distance that they seem to come together. The country has good railroad facilities, and a vast deal of lumber has been carried out into the markets. It is the cradle of the civilization of the State, as well as of the Baptist interest of the State, and still there are few sections in the State in which you will find more signs of taking on of new life.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING AGENT.

HICKORY.

Since meeting here with the brethren of the South Fork Association last fall, I had remembered Bro. Lequeux and his people at Hickory with great pleasure. So I was prepared to spend a day pleasantly as well as profitably with these same brethren. The church at Hickory has for the last few years made fine progress; up to then, it was no more than a mission station helped largely by the State Mission Board. In due time, however, the brethren, like Martin, Whiteside, Jones and Wiggs, decided it was best for the church to rely on her own resources, and the wisdom of these brethren has been most gloriously confirmed, for the church now employs their pastor two Sundays in the month, and besides is in the closest sympathy with all the plans and objects of our Conventional work.

Progress will always attend the ministrations of an unpretentious, godly man like Bro. Lequeux, especially when he has the loyal support and hearty co-operation of such brethren as compose his church. Bro. Whiteside, whose splendid home was my stopping place, told me their house was full at every service, and it will not be long till a larger house will be necessary to accommodate the growing congregation.

I spent some time with Bro. Wiggs, who has had the great misfortune to lose his sight entirely. He inquired most affectionately after Dr. Wm. Royall, the editor of the RECORDER, Prof. W. B. Royall, and other friends in this section of the State. I was amazed at the patience and christian fortitude with which he bore his sad affliction. True, Bro. Wiggs has no eyes to see the objects around, yet the stars are not brighter than the spiritual vision by which he reads his title to that better land where not only will all eyes be opened, but where all tears shall be wiped therefrom.

Whoever starts to Western North Carolina will do well to stop over in Hickory, which in many respects is the nicest little town in that part of the State, for awhile at least. One of the best hotels to be found anywhere is here. The Bank building is a very handsome structure; in fact nearly all the business houses and dwellings present a nice, genteel appearance. The mountains seem to be exactly the right distance to appear soft and grateful to the eye.

The water is so cold and clear, and the air so sweet and pure, that you almost wish to carry a supply with you as you go away.

ASHEVILLE.

I found on reaching Asheville, that the Federal Court was in session. Not many who had business in this court had much interest in the RECORDER. Some, however, were made to know that the "way of the transgressor is hard." I noticed two young men, who were not content to wait for the "free coinage bill" to pass, but had decided to put up an establishment of their own to make silver dollars. If they had used the time properly that they are to spend in a United States prison, they could have earned more honest dollars than they had counterfeited, besides would have escaped the sin and disgrace which the breaking of the law has left upon them.

It was the time, however, to see the rich and the poor, the weak and the strong, meet together. If one will take a place in the public square in Asheville on an occasion like this, he will soon conclude that there is nothing like contentment, but that men of all sorts are striving for that they have not. Here you see a number of men who are from other States; they are clothed in the best apparel money can buy, their carriages and horses tempt you greatly to break the last of the "commandments." Servants dressed better than men ordinarily dress are at their bidding; their bank accounts are sufficient to sustain all the luxuries they may imagine or desire, and yet they are not satisfied. What is the trouble? A pale face, high cheek bones that seem to be cutting through the skin, a pair of sunken eyes and that significant cough, tell the tale, and all of this splendid wealth would be readily exchanged, if in its place could come health and freedom from pain.

Now along by the side of these are men who live in the mountains and have gotten their growth; their muscles are as strong as the rocks which surround their simple mountain home. A doctor's pill bag would be a circus to the children at home. They all eat what they want, and want what they eat, and yet they, too, are dissatisfied. Money, freedom from labor, luxury, and style are the things they desire, and for these they are ready to exchange what they now possess. Which of these are the happier and which the richer is after all a problem.

I am greatly indebted to Sister Thomas and Mrs. Ware for a pleasant ride, in which we took in the most interesting points of the city. From several points we had a most magnificent view of Asheville and the country around. The two best are, I think, from Dr. Connally's residence and from "Kenilworth Inn." From the depot you approach Asheville at a rise of 700 feet to the mile, so when you reach the square you feel that you are indeed on a mountain. But if you will start down South Main street and continue your drive till you reach the top of Beaumont, and turn your face toward the city, you will see you have put Asheville "in a hole." So mountains are only relatively high just as men are relatively great. The Baptist brethren are very proud of their new church which is now nearly completed. They claim it is the finest auditorium in the South, and so far as my knowledge goes they are right. It is certainly a beautiful church. The Sunday-school room and class rooms are admirably arranged for the work designed to be done in them. The main hall will seat comfortably twelve hundred persons. The floor is elevated, the frescoing, windows and chandeliers are beautiful beyond description. By using temporary chairs they were permitted to use the church for preaching on the night I was in Asheville. Rev. A. C. Dixon of New York, who was once pastor of the church, preached to a packed house from the text, "All things are now ready." There was no attempt at display, but the speaker took all of his time in preaching a plain, earnest gospel sermon.

The brethren are much pleased with Bro. White, who has given a decided impetus to the work in Asheville. Many of the brethren were at the Convention, among them Bro. Speight of the Asheville Baptist, whom I failed to see during my pleasant stay in the city.

J. C. C.

PERSONALS AND OTHER ITEMS.

....Rev. J. K. Howell of Yanceyville, N. C., was in Raleigh last week.

....Rev. J. P. Lennon of Freeman, N. C., called to see us last week.

....The Baptist Anniversaries will be held in Philadelphia on May 24th-29th.

....The commencement of Peace Institute will take place on May 29th and 30th.

....Rev. C. M. Murchison of Penelope was in Raleigh last Thursday and called to see us.

....Rev. L. Sellars of Supply and B. D. Wescott of Southport called to see us on Tuesday of last week.

....Rev. T. J. Taylor of Warrenton will deliver the address for the Oxford Female Seminary on May 29th.

....Rev. Dr. J. J. Hall will attend the Yeopim Union Meeting at Beres church and dedicate the Corinth church, near Elizabeth City, on Sunday. Any brother wishing to send his subscription to the RECORDER by Bro. Hall will please do so.

....Rev. Dr. J. P. Barrett, formerly of Raleigh, is seriously ill at the residence of his brother in Virginia.

....Dr. Charles E. Taylor attended the Chowan Association and made a good speech for Wake Forest College.

....The Sabbath-school of the Baptist Tabernacle will hold their annual picnic on May 31st in Winston, N. C.

....Dr. W. A. McDowell of Scotland Neck is, we are glad to learn, greatly improved, and will soon be well.

....Hon. W. P. Shaw of Winton was on a visit to Wake Forest and Raleigh last week, and paid us a short call on Thursday.

....Bro. J. W. Powell of Edgecombe is aiding Rev. A. A. Butler of the Second church, Durham, in an interesting meeting.

....Bro. W. B. Felton of Rockyhock was in attendance at the State Democratic Convention last week, and called to see us on Friday.

....Mr. James S. Mitchell, Rev. G. W. Newell, W. S. Farthing, W. S. Bartlett and J. H. Holliday called in to see us on Wednesday of last week.

....Rev. W. B. Oliver administered the ordinance of baptism to two candidates at Mallett's pond on Sunday afternoon last.—Fayetteville Observer, May 19.

....Prof. W. L. Poteat of Wake Forest College attended the Convention in Raleigh and on Friday delivered the address at the closing exercise of Rolesville Academy.

....Rev. E. E. Blount of Peru, Haywood county, has resigned the pastorate of the churches in that county to accept the call of the church at Middleburgh, Casey county, Ky.

....The commencement of Judson College will take place June 1st. Rev. J. B. White of Asheville will preach the sermon. The annual address will be delivered by D. Newton, Esq., of Asheville.

....Rev. W. R. Gwaltney was at the Chowan Association in the interest of ministerial education. The Association has three young men at Wake Forest College under the direction of the Board.

....I desire to thank my churches—Antioch, Chapel, Stovall, Island Creek and Rock Spring—for paying my way to the recent meeting of the Southern Baptist Convention. I greatly appreciate such kindness.—J. A. Stradley.

....The commencement exercises of Wake Forest College will take place June 7th, 8th and 9th. This closes the best session the College has ever had. The program insures a large attendance and a pleasant commencement.

....Mr. Gladstone has the right idea of church music. He is reported as saying: "There should, I conceive, be no music in church excepting such as can be devoutly listened to, and, therefore, to avoid distraction, easily joined in."

....Rev. Dr. W. A. Nelson of Aiken, S. C., and wife have returned home, their daughter, Mrs. Jordan, having much improved. It was a real pleasure to have them with us for awhile. The doctor has entirely recovered his health and is as ready to preach as ever.

....We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of the Littleton High School and Business Institute, on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 26th and 27th. Hon. G. Sanderlin will deliver the literary address on Thursday night.

....No young preacher has made a better impression on his brethren than has Rev. W. V. Savage, who is now stationed at Columbia, N. C. Bro. Savage is well pleased with his field, and his brethren are delighted with their pastor, and so the work, as might be expected, is going forward.

....Nothing touched us more at Atlanta than the devout and impressive manner in which Rev. W. R. Gwaltney of North Carolina conducted the opening exercises of the Convention. It is positively ennobling to look at as pure and honest a man as Gwaltney is.—Dr. Hatcher, in the Baptist.

....Rev. Calvin S. Blackwell, Ph. D., accepts the call to the Randolph Street church and will enter upon his work at an early date. Church and pastor deserve congratulations. We shall hear good tidings from this wise and eloquent preacher, and the young and heroic church.—Religious Herald.

....Drs. Overby and Hufham did some of their best work at the Association. It seems that during the many years the brethren have led in all the work of the Association, they have not only grown in grace and in knowledge, but have year by year strengthened their hold upon the confidence and affection of their brethren.

....Rev. A. D. Hunter writing from Greenville, May 19th, says: "Our cause is growing in this county. We have recently received seven men and one girl. I am to baptize five next Sunday. One of the latter men in the county is one of them. Bro. Hutson had to leave us after eight days to go to the bedside of his sick mother, eighty one years old, in Richmond."

....Bro. Richard Webster of Pittsboro, N. C., in renewing his subscription writes the following letter, which we highly appreciate: "The RECORDER has become a necessity to me. I have been a reader of it over since its infancy, and although it has been good all the while, it seems to me that it continues to improve. Every week there is something in the dear old RECORDER for the children, the young people, the middle aged, and especially for those like myself that have almost reached their four score years. I think you would be encouraged in your God-given work if you could know how much we old folks enjoy reading the paper that tells us so much about the coming of our Father's kingdom. May you be spared many years yet to battle for the truth."

...Dr. R. H. Lewis, late president of ...on College, has accepted a position to ... in Kinston College. He will teach ..., rhetoric, literature and physics. ...h the addition of Dr. Lewis, Kinston ...ge will have one of the strongest faculi... in the State. Dr. Lewis and his family ...expected to move back to Kinston about ...middle of June.—Free Press.

...I always feel that to start the year's ...k properly I must attend the meeting of ... Chowan Association. I get such an in...ation when I meet with this body as I ... in no other part of the State. And I at...ute it in no small degree to the influence ...ich the Chowan Female Institute has ex...d all over this section of the State.—Dr. ... E. Taylor at Chowan Association.

...Rev. J. F. Love of Baltimore writes: ...am pleasantly domiciled at 1114 Madison ...e., where you will please send the paper, ... where I shall be pleased to welcome ... and any other of my dear North Caro... friends who may visit Baltimore. Our ...k here started off hopefully yesterday. ...r heart's desire is to glorify God and be ...rumental in saving some souls in this ...at city."

...The commencement exercises of Ox... Female Seminary will take place June ... 1892. On Sunday evening, May 29th, ...sermon before the Maggie Nutt Mission... Society will be preached by Rev. D. W. ...ring of China. On Tuesday evening the ...ual address before the Calliopean Society ...be delivered by Rev. T. J. Taylor of ...rrenton, N. C. On Wednesday evening ...annual concert will be given.

...The pulpit of the Baptist church was ...upied Sunday morning and night by ...v. J. B. Hartwell, D. D., of San Fran...co, Cal., now in charge of the Baptist ...sions to China on the Pacific Coast, who ...ached two eloquent and highly instruc... sermons before large congregations. ... Hartwell is the uncle of Rev. J. H. Ed...rds, of this city, with whom he is spend... a few pleasant days.—Goldsboro Head-...t, May 19.

...It will be of some accommodation to ... committee and more pleasing to the ...legates who expect to attend the Sunday-...ool Convention of Pilot Mountain Asso...tion to come on the train which arrives ...Mt. Airy 5 p. m. May 26th. If they wait ... the night train it will be 11 or 12 o'clock ...ore they will arrive here. We are ex...ting a large delegation and quite a num... of visiting brethren. Come, brethren. —J. R. Pruett.

...The commencement of Shaw Univer... took place on the 18th. This is one of ... leading colored schools in the South, ...rly five hundred students being in atten...ce during the last session. There were ...eral graduates, all of whom acquitted ...mselves creditably. We congratulate ... Tupper upon his wise management of ... institution. The school is very pros...rous, and has a first class corps of teach... who seem to enjoy their work.

...The article on the fifth page, entitled ...Why Build Mission Chapels?" is not a con...bution to the "Woman's Missionary De...rtment," but was sent direct to us from ...ro. League. Our sisters during the Cen...nial year, will aid in securing the pro...ed "chapel building fund." The article ...Bro. League, while it appears on the same ...e, does not belong to the woman's col...n. The subject discussed is an impor...t one, and we ask for the article a careful ...rusal.

...A commercial traveller recently re...rked that notwithstanding the large num...r of churches in Raleigh, not one had a ...rectory in the hotels inviting strangers ...o spent the Sabbath in the city to attend ...urch. This is in marked contrast with ...at is to be seen at the hotels in many ...her cities, where you will find the hours ... service and for Sunday-school neatly ...med and hanging on the walls of the ho... office. And in some cities members of ...e different churches visit the hotels and ...company strangers to the church of their ...oice.

...W. P. Shaw is a trustee of the Indus...al and Training School for young ladies ...hich was organized at Greensboro last ...riday. The following is the faculty: Presi...ent, Prof. Chas. McIver; Principal Male ...acher, Prof. J. O. Alderman; Mathe...atics, Miss Gertrude W. Mendenhall, B. ...; Natural Sciences, Miss Dixie Lee Bry...t, B. S.; Ancient Languages, Miss Viola ...oddie, L. I.; Physical Training, Miss ...riam Bitting, M. D.; Vocal Music, Miss ...ssie Worthington; Industrial Art, Miss ...elle Fort; Domestic Economy, Miss Edith ... McIntyre.

...All hands will agree that the Trustees ... the Seminary made a wise selection when ...ey elected Bro. E. C. Dargan Associate ...ofessor of Homilitics and to the chair of ...tin Theology. It was a genuine surprise ...him and to his friends. We regret very ...uch to see him leave the State, but we ...el that he is called to a great work, one of ...tal importance, and we believe he is the ...ry man for the position. The Seminary ... to be congratulated. We are sorry for ...e Citadel Square church, a noble people, ...ho know how to treat a pastor and who ...ill be greatly bereaved in Bro. Dargan's ...moval.—Baptist Courier.

Columbus Union.

This body is to convene with the church ... Porter Swamp on Saturday before the fifth ...nday in May, 1892. Introductory sermon ... Rev. Haynes Lennon.

The subject of Ministerial Education will ... discussed, and a collection taken for that ...ject.

We hope the brethren will remember that ...e Board stands in special need of funds ...st now, and act accordingly.

COMMITTEE.

Christ Who is Our Life. Col. 3: 4.

BY REV. F. P. MOORE.

Christ the God-man had a hand in all creation. Christ was present with the Father when at his command light flashed out over the dark expanse where old chaos reigned supreme. Yea, before the "morning stars stars sang together and the sons of God shouted for joy," the Son was present with the Father surrounded by his eternal glory and matchless splendor. The world with all its teeming millions of objects, animate and inanimate, visible and invisible, and the innumerable worlds rolling in illimitable space were all made by Christ the Lord. We read in John 1: 3—"All things were made by him, and without him was not anything made that was made." Of a certainty we can say, Jesus Christ is the source of all life, temporal, intellectual, moral and spiritual.

We read in John 3: 4—"In him was life, and the life was the light of men." The Lord Jesus, then, truly is the author of life, the restorer of life, and maintainer of life. But the life here meant is spiritual life. Christ is our life, in that,

I. He is the author of spiritual or eternal life. He saves from death—by dying as our substitute, also by freeing us from the power of Satan. Man has violated God's righteous and divine law; its condemnation rests upon him, and its penalty is death, eternal death. The wrath of God abides on him—a righteous curse and a righteous wrath rest upon the shoulders of the transgressor, because the "law is holy and the commandment holy, just and good." Rom. 7: 12. Man is justly condemned, and all of his doings and all his sufferings cannot remove the curse. Poor man, with all the the thunder of Sinai rolling over his head, and the forked lightnings striking terror to his soul, he realizes his utter helplessness to silence those eternal thunders, following which comes the whirlwind of everlasting destruction, and upon the condemned victim falls the mantel of the "blackness and darkness forever." We read, Rom. 6: 23—"For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord." The violation of God's law implies eternal death, and eternal death involves eternal suffering. Man stands totally depraved with the horrors of eternal death hanging over him; but in his helpless state, God "sends his Son made of a woman, made under the law to redeem them that were under the law." Gal. 4: 4, 6.

Man by his disobedience had dishonored the law, but Jesus Christ rendered perfect obedience to the law, and so magnified it and made it honorable. Isa. 42: 21. He showed to the witnessing worlds that it was a good, just and holy law by his keeping it, and by suffering its penalty, death. He bore the curse of the law for us. He took our place. The innocent took the place of the guilty, that the guilty might go free. "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way, and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all."

Turn your eyes to Calvary, and behold your substitute, and think of the greatness of the atonement. "Behold the lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world." Look at him "who was wounded for our trangressions, bruised for our iniquities, and the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed." Think of the Lord Jesus, who to rescue us from eternal death, "his own self bare our sins in his own body on the tree." What infinite love manifested! Love high as heaven, deep as hell, and wide as the universe. Eternal agony which should have fallen upon us, God poured out upon his own Son, whom it pleased him to bruise for us.

Our finite minds are unable to grasp the greatness of the atonement. But if you would catch a faint glimpse of the magnitude of Christ's sufferings on the cross for us, peer into the dark abyss of woe, and behold "sweltering in the flames" thousands of lost souls, some of whom have now been there thousands of years. They are there paying their debt to Divine justice, and when thousands of millions of years shall have rolled away, their debt will still be unpaid—their guilt towards God still remain the same. A long eternity of fire unquenchable will be their portion. Christ's sufferings were infinite, and therefore as great as the sufferings of his people would have been through all eternity in the regions of the lost.

Jesus Christ, in a few moments, satisfied the claims of the law. At the cross "truth and mercy met together, justice and peace embraced each other." The moment a man is enabled to trust the Lord Jesus as his personal Saviour, as his substitute, that same moment is he entirely justified from all guilt and freed from all punishment. "Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord Jesus Christ." Rom. 5: 1. We find the benefits of the atonement can not be received by works or any acts of the creature, but flow into the soul only through the channel of faith. Paul says, Rom. 4: 5—"But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness."

Christ in his death became our life, and in his word we find the terms of the covenant of redemption. "He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life, and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him." John 3: 36. So the man who is "dead in trespasses and in sins" is made to live by coming in contact with Christ, the author of life, by being united to him by a living faith. Christ is a part of the believer, dwells in him in the person of his Spirit. "I am the vine, ye are the branches." The believer's life is united with Christ the head, and no power can destroy or separate that glorious and happy, vital and living union. The head pledges his own eternal existence on that of his members who compose his body. "Because I live, ye shall live also." In the language of Luther, "If we perish, Christ perisheth with us." The believer is dead to the love and practice of sin, and his life the blessed and eternal life which he now possesses, as God's gift, is "hid with Christ in God." All christians can say with Paul, "I live, yet not I, but Christ in me." He turns men from "darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God." Acts 26: 18. He has conquered the power of darkness. Satan has great power, but his power is not omnipotent. Christ hath set bounds that he can not pass over. "Christ sways the sceptre of universal empire," and is head over all things from the smallest to the greatest. "All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth." Satan may tempt and harass God's people, but he can not destroy: his power is limited, and the Lord Jesus makes his grace sufficient for the christian in all his trials. The world is not a "friend to grace" to help the believer on to God. This life is the christian's battle-ground, and foes beset him on every side, and use all their endeavors to make him disloyal to his Captain, who, when here, "was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin." Heb. 4: 15. The conflict will last till death, or till Christ comes to take his people from this scene of suffering. The believer, midst the fiery trials which may assail him, the weakness and corruption of the flesh, can ever look to the Lord Jesus and rely upon his precious promises, trust his unchanging grace, and have the joy of his blessed Saviour ever flowing into his soul, knowing that soon all his enemies will be conquered through the strength of his Lord. He looks into the glorious beyond and beholds no enemy, but himself a conqueror; no cross, but a glittering crown; no sword, but a palm of victory; no tempest gathers there, but a serene and cloudless sky in which has risen to shine forever the Sun of Righteousness. He knows that soon he will gaze upon his Redeemer's glory, and shine even as he shines. "For we shall be like him when we shall see him as he is." The living Christ enters the soul of the believer and he is "changed into the same image, from glory to glory." Christ's mission to earth was to give life. "I am the life." "I am come that ye might have life, and that you might have it more abundantly." "Know ye not yourselves how that Jesus Christ is in you."

Out of his fullness we have received "grace for grace," love for love. Christ is our life, as has been shown by the atonement, by rescuing us from under Satan's power, by quickening us by his Spirit, who dwells in every believer. 1 Cor. 6: 19. Christ is the giver of the Holy Spirit, and sent him after he ascended on high. The Holy Spirit brings life to the dead soul, implants within the germ of life; and from the Holy Spirit within flow out the fruits: faith, love, joy, peace, &c. The Holy Spirit is a comforter, and abides forever. John 14: 4. The christian, though in a world of sin and sorrow, has the comforting presence of the Holy Spirit to bear witness with his spirit that he is a child of God, is indeed born from above, and will ere long reach his "Father's house on high." The Spirit does not testify of himself, but takes the things of Jesus and shows them to us. "He shall glorify me: for he shall receive of mine and shall shew it unto you." "He shall not speak of himself, but whatsoever he shall hear that shall he speak." "Christ in you the hope of glory." I cannot refrain from quoting from a sermon delivered by the world's greatest preacher, now with the Lord:

"Christ in you! What a wonder it is that he should deign to come under our roof! 'Lift up your heads, O ye gates, and be ye lifted up ye everlasting doors, that the king of glory may come in.' Give the honor which his entrance brings with it! He glorifies the place where his foot rests even for a moment. If Jesus doth but enter into your heart, his court comes with him; honor, and glory, and immortality, and heaven, and all other things follow where he leads."

II. As Christ is our life, we should make him the only object and the chief end of our life; so that all our powers may be absorbed in him, as shown by our fellowship with him and our love towards him.

We need to remember at all times that we are not our own, but are bought with the precious blood of Jesus; therefore our only motive in living should be to glorify him. Whatsoever we do should be done to his glory—to the advancement of his cause on earth. God's purpose in giving us life is that we abide in Christ our life and glorify him by "bearing much fruit"—our souls flowing out in love to our Lord and Saviour, manifested by our words and actions, and show to those by whom we are surrounded that we have been with Jesus, and are one with him. "Every one that loveth is born of God," and are his "workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works." Happiness comes to the believer only when he is walking with his Lord, and enjoying his fellowship. The christian's usefulness and happiness depend upon his fellowship with the Lord Jesus. We have all we need when we "abide in him." Our Lord does not dwell in a divided heart; he must and will have all the heart or none. He does not stay where he is not a welcome guest, as he never intrudes. If we want to enjoy the company of our blessed Master, the "meek and lowly Jesus," our hearts must be "humble and contrite," for he makes his abode in no other. Isa. 57: 15. It should be our highest aspiration to be absorbed in Christ, in order to reflect his glorious light. We should count everything but loss, as nothing, in order to win him. We should rejoice when we have fellowship with his sufferings, that we are counted worthy to suffer for him. We should "follow him through evil as well as good report." As the temperature of the planets is increased as they approach the sun, so is the love of the christian increased as he draws nearer his Lord. We need to get very close to Christ, and ever behold him and his wondrous love, that we may be changed into his likeness, grow more and more like him as the days go by. We can not look upon him, "our life," our "all and in all," without loving him, and the more we love him, the more beautiful and lovely does he become to our souls, and the more strongly do we desire to be swallowed up in love to him. Love begets love. If we feed upon Christ, the more we will hunger and thirst after him, for nothing but him can satisfy the soul; and this deep and eternal longing after the Lord is not painful, but is joy to the soul. May we make our delight in him, desire his presence more and more, thirst after him even as the chased deer "pants after the water-brooks." The true believer desires to live only for Christ. It is his only purpose in life to promote his glory and advance his kingdom. For him to live is Christ. Christ to him is heaven, and heaven to the soul redeemed would be a place of weeping without Jesus, for he is the joy of heaven. The believer has a faint glimpse of his Lord here; but he earnestly desires to behold him face to face, that he may see him in his glorious beauty, "be like him," and ever more behold him. "When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory."

Mission Work of the Southern Baptist Convention.

We give below the increase made in the work of the Boards of the Convention in the last ten years. No fact speaks more strongly of the wisdom of their management, and of the divine blessing upon their labors, than these figures. It will be seen that the cash receipts of the two Boards have increased about an equal amount, the increase for the Foreign Board being $63,168, and that of the Home Board $66,051.

INCREASE FROM 1882 TO 1892.—FOREIGN BOARD.

Number of missionaries: In 1882, 31; in 1892, 172. Receipts: In 1882, $51,157; in 1892, $114,325. Baptisms: In 1882, 124; in 1892, 434. Church members: In 1882, 1,022; In 1892, 2,728.

HOME BOARD.

Number of missionaries: In 1882, 38; in 1892, 365. Cash receipts: In 1882, $18,120; in 1892, $84,171. Co-operative work: In 1882, $10,250; in 1892, $68,683. Additions by baptism: In 1882, 119; in 1892, 5,274. Additions by letter: In 1882, 214; in 1892, 5,673. Total additions: In 1882, 333; in 1892, 11,247.

There are certain conclusions borne out by these figures which will commend themselves to all our people.

1. While the receipts of the Foreign Board have a little more than doubled, the number of their missionaries has increased five and a half times, their baptisms three and a half times, and the number of their church members more than two and a half times. As the receipts are increased, the number of workers and the results of their work are increased in a much larger proportion. This arises from the fact that in mission work, as in every other business, there are fixed expenses which must be incurred, whether the work is large or small, and these expenses do not increase proportionately with the increase of the work.

2. The increase of membership has been far greater proportionately in the foreign field than in our home churches. The increase of the white Baptist churches within the territory of the Southern Baptist Convention from 1882 to 1892 was 308,121, or about thirty three per cent., while the increase of the churches under our Foreign Mission Board was two hundred and fifty per cent. in the same time.

3. In our home field while the cash receipts have been increased four and a half times, and the co-operative work of the Board six and a half times, the number of missionaries has increased ten times, and the additions to the mission churches have risen from 333 in 1882 to 11,247 in 1892. No comparison can be made in the work of church building on the mission field, as the Board in 1882 did little in that direction, and made no report of its work, while in 1892 $64,000 were raised and expended in this work. This sum is almost entirely net gain in this department. Such facts should silence all adverse criticism, and bring every lover of our Lord in cordial and active sympathy with the work of the Convention.

I. T. TICHENOR.

Dedication and Ordination.

On Sunday, May 15th, 1892, the church at Pleasant Grove, seven miles below Rockingham, was dedicated.

The sermon was preached by Rev. T. M. Bailey, D. D., of South Carolina. Brother Bailey is a full flooded Irishman, and has just enough of the brogue to make his speech fresh and attractive without detracting from it. His sermon was a gem, and was greatly enjoyed by the vast congregation.

The dedicatory prayer was offered by the writer.

At the conclusion of the morning service, a very beautiful dinner was spread in the grove, of which all partook.

Bro. Bailey and the writer were requested to act as a presbytery to examine Bro. I. S. Boyles, with a view to ordaining him. After a very satisfactory examination, the presbytery recommended that he be ordained, which was done in the Rockingham Baptist church on Sunday night.

Bro. Bailey preached a strong and stimulating sermon on christian work. The writer delivered the charge. Dr. Bailey offered prayer, the hand of fellowship was given by the presbytery, and Bro. Boyles pronounced the benediction.

LIVINGSTON JOHNSON.

P. S. Bro. Boyles is pastor of the church which was dedicated on Sunday morning.

We call attention to the advertisement of valuable property for sale by W. J. Wingate of Wake Forest, which appears on the seventh page of this issue.

Yeopim Union.

This Union expects to meet with the church at Yeopim on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May. Rev. Josiah Elliott is to preach the introductry sermon, Rev. W. P. Jordan, alternate: Rev. C. J. Woodson the missionary sermon, Rev. W. B. Waff, alternate.

SUBJECT FOR DISCUSSION.

1. What are the duties of our churches to our Education Board? To lead, brethren W. B. Felton and C. A. Donaldson.

2. Our work in Mexico. Assigned to, W. B. Waff and C. S. Vann.

3. How can we best induce our members to better attend Saturday meetings? To open, J. M. Forehand and Josiah Elliott.

JOS. T. WAFF, Clerk.

Union Meeting.

The Union meetig of the Mecklenburg and Cabarrus Association will be held with the church at Mathews, beginning on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May.

QUERIES.

What relation does the Sunday-school sustain to the church? C. Gresham.

How can we attain a higher development in christian usefulness among our members? Rev. J. A. Alderman.

Is there not a great tendency on the part of the church towards worldliness? H. V. Massey.

How can we best utilize this Centennial Year of Missions? Rev. A. G. McHanaway.

The need of the Holy Spirit in our Sunday-school and church work. Rev. A. W. Crabtree.

J. W. D.

Convention Bound by the Contract.

After the death of Rev. Thomas Meredith, his family attempted to continue the BIBLICAL RECORDER, with Rev. T. W. Tobey as editor. This arrangement failed to give satisfaction.

The paper was then bought by a joint stock company, who employed an editor; but the views of the stockholders were divergent, and the people said all these able men ought to make a more satisfactory paper.

When the Convention met in Smithfield about the year 1853, it was agreed that Rev. J. J. James should buy the paper and publish it as the organ of the Convention, and that the Convention should pledge him and his successors its good will and patronage. This contract was to continue so long as the paper should be efficient and faithful.

So those who compose the Convention are still bound by the contract, and the BIBLICAL RECORDER is still entitled to the patronage and support of all persons represented in the Baptist State Convention.

J. H. MILLS.

Sunday-school Convention.

The Brier Creek Sunday-school Convention will be held at the following time and place:

Place—Mt. Vernon church, North Iredell, N. C.

Time—Saturday before the fifth Sunday in May, 1892, beginning at 9 o'clock a. m.

QUERIES.

1. What relation has a Sunday-school to Christianity? D. C. James.

2. What are the chief sins that tend to retard the growth of Sunday school work? W. A. Myres.

3. What benefit is a Sunday-school to a church? W. M. Goforth.

4. Is not the Sunday-school work secondary to the gospel? R. W. Wooten.

5. Is the command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel," as given by Christ to his people, exclusively to the Ministry or to the church? T. W. Paris.

Let all the schools be represented.

REV. I. HOLLAR, Chm'n.

M. A. MITCHELL, Secretary.

Letter from Forest City, N. C.

Dear Recorder:—Please give space for a line from this corner of the kingdom.

This part of the old North State is showing signs of improvement along every line. Am glad to note that no line of industry or enterprise has outstripped the Baptist cause. I can see signs of development in my field such as I have not heretofore seen. Our little mission church at King's Mountain is hard at work trying to pay the debt on her unfinished house which stands yet on the wood blocks upon which it was framed. No pillars, not yet plastered, and in debt, and damaging for want of painting. But this is a noble, self-sacrificing little band, and under God they will succeed.

The Lord is signally blessing their efforts. On last Sunday, in the presence of a large concourse of people, your scribe had the pleasure of burrying fourteen converts with Christ in baptism, who afterwards received the right hand of fellowship in our little mission church. Pray for us.

Sincerely, T. BAILEY.

Forest City, N. C., May 19, 1892.

A brother in a State south of this and who is unwilling his name should be mentioned, has promised to give $20,000 to the Centennial Missionary Fund, designating the same for special work under our Foreign Mission Board. This makes about $40,000 thus far secured on the fund proposed. This is a good beginning, but it needs to be vigorously followed up.—Western Recorder.

The Teachers' Assembly will hold a two weeks' meeting this year at Morehead City, commencing June 21st and closing July 6th. Secretary Harrell is actively engaged in making preparations for the gathering.

Isn't There a Difference?

There must be something radically wrong about the growing sentiment as to what constitutes faithful preaching, if we are to judge by the preaching of Christ and his Apostles. The preacher who can please everybody is considered by many to be the man for the nineteenth century. His gun is to be well charged with powder, but he is to be very careful not to use any gospel bombs, for fear he might injure somebody's business, or interfere with somebody's pleasure. Some people are very fond of preaching providing it is all thunder and no lightning. The writer once heard a fine sermon by one of our best preachers on the subject of intemperance. A member of the church said: "He ought not to have preached such a sermon." The writer has been asked not to say in the pulpit that Christ and his Apostles were Missionary Baptists; and not to say anything about certain sins of which some of the congregation were guilty for fear somebody might be offended. I wonder what such "tender-footed" Baptists would have done if they had lived in the days of the martyrs. Some of our dear brethren seem to think they must preach to please everybody, or their preaching will be a failure. Is it right to preach to please men? Paul said, "For if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ." Gal. 1: 10. Jesus said, "Woe unto you when all men shall speak well of you; for so did their fathers to the false prophets." Luke 6: 26. Paul's charge to Timothy to "Preach the word; be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke," is just as binding on us as it was on Timothy. 2 Tim. 4: 2. Of course, we are to "reprove, rebuke" people in love, but still some are simpletons enough to get mad. Our Saviour and his Apostles did not preach without giving offence. Can we? The church-member who expects his or her pastor to preach to please everybody, is expecting him to do what Christ could not do while he was on earth.

A great many people don't like to hear a preacher preach about "the exceeding sinfulness of sin," repentance, the judgment and hell. They want him to preach "peace, peace, when there is no peace," reformation instead of regeneration, and all love and no law. All this is a trick of the Devil to try to marry the world to the church.

Brethren, let us try to please the Lord and be dissatisfied only when we displease him.

I love the RECORDER because it fearlessly "hues to the line and lets the chips fall where they may." The RECORDER has done and is still doing a noble work in "earnestly contending for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints." J. R. PACE.

Bethel, May 19, 1892.

Persecution of Christians at Wenchow Near Ningpo, China

Serious trouble has broken out at one of the mission stations in the neighborhood of Wenchow. Only a week before the troubles began the popular feeling in favor of christianity was most encouraging. During the visit of the Rev. W. E. Soothill nearly a thousand people assembled to hear the preaching. It took nearly a quarter of an hour for them to settle down to quiet and order. Addresses lasting for about three hours were kept up. When most of the outsiders had taken their departure, the remaining enquirers and christians had a meeting for prayer, and over one hundred knelt down. Sixty-six have given in their names as enquirers, although the work in that locality is only fifteen months old. Six were examined and baptized, and the day's work appeared to be most satisfactory.

On the 14th instant, however, some of the villagers came down in haste to Wenchow to report that, while holding the usual christian service, about seventy of the more disaffected among them had come to the chapel and smashed up lamps, furniture and everything they could lay hands on. The hymn-books and Testaments were taken out and burned and the christians were brutally attacked, one being kicked most severely and left senseless on the ground.

On the 15th instant further persecutions were reported. The two leading men of the village led their adherents out again, and this time every christian house was despoiled. Only four were injured the previous day. The inmates were driven out, young and old, and the doors closed and sealed up. Those families who denied having anything to do with christianity were unmolested. Nearly twenty houses were thus closed and the people left without homes. In one case the wind blew a door open and the marauders thought its owner had opened it to show he was a convert to christianity. The house was attacked, and the occupant maltreated while his property was destroyed, although he had not accepted christianity at all.

While the English missionary was writing to his Consul on the subject, another deputation of converts came to say that in four other villages near Wenchow a similar attack had been made on a house, of which the christian owner had refused to make a feast for the idols on the occasion of his wedding. The rowdies poured filth into his rice pans, broke everything they could find, knocked his wife down, and threatened to leave nothing standing the next evening.

In both these cases the motive seems to be that the tendency of christianity is to displace idolatry, and thus the idols and temples will be neglected. The prosperity of the place being supposed to depend on these idolatrous arrangements, which have been kept up for ages, it is feared that if idols or temples are neglected, the heaviest public calamities will be the result. These occurrences show, however, that the work of the missionary is progressing.—N. China Herald, Feb. 26, 1892.

Headache yields to Beecham's pills.

A Truth

The way to deal with the Papacy is to consume it with the spirit of God's mouth, and wait, for its complete destruction, till "the brightness of his coming." The Bible, God's word, is the "breath of his mouth." This breath shall consume the Papacy.

Statistics.

Italy has an estimated population of 30,947,806. About 100,000 are of French origin, 4,000 of German origin, 60,000 of Albanian origin, 25,000 of Greek origin and 8,000 of Spanish origin. The Roman Catholic is nominally the ruling State religion, but perfect religious freedom is secured to the adherents of all creeds.

A Beautiful Custom.

We call the Chinese heathen, and yet they have some customs that would do credit to a christian people. On every new year's morning, each man and boy, from the emperor to the lowliest peasant, pays a visit to his mother. He carries her a present, varying in value according to his station, thanks her for all she has done for him, and asks a continuance of her favor another year. They are taught to believe that mothers have an influence for good over their sons all through life.—Exchange.

The Shamrock Ireland's Emblem.

The Shamrock, Ireland's emblem, is a trefoil, or three-leaved grass, much resembling our white clover. According to tradition, when St. Patrick landed near Wicklow, in 433, the pagan inhabitants were on the point of stoning him to death; but, having obtained a hearing, he endeavored to explain to them the Trinity in Unity, but they could not understand it. At last he stooped and picked a trefoil (Shamrock) and said: "Is is not as possible for the Father, Son and Holy Ghost to be one, as it is for these three leaves to grow upon a single stalk!" The Irish were convinced, and the Shamrock was adopted as the national emblem. —Exchange.

The Deadly Cold Bed.

If trustworthy statistics could be had of the number of persons who die every year or become permanently diseased from sleeping on damp or cold beds, they would probably be astonishing and appalling. It is a peril that constantly besets traveling men, and if they are wise they will invariably insist on having their beds aired, even at the risk of causing much trouble to their landlords. But, according to Good Housekeeping, it is a peril that resides also in the home, and the cold "spare room" has slain its thousands of hapless guests, and will go on with its slaughter till people learn wisdom. Not only the guest, but the family, often suffer the penalty of sleeping in cold rooms and chilling their bodies, at a time when they need their bodily heat, by getting between two cold sheets. Even in warm summer weather a cold, damp bed will get in its deadly work. It is a needless peril, and the neglect to provide dry rooms and beds has in its elements of murder and suicide.—Scientific American.

Many a young lady has been sacrificed upon the altar of a mother's vanity Some mothers are afflicted with a sinful pride and a cruel ambition. They desire their daughters to shine in society, and to eclipse all others in brilliant displays. To this end, they encourage them to follow fashions that jeopardize not only their lives, but their modesty, and to engage in popular amusements and vices which common sense must teach may lead to ruin and shame. A beautiful girl lay dying. Turning to her mother she said: "Mother, I am almost gone. It was that last ball that you forced me to attend that has brought me to this. Oh, mother, teach sister to be good, not gay." God pity such a mother!—Alabama Advocate.

There is a touching story told of a young naval lieutenant in connection with General Wolseley's attack on the Egyptians' stronghold at Tel-el Kebir. The army was marched at night across seven miles of sandy desert. It was a dark clear night; there was no moon, but the stars shone out. Lieutenant Wyatt Rawson had been detailed because he was used to navigating by the stars, to guide the army across the desert to the enemy's entrenchments. With his eye on the stars he steered the force as he would have steered his ship. So accurately did he lead that the first gleam of breaking day revealed to the British troops the long line of solid earthworks three hundred yards ahead. The assault, within half an hour, put the earthworks and the Egyptian army into the possession of Wolseley's troops. The skillful "steerer," charging with the men he had led, went across the ditch, up the embankment, and over the first line of earthworks. Then he fell, shot through the body. "Didn't I lead them straight, general?" he asked, as the commander-in-chief bent over him. When the pastor or Sunday-school teacher falls, how blessed is it to be able to appeal to our Great Leader with such confidence as this, knowing that the one end had been kept constantly in view. In christian work let every one who has the guidance of others be sure to "lead them straight."—Christian Inquirer.

For the conduct of life habits are more important than maxims, because a habit is a maxim verified. To take a new set of maxims for one's guide is no more than to change the title of a book; but to change one's habits is to change one's life. Life is only a tissue of habits.—Amiel.

A Balky Horse

Remember a horse thinks, but can entertain only one idea at a time. His idea to stop is fixed, and all the ordinary methods to make him go on he resists as so many additional grievances. Now, do something to please him; give him a piece of bread, or an apple, or lump of sugar; you change the current of his thought, and he forgets the first idea and goes on. That is true horse philosophy.—Exchange.

Just as we Are.

Remember that the time for self-examination and self knowledge is, after all, very short. Soon we shall know the great secret. We may masquerade it for a little while in the dress of a saint, but death will soon strip off the covering, and at the Judgment we shall stand just as we are.—Spurgeon.

If you want a stalwart christian character, plant it right out of doors in the great field of christian usefulness, and through the hot sun of trial may try to consume it, it will thrive until it becomes a great tree, in which the fowls of heaven may have their habitation.—Talmage

"WORTH A GUINEA A BOX."
BEECHAM'S PILLS
COVERED WITH A TASTELESS AND SOLUBLE COATING.
For SICK HEADACHE,
Dizziness, or Swimming in the Head, Wind, Pain, and Spasms at the Stomach, Pains in the Back, Gravel, and flying Pains in the Body, Rheumatism, etc.
Take four, five or even six of Beecham's Pills, and in nine cases out of ten, they will give relief in twenty minutes; for the pill will go direct to and remove the cause, the cause being no more nor less than wind, together with poisonous and noxious vapours, and sometimes unwholesome food.
Of all druggists. Price 25 cents a box.
New York Depot, 365 Canal St.

Morning
Noon
Night
Good all the time. It removes the languor of morning, sustains the energies of noon, lulls the weariness of night.
Hires' Root Beer
delicious, sparkling, appetizing.
Don't be deceived if a dealer, for the sake of larger profit, tells you some other kind is "just as good"—'tis false. No imitation is as good as the genuine HIRES'.

POKINE.

I have used the within remedy (Pokine) with great success. JAMES H. LASSITER.

I have used the Pokine Remedy (prepared by W. T. Cheatham, Jr.) in case of Sciatica with the result of positive relief in a few hours, and believe if used as directed is will effect a permanent cure. J. L. H. MISSILLIER.

MARCH 6, 1891.

For the benefit of the public, I unhesitatingly recommend Cheatham's wonderful remedy, "Pokine," to all sufferers of rheumatism. It has produced marvelous results in my case. I was a sufferer of the malady for five years, and after taking a few bottles was entirely cured.
Very respectfully, W. W. DOWTIN.

HENDERSON, N. C., March 7, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM:
Dear Sir—My wife was down in bed with rheumatism, and the Pokine I bought of you gave her relief after taking four doses. She has not been troubled since. It is the best medicine she ever took for rheumatism. Respectfully, ZACK DAVIS.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I have been afflicted with rheumatism time and again, for the past thirteen years. I have received more relief from Pokine than any medicine I ever took, and therefore take great pleasure in recommending it to all sufferers of rheumatism. Very respectfully, F. G. MITCHELL.

JANUARY 19, 1891.

W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Dear Sir—I desire to say that in January last I was down with rheumatism; my suffering was great, and I was completely prostrated. One bottle of your Pokine completely relieved me, and I have not had any rheumatism since. My son also was relieved of rheumatism by Pokine.
Yours truly, CHARLES G. BURROUGHS.

HENDERSON, N. C., Sept. 16, '91.
MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.:
Your rheumatic cure, Pokine, has completely cured me. I. M. GREEN.

MR. W. T. CHEATHAM, JR., Henderson, N. C.:
Dear Sir—Being asked my opinion of your rheumatic remedy, Pokine, will gladly state I deem it the only medicine of its kind on the market that will accomplish that which is exclusively claimed for it. Being a sufferer of rheumatism, I consequently tried many remedies, until finally relieved by Pokine. Very respectfully, J. A. KELLY.

Price, $1.00. For sale by druggists. Mail orders filled promptly by
W. T. CHEATHAM, JR.,
HENDERSON, N. C.

For Sale Cheap.
A magnificent edition of the Encyclopedia Britanica. It is well bound and is not the slightest soiled. Will sell the entire set of 26 volumes for $40. Only reason for selling is that owner has another set. Address C. W. V., Box 46, Raleigh.

CINCINNATI BELL FOUNDRY CO
CINCINNATI, O., sole makers of the "Blymyer" Church, School and Fire Alarm Bells. Catalogue with over 2000 testimonials.

OPIUM and Whiskey Habits cured at home without pain. Book of particulars sent FREE. B. M. WOOLLEY, M.D. Atlanta, Ga. Office 104½ Whitehall St.

Raleigh & Gaston Railroad.

In effect Sunday, Jan. 10, 1892.

TRAINS GOING NORTH.	No. 84. Pass. Daily.	No. 38. Pass. & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.
Leave Raleigh	5 00 p m	11 25 a m
Lv Mill Brook	5 15 p m	11 40 a m
Lv Wake Forest	5 38 p m	12 04 p m
Lv Franklinton	5 58 p m	12 26 p m
Lv Kittrells	6 15 p m	12 43 p m
Lv Henderson	6 30 p m	12 59 p m
Lv Warren Plains	7 05 p m	1 39 p m
Lv Macon	7 14 p m	1 47 p m
Ar Weldon	8 15 p m	2 45 p m

TRAINS MOVING SOUTH.	No. 41. Pass & Mail, d'ly ex Sun.	No. 45. Daily Pass.
Lv Weldon	12 30 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Macon	1 30 p m	8 01 a m
Lv Warren Plains	1 39 p m	8 09 a m
Lv Henderson	2 18 p m	8 43 a m
Lv Kittrells	2 34 p m	8 59 a m
Lv Franklinton	2 51 p m	9 16 a m
Lv Wake Forest	3 15 p m	9 36 a m
Lv Mill Brook	3 40 p m	9 58 a m
Ar Raleigh	3 55 p m	10 10 a m

LOUISBURG RAILROAD.

Leaves Louisburg at 8:00 a m, 11:30 a m and 5:00 p m.
Arrives at Franklinton at 8:35 a m, 1:05 p m, and 5:35 p m.
Leaves Franklinton at 6:05 p m, 8:00 p m, and 9:20 a m.
Arrives at Louisburg at 6:40 a m, 8:35 p m, and 9:20 a m.
JOHN C. WINDER, Gen. Man.
L. T. MYERS, Gen. Supt.
WM. SMITH, Superintendent.

Atlantic Coast Line.

Wilmington & Weldon Railroad and Branches.

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
Dated May 19, 1892.

GOING SOUTH.	No 23. Daily.	No 27. Fast Mail Daily.	No 41. Daily ex Sunday
Leave Weldon	12 30 p m	5 43 p m	6 00 a m
Ar Rocky Mount	1 40 p m	6 36 p m	7 09 a m
Arrive Tarboro	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro	12 58 p m	‡6 00 p m
Arrive Wilson	2 18 p m	7 00 p m	7 40 a m
Leave Wilson	‡2 30 p m
Arrive Selma	3 30 p m
Arr Fayetteville	5 30 p m
Leave Goldsboro	3 15 p m	7 40 p m	8 30 a m
Leave Warsaw	4 14 p m		9 30 a m
Leave Magnolia	4 27 p m	8 40 p m	9 44 a m
Arr Wilmington	6 00 p m	9 55 p m	11 25 a m

GOING NORTH.	No 14. Daily.	No 78. Daily.	No 40. Daily ex Sunday.
Lve Wilmington	12 35 a m	9 15 a m	4 20 p m
Leave Magnolia	1 54 a m	10 57 a m	6 02 p m
Leave Warsaw		11 11 a m	6 15 p m
Arrive Goldsboro	2 55 a m	12 05 a m	7 10 p m
Lve Fayetteville		‡9 10 a m
Leave Selma		11 08 a m
Arrive Wilson		12 10 p m
Leave Wilson	3 35 a m	12 58 p m	8 04 p m
Ar Rocky Mount	4 03 a m	1 30 p m	8 39 p m
Arrive Tarboro	‡6 30 a m	‡2 18 p m
Leave Tarboro		12 58 p m
Arrive Weldon	5 05 a m	2 55 p m	10 00 p m

‡Daily except Sunday.
Trains on Scotland Neck branch road leave Weldon 4.00 p m, Halifax 4 22 p m; arrive Scotland Neck at 5.15 p m, Greenville 6.52 p m, Kinston 8.00 p m. Returning, leaves Kinston 7.10 a m, Greenville 8.25 a m. Arriving Halifax at 11.00 a m, Weldon 11.25 a m, daily except Sunday.
Trains on Wasmington Branch leave Washington 7.00 a m, arrives A & R Junction 8.40 a m; returning leaves A & R Junction 7.05 p m, arrives Washington 8.45 p m Daily except Sunday. Connects with trains on Albemarle and Raleigh R R, and Scotland Neck Branch.
Train leaves Tarboro, via Albemarle and Raleigh railroad, daily except Sunday, 4.40 p m, Sunday 3.00 p m; arrive Williamston 7.18 p m, 4.20 p m, Plymouth 8.30 p m, 5.20 p m. Returning leaves Plymouth daily except Sunday 6.00 a m, Sunday 9.00 a m, Williamston 7.30 a m, 9.58 a m. Arrive Tarboro 10 40 a m, 11.20 a m.
Trains on Southern Division, Wilson and Fayetteville branch, leave Fayetteville 7 30 a m, arrive Rowland 12.15 p m. Returning leave Rowland 12 15 p m, arrive Fayetteville 5.15 p m. Daily except Sunday.
Train on Midland, N C, branch leaves Goldsboro daily except Sunday, 6 00 a m, arrive Smithfield 7.30 a m. Returning leaves Smithfield 8.00 a m, arrive Goldsboro 9 30 a m.
Train on Nashville branch leaves Rocky Mount at 5.15 p m, arrives Nashville 8.55 p m, Spring Hope 6.30 p m. Returning leaves Spring Hope at 8.00 a m, Nashville 6.35 a m, arrive Rocky Mount 9.15 a m, daily except Sunday.
Train on Clinton branch leaves Warsaw for Clinton daily except Sunday, at 6.30 p m, and 11.15 a m. Returning leaves Clinton at 8.30 a m, and 3.10 p m, connecting at Warsaw with Nos 41, 40, 23 and 78.
Southbound train on Wilson and Fayetteville branch is No 51; Northbound is No 50. Daily except Sunday.
Trains No 27 South, and 14 North, will stop only at Rocky Mount, Wilson, Goldsboro and Magnolia.
Train No 79 makes close connection at Weldon for all points North daily, all rail via Richmond, and daily except Sunday via Bay Line, also at Rocky Mount daily except Sunday, with Norfolk and Carolina railroad for Norfolk and all points north via Norfolk.
JOHN F. DIVINE, Gen. Supt.
J. R. KENLY, General Manager.
T. M. EMERSON, Traffic Manager.

Richmond & Danville Railroad Company

CONDENSED SCHEDULE,
In Effect January 17, 1892.

SOUTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 9.	DAILY. No. 11.
Lv. Richmond	*3 00 p m	*3 20 a m
" Burkeville	5 00 p m	5 00 a m
" Keysville	5 44 p m	5 44 a m
Ar. Danville	8 00 p m	8 05 a m
" Greensboro	10 15 p m	10 12 a m
Lv. Goldsboro	12 15 p m	11 35 p m
Ar. Raleigh	1 55 p m	5 45 p m
Lv. Raleigh	*6 40 p m	*8 05 a m
" Durham	7 44 p m	5 07 a m
Ar. Greensboro	10 15 p m	9 40 a m
Lv. Winston-Salem	‡8 40 p m	*8 50 a m
" Greensboro	*10 25 p m	*10 20 a m
Ar. Salisbury	12 18 a m	11 57 a m
Ar. Statesville	*1 52 a m	*1 09 p m
" Asheville	6 55 a m	5 59 p m
" Hot Springs	8 56 p m	7 44 p m
Lv. Salisbury	*12 28 a m	*12 05 p m
Ar. Charlotte	2 00 a m	1 30 p m
" Spartanburg	5 00 a m	4 27 p m
" Greenville	6 10 a m	5 34 p m
" Atlanta	12 30 p m	11 45 a m
Lv. Charlotte	*2 10 a m	*1 50 p m
Ar. Columbia	6 07 a m	5 50 p m
Ar. Augusta	9 30 a m	9 15 p m

NORTHBOUND.	DAILY. No. 10.	DAILY. No. 12.
Lv Augusta	*7 00 p m	*1 00 p m
" Columbia	10 50 p m	4 10 p m
Ar Charlotte	8 05 a m	8 00 p m
Lv Atlanta	*8 50 p m	*9 00 p m
Ar Charlotte	6 40 a m	7 50 p m
Lv Charlotte	7 00 a m	8 20 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 27 a m	9 45 p m
Lv Hot Springs	*5 22 p m	*12 39 p m
" Asheville	2 40 a m	4 25 p m
" Statesville	7 07 a m	9 17 p m
Ar Salisbury	8 00 a m	10 12 p m
Lv Salisbury	*8 37 a m	*9 55 p m
Ar Greensboro	10 20 a m	11 28 a m
Ar Winston-Salem	*11 40 a m	‡1 18 a m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*12 01 a m
Ar Durham	12 32 p m	1 20 a m
" Raleigh	1 25 p m	7 00 a m
Lv Raleigh	*1 30 p m	‡8 45 a m
Ar Goldsboro	5 05 p m	12 28 p m
Lv Greensboro	*10 30 a m	*11 38 p m
Ar Danville	12 10 p m	1 10 a m
" Keysville	2 52 p m	4 15 a m
" Burkesville	5 36 p m	4 57 a m
" Richmond	5 30 p m	7 15 a m

‡Daily except Sunday. *Daily.

BETWEEN WEST POINT & RICHMOND

Leave West Point 7.50 a m and 8.50 a m daily except Sunday and Monday; arrive Richmond 9.10 and 10.40 a m. Returning leave Richmond 3.10 p m, and 4.40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive West Point 5.00 and 6.00 p m.

BETWEEN RICHMOND & RALEIGH VIA KEYSVILLE.

Leave Richmond 3.00 p m daily; leave Keysville 6.00 p m; arrive at Oxford 8.03 p m, Henderson 9.05 p m, Durham 9.35 p m, Raleigh 10.46 p m. Returning leave Raleigh 9.15 a m, Durham 10.25 a m, Henderson 10.05 a m, Oxford 11.45 a m; arrive Keysville 2 00 p m, Richmond 5.30 p m. Through coach between Richmond and Raleigh.
Mixed trains leave Keysville daily except Sunday 9.10 a m; arrives Durham 6.20 p m. Leaves Durham 7.15 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 9.10 a m. Leaves Durham 7 50 p m daily except Sunday; arrives Keysville 2 10 a m. Leaves Oxford 8.00 a m daily except Sunday; arrive Durham 5.00 a m.
Additional train leaves Oxford daily except Sunday 11:50 a m, arrive Henderson 12:45 p m; returning leave Henderson 6:30 and 9:40 p m daily except Sunday; arrive Oxford 7:35 and 10:45 p m.
No 9, leaving Goldsboro 2:15 p m, and Raleigh 6:40 p m daily, makes connection at Durham with No 40, leaving at 7:50 p m daily, except Sunday for Oxford and Keysville
Nos 9 and 12 connect at Richmond from and to West Point and Baltimore daily except Sunday

SLEEPING-CAR SERVICE.

On trains 9 and 10, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Atlanta and New York; Danville, Augusta and Greensboro (via Asheville) and Knoxville, Tenn.
On 11 and 12, Pullman Buffet Sleeper between Richmond and Danville, Raleigh and Greensboro, and Pullman Buffet Sleepers between New York, Washington and Knoxville via Danville, Salisbury, and Asheville, and between Washington and Augusta.
SOL HASS, Traffic Manager. JAS. L. TAYLOR, Gen. Pass. Agent.
W. A. TURK, Div. Pass. Agt., Charlotte, N.C.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Ry. Co

CONDENSED SCHEDULE.
In effect February 28, 1892.

NORTH BOUND.	No. 2. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 4. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 16. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Wilmington	9.50 a m
Ar Fayetteville	1.55 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3.00 p m
Lv Sanford	4.35 p m
Ar Greensboro	6.55 p m
Lv Greensboro	7.15 p m
Lv Walnut Cove	9.00 p m
Ar Mt Airy	11.15 p m
Lv Bannertsville		12.40 p m
Lv Maxton		1.27 p m
Ar Fayetteville		2.57 p m
Lv Ramseur			7.25 a m
Ar Greensboro			10.05 a m
Lv Greensboro			10.35 a m
Ar Madison			1.05 p m

SOUTH BOUND.	No. 1. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 3. Daily Ex. Sunday.	No. 15. Daily Ex. Sunday.
Lv Mt. Airy	6:00 a m
Lv Walnut Cove	8:11 a m
Ar Greensboro	10:00 a m
Lv Greensboro	10:30 a m
Lv Sanford	12:45 p m
Ar Fayetteville	2:06 p m
Lv Fayetteville	3:04 p m
Ar Wilmington	7:05 p m
Lv Fayetteville		3:11 p m
Lv Maxton		3:32 p m
Ar Bannertsville		4:29 p m
Lv Madison			9:45 p m
Ar Greensboro			4:35 p m
Lv Greensboro			5:15 p m
Ar Ramseur			8:10 p m

W. H. KYLE, Gen. Pass. Agt.
J. W. FRY, Gen. Manager.

Woman's Missionary Department.

President Woman's Central Committee of North Carolina, Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.; Secretary, Mrs. J. A. BRIGGS, Raleigh, N. C.

For Centennial Building Fund, Chapel Cards, Self-denial and Thanksgiving Mite Boxes, Centennial Literature, etc., apply to Miss FANNIE E. HECK, Raleigh, N. C.

Subject for May:—Italy.

Women and the Centennial of Missions.

One hundred years with their changing seasons have rolled around since the humble Baptist cobbler, under the leadings of Divine providence, inaugurated the great world-wide movement of modern missions. As the new century begins, the Baptists of the world desire to erect their Ebenezer of gratitude, and say "Thus far hath the Lord helped us." Then they wish to convert the pillar of triumph into an altar of sacrifice, and to dedicate themselves afresh, as they continue to obey their Lord's injunction, "Preach the gospel to every creature," "Teach all nations."

The Centennial of Modern Missions is just about to begin. The year from May '92 to May '93 will be signalized by the most widespread and enthusiastic missionary campaign that has been known since the days of the Apostles. Already the work for North Carolina has been organized, speakers have been appointed, and programs published. Now what can Baptist women do to enhance the success of the movement? This is a practical question. Let us talk it over and try to answer it.

Well, first of all, as our pastors say, we are not apt to help it in the way of public speaking. We would not if we could, and we could not if we would. The feminaphobia, which seems to afflict a few of our brethren, is surely only a hallucination. But they are distressed needlessly. The Baptist women of the South have no desire to preach or to become platform orators. Were we as obedient from the heart in all things to the teachings of the Apostle Paul as we are to certain passages of which we are, perhaps, too frequently reminded, we would be profoundly and practically orthodox. And these things we teach to our daughters and our grand daughters. But in some natural and womanly place we can surely fall into the grand procession. Where? How?

1. Talk about the Centennial. Let it get a warm place in our hearts. Then "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." If we talk up the meetings which are to be held in our neighborhoods, invite the people privately to attend, and seek to get them into sympathy with the movement beforehand, our influence in the social circle—and some have been kind enough to say that it is not without its potency—will be used for the glory of Christ.

2. Help cheerfully in the meetings. Any "big meeting" (to speak after the manner of colored people) brings its special burdens upon the ladies of the community. And many a time it costs no little struggle to defer the work planned for the day and forget selfish interests in the exercise of hospitality. The preparation of guest chambers, superintendence of culinary operations and the invasion of the routine of family life often involve sacrifice. But shall we not carry these burdens joyfully for our Lord's sake? And sometimes we entertain angels unawares.

3. Disseminate missionary information. People will be apt to have a keener appetite for the facts about missions during the next few months than they have had for a long time past. Missions will be in the air; a thing to be discussed. Ignorance will be neither bliss nor honor. Now the lessons that we have learned through our societies will help us to be useful. We may not know very much, but in conversation, at home and abroad, we can modestly impart what we do know. And now will be the time to make judicious distribution of our wealth of missionary literature, some of the best of which may be had for the asking. Would it not be delightful to see even some of those ultra conservative people who look askance upon woman's work, getting some really intelligent views of the matter.

4. Give more liberally than usual. Let us try to signalize the year with unusual offerings. It is, and will probably continue to be, a very hard year with almost all of us. But where there's a will there's a way. Self-denials may become our sweetest pleasures, if for Christ's sake. The little sums that each of us can make or save, if we do our best, will swell into a surprising aggregate. Rivers are but the sum total of innumerable rills that flow in silver threads from hidden springs. "She hath done what she could." Let that be said of each of us.

5. Visit the closet often—the closet where God has engaged to meet us and to answer the prayer of faith. Here let us remember the toilers in heathen lands, many of whom we know personally, and all of whom we have learned in our woman's meetings to think about with interest and sympathy. Let us plead for more laborers in the harvest field—a band of earnest workers to crown this Centennial year.

6. Woman's work for missions should be greatly stimulated by the general movement. Can we not utilize and give permanence to the interest aroused by the discussions in newspapers and on the platform? Let us try to double the number of societies and largely to increase the numbers and efficiency of those already in existence. What a pity it will be if the enthusiasm of our people shall be allowed to expend itself in mere sentiment! But if our societies are made to serve as "storage batteries" as well as dynamos, this need not be.

MRS. C. E. TAYLOR.

Wake Forest, N. C.

No experience makes one grow old so fast as struggling to keep down the voice of conscience. No one can do this without wasting the strength of his life.—Dr. M. E. Dunning.

Why Build Mission Chapels?

In the consideration of this question, perhaps it will be well to state the reasons generally assigned for this work and see how they apply to the case in hand.

1. They are generally set forth as an evangelization agency, i. e., in the sense of getting the gospel in contact with the people. If there is no place in which to gather the people together, how will you preach to them? As a preliminary to the answer, it is important to call attention to one thing, viz., the fact that we are sure to look at the matter from the standpoint of development in christian countries. Being familiar with no other conditions, we naturally look at the matter from this standpoint—that the conditions are radically different, hardly needs to be said; and we should come to study the matter with this in view. But we shall also see that there are certain principles applicable to all conditions.

The "chapel" as an evangelizing agency is opposed to the idea contained in the word missionary, i. e., one sent. This, of course, means to people. When we build a "chapel," the idea is to preach to people who come to it. This is only going half way. We have come to the country to be sure, but we have not got to the people. In fact, we thus say to the people, "You must come to us." This naturally enough they will not do to any great extent, only such as are attracted by curiosity. Even on this one may build, but how much better to enter the wide open door of street and village preaching where you are hampered by no curious surroundings and can use your full force. This door to the people is always wide open and using it is fulfilling the true idea of the missionary.

The missionary is always looked upon with more or less suspicion, usually a great deal. Building chapels, and indeed houses of any kind, especially after a foreign pattern, only serves to increase this suspicion. Witness the destruction of foreign houses in riots. The best way to allay this suspicion is to mingle in an unobtrusive way as fully as possible with the people. Let them see just what is being done. Secrecy is bad in any cause. Get the gospel in personal contact with as great a number as possible and trust to its leavening influence. For this, the "chapel" is not fitted. It tends to seclude one, and makes it that not only the missionary is looked upon with suspicion, but those who are seen to have dealing with him as well.

In order to build a chapel, land must be bought. This in many cases is a disturbing feature. This applies quite as well to dwelling houses as chapels.

If for any reason, itinerating and street preaching are impracticable, it is much better to rent. In most cases this will be found easier and to possess fewer hindrances in the way of creating suspicion.

2. Another reason assigned is that those to whom the missionary goes will need to be instructed in worship. Granting for the moment that this is true, is a chapel necessary? Is it not a real hindrance to true worship? It makes an impression on the mind that is both local and temporal. Whether you make the chapel an object lesson in worship or not, you cannot escape the result. You have certain times and this place. Every one knows how great a hold this sort of thing has on Romanism. In this respect the chapel is a real hindrance to the establishment of true worship. It is, of course, possible to eradicate this impression, but it will cost no small effort. Would it not be better to avoid making it? "The hour cometh when neither in this mount nor at Jerusalem—but in spirit and in truth." This points to the time when God should be better known and so much more truly worshipped. Knowledge of God doesn't come of worship, but true worship comes of knowledge. This is an important distinction. Witness the hollowness of worship the heathen gives their divinities. It follows, then, that it is not ours to instruct with respect to worship, but of knowledge of God. Who that begins really to know God in any of his attributes will not also begin to worship him?

3. Another reason assigned is that of assembling together of those who embrace christianity. "If there is not a chapel provided, where will they meet?" Read Paul's epistles and see. "Salute Priscilla and Aquila * * and the church in their house." Rom. 16: 5. The home is the natural place of gathering together. As the number of believers grows, they will be perfectly able to provide a place for worship, and will do it if only allowed, and be far better for it. The bond of sympathy existing between true believers will draw them together. Until they are drawn by true interest, i. e. until the Spirit of God moves them no human agency will avail, but may seriously hinder. One thing we need to learn—when to let a one, when to trust God to work out his own purposes and not to attempt to apply our own ideas. If it should be objected that this would preclude preaching the gospel, it is sufficient to say that preaching the gospel is not human agency, but the Divine plan.

4. Another reason assigned is, that it will take a heavy burden off the shoulders of those who are not fitted for bearing it. One says, "Thousands of churches at home call on others to help them build; on whom shall the feeble hands of converts from heathenism or Romanism call in their much sore need?" What is the "sore need"? Of a house to be sure. This takes several things for granted:

(1) The idea that a house is indispensable to the progress of the gospel;

(2) That the way the work is carried on at home is the way it ought to be done;

(3) That the converts are not able to build for themselves.

Each of these is quite a large assumption. A great deal of the inefficiency in our christian lands can be traced to this localizing tendency. Many suppose when they have helped to prepare a house and to procure a man to preach in it, that their duty is done. The result that a very large per cent. of people are almost entirely out of range of the gospel, because it is thus fenced in. This is true notwithstanding the fact that such a large part of the people are predisposed from education to attend the place of worship. How often does the appeal come, "Oh, if we only had a house, how things would go!" The house is provided, but somehow things don't seem to go as they were expected to.

No one seems to have called in question the way in which calls are made and help given at home. If some one will take the trouble to investigate, they will find that the churches that have gone to work and helped themselves and made no calls on others are the efficient churches whether they are large or small. This is necessarily true. Besides the reflex influence, the effect of a company of believers going to work and exerting themselves to the utmost of their ability, however small, will be tenfold greater than a similar company in the enjoyment of that which has been furnished by some one else. The effect of this calling on others is getting to be that the greater part of christian activity is spent in helping one another and thus centralizing the influences instead of spreading them abroad.

As to the assumption that the converts are not able to build for themselves, it is unfounded. They are able to build exactly what is appropriate, i. e., the importance of a house will not be exalted to the detriment of the work. If any one cares to inquire into the matter, the evidence will be furnished.

5. Another reason assigned need scarcely be mentioned, yet a great deal is made of it. "We should build because other denominations do, and we will be left behind if we do not." Yes, other denominations sprinkle even babies. The Catholics have images. But a reason of this kind is really too absurd to call for further comment. There is no better illustration of the futility of houses of worship to produce a robust christianity than Catholicism. If we propose to follow their plans in order to succeed, then this building of churches is a move in the right direction. Shall we follow it?

So much for the reasons usually assigned for this work. There are some things to be added. Perhaps the most important thing is the spirit of dependence engendered in the adherents. We come to them and tell them that they have a great burden on their hands, viz., the building of a house, and we propose to take it off. They would never have known it was a burden if they had not been told. But being told, they discover it is, and also discover a great many other burdens that need to be carried. Not that the converts from heathenism have an inordinate desire to be helped. I believe truly that this is not the case. But before they attempt to take the first step, some one comes along and in the goodness of his heart proposes to carry them, and so they never learn to go. It is not wise. Give them the food of the gospel, and let them have all the means of developing their strength possible. If there are any burdens to be borne, let them bear them in the spirit of him who bore the burden of their sins and trust him for their strength. When there is the true spirit of service for Christ, there will be no trouble nor complaint of burden in preparing such a place as may be needed. Where there is not that spirit, prepare a place never so beautiful, and it will not produce that spirit.

So often it is urged that such and such a place ought to have so much better accommodations than they have. Do their accommodations comport with their means? Then they need no better. If not, what they need is not a better place, but a better spirit. Every chapel that is built in a foreign land becomes a source of discord just as soon as an interest is started in another place and thus stands as a barrier against the real progress of the gospel.

By no means a small consideration is the fact that the money would be much better invested in sending men. The gospel ought to be self-propagating and will be if we will be content to use the Divine plan, i. e., "the foolishness of preaching." Building chapels is not preaching, but tends to create suspicion, to produce wrong ideas of worship, to enervate those for whom they are built, to foment discord, to consume funds that should be used in spreading the truth, and above all to diminish faith in the simple preaching of the word.

The conclusion, then, is, that there is no sufficient reason for building "mission chapels."

THOS. J. LEAGUE.

Pingtu, China, March 25, 1892.

(Post-office, Chefoo, China.)

Advice to Mothers.

Dr. Biggers' Huckleberry Cordial should always be used for children teething. It sooths the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for the bowels. Try it.

True repentance consists in the heart being broken for sin and broken from sin. Some often repent, yet never reform; they resemble a man traveling a dangerous path, who frequently starts and stops, but never turns back.—Thornton.

Power of a Christian Life.

The late Rev. C. H. Spurgeon furnished the following beautiful illustration:

"I was in Italy, and in crossing the Alps with my wife, the sun was so hot it scorched her face. She asked me to get her some elder flower water. I started off to a chemist, and as I did not know a word of the Italian language, I looked through the jars and bottles in his shop, but could not find anything of the kind. I tried to jabber something in French, but the chemist did not understand me, because it was no language at all. I went down to a little brook that ran through the town, and walking along the edge I came to an elder flower tree. I got a handful of flowers, walked off to the shop, and held it up to the man, and he knew in an instant what I meant. I think it is not easy to convey the gospel to the heart by merely talking of it; but if you can say by your own life, 'This is the life of Christ, this is the joy of being a christian,' you will be much more likely to make converts."

Are we giving to Italy babbling imperfect speech, or the odor of a Christlike life?

The Tract Fund.

The Tract Fund of the American Baptist Publication Society is over $66,000. What is that worth to our denomination? Just this: The income of that fund will enable the Society to place one thousand pages of tracts for free distribution in the hands of three thousand pastors and missionaries and colporteurs every year. There is something stimulating in this great work of tract distribution. Gracious results are seen on every hand. Our pastors and missionaries and Sunday-school teachers ought to use them more freely. The mission of the tract is silent, but sure and mighty. In no way is our Society more truly "an engine of Power."

A TREASURE HOUSE.

The American Commentary on the New Testament, issued by the American Baptist Publication Society, complete in seven volumes, is a treasure house of biblical knowledge to any preacher or family. It costs only $16.00 for the entire set.

Help Asked for Maxton.

A little band of Baptists at Maxton, Robeson county, N. C., ask that you help them build a church. This is an important railroad junction, and it is desired to build a house of worship worthy of the goodness of the Lord, and commendable of the great Baptist brotherhood.

ROBESON BAPTIST ASSOCIATION,
January 19th, 1892.

We are acquainted with the membership of the First Baptist church at Maxton, N. C., and do cheerfully recommend them to the brethren as earnest and zealous workers, and request that their petition for aid in building a house of worship be liberally responded to. A. R. PITTMAN, Mod.
E. K. PROCTOR, JR., Clerk.

Address O. S. Hayes, Clerk and Treasurer First Baptist church, Maxton, N. C.

Feb. 10, 1892.

Rev. Sam Jones says: "My wife and daughter were cured of headache and catarrh by Germetuer."

$100. Reward. $100.

The readers of the RECORDER will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address,

F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Sold by druggists, 75c.

Education of Women.

In our land where education is free as air, we can scarcely appreciate the lack of it in Italy. In a letter from a highly cultivated Italian lady, she says:

"As regards a desire for knowledge, it is reduced to the smallest proportions. I may say that those in the lowest station of life have become the only class who study at all, and these mostly obtain positions as teachers. Not that I despair of Italy's future, no doubt it will one day afford to women a means of proper culture. * * Professional schools have met with comparative success for girls of inferior social position. Some in Rome have even obtained her Majesty our beloved Queen's encouragement."

He is most powerful who has himself in his power.—Seneca.

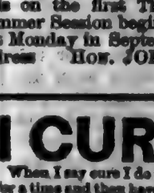
Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

HOW BABIES SUFFER

When their tender Skins are literally On Fire with Itching and Burning Eczemas and other Itching, Scaly, and Blotchy Skin and Scalp Diseases, with Loss of Hair, none but mothers realize. To know that a single application of the

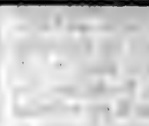


CUTICURA

Remedies will afford immediate relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy and economical cure, and not to use them, is to fail in your duty. Parents, save your children years of needless suffering from torturing and disfiguring eruptions. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. Sold everywhere. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CORPORATION, Boston.

"How to Cure Skin Diseases" mailed free.

BABY'S Skin and Scalp purified and beautified by CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure.



PAINS AND WEAKNESSES

Relieved in one minute by that new, elegant, and infallible Antidote to Pain, Inflammation, and Weakness, the Cuticura Anti-Pain Plaster. 25 cents.

Peace Institute,

RALEIGH, N. C.

A select school for young ladies and girls. 24th year. 21 officers and teachers. Send for catalogue.

JAS. DINWIDDIE, M. A. (Univ. Va.)
Principal.

Please mention this paper.

University Law School.

The Spring Term begins January 5th, 1892, and ends on the first Thursday in June, 1892. The Summer Session begins July 1st and ends on the last Monday in September, 1892. For particulars address HON. JOHN MANNING, LL. D.,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office.

H. G. ROOT, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

Free TO MAGISTRATES AND COUNTY OFFICERS.

Upon the receipt of name and postoffice, we will mail to any Magistrate or County Officer in North Carolina a copy of Revised Fee Bill and List of Blanks to be used.

EDWARDS & BROUGHTON, Pub'rs.
RALEIGH, N. C.

STOP AT THE

Moseley House,

Corner Wilmington and Hargett Sts.,

RALEIGH, N. C.

Central, Neat, Convenient and Pleasant.

$1.00 per meal; $1 a per day.

PILES Remedy Free. Sufferers 10 Years Cured in 10 Days. Have no pay. Have no pay. Have no pay

What Have You Done?

Being myself a subscriber to the BIBLICAL RECORDER, and also having established the Keeley Institute at Greensboro, I of course read the article of F. C. Hickson with regret that he had not first visited and ascertained by personal investigation whether or not his theories are true or false. Facts always tell, and our doors, and even our books, are always open for proper investigation, and we believe that gentleman would do the work very impartial and well.

As to the profits of the Institute, I wish to simply state that the writer is still in his winter clothes, very unlike most gentlemen otherwise engaged, and for very obvious reasons, as the banker will tell him.

In the next place, Dr. Keeley parted with the right to conduct an Institute in North Carolina sometime last October for a very inconsiderable sum of money, and has not had one dollar's interest in it since that time.

The fact that a company has been organized with a capital stock of $200,000, only serves to show the full amount in which each patient who takes the treatment is protected from malpractice and quackery, and is the strongest argument the Company can produce to the public as a guarantee of the skilful treatment of our patients while here. It is also the basis of assessments as well as dividends. In other words, the faith of our Company in this treatment is backed by its money. It is the strongest recommendation that the Keeley treatment can have, outside of its general good results. These gentlemen of wealth are willing to put up their money as a pledge of their sincerity, and they have done so, for the Company is now duly organized and fully bound by the laws of North Carolina. They can do nothing more, for nothing more is asked of them. So much for his false philanthropy.

It goes for nothing to say that the poor inebriate and his friends must pay for the treatment. They have for years been devoting all their means and energies to pay for poor "old whiskey." It goes for less to say that Dr. Keeley should give his discovery to the world. He has already done so, and has also given the only safe and certain method of administering his remedies by recommending the Institute system. By the way, the Institute system has been adopted by all fakes, imitators and impostors.

Now let us suppose that Dr. Keeley had been silly enough to publish his discovery and scatter it broadcast. It would have fallen into the hands of reputable and disreputable physicians alike, and in common parlance the world would have had it. It would not be free of charge, however, for good and bad would have taxed up regular fees, and counting a three weeks' course to consist of eighty four visits and eighty-four prescriptions, plus fifteen dollars' worth of medicine, and anybody can calculate the cost. The treatment would not be free any more than physicians' services would be free during the misfortune of any ordinary sickness or even an epidemic. It would cost every poor drunkard more than it will cost him to attend the Keeley Institute and pay the regular charge, and he would not have a dollar's guaranty against malpractice should he fall into the hands of a quack.

As to the charge against against Col. J. G. Finley, who has taken the treatment here, I this day met him, and so intimate are our relations, that I am constrained to say that if all men were as he now is and has been since Nov. 24th, then there would be no use for even one little copper still in the whole earth, and "temperance" would cease to be the standing theme. I am proud of Col. Finley: his fine presence, his warm friendship, and finally as my ideal of a cured man. I wish all reformers were as free from their cups as I know Col. Finley to be.

I shall not mention the privations borne in behalf of the drinking people by those who are associated with me in this great work. Come, brethren, and see us for yourselves, and know us and our work and its merits as well as its supposed demerits.

We wish to concede that "prohibitionists have done their work free of charge," and in the same sentence will also insist that the Keeley Institute has never "passed the hat." We hope that the two together will finally reach and save the whole earth beneath the towering arch of our evangelical religion and the cross of great Redeemer.

Good brother, what have you done for the drinking masses of our native North Carolina?

W. H. ELLER,
Manager Keeley Inst., Greensboro.

What Dr. Keeley Says.

Dr. Lester R. Keeley, the inventor of the bichloride of gold treatment for drunkenness, was the guest of the Brooklyn Tabernacle last Sunday evening. He delivered a speech on his cure, and afterwards was questioned by Dr. Talmage. Among others the doctor or divinity put this question to the doctor of medicine: "But, I must press you for an answer. Why do you keep it a secret?" "I looked upon it in this way. After years of study I do not wish to allow this secret to go into the hands of more quacks than now pretend to be in possession of it. If physicians had it they would add to it, and druggists would want to make it up in large quantities. Druggists, in making it up, if they should lack one little ingredient, would not hesitate to substitute something else. Thus the discovery would be corrupted, and I should be denounced as a charlatan and a fraud. That is the reason I do not give it to the world. Lots of people would like to know it, but they never will. Only three know it, and more never will. It is kept for the sake of women and children. I ask [illegible] woman here to-night if this little ray [illegible] should be quenched because an im[illegible] is made for it?"—Examiner.

LADIES
[illegible] Malaria, [illegible] and Liver Complaints.

Stanly Union.

This Union will meet at Mount Olive, on Friday before the fifth Sunday in May at 10 o'clock a. m.

Introductory sermon to be preached by Elder D. C. Denny.

First topic for discussion: Are our churches strict enough in dealing with their members for unchristian conducts. Leading speaker—P. G. Hartsell.

Second: What is the duty of the Stanly Association in the matter of State Missions? First speaker—D. C. Denny.

Full Delegation from all the churches solicited.

Come out and encourage the Union by your presence.

J. F. HODGE, Mod.
C. L. COGGIN, Sec.
WM. CALAWAY.
E. F. EDDINS.
Committee.

If every suffering lady who reads the BIBLICAL RECORDER knew how easily and pleasantly she can be relieved she would suffer no longer. Send 2c. stamp to Mrs. Jos W. Ashby, Mt. Airy, N. C., for free sample, or $1.00 for one month's treatment sent in plain wrapper. Six months treatment for $5.00.

Sunday-school Associations.

The following are the times and places of meeting of Sunday-school Associations:

Anson—Polkton ch, May 28-30.
Central—Mt. Vernon ch., May 28-30.
Elkin—Rock Creek ch., June 11, 12.
Little River, Hector's Creek ch., May 27-29.
Mt. Zion—Mt. Hermon ch., May 27-29.
Pilot Mountain—Mt. Airy ch., May 27-29.
Robeson—Big Branch ch., Aug. 3, 4.
South Fork—Mt. Ruhama ch., July 29—31.
Sandy Creek—Moore's Chapel ch., May 27-29.
South Yadkin—Mocksville ch., May 27-29.
Three Forks—Cove Creek ch., May 27-29.
Union—Beaver Dam ch., May 27-29.

Will not some of the brethren in the other Sunday-school Associations, inform me at once of the time and place of meeting of their next Sunday-school Association, so that I may publish the same and make arrangements to be present if possible?

C. DURHAM, Cor. Sec.

A Card.

Having been informed that there are many ladies who say that they have asked us to change their old style trunk to the roller-tray, and that we have refused to accommodate them, we beg to say that we would like very much to oblige them, but we cannot make the charge with credit to ourselves, the roller-tray trunks being made in every way superior to the ordinary trunk.

Very respectfully,
H. W. ROUNTREE & CRO.
Richmond, Va.

Evangelical meetings are being held in the Newbern Presbyterian church.

Richmond and Danville Railroad.

Round trip tickets to the Commencement of Peace Institute, Raleigh, N. C., and return will be sold from May 27th to 29th, and limited to June 1st, at the following rates from points named, intermediate points in same proportion:

Asheville, $9.65; Durham, 1.50; Goldsboro, 2 50; Marion, 8.05; Charlotte, 6.55; Greensboro, 3 95; Lincolnton, 7.35; Winston-Salem, 4 85.

To the University Commencement, Chapel Hill, N. C., round trip tickets and return will be on sale from May 28th to June 1st, limited to June 3d, at the following rates:

From Asheville, $8.75; Durham, 95; Greensboro, 2 90; Lincolnton, 8.15; Raleigh, 2.25; Charlotte, 6.00; Goldsboro, 4 35; Henderson, 3.15; Marion, 7.35; Winston Salem, 3.95;

Meeting in Greenville.

The meeting at the Baptist church up until Monday had been conducted by Rev. J. E. Hutson, of Richmond, Va. There had been up to that time some seven or eight conversions. On Monday afternoon Mr. Hutson received a telegram announcing the extreme illness of his mother, and in consequence he left yesterday morning to be by her bedside. Providence permitting he may return towards the latter part of this week and continue the meeting on through the next week.

Rev. Mr. Hutson had been in Greenville for the past eight days holding this meeting. He was here ten years ago, and some of the best and most influential men of the town were converted under his preaching and are now pushing forward in the christian race. Mr. Hutson is much loved here and no minister who has ever held a meeting here has done any better work than he. As an evangelist he uses no clap-trap methods with which to catch people and count them as converts. His methods are gospel to the core and no man but a confirmed hypocrite can accept his invitations without feeling that he is acting with the eye of his God upon him and is indeed responsible to him for the truthfulness of the step he is taking. As a preacher he is plain, simple, and unostentatious, and yet strong, forcible, and convincing. He takes no man for his pattern. His style is peculiarly his own, and he seems to have but one model and that is his Master Christ Jesus. We have never listened to a man who is a clearer thinker, a more astute, and yet common sense reasoner than is Mr. Hutson. His arguments are invincible and always carry conviction of their truthfulness. In fact his preaching is pure, simple, plain, practical, unadulterated gospel of Christ Jesus. No people can hear him preach without being better. His words and godly life are an inspiration to every one with whom he comes in contact.

Many were the hearts that were sad on Monday night when they knew that he had been summoned to the bedside of his sick mother, and therefore must leave us, and numerous will be the prayers that he may soon come among us again. God sustain him in the noble work which he is doing.—Greenville Reflector.

From Johnston County, N. C.

Dear Recorder:—I baptized seven at Clayton on the second Sunday, and two were received from other churches. The church seems to be in good condition spiritually and handles her pastor very kindly.

The exodus fever is "the most troublesome thing" we have to contend with, especially at Selma; the brethren will keep on the move to larger and better places. They can easily find the larger, but they will be troubled more in finding better places.

Dr. J. B. Robertson and family are about to exchange a home in Clayton for one in Winston, N. C. The church and community will lose much if they do go, but the church and town of Winston will gain. We hope to be able to worship in our new home at Princeton on the third Sunday in July. It will not be finished, but will be in such condition that we can occupy it.

Yours fraternally, O. C. HORTON.
Selma, May 19, 1892.

Acknowledgments.

State Missions—Third ch, Durham, Mt Zion, $1.00; Ditto, ditto (Associational), 2.00; Sunbeams, Eureka ch, Chowan, 1.00; Chowan Association, 86.54; Cash col at Chowan Association, 16.03; Berea ch, Chowan, 10.00; Mt Pleasant ch, ditto, 10.00; Creswell ch, ditto, 12.00; Sunbeams Cedar Rock ch, 62c; W M S, Apex ch, Raleigh, 1.80; Harrellsville ch, West Chowan, 4.97; Columbia ch, Chowan, 30.00; Sound Side ch. ditto, 12.00; Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion (Associational), 2.02. Total, 189.98. Previously reported, 1,627.55. Total this year, 1,817.53.

Foreign Missions—Robinson Grove ch, Mt Zion, $1.48; Sunbeams, Eureka ch, Chowan (Miss Knight), 1 50; T B Bray, Fall Creek, N C, 1.00; Chowan Association, 53.33; Creswell ch, Chowan, 5.37; Mt Pleasant ch, ditto, 3.45; Sunbeams, Cedar Rock ch, 75c; Yadkin ch, Caldwell (G W Greene), 2.30; Murfreesboro ch, W Chowan, 3.56; Apex ch, Raleigh, 9.61; W M S, ditto, ditto, 1.80; Morganton ch, Catawba River, 10.00; Hermon ch, Union, 1.50; Middle Swamp ch, Chowan, 2.18; Warren Plains ch, Tar River, 5.60; J N Singletary, Bladenboro, N C, 5.00; Harrellsville ch, W Chowan, 13.28; Columbia ch, Chowan, 26.45; Sound Side ch, ditto, 9.30; Tyson's Creek ch, Sandy Creek, 1.20; Ephesus ch, ditto, 1.00; A Friend, Cary, N C, 1.00. Total, 160.60. Previously reported, 4,575.26. Total this year, 4,735.92.

Home Missions—Sunbeams, Eureka church, $2.75; Seaboard ch, W Chowan, 2.55; T B Bray, Fall Creek, N C, 1.25; Chowan Association, 35.97; Union ch, W Chowan, 5.00; Sunbeams, Cedar Rock, 75c; Apex ch, Raleigh, 3.11; W M S, ditto, ditto, 1.80; Sunbeams, ditto, ditto, 4.40; Hermon ch, Union, 1.50; Warren Plains ch, Tar River, 1.40; W M S, Corinth ch, ditto, 2.05; Harrellsville ch, West Chowan, 2.32; Forest Home ch, Ashe and Alleghany, 1.39; Trading Ford ch, South Yadkin 2.00; Columbia ch, Chowan, 17.50; Sound Side ch, ditto, 6.00; Corinth ch, Flat River, 3.94. Total, 95.68. Previously reported, 1,685.21. Total this year, 1,780 89.

Havana House—Mt Gilead ch, Mt Zion, 2.25.

Education—Third ch, Durham, Mt Zion, $3.50; Sunbeams, Eureka ch, Chowan, 3.00; Seaboard ch, W Chowan, 2.12; Harrellsville ch, ditto, 3.04. Total, 11.66. Previously reported, 958.56. Total, 970.22.

Orphanage—W M S, Greensboro ch, Beulah, $5.00; T B Bray, Fall Creek, N C, 1.25; D L Gore, Wilmington, N C, 10.00; Brassfields ch, Central, 10.00; Lebanon ch, Cape Fear, 2.00; Harrellsville ch, W Chowan, 4.30; Ephesus ch, Sandy Creek, 1.12. Total, 33.67. Previously reported, 602.92. Total this year, 636.59.

Ministerial Relief Fund—Third ch, Durham, Mt Zion, $1.00; D L Gore, Wilmington, N C, 5.00; W M S, Apex ch, Raleigh, 2.93. Total, 8.93.

Sunday-schools—Sunday-school, Mocksville, N C, $1.76.

Students Aid Fund, Louisville—Mt Holly ch, Mt Holly, N C, 1 00.

J. D. BOUSHALL,
Treas. Bap. State Convention.
Raleigh, May 21, 1892.

CONSTIPATION
and other bowel complaints cured and prevented
by the prompt use of
Ayer's Cathartic Pills
They regulate the liver,
cleanse the stomach, and greatly assist digestion.
Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.
Lowell, Mass.

A Comfort to Mothers & Infants.

Having invented a shirt and band combined for new born infants, which has proven such a comfort to myself and friends, I feel it my duty to offer it to the public. Enclose 25 cents for pattern and full instructions

MRS. I. C. WALTERS,
Wake Forest, N. C.

Mrs. Walters is the widow of the late Rev. Dr. Walters. Mrs. C. E. Taylor highly recommends the shirt and band.—EDITOR.

Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is an easy food—it is more than food, if you please; but it is a food—to bring back plumpness to those who have lost it.

Do you know what it is to be plump?

Thinness is poverty, living from hand to mouth. To be plump is to have a little more than enough, a reserve.

Do you want a reserve of health? Let us send you a book on CAREFUL LIVING; free.

SCOTT & BOWNE, Chemists, 132 South 5th Avenue, New York.
Your druggist keeps Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil—all druggists everywhere do. $1.
34

BROKEN DOWN men and women suffering from any form of CHRONIC DISEASE, can secure a valuable work on their affliction (sealed) free and learn how they can be cured at home by writing DR. PARKER & CO, 340 North Cherry Street, Nashville, Tenn. Better write to-day; delays are dangerous. Please state your trouble and how long afflicted.

OPIUM,
Morphine and the Whisky Habits,
Their cause, effects and cure. This is the title of a valuable and interesting book, just published, on these very prevalent diseases. Sent free for a short time only. Address, DR. C. W. PARKER & Co., 340 N. Cherry St., Nashville, Tenn.

$525 Agent's profits per month. Will prove it or pay forfeit. New articles just out. A $1.50 sample and terms free. Try us. Chidester & Son, 28 Bond St., N. Y.

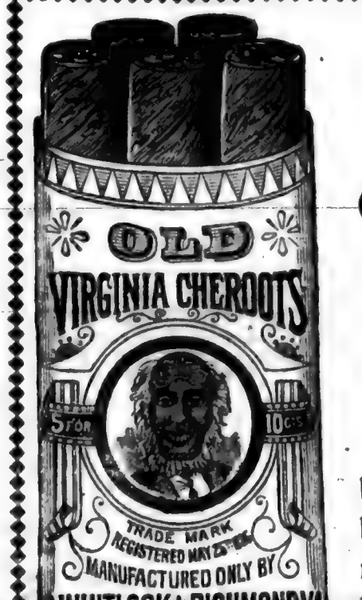
The Leaksville Woolen Mills, Leaksville, N. C., need no introduction to the public in North Carolina and adjoining States. This is simply to remind you that they are still "in touch" with the people, working up their wool into various forms of finished product at satisfactory prices. A handsome catalogue containing samples of their new and attractive styles of Fancy Cassimeres and All-Wool Flannels, together with all other goods made by them, is sent to any address on application. Besides an interesting article on "Wool On How to Handle It," the catalogue contains full particulars in regard to shipping wool. If these details are carefully followed, we guarantee prompt return of goods.

Write to Hiram Foard, Sec'y, Leaksville, N. C., for catalogue, before disposing of your wool.

Do You Want a Teacher?
TEACHERS' EXCHANGE,
Box 378, Richmond, Va.,
Supplies Colleges, Schools and Families with Teachers without charge. Secures situations for teachers at moderate cost. Correspondence solicited.
WM. F. FOX, Manager.

TEACHERS Register NOW and secure positions in the Colleges, Seminaries and Schools of the South and Southwest. Vacancies are occurring every day. Registration fee $1.00. Send stamp for blanks. AMERICAN BUREAU OF EDUATION, Miss CARTER, Proprietor, Cole Bldg., NASHVILLE, TENN.

THE ROLLER TRAY TRUNK
THE MOST CONVENIENT TRUNK EVER DEVISED.
The Tray is arranged to roll back, leaving the bottom of the Trunk easy of access.
Nothing to break or get out of order. The Tray can be lifted out if desired, and to buy this style is a guarantee that you will get the strongest Trunk made.
If your Dealer cannot furnish you, notify the manufacturers,
H. W. ROUNTREE & BRO., Richmond, Va.



OLD VIRGINIA CHEROOTS
10 CENTS FOR FIVE
Smoked on all occasions by SHREWD MEN who believe in getting their money's worth, who also know a good thing when they see it. 21

WOOL! WOOL! WOOL!
If you have wool to be manufactured or to exchange for goods, ship it to the Chatham Manufacturing Company,
PROPRIETORS OF THE
Elkin Woollen Mills.

THEY DO THE LARGEST Custom Business IN THE STATE.
Their Goods Just Simply CAN'T BE EXCELLED
THEY PAY FREIGHT ON WOOL.
Write for samples, and directions for shipping, to
CHATHAM MANUFACTURING COMPANY, Elkin, N. C.
Freight and Express Office, Elkin, N. C.

Rheumatism.

A famous English traveller when asked what were his impressions of American people answered that "outside of rheumatism they were the happiest people on earth," for if any people are afflicted with this disease, as a class, more generally than the American, medical statistics fail to show it. Rheumatism is a specific fabril disorder, accompanied by acute inflamation of the white fibrous tissue, surrounding the joints, of which several are afflicted simultaneously or in succession. The disease so familiar that its own definition does not define it half so well, as the experience of many thousands of our countrymen. The two great and most common forms are the acute or inflammatory and the chronic. It is most common in districts what are subject to severe climatic changes. Extreme cold may be productive of rheumatism, by interfering with the secretory functions of the skin allowing unhealthy substances to accumulate in the blood which sooner or later are sure to form the exciting cause of a rheumatic attack. However, damp changeable weather may be regarded as the most dangerous promotion of the disease, and nine times out of ten victims of the trouble will tell you, that, there cases were brought about by exposure to dampness. Rheumatism may also be inherited or may arise form the suppression of some eruptive disease or discharge resulting from disease. The sufferings of a person afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism are varied and practically indiscribable in their intensity, while ignorant treatment is apt to bring about complications with the heart which are most dangerous, but notwithstanding the sufferings of the inflammatory stage the victim of chronic rheumatism is more to be pitied. In this condition one must be always prepared for an attact of the enemy, while approaching storms or periods of damp weather may be as readily foretold by twinges of pain in the affected parts as by the record of a barometer. Having contracted a case of rheumatism the question now arises, "how are you going to cure it?" You know by the experience of others that medicine won't do it. By the same medium you know that lotions liniments and saves are equally ineffective and dangerous, as they are apt to cause the disease to scatter and fall upon the heart. You are so situated that a change of climate is impossible even if it would prove of value, which it seldom does. To sum the matter up concisely you are face to face with a disease which is practically incurable by the old methods. If you think this statement is too broad look around among the afflicted who have exhausted the science of specialists and the ignorance of quacks and in their present condition, find the living testimony of its truth. Let us attract your attention to a new method, one far in advance of medical science and destined through its common sense principles to become the greatest curative invented of the age. It speaks best in its results; without further explanation we therefore submit the following: we have many other testimonials from grateful people who have been cured by the Electropoise and if you desire we will mail them to you with other information about the treatment. We particularly desire to correspond with those who have lost faith in other methods of cure.

Very respectfully,
ATLANTIC ELECTROPOISE CO.
Washington, D. C.

THE ELECTROPOISE.

[From Franklin, (Tenn.) Review and Appeal]

We have heard and read a great deal about wonderful cures performed by the Electropoise. Having some curiosity as well as anxiety to learn something more of its curative power than can gathered from advertisements and rumors, the editor of the "Review and Appeal" called on Dr. W. H. Morgan, an eminent dentist of Nashville, who is dean of the Dental Department of the Vanderbilt University, and formerly President of the National Dental Association. Having heard that the doctor had been greatly relieved of rheumatism, the editor asked, "Doctor what can you say about the Electropoise as a curative agent?" The doctor is a modest man, and somewhat averse to going into print, and particularly to recommend any nostrum or remedies. He replied: "I can only tell you about my own case. I have constitutional rheumatism, and have suffered more or less all my life. My right leg was dwarfed a little from suffering with it in boyhood. From 1860 to 1890 I was never in any conscious moment free from pain, except during a severe illness. For several years I have been so I had to use a crutch and stick to walk at all. I have been so badly afflicted with rheumatism that I could not, with my crutch and stick walk more than fifty yards. Mr. DuBois called on me and asked me to try the Electropoise. I promised because I had failed to get any substantial relief from the treatment prescribed for me by eminent physicians. I commenced the Electropoise with no faith in it. In two weeks I was better and almost free from pain. I have been using the Electropoise for ten months, and though I am seventy-three years old, and have suffered all my life, I can now walk a little without crutch or stick; I can with a crutch and stick, walk half a mile. My digestion has become good, and a heart trouble incident to my rheumatism, which manifested itself in a loss of a beat occasionally, and a pulse always as high as ninety and sometimes as high as one hundred per minute, has given away and has given me no more trouble. My pulse has come down to within the seventies per minute and my health is in every respect greatly improved.

It is stated that Asheville is to have a Keeley Institute for the cure of the liquor habit.

DR. BIGGER'S HUCKLEBERRY CORDIAL cures all bowel and stomach troubles and children teething. Sold by all dealers.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Raleigh Affairs.

The Enterprise states that most of the material to go into Mr. Frank Page's hotel at Raleigh will be furnished from Sanford.

Ex-Governor John P. St. John, of national reputation, will address the citizens of Raleigh and vicinity next Thursday night at eight o'clock at Metropolitan Hall.

The Raleigh Chronicle says: Application was made to the directors of the Insane Asylum here for the admission of John C. Davis, the ex-lawyer of Wilmington. It was decided to admit him. The chief reason was the order of the judge that Davis be taken to the Asylum. After he is cured he is to be regularly tried for his crime.

The Democratic State Convention was held in this city last Wednesday and Thursday. The delegation was the largest that ever assembled in the State, numbering 1,007. At twelve o'clock Wednesday, Chairman E. C. Smith called the convention to order. Mr. Lee S. Overman, of Salisbury was made temporary chairman, and R. M. Furman of Asheville, temporary secretary. Later Ex-Governor Jarvis was made permanent president, and vice-presidents by districts, W. D. Pruden, Yancy T. Ormond, C. C. Lyon, A. H. Merritt, W. W. Kitchen and R. D. Gilmer. W. G. Burkhead, R. M. Furman, Z. W. Whitehead and C. F. Wilson were made permanent secretaries. The platform was read by W. M. Robbins Wednesday evening. It embraces the following planks: demanding free coinage of silver, opposed to dealing in futures of all agricultural and mechanical productions; demanding the abolition of national banks and the substitution of legal tender treasury notes in lieu of national bank notes, demanding financial reform, and the enactment of laws that will remove the burdens of the people, prohibiting the alien ownership of lands and that the lands belonging to railroads and other corporations in excess of such as is actually used, and needed by them be reclaimed by the government and held for actual settlers only, that Congress issue a sufficient amount of paper currency to facilitate the exchange through the medium of the United States mail, demanding that taxation, national or State, shall not be used to build up one interest or class at the expense of another; demanding graduating tax on incomes, &c. The platform was unanimously adopted amid great applause. The nominees of the convention are as follows: For Governor, Elias Carr of Edgecombe; for Lieutenant Governor, R. A. Doughton of Alleghany; for Secretary of State, Octavius Coke of Wake; for Treasurer, Donal W. Bain of Wake; for Auditor, R. M. Furman of Buncombe; for Superintendent of Public Instruction, John C. Scarborough of Johnston; for Attorney General, Frank I. Osborne of Mecklenburg; Presidential Electors for the State at large, C. B. Aycock, of Wayne; and R. B. Glenn of Forsyth. The following delegates for the State at large to the Chicago Convention were elected: Messrs. Joseph P. Caldwell, E. C. Smith, John D. Bellamy and Hon. Wharton J. Green. The alternates elected are Hon. Jas. H. Merrimon, Mr. E. B. Jones, Hon. Paul B. Means and Col. T. W. Strange. The delegates chosen by the Congressional districts to the National Convention are as follows: First District—Wilson G. Lamb and W. P. Roberts; Second—F. W. Barnes and S. B. Holloway; Third—W. S. Cook and Matt Moore; Fourth—F. H. Busbee and Jas. W. Pou; Fifth—John W. Graham and John L. King; Sixth—James T. LeGrand and E. S. Lattimer; Seventh—Marshall H. Pinnix and W. H. Williams; Eighth—W. W. Scott and C. B. Watson; Ninth—Kope Elias and R. M. Furman.

State News.

The Granville Iron Mine Co., with a capital stock of $100,000, filed article of incorporation at Oxford last Wednesday.

George Beck, a white man aged about thirty years, living ten miles southeast of Lexington, was killed by a falling limb from a tree on the 16th inst.

Mr. Constantine Davidson, a well-known citizen of Mecklenburg county, was accidentally drowned in the Catawba river at Moore's Ferry recently.

It is stated that caterpillars have taken complete possession of certain farms in Robeson county, actually compelling the owners to leave the premises.

Gov. Holt has appointed twenty delegates from this State to attend the National Silver Convention, which meets at Washington, D. C., May 26th and 27th.

The sensational case before the superior court of Anson county, Miss Annie Knott, suing T. S. Ingram for $5,000 damages for breach of promise, resulted in a mistrial.

Mr. Manliff Jarrell, one of the oldest citizens of High Point, and the proprietor of Jarrell's hotel, died in High Point, on the 16th inst. of paralysis. The hotel will be run by his widow.

Richard D. McCotter, of Pamlico county, a member of the Legislature in 1888, was shot in the back of the head and killed by some one unknown, last Thursday at his place thirty miles below Newbern.

Six men have been arrested on suspicion of being the murderer of the late deputy marshal Miller, not to speak of the dozen or so bush-whackers who have been "jumped" and unsuccessfully pursued.—Lenoir Topic.

Comptroller Lacy of the First National Bank of Wilmington, which suspended on the 24th of November last, has issued a circular assessing the stockholders of the Bank, one hundred dollars on each and every share of stock held by them at the time of failure. The full amount of the capital stock of the Bank was $250,000.

We passed a house on the Thomasville road last week that Mr. Mack Allred of this place sold in 1890 for 7,000 pairs of horse shoes. The man who bought the house on these terms has paid for it and Mr. Allred has almost disposed of his horse shoes.—High Point Enterprise.

Three Granville county men recently lost $1,000 by the "green goods" swindle. One of them C. D. Wilkins, agent of the R. & D. R. R., at Wilkins, used about $350 of the company's money. He was arrested and placed in jail. His relatives have now adjusted the matter by paying the company the amount embezzled by him.

The first brick in the Deaf and Dumb School building at Morganton was laid with appropriate ceremonies on the 16th inst. Maggie Ray Legrand and Robert Craton Miller, two little pupils of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and the Blind at Raleigh, laid the brick. The new building is to be completed in the summer of 1893.

We very much regret to learn that Mr. Alfred Autry and wife, living near Thomasville, Ga., while on their way to church last Sunday, were thrown from a buggy by a runaway horse, and both killed almost instantaneously. Mr. Autry and wife were natives of Cumberland, and had only moved to Georgia about two years ago.—Fayetteville Observer, May 19.

The 117th anniversary of the signing of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, was celebrated in Charlotte Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week with great demonstration. The attractions were many and varied. On Friday it was estimated that 40,000 people were in attendence. On that day Senator David B. Hill of New York delivered an address.

Near White Oak in Bladen county, Sunday the 15th inst., Alex. Gilmore, a notorious negro outlaw from South Carolina, entered the home of Rev. William Brunt, and, finding no one there but his daughter, drew a pistol and ordered her to prepare him a dinner, which she did. After eating, he snatched up the remaining cooked food, and with an oath leaped from the door to make his escape to the woods near by. Miss Brunt grabbed a double-barrel shot-gun and fired, striking Gilmore with thirteen buck-shot in the back, from the effects of which he died in a few minutes. It is stated that there is a reward of $300 offered by the State of South Carolina for Gilmore, which amount Miss Brunt may receive.

At the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows in Wilmington recently, the following officers were elected: J. D. Bellamy, Jr., of Wilmington, Grand Master; W. D. Gaster of Fayetteville, Deputy Grand Master; W. C. Douglass of Carthage, Grand Warden; B. H. Woodell of Raleigh, Grand Secretary; R. L. Jones of Wilmington, Grand Treasurer. J. F. Bruton was elected Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge, which meets in Portland, Oregon, next September. The Grand Lodge appropriated $3,500 for the use of the Odd Fellows Orphan Home, just established at Goldsboro. Reports showed that there were eighty-seven lodges in the State, a net gain of sixteen for the year. The total membership is 3,668, an increase of 901 for the year.

General News.

Spain has cancelled the prohibition of the importation of American pork which has been in force for many years.

Hampton Institute, Virginia, closed its twenty-fourth year last Thursday with a class of thirty-seven grapuates.

The Presbyterian General Assembly, comprising the synods of all the Southern States is in session at Hot Springs, Ark.

The organization of the South Carolina Cotton Oil Company at Charleston has been completed with a capital stock of $350,000.

Joseph I. Tice was electrocuted at Auburn, N. Y., on the 18th inst. He was the State's ninth victim. Tice died instantly and it is believed without pain.

The National Convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers was held in Atlanta, Ga., recently. Five hundred delegates, representing every State in the Union, attended.

Miss Esther Jacobs of New York, once a noted concert singer, has brought suit for $50,000 against Henry B. Sire, a New York real estate dealer and millionaire, for breach of promise.

Mrs. Mary Larsen, a miser, aged eighty-one years, was found dead in her home in Williamsburg, N. Y., recently. The police discovered nearly $12,000 in securities and cash in her rooms.

The late William Astor bequeathed to churches, charitable organizations and the Astor Library together, $150,000. The bulk of his vast estate, about $60,000,000, goes to his son, John Jacob Astor.

The editor of the Dramatic News, New York City, has brought suit against George P. Rowell & Co., advertising agents at 10 Spruce street, New York, for $20,000, for alleged misrepresentation and libel.

Thousands of stonecutters in the New England States are on a strike. In New York City and Brooklyn alone, it is estimated that 10,000 men are idle because of the lockout and its attendant strikes.

The Pittsburgh Dispatch announces that the Carnegie iron and steel interests about Pittsburg will be consolidated under the management of Henry C. Frick. The combined capital will be about $35,000,000, and 12,000 to 14,000 hands will be employed.

England has given notice that she will accept the invitation received from the United States to send delegates to a conference for the purpose of examining into what measures can be taken to increase the use of silver in the currency systems of the nations of the world.

Ferdinand N. Ewer, Clerk in the office of the Corbin Banking Company, Broadway, New York, who disappeared a few weeks ago with $11,350 of the company's funds, was captured near Chatham, N. Y., last Thursday. When arrested, Ewer had in his possession $10,215 of the stolen money, which was returned to the Banking Company.

Great loss of life is the result of the heavy rains in the Western States. At Sioux City, Iowa, and vicinity, it is estimated that thirty-five persons were drowned. At Leeds, Iowa, nine persons were drowned. An old sailor succeeded in saving twenty-seven lives. The loss to the railroads in Iowa is $200,000. The floods also prevail in portions of Missouri, Nebraska, Arkansas, Illinois and Kansas. Great damage to crops has ensued.

In all cases, where a mild but effective aperient is needed, Ayer's pills are the best. They improve the appetite, restore healthy action, promote digestion, and regulate every function. No pill is in greater demand, or more highly recommended by the profession.

DIED.

IVEY—Died, at his home near Bladenboro, N. C., May 15th, 1892, Mr. John Ivey, aged eighty years. Mr. Ivey was a highly esteemed citizen and a kind neighbor, and leaves many friends to mourn his demise. H.

GREEN—Mrs. E. W. Green, wife of W. D. Green, died at her home in Davie county, May 14th, 1892. The deceased had been greatly afflicted for several years prior to her death. She leaves a record that encourages us to hope that her spirit is now where afflictions are not known. T.

SINGLETARY—Sister Mary E. Singletary, wife of M. B. Singletary, was summoned to her final rest May 15th, 1892, in the fiftieth year of her age. She was a consistent member of Hickory Grove Baptist church, and was loved and respected by all who knew her. She was an affectionate wife and a loving mother, and leaves a devoted husband and one son to mourn her loss. She was kind in disposition, loving and obliging to her neighbors, and will be greatly missed among her many friends and relatives. But sorrow not as those who have no hope. H.

CAPLIN—Sister Estelle Caplin, after a brief illness, died at her home in Salisbury, N. C., on May 8th, 1892. It was in the midst of life that she was called to her reward, being only twenty-four years old. In her departure the husband has lost a true wife, the children a mother whose life was hid in Christ, and who would have been a safeguard to them amid the storms of sin and uncertainty over life's sea. May the God of all peace abide with the widowed mother, brothers, husband and dear little children who are left behind. Her death was beautiful, peaceful and calm, and now she is at home waiting and watching for the good and the true. PASTOR.

COOPER—Died, at her home near Warsaw, N. C., May 6th, 1892, sister Mary L. Cooper, in the sixty-fourth year of her age. About thirty years ago she united with Johnson's Baptist church, and was a consistent member to the hour of her death. She suffered great pain from her afflictions, which she experienced for more than a year prior to her departure, but she bore it all with patience, ever exhibiting that meekness of character which it is so blessed to possess. Three sons survive her, and one of them an invalid that will very much miss a mother's care, for she had watched and cared for him as only a mother can for more than forty years. But her sufferings are over; she has gone to her reward, and to receive a home in that city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God. B.

FOR DYSPEPSIA,
Indigestion, and Stomach disorders, use
BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.
All dealers keep it, $1 per bottle. Genuine has trade-mark and crossed red lines on wrapper.

Valuable Property FOR SALE
At Wake Forest, N. C.

The Wingate home place—the most delightful and prettiest home, just improved and beautified, adjoining College campus right in town, and yet from location retired and quiet—slightly rolling in every direction. No case of fever ever known on premises. Best well of water, splendid shade and lawn. Over an acre of finest garden with every variety of large and small fruits most carefully selected and full bearing; seven-room house in perfect condition; all necessary out houses; splendid barn and stable; everything large and roomy. Visitors to commencement are invited to inspect the premises with a view of purchase. Correspondence invited. Easiest terms of payment. Only reason for selling is to move away from Wake Forest. Address
W. J. WINGATE,
Wake Forest, N. C.

SELECTIONS FOR WOMEN'S VOICES
160 pp. Choice Music. $1.00 postpaid.
NEW MUSICAL CURRICULUM
Leading Piano Instructor. $2.75 postpaid.
CAN YOU
CHILDREN OF THE YEAR
For Children's Day. 5 cts. postpaid.
POPULAR COLLEGE SONGS
130 pp. Latest and Best Songs. 50c. postp.
READ BETWEEN
THE THOROUGH BANJOIST
Best Banjo Instructor. $1.00 postpaid.
GOODRICH'S MUSICAL ANALYSIS
For Analyzing Music, etc. $2.00 postpaid.
THE LINES?
THE JOHN CHURCH CO.
74 W. Fourth Street, Cincinnati. 13 East 16th Street, New York.
Root & Sons Music Co., Chicago.

An Opportunity to get the Best

Life of Spurgeon
FREE.

BY RUSSELL H. CONWELL.

Over 600 Pages.
Handsomely Bound.
Elegantly Illustrated.

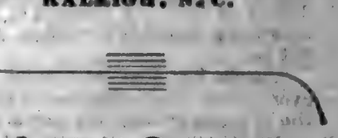
It Sells at $1.50.

We give it to all new subscribers. For $3.00 you will get the BIBLICAL RECORDER for one year and the Life of Spurgeon. To old subscribers who pay their subscriptions one year in advance, and fifty cents additional, we will give the book.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT
—OF THE—
University of North Carolina.

Third session will begin Sept. 1st, 1892. Instruction in Chemistry, Physics, Anatomy, Histology, Physiology and Materia Medica. Dissecting material furnished by the State. Practical microscopic work in the Biological Laboratory. For catalogue or other information, address
DR. R. H. WHITEHEAD,
Chapel Hill, N. C.

W. H. & R. S.
TUCKER & CO.
RALEIGH, N. C.



Spring Season,
'92.

DRY GOODS
—AND—
Kindred Wares.

In beginning our Spring business, we desire to say that our preparations for this season have not in the least been curtailed.

We are carrying larger and more varied lines of Dry Goods and Kindred Wares than we have usually done; our large out-of-town trade making it safe for us to do so.

Our purchases have been made direct from the manufacturers, both at home and abroad, thus securing to our patrons the very best and latest in quality style and design, and the goods will be sold at prices guaranteed as low as any house in America.

A COMPLETE
Mail Order Department.

Samples cheerfully sent, and letters of enquiry promptly answered.

GOODS DELIVERED FREE.
(Except Furniture and Crockery.)

On all cash orders of $5 and over we will deliver goods free to nearest Express office or railroad station.

W. H. & R. S. Tucker
RALEIGH N. C.

The Home Circle.

"Dina Chide the Mither."

Ah! dinna chide the mither;
Ye may na hae her lang:
Her voice, abune your baby rest
See softly crooned the sang:
She thocht ye ne're a burden,
She greeted ye wi' joy,
An' heart an' hand in carin' ye,
Noun' still their dear employ.

Her han' has lost its cunnin',
It's tremblin' now and slow,
But her heart is leal and lovin',
As it was lang ago!
An' though her strength may wither,
An' faint her pulse beat,
Nane will be like the mither,
So steadfast, true, and sweet!

Ye maun revere the mither,
Feeble, an' auld, an' gray;
The shinin' ones are helpin' her
Adoon her evenin' way!
Her bairns wha wait her yonder,
Her guds mon gone before;
She wearies—can ye wonder!—
To win to that braw shore.

Ah! dinna chide the mither!
Oh, lips, be slow to say
A word to vex the gentle heart
Wha watched your childhood's day;
Ay' rin to heed the tender voice
Wha crooned the cradle sang;
An' dinna chide tae mither, sin'
Ye may na hae her lang!

—By Margaret E. Sangster.

A Postal Museum.

A space has been cleared in the building of the postoffice department in Washington for a postal museum, which is intended to show how different nations carry the mails. Many foreign governments have already forwarded to Washington exhibits of their methods, which consignments include costumes of letter carriers, which in Europe are very gorgeous and military, specimen letter boxes, miniature mail vehicles, superb photographs of foreign postoffices, statuettes representing people engaged in transporting mail after various fashions, and many other interesting things.

From India comes a set of finely executed figures in papier mache. One of them shows a postal runner in British India carrying a bag of letters, and with a long spear in his hand, from which little bells dangle.

The weapon is for his defense against the wild animals that infest the jungle through which he is obliged to pass, though one would think it a poor tool for coping with a striped tiger of Bengal, while the bells are intended to frighten cobras and other venomous serpents.

Another statuette represents the same runner in the act of paddling across a stream in his customary manner, on a raft made simply of four big corked jars of earthenware fastened together.

Other mail carriers are seen riding on camels, which easily travel eighty miles a day, or in light carts drawn by Indian buffaloes over rough roads where horses could not go.

Austria has sent an exhibit comprising everything imaginable that has to do with the business of carrying the mails, even to postmark stamps, ink pads, and the written music of the bugle calls by which the postmen in that country announce their arrival.

Canada has sent a full set of mail-carriers' uniforms, with Winter caps and collars of real Astrakan fur, leather leggings, scarlet chamois skin under waistcoats for cold weather, and gold buttons.

Italy, Spain, Germany, France and Switzerland have sent contributions for the museum. So have Russia, Turkey and Persia, and others are expected from elsewhere.

In the museum will be illustrated various primitive methods of carrying the mails now and in ancient times. One model will show the native postal runner of South Africa, who bears the letter intrusted to his care in a split stick, which he plants upright in the ground when he pauses to rest. He consumes little food, but much tobacco; and his endurance is wonderful. He wears no clothes, but covers his naked body with oil, afterwards rolling in the dust, so that the flies will find him too unpleasant to bite. He carries the letter in the manner described, so that it will not get greasy; and, while swimming with one hand across the stream, he holds the missive out of water with the other.

Another type shown will be the messenger of Scriptural times frequently referred to in the Bible, who conveyed royal messages by word of mouth. It is incredible how swiftly information or orders could be transmitted in this way across the country, every man being obliged by law to immediately forsake his occupation and run and tell the next person along the line of communication.

The Bedouins practice this method of conveying intelligence at the present day. If there is news for an individual, each one who hears it communicates it to all his neighbors; and they spread it in every direction until the man is found for whom it is meant.

Other models in the new museum will represent the wonderful postal couriers who carry royal messages in China. They are the most rapid riders in the world, and have been known to make the entire distance of three thousand miles from Lassa, the capital of Thibet, to Pekin, in twenty-five days.

They have a right to seize, by imperial requisition, any horses on their routes, no matter to whom the animals belong. One hundred miles a day is about the average [illegible] of travel.

They eat and sleep but little, dismounting [illegible] in a while to smoke a little opium. [illegible] their point of departure, each [illegible] had his dispatches placed in [illegible] of his robe, which is sealed upon [illegible] that he cannot open the [illegible] journey.

[illegible] also be shown miniature relay [illegible] at the stations are on [illegible] their routes in Siberia; dog teams, sleds, snowshoes and skates, all of which are employed for the same purpose in the frozen Arctic; also canoes, in which the people of the South Sea Islands, who have no kind of writing, carry the news. The Esquimaux have no postal system at all.

When the museum is complete it will be one of the sights of Washington, instructive as well as interesting. There is a fine postal museum of this sort in Berlin, on which a great deal of money has been spent.—Golden Days.

A Charm of Youth.

If young people only knew it, nothing renders them so charming as a beautiful deference to their elders. The girl who, as naturally as a flower to the sun, turns to her father and mother, anticipating their wishes and yielding her own desires in ready consent to their will, is simply irresistible. The stronger the nature the finer and sweeter it becomes if this grace of obedience give it its final and crowning charm.

Foreigners understand this as our American girls do not, or shall we say as American mothers fail to do? The pretty English girl looks up to mamma for direction and accepts mamma's guidance in perfect docility until her wedding day. The German, the Swiss, the French, the Italian girl of good family, is solicitous to please her mother, and wears the grace of filial courtesy as if it were a decoration. The manners of our young countrywomen are often at fault in this regard. "How unamiable, crude and unformed is the younger Miss Ransom," said a dignified Dutch matron to the writer, in criticism of a young lady born with the traditional silver spoon and educated in one of our best seminaries. "Her tone of patronage, and her supercilious air in addressing her mother, mark her as insufferably ill-bred."

Girls little know, when they snub their mothers or assert their independence of these older, wiser heads, how disagreeable an impression their conduct makes. The young man looking for a wife will do well to avoid the pert, flippant young woman in her teens or her twenties who fancies that she is sufficient in herself and scorns the advice of her mother.

Character is often indicated by apparent trifles. The girl who brings a shawl to wrap around her mother's shoulders, who slips a cushion in the precise angle to receive a tired back, or remembers a hassock for her mother's feet, will one day make a loving wife to the man whose heart shall safely trust in her. She will do you good, and not evil, all the days of her life. For true wearing qualities, warranted to last through all stress of weather, we recommend the girl who is the tender, thoughtful and deferential daughter at home.—Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster.

Ayer's Pills are invaluable for the cure of Headache, Constipation, Stomach and Liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs. These pills are sugar-coated, safe and pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

Systematic Exercise.

Only systematic exercise prepares us for those emergencies upon which the prolongation of life often depends. A citizen who despised exercise was awakened at midnight by a cry of fire; hastily raising a window and looking out he saw the building next to his own was in flames. He hurried about the house gathering his valuables, carried them into the street and fell dead. A clergyman, finding himself left by a train and liable to miss an important appointment, carried a carpet bag the short distance of three mile, reached his destination breathless, and in a few moments died.

No one can foresee when an unusual exertion will be demanded of him, either in self-preservation or in aid of those whom he loves, or in some deed of common humanity, or jointly with his neighbors and townsmen in preserving their homes from destruction by fire. Had exercise no other value than that of keeping men in condition to endure unusual strain, it would be an ample compensation for the time and exertion it requires.

But it is a pleasure, it is the best improvement of leisure, it is a promoter of good morals, and closely connected with health and longevity. William Cullen Bryant continued his exercises till he was past eighty; Mr. Gladstone never omits his bath and exercise; John Ericsson, though working twelve or fifteen hours a day, always walked the streets of New York from ten o'clock in the evening until midnight for exercise.—The Chautauquan.

Brotherly Kindness.

A London paper says that a young man had a younger sister by the name of Jessie, who was sent to a fashionable boarding-school. When she went away, he remarked that he hoped she wouldn't acquire any of the affectations so often learned in such places.

For almost a year he had no fault to find upon this score. Then came a letter signed "Jessica," instead of Jessie. He replied as follows:

"Dear Sister Jessica: Your welcome letter received. Mammica and papaica are well. Aunt Maryca and Uncle Georgica started for Glasgowica yesterday. I have bought a new horse. You ought to see it. It is a beauty. Its name is Maudica.

Your affectionate brother, RAMICA."

The sister's next letter was signed Jessie. Exchange.

There are many people who can never tell what they think of anything until they see what the papers have to say about it.—Sam's Horn.

Influence.

How great our silent influence! We daily meet our fellow beings, and they are being affected for good or evil by what we say, by what we do, and by what we are. A bunch of fragrant flowers in the parlor will soon saturate the atmosphere of the entire room. And we can no more prevent our influence going out than the flower can prevent its fragrance. You made a striking remark this morning in the presence of little boys, and that will be fresh in their minds for fifty years! The fact of your wending your way every Lord's day to the house of prayer, though you speak not to any one by the way, will soon make an impression upon the mind of every rational person who observes you. If your neighbors regard you as a good man—and they will if you are good—you will soon have a secret magic power over them. And it does not require, in order to be influential, that we have great talents, great wealth and great oratorical power. Moses was the meekest man of his generation; John the Baptist was raised in obscurity; Paul was often in abject want of the commonest blessings of every day life; and these men exerted the greatest influence of any men in their day. And an important item is, that our influence does not die with us, but it goes on, for good or evil, according as we have lived, after we shall have passed away. Paul and Paine are dead, but they are exerting wider influences now than when they lived. And can we afford, in our short probationary state, to sow a crop of tares, which will thrive and bloom, and bring forth a crop after we are gone?—Ex.

Take Time.

The common mistake with the young is that they count too much upon genius and chance. They have heard that Napoleon overran Italy at twenty seven, and William Pitt was Prime Minister at twenty-four years of age, or they have fallen into the habit of waiting for something to turn up. But the greatest geniuses in art, in literature, in science, in war, and in statesmanship, have been men of indomitable industry; and as for chance, the least likely thing to turn up in age is the lost opportunity of youth. The seed of future greatness is sown in darkness. The young man who is destined to win the world's applause is hidden now in silent preparation. He knows that if he understands his subject better than anybody else, or if he can do a certain kind of work better than anybody else, there can be no doubt at all about the ultimate recognition of his superiority. There is no element of chance in a calculation of that sort. The critics, when they conspire to that end, may occasionally puff a nobody into a fleeting, factitious celebrity, but will strive in vain to write down the man who comes before the public with something really well done. If the critics carried the fate of authors or artists in their hands, they would have crushed Byron and Keats, Wordsworth and Browning, Rosetti and Millet. If the workman is his own critic, if he has an eye to his own faults, if he compares his work with his ideal rather than with the performance of his inferiors, there is no other critic of whom he need be afraid.—Selected.

The girl whose heaven is society is usually the girl whose society is not heaven.—Bible Reader.

Tutt's Tiny Pills

To cure constipation purging the bowels should be avoided; it weakens their power of motion. A gentle aperient effect is only required. Tutt's Tiny Liver Pills are prepared with special views to the permanent cure of COSTIVENESS and HEADACHE.

They are mild and remain in the system until they act on the liver, cause a natural flow of bile and their tonic properties impart power to the bowels to remove unhealthy accumulations. Good appetite and digestion result from the use of these little pills. Price, 25c. Office, 39 Park Place, N. Y.

CONSUMPTION.

I have a positive remedy for the above disease; by its use thousands of cases of the worst kind and of long standing have been cured. Indeed so strong is my faith in its efficacy, that I will send TWO BOTTLES FREE, with a VALUABLE TREATISE on this disease to any sufferer who will send me their Express and P. O. address.

T. A. Slocum, M. C., 183 Pearl St., N. Y.

ASK YOUR AGENT FOR

A POLICY

—IN THE—

N. C. Home Insurance Co.

This Company has been in successful operation for twenty-two years, and paid out

$600,000

to its policy holders for losses.

INSURE AGAINST FIRE

W. S. PRIMROSE, President.
W. G. UPCHURCH, Vice-President.
CHAS. ROOT, Sec'y-Treasurer.
P. COWPER, Adjuster.

HOME OFFICE, - - RALEIGH, N. C.

Richard J. Biggs & Co.,
COMMISSION MERCHANTS,
202 South Street, - - Baltimore, Md.

YOUR SUNDAY-SCHOOL
WILL NEED
NEW BOOKS THIS SEASON.

We can Supply all Your Wants in this Line Promptly and at Publishers Lowest Prices.

OUR NEW SPECIALTIES:

Class Book and Report (five years), - - 25c. Teachers' Bibles (Oxford or Bagster), $2 to $10.

NEW SINGING BOOKS:

Master's Praise, cloth bound, by mail,	35c.
Manly's Choice, music edition, by mail,	40c.
Manly's Choice, word edition, by mail,	12c.
Notes of Triumph, round or shape notes, by mail,	35c.
Work and Worship, round or shape notes, by mail,	35c.

ANY SINGING BOOKS, PER DOZEN, BY EXPRESS, $3.60.

SEND YOUR ORDERS TO
ALFRED WILLIAMS & CO., Raleigh, N. C.
Complete Catalogue of Sunday-school Supplies free.

The Baptist Supply Store,
RALEIGH, N. C.

All Sunday-school Quarterlies and Papers at publishers' prices. Sunday-school song books—the latest and best—more than twenty different books—all at publishers' prices. Libraries of 25 to 100 vols. from $5.00 to $25.00. Missionary libraries at $10.00.

MATTHEW HENRY'S COMMENTARY, 6 VOLS., cloth, $15 PER SET.

Biblical Museum, 8 Vols., cloth, $8 per set. Song book—"The Choice,"—1,000 copies under order. Music, by mail, 40 cts., words, 12 cts. This is the best. Mission Centennial—William Carey—A Sketch, —Beginnings of Modern Missions—1,000 copies just received—cloth, 25 cts; paper, 15 cts.
Address, REV. C. DURHAM, Raleigh, N. C.

FARMERS, BUILDERS,
WAGON-MAKERS,
PAINTERS, MILL-MEN
—AND—SPORTSMEN'S
SUPPLIES.
HARDWARE,
LIME, PLASTER,
CEMENT,
HAIR, NAILS,
SASH,
DOORS, BLINDS.

THOMAS H. BRIGGS & SONS.

Paints, Oils,
COLORS, GLASS,
BELTING, PACKING,
FILES,
IRON AND STEEL
Raleigh, N. C.
BELLOWS, VISES,
ANVILS.
Best Goods. Low Prices.
SQUARE DEALING.
SEE US BEFORE YOU BUY.

BOLLE'S
COTTON HOES.
The Old Original.
The Best. The Best.

Farming Implements,
SHOVELS, SPADES,
RAKES AND
POTATO DIGS.
"All Right," "Cotton King,"
AND OTHER
Cook Stoves and Ranges.
HARDWARE,
BUILDING MATERIAL,
LIME, PLASTER AND CEMENT,
Paints, Oils and Varnishes.
JULIUS LEWIS & CO.,
RALEIGH, N. C.

BAILEY'S
Compound light-spreading Silver-plated Corrugated Glass
REFLECTORS
A wonderful invention for lighting Halls, Churches, etc. Satisfaction guaranteed. Catalogue and price list free.
BAILEY REFLECTOR CO.
Boylston Avenue, Boston, Mass. 100 Sixth Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa.

VOSE & SONS PIANOS
ESTABLISHED IN 1851.
Celebrated for their Pure Tone, Elegant Designs, Superior Workmanship, and Great Durability. Sold on easy terms. Old instruments taken in exchange. Write for catalogue and full information, 170 Tremont St., Boston, Mass.

Notice.

Having qualified as Administrator of the estate of Francis Lee, deceased, late of Wake county, this is to notify all persons having claims against said estate to present them to me at Wendell, N. C., on or before the 12th of May, 1893, or this notice will be plead in bar of their recovery.
D. T. LEE, Adm.

IRON FENCE
SIXTY STYLES FOR CEMETERY & LAWN
CATALOGUE FREE
J. W. RIOE, ATLANTA, GA.

BUCKEYE BELL FOUNDRY,
CINCINNATI, O., U. S. A.
Best Church and Chime Bells and Chimes.
SELLS PEALS AND CHIMES.

BIBLICAL RECORDER.

THE ORGAN OF THE NORTH CAROLINA BAPTISTS—DEVOTED TO BIBLE RELIGION, EDUCATION, LITERATURE AND GENERAL INTELLIGENCE.

Volume 57. RALEIGH, N. C., WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1892. Number 48.

The Biblical Recorder.

PUBLISHED EVERY WEDNESDAY.

OFFICE:

113 (up stairs) Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:

One copy, one year.....$ 2.00
One copy, six months..... 1.00
Clubs of ten (copy extra to sender)..... 20.00

Anonymous communications will always find their way to the waste basket. No exceptions.

In sending letters of business, it is absolutely necessary that you give your postoffice address in full.

The date on the label of your paper indicates when your subscription expires, and also serves as a receipt for your money.

Obituaries, sixty words long, are inserted free of charge. When they exceed this length, one cent for each word must be paid in advance.

When writing to have your paper changed, please state the postoffice at which you receive the paper, as well as the one to which you wish it changed.

Remittances must be sent by Registered Letter, Postoffice Order, Postal Note, Express or Draft, payable to the order of the Publisher. Do not send stamps.

Public Prayer.

The following extracts from the interesting life of the Rev. Charles Hadden Spurgeon, by Dr. George C. Lorimer, minister at the Temple, Boston:—

But though we can give no adequate account of the real source of Mr. Spurgeon's power, or, so far as that goes, of any exceptional teacher's peculiar charm, we can specify some elements that seem to have been inseparable from its exercise.

Most prominent among these was his manner of prayer. When I first heard him, and it has been so ever since, his petitions impressed me more than his sermons. There was about them a simplicity, directness, dignity, a subdued fervor and childlike confidence; and such an absence of bombast and stereotyped phrase that I was irresistibly drawn, as the people manifestly were, to a throne of grace. He seemed to be talking with God, reverently and humbly as became a creature, and yet boldly and trustfully as became a saint. No complimentary rhetoric was employed as though to assure the Infinite of his continued good opinion; no theologizing, like the recital of a creed, to satisfy heaven and earth—especially earth—with his doctrinal soundness; no stamping, no gesture, as though the divine attention could be caught by the tricks of the Forum; but instead, an earnestness too real for stilted speech, a solemnity too deep for presumption, and an appreciation of the privilege of the souls' commerce with the Unseen, too high for it to be used in any other way than in tenderly voicing common human needs in the ear of the listening Father. It appeared to me that he preached well, because he had prayed well; and that he compelled the people to listen to his sermons because they had, of necessity, joined in his supplications.

I remember hearing once—I never wanted to hear him again—a very pompous clergyman who seemed to take great pleasure in introducing into his supplications a large number of unfamiliar words, who also sought by means of antitheses, alliterations, grandiloquent phrases, and other tricks and artificialities of the rhodomontade rhetorician to win "the ears of the groundlings." As I listened for a while I felt that these verbal pyrotechnics were not designed for heaven, but for earth, not for the Creator, but for the creature. This impression was deepened when I afterward read some specimens of this gentleman's declamatory piety in print. It seemed evident that it had met its proper destiny, reported for a newspaper, to be admired and praised by those who regard devotion only as a literary effort. We have all heard of that famous Boston prayer which was said to be finest ever addressed to a Boston audience. But even that memorable performance "paled its ineffectual fires" in the presence of the verbal coruscations and bombastic terminology which was deemed suitable for the ear of him who is the Author of speech. I grew sick at heart when, as I listened to the close, and felt that "sacred silence" would have been more helpful to all serious souls than this glittering chatter, and this many and mighty-syllabled twaddle, which displayed more affectation than dependence, and more vanity than heartiness.

It seems to me that ministers cannot be too careful as to their manner in public prayer. In that solemn service they are seeking to voice the cares, the woes, the trials and the sins of the people, and at the same time they are seeking an audience of the compassionate Father, who neither desires a eulogy from their lips, nor a parade of showy words.

Surely their language, under such solemn circumstances, ought to be simple and easily understood on the part of those who are supposed to adopt it as it flows from the lips of the supplicant; and certainly it should glean throughout with honesty and sincerity, presented as it is to a Being who sees through shams and abominates them. Long and complicated sentences are out of place, turgid and swelling expressions are equally intrusive, and scraps of poetry are as incongruous as they would be in the mouth of a drowning man when calling on his friends to save him from a watery grave. Some ministers are discursive in their prayers, others are informing; some exhort, others are dictatorial, and others modestly suggest what is becoming in the Almighty, while others manifest a free and easy familiarity, which is absolutely incompatible with reverence. These ought not so to be.

The pastor should always try to realize that praying is not preaching. The style, the action, and the voice appropriate to a spoken discourse, are not in keeping with the more solemn privilege of supplication. It may be legitimate in the former to startle the hearer by well executed climaxes, by bold figures, by gorgeousness of word-painting; and it may be pardonable, when trying to move him, to employ all the arts of the trained conscientious orator. I have no criticism to offer on these points. The gifts of eloquence and of dramatic expression are among the highest conferred on man; they are to be valued, and they are to be earnestly employed; but they were never designed by their Author as means of approach to a throne of grace. He is not to be startled, or roused from lethargy, and were he to be so swayed and influenced it certainly never would be accomplished by declamation.

In prayer there should be absolute immobility. The position once taken, whether standing or kneeling, should be retained to the end. There should be no shuffling of the feet, no movements of the hands, no restless twitching of the fingers, no shaking of the head, and, in a word, no action whatever. The body should be as a thing forsaken. It should not be thrust before the worshipper, distracting his attention from the petitions being offered, and disturbing the communion between him and his God. Not the slightest gesticulation should recall its existence. For the time being it should be extinct. The voice, also, should be subdued and low; firm and distinct, but never harsh or loud. Elocution, generally a snare, and in prayer almost a sacrilege, ought to be avoided. The attention given to varied modulation, to excessive emphasis, to musical intonations, renders difficult the due concentration of mind on the Supreme Being, whose presence and blessing are being sought. A merry song at a funeral is not more out of place than are elocutionary gymnastics in prayer. Sometimes clergymen who are anxious to discharge with decent propriety all the functions of their sacred office go to professed teachers of the art of reading and speaking for instruction. These guides who make orators, or claim to do so, but have never been able to make themselves orators, undertake to show ministerial students how to pray, when, in many instances, they themselves are profoundly ignorant of its first principles. The public petitions which are fashioned and delivered by the rules laid down by such men, are generally stilted in style, and distinguished more by sound than by sound sense, and as a whole are offensive to modesty and spirituality. Thrust away all cheap artificialities. The voice needs only the pathos that springs from real sympathy with the sins and sorrows of the world, and only the music that is born of spirituality, and the emphasis that comes from sincerity and earnestness; qualities these which no elocutionist can impart. In all of these respects, however, Charles H. Spurgeon was a model; for not one of the blemishes referred to in these reflections and strictures could be detected when he approached God with pleadings on behalf of the people.

Patience.

If we will only have patience with God's leading, he will always show us the way as fast as we are really ready to go on. The trouble with most of us is that we want to see the path through to the end before we take the first step. We want to know before we start how we are to come out. But this is not God's way. A man who is traveling in a dark night on a country road does not have the whole road lighted at once by the lantern he carries. It shows him only one step; but as he takes that the lantern is borne forward, and another step is lighted, and then another, and another, until, in the end, the whole way has been illuminated, and he is safe at his destination. God's word, as a guiding light, is a lamp unto our feet, not a sun flooding a hemisphere. In the darkest night it will always show us the next step. Then, when we have taken that, it will show us another; and thus on, till it brings us out into the full clear sunlight of the coming day. We need to learn well the lesson of patience if we would have God guide us.—Epworth Herald.

The worst economy in church finances is to scrimp the minister's salary. A couple of hundred dollars saved there is poorly saved, for that sum may mean to him all the difference between an easy mind and elastic spirits and a sense of anxiety and depression that detracts from all his work. That last hundred or two is the oil that makes the machinery run without friction. It is not a bad thing, either, to give the minister a little more than has been agreed upon. A trip to denominational gatherings with all the bills paid for the parson and his wife acts like a tonic for the rest of the year.—Boston Watchman.

There must be something wrong with the religion of the man who finds it easier to give a dollar to the theatre than he does to give a dime to the church.—Rose's Horn.

The History of Theological Education in the United States.

It is not the object of the author of this communication to give anything like a full and complete history of this subject. The limits of a newspaper article would be too restricted for such a purpose, had the writer ample material and the ability to do the subject justice. His intention is to give some facts and some general information upon the history of theological education in our country. The first regularly organized theological institution in the United States was established at Andover in Massachusetts. The Theological Seminary of the Reformed Dutch church in New Brunswick, N. J., however, claims to be the first Protestant theological school established in this country. The Andover Theological Seminary originated from the old Phillips Academy, which was incorporated by the legislature of Massachusetts in 1785, and in which the ology to some extent seems to have been taught. The Andover Seminary was chartered by the legislature of Massachusetts in 1807, and appears justly entitled to the claim of being the oldest Protestant school of theology in the United States.

The founding of this school at the time was due to the conduct of the authorities of Harvard University in appointing Dr. Ware, a Unitarian, as Hollis Professor of divinity in that institution. Mr. Hollis, a wealthy Baptist of England, endowed a chair of theology in Harvard College, but it has been occupied by anybody except a Baptist.

Neither he, nor any of the friends of orthodoxy in his day, ever supposed that a Unitarian would hold the place of divinity professor in the College founded by the Puritans in 1634, less than twenty years after the landing at Plymouth.

At the beginning of the present century the Unitarian controversy was quite rife in both New England and Old England.

The talented and distinguished Rev. Robert Robinson of England drifted from the moorings of orthodoxy and became a Unitarian. The immortal Andrew Fuller, the father of Baptist theology in modern times, was called out to meet in single combat Dr. Priestly, the Unitarian champion. Unitarianism came near rending into pieces many of the Congregational churches of Boston. It is not surprising, then, that such men as Drs. Spring and Pearson, Prof. John Phillips, Judge Niles and others of the old time Calvinists, grieved and alarmed at the theological situation and prospects, should regard it as the wisest course for the advocates of the old Puritan orthodoxy to establish a separate school from Harvard for the education of divinity students.

The efforts of the above named parties and their coadjutors culminated in the establishment of the celebrated Andover Theological Seminary.

But this school of the prophets is noted as not only being the first school of theology founded in this country, but also as the birth-place of the missionary spirit and the missionary enterprise in the United States. Here Nott, Mills, Newell and Judson, students at the Seminary, became enthused with a desire to preach the gospel to the heathen. From this school came the first missionaries sent from the United States to heathen lands. It furnished the Baptist denomination of this country with their first two foreign missionaries, Judson and Rice.

Andover has also been noted for the ability and reputation of its professors, many of whom have been amongst the foremost scholars and theologians of America. But the Andover press must not be omitted, as it was for a long time, and perhaps is now, the most famous in the country, printing the Bible and other literature in some twelve or fifteen different languages. More than 400,000 works of the Andover professors have issued from this press. The American Tract Society printed its first tracts here. The first temperance paper was started here in 1829. The Bibliotheca Sacra was published here for forty years.

The first professors of this school were Rev. Leonard Woods, D. D., and Rev. Dr. Eliphalet Pearson. Among the corps of professors since have been the celebrated Moses Stuart from 1810 to 1848, the most distinguished Greek and Hebrew scholar of his times and the author of some critical commentaries on portions of the New Testament Scriptures; the Rev. Dr. E. Robinson, author of Researches in the Holy Land; also Rev. Edward Dorr Griffin, D. D., Rev. Ebenezer Porter, D. D., Rev. Austin Phelps, D. D., Rev. Greenough Thayer Shedd, D. D., L. L. D., Rev. John Putnam Gulliver, D. D., L. L. D., and others of equal merit.

The Andover Theological Seminary has at this date fifteen teachers and professors in its various departments, and a library, the most interesting, perhaps, connected with any theological school of this country, consisting of 47,000 printed volumes, 18,000 pamphlets, and a small collection of manuscripts.

More than 3,300 students have received instruction at this institution, and nearly 2,000 have graduated, and these have gone to the very ends of the earth preaching the gospel. See History of Higher Education in Massachusetts by George Carey Bush, Ph. D., to whom the writer is indebted for his information.

The movement in theological education has become more or less popular with all denominations of christians, and more than one hundred theological schools have been established in this country after the plan of Andover. The Congregationalists have seven such schools, and the Presbyterians have thirteen.

The oldest Baptist theological school in the United States is the Newton Theological Seminary at Newton Centre, Massachusetts. This institution was organized in 1825 with the Rev. Irah Chase and Rev. Henry J. Ripley as instructors, who constituted the faculty for six years. In 1834, Rev. J. D. Knowles, author of a Memoir of Ann Haseltine Judson, was added to the corps of instructors, and Rev. Barnas Sears, afterward President of Brown University, and still later agent of the Peabody Fund.

Upon the death of Prof. Knowles in 1838, Prof. Horatio B. Hacket, then a Professor in Brown University, and one of the most eminent biblical scholars among the Baptists, was elected to succeed him.

More than seven hundred students have obtained, in whole or in part, their theological education at this institution. Of this number sixty have received appointments as missionaries to foreign fields, about fifty-five have occupied prominent positions either as presidents or professors, while a large number have been useful as authors or editors. (Cathcart).

Hamilton Theological Seminary was founded at Hamilton, N. Y., in 1820, by the Rev. D. Hascal as teacher in ancient languages, and Rev. Dr. Nathaniel Kendrick as teacher in theology. Out of this institution grew Madison University and Colgate Academy.

Rochester Theological Seminary was founded at Rochester in 1850. Its first two professors were Rev. Thomas J. Conant, D. D., and Rev. John S. Maginnis, D. D. Dr. Conant was one of the ablest Greek and Hebrew scholars in this country, and his superior scholarship was called into requisition in the Bible Union revision of the Scriptures, in which movement he was a conspicuous actor. This institution, says Cathcart, owes more of its character and success to the Rev. Ezekiel Robinson, D. D., L. L. D., professor from 1853 to 1872, and president from 1868 to 1872, than to any single man.

Crozer Theological Seminary was established in 1868. It is the gift of the Crozers. Rev. H. G. Weston, D. D., was chosen president of this institution and still acts in that capacity. This school is doing a good work for our denomination.

The Baptists of the South had no regularly organized theological school until 1859. Prior to that time a theological school was commenced at Covington, Ky., under the presidency of Rev. S. Lynd, D. D., but continued in operation only a short time, as the valuable property donated to it conditionally, by some neglect or oversight of the Baptists, passed out of their hands into the possession of the Roman Catholics. During perhaps a score of years preceding the establishment of the Theological Seminary at Greenville in 1859, some of our denominational colleges in the South had theological departments connected with them for the instruction of ministerial students. But such auxiliaries to theological education did not meet the demands of the rising ministry among the Baptists of the South. Many of our leading men, prominent among whom was the late Dr. J. B. Jeter, were enthusiastic advocates of theological education, and by pen and tongue succeeded in inducing the Baptists in our Southland to found a school of theology at Greenville with four professors—James P. Boyce as chairman of the faculty, John A. Broadus, William Williams and B. Manly, Jr. It had twenty-six students at the first session and thirty-six the second session. The war coming on suspended operations which were not resumed until 1865, when it was opened with a full faculty and only eight students. The financial embarrassments that operated against the success of the institution would not have been overcome but for Dr. Boyce, who for a long time was its life and power. Notwithstanding the obstacles to its prosperity, it has in recent years met with the most remarkable success, having at this date more than two hundred students and an able and full corps of professors. It stands in the very front rank of the best theological schools of our land. Of the original corps of professors, only one survives, the Rev. J. A. Broadus, D. D., L. L. D., one of the ablest scholars and best preachers in the denomination, North or South. The rest have passed from the toils of earth to the reward of heaven. The late Dr. Basil Manly passed from the shores of time on the same Lord's day that witnessed the departure of the Spirit of Charles Haddon Spurgeon to the better land.

The young and rising ministry of our Baptist Zion have advantages which the fathers never dreamed of. Where much is given, much will be required. May they meet the demands of the churches and of the age, and may the spirit of Elijah rest upon them.

The following brief summary will close this article:

The number of theological schools in the United States is 141, with 686 professors and 6,989 students of divinity. Of these the Methodists have twenty-one schools with ninety instructors and 1,122 students; the Baptists, eighteen, with ninety-six instructors and 1,845 students; the Presbyterians, eighteen, with 108 instructors and 981 students; the Roman Catholics, twenty, with 103 professors and 1,051 students; the Protestant Episcopal Church, twelve, with sixty-seven professors and 338 students; the Congregationalists, ten, with fifty-eight professors and 142 students; the Lutherans, thirteen, with forty-seven instructors and 713, and the Christian Campbellite, seven, with eighteen professors and 315 students.

Farnham, Va. R. W.

The Christian in Politics.

Can the christian be a politician? Yes, he can be—ought to be. The trouble with the politics of this country to-day is that they are given over too much into the hands of unchristian men. But he must be a christian politician, and not a political christian. I think it is true beyond a doubt that when a christian enters actively into politics he has many temptations to fight, and should, therefore, ever keep in mind the Scripture, "Thou God seest me."

Self-seeking, time-serving, corrupt men have had such sway in politics that they have almost ruined the good name; and now many good men are saying, "Politics have become so corrupt we will have nothing to do with them." That is all wrong. Good men should take hold with the determination to purify them. This is a christian duty. As lovers of God, and all that is pure, noble, holy, we must be lovers of country and good government. A true christian is a patriot. But where is the patriotism of that one who stands aloof and turns the country and all her interests over into the hands of bad men? And in such case, where is obedience to him who said, "Render, therefore, to Cæsar the things that are Cæsar's."

Yes, christians ought to be politicians so far as to use every legitimate endeavor to get good men into office. If we had good men in office we would have better laws; and the laws that be, in many instances, more faithfully executed. If there were more christians in Congress I do not believe the unwise, and, to my mind, unjust, Chinese exclusion bill would have become a law, and there would be no necessity for petitions for such laws in reference to the World's Exposition as the christian people of this nation are asking for. We want men to make our laws who "fear God and keep his commandments."

Let me add, however, a word of warning, especially for the benefit of christians. This is to be a year of great political excitement, already the steam is getting pretty high. Here and there on the streets, and about country stores, may be seen groups of men talking politics, and frequently in a spirited manner. The christian will have to keep a jealous watch care over himself, lest he say and do things that he will regret, and in bitterness of soul have to repent of after the heat of contest has cooled down and the smoke of battle has cleared away. Even now the sin is being repeated, that in every year of great political excitement is committed, that of talking politics on the Sabbath, and even at church. It is our duty to be interested in all matters pertaining to good government, but we must not become over-zealous. "Let your moderation be known unto all men."

Let us be politicians, but christian politicians.

J. R. JONES.

Milton, N. C., May 31.

Prayer.

It has been said that prayer is the key to heaven. This is true; for the fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. How many christians are there in the world who, when surrounded by the many trials and temptations of this life—when it seemed as if all earthly friends had failed—have gone to the throne of grace and poured forth their sorrows and trials to the blessed Saviour, and while struggling with God in their closet have had the Spirit descend upon them, and have felt that their prayers were answered, and that they could meet their trouble with a calm, smiling face, knowing that God was doing that which seemeth best to him for their good? How much better christians would be if we trusted more in the power of prayer! Are you in trouble? Do your feet grow weary at times, or are the cares of life pressing around you as so many sorrows and trials? If so, go to your closet, and on your bended knees pour out your troubles to God in prayer; tell him all the burden on your heart, and believe he will descend and meet you, and will bless you; and as you rise to your feet you will be able and ready to meet your troubles and trials, and will feel, of a truth, that there is "power in prayer."—Merritt.

Let Your Light So Shine.

A Japanese Senator recently got hold of a copy of an exposition of part of the Bible. Reading it attentively, he pronounced christianity a fine thing in theory, but the question was, would it work practically? Thinking about it, he became dissatisfied with his life, and while in this State took a trip from Okayama to Osaka. On the same steamer was Miss Barrows, and he heard she was a christian, and so watched her. Her deportment so impressed him that, though not a word passed between them, he was convinced that christianity was right in practice as well as good in theory; and on returning home he hunted up a missionary and made a public profession of faith, and has since been active in persuading others. Miss Barrows did not know she was watched, or that anything specially depended on her deportment. Had she behaved as many church members [illegible] away from home, this Japanese would have been repelled, and would probably resolved the conclusion that fair christianity might be in theory, but was a failure in practice. We never [illegible] prayers are upon us. "Let your [illegible]"—Exchange.

The Biblical Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 1, 1892.

REV. C. T. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. C. CADDELL, AGENT AND CORRESPONDENT.

PREMIUMS.

We offer to all new subscribers to the BIBLICAL RECORDER who pay two dollars in advance Russell H. Conwell's Life of Spurgeon. The book is handsomely bound and beautifully illustrated, and sells for $1.50.

We also offer it to all old subscribers who have paid up arrearages, and will pay for the RECORDER one year in advance and fifty cents additional, thus furnishing an opportunity to all of our subscribers to supply themselves with this fresh and interesting book—worth $1.50—for the small sum of fifty cents. If any may wish to avail themselves of this opportunity who have paid up their subscriptions, they can have it by paying $2.50, and their time for the RECORDER will be moved up a year.

We are very anxious to increase our circulation, and we make this generous offer, hoping that many of our subscribers who are in arrears will avail themselves of this offer, and that very many new subscribers will supply themselves with this excellent work.

THE LORD'S LEADERSHIP.

When the Lord delivered his people from Egyptian bondage, and they commenced the long journey before them, he gave them a visible sign of his presence, and of the fact that he was leading them in the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night. Later on, the Ark of the Covenant was added to the visible signs of the Lord's presence. These signs were necessary, because God was leading a people who had just been delivered from the most servile bondage. Their former masters, the Egyptians, had used many means to suppress and oppress them; and of course their bodies and minds had been greatly neglected, and the vast majority of them were ignorant and simple-minded people. They were easily influenced for good or for evil, and especially for the latter. They were easily led astray, and one day were ready to make the welkin ring for Moses and for God, and on another ready to bow down to a golden calf and defile themselves by idol worship. It followed that, notwithstanding the striking evidences of God's presence, this people were hard to restrain from evil, and were a difficult people to control and to lead. Whenever they or their human leader Moses were in any doubt that God was leading them, and hence that they were going in the way he would have them go, they had only to cast their eyes to the pillar of cloud, or the pillar of fire, to be reminded that the Lord was with them. The mass of this people then were entirely too wicked, unspiritual, and carnal, to journey with anything like a contented mind and heart without visible signs of God's presence.

